Mrs. House died May 24th after a severe sickness, brights disease. Sister House was a loving, devoted woman who put all her time and energy to good work. She was a member of South Bend Chapin Park Chapel union. She was a most efficient member and will be greatly missed. She leaves a husband and four children to mourn her loss, the youngest only three years old. Sister House was a Godly woman and made all arrangements for her death, for which she had no fear. Her earnest desire was to have the W. C. T. U. take part in the services, which request we complied with. Having no ritual, we had a very simple ceremony. White ribbons were drawn around the casket and tied in a large bow—the white ribbons she loved so well. The members attended the funeral in a body, carriages being provided at the church. The members of the W. C. T. U. separated and the funeral cortege passed through. This was also done at the cemetery. Mrs. Cotton read the Methodist ritual and then the members passed around the grave, depositing a tiny spray of smilax tied with white ribbon, during which we sang, "Home of My Soul." County President Mrs. Passaucht then offered a heart-felt prayer. All those who witnessed the services said it was very beautiful and impressive.

MONEY FOR TEMPERANCE.

J. B. Martin, an Ohio capitalist, has decided to give the output of a gold mine to the cause of prohibition of the liquor traffic. It is expected that this gift will amount to $500,000 yearly.

Early in the summer a news item from England announced that Mr. John Crowle, recently deceased left a legacy of $1,250,000 to the Wesleyan Methodist Church of England to be used for temperance work, on condition that the church raised an equal amount within five years for the same work.

A bequest of $52,000 for Prohibition work is announced under the will of the Hackley estate of Muskegon, Mich.

These facts are encouraging. It has been a question with some of us for years why temperance people of wealth entirely ignore the temperance cause in the distribution of their money.

Handicapped as the W. C. T. U. always has been for money, it is recognized as a mighty power against the liquor traffic in agitation, education and legislation.

The W. C. T. U. has usually not been successful in the founding of "Homes," establishing of institutions or building business blocks for convenience or revenue. Evidently these things are off the main line for which the organization came into existence.

We quote the preamble to our constitution as a national W. C. T. U:

"We, Christian women of this nation, conscious of the great evils and appalled by the danger of intemperance, believe it our duty, under the providence of God, to unite our efforts for its extinction and for the entire prohibition of the liquor traffic."

We further quote the preamble of our State Constitution:

"We, Christian women of Indiana, in order to enlist and unite the women of the entire State in temperance work and to devise and execute measures, which, with the blessing of God, will result in the suppression of intemperance and secure as soon as possible the entire prohibition of the liquor traffic."

The battle against the liquor traffic in its last analysis, says the National Advocate, is more and more resolving itself into a battle of money, or which side has the most ammunition with which to wage the fight, and who can fight the hardest and continue the longest.

Millions are spent every year by the liquor men in securing the influence of legislators, newspapers, political leaders and officers of the law. With money they frequently prevent passage of temperance laws, if defeated in this they often win the case by buying up the prosecuting attorney, the mayor or chief of police so that the law becomes a dead letter. For illustration of how this is done Indiana people remember the effort it took to get a prohibitory cigarette law and then how its enforcement was prevented by indifference of officials, and lastly by decision rendered by a man in official authority. The American Tobacco Company has money too.

Newspapers Bought Up.

The liquor men, especially the brewers, have been making special efforts to boom their business in the newspapers and make the people believe that beer is a temperance drink, that it is a food, etc. And all the liquor organizations of the country have been making systematic efforts to discredit the principle and the effectiveness of prohibition. During the last few years the liquor men have sent to newspapers all over the country many columns of false and misleading statements against prohibition and in favor of beer drinking, and have paid the newspapers at advertising rates for the insertion of these articles. Many papers have used them as signed articles addressed to the editor; some have inserted them as news items; and others have even used them as editorials. The newspapers with the smallest amount of moral principle sell their editorials outright to the liquor men. The papers not quite so much debauched sell their news columns to publish these falsehoods; but the papers whose past respectability would not yet allow them to sell out wholly to the liquor men have accepted these articles as addressed to "the editor" and signed by some stranger or by a fictitious name. The liquor men have also paid millions of dollars direct to the newspapers for

CALL FOR STATE CONVENTION.

The Thirty-third Annual Convention of the Indiana Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held at Portland, Ind., October 5-9, 1906.

The annual meeting shall be composed of the officers of the State Union, the Superintendents of Departments, Chairmen of Standing Committees, State Organizers, Editor of State Paper, Officers of Board of Managers of Hadley Industrial School, the president and one delegate-at-large of each auxiliary union and one additional delegate for every twenty paying members thereof, and one delegate who shall be a W. C. T. U. member and an active L. T. L. worker for each $10 of L. T. L. dues from the combined Legions of the State. Ex-officio members must vote in person.

The Executive Committee will meet October 4, at 2:00 p. m. in Convention Church.

FROM CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.

Dear Comrades:—Only a few days remain before our reports must be in the hands of the State Treasurer and State Corresponding Secretary and yet much may be done in these days by a determined effort. At the close of the third quarter, the showing with reference to membership was disappointing. We have organized 46 new unions this year and many old unions have made very creditable gains, but we can not show a net gain at the end of the year unless our old members pay their dues. Explain this to those who are backward about paying their dues and urge them kindly to help us in the State.

Our legislature will meet next January and we are planning to ask them for important legislation, and the larger the showing we can make in numbers the greater the influence of our organization. Every woman who pays her dues will help in this legislative work.

Our white ribbon comrades at Portland are working earnestly for the success of the State Convention. Pray for them that they may have grace and strength to perform the arduous duties that devolve upon them.

We hope that every local Union in the State may be represented in the convention. Appoint your delegates early in September, and send their names to the chairman of the entertainment committee. A full delegation from a local union consists of the president, one delegate at large, and an additional delegate for every twenty ty paid up members. Every Union needs the inspiration that comes from these large gatherings.

Mrs. Florence Richards, National Organizer and Lecturer, Mrs. Rebecca Trego, National Evangelist, and other speakers of note will be at the convention; a diamond medal contest will be held Saturday night; we expect an unusually large attendance, and we have reasons to hope for the greatest convention in the history of Indiana W. C. T. U. You can not afford to miss this harvest home!

Last year a number of new Unions were reported to me for the first time at State Convention. New Unions should be reported as soon as organized, so that I may send them supplies, etc. If any one knows of a new Union whose name has not appeared in The Message, please report the same to me at once. The following Unions have been reported since my last report to The Message:

Petersville, Bartholomew County; Bargersville, Johnson County; Westpoint, Decatur County; Butlerville, Jennings County; Vallonia, Jackson County, organized by Mrs. Kroft; Farrville, Grant County, organized by Mrs. Shugart; Otwell, Pike County, organized by Mrs. Lee; Deer Creek, Carroll County, and Carroll County Union, organized by Mrs. Goodlace; Fisher's Station and Hortonville, Hamilton County, organized by Mrs. Stanley; North Judson, Starke County, organized by Mrs. Stahl; Castleton, Marion County, organized by Mrs. Gipe; Stinesville, Monroe County, organized by Mrs. Siebenthal; Farmland, Randolph County.

Yours for Victory,
MARY E. WOODWARD.

Mrs. Trego of Ohio, will also be with us in our State Convention. Mrs. Trego is known and loved by many Indiana women. She is a woman of winsome personality and deep piety. Many unions should secure her services for the immediate weeks following the convention. Mrs. Julia Overman of Marion, Ind., our state superintendent of oratorical contest department, will hold a diamond medal contest at the State Convention. The young people from adjoining towns should be urged to attend this contest on October 6th, at Portland. Press superintendents and local union presidents in nearby counties have announcements of this convention and of the oratorical contest for a diamond medal made continuously in the Unions and frequently in the country papers.

Every minister of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, who lives within easy access of Portland, should be invited to attend our State Convention. The ministers would attend if sufficiently invited and they realized the importance of the work of the W. C. T. U.. Invite them! Urge them to come!

Mothers bring your young sons and daughters to the convention. Write to Mrs. A. J. Graves, of Portland, for information concerning boarding. It will doubly pay you to take the boys and girls and pay their board for a few days that they may get into the knowledge of (Continued on Page Three.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Amos R. Wells, the noted Sunday School writer, recommends that the life and work of Temperance Reformers be studied in the Sunday Schools as supplemental work on Temperance Sunday. It will be most appropriate to call attention to Miss Willard and her great work on next Temperance Sunday, September 30, as that date is so near to her birthday, September 28.

We suggest the following plans:

Let the W. C. T. U. present each Sunday School with the picture of Miss Willard. This can be done as an introductory exercise to the special Frances E. Willard program of the Sunday School, which may include a responsive reading giving the facts concerning Miss Willard's life. A roll call of classes, each responding with a quotation from her writings. A temperance song by the primary or junior department. A special exercise given by the children commemorating Miss Willard. The circulating of Frances E. Willard pledge cards, the distribution of the Willard souvenir cards, the distribution of temperance literature. Our National Superintendent has prepared the following exercises, etc., for Frances E. Willard Day, all of which are included in our quarterly budget of Sunday School helps, price 15 cents: Frances E. Willard, "Our Star," "A Floral Tribute," "A Starry Crown," souvenir booklet, souvenir cards; responsive exercises, "A Great Reformer."

Send all orders to Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, 115 Walnut Street, Riverside, California.

COUNTY AND LOCAL EVANGELISTS SUPERINTENDENTS PLEASE TAKE NOTICE.

Dear Sisters:—Word comes from Miss E. W. Greenwood that she wants my report as quickly as possible, so please have every report in by the 15th of September, or before. I am anxious for each union to have credit for all work done, so if it is but little, please report. Remember that Almo House work especially belongs to this department.

I sent blanks one year ago, enough I thought for two years. If you need more please send to me for them immediately. Let us work together for the best year's report ever made. I have sent Miss Greenwood's 8-page leaflet to many superintendents. I have more copies on hand which I will gladly send to any one desiring it. All should have this helpful leaflet from our World's and National Superintendent. Praying the Father's richest blessings upon the work and workers, I am faithfully yours,

MRS. E. M. HAUGHTON,
Richmond, Ind.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Indiana has taken advanced ground this year in Loyal Temperance Legion branch. You have all been hearing about our splendid State Convention held at Kokomo in June, and will be anxious to hear the report at Portland in October, so I ask that all L. T. L. leaders please see that the report blanks sent out the 1st of September be filled out and returned to me by the 25th of September. If you have not sent in the report quarterly since the 15th of September, 1905, then you may make a report covering the year's work, but if you have sent them in during the year, just fill out the blank for last quarter from June 15th to September 15th.

Then see that all dues are collected and sent to Miss Clara M. Sears, State W. C. T. U. treasurer, at Anderson, before the 25th of September. Remember our aim this year is $50.00 national dues and $50.00 State dues, and so far only $54.40 of this $100.00 is paid. We have the members if only we get the 10 cents from each one. Let the junior or general leaguers do as well as the graduates and we will have the amount we want.

In 1905 only 50 graduates paid dues while 134 paid in 1906, more than doubled the amount.

If you all could have been in our convention and seen the enthusiasm of those young people you would never again ask the question, "Is the Legion worth while?"

Yours for Success,
IDA M. MIX,

PRESS.

Of the 165 blank reports which I sent out in June but 17 were filled and returned to me, and I am supposing that the other 148 are being held for the final and year's report in September. I sincerely wish that each one of them may be returned to me by September 20th, so please do not disappoint me.

In the report where it calls for a number of feet of clippings saved, give the number of lines furnished instead, and do not send clippings to me, as they will be of more value to you than me.

Yours for a full report,
LAURA CAMMACK,
State Superintendent, Converse, Ind.

THE CIGARETTIST.

"Cigarette smokers are often active, alert, competent men. They are quick to see an opportunity, ready to take advantage of it, appreciative, sympathetic, kind. But when you see such a one he is in his prime, at his best; his star is at zenith, not on the horizon or at nadir. Never again will he be as much of a man as he is now. His future lies behind. He is not growing into a better man. He is not in the line of evolution. If you want a man who will train on, flee the cigarette as you would a pestilence. He will surely disappoint you. And the better and brighter your young man, the faster will be his descent to Avernus."

"The cigarette smoker is not a degenerate because he smokes cigarettes. Quite often he is a cigarette smoker because he is a degenerate. In preparing a culture bed for vice germs do not omit cigarettes. Cigarettes stupefy the conscience, deaden the brain, place the affections in abeyance and bring the best to the surface."

"I am aware that cigarette smokers often make fine distinctions between the factory prepared article and those they roll with their weak, nervous fingers in our presence. But after a long and careful study of the subject, I can find no reason to suppose that there is any real choice in cigarette paper, cigarettes or cigarette makers. The burning of tobacco and paper together in proximity to the saliva distills a subtle, chemical poison that has its sure effect even upon the strongest constitution."

"Cigarette smoking begins with an effort to be smart."

—Philistine.

"The Superintendent of the Lindell Railway, of St. Louis, says: 'Under no circumstances will I hire a man who smokes cigarettes. He is as dangerous on the front of a motor as a man who drinks. In fact he is more dangerous, his nerves are apt to give way at any moment. If I find a car running badly, I immediately begin to investigate to find if the man smokes cigarettes. Nine times out of ten he does, and then he goes, for good.'

"E. H. Harriman, the head of the Union Pacific Railroad system, says that they 'might as well go to a lunatic asylum for their employes as to hire cigarette smokers.'

"The New York, New Haven and Hartford, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the Lehigh Valley, the Burlington and many others of the leading railroad companies of this country have issued orders positively forbidding the use of cigarettes by employes while on duty."

—O. S. MARDEN, in Success.

VICTORY AT KANSAS CITY, KANSAS.

At last Governor Hoch of Kansas has been waked up and begun to do something to enforce the prohibitory law in the law-defying city of Kansas City, Kansas, through the assistant attorney general of the State, W. C. Trickett. For years the local authorities of that city have refused to enforce the prohibitory law, encouraged by the mayor. But the prohibitory law is now being strictly enforced, and the mayor of that city was recently ordered to relinquish his office and was fined $1,000 for contempt of the State Supreme Court. Mr. Trickett has closed all the rum shops and put padlocks on them, and now threatens to prosecute the owners who rented property for the saloons, if they do not at once refuse to rent their property for such purposes. HOW TO SECURE BETTER TEMPERANCE TEACHING.

(Mrs. Hunt's Special Message.)

As the school year opens, every woman of the Christian Temperance Union who has at heart the fundamental importance of temperance education is revolving plans for securing better teaching of the subject. The question "How shall we do it?" was so often repeated in the letters which came to the department last winter (as always) that it called out and became the theme of the following message which was the last bit of dictation done by Mrs. Hunt, and that only in broken phrases a few days before her death.

These are the principles evolved in Mrs. Hunt's extended experience and thorough observation through nearly 30 years of arduous labor for Scientific Temperance Instruction. She left them as her bequest to you, her co-workers. Take them, and with the same spirit of consecrated power and devotion to a great purpose adopt them to the need and opportunity of your special fields.

CORA FRANCES STODDARD, Secretary,

more than reform; it is prevention of the evil it more than reform it is prevention of the evil itself. The cause of alcoholism and its horrors is a popular misapprehension as to the nature and effects of alcoholic drinks and other narcotics. The people for generations have thought that alcoholic drinks moderately taken are safe beverages, while, in point of fact, alcohol has the power to create an uncontrollable appetite for more that indulged in may become destructive and, as Professor Von Gruber says, "No one can foretell whether or not he is susceptible to alcohol. He finds out only by playing a game of chance with his own life which is a dangerous experiment."

Universal education as to these facts and the physiological reasons for obeying those teach total abstinence from alcoholic drinks and narcotics is the only preventive of this great evil. The object of such education is to influence the formation of right physical habits. As these are early formed, new ones each year, this education must be given through some institution that reaches all the children in the nation. The schools are manifestly the medium for conveying such instruction which must begin in the earliest years where it can reach the child's life and continue, new facts added each year, as the child can comprehend them, to keep the subject fresh until it is covered at the close of the first year of the high school.

You ask how it can be introduced into the schools and how taught. I reply, just as you would introduce and teach any other new subject of which the teachers are practically ignorant. For instance, if it were the study of arithmetic that you wished to introduce into the schools for the first time you would go to the school board, urge its importance, and ask to have a place made in the curriculum for enough lessons to cover the subject beginning with the simplest facts in numbers for the first primary year, and to have adopted a course of study which would show what should be taught each year, the subject being developed progressively with text-books in arithmetic for the help of pupils as soon as they were able to use books, usually about the fourth school year, with books also progressively adapted to the capacity of the pupils as the study proceeds through the grades.

Now this is what you should do in the case of physiology. Take the international course of study, which shows what is to be taught in temperance physiology each year, to the school board and ask them to adopt it. This plan for teaching the subject orally in the three primary years with an oral lesson book for the guidance of the teacher, containing the facts simply told that the little ones can understand.

A primer, a simple book for the use of the pupils in this subject, should be furnished for the children in the fourth school year, a little advanced book for the fifth and sixth years, one still more advanced for the seventh and eighth years, and a high school book.

With such books and the course of study teachers will know what to teach and should be able to know how to teach it.

Especially will they know how if you send them the School Physiology Journal, each number of which contains model lessons with suggested methods for teaching. Three lessons a week for ten weeks of each of the three primary years and four lessons per week for ten weeks of each of the six succeeding years, with reviews, will cover the subject of physiology, hygiene and narcotics if the above plan is followed.

To recapitulate: Just three things are necessary; first, the adoption of the right course of study; second, the adoption of good books adapted to grade; third, the interested teacher. To secure the last, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union should send to each teacher in its vicinity the School Physiology Journal. In many cases business men and those interested in temperance work will be willing to contribute to the splendid work for the children if the women will tactfully ask them to do so after explaining the need of the teachers and the benefits which result from furnishing these helps.

What ought to be done can be done by whoever has the courage and the faith to undertake it, for Omnipotence is pledged to such an one.

FIELD NEWS

Monroe County—Temperance interest is indeed encouraging. Another union organized by Bloomington local at Stinesville, this being the third organized this year. President, Mrs. B. Hoadly; Superintendent L. T. L., Mrs. E. P. Hunter. The dear sisters of this union have been interested in temperance some time, having already held three silver medal contests, thus beginning their work with many good seeds sown and money for the treasury.

Great Work of One Union from June 23, 1905, until July, 1906, a few days over one year. At Terre Haute on June 23, 1905, was organized the Busy Bee Union by Miss LaDrew. Later it was called the Terre Haute Union. Regular meetings held, 27; Mothers' meetings, 11; Sabbath observance meetings, 6; Evangelistic meetings, 3. One meeting each for special work as follows: Neal Dow, Frances Willard Memorial, W. C. T. U. Catechism Review, L. T. L. work, concerning the Mormon Smoot, Literature, Flower Mission and Jail and Prison. Members, 34; average attendance, 10; number of names on Smoot petition, 140; two boxes of supplies sent to California, value $40; basket of supplies to a convict's family, value $2.00; service held for a dying woman, White Ribbon Social, receipts, $12; L. T. L. penny social receipts, $7.26; two L. T. L. picnics; three wagons to County Poor Farm and services held at these places; one parlor meeting in honor of Mrs. Haughton, State Evangelist; visits to sick, 489; social visits, 317; tracts and pledges distributed, 241; bouquets, 271; dainties to sick, 181; pages of literature distributed, 15,451; hospital visits, 15; three L. T. L.s organized with average attendance of 25. Cradle roll 9; honorary members 2; no deaths.

A Grand Gold Medal Contest was given in the Presbyterian Church in Portland, Ind., Wednesday evening, August 1. The contestants were four boys and four girls. Each showed careful training. The contest was not as well attended from Portland as it should have been and showed very plainly lack of interest or enthusiasm.

Pennville and Redkey sent large delegations and made a good showing. The judges were unanimous in awarding the medal to Elizabeth Humphries who gave "The Result of Treating" in her own natural way.

Miss Humphries expects to compete for the diamond medal in the contest that will be given during the W. C. T. U. Convention which will be held in this city on October 6th. These contests are becoming quite a feature of our local union and is one that should be encouraged. If we get the young people interested in this great work we will have accomplished great and lasting good. Twelve dollars and seventy cents was realized from the contest which will be used to help defray the expense of the coming convention.

Greencastle—The glorious Fourth was celebrated by a temperance picnic under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farmer, just east of Greencastle. Mrs. J. P. D. John arranged for and presided at the meeting. Devotions were led by Dr. Town. The singing evangelist, Mr. Harry Maxwell, led the singing and also sang a sacred solo. The veranda, decorated with flags and flowers, was used as the speakers' stand. The following excellent program was listened to with close attention by the company assembled under the trees. An able address by Dr. H. A. Gobin on "Education and Patriotism." Mr. Albert Burnside spoke on the "Universal Brotherhood of Man." This will be brought about, he said, when it is recognized that the young must be protected from temptation. He explained the real effect of beer upon the organs of the body. The food value theory received its death sentence at his hands. Mrs. S. W. Stephens, M. D. twenty-five years a missionary worker in India, was next introduced. While in India she was an active temperance worker, at one time speaking to an audience of men where two hundred signed the pledge. The pledge signing, she considers, a great aid to Christian missions. She also said that as a preventative of disease, alcoholic liquors have no merit. Prof. J. B. DeMotte made an eloquent address on "Temperance and Patriotism." He paid high tribute to the sterling worth of the founders of our country. Now, however, too often, the law maker has become the law-breaker. After the reading of the Declaration of Principles by the president, all joined in singing "America." L. T. L. boys and girls assisted the ladies in serving the delicious and bountiful picnic supper, which, though last, was not least among the good things of the day. Few unions in all this country have on their lists of honorary members, so many distinguished gentlemen as the Greencastle Union. These gentlemen graciously responded to all invitations to assist in the work. Under the splendid leadership of Mrs. J. P. D. John and her excellent corps of general officers this union is making strong sentiment in the university town of Greencastle.

Howard County—The second section of superintendents of Howard County W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. William Willcutt's, at Greentown, August 9th. The county executive committee met in the morning and a strong program for the fall convention was planned. In the afternoon the following departments were taken up: Mercy, Flower Mission, Sabbath Observance and Franchise.

Bishop Joseph C. Hartzell, of the M. E. Church, wore a little bow of white ribbon while he lectured at Island Park. He said I have eight sisters who are white ribboners and my mother, aged 92 years, is an honorary member of the National W. C. T. U.

Temperance Day at Bethany Park was a great success. The attendance and interest was indicative of splendid sentiment. The forenoon speaker was Mrs. McWhirter and the afternoon speaker was Rev. A. L. Crim. Intense interest was manifested. Dr. Homer J. Hall was in charge and to him is due great credit for the constant aggressiveness of our temperance people in that part of the State. Mrs. Lizzie Heath of Indianapolis, was elected president of the Bethany Park Assembly W. C. T. U. and Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson was elected treasurer.

Dr. Martha Keller, State Superintendent of Medical Temperance, has moved from Lafayette to Indianapolis.

The World's W. C. T. U. Convention will be held in Fremont Temple, Boston, October 17-23. The National W. C. T. U. Convention will be held in Hartford, Conn., October 26-31. Every person who is interested in the forward movement of temperance work should, if possible, attend these two conventions. Special railroad rates will be made by all lines. By all means go if you can. Many will go from Indiana. For particulars concerning the trip, write to Mrs. McWhirter, editor of The Message.

CONVENTION NUMBERS OF THE UNION SIGNAL.

The 1905 convention numbers of The Union Signal will be the best ever issued. They will contain graphic, illustrated accounts of the two great meetings. The issue of November 8 will report the World's Convention at Boston, and those of November 15 and 22 will be devoted to the National Convention at Hartford. The paper of November 29 will gather up the good things crowded out of the preceding issues.

These convention reports will be an unanswerable reply to the question, "What is the W. C. T. U. doing?" Send to those you wish to interest. See that each minister, teacher and prominent citizen in your community receives them.

We quote a special price of ten cents for the four issues. Send for special convention copy subscription blanks, and see how many of these papers you can place in your neighborhood. Those sending clubs of twenty-five or more convention copy subscriptions will receive special mention.

Address The Union Signal, Evanston, Ill.

FACTS.

Prohibition has not killed Greensboro, N. C. During the past year 1,200 new houses were built there. The liquor folks talk big about bar-rooms and distilleries making a town. That which destroys human flesh and blood and increases crime and causes sorrow cannot "make more than two-thirds of the southland from Richmond, Va., to El Paso, Texas, is under strict prohibitory law.

the great work for humanity done by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The tide is taking our boys and girls out and away from the atmosphere that is helpful to make them strong, earnest minded and good.

W. C. T. U. Wives invite your husbands to attend the Portland Convention. The men most always can attend what they really want to. Tell them so much of our work, of your love for them and how much you want them to attend this convention, that they will begin now to make their plans to either go with you or to get to Portland Saturday morning and stay until Tuesday. We do so much want the husbands of W. C. T. U. women who live at a convenient distance from Portland to attend this convention. Board can be secured at reasonable rates and every hour in our convention enjoyed.

Temperance girls invite your boy friends to come Friday evening and stay over Sunday at Portland and attend the convention Saturday and Sunday. Boys always have money and usually by a little planning they make arrangements to have one Saturday.

MONEY FOR TEMPERANCE.

straight liquor advertising, and thus they hold the newspapers in bondage.

Associated Press Bought by Liquor Money.

The liquor men also buy up the Associated Press or the news representatives of it; and they also buy up many private news bureaus, especially at Washington, D. C.

Liquor Bill Boards and Street Car Placards.

The liquor men have used money to boom their business. For instance, hundreds of thousands of dollars have been paid out by them for advertising on bill boards, both on city billboards and in the country along the railroads. Everywhere one goes nowadays on the railroads the eye falls upon great flaming advertisements of various kinds of liquors. That has cost an enormous sum of money. It not only advertises their liquors, but at the same time debauches the farmers who accept the money from the liquor men to allow these great billboards put up on their land.

Another way by which liquor men spend enormous sums of money is by advertising in the street cars all over the country. Placards announcing the superior qualities of the different brands of liquor are in the street cars of nearly every city and town of the United States, where they are read by millions of people every day.

Liquor Literature Scattered Broadcast.

The liquor dealers' associations also spend large sums of money in printing leaflets full of false statements and fallacious arguments in favor of their business, which they scatter over the country by millions. We meet this literature everywhere.

Whenever some back-slidden preacher or a drunken doctor makes a statement in favor of the saloon or the liquor traffic it is printed and reprinted in liquor papers and often put into leaflets and distributed over the country in large quantities.

How We Could Influence Legislators.

Often in a sudden emergency it is necessary to spend many dollars in telegrams to arouse the people quickly to write or telegraph their representatives concerning some important bill which has come up unexpectedly. Many thousands of dollars could also be wisely expended when Congress and the State legislatures are in session in printing and mailing literature to the people giving the reasons why the different important temperance bills pending should pass, and why certain bad bills pending should be defeated, and urging the people to write their representatives concerning them. Legislators are always very sensitive to home influence, and letters written them are not useless, as many suppose, but do have great weight with the men who make the laws.

How We Could Use Money.

We could get temperance facts and arguments published in almost every newspaper in the United States by the payment of a small amount per column. We could get our side printed at a much lower rate than the liquor men have to pay for publishing their side of the question, because most newspapers would prefer to publish the temperance side, if there was any financial profit in it for them, rather than publish the liquor side even at a much higher rate. Hundreds of thousands of dollars could be legitimately expended in this way each year to good advantage, and if money was being constantly paid to the press of the country for publishing temperance arguments and facts, the editorial side of the paper would be much more friendly to us, and many friendly temperance editorials would appear where now there are very few.

Put Cartoons and Placards in Street Cars.

Again, large sums of temperance money could be wisely spent in putting striking cartoons and brief temperance facts on placards in the street cars all over the country, just as is now done by the liquor men in booming their business. There is almost no limit to the amount of money that could be wisely expended in this way alone. Think how much it would mean if a striking cartoon or a few striking temperance facts were put in every street car in the United States, and it could be done if we had the money.

Use the Bill Boards.

Again, we could use the city bill boards and also put up bill boards along the railroad tracks all over the country, had we the money in sufficient quantities. Brief, startling temperance facts or striking temperance cartoons put on bill boards everywhere would powerfully and swiftly affect the public sentiment of the nation on the drink question.

Mailing Literature to Special Classes.

Large sums could also be spent each year in sending by mail special leaflets to special classes of people. There are certain leaflets which would be of interest and help to physicians, to ministers, to lawyers, to merchants, to manufacturers, etc. Printed lists of all these classes can be gotten in the city and town directories of the United States, and all these directories can be seen and used at the Library of Congress at Washington. If every year the latest and strongest facts that would interest these different classes could be printed and mailed to all the business and professional men of the country—the molders of public sentiment in every community—it would in a very few years work a revolution in the public sentiment of the country on the temperance question.

The above shows the general need of money for extensive use by the temperance people. The Indiana W. C. T. U. does not handle much money. Five hundred dollars for field work would make it possible to send out workers in much greater numbers.

Members of the W. C. T. U. in Indiana, consider these conditions and come to our State Convention at Portland in October prepared to contribute such sums of money as you can spare toward a general field fund that can be used at the discretion of our State officers during this year. There are some members in every union in our State who will help. There are friends of the cause in many places who will contribute towards this fund. There are members and friends who will make provision for legacies that will enable Indiana W. C. T. U. to wage a wonderfully aggressive warfare. We must provide for a greater number of speakers and organizers to be constantly kept in the field. We must plan for an aggressive campaign against the greatest enemy of the home, church and state—the liquor traffic.

ISLAND PARK, ROME CITY, IND.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Island Park Assembly is forceful and far reaching with a large membership representing Michigan and Indiana. The hearty co-operation of the presidents of these states has welded the work and the workers in a manner that must be understood to be appreciated.

The class work and the program of the W. C. T. U. was under the supervision of Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, editor of The Message.

During the session of the Assembly splendid work was carried on in these departments with efficient superintendents.

Mothers' Meetings—Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, president Indiana W. C. T. U.

Parliamentary Law Classes—Mrs. E. L. Calkins, president Michigan W. C. T. U.

The following classes were held each week day during the Assembly:

Oratorical contests and physical culture classes in charge of Mrs. M. E. Evertson, of Asbury College, Ky.

Expression and Physical Culture Classes in charge of Miss Charlotte Barnum, of Michigan, besides some special work with private pupils.

The Kindergarten was held every week day and was in charge of Miss Ruth Ransom of Chicago, who has for three years been very popular at Island Park.

The Literature Booth was in charge of Mrs. Ruth Probst, of Ligonier, whose gracious manner and earnest words won many to an earnest consideration of our work.

At the W. C. T. U. cottage all these workers lived, and one more—Mrs. Talburt of Richmond, who solicited and secured more members to the Island Park Assembly W. C. T. U. than any one person has ever done. This bright, cheerful energetic lady is more than seventy years young.

The class work was mostly done in the morning. Then our workers were free to attend the afternoon and evening entertainments in the auditorium. Besides the privilege of the splendid Assembly program, they enjoyed the excellent boating and bathing facilities, some learning to swim. All were young (?), happy and busy during the stay at Island Park.

The W. C. T. U. had the following work on the regular auditorium program:

July 31.

10:00 a. m. Civic Righteousness meetings.

11:00 a. m. Woman's Part in World Evangelization.

7:30 p. m., Oratorical contest followed by a tableaux representing the drunkard's wife and children in the desolate home, and the children singing, "We Are Coming to the Rescue," carrying American flags, marched in and surrounded the group.

A Japanese umbrella drill was given by young ladies.

Through the interest and kindness of Prof. Cline who had charge of the motion pictures during the Assembly, colored lights were thrown upon the platform and added much to the effectiveness of the evening's program.

We were favored with selections of band or orchestral music at all of our meetings. Prof. Garnett and his able co-workers were most gracious and kind to lend assistance to the W. C. T. U.

Many Michigan White Ribboners attended W. C. T. U. day meetings as a result of the genuinely hearty and gracious co-operation of the Michigan women led by their able and splendid president, Mrs. Calkins. This Island Park Assembly W. C. T. U. work, near the border line of Michigan and Indiana, will surely become a Mecca for our temperance people.

State W. C. T. U. Convention, Portland, October 5-9.

Andrew Carnegie in his book, "The Empire of Business," says: The first and most seductive peril, and the destroyer of most young men, is the drinking of liquor. I am no temperance lecturer in disguise, but a man who knows and tells what observation has proved to him; and I say to you that you are more likely to fail in your career from acquiring the habit of drinking liquor than from any or all the other temptations likely to assail you. You may yield to almost any other temptation and reform—may brace up, and, if not recover lost ground, at least remain in the race, and secure and maintain a respectable position. But from the insane thirst for liquor escape is almost impossible. I have known but few exceptions to this rule.—Andrew Carnegie in His Book, "The Empire of Business."

MRS. M. E. EVERTSON.

Who has for several years been identified with State work of Kentucky, has been prevailed upon to give the month of September to work among the local unions and in organizing unions and holding medal contests up in the northeastern part of Indiana. Every county president or local president who can secure the services of Mrs. Evertson will be greatly pleased with the results.

Now as soon as you read these lines write a card to Mrs. Evertson addressed to Rome City, Ind. It will cost you only a very small amount, if anything, to have Mrs. Evertson. If she spends a week with you she will leave money in your treasury, providing you co-operate with her in her efforts to hold a medal contest and build up the union.

FRANCE BECOMING FRIGHTENED.

Scientific temperance instruction is getting a strong foothold in France. In the schools, there are now text books covering the question and the government offers prizes for the best essays on the question, not only by school children, but by mature scholars as well. Temperance restaurants are being promoted in Paris. La Croix Bleue, the gospel temperance propaganda, now has about 4,000 reclaimed drunkards in its ranks. Recently sixty-eight leading physicians, including officers of the medical department of the army and navy, in the Department of Finistere, signed a manifesto to impress on the people the dangers of drink, saying that the ravages of alcohol threaten the very existence of the French nation. And this in the country where innocent American soothsayers declare there is no drink problem because the people drink "pure, harmless wine."—National Advocate.

"The First Monday morning after the re-opening of the saloon in San Francisco, July 9, 1906, there were 74 victims before the police courts as against 5 the previous Monday; 72 on Friday as against 2 on the previous Friday and the second Monday 113 as against 3 or 4 the second Monday before re-opening. Never again can a man with ordinary intelligence argue that high license reduces the evils of the drink curse or that prohibition properly enforced does not prohibit."

SIR FREDERICK TREVES LEAVES THE MODERATE DRINKER NO GROUND TO STAND ON.

Sir Frederick Treves, surgeon to the king, addressing a temperance meeting, declared that alcohol is distinctly a poison, and that its use ought to be limited as strictly as any other poison. He added that it is not an appetizer, and that even a small quantity hinders digestion. Its stimulating effect only endures for a moment and when this is passed capacity for work falls enormously. Its use is inconsistent with any work requiring quick, keen and alert judgment. Reviewing medical practice for a quarter of a century, Dr. Treves declares that he would say that the use of alcohol in hospitals and by physicians generally had emphatically diminished and is diminishing.

"All alcohol," he said, "is distinctly a poison, with certain uses like other poisons, but limitation on its use should be as strict as on arsenic, opium or strychnine. It was a curiously insidious poison, producing effects which seemed to be only relieved by taking more, a remark which applied to another insidious poison, morphia or opium. Alcohol has a certain position in medicine, but in the last twenty-five years its use by the medical profession has steadily and emphatically diminished."

People are often heard to say that alcohol was an excellent appetizer when taken before meals. The appetite does not need artificial stimulation; if the body wanted feeding, it demanded food. As for aiding digestion, it hindered digestion. Even when taken in small amounts, instead of strengthening, alcohol curiously modified the nourishment of the body and greatly lessened the output of carbonic acid, a very important matter, so that the drunkard was necessarily an ill nourished man. To reach the acme of physical condition was impossible if any alcohol were used. Its stimulating effects were only momentary. After that passed off the capacity for work fell off enormously.

Nothing to Fall Back On.

Alcohol brought up the whole reserve forces of the body and threw them into action. When these were used up there was nothing to fall back on. It dissipated rather than conserved bodily energy. As a work producer it was exceedingly extravagant. It might lead to physical bankruptcy. He was not speaking, he would remind them, of excessive drinking.

It was a curious fact that troops could not march on alcohol. In the Ladysmith relief column which he accompanied, the first men to drop out were simply men who drank. The fact was as clear as if they had all borne labels on their backs.

As for the statement that alcohol was a great thing for circulation, it increased the heart's beat, reddened the skin by using up the body's reserve power, but then the heart's action became emphatically weaker, the doctor stated, the temporary effect being got at enormous cost. The action of alcohol on the central nervous system was very definite. It was that of functional poison, first stimulating, then depressing the nervous system; the higher nervous centers went first, becoming slightly dulled. The man who worked on even a moderate amount of alcohol was not at his best. Fine work could not be done under that condition. The use of alcohol was absolutely inconsistent with a surgeon's work or any work demanding quick, alert judgment. He was struck by the number of professional men who for this reason discontinued the use of alcohol in midday.

Lowered the Temperature.

The last notion was that alcohol kept out the cold, that a little nip was good when going out into the cold air, and so forth.

In the words of a great authority alcohol really lowered the temperature of the body by increased loss of heat, to some extent by increased oxidation and very much reduced the power of the body to resist cold.

Finally he would say that the great and laudable ambition of all, especially young men was to be fit.

This could not possibly be achieved if they took alcohol. It was simply preposterous to suppose that any young healthy person needed any alcohol whatever. Indeed he was much better without even the smallest amount.

Having spent a greater part of his life in operating, he would say with Sir James Paget that of all people those he dreaded most to operate on were drinkers.

He hoped what he said would help his hearers

DOES PROHIBITION PROHIBIT?

If more liquor is sold where there are no saloons than where there are, would brewers, distillers and wholesale dealers, who own about 75 per cent of all saloons, pay license, rent, taxes, insurance, attorney's fees and contribute large sums of money to influence the press, to publish and distribute literature and in other ways to obtain license, all to lessen the amount of their sales? ... Would the liquor men now be maintaining five national organizations at heavy expense to oppose all prohibitory measures, if such measures did not interfere with the traffic? Would they keep an expensive lobby at the national capital to urge the restoration of the canteen or army saloon and to prevent a prohibitory clause in the statehood bill for Oklahoma and Indian Territory if they were not financially interested? — Charles Scanlon.

to answer such absolute fallacies as "a glass of port can do you no harm."

Sir Frederick Treves, K. C. V. O., C. B., L. L. D., F. R. S. C., who perhaps came for the first time more prominent before the eyes of the empire in 1900, when he relinquished his large London practice in order that he might join the forces in South Africa, where he filled the position of consulting surgeon, came, perhaps, into even greater prominence when he successfully operated on His Majesty King Edward, on July 24, 1902 for appendicitis.

He had held the position of sergeant-surgeon-in-ordinary to the King since 1901, and prior to that of surgeon-extraordinary to the late Queen Victoria.

He was created a baronet in 1902, and is also Knight of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem. For his services with the Ladysmith relief column he received the South African medal and three clasps.

Sir Frederick, who is only fifty-two years of age has written numerous books and papers on anatomy and surgery. His "Tale of a Field Hospital," published in 1900, became exceedingly popular with the public.

In his earlier career he acted as professor of anatomy and pathology at the Royal College of surgeons, and examiner in surgery at the University of Cambridge. He is also a member of the Advisory Board of the Army Medical Service, and of the Army Hospitals Committee.—National Advocate.

NO SALOONS IN AMERICA—WHAT WILL HAPPEN THEN?

The wage earner will carry home his wage, and the business man his profits. Every department of honest trade will feel the impulse of the hundreds, yea, thousands of millions of dollars that heretofore have gone through the saloon, but that with no saloon will be expended for comforts, food, clothing, shelter and warmth in winter in the American home. Children will not then be taken from school to be premature bread-winners because unnatural fathers spend in the saloon the money that should be sacred to the home.

No wife and mother will shrink in terror trying to shield her little ones as she hears the sound of the approaching steps of the husband and father who represents "Satan in solution."

Since beginning the study more than twenty-five years ago, of the nature and effects of alcoholic drinks and other narcotics upon life and character as revealed by modern science, the picture has been ever before me of our country filled with happy homes, whose plenty represents the development of the boundless resources of this wonderful continent that God has given us, a plenty so distributed that poverty and its limitations are no more; and those homes, the cornerstones of the republic, the abiding place of a strong achieving race of noble, Christian men and women whose capacity for self government makes liberty under law the very atmosphere of the nation; churches everywhere, with schools and colleges for the children and youth who have come to their inheritance of being well born with no taint of the sequel of alcohol in their blood; no distilleries, no breweries, no saloons, no buying or selling or drinking liquors any where; no drunken brawls; the dockets in the police courts almost empty, the jails, prisons, poorhouses, asylums found to be fifty and more times too large. The children born after the last saloon is gone will represent a nobler type because alcohol has not prenatally poisoned the very fountain of their being.

Unalcoholized, unnarcotized, the American man represents the highest type of manhood the world has ever produced. As a son, lover, husband, father and citizen he is nearer the ideal. Mary H. Hunt.

BEER NOT A FOOD.

In a dispatch from Berlin, Germany, to the New York Sun occurs the following:

"German writers in commenting on the failure of German athletes to carry off signal honors in the Olympian games at Athens assert emphatically that the chief cause of the low standard of their physical achievements is the beer drinking habit, which is greatly sapping the national vigor. Several writers agree that this habit prevents the Germans from acquiring that tautness of muscle which distinguishes the American and English athletes and not only causes superfluous fat, but seriously affects the heart, which is the sport organ par excellence."

WHAT WHISKEY DOES.

Not all that it does can be stated in figures. Its worst effects are not possible of tabulation, and cannot be adequately described—they are so horrible. But some of its doings are these:

Slays more than war, pestilence and famine combined. Kills 100,000 every year. Makes 800,000 paupers every year. Makes 315,000 criminals every year. Makes 30,000 idiots every year. For every dollar the government receives as license from liquor interests, it costs the government at least $16.50 to care for paupers, criminals and idiots, and to bury the drunkards. It pays less for wages and less to the farmer than any other business. A dollar spent for beer yields less to the producer than any other business. A dollar spent for beer only gives 5 per cent to the laborer, and 12 per cent to the farmer, while a dollar spent for bread gives 33 per cent to the laborer and 25 per cent to the farmer.

and beautiful spirited Mrs. Trego will be with us.

Sunday will be a great day. Invite all interested people to attend our Sunday meetings. Many can and will come for that day if invited. We wish that our ministers could be with us on that day. Most of them cannot, but they can come for all day Friday and for Friday night. Urge them to do that and hear President Vayhinger's annual address, besides enjoying the other features of the program. Friday evening will be of unusual interest.

Come to Portland yourself and bring a visitor with you. Invite others to attend.

Medical Temperance.

All reports not sent in previously should be taken to the state convention and handed to Dr. Martha J. Keller, whose residence address is 37½ East Washington St., Indianapolis, Ind.

From the Union Signal we quote:

At a special World's Convention Fund meeting recently held at the residence of Mrs. Angeline A. Pomeroy of Great Barrington, Mass., a brief history of the World's Union was given, with remarks upon the fifty-nine nations included in the organization. The flags of the United States and Great Britain formed a background for the pictures of Miss Willard and Lady Henry Somerset, and twenty-two ladies displayed flags of as many nations, others exhibiting articles from Switzerland, Nova Scotia, Jamaica, the Philippines, Turkey, Italy, Africa, India, Sweden, France and China. When the union on the Hawaiian Islands was referred to, Mrs. Damon, Miss Damon and Professor Maurice Beckwith visitors from Honolulu, sang a native song, translating it, and also rendered their national hymn. Contributions were received and refreshments served.

THE LIQUOR BILL FOR 1905.

The American Grocer compiles and analyzes the statistics of liquor consumption annually, and has just issued its statement for 1905, based upon the Government Excise statistics. The figures for 1905, just issued, show a continuation of the same steady annual increase in this item of national expenditure as has been observed in the years previous. We spent for beverages $1,548,708,307, as against $1,498,622,715 in 1904, and $1,541,633,379 in 1903, $1,369,098,276 in 1902, and $1,273,212,386 in 1901. The alcoholic drink bill which enters into this computation, as given by the American Grocer, is $1,325,439,074. Of this sum, $771,675,969 is given as the beer bill, $96,005,230 is the wine bill, while whiskey is charged up to the amount of $457,757,875. The total drink bill today, as the compiler states, is "one-fourth of the total estimated production of the cotton, wheat, corn, hay and tobacco crops, and every other product of the farms, orchards, cattle ranches, dairies, and every other agricultural industry. It amounts to one-eighth of the Nation's total expenditure for food."

The consumption of wine and whiskey has not been a steady increase, but more or less erratic. But the increase of beer drinking has been as steady and seemingly inevitable as that of the population. From 1863 to the current year there have been only six years in which setbacks of even a fraction of a gallon occurred.

The increase has been not only absolute but relative to the population, namely, 21 3-5 per cent., during a period when the population increased only 6½ per cent. The per capita consumption has greatly increased, and has reached an annual expenditure of $93.15 for each family of five persons, while the Bureau of Labor gives $749 as the average family's income.—National Advocate.

THE W. C. T. U. AND THE SCHOOLS.

By Rev. J. H. James.

Our best hold for the moral uplift of the communities in which we live is in and through the schools. Compulsory attendance gives the opportunity. Teachers are realizing that moral teaching is as really a part of their work as "the three R's." Yet they need enthusiasm, suggestions as to methods, and increasing leverage upon the pupils. May not the white ribbon be made a "live wire" imparting these?

One good woman's visit to a school may be an inspiration. If lack is discovered, of course criticism or dictation would make matters worse, but tactful suggestions might be of great service. Public sentiment needs to be created and brought to bear upon the schools. A local Union may have such addresses as will do this. There are books of great value at moderate cost. Other aids are available. All will serve to equip teachers for this department of their work, and wisely used, will be welcomed by the instructors themselves as well as by thoughtful parents.

Upon the children too, Unions and their members may bring helpful influences to bear. Talks in schools by local and other speakers will stir little hearts and make the right path plain.

Woman developed language, which, in turn, developed man's mind.

She put all the children in the world and protected them after they got here—while the savage man is hunting his fellows or animals or drowsing in the sun.

PLEDGE OR WORKHOUSE?

Success of the Pollard Plan

For three years Judge William Jefferson Pollard of the Second District Police Court of St. Louis has been suspending sentence on men convicted before him of drunkenness and setting them at liberty when they are willing to sign the pledge. This method of treating drunkards was an experiment when Judge Pollard adopted it, but in his experience not more than two per cent of the men to whom opportunity to reform has been given in this way have violated their promises, and he feels now that its practicability and success have been proved completely.

According to the Arena, Judge Pollard does not allow every man convicted before him to choose between a fine or imprisonment and a pledge of total abstinence. Such victims of the drink habit as have lost their physical and moral self-control to an extent indicating complete inability to leave liquor alone, he punishes in the conventional way. When, however, a man of decent reputation, who has given away to temptation, comes before him charged with intoxication, the judge after conviction imposes a sentence equivalent to a heavy fine or a period of imprisonment of considerable length. He then offers a printed form of pledge to the prisoner and if it is signed, orders him to report to the court once a week during the time it runs.

If the convicted man's employment makes it difficult for him to report in court hours the judge receives him at his residence. At these meetings the judge gives such advice and encouragement as he can, endeavoring to awake the self respect and self-confidence of the paroled prisoner. When the experiment began many judges, lawyers and policemen laughed at it and its author. Now those who regarded it least hopefully are obliged to admit that good has been done in many cases by this unusual procedure.

A case used to illustrate the successful working of the Pollard plan is that of a teamster who habitually drank up his wages every Saturday night and abused his family regularly. Finally his wife obtained a warrant for him and urged Judge Pollard to send him to prison, saying she would maintain herself and three children by doing washings. Judge Pollard talked to the man kindly and became convinced that there was some good in him. With the wife's consent the man was released on signing the pledge and promising to report to Judge Pollard weekly. At the end of a month he had recovered his balance, had paid a mortgage on his household goods, had been promoted and gave every sign of becoming a valuable citizen. He was discharged from his obligation to report to the judge and is now supporting and treating his family properly. Certainly a term in the work house would have accomplished no such result in this case, and there have been many like it. Judge Pollard is not a weak sentimentalist, however. Speaking of the reformatory method he has adopted, he says:

In giving the defendant an opportunity to sign the pledge, I always impose a suitable fine for his offense. I let him off on his promise of good behavior, with the distinct understanding that if he drinks again he will have to go to the workhouse. The man who knows he is going to be sent to the rock pile for getting drunk will keep out of the reach of temptation.

What they need is a good, strong moral stimulant. I produce the pledge and give them a chance to work out their own reformation. Then I back up that pledge with the law created by 700,000 people. The chances are that the man who knows that the eye of the court is upon him wherever he goes will stay at home evenings instead of lounging around saloons.

Judge Pollard adds that "virtually the man is enjoined from getting drunk." Government by injunction appears to have some virtues. The conventional punishments for minor offenses are often illogical, and frequently do more harm than good. The Pollard plan is worthy of the attention of magistrates and judges in the inferior criminal courts, who frequently have hard work to make the punishment fit the crime.—Editorial in the New York Sun.

Under date of August 6, 1906, the Chicago Evening American says of this unique work: "Are Courts of Law Primarily Intended to Punish a Man or to Reform Him?"

Judge William Jefferson Pollard, a practical idealist, who presides at the Second District Police Court of St. Louis, asserts that the law becomes of more majesty when it saves one sinner than through the punishment of the ninety and nine.

MILLIONS FROM SALOON RESERVE.

"The liquor traffic of the country pays annually millions into the National and State treasuries. It is the greatest revenue producer of the country. Without the revenue derived from the liquor trade the wheels of the Government would come to a standstill. A trade which contributes annually millions for the support of the State and Federal Government should not be assailed wantonly.—Wine and Spirit Gazette.

The above information (?) and argument (?) is worthy of the serious reflection of all patriotic and Christian people. Here we have a half truth which is really a whole lie. It is true the traffic does pay millions into the National and State treasuries. That is the half truth. The editor of The Wine and Spirit Gazette forgot to tell whole truth and tell us how much it takes out of the National and State treasuries to support jails, asylums, and countless reformatory and charitable institutions made necessary almost wholly as a result of this traffic's work.

But when it puts forth the claim that without its revenue "the wheels of the Government would come to a standstill" then it is time for all patriots and Christians to awake. If it is true Heaven pity the Republic! Must we sit by supinely and admit that this wealthiest and most prosperous nation on earth would collapse but for the revenue derived from the accursed traffic which Gladstone long ago said causes more woe than war, pestilence and famine combined? Has it come to this that our very existence as a nation is dependent upon its greatest foe? What say you patriots? What say you Christian men? Is this your highest conception of statesmanship? How soon will the people learn the fallacy, farce and fraud of the license system?

The revenue argument is the strongest defense the liquor traffic has left to hide behind. With the popular indignation against the liquor traffic constantly increasing, the liquor men are coming more and more to favor high license. They know that the more money they pay to the town, the State and the Nation, the more dependent these are upon the liquor traffic. The more money they pay in license fees, the greater immunity they secure from the passage of stringent temperance laws.

We opposed the increasing of the beer tax of a dollar a barrel on beer during the Spanish-American War for the same reason. We oppose the increase of the license fee always and everywhere, chiefly for the reason that it puts the municipal, State and National governments under increased obligation to it.

Again, the more money the local authorities compel the liquor traffic to pay in license fees, the more difficult it is to make them obey the law. They always cry "square deal" when local authorities charge them a large license fee, and then try to make them strictly obey the law.

The temperance forces of the country must give more attention to the problem of cutting down the revenue from the saloon, rather than increasing it, if they want to hasten the day of the final overthrow of the liquor traffic.—The National Advocate.

AN IMPORTANT MOVE IN EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS WHICH PROMISES MUCH FOR THE TEMPERANCE CAUSE.

All true friends of the high thinking, philosophic temperance of this day will be glad to learn that a great educational establishment has just seen fit to inaugurate in one of its collateral schools a curriculum where temperance has a bona fide educational recognition. The Indiana Inter-Collegiate Academy, which is an institution organized as a preparatory department under one of the oldest university charters of Indiana, which was granted by a special act of Legislature in the year 1851, has just announced its new curriculum in the catalogue for the season of 1906-1907, in which it publishes the fact that Scientific Temperance is required in all of its four (4) inter-collegiate courses of study, viz: Its Classical, Scientific, Literary, and Commercial courses. It is announced that students will be required to make the full credits in this subject of Scientific Temperance, the same as in Mathematics or any of the Literary branches before being guaranteed graduation. The lectures in Scientific Temperance are to be given by Prof. R. A. Bryson, M. D., who has lectured upon this subject for twenty (20) years. The doctor will demonstrate by living examples of tests upon animals, organic tissues and other interesting and convincing experiments, the absolute effects of every variety of alcoholic, maltous or other stimulant beverages, classifying the work inductively in a regular course, laid out in a practical text-book, so that the students will have a perfectly intelligent knowledge of the subject of such a nature as to unquestionably educate in them a self-elected adoption of the principles of Temperance.

This is the very first genuine compliance with the teaching of Scientific Temperance ever made by a higher educational institution in Indiana since its State Legislature passed the law requiring it as an element of all curricula of recognized schools, over ten (10) years ago. The political influence of the liquor selling element have heretofore been so all-potent as to successfully intimidate the grammar and high schools of the public system, and the colleges themselves, from compliance and this bold stand taken by The Indiana Inter-Collegiate Academy, in our opinion, entitles it to have the enthusiastic support of all families who believe in the temperance cause and who have looked for such an educational champion of their cause in the middle West.

The academy has just been recognized by the faculty of The Union Technical Institute as its regularly accredited preparatory school. This action has been taken, in compliance with the new law, by which the Indiana Department of Education is required to exact from all applicants for matriculation in technical institutes in this State not less than one year of Academic training prior to admission to their technical studies.

THE NATIONAL PURITY CONFERENCE.

Will be held in Chicago, Oct. 9, 10, 11.

Its Importance.

The importance of this conference cannot be over-estimated. The time is ripe for united, national effort to be directed against the organized traffic in virtue. Events the past months of even more than usual boldness and flagrance have occurred to give publicity to this organized traffic. There is an interest in the Purity movement, awakened, no doubt, by these facts made public, much greater than before noticed by our oldest workers. People ever are looking to us to lead in some united effort which shall bring relief from this awful debauchery of our sons and daughters.

National Purity Federation.

This conference is called by and will be held under the auspices of the National Purity Federation which was founded at the National Purity Conference held in La Crosse, Wis., in October, 1905.

The conference will be held at Lincoln Center, at the corner of Oakwood Boulevard and Langley Avenue, (between 38th and 39th Sts., near Cottage Grove Avenue) and is conveniently reached from all parts of the city by car. The most prominent men and women of all sections of the country will present thorough discussions covering every phase of the purity question. Among them will be Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts, Ph. D., Mr. Anthony Comstock, Mrs. Lenora Lake, Rabbi Tobias Schaufarber, Dr. Mary Wood Allen, Rev. Father Coffey and a long list of others. The railroads grant a round trip rate of one fare and one-third upon the certificate plan.

THE ARMY CANTEN AND THE W. C. T. U.

At the Medical Congress recently held in Boston, Major Charles E. Woodruff of the United States Army made the following statement:

"Since the abolition of the canteen, there has been an alarming increase in drunkenness among the soldiers. For this the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is responsible through their hostility to the canteen."

Without any evident intention of so doing, the Major has paid a high tribute to the W. C. T. U. That our beloved organization has had influence with the United States Congress to abolish the canteen is certainly a cause of devout gratitude to Him who leads us in our "peaceful war" against the great evil that we combat.

Major Woodruff added: "The canteen is an evil, I admit, but it is by far the lesser evil when compared with the low dives which have sprung up around every army post since the canteen has been done away with."

In this statement the W. C. T. U. is again honored. "The canteen is an evil," an admitted evil, a danger to clean young men who enter the army and a temptation to those who have already become addicted to the drink habit. The W. C. T. U. is not responsible for "the low dives that have sprung up." Besides, we have it on high authority that these low dives existed before the canteen was abolished.

The major further adds:

"There are two classes of reformers, the ideal and the practical. The idealists cry 'No compromise with vice,' but as a practical man I claim that under these conditions we must compromise with vice if we promote the cause of temperance."

The major has again honored the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. It is an ideal organization. It does not compromise with evil. It is both ideal and practical. It took the high ideal position that our boys in the army ought not to be thrown under the influences of canteens, and especially those manipulated by the United States government. That the W. C. T. U. is practical as well as ideal is shown by their effectual work in influencing Congress to abolish the canteen.

At the close of his address Major Woodruff offered resolutions advocating the establishment of the canteen, but his motion met with strong opposition and was laid on the table.

TEMPERANCE SONGS.

Sing temperance songs in the home, in the Young People's meetings and at all meetings of the W. C. T. U.

The Government of Ontario does not permit liquor selling or gambling in chartered clubs. Why should any of the States?

Governor Folk, of Missouri, has enforced Sunday closing in Missouri's three great cities.

Governor Mickey, of Nebraska, recently refused to appoint an applicant to office because he was profane and a drinking man.

DR. STALKER ON DRUNKENNESS.

The Rev. Dr. James Stalker of Glasgow, in concluding an address to his congregation recently on the drink evil, said:

"It will always be the duty of the pulpit to insist on four things, not as matters of opinion, but in the name of God—first, that drunkenness is a deadly sin; secondly, that no drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of God; thirdly, that it is the vocation of Christians to use the most effective means for putting an end to anything that is dishonoring to God; and, fourthly, that the only perfect defense against drunkenness is a living, working and rejoicing religion; as the apostle says, well knowing why he places the two states in opposition to each other, 'Be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess, but be ye filled with the spirit.'"—Evangelical Messenger.

The Jay County Convention met in the Friends Church at Walnut Corner with a good attendance. Excellent reports were given of the work done and aggressive plans were made for the year. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. S. W. Haynes, Portland; vice president, Mrs. Will Edmonson, Balbec; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Hannah Andrews, Red Key; recording secretary, Miss Grace Pontius, White Oak; treasurer, Mrs. Polios, Balbec.

Mrs. Haynes and Mrs. Edmonson were reelected to the offices they held during the past year, without one vote against them.

Superintendents for the departments selected as follows: Medal Contests, Millie Level, Red Key; Evangelistic Work, Mattie Worth, Bryant; Mercy, Eva D. Hunt, Balbec; Purity, Lizzie Grisell, Balbec; Mothers' Meetings, Almeda Hoffner, Bryant; Systematic Giving, Gertrude Fulton, Portland; Non-Alcoholic Medication, Emma Jay, Red Key; Franchise, Mrs. Maggie Williamson, Red Key; Flower Mission, Mrs. Lizzie Bourne, Balbec; Anti-Narcotic, Mrs. May Cookerly, White Oak; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Will Beard, White Oak; Jail and Prison, Mrs. Harriett Sanders, Portland; Scientific Temperance Instruction, Mrs. Daisy Eglin, Walnut Corner.

A reading by Mrs. Sadie West, entitled "Young America's War Cry," was enjoyed by all.

Much interest and enthusiasm resulted from the Parliamentary Drill.

Mrs. Will Edmonson of Balbec gave a reading in her own natural way.

The Convention adjourned by singing with clasped hands "Blest be the Tie That Binds."

LaPorte Union—July 13th was Sabbath Observance Day, the superintendent, Mrs. Rachel Bowers having charge. A very interesting program was given.

On September 7th the annual meeting was held at which Mrs. Dr. Wardner, a former president gave a short but very interesting and encouraging address.

Rev. Harmon led the devotional. The delegates to the State Convention were appointed.

Carroll County organized at last by Mrs. I. Goodacre, State organizer. Officers: President, Mrs. Alice Hanson; recording secretary, Miss Myrtle Snell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Dr. Johnson; treasurer, Mrs. Clara Dunkin.

For County and Local Jail and Prison Workers, Dear Sisters: I kindly ask you to help me in remembering our ministers in the different parts of the State, that the last Sabbath in October is set apart for our special work. And that we will greatly appreciate their kindness shown by preaching on some phase of our great work. The needed information can be obtained by writing to Amos W. Butler of Indianapolis, Ind., who is secretary of State Board of Charities, who will gladly supply any and all ministers who write for literature. I also ask that our workers correspond with him. Yours for our cause,

SALLIE SHUGART EDGERTON,
Marion, Ind., R F D 3.

FIELD NEWS

Liquor selling having been driven out of the army posts, the immigrant stations and the Capitol, and Secretary Long's order out of the Navy, also, there remains only the branches of the National Soldiers' Home to be captured—the last breastwork in the line of march.—Exchange.

Countess of Carlisle, president of the British Woman's Temperance Association, will be represented by her daughter, Lady Dorothy Howard. The Earl of Carlisle will accompany Lady Dorothy, and it is probable that he will deliver an address at one of our meetings.

"Jubilee Night" at the National Convention: "It has been decided to make some changes in regard to Jubilee Night, that more of our states may be able to have a part and the work be more widely encouraged. The plan, as formulated, is as follows: The states making a net gain of 500 members or more, to be represented by their state presidents in five-minute speeches as heretofore. Those making a net gain of 400 members to have four minutes; three hundred members, three minutes; 200 members, two minutes; 100 members, one minute. States making any gain whatever may be mentioned, but not represented.

World's Temperance Sunday November 25th.—Temperance Topic: "Temperance in Its Relation to the Individual and to the Nation."

Sunday School workers everywhere should rally to the help of the teachers. Whenever possible supply them with literature and such information as can only be secured from our temperance publications.

Owen County Convention was held at Spencer in the beautiful Methodist Church. Attendance was good. Excellent reports were given of definite work done in departments and on closing the saloons in Gosport. Mrs. McWhirter was present and delivered an address in the afternoon. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Bessie Strain, Gosport; vice president, Mrs. McClaren Spencer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Notie Fox, Gosport; recording secretary, Miss Alice Willigan, Spencer; treasurer, Mrs. Florence Lawson, Spencer.

Colfax Ave. W. C. T. U. of South Bend gave a literary and musical entertainment in the auditorium of the Colfax school building, the evening of August 31st. "A Lark at Nonotuck Hall," a one act drama written by Miss Ruth Chew, president Bridgeton (N. J.) was well presented by seven high school girls. The climax of the play was the burning of patent medicines in the chafing dish. Parker's Tonic, 40 per cent alcohol, was used.

Thus our treasury was replenished and a profitable lesson taught.

The Guilford Union held a very interesting meeting at the home of Bessie Moody Templeton, Thursday afternoon, September 13th. The members responded to roll call with a scientific fact. The question of Scientific Temperance in the public schools was discussed with much interest. A letter from Mrs. Hattie Cottingham was presented to the Union in which she recommends highly the School Physiology Journal treating of Scientific Temperance. This journal should be in every school room in our country. A committee of two were appointed to visit our trustee and use their influence in getting this Journal in the schools. The Union renewed their subscription to the New Voice.

An election of officers was held and the following officers were elected: President, Miss Alta Hansell; vice president, Bessie Moody Templeton; secretary, Mrs. Jennie Ward; treasurer, Mrs. Eva Ward.

Hammond Union held a Mothers' Meeting with teachers of the public schools, with an able Purity program. Regular monthly meeting in November and December with plans and material for clothing the poor. In March a box of clothing to be Charity Hospital, Chicago which was a "help in time of need." Three dollars in January sent for State organization fund. Three hundred and fifty bouquets to the hospitals, jails and shut-ins, besides potted plants to the sick. Two hundred and fifty good literature distributed, a box of clothing to Frisco sufferers, a very successful institute was held in March. We were well supported by the pastors of the different churches, and a very able lecture on patent medicines by Dr. Jackson a White Ribboner. We have proof that the Scripture-text on bouquets have been the means of turning men to better lives.

A Grand Gold Medal Contest was given in the Presbyterian Church in Portland, Indiana, Wednesday evening, August 1st. The contestants were four boys and four girls. Each covered himself with glory and showed that he had careful training in his special work. The contest was not as well attended from Portland as it should have been and showed very plainly lack of interest or enthusiasm.

Pennville and Red Key sent large delegations and made a good showing. The judges were unanimous in awarding the medal to Elizabeth Humphries who gave "The Result of Treatings" in her own natural way.

Miss Humphries expects to compete for the diamond medal in the contest that will be given during the W. C. T. U. State Convention which will be held in this city on October 6th. These contests are becoming quite a feature of our local Union and is one that should be encouraged. If we get the young people interested in this great work we will have accomplished great and lasting good.

Twelve dollars and seventy cents was realized from the contest which will be used to help defray the expense of the coming convention.

MRS. W. A. HUMPHRIES.

MY PEOPLE PERISH FOR LACK OF KNOWLEDGE.

The most far-reaching campaign ever inaugurated in connection with the temperance cause is that begun by Mrs. Mary H. Hunt in 1879 for compulsory scientific education in all the public schools of the nation. This work which has been carried to success in every State and Territory in the Union, is inspiring the people of Europe to use similar methods. In England the municipal authorities in some localities are causing to be placed on bulletin boards statements as to the evil effects of the use of alcohol. The borough of Hempstead has adopted a poster which is signed by the mayor, town clerk, and officer of health, of which the following is an extract:

"The abuse of alcoholic stimulants is a most potent and deadly agent of physical deterioration.

"If the mother, as well as the father, is given to drink, the future of the race is imperiled.

"Abstinence from alcohol is conducive to full physical strength and activity."

The authorities of Birmingham, Dundee, and Glasgow are issuing similar posters. Slowly but surely we are awakening to the truth announced through the inspired prophet ages ago, that people perish for lack of knowledge.

I have always observed the thread of life to be like other threads or skeins of silk, full of snarls and encumbrances.—George Herbert.

Horace Greeley once said: "I would oppose high license if every saloon keeper had to pay $10,000 license fee, and the only one allowed to dispense the stuff was a Doctor of Divinity."

If we amount to anything in the world we owe the fact to woman—and we might, at least admit it and allow her to help us, with her superior intuition and character, in our law-making and our choosing of public officials.

Female suffrage will add millions of votes to the moral side, the common sense side of every election.

How much longer is this country to wait for it?—Chicago American.

A CANNED MISSIONARY.

The difficulty of obtaining and transporting fresh foods in Alaska has resulted in an excessive use of canned goods. In fact, the natives consider Americans and canned goods as inseparable. Recently some one sent a phonograph to the bishop of Alaska, which was the first one in Alaska. The natives were most interested and gathered about to hear the first piece, which was the Lord's Prayer. After it was concluded there was a moment's impressive silence, and then one of the Indian chiefs, pointing to the phonograph, said: "Him canned missionary?"—Selected.

The Committee on Temperance of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church has divided the nation up into districts for convenience in the work of its secretaries. Charles Scanlon will devote his energies to the Pacific coast, Dr. Worrell will have charge in the Central States while Dr. Fulton, the "new arrival," will work in the East with headquarters in Philadelphia.

The Evening Tribune and Telegraph, of Providence, R. I., in a recent issue lamented the fall of the canteen and expressed its contempt for the "mock" reformers of the W. C. T. U., etc. The reason why it did so is evident from its advertising columns, where 112 inches—over five and one-half solid columns—of liquor advertising flashed their lurid falsehoods to the Tribune's long suffering constituency.

The Kansas City, Mo., Star-Times says regarding Sunday closing in that city: Remember that figures do not proclaim the whole result of Sunday closing of the saloons in Kansas City, but they suggest the rest of the story. Chief Hayes testifies that Sunday arrests for one year under the closing order have been reduced 80 per cent and that Sunday crimes have been decreased 75 per cent. That pretty nearly reveals the part that saloons play in the disorders and the crimes of a great city.

McClure's Magazine and Collier's do not publish liquor advertisements. This ought to add to the popularity of these great journals among the friends of sobriety.

IN MEMORIAM.

Since the organization of the Sheridan Union, a little over a year ago, death has visited us twice and taken from our midst our beloved sisters, Mrs. Laura Mickels, who leaves a husband and one little girl and Mrs. Laura Owens (vice president) who leaves a husband and two little girls. Both were highly interested in the work and their death was mourned by the Union.

VOL. XI. No. 12.

ANDERSON, IND., NOVEMBER, 1906.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

STATE CONVENTION NUMBER.

PORTLAND CONVENTION NOTES.

The State W. C. T. U. recently held at Portland was the largest by a few voting delegates ever held by Indiana W. C. T. U. Mrs. Vayhinger, state president, presided with ease, grace and dignity. Always just, considerate and kind, making the timid feel at ease and encouraging all to best and noblest effort. Such Christian culture makes the convention platform home like and tends to develop the best in womanhood which always reflects back into the home.

The new Methodist church where the convention was held is very large and very fine.

The Young Men's Bible Class room is spacious and elegantly furnished, the furnishings up to this time costing about one thousand dollars.

The pastor, Dr. Line, was most cordial and hospitable toward the entire convention.

The choir furnished excellent music.

This was a very large convention, 293 voting delegates besides the many visitors.

Many new county presidents.

The adoption of a revised constitution took much time. According to the new articles of incorporation we elect nine state trustees who control our property (The Hadley Industrial School). These trustees are elected thus: Three for three years, three for two years and three for one year. Hereafter there will be three trustees to elect each year. From these trustees we must elect our five general officers, these of course for one year at a time.

Sunday was a great day—our speakers were not only in the churches of Portland, but they went out into the nearby towns. Mrs. Vayhinger spoke with great acceptability in the morning at the convention church. Collection taken at the close of the service even twenty dollars.

Great mass meeting Sunday afternoon in the convention church. The main address was given by Mrs. Trego, who wonderfully reached the hearts of the vast assemblage. There were several other speakers who were greatly enjoyed.

President Vayhinger's address was able and inspiring. It will appear in full in the annual state report. Every member should have a copy of this report. Order it from Miss Mary Woodard, Fountain City, Ind. Price 15 cents in stamps.

The Vice President, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, is our state lecturer—the wonderful report of this wonderful woman's work we give elsewhere.

Miss Mary Woodard, the corresponding secretary, read a very comprehensive and splendid report. This consecrated Christian woman leaves a remunerative college position to devote her entire time and energy to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union work.

Miss Clara Sears, state treasurer, than whom there is no sweeter spirit in all the W. C. T. U. has labored assiduously this year, taking care of all state funds and managing the long subscription lists of the Message. To read and look after nearly 6,000 names and addresses on the subscription list which must every one be either continued or dropped during the year, means careful and tedious work each quarter. Her report and that of the corresponding secretaries will be found also in the annual report.

Mrs. Walmer, state secretary of the Young Woman's branch, was prevented from attending the convention on account of the illness of an aged father.

Mrs. Ida Mix, state secretary Loyal Temperance Legion, made a splendid report.

Her work is an inspiration to all lovers of children. Her report should be read in all unions and greater interest will be manifested in organizing Legions.

Miss Edith Hillis, state president of the Loyal Temperance Legions (composed of the young men and young women, with her efficient corps of co-laborers has secured the co-operation of some of the most aggressive christian young people in our state. Indiana is justly very proud of Miss Hillis, who wins wherever she goes. We need her constantly in the field.

The young ladies who acted as pages, Miss De Ette Walker and Miss Marie Leck, are splendid representatives of the Loyal Temperance Legion.

The diamond medal contest in charge of Mrs. Julia Overman on Saturday night was very largely attended, and was a great success. Mrs. Overman is doing aggressive contest work which will help to bring a prohibitory enactment for Indiana.

The Memorial Service was arranged and conducted by Mrs. Martha Gipe. This service was the most impressive and beautiful ever held at our state convention. The plan of service will be given in detail in the next issue of The Message.

Mrs. Florence D. Richard, national lecturer, spoke on Monday night to a magnificent audience of the delegates and the representative people of Portland. She delivered a masterful address. Mrs. Richards was sent by her Methodist conference in Ohio to the last general conference as a lay delegate. This was a great recognition by the Methodist ministers of her splendid character and ability in her own community.

Our own Mrs. Stanley will be employed by the state this year, a route for her being made by our corresponding secretary. The intention is to send Mrs. Stanley to every union in the state if possible without charge to the union. The union to widely advertise the meeting and to entertain Mrs. Stanley. A freewill offering to be taken at the meeting, this to be turned over to the state treasury. From the state treasury Mrs. Stanley will be paid. In order to make this plan a success it will be necessary for our people to advertise the meeting for weeks previous to Mrs. Stanley's coming. She will hold an afternoon meeting with the union and deliver an evening address.

Her route will be planned by the state secretary. She will of course go from one union to the next one of easy access and so on, making traveling expenses as small as possible. No services will be held on Saturday. Six days will count the week's work, rest on Saturday to be able for the great Sunday meetings.

General Officers of Indiana were re-elected.

State Convention Notes by Mrs. Mattie Cammack Gibson.

Our president held services in the Madison jail 35 Sundays of last year.

Miss Anna Thomas, of Marion, who has prepared herself for a newspaper woman, was made Superintendent of Press Work.

Mrs. Wheeler, our blind singer, gave us a number of solos at our convention in her sweet pathetic voice.

Mr. Nelson Listenfield, of Jay county, won the premium of a small gold medal for holding the largest number of contests.

Mrs. Sibbits, of Kansas, a minister in the Friends church and a national organizer, Mrs. Rebecca Trego, a national evangelist, Rev. Lewis Stout and Lucy Page Gaston were all with us over Sunday and helped fill the many calls for service.

By direction of the convention Coca-cola and pop will be analyzed and the truth in regard to the ingredients of these drinks given to the public.

The Indiana L. T. L. branch has 78 legions and about 3,000 members and near 1,000 subscribers to the Young Crusader.

There were 297 voting delegates at the convention.

Elwood Legion received the banner for paying the most dues and Grant county received the banner for organizing the most L. T. L.'s, seven in number.

Jay county won the banner for organizing the most unions, four in number.

Grant county received the banner for fullest corresponding secretary's report, and also the Sunday school banner for the best general work.

Hamilton county won a Sunday school banner for securing most temperance pledges in the Sunday school work.

$1,000.00 was given Hadley Industrial School by Mrs. Sibert of Franklin, by the request of her mother, Mrs. Caroline Dietch. A fitting memorial was directed by the convention to be placed in the buildings for her.

Mrs. Trego's Plan.

She will begin her work in Indiana on November 18. She will hold three meetings in each place, all at one church, the local union in each instance to entertain her, provide the church and advertise the meeting. On the first day there will be a lecture in the evening; on the second day a woman's meeting in the afternoon and a lecture in the evening, with a freewill offering. On the third day there will be a stereopticon lecture at night, to which an admission fee will be charged.

The beautiful solo, "Only Sixteen," was sung by Miss Leora Bogue, of Fairmount.

MEDICAL TEMPERANCE.

Dr. Martha Keller, superintendent of this department is proving that patent medicine is largely a fake by her alcoholic illumination. There has been given this year 240 addresses; many meetings on this subject.

A large number of unions are reading and circulating "Alcohol as a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine."

Purity in Literature and Art.

Dear Mothers: It is by the "Harp of the Senses" that character is formed and through character comes success or failure. What the child looks upon and what it hears becomes a part of its life. How necessary it is to keep that which the child looks upon suggestive only of the pure and the good.

Some billboards have been cleared of objectional pictures. Thirty addresses have been given and 25 meetings held and 36,625 pages of literature distributed in the interest of purity in literature and art.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW.

Parliamentary usage has become a kind of a second nature to our women. They practice it more or less and consequently think little about it and talk less.

Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, our former superintendent, having removed from the state, many reports were not made up and sent to her.

However, St. Joe county is the banner county with Mrs. Laura Wert Axtel as county superintendent and Grant county second.

"Robert's Rules of Order," "Lillian Cole Bethel" booklet and Mrs. Benjamin's cards are in general use in the state.

Thirty-two drills have been reported.

Mrs. Nettie Mattox, of Otterbein, is the new superintendent.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Mrs. Outland said: "The only way we know our work is being done is by the reports that come in." Some good work done, not enough reported.

1275 reported signed the pledge.

27,677 pages of temperance literature distributed. 12 counties reported.

PEACE AND ARBITRATION.

Grant county stands at the head of the class in the work for peace and Miami second. Miss H. Livina Baily, our excellent superintendent in this department, has compiled an excellent booklet for this department, "Grotius," a study from the seventeenth century. This little book is a great story for peace and justice and should be in every home. Send to Miss H. Livina Baily, Richmond, Ind., for ten copies for 25 cents.

WORK AMONG RAILROAD EMPLOYEES.

I fear sometimes this department is almost omitted from our work. We seem to forget the thousands of men who hold our lives in their hands at the jeopardy of their own. Railroad yards, depots, are everywhere and they afford great opportunity for christian service.

$125.00 raised to send a call boy to St. Louis and 88 quarts of fruit and 68 garments have been distributed.

Mrs. Anna Campbell.

FRANCHISE.

Mrs. Laura Thompson has labored most industriously in this department this year. Our women want the right of suffrage for the good they may do. Yet they do not want it quite bad enough or they would surely work a little harder at it.

IMPORTANT INDIANA STATUTES.

In Indiana we have a law which prohibits children from being employed in factories, stores, mines, etc under fourteen years of age.

Our Compulsory School Attendance law requires all children to fourteen years of age to attend school the full school year.

In Indiana night work for women and girls is prohibited between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.

We are informed that now small boys work all night in glassworks and telegraph service in our state.

Our compulsory education law is not well enforced.

Much can be done by agitation. W. C. T. U. Unions should take these matters up; where the truant officers do not find the children, secure and report information to them regarding the children. Secure definite number of children by school enumeration and definite number in attendance at schools. Invite prominent persons to attend meetings. Report this information at your meeting, have the compulsory education law read and discussed. Send detail report of these proceedings to the newspapers, including a typewritten copy of the law read. Ask the ministers to urge the enforcement of all laws pertaining to children. Under this head is the pool room law. Get information and urge consideration. Keep at this kind of agitation and the officers of the law will get busy. They will see conditions and take action toward enforcement.

In annual executive session at Toledo the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, There are in the United States, adult men and women amply able to carry on all work in manufacture and commerce which requires to be done after 7:00 o'clock at night; and

Whereas, In the interest of public health and morals, it is not well that boys and girls should work at night, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the National Council of Women of the United States view with approval, the Ohio statute which prohibits the employment of boys under 16 years of age, and girls under 18 years of age after 7:00 p. m., and

Resolved, That the Council requests the National organizations affiliated with it to bring through their local branches and constituent bodies, this excellent statute to the attention of the legislatures of all the states.

Will you kindly bring this resolution to the attention of your organization and let me know what action is taken upon it, in order that the report to the next Executive of the National Council of Women may give full credit to your organization.

Yours respectfully,

FLORENCE KELLEY,
Chairman Committee on Children.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Willard Souvenir Post Card is a neat card bearing the portrait of Miss Frances E. Willard in one corner, and a fine half-tone reproduction of her Statue in the other, together with appropriate scripture verses from her favorite quotations. In all, it is the prettiest Post Card yet produced. Mr. Coleman, the publisher is making an effort to place these cards in 1,000,000 homes by Miss Willard's heavenly birthday, Feb. 17, 1907, and offers to give $100.00 in cash to the state purchasing the greatest number out of the million. If our state does what she can in this work, we will have a good part in a noble undertaking, and will be amply rewarded, and in case we do more than any other state, we will get the $100.00 Let all unions purchase them in quantities, and sell them at a profit, and put the profit money in the Union Treasury. You can get them by addressing E. C. Coleman, Pub., Rocky Mount, Virginia, at the following prices: 5 for 10c; 20c per dozen; or $1.50 per 100, all postpaid.

TEMPERANCE SONGS.

Sing temperance songs in the home, in the Young People's meetings and at all meetings of the W. C. T. U.

The Pennsylvania State Medical Society met in September at Bedford, Pa., passed a resolution urging the enactment of a new law providing for an asylum for destitute inebriates separate from the jail or poor house.

At the meeting of the Lamoille Baptist Association of Vermont the following resolution was passed: "Resolved, That we urge upon our lawmakers an opportunity for a popular vote on the repeal of our present high license and local option law and the adoption of a wise prohibitory law."

The Epworth Herald makes the following strong appeal in an article headed, "An Oklahoma Opportunity."

"Oklahoma this fall has the fight—and the chance—of its life. Congress gave it the chance when it enacted the statehood law with the provision that prohibition should be retained in the Indian Territory and on all Indian Reservations in what has thus far been known as Oklahoma proper.

"And there's the fight. Oklahoma is too rich a field for the brewers and distillers to be abandoned to prohibition without a desperate struggle. They dare not permit the state to write prohibition into its constitution if money and brains can keep the obnoxious clause out. The liquor interests have so much at stake that they will spare nothing to intrench themselves in Oklahoma, and without a doubt their ultimate purpose is to break down prohibition in the Indian Territory also.

"It is a great fight. If the temperance forces win we shall have a vast prohibition empire in the southwest. Look at the map! On the north is Kansas with constitutional prohibition. On the east is Arkansas, with local option rapidly driving the saloons out of the state. On the south and west is Texas, also a local option stronghold, with all the border counties "dry." Fourteen degrees of latitude and seventeen degrees of longitude, over which the saloon is either exiled or on the run!

"Now, Oklahoma cannot save herself. The enemy has unlimited resources in money and "influence." The churches and other bodies working for constitutional prohibition have no such backing. Throughout the country there is abundant sentiment in their favor, but such a campaign as this, which may settle the liquor question in the new state for all the time will need more than sentiment. It must have real money. The work will involve considerable expense, and there are no great corporations with a direct financial interest in prohibition whose money might help to make the campaign a success.

"What can Epworthians do? The mercy and help department is charged with the temperance work. Could we do anything more profitable, more definitely valuable, than the giving of practical support to our Oklahoma fellow Epworthians and their allies in this critical hour?

"Think about it, third vice-presidents. Talk about it with your committees. Determine that you will do something. Watch the papers for stories of the campaign. We shall have more to say next week about the League's opportunity in Oklahoma.

Cordially approving this appeal, Bishop William F. McDowell, president of the Methodist church Temperance Society, sends this message to the great young peoples movement of that church through the Epworth Herald:

"Somebody once said: 'It is a glorious thing to see a nation saved by its youth.' Such spectacles have been witnessed more than once in history. The young people of the young empire of Oklahoma have such an opportunity now given them, in the chance to save Oklahoma from the presence of the saloon. God forbid that the youth of the state shall fail to come to the help of the Lord against the mighty.

"The Church Temperance Society sends greetings to the Epworthians of Oklahoma. And we trust that Epworthians elsewhere may send aid for the campaign. The forces of iniquity will not lack means to carry on their fight. But we can beat them—working together with God—we can beat them!

WILLIAM F. MCDOWELL,
President Church Temperance Society.

FROM SYRACUSE.

Our W. C. T. U. Institute was in session two days at the M. E. Church, with two State leaders present. Miss Clara Sears, our State Treasurer, had the institute in charge and Mrs. Thompkins assisted. Many great questions of importance were discussed and much good gained. Our city attorney, A. G. Cornelius, gave us some fine points on the Pure Food Law. Four new members were added. Our city is greatly aroused, as we have just voted a blank remonstrance and carried by a great victory throughout the township. Miss Clara Sears gave us a fine address on the first evening. The second was spent in vocal and instrumental music, recitations and a good talk by Mrs. Thompkins, relating to the recent trip to the World's Convention at Los Angeles, California.

(From Associated Prohibition Press)

McDonald County, Missouri, is rejoicing over the splendid effects of local Prohibition in that community for the past two years. Police business has been reduced to a minimum, higher prices for real estate and more mercantile business done, many important public improvements secured, with less crime, are among the many happy developments of the new era. In a recent news article regarding the situation, Judge Green, one of the leading district judges of the state, is thus significantly quoted: "One murder trial will cost the state fifty to one hundred times as much as a prosecution case for the violation of the liquor law." That seems to epitomize the reason that Missouri is rapidly driving out the saloon by county and local Prohibition contests.

A GLIMPSE AT WORLD WHITE RIBBONERS.

The personnel of this World's convention includes a host of brave Prohibition heroines who have carried the light of the Great Reform as an evangel to practically every race and people on the globe in the last two decades.

THE BRITISH DELEGATION.

The largest delegation of British women that ever came to this country to attend an international woman's meeting "in America" is the party of earnest reformers who will represent the United Kingdom at the World's convention. There are sixty-two members in the party.

Wives and daughters of members of Parliament, leaders in the Women's Liberal League of England, reformers, women's club members and church workers are all enrolled in the group, many of whom are making their maiden trips to America.

One of the influential members of the party is Mrs. Randolph Clarkson, the wife of a Birmingham, England, manufacturer. Mrs. Clarkson is a leading society woman of her city, as well as the friend and co-worker of the Countess of Carlisle, the president of the British Woman's Temperance association. Her special work is for the young woman workers in the huge factories of Birmingham, and throughout England.

Australia sends several noted women orators and leaders including Mrs. Ada Henry, Superintendent of the Young Woman's branch in New South Wales; Mrs. M. D. Thompson of Melbourne, treasurer of the Australian Union, and Mrs. Harrison Lee of Melbourne World's W. C. T. U. Missionary.

Among the many other delegates and visitors may be mentioned Germany's three representatives, Baroness Emily von Hansen, Frau Eggers-Smidt, and Miss Amalia Nix; Miss Ellen M. Stone, representing Bulgaria; Ramabai Joshi of India; Mrs. Kaji Yajima, president Japan W. C. T. U., and Miss Uta Hayashi, also of Japan; and representatives from Brazil, Bahama Islands, Burma, Cape Colony, Cuba, Finland, Syria and Uruguay.

World's Temperance Sunday is a day of great opportunity. Every minister should be asked immediately to preach a temperance sermon on that day. Temperance literature is inexpensive and should be secured for distribution. Do not let this day pass without definite work done.

Our faithful secretary of the Y Branch did what she could in the past year. She found a hard field of labor. Many of our young people find a field of labor in the senior L. S. Vigo county has a new Y organized and mothered by the enthusiastic Terre Haute Y. Princeton, in Gibson county, has a new one also and Huntington is looking forward to one.

Indiana and the Saloon.

AS THE INDIANA ISSUE SEES IT.

(From Associated Prohibition Press)

The latest figures for Indiana show that out of 1016 townships in the state 647 are now under the prohibitory law. 167 townships and 14 city wards containing in the neighborhood of 375,000 people have rid themselves of the saloon for at least two years to come. In an interesting resume of the gains in this state recently, the Indiana Issue makes the following comment:

"Fifteen counties have saloons in but one place each; thirteen counties have saloons in but two places each; thirty-four counties have a majority of their people living in prohibition territory; sixty-three counties have a majority of their townships in the dry column and there is only one county in the state that has not some prohibition territory. Yet, from only three counties has the saloon been entirely banished. Unquestionably in at least thirty counties the saloon is forced by a minority upon an unwilling majority of our people. Citizens in dry portions of these counties have to bear the additional burdens of taxation which the presence of saloons in wet portions increases. For example an intoxicated man in Piercetown, Kosciusko county, a few years ago, murdered his wife. It cost the taxpayers $11,000 to hang that wife murderer. At another time a saloon in this same town had a $2,600 murder in it while every saloon licensed in that county that year only paid $2,300. One saloon in the little town of Burnett near Terre Haute, has had eight murders in seven years, two which cost the county $5,500.

"Again, look at the conditions in our cities. Under our present law it is necessary to remonstrate against the saloon in each ward separately. If all the wards obtain a majority of their voters on remonstrances the entire city will go dry. If there is a failure in any ward that ward retains the saloon and thus fastens this dangerous institution upon the city, poisoning the moral environment not only of the city, but of the country population for miles around. As it is now only three of the eighty seven cities of Indiana are without licensed saloons while in nearly thirty of them the majority of the wards are dry.

"We believe that an amendment to our remonstrance law which will permit entire cities as such to remonstrate against the liquor traffic would in a few years place one-third of our cities in the dry column. We further believe that there is not a college or university town in the state but that would banish their saloons if the voters had the privilege of saying "No" on the question of license."

SOME OVER-LOOKED FACTS.

While this is encouraging regarding Indiana, we must not fail to point out that during the last ten years the number of saloons has increased nearly fifty per cent while the population has increased in scarcely half as great a ratio. The actual figures for the increase in the saloons and license money are as follows:

Years	License Rev.	No. of Saloons
1896.....	$351,700	3,517
1897.....	366,000	3,660
1898.....	398,000	3,980

REPORT OF WHITLEY COUNTY INSTITUTE.

(The following belated Institute Reports should have appeared in June issue. We rejoice that circumstances which delay the publication could not hinder the progress of the work.—Editor.)

The Whitley County Institute was held at Churubusco. Mrs. Rose Pearce, institute leader, and Mrs. Emma Presler, county president, conducted the institute. Encouraging reports of county superintendents were given and those of Flower Mission, Press and Sunday School work were very good. A large per cent of the children in Churubusco Sunday School have signed the temperance pledge in the last six months. The discussion on this subject brought forth the fact that 90 per cent of the children that sign the pledge keep it, and that 90 per cent of the older people who sign the pledge break it, thus showing the importance of training the children to be total abstainers.

The subject, "How Best Make Our Work Felt in Our Own Town and Community," was presented by Rev. Miller of the M. E. Church. Among the many good things he said, were, that practical work must be done, that neighbor must influence his or her neighbor to stand for the right, and that the White Ribbon Army stands for the best interests of the home. The Pure Food law was presented by the institute leader and in the discussion that followed many good thoughts and facts were presented; there is more tuberculosis that originates from eating diseased meat than could be traced from any other source.

"The Tred of Current Events and Their Portent," pointed very distinctly to reform movements all over our nation. Mrs. Pearce gave an able address on Monday night (May 21), which was enjoyed by all present. Tuesday night we expected to hold a grand gold medal contest but on account of the sickness of two contestants we had a literary entertainment; part of Tuesday afternoon's work was given at this entertainment. The paper on "Our Sainted Leader" was given by Mrs. Florence Lancaster of Columbia City; her thoughts were very good and her delivery faultless. The paper on "The Patriotism of Women," was presented by Mrs. Parker of Churubusco (U. B. minister's wife). We feel sure that if there were any present that doubted woman's ability and intelligence to cast the ballot that since hearing this able paper, they will change their minds.

PLAN OF WORK FOR 1906-1907.

Our aim is to double our membership before September 15, 1907. Let a campaign for membership be the first work of the year.

PROGRAMS.

Local unions and the Superintendents of Departments should prepare interesting programs on the various departments of our work, and invite outsiders to the meetings. This is one of the best methods of gaining new members.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

We urge our local unions to introduce our helps on teaching the quarterly temperance lesson into our Sunday Schools, and to pledge as many as possible of our Sunday School boys and girls to total abstinence.

OUR BRANCHES.

We urge our Unions to make greater effort the coming year to organize the young people and children into "Y's" and "L. T. L.'s."

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION.

We urge our unions to see that the provisions of the Scientific Temperance Instruction law are complied with in all schools. Copies of this law should be in the library of every union. We recommend, also, that a copy of the School Physiology Journal be placed in the hands of every public school teacher.

MEDAL CONTESTS.

Unions should continue activity in the medal contest work. Each union should hold not fewer than three, the first of which shall be for the benefit of the Hadley School.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Local unions should take a firm stand against the forces that are undermining our Christian Sabbath, and should hold public meetings in which every possible means may be used to cause the arrest of thought on the subject of Sabbath desecration.

OUR PAPERS.

Recognizing the Union Signal as an invaluable aid in our work, we urge every Union to try to comply with the request to make the subscription list equal to at least one-fourth of its membership. We recommend that Unions supply themselves with copies of the Union Signal, Message, Phalanx, and Crusader Monthly, for free distribution and that the Union distributing the greatest number of copies shall receive a copy of the Union Signal free.

MEDICAL TEMPERANCE.

We recommend that each union make a special study of the subject of Medical Temperance, and that at least two meetings during the year be devoted to this subject.

FRANCHISE.

Since our legislature meets this year, an earnest effort will be made to secure the ballot for women. Every union will be expected to circulate petitions and use every other available means to influence our representatives in the Legislature to vote for an amendment to the constitution of the state which will secure to us full right of suffrage.

PRESS.

Recognizing the press as the most effective means of reaching the public with our principles, we urge local unions to appoint superintendents of the press department who will secure space in the local papers if possible and fill every line available.

ORGANIZATION.

Each local union is requested to send $1.50 to the state treasurer to be used as an organization fund.

All poorly organized counties should begin at once to try and bring their organization up to the standard of at least six unions, with not fewer than ten paid members in each union, with a county organization.

COUNTY GAINS

All counties making a gain of fifty, seventy-five or one hundred members shall be on the program, on benefit night at the state convention, and shall share pro rata in the free will offering.

FIELD NEWS

Miss Lora S. La Mance, State W. C. T. U. Press Superintendent of Missouri, writes that the White Ribboners have now secured the use of nearly one hundred columns in the different local papers of that state for the use of the temperance and Prohibition reform under the auspices of the W. C. T. U.

Woodford County, Kentucky, gave a majority of 533 for Prohibition September 20.

Bartholomew County Convention was held at Hartsville, in the M. E. Church. The following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. W. H. Buxton, Columbus; Vice President, Mrs. C. M. Handley, Columbus; Cor. Sec., Miss Laura Sims, Hartsville; Rec. Sec., Miss Birdella Beam, Columbus; Treas., Mrs. Mattie Steinbarger, Petersburg; Supt. of Literature, Mrs. Jennie Guffie, Hope; Supt. S. S. Work, Mrs. Ollie Wright, Hartsville; Supt. Contest Work, Mrs. Minerva Cummins, Hartsville.

The afternoon program included a silver medal contest with ten contestants. The silver medal was awarded to Miss Laura Sims, who recited "The Father's Prayer."

At night a gold medal contest was held in which there were six contestants, all acquitting themselves remarkably well. The gold medal was awarded to Miss Grace Mahaffy, who recited "Me and Hepsy." Miss May Cummins entertained the audience while the judges were out by reciting "Who Killed Joe's Baby." Hartsville union since February has held ten silver and one gold medal contest. We feel justly proud of our contest classes of young men and young ladies. Much credit is due to the Superintendent of Contest work, Mrs. Minerva Cummins, who is untiring in her efforts to make each contest a success. We have the honor of having our State President, Mrs. Vayhinger, as a member of our union this year, her husband being the Methodist pastor here.

Chapin Park union, of South Bend on Sep. 27th, was delightfully entertained at a musical at the home of Mrs. C. Fassnacht. The opening prayer by Rev. E. S. Shumaker was followed by a duette by Mrs. E. Stover and Harold Warner. Miss Bernice Morris next gave a reading. Mrs. C. Fulmer and Mrs. Walter Fassnacht pleased the company with a duette which was followed by a short address by Rev. M. H. Appleby, whose subject was "The Problems of Our City." A duette by Mrs. Will Taylor and Mrs. Lucian Snyder preceded a solo by Mrs. Fulmer.

Our own Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter was the guest of honor and delivered a magnetic address on "What the W. C. T. U. Has Accomplished," which was greatly enjoyed by all. Her pleasing personality always wins new recruits to the cause and inspires to greater activity those who are already enlisted.

Jay County Institute was held at White Oak Church in extreme north end of county. Was well attended. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley was the leader. She has been called "The Queen of the Platform" here. The institute was a success in every way; new members were secured. The Franchise petitions were circulated and signed freely. Several subscriptions to periodicals taken and last, but not least, delegates were royally entertained at the cozy country homes. The married peoples' contest, which was held the last evening by six gentlemen and ladies was splendid. The medal was awarded to Mrs. May Cokerly.

Mrs. N. C. Meadows writes: Evansville Central Union is saddened by the death of its most beloved and respected member, Mrs. Alvah Johnson. She was the leader of the women in Evansville during the crusade days, enduring rough treatment from the angry mob as bravely as our beloved crusaders did in the larger cities. She stood unflinchingly at the head during the darkest days of our pioneer work. Immutably brave where duty called, yet gentleness was her marked characteristic. Ever hopeful, no cloud was so dark as to hide from her its silver lining. She was for many years president of the local and also of the county work. It was remarked that "her presence ever made things go right" in our meetings. She had for several years withdrawn from active work, but she was ever ready to help, and her sympathy, hopefulness and prayers were indeed blessings to the workers of the union.

Her place can never be filled. "Well done, thou faithful servant, enter into the joy of thy Lord," will be her greeting in the resurrection morn, from the master.

Blackford County—The annual convention was held at Fairview. Opening Wednesday eve with Matron's gold medal contest, which was largely attended. Also highly entertained with speeches and music by young mens' quartette from Roll. Medal was awarded to Mrs. Chas. Pierce of Hartford City.

The convention proper met Thursday morning. Opened by our re-elected Pres., Mrs. S. M. Stahl. The meeting all the day was helpful and an uplift to all present. Our God is always on the giving hand and if he be with us, Oh W. C. T. U.

workers, who can be against us. Lecture was delivered in the evening by Mrs. Luella McWhirter, ex-State President.

The officers elected as follows:
Mrs. S. M. Stahl, president.
Recording Secretary, Mrs. Shannon.
Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. L. J. Hudson.
Treasurer, Mrs. Slater.

Meeting closed with a new determination to fight on against the great curse in our land until everyone can sing, "No Saloons on Hill or Plain."

Winn Parish (county), Louisiana, in which Winnfield is the principal city, is now completely under the prohibitory law, Wards 8 and 10, driving out their last saloon in an exciting election September 7. Every other ward in the "Parish" voted out whisky nine years ago. This is the second "Parish" in the state to vote dry within a month.

At South Bend, a large number of W. C. T. U. ladies attended the Christian mission in South Bend. Several interesting talks were given, preceded by a half hour of prayer service. Mrs. Caroline Warner spoke of the evil found in patent medicines. Mrs. Pricilla Beyrer spoke of child culture. Mrs. Alfareta Cotton, Purity; Katie Wert Holler, The Sabbath; Mrs. Caroline Fassnacht, Temperance in all things and prohibition of all evil, especially the evil of alcohol and nicotine. More than an hour passed and still the audience was loath to go. The outcome of this meeting in all probability will be the organization of a Loyal Temperance Legion.

The Wells County Convention was held in the beautiful new Methodist Church at Poneta. Attendance was fine throughout. The house was packed at night for the great gold medal contest. Every union, except one, in the county was represented. The reports were good. Many useful things were put in a wonder bag for a sick sister who is very low with consumption. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, who was with us the week before and did such excellent work, gave the bag and the members filled it.

Hendricks County W. C. T. U. held its annual convention at Fairfield. Representatives were present from Plainfield, Avon, Danville and Fairfield unions. Officers for the year are: President, Mattie Chandler; Recording Secretary, Pearl Hadley; Corresponding Secretary, Cora Heesong; Treasurer, Susannah Hadley. The reports from the Departmental Superintendents showed good work done. Several mothers' meetings had been held, flowers and food distributed to sick and money raised for Hadley Home. A bountiful dinner was served at noon by the ladies of Fairfield. In the afternoon Rev. Mary Cox, of Indianapolis, gave a very interesting talk along the line of temperance work among the children. She urged that the children be organized for this work.

At Moore's Hill a diamond medal contest was held in the M. E. Church. Glen Newton of Columbus was awarded the medal.

The Steuben County Union met in convention at Ray. The union at Ray being organized we had, as was to be expected, a very excellent meeting. With Mrs. Mary McTaggart as president, assisted by Mrs. Edith McNaughton, Rev. C. M. Smith and wife and other able co-workers of Ray, it was no surprise that the convention was a success.

A few from outside of Ray, whose names were on the program, were absent, but their places were well and easily filled by others. One of those called out unexpectedly was Mrs. Nellie Baily of Angola, who gave an intensely interesting reading. The address of Rev. C. McLeod Smith, of Ray, on "The teaching of Morals in the Public Schools" ought to be heard by every teacher and patron of the public schools.

The music, mostly furnished by Miss Ethel McLouth, of Ray, showed painstaking care in its preparation and added much to the occasion. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley gave an address each evening, which it seems unnecessary to say, was clear cut and convincing against the liquor traffic.

We who were at Ray as guests were treated as friends whom they were delighted to entertain, rather than delegates who must be endured.

Mrs. C. McLeod Smith was elected county president in place of Mrs. Hannah Willennar, who felt that she needed a rest after her eight years of faithful service, but we still keep her at the post of duty by electing her vice president. Aside from this the old officers were re-elected.

We came away from Ray feeling that while it is small as a town it is mighty in the moral force of its people.

THE INDIANA DELEGATION and visitors to the World's and National conventions went through to Boston in a special sleeper "Biscay." Oct. 16 at 7:30 a. m. the party leaving Indianapolis consisting of the following persons:

Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Mrs. Amanda Whitson, Mrs. Martha Gipe, Mrs. Frances Boyer, Miss Fern Boyer, Mrs. Alma Kroft, Mrs. Laura Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Baricklow, Mrs. Irene Gard, Mrs. Jennie Trees and Mrs. Jeannette Gilmore. At Anderson Misses Luther and Clara Knight joined the party and at Winchester they were gladdened by the presence of Miss Mary Woodard and Mrs. Sumner

W. Haynes. At Cleveland they welcomed two more to their number, Mrs. Caroline Fassnacht and Mrs. Amanda Shedd.

In justice to yourselves, white ribboners, order the convention numbers of the Union Signal. Send ten cents in 2-cent stamps to the Union Signal, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill. These conventions will be of unlimited interest to you and read items concerning them to the home folks at the evening meal and afterwards. Tell everybody about the great work of the World's and National W. C. T. U.

The Alabama Baptist, editorially says:
"Meantime let it be written in capital letters: The closing of all liquor-selling establishments in our state, will do more than any other one thing to diminish crime in the state. So long as the white people allow liquor to be sold to negroes for the sake of the revenue it brings, they will be responsible, in part at least, for the crimes that the liquor-besotted negroes commit. We cannot escape this responsibility.

Howard County convention was held in Lynn Scorch one and one-half miles east of Rushville. There were representatives present from nearly all the seven unions.

An address on "Social Purity" by Mrs. Ida Wygant of Kokomo; paper on Mercy Dept, Mrs. Nora Gause; "Temperance Work in the Sunday School" by Rev. N. Hodgkin and "Sabbath Observance," Rev. Frank Stafford, were all uplifting and inspiring and the women of Howard county W. C. T. U. were stirred to greater activity along the various departments of work.

Mrs. Retta Jones was the speaker of the evening and surely all who heard her felt well paid for coming out.

Miss Hazel Pharis and Mrs. Rhett Snyder each gave a recitation. The music was furnished by the choir.

Every woman who had the privilege of hearing Mrs. Rebecca Trego at our state convention in Portland will want her in her own union, and will be glad to know that she will give some time to our state. The following is her plan:

She will begin her work in Indiana on November 18. She will hold three meetings in each place, all at one church, the local union in each instance to entertain her, provide the church and advertise the meeting. On the first day, there will be a lecture in the evening; on the second day a woman's meeting in the afternoon and a lecture in the evening. On the third day there will be a stereopticon lecture at night, to which an admission fee will be charged.

Mrs. Trego will also organize new unions where possible and will make a special effort to get new members and build up unions already organized. Those wanting the services of Mrs. Trego, will please write to your state corresponding secretary, who will have charge of her route. By her terms there is no financial risk to the union engaging her, and I earnestly hope she may receive many calls in our state. Let us use every available means to advance our cause this year. Yours for a great advance,

Mary E. Woodard, Cor. Sec.
Fountain City, Ind.

Editor Message: Through the columns of your paper I wish to announce a need of our local union at Danville.

We have placed Wall Pockets in the two waiting rooms at the Big Four station. Over these we have hung nicely framed pictures of Miss Willard and Neal Dow.

Our station agent as well as the general superintendent commended us and wished us success. We are ambitious to keep a creditable up-to-date supply of literature in these pockets. I thought if our need was understood that some good people would donate literature on christianity, temperance, purity, Sabbath observance, Franchise, Anti-Cigarette, tobacco, etc.

Whatever literature sent will be appreciated.
Sarah M. Hadley, Danville, Ind.

St. Joseph County—Mrs. Kathryn Wert Holler of Chapin Park union gave a very interesting "Chart Talk" on Sabbath Observance before the Y. W. C. A. during the vesper hour. The young ladies expressed great appreciation. Our Katie has a way of her own in impressing the truth upon her hearers.

Universal Suffrage has been granted in Finland to all people over twenty-four years of age. The Czar has granted his approval.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of Lettie Smith, of Richmond: As Jesus of Nazareth passed by and called our sister home to rest. How often we will miss the welcome face and see the vacant chair. Ah, we know so well she is not here, but gone to dwell with the angels fair. Oh what a lesson she taught us each day by her meek and gentle words. She has gone to meet those who have gone before. She is waiting for us there.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. XII. No. 1.

ANDERSON, IND., DECEMBER, 1906.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c. PER YEAR.

THE WORLD'S CONVENTION.

The seventh world's gathering of White Ribboners was held in Tremont Temple, Boston.

The welcome banquet was held on the first evening in Tremont Temple, 1,010 persons being seated, including White Ribboners and temperance leaders from many lands. The pictured face of Frances Willard, the founder of the World's W. C. T. U., hung above the platform. Above it the words, "Now, therefore, we are no more strangers and foreigners."

Mrs. Katharine Lente Stevenson, the able president of the Massachusetts W. C. T. U., extended welcome on behalf of the State, and then introduced Hon. John D. Long, ex-Secretary of the Navy, as toastmaster. He said:

"If anybody regards this occasion as one for the exploitation of any narrow, illiberal, impractical or one-idea crusade in the matter of temperance, he entirely mistakes it as well as the purpose and principles of the earnest and devoted women who have it in hand. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union is not a fad, but one of the agencies of that universal reform in society and politics and civilization which was never under a more vigorous impulse than it is to-day. Of the evils of intemperance, its terrible results in poverty, crime, suffering, demoralization and corruption of all sorts, not only have the members of this union a lively sense, but in their sentiment in that respect they represent the best and deepest convictions, not of a mere sect or special organization, but of all good men and women the world over, and to that extent certainly they deserve, not a sneer, but the cordial co-operation of all who love their fellowmen."

For the W. C. T. U. of the United States, our president, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, spoke with great earnestness and cordiality.

Welcome from the churches of Boston was extended by the Rev. P. S. Henson, D. D., pastor of Tremont Temple church. In concluding, he said:

"There are celestial angels and terrestrial angels, and in the faces of the latter is shining the light of love and hope; and in their voices is sweet music. There are baron brewers and rich distillers who are coining money out of the tears and blood of the weak. But oh, if they could only see this advancing host, they would flee for their lives."

Responses were made by Miss Agnes Slack, representing Lady Henry Somerset, the world's president, the Earl of Carlisle, for his wife, Countess Carlisle, president of the British women; the Baroness von Hausen for Germany; Miss Sevasti Callisperi for Greece, and Mrs. Wright for Canada.

A welcome song written for the occasion by Mrs. Katharine Lente Stevenson (author of "Some Glad Day") was sung.

The decorations of green mingled with the bright colored flags of the nations, and the national banners of the W. C. T. U. of many lands was a fitting background for such a company of the world's temperance leaders.

The health of the loved president, Lady Henry Somerset, of England, prevented her from attending. Our own, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, as vice-president of the World's Union presided. A message of greeting from Lady Henry was read—in part it follows:

"My Dear Friends and Comrades—My heart is with you to-day, on the opening morning of the convention of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and my memory goes back to the day in Faneuil Hall, when for the first time I came face to face with so many comrades, now well-known and beloved friends. You are glad to be refreshed by companionship to learn from one another, and to get new inspiration from this great assembly."

"But although you have come to your work from different points of the compass, you have all arrived at the same conclusions, you are all one in aim and in principle. To protect the home, to banish the saloon, to shelter the weak, to preserve the strong, these are your intentions in your warfare against the liquor traffic. This is the reason for our existence as a great world-wide society. In your convention many subjects may arise over which you may differ or disagree, but I pray most of all for you that the power of the spirit of God may be in your midst."

Delegates from 31 countries were present. All parts of the United States were represented.

There were 366 delegates, the largest delegation from abroad being that of England, with 61 delegates. Countess Carlisle, their president, is not a good sailor so she did not come, but was represented by her brilliant daughter, Lady Dorothy Howard, twenty years of age, who was accompanied by her father, the Earl of Carlisle.

resented by her brilliant daughter, Lady Dorothy Howard, twenty years of age, who was accompanied by her father, the Earl of Carlisle.

With the exception of Lady Henry Somerset, the World's president, all of the World's General Officers were present. Lady Henry sent the following message, which was read by Mrs. Stevens:

My Dear Friends and Comrades: My heart is with you on the opening morning of the Convention of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and my memory goes back to the day in Faneuil Hall, when, for the first time, I came face to face with so many comrades, now well-known and beloved friends. The tie that was formed so long ago has not loosened with the years, but rather in the stress and strain of work has it been drawn closer. Every year that we try honestly to labor for the welfare of the world, must bring to us a deeper appreciation and a truer realization of the truth of the work that others are doing. We know more of the difficulties, we understand the unending weariness of the fight, the courage that is demanded, and the unflagging enthusiasm. And so to-day when I think of you meeting in convention at Boston, and I know how long is the way that so many have traveled, how difficult has been the journey, and how great the obstacles which have been surmounted, my whole heart goes out to you in warmest and most sisterly greeting. I would that we could stand face to face, and that I might have the privilege of clasping your hands, but as that is now impossible, you will take the written, instead of the spoken word, and you will know that it comes with a sincere affection, and a loyal appreciation of your service."

You come gathered from many countries, you bring to the Convention experiences many and varied. You are glad to be refreshed by companionship, to learn from one another, and to get new inspiration from this great assembly. But although you have come to your work from different points of the compass, you have all arrived at the same conclusions, you are all one in aim and in principle. To protect the home, to banish the saloon, to shelter the weak, and to preserve the strong; these are your intentions in your warfare against the liquor traffic. And there is another motive power—the fulfilling of the will of God, which gives the great impetus to your work, the fulfilling of His will in the legislative history of nations, as well as in individual lives. This is the reason for our very existence as a great world-wide society. It is the foundation upon which the whole structure of our temperance work is built.

Nothing, we believe, is to-day more destructive to the well-being of any people than the organized liquor traffic. Nothing makes it harder for men and women to fulfill the destiny for which God created them, nothing undermines principle, saps vitality, wastes resources and devastates homes, more than the drink habit, which is the fateful heritage of nearly the whole civilized world. The children of the younger lands need to have much patience with those who appear to be taking more devious ways to undermine the enemy, for a frontal attack may be in some instances the best tactics, but at times it is necessary to cut off supplies, a method which involves long waiting and watching, but may be, in the end, the most effectual. That is the faith which some of the most experienced veterans in the temperance movement hold in my country.

Christ's mission is our mission, however much we falter and fail in its fulfilling. "Lo I come to do Thy will, O God." If that will be fulfilled, all is well. If our purposes are not in accord with it, then let them fail. If they be a part of it, they must succeed. Thus life becomes more beautiful, more blessed, and we do not shrink at the thought of the day when sickness, with gentle hands, shall address the soul for death, when Death shall take her nursing and lull the tired body to sleep, for the soul will be released to do God's will in the purer atmosphere of its native land. So as I greet you to-day, and as I think of you, I thank God for all the devoted service of your veteran leaders. I pray that many young and strong may be raised up to do and dare, and I believe that right will prevail, and that our prayer, that God's will be done, will be triumphantly answered.

In your Convention, many subjects may arise over which you may differ or disagree, but I pray most of all for you, as I sit writing this letter, and looking out over the quiet autumn world, that the power of the Spirit of God may be in your midst. The great mystic, Jacob Bohme, has said, "When the heart begins to despair of human methods, and falls back again upon God, then God's help begins to work through human means." May there be in your midst a deep sense of that power. May the golden light of charity be round you as an aureole, and may hand clasp hand in that loyal comradeship which gives united strength; and may this Convention draw you closer to the Unseen. In your midst, I believe, will be the presence of an innumerable company of those who pray for us, and work for us, from the other side. They have seen the larger aspect of every question, they have understood the true proportion of every cause. May their gentle influence obtain, that your meeting together may be a renewal of your faith and love in God, and a deeper devotion to your brothers and sisters in the world.

Yours in this holy tie,
(Signed) ISABEL SOMERSET.
Governor Guild, of Massachusetts, and Mayor Fitzgerald, of Boston, both made strong addresses of welcome.

Miss Anna A. Gordon, Secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion Branch, gave an encouraging report. The Legion is doing active work among the children in Australia, Bulgaria, Cuba, Cape Colony, China, Chile, Canada, Burma, Bermuda, Japan, Madagascars, Mexico, Norway, Sierra Leone, Panama, Finland, India, Iceland, South Africa and other countries, besides the great amount of Legion work in the United States.

The Secretary's report showed great advancement. Only a brief summary can be given.

Gains have been made nearly everywhere, in numbers and in interest.

Greatest proportional gain in Sweden. Temperance restaurants established.

Ireland has had a large increase.

Iceland reports good work.

Madeira receives assistance from physicians who publicly warn the people against the use of liquor.

In Transvaal, South Africa, permission has been granted the W. C. T. U. to visit every prison and to teach the gospel to all women.

Scotland has a large membership and does practical work for sentiment making.

Egypt has 29 Christian Endeavor Societies and 172 Sabbath Schools in which the W. C. T. U. is agitating the need of temperance.

Denmark maintains a home for alcoholic women; efficient work is done.

Australia pushes legislative work effectively.

The German W. C. T. U. sent a petition to the War Department asking the department to discontinue the issuance of wine to troops in South Africa and received a favorable reply. They are now sending non-alcoholic fruit juices instead of liquor. Great progress is being made in scientific temperance instruction in the school.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Credentials Committee reported the United States with 212, England and Wales 70, Canada 18, Scotland 15, Japan 5. Besides these there were present representatives from France, Spain, Austria, Australasia, Germany, Fiji Islands, Madagascar, New Zealand, Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, Chili, Cuba, Syria, Finland, Madeira, Uruguay, Bulgaria, Burma, Bahamas, China, Natal, Newfoundland, Cape Colony, Greece, Egypt, Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Ireland and India.

Lady Henry Somerset sent a message thanking the World's W. C. T. U. for the privileges and honors of the past and declining re-election.

The following officers were elected:
President, the Countess of Carlisle, England;
Vice-President-at-Large, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, U. S. A.; Honorary Secretaries, Miss Agnes E. Slack, England, and Miss Anna A. Gordon, U. S. A.; Treasurer, Mrs. Mary E. Sanderson, Canada.

When Mrs. Stevens announced the election of the Countess of Carlisle as President of the World's W. C. T. U., she said she would like for her daughter, Lady Dorothy Howard, to say what she would.

From the Union Signal: With an enthusiasm that testified to a world-wide admiration and affection for both mother and daughter, the women of thirty-one different nations rose and saluted the beautiful girl with the waving of flags and of handkerchiefs. And as the stirring notes of the cornet and the swelling tones of the great organ united with human voices in the grand hymn, "Best Be the Tie That Binds," the heart was lifted up, the mind leaped forward, and the taking of the world for Christ's own kingdom seemed not so far away.

Lady Dorothy Howard: Mrs. Stevens and Fellow Workers: I cannot tell you how I grieve that my mother cannot be here herself to express her

FOR CHRISTMAS.

The Union Signal, making 52 visits a year to a friend, will be the most helpful present that can be made to an intelligent Christian girl or woman. The Washington letters alone are of far more value than the one dollar subscription price to the paper.

If you are an actual friend of woman's temperance cause and a subscriber to The Union Signal, go right away to women of intelligence and solicit their subscriptions to begin January 1st.

Send The Union Signal to your pastor and to a High School teacher.

The Message contains some interesting accounts of the two great W. C. T. U. Conventions, just enough to show something of the magnitude, interest and enthusiasm.

If you would like to know more about them and are not a reader of The Union Signal, send a little note enclosing 10 cents in postage to The Union Signal, Evanston, Ill., asking for the Convention numbers and you will be delighted with the accounts of the Conventions and the pictured faces of prominent women in the W. C. T. U. of the whole world.

The Indiana W. C. T. U. will feel the inspiration of the great Conventions held at Boston and Hartford just in proportion to the information concerning it. A goodly number of our members attended and from these the unions and counties will be inspired to aggressive work. In public meetings read aloud the addresses of Lady Henry Somerset, the Governor's and Mayor's, the pastor of Tremont Temple and of all the short addresses of Lady Dorothy Howard, the beautiful fair-haired English girl, twenty years of age, who represented her illustrious mother, the Countess of Carlisle, the President of the British women and is our newly elected President of the World's W. C. T. U.

Lady Dorothy has been reared in the atmosphere of courts and castles. She rises her influence for Christ and humanity.

Prohibitionists elected to six State Legislatures: Minnesota elects five legislators; Washington, Mr. Cotterill, National Grand Chief Templar, elected State Senator; Illinois elects six legislators; Pennsylvania elects two legislators.

Daniel Friend, of Manchester, Mass., made a bequest of $2,000 to be left in trust, annual income to go to Massachusetts Prohibitionists.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

My Dear Sisters: We plan to-day, to-morrow our plans become history. For many weeks our State Superintendent of Transportation has been laying plans in her own loving, untiring way for the comfort and pleasure of the Indiana delegates who were to attend the World's Convention at Boston and the National at Hartford. At last the last preparation was made and the party gathered at Indianapolis on October 17th, and started on their long journey at 7:30 a. m. Mr. and Mrs. McWhirter, Dr. Boyer, Mr. Kroft and a few other friends gathered to see us off. Our party consisted of nineteen women and one man, Mr. Barnicklow, of Frankfort, and no man was ever more patient and helpful than he. At Anderson Mr. Boyd, of Indianapolis, who conducted our Los Angeles party, came into the car and renewed the friendships of last year. At Winchester, Mr. Sumner Haynes came aboard and accompanied us as far as Union City. The day was delightful and it was a happy party which talked, sang, wrote, lunched and viewed the scenery of Northern Ohio and New York that day. As the shades of evening fell about us, we passed through all the coaches and invited all white ribboners into our car and a delightful service was held. California, Illinois, Kansas, Ohio and Colorado were all represented, and we committed the work and the workers to Him who has said, "Not by night, nor by power, but by my spirit saith the Lord of Hosts." The first day in Boston was spent in getting located and in sight-seeing. Fanueil Hall, Old South Church, the magnificent State House, the famous public library of Boston, were all visited. The old King's Chapel, with its cemetery, containing the remains of the earliest settlers of the colonies, was full of interest.

Lady Henry Somerset not being able to be present, our own Mrs. Stevens presided over the great Convention, in which were representatives of thirty-six countries and islands. One of the most interesting was Madame Kaji Yajima, of Japan, who is seventy-four years old, cannot understand a word of English, yet traveled thousands of miles that she might meet and greet and gather inspiration from others engaged in the work so dear to her heart. She spoke through an interpreter, her great niece who has been attending school the past year in California. As Madame Yajima spoke of her religious birth, twenty-six years ago, her face glowed with a heavenly light and with her hand over her heart she pledged her love and remaining days to the cause of Christ as represented by the W. C. T. U. She visited the Hartford Convention also and as she parted from us Mrs. Stevens wrapped her in a beautiful silk American flag, presented by Mrs. Thacher, twined with the white ribbon, and all joined in singing, "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again."

Mrs. Harrison Lee, President of the Australian W. C. T. U., arrived too late for the World's Convention, but was in the National almost the entire session. She is a charming woman, with a strong personality and presents her cause in a manner to win friends to it. We forgave her for thinking she could cross from San Francisco to Boston in two days, after we met her and learned to love her.

The consensus of opinion as expressed by the foreign delegates was that this was the biggest country, with the biggest buildings and the biggest people they had ever seen.

The Earl of Carlisle expressed his surprise and admiration for the American women and for the methodical parliamentary manner in which they carried on business. We could understand his surprise, when we saw how differently the foreign delegates presented matters to the Convention.

It was a great occasion, great presentations of great truths, by great women, and Indiana delegates and visitors were glad we could sing, "We All Belong." I desire to present some National plans in the next Message.

RED LETTER DAY FOR PEACE.

Our Red Letter Day for Peace occurs this year on December 16 (the third Sabbath in December). Let each local Union make a strong effort to secure its observance by requesting pastors and evangelists to preach sermons in the interests of Peace and Arbitration, or by holding public meetings in the interests of this reform. Programs and data for such meetings and literature for distribution can be obtained at cost from the office of the National Peace Department at Winthrop Center Me. (Send two cent stamp for sample copy of program.)

It is hoped that on this day special effort will be made to inculcate from a Christian point of view the great principles of peace and justice between man and man, and between nations and nation, in order that people, young and old, may be led to see that a full acceptance of the teaching of Jesus Christ implies an acceptance of His doctrine of love and brotherhood. "Nothing but the Golden Rule of Christ can bring about the golden age of man."

HANNAH J. BAILEY,
Supt. Na. W. C. T. U. Dept. of P. & A.

SERMONETT—1,000 MORE.

"Love Thy Neighbors as Thyself."

Every right-minded W. C. T. U. woman is quick to comprehend and acknowledge the good that has come to her from engaging in this blessed work for humanity, and so the magnanimous spirit would be a great desire to have her neighbor enjoy the same great blessing, and develop into a magnetic power for God and man. Our neighbors and our neighbors' children should be a great burden on our hearts. As we labor to save our own others are helped; as we labor to save others we save our own. Now every loyal, earnest W. C. T. U. woman should register a vow to help awaken and arouse the righteous, yet dormant, conscience of 1,000 women of Indiana. Let her say I will be the agent for bringing one woman into our work and as many more as possible. If 1,000 women will do this we will have a great jubilee feast at the close of the year and will not be forced to stand before Mother National humiliated and crest-fallen, because we buried our talent while others come with hands filled with great sheaves of victory.

MATTIE CAMMACK-GIBSON.

MOTHERS' MEETING.

My Dear Sisters: I have received many letters saying: "I have been appointed Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, will you please help me; tell me how to begin." First look to God, He is our strength and power. "If any man lack wisdom let him ask of God, who giveth to all liberally and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him." James 1:5. Then use the means at hand. Secure some influential home where you may hold a mothers' meeting, ask your pastor to preach on parent's problems, what we owe our children, child culture, responsibility of parents—something that will touch, stir and arouse the hearts of parents to the great responsibility that is theirs and that they will have to meet whether they will it or no. At the close of the sermon have announced, when and where the mothers' meeting will be. Have a well prepared program. The opening devotions should set the keynote of the meeting and be pure, spiritual and impressive. God's word and His blessing must be our dependence; they are our secret of power. Never forget that we are a Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Have an appropriate Bible reading; if from different verses have them selected. A wild hunt for verses during the Bible reading detracts from its value and impressiveness. Original papers will add to the interest of the meeting, but not all women are competent or willing to write them, more will be willing to read a leaflet or a chapter in some book. After which have a discussion. Get all to take part in the discussion and as they talk on these very important topics they surely must become aroused. Dear women, the past is history, the future is before us, but we deal with the present. Let me beg of you in the name of Jesus and for humanity sake, to take up this work. Go in His name the Bible, your text-book, the Holy Spirit, your guide and God will bless you and make you a blessing to others.

Yours in His name,

MRS. S. M. STAHL.

A KIND APPRECIATION.

The State Convention of the W. C. T. U. recently held in Portland, Ind., sent by Mrs. Studybaker, one of its members, a message of Christian greeting to the State Conference of Charities and Correction, held at Muncie at the same time. Two able papers read in the Conference that forenoon, one by ex-Auditor of State William H. Hart, the other by Superintendent York of the Indiana Boys' School at Plainfield, charged the open saloon with being chiefly responsible for the criminals, the homeless orphans, paupers and other defectors and dependents in our State; and Timothy Nicholson, in alluding to and indorsing these statements, moved that the President and Secretary of the Conference be instructed to appropriately respond to the greeting of the W. C. T. U., an organization which has always exposed and opposed the American saloon. The motion was seconded and unanimously supported by a rising vote of the Conference. As the W. C. T. U. Convention adjourned a day earlier than the scheduled date, this appreciative greetings was unfortunately not received by the Convention. We are glad, however, to hand it round, though somewhat tardily, to the members through the Message.

Dearborn County Convention was held at Moores Hill, September 28, and was an interesting and helpful session. Reports of officers and superintendent showed increasing interest and knowledge of the aims and methods of the organization. A large number of delegates from local unions were in attendance, and all were stimulated to greater zeal in the work, "For God and Home and Native Land." In the evening a diamond medal contest was held. The beautiful medal was awarded to Glenn Newton, of Columbus, Ind.

In Memoriam—Moores Hill Unions suffers the loss of their oldest member, Mrs. Rhoda Baldwin, who was called home October 28th, in her eighty-fourth year. She was the oldest white ribboner in the county.

THE WORLD'S CONVENTION.

thanks. She herself and our British Woman's Temperance Association would most gladly have reposed in your United States President the trust which you have unitedly given to her. We have always looked to you in the United States as showing what women of real grit and pluck could do in temperance work for their country, and for the world at large. As in the goodness of your faith you have seen fit to bestow this trust upon our English President, I can, on her behalf, but thank you from the bottom of my heart. From one point of view it is a great honor, but from another, and I think the true point of view, it is a very grave responsibility. I know that in having given this to my mother, you have only given what you knew you could give in confidence, and that she will do the very best that in her lies to come up to that which you have placed with her today, not only in temperance work, but in social work, in all the relationships of one human being to another. I think internationalism comes nearer to my mother's heart than anything else. She believes that nations can be one and must be one, and, therefore, I can assure you that, in my mother's thought, we are one international body, one people. I thank you from her for the honor, and as to the responsibility—the confidence which you have placed in her I know is not misplaced."

On behalf of the Massachusetts W. C. T. U. Mrs. Stevenson presented to Lady Dorothy a gavel made from bits of wood from the old crusade church in Hillsboro, Ohio, asking her to take it to the new president, her mother, with love and loyalty from constituents this side of the water.

A cablegram was sent to the Countess of Carlisle announcing the action of the Convention. Later in the proceedings the following reply was received:

"Lovingly and humbly I accept service as President, though the task is difficult. I thank the Convention for trusting me and will do my best."

"ROSALIND CARLISLE."

Miss Slack led in the noontide prayer.

The election of Mrs. Stevens as vice-president-at-large was announced by the two secretaries in unison. The Convention rose as a body with a demonstration of flags and Chautauqua salutes for Mrs. Stevens, and sang with much feeling, "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

Mrs. Stevens said: "I thank you for this expression of your confidence. I will try to be true to you and to our world's work, and I ask Lady Dorothy to say this to her honored mother: I will help wherever and whenever I can. I will serve always the World's W. C. T. U., whether it be in trying to help the president, or trying to help some unknown woman in Japan, or India, or away out on our frontier. I desire above everything else to be known, not as a leader, but as one who serves, and I thank you for putting me in a position of service to our cause in every land."

Lady Dorothy Howard presented a magnificent bouquet of roses to the vice-president-at-large from the retiring President, Lady Henry Somerset, bearing the written message: "A greeting from one whose heart is bound by white ribbon ties and tender memories to her sisters, and to you as their brave leader." British women started a "Hurrah" and all the delegations rose and responded with a will.

When the vote for secretaries was announced Miss Slack and Miss Gordon came forward and, with clasped hands, said in concert, "We thank you."

Miss Slack was presented with a plate of fruit decorated with flags and flowers from the United States Superintendent of Fairs and Open Air Meetings, Mrs. Hannah T. Guild. It contained grape fruit from California, grapes grown within the sound of Niagara Falls and apples from New England, and was given as a token of the "warm love of her United States constituency."

In expressing her thanks Miss Slack said: "You American women have been so delightful and warm-hearted and cordial at this Convention that I shall, as long as my life lasts, be indebted to every one of you."

Mrs. Sanderson, in accepting her re-election as World's Treasurer, said:

"I thank you very much for this renewed expression of your confidence and your love towards the silent partner in this great organization. I thank you, because if you have given me so much confidence you have also given me much help. It is a joy to serve in this capacity, and if there were time I could tell you in how many ways the work of the W. C. T. U. has been to me a great blessing; it has taken the place of husband and children, and I do rejoice to serve you."

From the Union Signal we glean: Introductions of presidents and official representatives of countries affiliated with the World's W. C. T. U. was announced.

Australia—Mrs. Thomson, in a few words, expressed her pleasure at being present.

Burma—Dr. Mary Fowler Thompson made a plea for a resident white ribbon missionary.

Germany—Emily, Baroness von Hausen, President of the Dresden Union, represented the President, Fraulein Ottilie Hoffman, who could not be present. The Baroness was appreciative of the help received from America in plans especially in Scientific Temperance Instruction in schools.

Greece—Miss Collis peri said she had come to this Convention as a pupil to study methods and to learn somewhat of our great social and educational systems.

Natal, South Africa—Mrs. Mary S. Fernie said: "We are proud to make a part of that band of white ribbon that encircle the globe."

Finland—Miss Amalie Nix, a German, was introduced in the absence of Frau Alli Trygg-Heleinius, who could not be present.

Scotland—Miss Darling gave greetings from 42,000 Scottish women in the name of their beloved mother-president, Mrs. Margaret Blaikie.

Ireland—Mrs. Clarkson expressed appreciation of the privilege of being the medium of an exchange of greetings between the temperance women of Ireland and other countries.

Uruguay—Mrs. Von Domselaar said it had long been the golden dream of the women of that small republic to come in touch with this wonderful Convention of workers dedicated to the cause of temperance, hoping thereby to receive some of the fire of their enthusiasm. They are praying for a white ribbon missionary who can enter the opening doors of Uruguay.

Cape Colony—Miss Anna Cummings represented the President, Mrs. McKenzie. Cape Colony has 1,300 active and 500 honorary members.

Fiji Islands—Miss Lucy Broad said some touching things regarding the natives and the drink cure.

Sweden—Miss Ina Rogberg said she believed that the women of the new world had realized the new commandment of Christ, "Love one another as I have loved you." She unfurled the flag of Sweden, giving greetings in the name of its 3,000 members.

Argentina—Mrs. Greenman gave greetings and prayed for a white ribbon missionary for "that country on the other side of the equator, which is in its infancy in many respects, and especially so in temperance sentiment."

Canada—Mrs. Gordon Wright gave some very encouraging statistics regarding the progress of prohibition in her country.

India—Miss Scott told of the establishment of inebriate home for women and of the great need of W. C. T. U. work.

Bohemia Islands—Mrs. Dillet, the President, a colored woman, said that in her city, Nassau, they had local option, the result of the work of the W. C. T. U. By legislative enactment they have scientific temperance taught in the schools of the Islands.

Japan—Mrs. Kaji Yajenia, seventy-four years old, cannot speak English, first woman of her country to receive a teacher's certificate. She traveled many thousands of miles to attend this Convention.

Fraternal greetings from many societies, in part as follows: American Humane Society, National Committee Prohibition party, National W. R. C. of 140,000 women, Congo Reform Association, Congregational Missionary Society, W. F. M. S. of the Methodist Church, National Reform Bureau, American Peace Society, Scottish Temperance League, United Kingdom Alliance, Universal Peace Society, National Reform Association, National Consumers League.

In India there is greatest need of our work. Scientific temperance instruction in the schools is being given. In Calcutta several schools give this instruction.

Bulgaria is a hard field, but earnest work is done.

In New Zealand the women have great interest in the local option vote, which each time increases for temperance.

In Norway has a paid membership of 2,246 and the W. C. T. U. is represented on a joint temperance commission which is preparing a system of scientific temperance teaching in the public schools.

In Great Britain there are now 100,000 members. The drink habit is great among men and women. The demoralizing effect of bar mads is energetically denounced. Great work is done by temperance women.

In Jerusalem, Palestine, W. C. T. U. work is very difficult. All grocers sell intoxicants. Wine is used freely. In 120 licensed places liquors are sold. Total population, 75,000.

The reports of the Superintendents were wonderfully encouraging. The aggregate showing the great importance of individual work and the importance of reporting that work.

The National Convention.

The National Convention was held at Hartford, Conn., immediately after the close of the World's Convention. The attendance was unusually large. All of the General Officers were present.

Mrs. Stevens, our beloved National President, seemed quite herself, altho' she had presided over the World's Convention. She is always gracious, kind and just. Miss Anna Gordon, her Vice-President, is constantly beside her, doing the numberless little things as well as assuming the greater responsibilities.

Mrs. Stevens' address is statesmanlike—a wonderful address—and should be read by every member of our unions and would be helpful and interesting to our ministers. The address will be published in the minutes of the Hartford, Conn., Convention. Send for a copy, enclosing 15 cents in postage, to Mrs. Harriet Brand, National Treasurer, Rest Cottage, Evanston.

Welcome addresses were made by the Governor of the State, Mayor of Hartford, representatives of the University education and the W. C. T. U. Responses were appropriate.

Rev. Rockwell Harmon Potter, pastor of the Center Congregational church, gave a welcome on behalf of the churches in Hartford and Connecticut. He said in part:

Madam President and messengers from the heroic bands of Christianity, who on the outposts throughout all our nation are fighting the battles of the churches, we of the churches here in Hartford bid you welcome.

What shall I say of you to whom we give this welcome? You are part of the churches; you are the advance guard of the churches. We of the rear guard bid you greeting and Godspeed. It is the shame of the Christian church of our nation that such wealth of consecrated Christian womanhood should have found it necessary to move out in advance of the Christian church and organize independently of her that service which the church at the beginning was commissioned to accomplish. But if it is to our shame that you went forward, it is also the glory of the church that it was from her hearth, yea, from her heart, that the inspirations for that wealth of sacrifice and service did go forth. And be it said also in devotion to the church and in all honor to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, that despite the lagging of the church so far behind, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has never forgotten the sources of her inspiration, and has remembered ever with gratitude and affection the churches whence her wondrous wealth of enthusiasm has been drawn from the very throne of God. So we welcome you, you of the center line and of the picket guard. You come to call us to our duty. We are slow and laggard.

Listening here this morning to your President's address, I saw that no field of human endeavor has been left untouched by you. All those great questions which concern human welfare, and with which all those who think upon social questions are burdened, these all have shared in your splendid endeavors the spirit of that sainted genius of your order, who blessed it with her leadership and sealed it with her benediction, and hovers over it still, an over-powering presence. Frances E. Willard's splendid policy, "Do everything," has sent you into every place where the inert may be roused, and you come back to us of the churches and give to us the call to duty. Again I bid you welcome.

The Corresponding Secretary reported as follows:

New unions over 1,000.

Thirty-three States made a gain of from 100 to 2,000.

Frances Willard Memorial Fund receipts, $5,347.

Expenditures for free literature, $588.

The W. C. T. U. exhibit made at Portland, Ore., last summer, received the highest award, represented by a medal and a diploma. The Oregon women seemed well repaid for their work by the great interest manifested by all visitors.

When the Associated Billposters and Distributors of the United States and Canada assembled in Chicago a few months ago, they readily acceded to all but one of the points contained in a memorial from National, State and local workers, asking that they do not post vicious and suggestive pictures, portrayals of burglaries, murders and other crimes, and such representations as degrade woman's form, certain patent medicine and all whisky advertisements. The Association was in hearty accord with all that was asked, with the exception of the request made in regard to whisky advertising, and promised to come up to the W. C. T. U. standard on that point whenever we succeed in having whisky advertisements excluded from newspapers. They were given fair warning that we expect to claim the fulfillment of the promise in a few years, for we have long been working in that direction, and most, if not all, of the church papers, and not a few secular publications, refuse to advertise whisky. Let us address ourselves seriously to this business by protests and refusals to subscribe to periodicals which publish whisky advertisements.

I do not wish to trespass upon the province of department superintendents, but has it occurred to many of us that the three departments under the head of Organization deal with distinctive races—ten million negroes, more than a quarter of a million Indians, and over a million of foreign-speaking people from all countries coming to us every year, who are soon to become citizens of this republic. The voters of foreign parentage already exceed those of native parentage in many of our cities. Parts of Chicago are as foreign as any city in Europe or Asia. Within a certain area of four blocks in that city there are 16,000 children, mostly Italians, under fifteen years of age, and 150 saloons. President Roosevelt lately said of the immigrants: "If we do not take care of them, if we do not uplift them, then as sure as fate, our own children will pay the penalty." The burden of this department is, in a large sense, the burden of the world. Are we helping to carry it?

Many of the departments, such as Sunday Schools, Scientific Temperance Instruction, Medical Temperance, and Mercy, have developed extensive literature of the greatest value. Other departments are growing literature according to their various needs. Again and again we are told that we are losing our opportunity by not making this literature better known to the public. Ought we not at least to try to devise a plan by which this can be done? Should we not have a central depot where all literature published for or by the W. C. T. U. could be found? Would it not be an ideal condition for the National W. C. T. U. to own and publish all of the general W. C. T. U. literature, and at least handle all of the department literature? This suggestion is not made without due appreciation of the work of those who now publish our literature for us.

Mrs. Adelia E. Carman, National Supt. of Medal contests, reported contests this year, 3,867. Diamond contests, 38; net receipts from reported contests, $22,000; results, 22 new unions, 432 members, over 1,000 pledges signed; Illinois held 863 contests.

Mrs. M. M. Allen, Superintendent Medical Temperance, gave the Peruna Illumination. Jamaica ginger was burned in a saucer, it contained so much alcohol a generator was not necessary.

Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, Superintendent of legislation, reported special victories of the year. From the Union Signal we quote:

"Mrs. Ellis enumerated rapidly the special victories of the year: The passage of the Pure Food bill, after six years of ceaseless effort; the Statehood bill, uniting Oklahoma and Indian Territory, with prohibition over the latter for twenty-one years; the appropriation of $25,000 to be used in suppressing the sale of liquor to Indians; the Denatured Alcohol bill, which removes the tax on alcohol that has been chemically treated in such manner as to render it unfit for beverage purposes but useful in manufacturing industries; the Humphreys bill, which provides that collectors of internal revenue shall furnish, to anyone who will pay $1.00 per hundred names—the cost of copying them—certified lists of the persons who pay the government tax on retail liquor licenses. The sale of liquor in National Soldiers' Homes will be prohibited for four months of next year—an entering wedge for complete prohibition. A favorable report was secured on the Tirrell bill, which prohibits the liquor traffic from all government buildings, parks, reservations, ships, etc. The Smoot case finally came to a vote just before the adjournment of Congress, after dragging its weary way through the entire session. The vote was 7 to 5 for the unseating of Mr. Smoot. The chairman of the committee on Privileges and Elections announces that the case will be presented to the Senate for a vote of that body immediately after the opening of the coming session. After repeated efforts, the bill to prevent the opening of the gates of the Jamestown Exposition on Sunday was passed, the penalty for violation being forfeiture of the government appropriation."

In a short address Dr. Crothers paid high tribute to the W. C. T. U. He said:

"Will anyone dare question the magnitude and practical character of such a work? And can anyone doubt the absolute certainty that such efforts will settle the issue, not only of the alcoholic problem, but of the other great reforms projected, and finally secure a recognition of the laws of cause and effect, and teach the coming generation how to live in obedience to these forces of evolution which control and fashion the race?"

"Emerson said, 'The mightiest force in the Universe is that of an idea, universally recognized by the common people.'"

"It is the power of an idea that has gathered this mighty army of the W. C. T. U. and is holding them in an organization for work, beginning at the home and fireside. Today, Science bids you God-speed, confident that your motto, 'For God and Home and Every Land,' symbolizes the highest ideals. For God, whose wonderful laws, if observed, will develop the angel in you, and make life a joy; for home, the very fountain head of all that is grand and beautiful in life; and for country, with its possibilities and ideals of laws representing the highest types of justice, liberty and fraternity. With these mountain peaks in view the weary wilderness marches of to-day, will surely lead up to the promised land of to-morrow."

CONVENTION NOTES FROM MRS. STANLEY.

Dear White Ribboners of Indiana: I cannot write each one separately, and since you all read The Message, I will use that as my medium through which to tell you of two inspiring Conventions. The World's Assembly in Boston brought 65 delegates from Great Britain and her possessions, over 30 nations were represented. Some had dusky faces, some serene and white, but on each brow was seen the same furrows of agony for the slaughter of the innocents and the same high resolve to do or die for the eternal right. One dear old saint from Japan spoke through an interpreter to tell of 60,000 comfort bags made by the white ribboners for the soldier boys of Japan, and she said, "A New Testament telling of the power of Jesus to save went into every comfort bag sent out by our Union."

Another appeal came from a representative of the Fiji Islands. She told of the day when Fiji feasted on human bodies, of the work of the missionary, of a civilization which brought rum to the natives, and she said so pathetically: "White man came and with cruel kindness held the rum flask to our lips. Drink kills quickly in the tropics and in three generations more my people will all be gone."

Mrs. Harrison Lee, of Australia, started to the World's Convention five weeks ago, but did not get there. She reached the National, however, on time tell of their wonderful country, without purpose, where women vote on equal terms with men. She said she had given herself two whole days to cross our continent from San Francisco to Boston, and she found it took six days. "Oh wondrous power the gift give us to see ourselves as others see us."

Every nation reported aggressive work for prohibition.

The National Convention was really more enjoyable than the great World's gathering. No woman would ever take off her white ribbon if she will only read the reports of one year's work. More than half our population now live in prohibition territory.

I really believe we can talk the saloon to death. Let every woman go to work, get one more woman to help you, and thus double our ranks this year.

We had three physicians in our Convention from the great hospitals of New York, Boston and Hartford, who lectured each day on "the dangers of alcohol as a medicine," and from statistics given by Drs. McNickle and Crothers, we found that the medical fraternity are our ablest allies, and that the use of this poison as a remedy for disease will soon be only a matter of history.

The next World's Convention goes to Australia or London. The next National to Nashville, Tenn., which city promises to be under prohibition by that time.

I return to Indiana with gratitude to every woman in the ranks for sending me as your representative this year, and a desire to help send some other woman each year to this source of power and thus raise up a body of home defenders that will be a terror to evil-doers of every class and clime.

From Portland Indiana.

The W. C. T. U. ladies entertained Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Fulton, East Main street, the guests being the new members and husbands and the ministers and wives. Invitations had been issued for seventy-five guests and of that number sixty-five responded. Mrs. W. L. Ferris presided at the piano and played the several selections sung by the entire assembly. Mrs. John Flauding read the Crusade Psalm followed by prayer by Mrs. John Shewalter. Mrs. S. W. Haynes, who recently returned from the World's W. C. T. U. Convention at Boston and the National Convention at Hartford, Conn., gave an interesting and instructive account of the important events of the meetings. At the close of the program luncheon was served from the menu:

Chicken Sandwiches	Pickles	Potato Salad
Cake	Coffee

A portion of the evening was spent with toasts in which Mrs. Fulton acted as toast mistress and the following persons responded: Rev. S. A. Stewart, "What part women have in the nation as citizens." S. W. Haynes spoke of "Legislative Work, What Part Should Women Take In It." "Alcohol, Does it Have any Necessary Part in Medicine," was ably treated by Dr. R. E. Brokaw. Rev. Thomas Williams spoke from the subject, "Woman's Suffrage, Would It Hasten the Prohibition of Liquor Traffic?" Rev. C. H. Trout had the subject, "Civic Righteousness; What Can Women Do to Help Advance the Cause?" "W. C. T. U., Have They Any Right to Exist as Such, if so, Why?" Rev. W. E. McCarty.

The local organization have doubled their ranks since the State Convention, and now have a membership of fifty-three and eight honorary members.—Portland Commercial-Review.

The Holiday Season no longer emphasizes the holy season. The rush and strain for Christmas gifts takes the thought, time and energy of our women until the meditation so helpful the teaching regarding the season in the home so necessary for the spiritual training of the young is entirely out of the question. This is unbecoming the profession we make, it is living below our privileges it is following the leadership of the unchristian and worldly minded.

Every woman who enjoys the blessings and privileges of living in a Christian land, owes it all to the teachings of Jesus Christ. For only where the gospel of Christ is taught is woman more than a chattel or a slave.

How can women be so thoughtless, so given up to selfishness as to make our Holiday Season what it is to-day?

If the church worked and planned as continuously and energetically for the Holiday Season to be the harvest time for souls, as the commercial world works and plans for Holiday Season to be the harvest time for financial results, great indeed would be the awakened consciences of men and women, whose salvation would preclude the wandering away of our young people from the fold of the church.

This should be the season of definite work for Christ in every home, a time when for weeks the children are trained concerning the significance of the Christmas time.

So much money is spent for Christmas presents by the average family in moderate circumstances that it takes months of economy and self-denial on the part of the husband to recuperate sufficiently to push his business with energy. Disheartened! It is enough to dishearten any man to see money poured out like water into the hands of dealers who know that by largely advertising they can sell any article during the Holiday season.

What does the Holiday season mean in the average home?

Work early and late, worry, counting over and listing those to whom because of indebtedness for a gift last Christmas a gift must be made or bought to be sent this year. Expenditure of money far in excess of reason. Consider these things!

In your home teach a higher, holier meaning.

What does the Holiday season, the Christmas, mean to the thousands of clerks in our great stores? It means over work for three weeks in the day time and work until 10 o'clock at night, because of the great surging crowds of women Christmas shoppers.

For this condition of affairs women alone are responsible.

W. C. T. U. women use your influence against the late Christmas shopping. Call a halt on the foolish expenditure of time, energy and money at this blessed Holiday season.

Write Christmas letters, announce to your friends how you have decided to celebrate the greatest event known to humanity—the birth of our Saviour.

This year let our gifts be some little reminders of our friendship or love, inexpensive and simple if of our handiwork. If not of such, then let them be helpful Christian books or subscriptions to papers or magazines—making gifts to the poor "in His name."

For children the short stories of the Bible or biographies. The Union Signal for $1.00 per year, The Crusader Monthly, a 16-page monthly for young people, 25 cents per year. For these send to The National W. C. T. U., Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill.

NOTES FROM CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.

The great conventions have passed into history, but may their influence be felt throughout the year. Those who have not subscribed for the four convention numbers of the Union Signal should do so yet, and get a little of the feast those in attendance were privileged to enjoy. Send ten cents to "The Union Signal," Evanston, Ill. You cannot afford to miss this worldwide view of our great organization. "All round the world the ribbon white is twined."

Mrs. Stanley will tour some counties in the southeastern part of the State in December.

The first quarter of the year 1906-'07 is almost at an end. The report blanks will be sent out to County Corresponding Secretaries ere you read this, and may we not hear this quarter from every local union in the State? Report the number of members if nothing more. A banner is awarded at each State Convention to the county making the best reports. The points to be considered are neatness, promptness and completeness. A County Corresponding Secretary cannot possibly win this banner without the aid of the local Corresponding Secretaries. The number of unions in the county is not a determining factor in the award. Grant County has held this banner for several years. Although they have twenty-one unions, they never fail to report on time. May we not hope for as good a record from all our counties this year?

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Ellen Wheeler, the blind singer, known the state over by the W. C. T. U., was called home Nov. 7, 1906. She was enjoying her usual health up until a few days before her death, visiting with a friend she was stricken with apoplexy while eating her dinner and died in a few days. She had many friends and was considered by all an ideal christian woman.

Mrs. Mariah Tracy, the oldest member of the Huntington Union, went home Oct. 8, 1906. She was 86 years old and died very suddenly.

In the death of Clark Commons, an esteemed honorary member, Lamong Union suffers a great loss, but realize our loss in His gain, for we feel he has been called to a rich reward, and while he has gone from us we fully believe his encouraging words, as a Union, will live on in our lives.

RESULT OF ACTIVITY.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 8.—(Special Correspondence.)—This city never has had in all its history such an awakening as has followed the speech of Clinton N. Howard at a mass meeting of 1500 people on last Sunday, at the Second Baptist Church.

The vilest plot of the saloon to blacken the character of a man for his activity for law enforcement ever uncovered was laid bare in every detail. At its close the indignation of the audience was beyond all bounds and a standing vote of support was adopted with a cheer that shook the building.

The black plot to ruin Mr. Howard by destroying his reputation is now out in all its details by the confession of two parties who were directly in the employ of the conspirators.

In a three hours session today the District Attorney drew out of the whole horrible tangle, involving as it does prominent professional men in this city, including lawyers, saloon keepers and at least one Alderman who proves to be Alderman Ripstein, whose saloon Mr. Howard closed in his campaign last April.

The whole administration has been stirred to activity to run down the gang, some of whom have already crossed the Canadian border.

The Police Department has been instructed by the Mayor to seal up the saloons as tight as Sahara for all future time, and it looks at last as though Mr. Howard has won his long fight for permanent law enforcement in this big beery city.

The Plot Against Mr. Howard.

(The plot to blast Mr. Howard's reputation and defame his character was exposed by a young woman whom the conspirators tried to use as a tool in their diabolical plans. Deeply impressed at one of the Chapman revival services just then in progress in the city, her better nature rebelled the villainy proposed, and she sent a hurried warning to Mr. Howard.)

The plot in brief was to send a young girl to Mr. Howard's home some night, who with a pitiful story of poverty and misery was to induce him to go with her to a pre-arranged rendezvous in the slums, where he was to be seized by ruffians, locked in a room with the decoy, stripped of his clothing, and then "discovered" by hired witnesses, who, in hiding nearby, were to "break in" and spread the "scandal" to the four winds of hell, unless Mr. Howard paid a ransom of $50,000 or desert the Prohibition platform forthwith forevermore.)

Another Case of Saloon Diabolism.

That Mr. Howard is not the only victim of such diabolical villainy is proved in the following news despatch in the Detroit Evening News of Dec. 11.

he dispatch is as follows:

"St. Joseph, Mich., Dec. 11.—Attorney John Sterling, the attorney who is identified with the Municipal league of Benton Harbor, and who has been suffering persecution because of his relations with the league, has been set right before the people and his name cleared by the grand jury.

"The attempts to blacken the character of the attorney was one of the boldest plots ever hatched in this county.

"Soon after Sterling became active for the league a few saloon keepers brought a colored girl before a notary, where she swore out an affidavit charging the attorney with a statutory crime. The story spread over the country in a few days, and the declaration that the girl's parents intended to swear out a warrant for the arrest of the attorney heightened the color of the story. The prosecuting attorney refused to allow the warrant to issue, and the attorney-general was appealed to. He referred the petitioners back to the prosecuting attorney. When the grand jury went into session the matter was brought up again.

"The jury labored with it for three days, and this morning found the whole story 'vile, libelous, and unfounded from beginning to end.'

Later: Rochester, N. Y., Dec 15.—(Special Correspondence to the Associated Prohibition Press.) After a week of sensations, following the address on the "Black Hand Ungloved" on Sunday, Dec. 2, by Clinton N. Howard to 1500 people in Second Church, last Sunday was passed with two great public demonstrations, afternoon and again at night. The afternoon meeting was called for 2:30, but at 2:30 the crowds about the doors of the Second Church were so great that the doors had to be opened to relieve the situation. In five minutes the large auditorium was jammed, fully one thousand stood about in the open spaces, and the police were called to clear the jam about the outer doors.

Never before has such a meeting been held in

Miss Eva Cobbs, Miss Zoe Jennings and Miss Nellie Raber—Picture taken in Island Park.

Rome City union was organized by Mrs. Mary Evalyn Evertson, after the close of Island Park assembly in August. This union has enlisted the efforts and energies of some of Rome City's brightest, best young women. The officers are the youngest set of W. C. T. U. officers in Indiana. They are:

President, Miss Zoe Jennings; treasurer, Miss Eva Cobbs; secretary, Miss Nellie Raber.

These young ladies are holders of oratorical contest medals and are carrying that work in their union.

the history of Mr. Howard's work in this city. The demonstration upon his arrival was overpowering. Ministers and people stood up and waved and cheered, until Mr. Howard motioned silence. Again and again during the progress of the address the enthusiasm broke into cheers, and at its close every man was on his feet to vote approval and support to the leader of Rochester's Prohibition Union.

It is worthy of note that the sensation has brought about a new order in the city. The police were never so vigilant; the orders from Mayor down never was so emphatic.

The matter is now in the hands of the District Attorney.

The night meeting at West Methodist Episcopal Church was packed.

THREE NEW YEAR SUGGESTIONS.

If your union is up to the "one in four" standard, it is entitled to place on the 1907 Honor List of the UNION SIGNAL. Write for rules which govern. If your union is not up to the standard, now is a good time to bring it there.

THE UNION SIGNAL'S W. C. T. U. Course of study for 1907 will be of vital interest to every person who wishes to be fully informed on current history along reform lines. The course will consist of one article each month, with Required Readings and Questions, dealing with reform progress in recent years as related to the W. C. T. U.

Beginning with the January number, THE CRUSADER MONTHLY, in addition to its regular L. T. L. features, will give two pages each month of just the helps public school teachers need in presenting to their pupils the principles of Scientific Temperance Instruction. These papers will be so interesting, that Seniors, Juniors fathers, mothers, teachers and pupils will all enjoy them together. Each union should see that every teacher in the public schools is a subscriber.

Yearly subscriptions to THE UNION SIGNAL, $1.00; THE CRUSADER MONTHLY, 25 cents. Send subscriptions at once. Fine premiums offered for clubs. Sample copies and premium announcements of either paper free. Address ..

Abraham Lincoln said: "The state must in its legislative action, recognize in the law enacted, this principle—it must make sure and secure these endeavors to establish, protect and extend right conditions, right conduct, righteousness! These conditions will be secured and preserved, not by indifference, not by a toleration of evils, not by attempting to throw around any evil the shield and protection of law; never by any attempt to license the evil."

SOME GLAD DAY.

Air: Old Black Joe.

By Mrs. Katharine L. Stevenson.

All around the world
The ribbon white is twined;
All round the world
The glorious light has shined;
All round the world
Our cause has right of way;
We'll raise the anthem swell of vict'ry
Some glad day.

Chorus:

It's coming! It's coming,
The morn for which we pray;
We'll take the world for Christ's own kingdom
Some glad day.

All round the world
Where sounds the note of woe,
There is God's strength,
Our ribbon white shall go;
Emblems of peace, of purity's bright ray,
'Twill bind our sin stained earth to heaven
Some glad day.

All round the world
Hosannas yet shall ring,
All lands and climes
The Savior's praise shall sing;
No jarring note
Shall mar that rapturous lay,
'Twill rise from all the sin sav'd nations
Some glad day.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.

Dear Sisters: Enthusiastic reports of Mrs. Trego's work came from the northeastern part of the state where she has been engaged since Nov. 18. Unions who want to engage her should write at once to me that I may know how to plan her routes. There are already enough dates bespoken to fill all of January and a part of February, but I hope to keep her in the state for all the dates that are asked for, but I must know soon as other states are calling for her.

Mrs. Stanley has been waking things up in Dearborn, Ohio, Ripley and Jennings counties. She came home for the holidays and will spend the greater part of January at home.

Our indefatigable Mrs. Shugart has organized two new unions in Grant county since state convention. The work was not done in a day Mrs. Shugart and her co-workers set their eyes and hearts on having a union in a certain place, then hold meetings there, and medal contests, distribute literature, talk W. C. T. U., until they educate the women of the locality up to the point of organization, but the first thing the state hears is that "a new union has been organized in Grant county."

What has been done in Grant county can be done in every other county in Indiana by following the same methods. Let us try it, sisters!

As was announced at state convention the Reform Laws of Indiana have been printed in a neat pamphlet form and are ready for distribution. The list includes the essential features of the Nicholson Law, the Moore Amendment, the Anti-Cigarette Law, allowing minors in pool rooms, etc, the law on selling Tobacco to Minors, the Sabbath Law and the Scientific Temperance Instruction Law. These should be ordered by every union. They may be obtained from the state corresponding secretary at one cent each or 12 for ten cents.

Mary E. Woodard.

Look at Jesus on the cross—read again and the wondrous story. What wrong done to you or me compare to the insults heaped on Jesus Christ the Beloved Son of God! What did HE say? "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do!" Behold the Lamb of God, wronged by evil-doers, yet untouched by it! Our whole redemption is rooted in the unprovoked spirit, Spirit of the Lamb of God. The Lord God of heaven and earth came down to our utmost need in that unprovoked Spirit. When God wants to reach atrociously wrong-doers He seems to say again: "I will let them do their evil will, that they may see My Spirit in My child," and when our spirit is provoked, it hides His glory and stays His hand. We must make way for God, make way for the Spirit of His Son to possess our spirits. Have you suffered sorely? Do you feel you have a perfect right to feel so wronged? Let the Lord Jesus possess your spirit, beloved, and you will have all God's power on your side to overwhelm the evildoers.—Selected.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO YOU ALL.

Now is the time to make resolutions. Decide to give more time and efforts to the temperance work than you did last year. Plan definitely something you will do.

Are you giving proportionately to the temperance work? Some people give a tenth, but the organized forces against the liquor business get very little of it. If the church of God survives, the liquor traffic must be killed. It is not enough to teach a quarterly temperance lesson in our Sunday Schools and have an occasional sermon from the pulpit. This year, 1907, let us wear our little white ribbon bow all of the time because it is a constant protest against the liquor business. Every woman can do this little thing. Let us arrange our affairs so that we can attend the local union meetings. Remember always that our interest in a subject is according to our information upon that subject. To be informed upon the successes and defeats of the temperance forces we must read a temperance paper.

The Union Signal is our National W. C. T. U. paper. The Washington Letter, by Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, each week, will be of interest to every reading member of your household. Mrs. Ellis is our legislative representative in the National capital. She was the manager of the successful campaign against the canteen in the army. Decide now to spend $1.00 a year, less than two cents a week, for the Union Signal.

OFFICIAL

The annual reports are in the hands of Miss Clara Sears, Anderson, ready to be sent out. Send in your orders at once at the rate of 15 cents per copy, the state paying carriage. You need them.

Culla J. Vayhinger.

Annual Programs are almost indispensable to the success of the average union. Invite members from neighboring towns to read papers during the year. Have evening meetings at least once a quarter. Where there is an interurban invite an entire union to "come to the meeting." Perhaps the invited would furnish a quartet or other musicians. Seek to interest the young men and boys.

The annual report contains the minutes of the last State convention, the President's address, the reports of the state officers and the State superintendents. Besides these they contain a copy of the State constitution. Price 15 cents. Send to Miss Mary Woodward, Fountain City,

Indiana. If you are a superintendent you surely want a copy of this report to see what work was done in your department in our State this year. Send postage stamps in a letter and get a copy. You will be interested in reading of the work done in many lines in Indiana. Members of your family will gladly listen to you read of this work, (a little at a time). Your minister will be interested in reading this report.

Letter from Mrs. Stanley. Dear Sisters: I am safely home for the Holidays, after a two weeks' tour in Dearborne, Ohio, Ripley and Jennings counties. It rained almost every day yet the women were brave enough to face the storm and at almost every point we had good audiences.

I was at Brights Dec. 3, Guilford, Dec. 4, Wright's Corner, Dec. 5, Lawrenceburg, Dec. 6, Auora, Dec. 7, Rising Sun, Dec. 9 and 10, Cold Springs, Dec. 11, Moores Hill, Dec. 12, Osgood, Dec. 13, Butlerville, Dec. 14, North Vernon, Dec. 15 and 16.

At each point the local officers had invited the neighbors round about and in some cases they drove ten miles to the meetings.

The tour resulted in 37 new members and 7 honorary members, and at all points save Osgood the unions were strengthened and at that point we visited all the rooms in the High School and found a God fearing little Methodist preacher down there and a few loyal women who are bravely trying to hold the fort, so the meeting was a success.

The offerings to the State fund were $43.35, itemized in the treasurer's report. Jennings county is now ready for organization. I got them in line with fine material to fill the offices, but had no time to organize.

Let us hope and pray that the revivals which now begin will bring many to our ranks.

A Merry Christmas to all.

Yours for activity,

Elizabeth T. Stanley.

FROM THE TRUSTEES MEETING.

The following resolution was passed with a unanimous vote:

Resolved, that we deprecate the attempt that is being made to raise funds for the Chicago Temple, through the local W. C. T. Unions, since this is no longer one of the affiliated interest of the State and National organizations, and we recommend that unions make no response to such appeals since we have our own obligated interest.

The Superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction, was instructed to send out promptly information in regard to the changes made in this department and urge the unions to support the Crusader Monthly which has been made the official organ of this department.

Mrs. Mary Sibbills returned to Upland where she lectured the evening of the 11th. Twelve regular members and fifteen honoraries were gained.

Mrs. Eunice Wilson won the silver medal in a recent contest.

Grant county's latest union "Grant" has fifteen members. President, Mrs. Sarah Bond, R. R. 22; Secretary, Mrs. Mattie Osborn, R. R. 22; Treasurer, Mrs. Ada Winslow, R. R. 17.

Mrs. Lizabeth Harvey, Parliamentarian and Mrs. Nettie Ware corresponding secretary and superintendent of literature, are making the tour of Grant county's twenty-three unions, in the interest of their departments.

Mrs. Edith S. Davis, Milwaukee, Wis., is the National Superintendent of Scientific Temperance. The Crusader Monthly has been made the organ of this department.

As some of the reports and other matter came to the secretary too late to be embodied in the annual report, and some articles were omitted and the directory being in an incomplete form, therefore, resolved, that it is the sense of this committee that superintendents observe Art. 1, section 6, of the by-laws which reads, "all reports shall be in the hands of the recording secretary five days previous to State convention and sooner if advance sheets are printed and we furthermore recommend that the reports shall be typewritten. We also recommend that county and local unions hold their elections before the State convention and report the names of officers and county superintendents to the corresponding secretary.

Secretary.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION—NATIONAL PLANS FOR 1907.

A 25,000 Crusader Monthly subscription list. A paid membership of 30,000 or 30 L. T. L. delegates at the National convention of 1907.

The continued effort to place an L. T. L. Missionary in Japan, with the change of name from Japan L. T. L. Fund, to Anna A. Gordon Fund, in honor of our World's L. T. L. secretary.

The broader education of our Senior young women by inciting them to active membership in the W. C. T. U., in addition to the Senior Legion, wherever possible.

The training of Senior Legioners for service in the Junior Legion.

Miss Wintringer asks "may we not count on Indiana's most earnest effort and co-operation in carrying out the special lines of work for 1907. Let our watchword for the coming year be, 'Be Strong and of Good Courage.' Vanish all fear and discouragement, lighting the dark places so that this shall be our very best year for the L. T. L. along all lines of endeavor." And I am confident that is just what we are doing and aim to do, the blanks have been sent out, let the county leaders see that each local leaders has one and return to me at once, if you did not get them sent in by the 25th of December, we made a splendid gain last year, but let us double our membership, collect all dues, and be prompt in reporting all work done in our Legion this year.

Remember the change made at the State W. C. T. U. convention at Portland, in paying dues. All L. T. L. dues are to be sent to Mr. Nathan Lenfestey, 625 West Fourth Street, Marion, our State L. T. L. treasurer.

Yours for active service for 1907,

Ida M. Mix,

Kokomo, Indiana.

THE PRESS.

Dear Press Superintendents: Like well regulated machinery, I have faith to believe that the Press work in our state is moving along smoothly and effectively, doing the good which it alone can do in putting and keeping our work before the public.

At the close of last year's work I begged to be excused from this work on account of multiplied duties at home and my dear mother's lingering illness, but, "by the powers that be," I am again at the wheel, begging your prayers and co-operation and promising to do the best I can under the circumstances.

To work intelligently I must know the name and address of each county superintendent of press work in the state, and beg you, dear sisters, to send me these when you read these lines, for I have some press leaflets which I will be glad to send you, and to your local superintendents too, if you will kindly send me their names.

In counties where there is no county superintendents, will the local superintendents please send me their names.

I will ask you to report but once, in September, 1907, but please be careful to keep a record of all the work which you do during the year, so that it may be reported to me at the end of the year's work.

In each local union there should be held at least, two press meetings during the year, and according to the program given in all new annual reports, the first one will be held the first meeting in March, so plan for it, get the people interested, invite the editors to take a part in the meeting and get them interested and they will help you. Have faith in your department, and push the work, keep everlastingly at it, and you will see splendid results.

As is urged in the Plan of Work for 1906-1907, there should be an active press superintendent in every local union in the state, who will make use of all space available in the local papers.

County superintendents please send me your names, and the names and addresses of your local superintendents, and thus help me to help you and them.

Yours for advancement,

Laura G. Cammack,

Converse, Ind.

MOTHER'S MEETING

Dear Sisters:—I have prepared a leaflet with suggestive topics for Mother's Meetings, and a plan that I hope will be helpful to all superintendents, and in a measure answer the questions that come to me often: "How Can I Begin," price 20c per hundred; W. R. C. R. cards, 50 for 25 cents, or you can get an outlined program of Mrs. Helen L. Bullock, 412 Tompkins Street, Elmira, N. Y., National Superintendent of Mother's Meetings, for 5 cts a piece or $1.00 per hundred. Time and money spent for the betterment of mothers and children will be money put in the bank of Heaven. God will give it to you with many times its value in eternal riches. "Ignorance is the curse of God, knowledge the wings wherewith we fly to Heaven." Know thyself.

Yours in His name,

Mrs. S. M. Stahl,

Hartford City, Indiana.

LITERATURE.

Dear Co-workers: Having sent out so very many Report Blanks last year and receiving so very few of them, I have decided to ask for only two reports a year—March and September—and will send blanks to all county superintendents if I can have their address. May I not urge that you write to Ruby Gilbert, Chicago, for a catalogue. It will only cost you a postal card and you can then select the Literature best suited to your community. Please feel free to write me about your work at any time.

Retta Jones, State Superintendent,

Alexandria.

FIELD NEWS

The Dana W. C. T. U. gave Mrs. W. H. Reed a farewell reception on December 1, at 2 o'clock. By appointment the ladies met at Hafley's studio where they were met by Mr. and Mrs. Hafley who in their pleasant way grouped them before the camera and made a negative. From the studio they went to the beautiful home of Mrs. Rogers and after short devotional exercises, went to the dining room where refreshments were served, after which the members extended Sister Reed their best wishes and expressed deep regrets at her going away. Mrs. Reed was always at her place of duty and ready to discharge that duty, whatever it might be.

Mrs. Edith S. Davis, the new World's and National W. C. T. U. superintendent of the department of Scientific Temperance Instruction was born on a farm near Miss Willard's Wisconsin home and received her college education at Lawrence University. Later she took post-graduate work at Wellesley and was for many years a successful teacher. She is mistress of several languages, has written a number of books, is a speaker of note, and has the ability to raise large sums of money, all of which, combined with practical knowledge of the department of which she is now the head, fit her to be a worthy successor to Mrs. Mary H. Hunt. Mrs. Davis should be addressed at 2913 Brown Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Churubusco W. C. T. U. secured the services of Mrs. Trego for December 5, 6 and 7. In her first address she explained the work of the W. C. T. U. in an able manner; she also gave a report of the World's and National conventions.

In an address to women on practical lines of work, she said that the wife should be an helpmate to her husband; that she should inform herself about his business so that he could go to her for counsel when necessary; also that mothers should teach their daughters how to work and to know the value of money; in fact, to teach them business. "Mistake in the Home Life," was the subject of an address full of good thoughts and suggestions, especially a plea for the young to live pure lives.

On the last night she gave an illustrated lecture on "Darkest America." She explained the effect of alcohol upon the stomach from the moderate drinker to the drunkard in the last stage of delirium tremens; she gave the contrast between the saloon keeper's home and the drunkard's home, also between the saloon keeper's little daughter and the drunkard's daughter which stirred the hearts of the people in the audience. Many pronounced this to be the best lecture ever given in Churubusco. No admission fee was charged but a free will offering of over $20.00 was given at the close of the lecture. We feel confident that the good seed sown will bear much fruit.

MARION COUNTY.

Mapleton W. C. T. U. met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Handy. A musical program was rendered followed by a report of the National and World's conventions. This was given by Mrs. Gipe, proving a great inspiration to all present. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Central Union held a very interesting "Convention Echo" meeting at the home of Mrs. Moody. Excellent accounts of the World's and National conventions were given by members who had been in attendance. Mrs. Frances Boyer was a delegate to both the World's and National conventions. Miss Fern Boyer was selected by the National Loyal Temperance Legion secretary to represent Indiana in the National convention. Mrs. Rose Browne, also a member of the union visited her daughter in Boston and attended the World's convention.

Several new members were received while refreshments were served, among them Mrs. Mogab, a bright Syrian lady who is an active Christian.

All unions throughout the County are at work on their programs for the coming year. A better year with more work accomplished is planned, the first step being a good program with a copy in the hands of each member.

County Headquarters. Marion County is justly proud of her new home which has been established so recently. Through the kindness of the managers of the new Door of Hope, the use of one of the parlors was tendered the county, which was accepted. All unions asked to contribute to its furnishing. A new rug, curtains, library, table and chairs tend to make the room a very attractive as well as a comfortable room in which to meet. The Union Signal and Message as well as other literature will be accessible to all who care to improve the opportunity of visiting the room at any time. This room is for the use of all county meetings and committee meetings of the different unions in the county. 1100 Capital Ave.

Meridian W. C. T. U. met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Gipe. A goodly number were present, entering heartily in the spirit of the meeting, which was in the nature of a debate. The subject was, "Shall Women Have the Ballot?" Affirmative, Mrs. Gipe, Mrs. Shortridge; negative, Mrs. Beckett, Mrs. Williams. Both sides presented good arguments in support of their side of the question. While the judges were out, the popular vote was called for, resulting in a vast majority in favor of the ballot for women. The verdict of the judges was of course, in favor of suffrage. Mrs. Gipe pinned a yellow badge on all present, taking it for granted that after hearing the debate all were on the affirmative side of the question. A meeting with so excellent a program is very instructive, to both the visitor and member, who becomes more familiar with the great departments of our work. At the next meeting the department of "Purity in Literature and Art," will be presented by Mrs. Sherwood.

Mrs. Nettie Cohea,
County Press Superintendent.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley is always appreciated. The unions are anxiously waiting for their turn to have her.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley is our own platform queen. Indiana is justly very proud of her. Everywhere she is wanted. Every union is anxiously waiting its turn to have her. The state has arranged with Mrs. Stanley to go to the unions without expense. All collections are to be turned into the state treasury by Mrs. Stanley. Audiences enjoy giving money to our cause after hearing the forceful truthful arguments by Mrs. Stanley.

Her appeals to the intelligent thinking people are telling in their effect. Every union needs Mrs. Stanley, not once, but twice a year.

In this state we need field workers. It is remarkable how our work moves on with so few. Great indeed, are the things that could be accomplished if we had a goodly number of workers constantly afield.

Mrs. R. J. Trego, the sweet spirited, loyal hearted, splendid W. C. T. U. worker, who is in our state, is having great success. Indiana must keep her. We need her. We need to keep our own workers and many more in the field constantly this year. If your union can secure her services you may be assured that only good will be the results. Write concerning dates, terms, etc., to our corresponding secretary, Miss Mary Woodward, Fountain City, Ind. If you cannot secure Mrs. Trego until in the spring time, take her then without fail. She will not cause you regret. You will be rejoiced at her ability and proud of her beautiful character and gracious personality.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl writes: The Hartford City union held a mass meeting Sunday afternoon, November 18, with a fine audience and Mrs. I. R. Trego, National Evangelist speaker. Mrs. Trego closed her three days' work here on the evening of the 20th, with an illustrated lecture. Her lecture was good and the stereopticon views, the finest ever shown in this city. The wonder of the people was how she could manage the stereoscope and lecture at the same time. She evidently is one woman who has learned to do two things at a time.

The Hartford City union observed World's Temperance Sunday, first, by sending every minister in the city, the four numbers of the Union Signal giving reports of the World's and National W. C. T. U. conventions, and requesting them to preach on temperance that day. In the afternoon we held a mass meeting and distributed a fine lot of literature, which we hope will be seed sown in ground that will bring good fruit. We know the seed was good, we trust the ground was not all stony. Rev. Payne in the meeting said that he had heard of three kinds of temperance people; one was all wish-bone, wished there was no saloons; another was all jaw-bone, did nothing but talk, talk; the other had back-bone and were ready to do and dare for the sake of humanity and the salvation of the poor drunkard. We are praying for the Lord to give us more of the back-bone kind who will not only help to save the fallen, but will use the power they have to remove the stumbling stones, the legalized saloons.

Mrs. F. B. Perkins, writes: The Kendallville union is doing its second year's work enthusiastically, and wonderful results are expected. At our last regular meeting we had an attendance of seventy, and the L. T. L. meeting which followed, an attendance of sixty-three. Mrs. Trego pleased every hearer. She is a speaker of convincing power. We ought not to let her get out of the state. Cannot you urge the unions to engage her? Because her work is self supporting, even the weakest unions can receive this wonderful help.

Zionsville W. C. T. U. reorganized December 11, with ten active and three honorary members paid up in full with nine who have pledged membership by paying a part of their dues.

Officers: President, Mrs. Kate Foreman; Vice President, Mrs. Mary Lemon; Treasurer, Mrs. Cora Lemon; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Hallie Bemer; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Frank Anderson. Organized by Mrs. Mary D. Hendricks, County President.

To Superintendents of Mother's Meetings. I have sent to every Superintendent of Mother's Meetings, whose name appears in the annual report, report blanks, samples of literature, purity pledge cards and W. R. C. R. cards. If county superintendents whose names are not in the annual report will write me I will gladly furnish them the same. Be sure, dear sisters, to keep a record of all work done, all literature distributed so as to have a fine report next fall.

Lovingly,
Mrs. S. M. Stahl.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley met the members of Guilford union in the afternoon and lectured to a full house in the evening, on December 4. A collection of $2.31 was donated for State funds.

The Guilford union held a good meeting with Mrs. Templeton, December 13. Mrs. Dr. Lazenby was a guest of the union. The next meeting will be held in church parlors, January 10 and will be a public meeting.

Alexandria held an all day meeting on November 9 with the vice president, Mrs. Carrie Beaumont, four miles north of town. The Summitville union was invited for the afternoon. After a bountiful dinner, the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Mary McDowell, president of Alexandria union, and all joined in singing a familiar hymn. Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Lucy Hardern, county evangelist, followed by prayer by Mrs. Retta Jones, after which Mesdames Hardern and Beaumont sang "Save the Boys." Mrs. Cammack Gibson then gave one of her excellent and helpful chart talks, followed by questions and a general discussion by all. Two names were given for membership, after which light refreshments were served and all returned to their homes feeling it was good to have been there.

South Bend. Mrs. C. Fassnacht, St. Joseph's county president, gave a very interesting verbal report of the World's and National convention, before a number of ladies at the First Methodist Episcopal church in South Bend, November 14. Although she spoke for an hour and a half she did not tire her audience. A rising vote of thanks was given and she was requested to give a talk at Grace M. E. church the next Wednesday night at the Temperance prayer meeting.

A fine temperance talk was given before the Junior League, December 2, by one of the members of Chapin Park union. When asked how many had seen the advertisements in our daily papers that beer was a temperance drink, a dozen hands went up. "That beer was a liquid food," dozen of hands raised. We trust that the facts stated proving the falsehood of these advertisement will leave a lasting impression on the minds of these coming men and women.

On November 25 a "Thimble" in honor of the twenty-five new members of Chapin Park union, was given at the beautiful home of Mrs. C. Fassnacht, St. Joseph's county president, which was greatly enjoyed by more than eighty ladies. A fine musical program was given, and echos of the conventions (World's and National) was given by Mrs. Fassnacht, which was very much enjoyed. Elaborate refreshments were served. Chapin Park union is in a thriving condition, having a membership of seventy including five honorary members. There will be another contest held in the near future at which time an effort will be made to enroll thirty new members.

The Washington County Convention was held at Fredericksburg in the M. E. Church. Rev. Matthews, of Salem, and Miss Gertrude Spangler, of Utica, were present and delivered addresses. The following officers were elected: President, Florence Gresham, Fredericksburg; Vice-President, Mary N. Overman, Salem; Corresponding Secretary, Lydia Hiles, Campbellsburg; Recording Secretary, Fanny Ellis, Hardinsburg; Treasurer, Lucretia Prow, Salem; "Y" Secretary, Miss Fleeda Royse, Fredericksburg; "L. T. L." Secretary, Mrs. Mary U. Hancock, Fredericksburg.

Franklin County's officers as follows: President, Mrs. Margaret M. Smith, College Corner, Ohio, R. F. D. No. 10; Vice-President, Miss Hattie Kimb'e, Brookville, Ind.; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Florence Miller, College Corner, Ohio, R. F. D.; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Una Doty, College Corner, Ohio, R. F. D. No. 10; Treasurer, Mrs. Joe Dubois, College Corner, Ohio, R. F. D.

Blackford County is composed of four townships, and is next to the smallest county in Indiana and within its borders are 35 licensed saloons. But our little county has many things to be proud of. On Tuesday, November 6th, 184 good men went to the ballot box and informed our so-called Christian government that they wanted protection for their boys and girls from the gin mills and gambling dens. It has been woman's mission since time memorial, to educate and lift up the fallen. The W. C. T. U. gold medal contest which was held at the Presbyterian Church Tuesday night was a success. There were four contestants. Mr. Harry Moore won the medal. A quartet composed of Mesdames Ritter, Parker, Beard and Miss Bonge, sang. Mrs. Thomas and William Ritter gave recitations. The young peoples' orchestra furnished the music. Mrs. Stahl lead in prayer. Lead on kindly light, 'til King Alcohol is dethroned, is our prayer.

LaPorte Union—Our delegates returned from the State Convention full of enthusiasm and much pleased and encouraged with the excellent work done in the past year, which they gathered from the many interesting reports that were given. They report it the largest and one of the best W. C. T. U. Conventions ever held in the State, there being a system that made everything go like clock-work. They are also loud in praise of the helpful sermons they were privileged to listen to on the Sabbath; also the singing by our dear blind sister, Mrs. Wheeler. With the privilege kindly given to obtain such splendid and capable women as our Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley and Mrs. Rebecca Trego, I think every Union should make an effort to use them. Heretofore some have felt that they were not able to do what they knew would be an uplift to the cause. Dear sisters, now that there is no difficulty, let us do what we can to procure through our State Corresponding Secretary, Miss Mary Woodard, these excellent helpers.

The North Madison W. C. T. U. met November 6, at the home of their Vice-President, Mrs. Ida Branham. After the business part of the program and some special music, Mrs. Traum, who is President of Jefferson County, gave a very inspiring report of the State Convention. Mrs. Traum is earnest and forceful in personality and we are encouraged to believe that there are better things in store for Jefferson County, along the different lines of temperance work, under her sweet spirited leadership.

Wells County W. C. T. U. had an all-day session November 14th to discuss plans for the furtherance of the work. After the devotionals the forenoon was mostly taken up by our beloved and efficient County President, Mrs. Goodin, in giving instructions to the Superintendents. The importance of the evangelistic department was emphasized and the voice of the gathering was, that unless this department is kept prominent failure will result. A beautiful spirit of love and Christian fellowship pervaded the meetings throughout.

A nice dinner was served in the church and an enjoyable social noon hour was spent.

In the afternoon Superintendents were given the privilege of asking questions relating to their departments, which was interesting to all.

Mrs. Smith, our parliamentarian, very ably conducted a drill which was much enjoyed.

An impressive feature of the meeting was the tying of the white ribbon on the baby boy of Rev. Cecil, the pastor of the M. E. Church, where the meeting was held.

There was a good attendance and the day was most profitably spent and we believe each one present saw more clearly her responsibility and the urgent need of still more aggressive work.

Wayne County W. C. T. U. held a convention at Economy, November 7th and 8th, with a good attendance. All the unions in the county were represented.

Mrs. Hannah tSanley, who has faithful served the county as President for twelve years, resigned on account of other pressing duties.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Ella Hartley, Fountain City; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Marietta Overman, Richmond; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Bertha Marshall, Modoc, R. R. 27; Treasurer, Miss Virgie Stanley, Economy.

Grant County has a new union at Hanfield, ten members. Organized by Mrs. Julia Shigart. President, Mrs. Ella Shinholt; Secretary, Miss Anna Porter; Treasurer, Mrs. Maggie McCracken.

Miss Mary Sibbitts has ten dates in Grant County. Mrs. Sibbitts is an ordained minister in the Friends church and a national organizer and lecturer.

Miss Addie Dare, a public school teacher in Fowlerton, whose home is in Fairmount, recently gave a most beautiful and practical entertainment in Fairmount with the L. T. L. of that place of which she has charge.

The Oakridge Union was recently entertained in the home of Mrs. Lizzie Cammack (mother-in-law of Mrs. Cammack-Gibson). Mrs. Cammack for many years has proven her Christian worth by ministering to her invalid husband who passed on in the summer time, and now she, with her daughter, Vernie Cammack Howell, are giving their efforts to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. Ann Shugart conducted a mother's meeting and Mrs. Edgerton, President of this Union, talked most effectively on keeping children in Sunday School and church.

Mrs. Trego began work at Hartford City, November 18, and will continue in the State for several weeks. All who want her services should write at once to the State Corresponding Secretary for date, so that her routes may be made out so as to avoid unnecessary travel and expense. This is a fine opportunity to secure one of our National workers without financial risk to the unions. For terms see November Message.

Every union in the State should have one or more copies of the State minutes. Every county and local superintendent should read the report of the State Superintendent of her department, which will be found in the minutes. The minutes will also contain the splendid address of our State President, the reports of the State Corresponding Secretary and State Treasurer, a suggestive program for local unions, the State plan of work and much other material of value. Send at once if you have not done so, and secure this valuable help for your work. Let us equip ourselves for service, and make this the most notable year in the history of Indiana W. C. T. U.

Yours for advance,

MARY E. WOODARD.

The Crusader Monthly has an established place in the hearts and homes of nearly twenty thousand loyal Temperance Legioners and other young people. This is a great family to provide for, but Mother National is an excellent provider and announces better and richer feasts than ever for 1907. Loyal Temperance Legion features are to be maintained and some new ones, equally helpful to the L. T. L., added.

Special Feature for 1907.

Beginning with the January number, two pages of each issue of The Crusader Monthly will give just the helps public school teachers need in presenting to their pupils the principles of Scientific Temperance. These pages will be so interesting that Seniors, Juniors, fathers, mothers, teachers and pupils will all enjoy them together.

Each union should see that every teacher in the public schools is a subscriber.

Temperance in Our Colleges. Without exception the temperance sentiment in our colleges of Southern California is of the highest grade. In connection with the teaching of Political and Social Economy, Chemistry and History, strong temperance lessons are taught; frequent addresses and debates are given on the subject and both tobacco and liquor are absolutely forbidden. At the University of Southern California there is a special course of lectures and study offered in "Economics of the Liquor Traffic."—Los Angeles Express.

THE USE OF CIGARETTES BY SCHOOL BOYS.

Dr. Brooks, Superintendent of the Public Schools of Philadelphia, recently requested the local superintendents to report to him the number of boys in their schools who, to their best knowledge, use tobacco, and also to state their standing in classes. The investigation showed in the elementary schools alone, and not including the grammar and high schools, a total of 6,076 boys, who use tobacco mostly in the form of cigarettes. The accompanying report of Dr. Brooks is most instructive—He says:

"Feeling a responsibility for the moral as well as the intellectual training of the pupils of the public schools, I present the above facts regarding the tobacco habit among the boys, for your consideration.

"The object of the public school is to educate intelligent and virtuous citizens. To do this the schools must not only train the minds of our pupils, but must also look after their physical and moral interests. Care should be taken that they do not acquire habits that will undermine their physical constitutions, impair their intellects or weaken their moral character.

One of the most injurious habits found among many boys in our larger cities is that of cigarette smoking. It weakens the heart, and injures the digestion, stunts the growth, and worst of all, vitally affects the morals of youth.

This statement is proved by the testimony of physicians and by carefully prepared statistics. In the great universities all over the world it has been found that the students who do not use tobacco stand higher intellectually and morally than those who do. Both the military and the naval authorities of the United States have given the question their closest attention and no student at Annapolis or West Point is permitted to use tobacco in any form. The French Government, as the result of a prolonged inquiry, has prohibited the use of tobacco under its control.

"What steps should be taken to check the use of tobacco among the boys of our public schools is a question upon which it is difficult to reach a conclusion. In several states laws are being enacted prohibiting the sale or even the gift of cigarettes to minors. Civic societies and other organizations are doing something for the suppression of the tobacco habit among the young of other cities.—The Christian Statesman.

The attitude of the saloon in politics is well illustrated by the following delivered by a Missouri senator in 1899: "Senators have said upon the floor today in this debate that they would like to see the saloon out of politics. So would I, and I will tell the senators when it will go out of politics: When every law restricting the liquor traffic is repealed; when you cease by legislation to discriminate against my business and to cripple it; when we can open our saloons on Sunday and run it as we could any other day of the week; when our business is placed upon the same footing and upon the same plane with every other legitimate business, then, and not until then, will the saloon go out of politics. We shall fight you until this is accomplished."—The Christian Statesman.

ELEMENTARY TRAINING.

Oliver Wendell Holmes said: "That the perfect training of a child should begin 100 years before it was born—in godly ancestry!" But not many children have godly ancestry for 100 successive years, while the multitude have not even an upright moral training after birth. Hence the average child must be educated to be moral and religious. And the sooner the teaching begins—the better.

As the first five years are almost exclusively spent at home, what a mighty responsibility rests upon the parents, especially the mother! Fresh, clean and plastic—without false impressions, the little mind lies before the parents. Shall they destroy its God given beauty—or train it up in the divine light? Words make an impression, deeds make an impression, looks and tones are imitated, thoughts are imparted, gestures and expressions are repeated, until the little one is a mirror for the family! Often the parents will hear their own ideas of right and wrong, expressed in the self same tones!

Now here, within these five years, is the all important time for elementary teaching—the simple beginnings of truth, righteousness and godliness. All these can be taught in a comprehensive manner to the little child. But some one will say, "He is too young to be taught much, let him eat and grow." Surely let him eat and grow—but how shall he be fed? Shall the mind be filled with Mother Goose Rhymes and all nonsense, because it is a jingle. Can there never be a simple rhyme or a sweet line about Jesus, or the love of God, or the beautiful flowers, or the singing birds which are all about him? Little children, and very young children love the music of rhyme, although the thought is not wholly understood. Now why not repeat musical rhyme with a thought in it, as well as a senseless one? And when the mother sings, why not choose a holy melody as well as something else? All such words of story and song unconsciously teach noble expression and good language.—Vermont Home Guards.

From International Reform Bureau Bulletin, 206 Pa. Ave., S. E. Washington, D. C.

The whole land, indeed the whole world, is ploughed up as never before with civic revivals, which will amount to little unless the seed of patriotic studies is promptly sown in this fallow ground. It is easier than usual to get people to read of reforms and to gather them for study in first voter's classes, current topic clubs and the like. Following the many religious revivals that have enabled many to "get right with God" should come equally systematic and persistent work in behalf of the second great commandment, which Jesus said was "like" unto the first in importance, and which the "great exposures" recently in commercial and political misdoings by leading church members show to be greatly needed.

GET RIGHT WITH YOUR FELLOW MEN.

It is the Supreme error of the churches that it has been assumed, in spite of the slave holding and the liquor selling of devout men in the past, that getting "right with God" will make a man instantly and instinctively right in all his complicated relations to his fellow men without education or organization to that end. The churches need not only theological seminaries to get men right with God but Christian citizenship committees in the machinery of every church—nor of its young people alone—that by public meetings and distribution of literature from door to door and by committee work—let law and order work be separate from the church—may get men right with men.

GOOD NEWS FROM SOUTH BEND.

Mrs. Kathryn Wert Holler, our efficient superintendent of Sabbath Observance, was the means of stopping a football game on Sunday, December 2. Vast preparations had been made to play the game every Sunday until New Year. The first Sunday over 2,000 people attended, paying admission fees. In the midst of the game, the law headed by our indefatigable superintendent, took hold, and the game was stopped much to the chagrin of those who played and those who paid admission. Mrs. Holler and her co-workers urged many of the representative citizens to use the phone calling up the chief of police, and such was the storm that the chief in order to have peace, enforced the law by putting a stop to the game. Grand stands were erected, fences put up and the ground prepared, at a large expenditure of money and time. These are now taken down, which means no more Sunday games within the city limits of South Bend.

In Memoriam. Mrs. J. B. Gonell passed to a Higher Life, December 7, 1906. Mrs. Gonell was an active temperance worker and a devoted christian. For some years she was W. C. T. U. president of Noble county, and her home in La Olla was the home for W. C. T. U. workers when in that section of the state. Mrs. Gonell moved to Kendallville only a few weeks ago, but has already identified herself with the W. C. T. U. The sympathy of our women all over the state, are with the sorrowing family.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. XII. No. 3.

ANDERSON, IND., FEBRUARY, 1907.

ON GUARD.

"General Order 69."

By David James Burrell, D. D., LL. D., New York.

The friends of temperance are in danger of being caught napping. There is an impression that the effort to restore the sale of inebriating liquors in the Post-Exchanges of the Army has been given up. Far from it! The portentous silence in some quarters is simply due to the fact

There are five Bills, providing for the restoration of the sale of liquor in the Canteens, now in Congressional Committee; any one of which may be sprung at the opportune moment; that is, at the first moment when the people are sufficiently off their guard to permit it.

The secular papers, with a few notable exceptions, are lending themselves to this "still hunt." There are frequent articles, sometimes in editorial form, bearing upon the matter and practically all on one side. As a rule, they abound in mis-statements and perversions of fact. All efforts to correct them are vain. The columns of the secular press are generally closed against the advocates of temperance. How shall this be accounted for?

The official figures of the War Department show that in 1900 there were 1645 court martials for drunkenness and in 1906 (with canteen closed) 504. Does that look like a "ninety-five per cent. increase?" But get the newspapers to print that if you can!

And they say that practically all officers as well as soldiers favor the sale of liquor. How about Generals Miles, Shafter, Wheeler, Daggett, Henry, Boynton, Wilcox and Stanley? How about Colonels Durbin, Gunder, and Gless? How about Surgeon-General Sternberg and Surgeon Genella; with others of like character? But you will watch the papers in vain to see their side of it.

They say there is a dreadful state of affairs in the Army; a great increase of drunkenness, rioting, licentiousness, prolonged orgies and excesses of every sort, and all owing to the discontinuance of the traffic in liquor. This is important if true. If the American Army is made up of such soldiers the people ought to know it. Parents ought to know it before they permit their sons to enlist. God have mercy on a nation that leans for its defense on an Army of Drunkards! But the statement is not true. Who is responsible? In large measure, the officers themselves, who (very many of them being habitual drinkers) the newspapers say, furthermore, that the officers are no longer able to control their men; that they can not keep them from going to dives and dens of infamy outside the Posts; that discipline can not be maintained without beer; that insubordination is the rule, etc. This also is important if true. If the men in command are so lacking in the essential qualities of an efficient officer, the inference is plain. If Colonels in charge of regiments, with military law at their back, are not able to maintain discipline it is high time that we should have a different lot of Colonels. Was there ever a more humiliating confession of incompetency since Adam said, "The woman tempted me and I did eat?"

The appropriation of $40,000 made by Congress to improve the Post-Exchange on Governors Island was used, instead for the improvement of officers' club room! And liquors are, at this writing, on tap on Governor's Island, despite the Amendment to General Order 69. Should this fact be questioned, the writer will be glad to substantiate it. And good people are still eulogizing the sanctity of law!

But back of all others engaged in this Campaign of the Canteen stands the Organized and Mobilized Army of Brewers and Distillers. It is these who command the "still hunt." It is these who control the Literary Bureau from which emanate the false and distorted pleas for the Army dram-shop. There is, moreover, a tremendous subsidizing power in the advertising contracts of the secular press; and there are millions of money to enforce it. Prior to the exclusion of beer from the Post-Stations the sale of liquor to soldiers amounted to three and a quarter millions of dollars in a period of two years! Is it to be expected that the Brewers and Distillers will quietly submit to such a loss? The fervor of "argument" for the return of the Beer-Canteen is chiefly to be accounted for in this way. "The devil tare him before he came out of him."

No doubt there are people who can have the wool pulled over their eyes; "but all the people can not be fooled all the time." The scheme is getting to be so diaphanous that any person of common intellect can see through it.

But the word is "On Guard!" If any is in doubt as to the merits of the argument pro and contra he may satisfy himself by applying for literature to the National Temperance Society, 3 East 14th Street, New York.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS.

One of the most significant facts which has developed is the unprecedented number of States in which agitation to secure the submission of Prohibition constitutional amendments, is now simultaneously in progress.

Correspondence to the Associated Prohibition Press shows that State Prohibition amendment campaigns are now under way or bills to that effect are being introduced into the legislatures of New York, West Virginia, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, North Carolina, Georgia, Texas and Oklahoma. There are sixteen party Prohibitionists who are members of the legislatures in the above named States.

IN MISSOURI.

(By Associated Prohibition Press.)

Thousands of petitions like the following are already being circulated and are being rapidly signed in every part of the state:

"To the Senate and House of representatives of the 44th General Assembly of the State of Missouri:

We, the undersigned citizens and voters of the State of Missouri, hereby petition your honorable body that you take such action as may be necessary to submit to the voters of this State at the general election in 1908, a constitutional amendment, prohibiting within the State of Missouri, the manufacture and sale of all alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes."

Governor Hoch, of Kansas—"There are more towns and counties in this State today that are saloonless and jointless than ever before since the law was enacted. Results have been remarkable. In four-fifths of the 105 counties the prohibitory law is as well enforced as other penal statutes."

The Indiana Legislature is already considering nearly a dozen measures affecting the liquor question. (1) A new high license law for the State attracting special interest, and already receiving the endorsement of leading liquor dealers and politicians; (2) another bill proposes to "put upon the saloon keeper the burden of proof of legality of names on remonstrance petitions"; (3) another "making saloon contracts with breweries illegal"; (4) a bill "restricting saloons to incorporated towns and cities, and providing for specially defined limits for saloons in towns and cities"; (5) a bill "to treat all habitual drunkards as insane with special asylums for their treatment, and providing for a term of three years penal confinement for cases which such asylums do not cure."

In Colorado Governor Buchtel recommends the passage of a local option law as the "application of square deal to the saloon."

The Denver Times, January 3, 1907, discussing the question expresses public sentiment in these significant words:

"THE TEMPERANCE QUESTION HAS REACHED THE STAGE IN EVERY STATE WHERE IT REFUSES TO BACK UP AND BE HITCHED, and where heretofore the advocates of local option in the Colorado legislature have introduced their bills and gone down to glorious defeat, this session the result, it is claimed, is to be quite the other way."

"The sentiment is gaining ground that a business that has to have thrown about it all the restraints and protections of the law is a business not respectable enough to exist unrestrained in a civilized community and is making it necessary for the men behind the bung and vat to go slow."

Illinois Legislature—Representative John R. Goden says: "At least three-fourths of the house is new and the most of the new men were elected upon the reform platform to a more or less degree."

"Many of the men who were skillful in killing good legislation are not back, and these things speak well for the future for reformation."

"I have found a goodly number of men in the house who are total abstainers even to the use of tobacco. There has been a marked reform in the number of political jobs given out at this session, the number being cut down at least 25 per cent."

"The three Prohibition members were well received, and were given a place on the appropriation committee, which is considered one of the most important in the chamber. This is a recognition which the Prohibitionists have not had before. The outlook is very promising indeed."

Delaware's Governor in his message discusses the possible passage of a State local option law.

Massachusetts' Governor in his message says the State "is put to serious expense by the liquor traffic" and should receive at least half the saloon license money.

In Iowa and North Carolina strong State amendment campaigns are now in progress, which in the latter State is being enthusiastically led by the Governor himself, Hon. Robert B. Glenn.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal, January 14, 1907, declares that "temperance sentiment is stronger than was ever before known in the legislature," majorities of at least fifteen in the house and four in the senate being conceded to the anti-liquor crowd.

On January 9, in the house Representative Potter introduced a bill "to extend the 'four-mile law' throughout the State." (The bill provides that no liquor shall be sold within four miles of any school house in the State.) A similar bill was also introduced in the senate January 9. Another bill to extend the provisions of the Adams local option law to every city except Memphis has also been introduced.

"The State of Missouri is not going to receive its code of morality from the saloon keepers," is the way the Kansas City Times, on January 9, editorially epitomizes the present legislative situation in this state.

The brewers are excited over Governor Folk's official recommendations which urge additional legislation making law enforcement easier, and extending the local option privileges to St. Louis.

Never before have there been so many party Prohibitionists in legislative office. Their advent marks a new period in the reform.

The effect upon old party legislatures which this handful of Prohibitionists has already made is extraordinary.

The very presence of one or more men who owe no allegiance to the saloon, and represent a party openly pledged to fight it, has at one stroke ended the reign of indifference to and contempt of the temperance question which the old party legislators have for years perpetuated without fear of interruption.

Already the Prohibition-Independent senator in the legislature of New York has startled the long dominant Republican ring of that body with the announcement that he will at once introduce a bill for a State Prohibition constitutional amendment, and at least compel a hearing upon it which will no doubt embarrass the York State Solons, who come from strong temperance districts, and be sure to provoke more agitation of the issue throughout the State than has been known for fifty years.

Hon. Robert L. Bland, Prohibition-Democrat in the West Virginia legislature, has already made good a similar threat, and on Monday, January 14, he offered in the house of delegates a joint resolution providing for an amendment to the State constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

A new fight for a State Prohibition amendment, which is being vigorously advocated by many local papers is also exerting strong influence upon the State lawmakers.

Senator Root has introduced two important measure in the upper house, viz: (1) "A bill requiring packages of liquor to be labeled 'intoxicating liquor' before being consigned for shipment," and (2) "A bill providing that the county of delivery of intoxicating liquors shall be termed the place of sale of such liquors." In the house Representative Hart has introduced "A bill providing a system of local option by counties on the question of granting license to sell intoxicating liquors."

Evanston—City of Homes, Schools and Churches—No Saloons—A recent issue of the Evanston, Ill., Press contained a unique full-page drawing in the form of a beautiful arch-way, representing "The Stones that have built up Evanston of Today and Will Sustain it in the Future," each of which bears the names of the special institutions.

Dispatches From the Firing Line—Of which Chicago's famous suburb is particularly proud.

Evanston's thirty prosperous churches compose the stately sides of the arch, while her schools and university are, of course, conspicuous. The Y. M. C. A. and W. C. T. U. are represented as the capstones of these church pillars upon which rest "Evanston's Homes."

But beneath all as the broad foundation-stone of her prosperity the Press gives prominence to "The Special Act of the Legislature Prohibiting the Sale of Liquors Within Four Miles of the University, Passed in 1855." Such is the disinterested tribute of the leading secular paper of this Prohibition city of 25,000, to the value and beneficent effect of this half-century bulwark against licensed saloonism.

HIGH LICENSE.

F. T. McWhirter, Ph. D.

Everybody sees the evils of the liquor traffic. Even the politician of the perpetuation parties are driven to some new measure in order that the growing demand of the people for a remedy may be met. There can not be any longer indifference. The people are crying out against murder mills, pauper manufactories, and disease breeding institutions called saloons. The burden of increased taxation, the disgrace of divorce records, the brutality of the indescribable crimes in their horrors and atrocities are being more and more traced to the saloon door.

What shall be done? Ultimately prohibition is the only solution—the only logical thing to be accomplished. But the Republican and Democratic parties can not take this step without suicide.

These parties have a working, dominant, constituency and a balance of power which holds within its grasp life or death if its voice is not heeded. The liquor traffic will not permit prohibition and die without pulling down the pillars and in its death destroying both the Republican and Democratic parties.

Hence the alternative of high license is proposed. The liquor traffic knows that its victims, slaves to depraved appetite, will pay the price. The congregating of large numbers in fewer places will increase the treating custom and enlarge the trade. The opportunity by the monopoly under higher license will make possible the attractiveness of the fewer places and young men will be more readily allured. The bribe will push the opposition of the tax-payer who has been deceived into the belief that his burden has been relieved and the politician will have greater reason to overlook law violations, with his hands filled with blood money.

Gamblers, bands, wineroms and clubrooms will swell the coffers of the high-license saloon and lend its proprietor an influence and power never dreamed of by the so called dive keeper.

Some day these inevitable results will be seen by a long patient and slowly awakening people and in the day of vengeance the liquor traffic will die at the hands of the Prohibition party, which knows no compromise and will never lay down its arms until the arch foe of humanity, of God and country has been vanquished.

NO TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION

The liquor men are ever on the alert. Their heavily paid attorneys serve them well. During every session of the State Legislature the liquor men become actively at work for some radical legislation in their favor. Thus they divert the activities of the temperance people from aggressive temperance legislation.

How shrewd they are! The salaried attorneys make it their business to keep up such agitation as will put the temperance people on the defensive.

Instead of the temperance people taking the initiative for aggressive legislation against the liquor business, they find themselves constantly trying to ward off the blows of the liquor men.

We must change this condition.

All can help. Our good men everywhere in Indiana must have their attention brought to this matter; now is the time.

From the pulpit.

From the Sabbath School platform.

From the lecture platform.

In all meetings for civic righteousness.

Through the influence of our press superintendents.

By individual effort. This is a work in which everybody can help, viz:

To cause the good people, men and women, to consider how the liquor men prevent temperance legislation in Indiana. By causing to be widely published statements concerning the bills they will introduce in the Legislature. Thus succeed in scaring the temperance folks, who drop everything else to defeat the work of the liquor men instead of using their energies and efforts to get real temperance legislation. For many years this has been the tactics of the liquor men.

Now is the time to emphasize this condition.

For the Door of Hope some county commissioners are paying a per capita rate for each inmate from their counties. This is fair. All counties will do this when sufficiently informed upon the needs of the Door of Hope. The Indiana Medical College furnishes all medical services besides paying the rent of the building.

The daily support of the Institution must be met by contributions from the county commissioners and from individuals.

February 17 is observed as Frances E. Willard Day in nearly forty countries of the world.

In Indiana every union should make this a great day for the cause.

Public meetings this year everywhere because February 17 comes on Sunday. For literature concerning the life and work of Miss Willard, send to Miss Ruby Gilbert, 915 Silversmith's Building, Chicago, Ill.

Miss Gilbert and her associate, Miss Addie Austin are white ribboners. They now have a fine assortment of temperance literature and biographies of our noted workers.

Send postal today for catalogue and get the material with which to supply those who will take part on your program.

Make this day one for the ingathering of members. Use the W. C. T. U. membership pledge card's without stint. Especially make a plea for honorary members. We need the gentlemen of all ages. We need, and for ultimate success, must have the co-operation of the ministers and earnest christians everywhere.

Miss Frances Willard said: Only the Golden Rule of Christ can bring the Golden Age of Man.

In many places our school buildings are named for illustrious people. This year let us see our influence in every way possible to have school buildings named for Frances Willard. In doing this the wonderful life and character of that lover of humanity will be studied.

For our unions seek the pious women and men of your community. There is always an appeal to such that arouses deepest interest.

We need the help of the praying women and men now in Indiana as never before.

The lack of deep spiritual experience by the mass of our church members and the seeming indifference of many toward the arch enemy of the church and the home, the liquor business makes the need of an increased earnestness and determination to continuous effort among the faithful membership of the greatest importance.

"This One Thing I Will Do" must be the motto of our earnest W. C. T. U. women and girls. Work for total abstinence. Seek opportunity to have the subject of temperance presented from the pulpit, from the Sunday school platform, in the Young People's societies of the church at their important meetings, besides holding frequent evening meetings of the union, with interesting programs. Indiana must be saved from the curse of the open saloon. This must be done by the united efforts of the good people. To be united we must have organization. This need is met by the splendid organization of the W. C. T. U. Distribute copies of the Annual Leaflet to all ministers of the gospel, to all school teachers and to the thinking, earnest leaders of all Young People's societies of the churches.

These Annual Leaflets are little compendiums of information regarding our wonderful organization. They are published by the National W.

C. T. U. Price one cent each, or seventy-five cents per hundred.

Order from Mrs. Harriet W. Brand, National Treasurer, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill.

The Declaration of Principles of the W. C. T. U. should be read at every public meeting held by the union, also published in the W. C. T. U. news columns occasionally.

Logansport, Ind., Jan., 1906.

My Dear Co-workers:

The New Year brings greeting from our beloved National Superintendent of Mercy and I am loth to pigeon-hole such a treasure without first sharing it with The Message. I trust that each Mercy superintendent will ponder it o'er and place it near by for ready reference during the coming year. I did not ask Mrs. Lovell's permission to do this, but I am sure she will pardon my generosity, so consider it a stolen bon-bon, chocolate coated and sweet to the taste. From twenty-one superintendents written, December's mail brought me twelve encouraging responses and I believe there are more to follow.

For cruelty is everywhere,

In what we eat, in what we wear,

In many pleasures dark and fell

When harmless fun would do as well.

Flora Trueblood Neff.

Wyncote, Pa., 1907.

Dear Friend, Mrs. Neff:

I am glad to be able to send you my annual greeting earlier than I did last year, and I am happy to tell you that I can start with a feeling of great hopefulness. Owing to the imperfect reports obtained from local unions, we never get a just idea of the work that is being really done, but there are always indications showing that more work is done than is reported, and results in individual cases are so marked that one cannot fail to thank God and take courage. In fact, success is, and must be our watchword. I have never in my life met any one who expected to fail who was successful, and I have never met any one who had a steady determination to succeed who failed. Dear friend, is it not worth while to succeed in such a work as ours?

I will first speak of the coming printed report. For two years I have not issued any, as the amount of notice it has been receiving seemed to be insufficient to warrant the expense, but this year, as there is a World's W. C. T. U. report, I shall unite it with that of the National and send them to all National and State superintendents. If you care to have more than one copy, will you kindly let me know on receipt of this how many you think you can use, so that I can have some idea of the size of the edition to print.

I am unable to report this year any addition to the number of humane education laws, but I am hoping that constant effort is being made for the development of sentiment favorable to such legislation. The American Humane Association, the federation of humane societies in the United States, of which I am the secretary, is making sentiment toward the enactment of such laws, and I would suggest that in any effort for humane laws you try to obtain the co-operation of any humane society in your State which can be induced to help, thus saving time and money, and avoiding misunderstanding or the introduction of bills which might not be acceptable to all.

Again I must speak of the fact that but little attention is paid by superintendents to the subject of vivisection. This is strictly a moral question, and no superintendent should listen for a moment to arguments which claim that our dumb fellow creatures should be sacrificed or tortured for the possible benefit of humanity. Humanity has no right to benefits, if benefits there ever are, obtained by such means, and it is borne in upon me that we have now reached the time when we should work more vigorously against this special form of wrong. A little more courage would in many instances deliver people from fancied ills. Nervous diseases are largely controllable by the will, and it is so-called diseases of the human nervous system which prompt some of the most dreadful experiments on the nervous systems of animals. But as this is a moral question the above is more a statement of fact than an argument. The only thing to consider is, is it right or wrong to commit cruelty. I shall be glad to send at any time a full assortment of samples of anti-vivisection literature, and I hope that the subject may receive more study and attention among our superintendents than heretofore.

I cannot tell you the great love I have for this department—this work for God, and for the dear women who co-operate with me in it. It is a great comfort to know that some day I may see them face to face, though it may not be in this world. In the meantime my love goes out to them in full measure, and my earnest prayers for their happiness and success. To you, dear friend, as the leader in your State, I send a special and most affectionate message. May God bless you most abundantly this year, and may you feel the comfort of the Holy Spirit always.

Lovingly yours,

MARY F. LOVELL.

The Greentown union is doing a very good work. It consists of forty-eight regulars and five honoraries. Our average attendance is from sixteen to twenty members. November 25, the World's Temperance Sunday, was observed by all the churches.

CLARA M. SEARS,
Treas. W. C. T. U. of Indiana.
Hartsville, Ind., Jan. 21, 1907.

My Dear Sisters:—

I have written to each local and county president of some important things which need our attention at once, but I feel that I want also to say a word through the Message as every woman who wears the white ribbon reads it. It cheers my heart to hear that some of the unions have made good gains since State convention. Some county presidents wrote "We are out for the 100 gain this year," others, Grant for instance, say, "to double," and my heart says hallelujah! Every woman who wears the white ribbon is a constant menace to the saloon. Wears, yes, WEARS it seven days in the week, at home or ABROAD.

I trust every available man and woman in each of your communities have their names on a Suffrage petition, and these petitions have been sent to Mrs. Laura Thompson, Greensburg, Ind., before you read this Message. If you have not done this work, please do it immediately, so we may send up a petition worthy of our great organization and the cause for which we stand.

March 1 is Union Signal Day. Are you planning to send in enough subscriptions to the Signal to make your list equal one for every four (4) members?

A number have written me that they are praying for a leader for a Loyal Legion. Where this condition exists, let's couple along with our prayers, the study of the Legion Manuals on the effect of Alcohol and the Government's relation to the evil and I believe the prayers will be answered. When a woman who loves to work with children becomes familiar with these truths she will be willing to give herself to this work.

The inquiry has come to me, "Does the W. C. T. U. indorse White Ribbon Baking Powder—is it in any way connected with the enterprise?" I want to say to every white ribboner that the W. C. T. U. indorse NONE OF THESE FINANCIAL SCHEMES,—these names have been given to these things thinking possibly to catch the eye and probably the patronage of our women, I suppose.

Praying the baptism of power upon every woman in our ranks, I am yours for service,
CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

The Albany W. C. T. U. has made great gain during the last quarter.

We are fortunate in having for our president, Mrs. Kate Wallar, a woman strong intellectually and spiritually. Mrs. Wallar is also our County president. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley was with us for a parlor meeting and at night gave her famous lecture, "At the Mercy of the State," which was well received. Albany was twice blessed in securing Mrs. Trego for four lectures which awakened a great deal of Temperance zeal among our people who responded with a collection to the amount of $23.90. Two delegates and eight visitors attended the State Convention at Portland and came home with their hearts on fire for the cause of Home and the State. A reception was given at the home of Mrs. Martha Wilson, January 3d, for the nineteen new members who, with one honorary, were received during the September quarter. Our free will offerings for the past quarter amounted to $29.00.

Campbellsburg W. C. T. U., on New Year's night, began a play entitled "Out in the Streets," for the benefit of the union, assisted by members of the Anti-Saloon League. The play was a success and the public received it so well that we have been urged to give it again, which we will do at some future date. We netted $11.30.

W. C. T. U. women make public sentiment. Our Press Superintendents are a wonderful force in every place where they work.

Managing Board of Hadley Industrial School: President, Mrs. Lizzie Harm, Franklin, Ind.; secretary and farm manager, Mrs. Lidia Outland, Upland, Mrs. Mary Hadley Hall, Franklin, Ind.; treasurer, Miss Clara M. Sears, 222 W. 14th street, Anderson, Ind. Friends desiring to send endowment funds to the Hadley Industrial school will send direct to the treasurer, Miss Clara M. Sears, whose address is given above, and the gifts will be credited and promptly receipted.

The W. C. T. U. of Keystone, Indiana, held its first Matron's Silver Medal Contest, Saturday evening, January 12th.

Six contestants took part and were greeted by a large, enthusiastic audience. The medal was won by Mrs. Katie Cochran, the youngest member of the class, a charming matron of twenty.

A choir made up of honorary and acting members of our W. C. T. U. sang several beautiful songs. Our L. T. L. also sang two songs that were highly appreciated by the audience.

Mrs. Dr. Goodin and Mrs. Josephine Walmer, of Bluffton, were present and pleased the audience very much with their words of wisdom and god cheer.

There will be other contests held during the year, which we hope will be as successful as the first.

Yours in the Work,

MRS. O. E. HAGLER, Press Supt.

Miss Hattie Cottingham, president of Bright Union, Dearborn county, was married on January 4th to Mr. Geo. W. McKinstry. The bride is also the very efficient county superintendent of S. T. I. work, and county vice president and will be greatly missed in the work. They will reside in Cincinnati, where Mrs. McKinstry will continue in W. C. T. U. work. The best wishes of Dearborn county write ribboners follows them.

At Monroeville, December 29th, at the home of Rev and Mrs. Martin, the husbands and members of the W. C. T. U. and the honorary members gave a reception to the union, receiving and entertaining their guests in a royal manner. Rev. Martin as master of ceremonies, Mr. Wm. Miller as chef, Dr. Marquardt as head waiter, and Mr. J. W. Meeks presiding at the dish pan, with their corps of willing helpers acquitted themselves with credit and conveyed the impression that they were well versed in the mysteries of the culinary department. They served a very appetizing, three course supper which was thoroughly enjoyed by the ninety-five persons present. The long tables were three times filled and the ladies decided that the gentlemen were quite accomplished cooks.

Not content with showing their skill at serving the banquet, they prepared a musical and literary feast. Mr. Darrell Barnhart presided at the piano, Master Virgil Youse recited "Boys' Rights," "Women of the Past" by Mr. John VanBuskirk was very interesting. Mr. J. C. DeLong gave a short talk on "The Advantages of Equal Suffrages," followed by Rev. Martin on the "Justice of Equal Suffrage." The Eureka quartette furnished several selections.

At the close of the program Mrs. Lucy Yeuse, president of the Boston W. C. T. U., in a few well chosen words thanked the gentlemen in the name of the union for the very pleasant evening which had been thoroughly appreciated. The smiling faces and freedom of those present attested to their enjoyment. A free will offering was received which resulted in seven dollars being added to the treasury of the union. Taken all in all it was a most pleasant and profitable evening; a fitting close of the year's work and an inspiration to the women to work more earnestly and with greater zeal in the year 1907 "For God and Home and Native Land."—Ft. Wayne Journal-Gazette.

A profitable gospel temperance service was held in the Christian church Dec. 16th, Mrs. Wilber Pfaffenberger and Mrs. Smith in charge of an excellent program. A large audience, good collection, hearty welcome from pastor and people, a cordial invitation to come again greatly encouraged the society. Program follows:

Seymour W. C. T. U. held a gospel temperance meeting in the Rockford M. E. church. Mrs. C. R. Hoffman, county, and Mrs. Susan Smith, local, superintendents evangelistic work in charge. The Rockford choir; Ladies' Quartette, Seymour; Misses Carrie and Joy, and Master Sam Smith furnished excellent music. Mrs. Smith's address, "The Wages of Sin" and "God's Gift, Eternal Life," was given close attention. The house was filled. Twenty-two signed the pledge cards. A good collection was given, also a cordial invitation to repeat the visit. The monthly gospel temperance meeting held by the Seymour Union promises good results.

The Hoagland union had a temperance rally on World's Temperance Sunday. A fine program, consisting of songs, addresses, recitations and papers, was given by the members of the Boston and Hoagland unions, assisted by some others. Four new members joined, all having paid their dues. One honorary joined and paid dues.

Mrs. Irene Gard, president of Warren county, writes: Mrs. Trego was in our county and visited the unions. Through her influence and good lectures we had a gain in members. At Roanoke twenty new members. We think we will be safe in saying that we have gained thirty members in all. She is worth having. She reaches hearts. One Drayman said it was worth one dollar to him.

Vincennes W. C. T. U. lost their city missionary by removal. Hereafter we will use our utmost efforts to carry forward some of the work. We are endeavoring to keep up a regular subscription to a fund to be used in promoting the work. Evangelistic work is carried on at the Jail, Orphans' Home and Poor Asylum by the superintendent of each department. Mrs. E. M. Fuller, our recording secretary, solicited funds, purchased an organ and presented it to the Orphans' Home in the name of the W. C. T. U. Dr. Ellis gave us an excellent address on "Woman's Opportunity" at our New Year meeting. There is a large field for temperance work here but the laborers are few. We are praying the Lord of the harvest and making a strong effort to interest more workers.

Mrs. Seth Pease writes: The LaPorte union held a parlor meeting at the home of Mrs. Oscar Parkell January 11th, with a good attendance. Rev. Harmon had charge of the devotionals. Rev. Cox, pastor of the Friends church, led the singing. The program was profitable as well as interesting. A gain of seven was made in membership, two being honorary members. May the good work continue is the prayer of this union.

The Muncie W. C. T. U. feel that we have much to be grateful for and that the Lord is abundantly blessing our efforts. Our service held in the jail on the Sunday preceding Christmas was very impressive and we believe that lasting good will be the result. Prof. Ira McKinney of the Muncie Conservatory of Music, with three students and their instruments, led the singing for us. Rev. Marsh and our own Bro., L. C. Masters, gave very helpful and interesting talks and others who took part were wisely directed. Tears flowed copiously down the hardened faces. Several signed the pledge; some requested our prayers; three, I believe, have recently been converted. Eternity alone will reveal all the good accomplished in these services held every Sabbath afternoon at three o'clock. There were fifty male and five female prisoners, among whom, at the close of the service, were distributed candy and oranges. To each sack of candy our W. C. T. U. text card was tied with a white ribbon. The treat was seemingly highly appreciated, as many expressed their gratitude. It was a touching service and we believe that much good will result from the meeting held in the name of our God.

Miss Birdella Beam, R. F. D. No. 1, Columbus, writes to the editor: "Our State President sent us word that she wanted us to double our membership. We will not stop at that. Our newspaper people are so nice to us that I am sure we are gaining ground by it. I think the local and county press superintendents have an important mission if they would only work. I find the papers are anxious for news. Every few days they telephone me for temperance news. I told some friends I had dedicated our telephone to the temperance cause."

Orinoco W. C. T. U. is a new union, and is in a suburb of Columbus, Bartholomew county, was organized Sept. 18th, 1906, by County President Margaret Collier. We began with six charter members, and now have thirteen with one honorary member; have met twice a month, have given three silver medal contests and had one public meeting, gaining two members. We have a band of faithful workers and are affixing the temperance cause. We have a neat sum in our treasury, from contest work alone. We are anxious to entertain our State Lecturer, Mrs. Stanley, whenever we can have her services. Our officers are: President, Mrs. R. W. Harlowe; vice president, Mrs. Georgia Newton; corresponding secretary, Miss Birdella Beam; recording secretary, Mrs. Ida Hilt; treasurer, Mrs. Lillian Essex.

Resolution presented to the Indianapolis Local Council of Women by Mrs. Martha L. Gipe, president of Marion county W. C. T. U.:

The members of Marion county Women's Christian Temperance Union, numbering several hundred, most of whom are mothers, desire to put themselves on record as being in favor of raising the salary of the public school teachers, not only of our city and county, but of the entire State. But we strongly protest against raising the liquor license to one thousand dollars in order to do this work. We therefore, desire to submit to the Local Council of Women of the city of Indianapolis the following resolution:

Whereas, We, the women of Marion county Woman's Christian Temperance Union, are banded together for the protection of the home, the abolition of the liquor traffic and the triumph of Christ's golden rule in custom and in law, and

Whereas, we believe that each man's habits of life should be an example safe and beneficent for every other man to follow, and

Whereas we believe that a one thousand dollar license would have the effect of making the liquor business respectable, and thus hinder or retard further legislation on this most important subject, and

Whereas, we believe it is not right to enact a law which would compel our broad-minded, large-hearted, capable men and women, who train and educate our children and youth, to derive their living from a fund which deprives many children from securing an education, and is a direct enemy of both the church and the school, we therefore, Resolved, That we agitate and educate against the enactment of a $1,000 liquor license law in our State and request all women, especially mothers, to join us in this movement, and we further recommend that the Local Council of Women shall use its influence in having the men in office, whose duty it is, to see that all fines imposed are collected and that if it is found that this amount is not sufficient to pay our school teachers living wages, that some honorable method be advised whereby they shall receive proper remuneration for their services.

The people of Indiana do not want saloons.

A mother's prayers will bring results.

The little child whose mother dedicated it to God and trains it to serve Him will grow up to honor the mother.

Among the list of states, Indiana is a license state. Here in Indiana we have a law granting the privilege, a license, to sell liquor by the payment of a certain sum of money.

The right in Indiana to sell liquor is sold for a money price. Think of that.

Every man who favors a license law—high or low—is favoring the continuation of the saloon business.

Liquor selling drug stores and liquor selling grocery stores should be classed with the saloons. There are enough good druggists and grocers for our temperance people to patronize and we should do it always in preference to those who sell alcoholic drinks including beer.

Not until in very recent years were women seen drinking in public places in Indianapolis.

A total abstinence pledge signing crusade now in Indiana is what we need. In towns and the smaller cities it could be very effectively done by the churches and the W. C. T. U. co-operating in a house to house canvass, conversing with the home keepers, securing their signatures and leaving cards for those men who could not be seen at their places of business.

This temperance work becomes each month more and more hard to hand, heart to heart struggle. Never has there been such a demand for individual effort and influence as now. What are you doing?

How many young men and young women have signed the pledge since Jan. 1, 1907, through your influence?

In some towns and some cities the temperance agitation is kept up by the W. C. T. U. and others until social drinking is under a ban. In such places the society editors of the daily papers report the entire details of social functions, omitting entirely the account of serving of wine.

This is by request of course, to shield those entertaining from the censure of public opinion. For there is a mighty strong sentiment against women, especially mothers, serving wines or liquors in their homes.

The voices from all classes of society, the wail of submerged souls behind the bars, in sanatoriums, hospitals and almshouses unite in condemnation of the mother who gambles or in other words plays cards for prizes.

RED LETTER DAY AT ELKHART.

A large number of members and friends of the W. C. T. U. together with a delegation of white ribboners from Goshen, met at the home of Mrs. R. C. Travis, Tuesday afternoon to observe "Mothers' Day" which is a World's and National Red Letter day. The rooms were suggestive of the fact, being decorated with red bells, and large and small red hearts. During the short business session, Central Union voted to entertain the State Convention next October, Mrs. J. A. Grant, local superintendent of Purity in Literature and Art, provided a splendid program and introduced as the first number Dr. Ingalls, who gave an able paper on "Pure Food." In regard to law he said, in part, "The subject of 'Pure Food' has only within the last decade worked itself out in any effective legislation. As the Hepburn law is a national law, the national government can only interfere when products are intended for interstate commerce, so it has been necessary for the passage of state laws which have thoroughly aroused the people." He gave a description of many of the so called pure foods and stated that the efforts of the W. C. T. U. along many lines were greatly hindered on account of this deception.

Rev. H. N. Spear spoke at length on the "Lessons Drawn by Children From Impure Bill Boards." He read a portion of the state law bearing upon the subject, which is very stringent. Surely the Christian people, also the people who are morally right, agree with the W. C. T. U. that no amusement performance or exhibition, should be advertised by means of pictorial posters or placards which are lewd, indecent or vulgar or which pictorially represent the commission of or the attempt to commit any crime or bodily violence.

Dr. J. A. Work gave a splendid address on "Medical Temperance." He said, "the physician's sphere is to aid nature. The physician is nature's servant, therefore the physician should be temperate in the use of medicine."

During the meeting Mrs. Styers sweetly sang "Indiana's State Song," also the "White Ribbon" song. After the program a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

REMARKABLE DECISION.

Judge Samuel R. Artman of Lebanon has ruled that the Indiana liquor license law is unconstitutional. This position was first generally proclaimed by the Prohibition candidate for Governor in 1904. It has been held by many fore-thinkers among prohibition workers, but has never found expression in the courts in such explicit ruling as that of Judge Artman. The U. S. Supreme Court has laid down general principles, but it remains for each commonwealth to act from these premises. Every temperance worker should read this opinion. It is destined very soon to be printed in pamphlet form, and, doubtless, Judge Artman will be compelled to heed a growing demand for copies. Already his mail is crowded with congratulations and requests for full copies at the expense of the persons making such requests.

Among his congratulations, A. G. Tobbs of Cincinnati says: "There is great rejoicing over your decision all over the land. I think it is the most important in the country's history."

W. A. Swank, an attorney of Crawfordsville: "It was with a great deal of delight that I read your decision on the liquor traffic license statute."

A. M. Everman, a merchant of Burlington: "I am filled with joy that we have such a high-minded man who knows his duty and, knowing, dare maintain."

Dr. W. E. Shaw of Cincinnati: "I deem your decision epochal, the beginning of a period of wiser dealing with this monstrous parasite."

Alex. Gilmore, a Chicago grocer: "I deem it a duty and a privilege to address you on the subject and state my great appreciation of your just decision."

Church, McCurdy & Sherman, a law firm of Chicago: "We have noticed an account of the opinion rendered by you to the effect, as the newspapers quote you, that the state has no power to license dramshops. We have a great deal of litigation against the dramshops in one form and another, and are very anxious to get a copy of this opinion, and more particularly anxious to have a copy on Monday next. Would you do us the favor, at our expense, to have a copy made and forward to us?"

Ex-Congressman M. D. White: "I wish to congratulate you on your decision."

John S. Maxwell: "Allow me to congratulate you on your courageous ruling. In the face of two generations of established practice and custom in law, to say what has been done so long and so universally can not be legally done, will doubtless win for you much cursing and much blessing and may put yourself in a small class who are ahead of the march of civilization, blazing out the way. But you will be followed and quoted by many another judge and by legislators as the daylight of great reforms broadens. You may be marked off the political calendar by political bosses as unsafe, but your name will be enrolled among those whose memory will be blessed by succeeding generations as the prophet of a great reform."

On the other hand, a narrow editorial of the Indianapolis News shows the influence of liquor advertisements and of mutual interests with brewers and distillers. This editorial is so puerile that we do not deem it worth quoting.

Surely a better day is dawning.

GREAT AWAKENING.

Over two hundred bills touching the liquor traffic were introduced in thirty-three state legislatures within the month of January. Notwithstanding the failure of high license to lessen the iniquity and widespread desolation of the saloon in Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Michigan, Nebraska and Illinois, nevertheless Indiana, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri and Oregon are now making efforts in the same direction. Legislators can not remain ignorant of the damage coming from high license in the face of the increasing demand of the people for the utter overthrow of the saloon. The chief liquor paper, "Mida's Criterion," has this editorial:

About the Only Thing

That can save the saloon in the larger cities is for them to enter into an agreement to a high license and to restricted territory."

The sentiment is growing stronger and ought not to be flagged with the red rag of high license. Such revenue endangers the growth of popular indignation, which would sooner outlaw every dramshop. Then, too, how cunning the device to turn a large per cent. of such revenue to

The Public School Teachers.

Be it said to the credit of our teachers, the

MISS CLARA M. SEARS,
Treasurer W. C. T. U. of Indiana.

large majority stand unalterably opposed to such a barter. Thousands of homes, too, feel the sting of the beast from the liquor dealers that they are helping to educate the children. May we be saved very soon from this disgrace.

The Indiana Legislature has passed the blind tiger act and it has been signed by Governor Hanly and is now

The Law, and Drastic

Enough to force every unlawful joint, club and drug store to the wall and its manager behind prison bars for a second offense. A copy of this law should be in every home, to be used as a club for the serpent when he seeks entrance. Already at Clark's Hill, Petersburg, Danville, Kokomo and many other places the temperance forces are at work. Write to Hon. Sidney K. Gainard, Lagrange, Ind., for a copy of the law. He is its author and at his request several hundred copies have been printed. Send postage for return, as he is swamped with letters and it is asking too much to have him pay on each return. Until about March 10th his address will be care State Senate, Indianapolis.

But, lest we forget, in connection with the great awakening we, as members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union,

And Prohibitionists, are entitled to the largest credit for seed sowing. The thousands of medal contests, the prizes given to young people in high schools and colleges for temperance orations; two-day W. C. T. U. Institutes held annually in nearly every county in Indiana for a period of ten years; the work of the W. C. T. U. press reporters; the public meetings held by the local unions; the county conventions held every autumn with petition work; the campaigns waged over the state by Prohibition candidates who have spoken the heart sentiments of the very best in our commonwealth; the educative power of the Prohibition and W. C. T. U. press; these have done most for the onward march and ultimate triumph of the people over the saloon. The way has been blazed, for the church, which, always conservative, has spoken after the reformer. Later in the procession we find the Anti-Saloon League in its place only a little in advance of the wiser politicians, who see the trend of public demand and are headed against the saloon. But the politician of the wiser kind and the Anti-Saloon League are yet too far in the rear to permit any relaxation of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the Prohibitionist.

Sentiment Has Been Made

And will continue and grow only by the leadership and energy of the forces that have thus far fought the battles. Laws will not enforce themselves, perpetuation policies will be tolerated and liquor bribes accepted just in the ratio of indifference by men and women who stand unalterably opposed to the liquor traffic in the church, in the schools, in the homes, at the BALLOT BOX and in the policy of the Republican and Democratic parties.

Woman suffrage bills were introduced in both houses of the Indiana Legislature and one was killed in the Senate by a vote of 24 to 22. Get names of members who voted no.

Mrs. Helen M. Gougar was responsible for the introduction of these bills and was granted the privilege of addressing the House of Representatives, at which time the Senate adjourned and heard her.

Mrs. Gougar spoke briefly and made unanswerable arguments. She was gracious in manner and speech. By her eloquent presentation of facts she elicited much great applause and favorable comment.

Later: Mrs. Gougar will address a meeting in the House of Representatives on the evening of Feb. 18, which will be largely attended.

The Sabbath Observance "Call to Prayer" leaflets are now ready and can be secured from Mrs. V. F. Cox, Tabor, N. J., or your state superintendent at 10 cents per 100. Let me urge that you order literature early, that it may reach you in good time for your meeting.

Are you interested in this work? If so, do something to help besides wishing "something could be done." Twenty-five 2-cent stamps will bring 500 leaflets, and you cannot estimate what good they may do. Busy? Yes, so are others; but when the day is done, much that you have spent time in doing will count for naught in eternity.

FROM MRS. ROSE PEARCE, STATE SUPT. W. C. T. U. INSTITUTES, CAYUGA, IND.

Dear Sisters: Another year has rolled around and the institute season will soon be with us once more. I hope that every county president is not only thinking but planning and praying for the success of this important department. If we as white ribboners would do our very best work we must be informed in all up-to-date matters concerning the great cause of temperance. True we can read these things in our own homes, and many of us do this, but the gathering together of the membership from all points of the county for conference continuing a day and a half, with discussion upon given subjects, does much to enlarge the outlook, develop the executive ability, instruct new members in the general work and to create sentiment and enthusiasm to push the battle to the front.

We are going to make a great effort this year to bring the national banner back to Indiana, but in order to accomplish this every county president, every local president and all the membership must rally to the help of the department.

The plan for the institute will be found on page 77 of Annual Report. Though you may be familiar with it, may I suggest that you again read it over and refresh your memory?

In some places it is not found that the public will come out to a temperance lecture, and in such cases I would recommend that a social evening be planned, this to be held in a church or a home, as the case may best suit. Let invitations be given to those whom you wish to reach. Have a short program of music, recitations and a few moments for the institute leader to put the work before the people, but be sure to give time for social intercourse, as in this way we reach many people. Let this evening meeting precede the contest evening, if possible.

Correspond with the leader of your section at once, or if the leader's name is not published, then write to me and I will be glad to give you any information.

May the institute season of 1907 be a very fruitful one, and may the blessing of the Heavenly Father be over the White Ribbon Host, is my prayer. Again I ask you to write me for any needed information.

The West Branch Church was filled with white ribboners and their friends Tuesday all day to celebrate the sixteenth anniversary of the organization of the Deer Creek Union. Mrs. Gullie E. Edgerton and a short business session the forenoon was occupied by reports of the world's convention at Boston and the national convention at Hartford, Conn., by Misses Dorothy Luther and Cora Knight, who attended those gatherings. The feature of the afternoon was an essay contest conducted by Mrs. Susannah Ratliff. Following are the contestants and their subjects: Bennett L. Shugart, "The Church vs. the Saloon;" Rev. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, "Signs of the Times;" A. W. Jay, "The Home or the Saloon—Which?" Rev. Harvey Ratliff, "Attitude on the Saloon Question." Mrs. Gibson carried off the honors. The judges were John Q. Thomas, Mrs. N. B. Kelley and Mrs. Jewell. The prize was "Learning to Ride a Bicycle," one of Miss Willard's books. A resolution protesting against the tainted money from the saloon license being used to pay for the education of our children, as proposed by the $1,000 license bill now before the legislature, was adopted by a unanimous vote.

Treasurers! Please begin to collect dues at once. By the time you receive this issue of The Message each county treasurer and local where there are no county organizations will have received the second quarterly blank, and this means one-half of the year is gone. If all dues had been on time we would have held our own last quarter. As it was we fell a little below. Now let us all try and bring up and make a gain over last year this time.

MID-YEAR MEETING OF THE L. T. L.

The mid-year meeting of the Indiana Senior Loyal Temperance Legion met in the reception room of the public library at Marion Feb. 2.

All the state officers, several superintendents and many active workers were present to exchange views and make plans for the coming year.

The program for the state convention, which is to be held in the Methodist church at Elwood July 9, 10 and 11, was formulated and made ready for the printer.

A few of the plans, which were taken from the national plan of work, were as follows: Pay dues for all members; get the greatest possible number of subscriptions for the Monthly Crusader; one hundred and fifty graduates in Indiana toward the two thousand from the nation; the continued effort to place an L. T. L. missionary in Japan, with the change in name from the Japan L. T. L. fund to the Anna A. Gordon fund.

Miss Hillis, the state president, and also one of the national lecturers, has agreed to spend three months, beginning with March, in field work for Indiana. We are expecting her to do wonderful things toward the upbuilding of our cause in Indiana.

The coming convention promises to one of great help to the workers. We expect to have Miss Margaret Wintinger, national L. T. L. secretary; Miss Addie Austin, representative of the Temperance Publishing House, and several of the state W. C. T. U. officers with us. They will all have a place on the program.

HARRIETT M. STOCKTON,
State Supt. of Press.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

The second quarter of our L. T. L. year has passed and only nine legions sent in any report. Will not all superintendents of legions who did not report December 25 please send same to Mrs. Mix at once? And should there be any of you who read this article who have not reported since our June convention please send report for the first six months. Do not include anything since December 25, as that should come in the third quarter's report. Please be assured, dear co-worker, that this is of utmost importance and well worth all the effort it may cost you.

Our Joy Bells have been omitted from necessity, the explanation of which is brief—worn out duplicator. We had hoped we could make a duplicator do our work, but it is incompetent for the vast amount of work Mrs. Mix and I want to do for the legion. The expense of refilling the duplicator is too great to be kept up. It is our opinion, after some experience and investigation, that the most economical and satisfactory arrangement would be the purchase of a good mimeograph, and in the January "Extra" you have read our request. Have you yet sent in any money contribution? If not, will you not please do so at once?

Of the national plans given in the January Message, let us, in Indiana, make an especial effort to follow these—1. A. 25,000 Crusader Monthly subscription list. Our list now is lower than a year ago. That is not progress and we cannot afford to lose ground along any line. 2. A paid membership in Indiana of 3,000. We have more than 2,200 enrolled members in the state now. But we have never paid dues for 2,000 yet. Just think for a moment what it would mean to our state work if we had from $100 to $150 for our work in Indiana. Will you not please give this a little deep, earnest thought and then collect dues from all your legioners and begin this at once? And do not forget that both the 11 cents undergraduate and 26 cents graduate dues are to go to state L. T. L. treasurer, Mr. Nathan Leufestey, 625 West Fourth street, Marion. 3. Continued contribution to the Anna A. Gordon fund (missionary fund). Only about seven legions made any contribution last year. Not one of these will fall below the gift of last year and those who did nothing at all last year should arrange some gift for this year. 4. As many of our girls as will do so, to become active members of their local W. C. T. U. 5. Development of our workers through the L. T. L. Correspondence Training School. 6. Formation of L. T. L. normal classes in the W. C. T. U. 7. Training of senior legioners for service in the junior legion. I know of one junior legion in the state that has been abandoned for lack of leader, and yet there is a senior legion in that city. Let us remember our own training is to fit us to help others, and that it is so much easier to grow up good than to break wrong habits once formed. So a long, steady pull altogether, nothing fearing, for He who is our leader never yet met defeat. Yours for a larger success, Kokomo, Ind.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Dear Sisters: The holiday festivities are over, and we again settle down to the regular routine of work and responsibility. I will give you a few items from the Hadley Industrial School. Since the convention we have changed farmers. As we told you at the convention, Mr. Hadley did not want the care of the farm longer, so we have hired Mr. Frank Nelson, who not long since was a student at Purdue, to do the farm work next year. He began work in December. He and his wife and baby live in the house. He seems to be the man we have needed for some time. I tell you it was very hard for the superintendent and matron to care for the furnace through the winter, besides caring for the stock, etc. We have a new girl in the school, which makes eleven at home and two in Franklin high school. We can accommodate some more girls now, as there have been several placed in permanent homes during the summer. Since the convention Miss Turner resigned and Miss Lesley has been reinstated as superintendent, Mrs. Nelson, the farmer's wife, assisting.

It has been thirteen years since we took charge of Hadley Home. There has been wear and tear on the buildings. We have been in debt and "hard run" and have not kept them in good repair. Now I feel that we ought to revitalize the wood work of the rooms most used, also the front entrance. The kitchen flue should be higher. The kitchen is full of smoke the greater part of the winter. The second story veranda floor is unsafe, the floor having rotted. The large hall floors should all be oiled. There is entirely too much drudge work for two women and small girls, for we have but one large girl in the school and she is not old enough to scrub large halls, stairways, etc. Sisters, I don't think we ought to expect so much work, especially of the kind they have to do, of such small girls. We must make the housework easier by making the floors in a better shape somehow. Then the laundry work is too hard, for their washing machines have long since given out. Our bedsteads need enameling, and new wire springs for them. They have been in constant use for thirteen years. Just think how yours would look in that time if they had not been enameled or polished. We need some more carpets. The most of ours are very much worn. Our lounge in the sitting room is worn out, and we have only a very few rockers—not enough for our company any more. We have but two good table cloths and a very few napkins. Not enough large cooking stews and kettles. We need a good teakettle that will pour without taking so much time; large dippers and good buckets; small dressers for bed rooms, and hall lamps. The writer nearly fell down the stairways several times groping through the darkness to find the way to the dining room. All these and many other things it takes to keep our school in a fit condition to make good housekeepers and good-tempered, orderly women of our girls. Environments have much to do with the moral training of children. No one likes to work when everything is out of repair and doesn't look much better when she has done her best to make it look well. We are proud of this institution. It has done much good in the world already, and if managed right will do more good in the future than ever before. We are very thankful for help and material already received, but our needs are many. We would that every Union would help a little and the burden would be light.

The call for the mid-year executive meeting to be held at Marion, Ind., April 2d and 3d. First session will be held at 2 p. m. on Tuesday, April 2d. The members will be entertained for supper, lodging and breakfast by the Marion ladies. A good noon lunch can be procured at the restaurant for 20 cents. The executive is composed of the five general officers, two branch secretaries, the county presidents, the board of Hadley school and editor of Message. A full delegation is desired.

CULLA J. VAYHINGER, Pres.

FROM ASSOCIATED PROHIBITION PRESS.

Minnesota: The estimated cost to the liquor traffic of the Sunday closing in Minneapolis is $1,000,000. A liquor lobbyist said regarding the county local option bill: "This is the stiffest proposition we have been up against in this State. If we could be dead sure of putting it on the bum for $500,000, it would be cheap."

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has just enjoyed its first "dry" Sunday in many years. The mayor is a Democrat. Whether the mayor is at heart a Prohibitionist, is not known, but his venerable mother is, and she is also president of the local W. C. T. U.

Mayor Gray, of Kansas City, Kansas, has reduced the police force in that city down to eighteen—only one-half are on duty at a time. No joints, no police needed.

The Supreme Court of Wisconsin has just decided that the license of any saloon may be revoked for any infraction of the liquor laws. In case a violation of such law is not immediately followed by the revocation of the license in question, the city council may be mandamus and impeached for malfeasance.

The Wine and Spirit News gives its own case away by reporting the fact that a leading industry of Detroit recently found that on one day out of 125 checks returned to its office 72 had been cashed in saloons; on another day 54 checks out of 93 came from the rumshop; on a third day 44 out of 87. These checks covered a total of $18,000. The saloon doesn't do that for fun, nor for philanthropic purposes.

"Will Missouri Go Dry?" is the headline in a double-leaded news spread on the first page of the Kansas City Star, Feb. 10th. Prohibitionists, led by Chairman Stokes, are startling the beer-whisky politics of the State of Folk, with a campaign for Constitutional State Prohibition, which is striking a big popular response. Brewer Busch's friends are said to be mighty scared at the outlook.

The Sunday School Times in its issue of Feb. 9th, makes pointed and fearless editorial reply to a reader who asserted that one of its recent articles "greatly insulted every Christian man and woman in this country," because it put the question, "Who Keeps the Saloon Open," square up against the license voting church members. A physician in Nebraska does not seem to recognize this truth when he writes:

"In your World's Temperance issue you have, in my judgment, greatly insulted every Christian man and woman in this country. When you give the prize for the best temperance illustration to the man who assumes to answer the question, 'Who Keeps the Saloons Open?' You make it appear that you endorse his sentiment when he said, in effect, that the church and church members keep them open. I am well aware that this sentiment has been preached up and down the land by so-called temperance reformers and some light-weight preachers; but it is false, and an infamous slander upon the church of Christ, and seems to me absolutely without excuse.

"Only a moment's thought should convince every person that it is the drinking element in society which keeps the saloon open, and doubtless it is the Devil in that element which dominates it. Even if all Christians were to combine in a solid vote to close the saloons and prevent drinking, it could not be done, because the vast majority of men, who are the voters, drink more or less freely whether there are saloons in the community or not.

"Let us in the interest of true temperance teach the truth that the drunkard makes himself such, and it is not the Christians who fail to do their duty, nor yet the saloonkeeper, who is responsible."

The Times' editor's reply:

"Every man is responsible to God for the duty of making the world a better place to live in. Every man is responsible to God for the duty of removing stumbling-blocks from his brother's path. And the nearer to God a man lives, the heavier becomes his responsibilities for his fellows; that is one of the rewards of duty done.

"The man who is strong has the duty and privilege of helping those who are weak to become strong. The man who is sober has the duty and privilege of helping to save the drunkard from his drunkenness. Even some saloon-keepers recognize this duty, when they refuse to sell liquor to the men who have 'had enough.' Shall the Christian church fail to take as high ground as the saloon-keeper who, in this faulty way, is at least reaching out toward the truth that he is his brother's keeper?

"D. L. Moody once said that the world had yet to know the power of a completely consecrated church; an aroused church, conscious of the Power within its grasp, awakened to its responsibilities for the world.

"It is the church of Christ that is responsible for heathendom abroad and at home, heathendom in the saloon, and in politics, and in business, and within the church itself.

"The Church first, saloon-keepers second, the weakened drinking-man third, would seem to be a fair setting down of the order of responsibility for the existence of the particular form of temptation that makes drunkenness easy in every Christian land.

"It is true that every soul alone is responsible for itself before God for the acceptance or rejection of God's proffered salvation; but it is not true that the tempted man will be held responsible for the uninvited attacks of temptation which stronger men ought to have kept for him. For that failure, those who make up the Christian church will have to answer."

The North American Review has become a whole-hearted champion of equal suffrage for men and women. Any one who has not read it should look up the Review's fortnightly issue of December 21 and read and save for future reference the splendid editorial (pp. 1333-1336) entitled "Good Women a Majority."

The Georgian, the new six-months-old daily newspaper of Atlanta, Ga., edited by John Temple Graves, is proving to the world that a great metropolitan journal can be successfully published without liquor advertising. Nearly 400 miles of paper weighing eight tons was required to print one recent issue of the new enterprise.

The Chicago Tribune is giving more and more news space to the Prohibition reform. A recent issue contained a news spread of the progress of Prohibition in Kentucky, illustrated with a wet and dry map of the whole State.

Matthias Kimball, of New Hampshire, is the first Prohibition member of the Granite State Legislature. He was nominated by the Prohibitionists, endorsed by the Democrats and triumphantly elected from the Guilford district.

New Hampshire is the Tenth State with Prohibition members of their Legislatures. The others are Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Illinois, Minnesota, Washington and Florida.

Grand Master Kendrick has issued an order prohibiting intoxicants in the Masonic Temple, Philadelphia. A liquor dealer is not accepted as a Mason in Georgia.

The Oklahoma W. C. T. U. presented a petition for State Prohibition signed by 15,000 citizens to the Constitutional Convention. Mrs. Abbie B. Hillerman, President of the Oklahoma W. C. T. U., thus epitomizes the situation:

"We have won a great victory for Prohibition. After a twelve hours' debate by the ablest men of the Constitutional Convention, it was decided by an overwhelming majority, that we should have Constitutional Prohibition for the whole new commonwealth for twenty-one years. Under the terms of the enabling act—with stronger provisions for its enforcement.

"This decision is to be submitted to the people as a separate proposition and voted upon at the same time as the Constitution. If it receives a majority vote it then becomes a part of the Constitution.

"The Chairman of the Liquor Committee, Mr. Luke Roberts, led the debate for the Prohibitionists. He was ably supported by a number of others whose record that day will make one of the bright pages of our new State's history."

The President has been sending an unusual number of messages to Congress. And of course, you have read them. But do you recall a single sentence in any of them referring to the debauching influence of the liquor traffic?—Epworth Herald, February 2, 1907.

Just as the whole Nation is becoming aroused against drink as never before in its history, a most significant event transpired in Pittsburgh, where on January 30 and 31, 1907, at an inter-church conference, in which official temperance leaders of sixteen great denominations participated, the plans were discussed and adopted for The organization of a National Inter-Church Temperance Federation of all the churches in America, to carry on a unified, practical and persistent campaign for the final overthrow of the rum demon in the United States. The denominations whose temperance leaders participated at Pittsburgh, represent an aggregate strength of more than 15,000,000 communicants.

Judge Ben. E. Lindsay, of Denver, Col., says: "As a judge I have faced the woes, the trials, the miseries, and broken homes of society caused only by a want of a proper solution of this problem of problems. Thousands and thousands of homes have been broken up, caused by the traffic in intoxicants. I have divorced four thousand people. I have tried no less than 6,000 children in the past six years. This lamentable social condition is traceable in a large degree to the legalized saloon."

The Brewers of the United States are in open rebellion against the State and local government under which 33,000,000 people are now living and half the area of the nation included. This is no mere assertion. From the rapidly growing mass of data in proof of it half-a-dozen startling facts are at once evident:

1. In Congress the brewers have for almost a decade held up and prevented the enactment of legislation giving Prohibition States and lesser districts the simple right of self-protection from the invasion of liquor-agents bent on defying the people's will under cover of these unmodified inter-state regulations.

Congress could—and would—change this situation at any session in five minutes time, were it not for the beer lobby, which masquerades in Washington under the high-sounding title of the "German-American Alliance," with a corps of legal advisers," headed by "$15,000 "Special Attorney Hough, of St. Louis, of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealer's Association.

The following is an excerpt of the speech made in the Minnesota Senate by a Prohibition member, the Hon. —, in nominating W. J. Dean, of Minneapolis, for United States Senator:

"We hold and you know it to be a fact, that it is wrong to license a traffic that breeds idiots, paupers, lunatics, epileptics, and casts them upon society to be supported by decent, honest and industrious people.

"We hold it to be wrong to license a traffic that increases our taxes by creating a demand for jails, penitentiaries, hospitals, asylums, orphanages, reformatories, police and criminal courts.

"We hold it to be wrong to maintain a national quarantine against dependent criminal classes from abroad, and at the same time license 250,000 saloon-keepers to manufacture criminal and dependent classes in our own land; and this is why I nominate a candidate who is heart and soul in harmony with these principles of ours.

"I have the honor to name a gentleman who is a very good man. He has given hundreds of dollars yearly for temperance work and the protection of the home against the saloon. He is a good business man. He is a patriot and a philanthropist and one of God's noblemen. I have great honor in nominating for the office of United States Senator, W. J. Dean, of Minneapolis, and I shall, when the roll is called, cast my vote for him."

Louisville, Ky., has a solid mile of wholesale whisky houses, but ninety-five counties of the Blue Grass State have voted to bar their wares from the people, on the ground that it is poison and dangerous to public welfare.

Mayor Waterhouse, of Pasadena, Cal., thus sums up the results of Prohibition in that noted Pacific coast city: "No license has caused more people to make their home in Pasadena than any other one thing."

The Saturday Evening Post asserts in a recent editorial that "The wise men of the United States Senate have learned that rule number one of successful political continuation is to heed instantly, any movement that has the women and the churches back of it." We wish this were exactly the facts.

Three big wineless public functions all within the past fortnight—in Pennsylvania, Delaware and Colorado. In Delaware it was the monster banquet given by United States Senator-elect Richardson, on January 29th, to the members of the State Legislature. In Colorado it was Governor Buchtel's banquet at Hotel Savoy, Denver, January 31st, to 300 members of the State Assembly and officials. In Pennsylvania it was the Philopatrian Society's annual ball at the Academy of Music, February 11th, at which Governor Stuart, Mayor Weaver, and more than 600 leading citizens were the guests of honor.

Prohibition for the District of Columbia is just now the slogan of a thoroughly organized movement at Washington, which is backing Congressman A. R. Webber's bill to abolish the drink trade in the Nation's capital city. Rallies are being held in all parts of the city, and a hearing on the bill scheduled before the House District Committee, Thursday a. m., Feb. 14, 1907, received great attention. The press dispatches tell of a thousand temperance people of Washington city headed by our own splendid Mrs. Clinton B. Smith marching to the Capitol Building, while only about fifty people could get into the committee room, the others either stood near by or marched through the halls, frequently passing the committee room door, thus lending the influence and moral support of their presence during the hearing. The representative for the liquor interests said in a speech that prohibition was a failure, mentioning the Tennessee law and stating that Neal Dow, the father of Prohibition in Maine, had said before his death that he was mistaken, etc. To this last statement there was a chorus of objections and regarding the Tennessee condition. Representative Sims, of Tennessee, a member of the committee, stated in strong language that the gentleman did not know what he was talking about, and spoke emphatically of the favor with which the law was regarded and of its excellent results.

With usual unfriendliness, some of the dispatches indicate that this great number of temperance people who went to the capitol building were not orderly, etc. We know Mrs. Clinton B. Smith—a lady of unusually strong personality, culture and refinement. She was invited to assist President and Mrs. McKinley, and the wives of the cabinet members in receiving the delegates who attended the National W. C. T. U. convention held in Washington city in 1900. At the close of the reception Mrs. McKinley, as a token of esteem, presented her with a beautiful bouquet of roses. Under the able leadership of Mrs. Smith the District W. C. T. U. has accomplished much, and the now unfriendly press will eventually accord her a place as one of the noble Christian women of high social position, who have used all her powers for the uplift of humanity.

The Deer Creek W. C. T. U. celebrated their sixteenth anniversary at West Branch February 5, 1907, with an all-day meeting, a full house and keen interest. After a short business session in the morning there was an interesting Bible reading by Sallie S. Edgerton and reports of world's and national conventions by Miss Dorothy Luther of Fairmount and Miss Clara Knight of Back Creek. The feature of the afternoon was a contest in essay, conducted by Susannah Ratliff, with the following contestants: Mattie C. Gibson, "Signs of the Times;" Rev. Harvey Ratliff, "Attitude on the Saloon Question;" Arthur W. Jay, "The Home or the Saloon—Which?" Bennett L. Shugart, "The Church vs. the Saloon." Mrs. Gibson received the prize, one of Miss Willard's books. The meeting voiced by resolution its united opposition to the pending high license bill. Music by Florence Shugart, Nannie Mart and Eva Malott. Irma Smith gave a pleasing reading, as did also little Delane Kelley. This union is aggressively active and financially prosperous.

GULIE E. SHUGART.

ELKHART PRESS MEETING.

The W. C. T. U. was well represented at the home of the president, Mrs. H. Millard, Tuesday afternoon. After a short business session, the local press superintendent took charge of the press program. The motto hymn of the W. C. T. U. was sung and then each lady responded to roll call with a press quotation.

Frances E. Willard Settlement (incorporated), 24 South Russell street, Boston, Mass. Under the auspices of the Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Massachusetts. This corporation is constituted for the purpose of providing, maintaining and supporting a home or homes for young working women or women earning very low salaries, or those training for self-support who need temporary aid, and helping in any possible way those who are strangers and need assistance; also establishing, maintaining and supporting a settlement for the social, educational and moral enlightenment and training of those with whom it comes in contact.

Mooresville W. C. T. U. Since our union was organized in October, 1905, we have been making steady gains. We have gained six new members and the interest in the union is greater than was known here. We held a silver medal contest, with a class of seven girls and one boy. It was a success in every way. We have arranged to hold a contest in each of our four churches. In this way we hope to interest the children of the Sunday Schools in the temperance cause. We are making a great effort to secure new members from each of the different churches. At each of our regular meetings we have a short program and invite those who are not members. We find that if we can once get the women interested it is no trouble to get them to become members. We are planning a full program for our next meeting and intend to invite the Brooklyn Union which has disbanded. Refreshments will be served. We are trying to get Brooklyn to reorganize or place their membership with us. We are only five miles distant, with the electric cars to go on, which will add to the pleasure of duty.

VIOLA R. HARVEY.

Colfax Avenue Union of South Bend gave a well attended "thimble" Wednesday afternoon, January 23, at the home of Mrs. Axtell. The program was in charge of Mrs. Wert, superintendent of mothers' meetings. The program was on "Obedience" and opened with an excellent paper by Mrs. Collins. Helpful talks were also given by Mrs. C. C. Beyrer, Mrs. Cissue and Mrs. Ireland and readings by Mesdames Welton and Axtell. Vocal and instrumental music and light refreshments added to the sociability of the occasion. The generous silver offering will be used as a fund for the L. T. L. About seventy-five ladies were present.

FIELD NEWS

The Anderson union met at the home of Mrs. W. W. Leib Wednesday afternoon. The county president, Mrs. Retta Jones, was present and spoke interestingly on the work of the W. C. T. U., after which followed the election of officers: President, Mrs. W. W. Leib, 1114 Jackson street; vice president, Mrs. A. H. Sears, 139 West Ninth street; secretary, Mrs. Mary McDaniel, 1642 Ohio avenue; treasurer, Mrs. McNamee, corner Twenty-third and East Lynne streets. After appointment of superintendents of departments light refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed by all present.

The Covington W. C. T. U. secured the services of Mrs. Trego for January 17 and 18. On the first night she had a good crowd in the Christian church. Her lecture was well received by every one. On Friday afternoon she gave a talk to women, explaining the work of the W. C. T. U., which resulted in twelve ladies becoming members, besides two honoraries. On Friday night her illustrated lecture was fine. The house would have been crowded had it not been for a terrible rain, which flooded the streets. We want Mrs. Trego again.

The Indianapolis Frances Willard W. C. T. U. celebrated their eighth anniversary at the home of the president, Mrs. Frances Williams, 1334 North Illinois street. The following program was given: Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of the Central Union read an excellent paper. It was the summing up of the work completed during the year of 1906 and then she read the history of the union from the time of the organization up until the present day. Mrs. Hathaway gave a recitation and Mrs. Gray told of her early experience in a temperance Sabbath School and her work at the Door of Hope. Misses Marie Wilson and Ruth Geyer gave recitations. The program was followed by a social hour.

Greentown Union held a meeting with Mrs. Kightlinger, who was soon to move away. The president was in the chair and eighteen members and five visitors present. A solemn devotional hour was enjoyed. "Non-Alcoholic Medication" was the subject in charge of Mrs. Emma Garber. Some very interesting facts were presented. The ladies had brought baskets of lunch and a sumptuous meal was served. Mrs. Kightlinger had served as president. Her loyalty, devotion and splendid ability were greatly appreciated by her comrades. As a token of their esteem, Mrs. Wooten, in well chosen words, presented a life-size picture of Miss Frances Willard to Mrs. Kightlinger, who accepted graciously and with feeling. Each person present was presented with a souvenir book mark.

Elkhart W. C. T. U. held a scientific meeting New Year's afternoon. At the close of the meeting a number of Goshen ladies, together with a company of white ribboners, led by Rev. H. N. Spear of the Baptist church and Dr. J. A. Work, went to the Elkhart Amusement Parlor, or Penny Arcade, and began an inspection of the pictures. Nearly all were of a degrading class, a scene from the French play, "Sappho," being one of the worst. After some effort on our part the mayor made his appearance. When he looked at the pictures he was thoroughly disgusted and put the manager to the test. At first the fellow put up a rather hard fight, but the mayor gave him the law and told him he must remove those pictures. As a result the manager promised to do so. While some of the pictures have been taken out, there are others that the W. C. T. U. are looking after.

The W. C. T. U. and L. T. L. of Keystone, Ind., met at the M. P. church Sunday afternoon, February 17, and held a meeting in memory of Frances E. Willard and Susan B. Anthony. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Sabrima Black, L. T. L. superintendent, and the devotional service was conducted by Sister Ella Seibert, pastor of the M. P. church, after which a well prepared literary and musical program was given by various members of the two local temperance organizations. At the close of this program Mrs. Morgan, who for many years has been a W. C. T. U. worker in Nebraska, gave an excellent address, which was very much appreciated by all present. There were present seventy-five members and fifty visitors. One new member was secured. The collection, which was $1.26, will be given to the Frances E. Willard memorial fund.

MRS. O. E. HAGLER,

Press Supt.

The Lafayette W. C. T. U. held a memorial service for Frances E. Willard at the home of Mrs. C. C. Robinson at 2:30 p. m., Mrs. A. L. Green presiding. The exercises began by reciting the 23d Psalm, after which Mrs. J. E. Chamberlin offered prayer. A short program opened with a solo by Miss Anna Robinson. "The Flower of Temperance Chivalry—Frances E. Willard," was read by Mrs. H. H. Moore. Miss Lucille Brady gave instrumental numbers upon the piano. Miss Henrietta Meacham and two little loyal legioners, Lewis Keilin and Willard Greene, recited pleasing selections. Mrs. C. C. Robinson read our national president's letter, urging the observance of Miss Willard's memorial day. In this way we not only commemorate her grand life and noble work, but in reviewing it we gather inspiration for our own effort in the cause she so bravely championed. At these meetings the free-will offering is devoted to organizing new unions throughout the state and nation. Refreshments were served at the close of this pleasant and profitable meeting.

Two Days W. C. T. U. Institutes held annually in nearly every county in Indiana for a period of ten years, the work of the W. C. T. U. press reporters, the public meetings held by the local unions, the county conventions held every autumn combined with petition work.

Fountain City Union begins the year 1907 with new headquarters in the central part of town. Rooms have been fitted up for W. C. T. U. and L. T. L. meetings, and preparations are under way for a library and reading room. Much interest was taken in the suffrage petitions. We have here a regular little Knight of the Twentieth Century. Roswell Huff, an eleven-year-old boy, who secured the signatures of 84 men and 44 women to the petitions. Many new women came into our union last year and are making valuable members.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mr. Philetus Martin of Liberty died January 4, after a long and painful illness. He was a staunch friend and brother of the W. C. T. U. We need him and many more like him. His wife our dear Mrs. Ella E. Martin, is left to mourn his loss. May God bless and keep her.

Mrs. Emma S. Baker of the Argos Union died in the hospital at Indianapolis January 15. She had been a loyal, devoted member of this union for seven years and her cherry helpfulness will be missed indeed.

Lafayette Central Union is sorely bereaved in the death of Mrs. Souder, who went home Feb. 12. While health permitted she was an efficient, earnest worker.

She leaves a husband and two sons just merging into manhood. These have our heartfelt sympathy.

PRESS DEPARTMENT.

Dear Press Workers: Our national press superintendent urges constant and effective work upon the local superintendents, for in their hands lies much of our success or failure. She also urges regular meetings, many public and parlor meetings in the interest of the department this year. That is a splendid way to interest outsiders, and last, but by no means least, let the women keep account of all work done so that it can be reported at the end of the year.

I have a new supply of press leaflets and will gladly supply any who will ask for them. They will help you in your work, I am sure, so send me a card with your name and address and I will send leaflets at once. Time is precious, dear ones, and we must improve it if we succeed.

I am sorry that the county superintendents have not done as I asked them to in the January message, but it is not too late yet. If I can help you, please write me.

Yours for success,

LAURA CAMMACK.

LORD'S DAY WEEK—APRIL 7-14, 1907.

Call to Prayer and Effort.

We gratefully acknowledge the place given to "Lord's Day Week" of recent years throughout Christendom. In issuing this call for a still more general use of Lord's Day Week in 1907, we recognize as causes for gratitude to God and sources of encouragement the following evidences of progress during the year 1906:

In the United States—The action of Congress in closing absolutely the gates of the Jamestown Exposition on the Lord's day.

The organization of several state Sabbath associations.

Sunday excursions have been altogether discontinued on Western railways covering 25,000 miles of road.

New Jersey has enacted a law which has closed the saloons on Sunday.

An extensive movement in very many of the states toward a more thorough enforcement of existing Sunday laws.

In Great Britain—Twenty thousand sermons were preached on an appointed Sunday at the request of the lay movement for Sunday observance.

Canada—The year in Canada has been marked by the passing of a national Lord's day act, which is probably the most thorough-going law on the statute books of any nation.

France—After more than a century of no Sunday law and experience of the holiday Sunday, the French Senate and Chamber of Deputies on July 5, 1906, passed a very thorough-going Sunday rest law at the request of the labor bodies, as did Spain two years ago and Belgium one year ago.

Argentina passed a law in 1906 similar to that of France. It is still more remarkable that ancient, conservative and heathen China has in the same year recognized by imperial edict, as Japan did thirty years ago, the Sabbath of Christian nations as a legal holiday.

Suggestions for the Observance of Lord's Day Week.

We would respectfully suggest (1) That pastors preach sermons on April 7th or 14th, pressing the claims of the Lord's Day on all Christian people, urging consistent conduct, persevering prayer, enthusiastic endeavor and generous giving in the interests of a better observance of the Lord's Day.

That prayer meetings, Young People's societies, Sunday Schools, Woman's Christian Temperance Unions and other church organizations devote a meeting to the subject.

That union platform meetings be held wherever it is possible to arouse public interest.

Let us work along educational, legislative and moral suasion lines for the preservation and better observance of the Lord's Day. These should be broad enough to unite all Christian churches and labor organizations. The Christian forces must either unite to defend or permanently lose the Lord's Day. We respectfully invite the press and pulpit everywhere to give circulation to these facts and suggestions and to co-operate for the subject humbly, prayerfully sought, namely, the preservation in all its sanctity of the "Pearl of Days, brightest jewel in the week's coronet."

Signed by the secretaries of the Sabbath Observance Association of the United States and Canada.

KATHRYN W. HOLLER,
State Supt.

Mrs. Retta Jones writes:

Feb. 6th I visited Chandler, held two meetings and organized a union with nine members. Mrs. Alice Hetzel was made president. Feb. 7th I held two meetings at Newburg and organized with ten members. President, Mrs. Mary Purdie. Feb. 8th, after two meetings held in Boonville, we organized with seven women. Their president is Mrs. George Trimble.

Every one was most kind to me and the ministers were unusually cordial, two of them calling upon us at our place of entertainment and a third one making an earnest plea for organization when he thought the women did not give their names fast enough. They know so little of our work, although there have been unions there (in that county) long ago. I believe if a good worker were sent there for about two weeks much good could be accomplished, and no one need fear to go, for the people are hospitality itself.

Dear Sunday School Workers:

The quarterly temperance lessons of the International S. S. Lesson series are announced by the national superintendent in a printed circular which embodies also the temperance topic suggested by each lesson and program points.

Lesson 1 appears March 24. Title: "The Woes of Drunkenness." Golden Text: Isaiah 28:7-13. Temperance Topic: "The Scourge of Intemperance—How Overcome It?" The first temperance Sunday is so near to the birthday of Neal Dow (March 20) that it may well be made a "Neal Dow Day" in the Sunday School. The program points suggested are a character study of Hon. Neal Dow, the "Father of Prohibition." Prohibition facts stated and victories noted. The special literature provided by the national superintendent includes an outline program for superintendents, a responsive reading on "The Bible and Prohibition," a new blackboard illustrating the thought, "Character is ruined by Intemperance and Impurity," three new envelope leaflets, two gem leaflets, the regular quarterly temperance leaflets and two new four-page leaflets, "Character Sketch of Neal Dow" and Temperance Truth, illustrated (No. 1). The temperance song and recitations selected will be helpful.

The second quarterly temperance lesson, June 30, is entitled "Temperance Lesson." The Golden Text is found in Rom. 14:21. Lesson Text, I Cor. 10:23-33. The temperance topic announced is "Paul's Principle of Temperance." The law of liberty is the law of love. The second temperance Sunday is designated as "Anti-Cigarette Day" by our national superintendent of Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. Ingalls, and anti-tobacco pledge signing is recommended. It is also patriotic Sunday—the Sunday previous to the Fourth of July—and the program should include patriotic exercises. The Quarterly Budget will contain the regular publications of the department and new anti-cigarette literature and patriotic exercises.

The third quarterly Temperance appears August 11. Title: "The Sin of Nadab and Abihu." Golden Text: Prov. 20:1. The lesson text is found in Leviticus 10:1-11. This temperance Sunday will mark the completion of a Sunday School pledge-signing campaign, plans for which will appear in a printed circular sent out by the national superintendent. New literature for use in the canvass for pledge signers will be found in the department "Budget." The temperance topic of the day is: "Intemperance, the Great Destroyer—Pitfalls for the Youth." The program points include temperance illustrations from real life.

The fourth quarterly lesson is given for World's Temperance Sunday, which occurs this year on November 24. The lesson is given the title, "World's Temperance Sunday." Golden Text: Romans 14:13. Lesson Text: Romans 14:12-23. Temperance topic suggested: "Bible Principles which prove that Total Abstinence is a Christian Duty." World's Temperance Sunday is the annual temperance rally day for the Sunday Schools. It should be by a special temperance program in the Sunday Schools and by rallies, mass meetings, concerts, etc. Short addresses on "Christian Patriotism," "Civic Righteousness" and "Christian Citizenship" should be given and pledge-signing conducted. New literature and programs will be furnished for the work on World's Temperance Sunday. A new leaflet sent out by the national superintendent contains the following new and practical plans of our work: Organize a "Council," the members of which shall be the temperance secretaries and superintendents of the temperance departments of the various Sunday Schools. Hold quarterly meetings, inviting Sunday School teachers and officers. Let the program include a discussion of the quarterly lesson and a round table on Sunday School temperance work. Special help are provided for this new line of work. The national superintendent has inaugurated a plan for an honor roll of Sunday School workers. The name of each teacher and officer who signs the following "pledge of service" will be placed on the honor roll:

"God being my helper, I promise to promote the cause of temperance in all Sunday School work, especially in my own school."

The methods of carrying out this plan are set forth in a printed circular and pledge cards are provided.

On one Sunday of each year let great emphasis be given to Sabbath observance. Have a special program in the Sunday School and circulate literature to the end that the youth may have a greater reverence for God's holy day. Observe Peace Sunday in the Sunday Schools. This day is the third Sunday in December. Have exercises bearing upon this topic and circulate literature. The national superintendent will provide literature and all needed supplies. Hold a series of Sunday School medal contests and raise money with which to carry on Sunday School temperance work. See the new circular on Sunday School medal contests. It outlines the plan definitely. The above and other suggestions and recommendations make the leaflet before mentioned indispensable to our workers. The best plan is to secure the "Quarterly Budget" (price 15c, or 50c a year), which contains all of the new materials as issued, together with sample literature needed for each quarter. The "Worker's Package" (35c) is an outfit calculated to help a new worker inaugurate the department work.

Now to the work! "Be strong in the Lord." No day ever dawned so full of hope and opportunity for the Sunday School temperance work as today.

EVANGELISTIC DEPARTMENT.

Evangelistic Superintendents and Associate Evangelists:

Dear Co-Workers—My thoughts have gone out to you very often during the past months and I have wondered how you were prospering spiritually and how the work was going. My time has been so closely occupied since the convention with home cares that it has seemed next to impossible to find time for communicating with my friends and co-workers, but in no sense have I lost interest in either the work or the workers. Miss Greenwood's new leaflet did not reach me until the New Year was in, so I could not send it to you at an earlier date. I want every county and local superintendent to have a copy; also my associate evangelists.

I think we should work in harmony with the plans of our world's and national superintendent and I feel assured that no one will object to this. I have always been anxious for each union to arrange for evangelistic institutes, but so far this has seemed next to impossible, as it is hard to find a suitable opportunity on account of special services in the churches and the societies connected therewith, and most certainly we do not want to neglect these duties. I am gratified with the increasing interest the church and missionary societies are manifesting in the temperance work, and I am anxious that our evangelists and evangelistic superintendents may work in co-operation with all who are doing temperance work along any line. It will take the combined efforts of all workers to gain the victory that is sure to come if all unite their prayers and efforts. I earnestly solicit the co-operation of each county superintendent in seeing that all local superintendents are supplied with Miss Greenwood's latest leaflets. If any county superintendent fails to supply the local, if the local will send to me I will see that they have the needed help. I would appreciate any suggestions from my co-laborers that would advance the interests of our most important department.

With best wishes for the success of each worker and a prayer for your growth in grace, I am

Faithfully yours,

E. M. HAUGHTON.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP DEPARTMENT.

Revive the era of public meetings, utilizing home forces, the Christian jurist, minister, educator, journalist, business man and woman.

Have some specialist to address the people, advertising so thoroughly that all will know it and be induced to come.

All phases of law enforcement against gambling, polygamy, profanity, liquor selling contrary to law, the social evil, should be ours to further and reports of the same come through this department.

See that every pastor is asked to preach one sermon during the year, the same to be reported to me. Furnish each with the Department and Annual Leaflets.

Emphasize it to the pupils of our schools—they are the coming citizens. As they are educated so will our future government be. Then our Sunday School lessons impress those who come under this influence.

Reach every Chautauqua Assembly, G. A. R. Encampment, Old Settlers' gathering, Fourth of July celebration, by securing a place on the program and have some one present this department.

Send to me any suggestions or clippings, items of value or new points to be gained. Report blanks will be sent later.

Send to Ruby I. Gilbert, 915 Silversmith Building, Chicago, for all department literature.

Final reports to reach me September 25.

Yours for success,

S. T. T.

Dear County Superintendents of Scientific Temperance:

I trust all of you have by this time received the circular letter of Mrs. Edith S. Davis, national superintendent of this department. Will you not read it carefully and follow its directions?

If you can do nothing more than get your teachers in the public school to subscribe for the "Crusader Monthly," which contains two pages on Scientific Temperance each month, you have done a great work.

MATTIE CAMMACK GIBSON.

Dear Comrades:

The first article of our plan of work adopted at our State Convention last October, says: "Our aim is to double our membership before September 15, 1907. This means that each old member must pay her dues and win one new member to our ranks. Our treasurer's books at the end of last quarter showed very little increase, although a large number of new women have been won to our ranks already this year. Will not local treasurers at the end of this quarter see that all old members pay their dues, and I am sure our treasurer's books will then show a very creditable gain. Many women forget when their dues are to be paid and need only to be reminded of it. Let us hold all we have gained and push ahead for the increase. Let every member set her heart on some one woman; loan her literature; take her to the meetings and talk W. C. T. U. until she dons the white ribbon. We can double our membership by September 15th, if we earnestly work to that end.

I have received many calls for "The Reform Laws of Indiana," but not as many as should be sent in. Every union in the State should have these leaflets. Price ten cents for twelve copies.

Mrs. Rebecca Trego has promised to remain in the State until the middle of April. Enough dates have been spoken for to keep her busy until July, so there will necessarily be many disappointments. No more dates can be arranged for now other than those already promised. It is my hope, however, to bring Mrs. Trego again to our State later in the year to fill dates that she can not fill now.

Mrs. Stanley is unavoidably kept from the field much to our regret and hers. We are hoping that the hindrances will soon be removed and that we may have her again in the field striking telling blows for our cause.

Mrs. Retta Jones took a flying trip to Warrick County early in February and organized three new unions at Boonville, Chandler and Newburg, respectively. We hope to organize the county ere long.

Miss Bertrude Spangler is rejoicing over a new "Y," organized at Henryville, Clark County. Occasionally a cry of discouragement comes to me from some local union, but I have nothing to send back but notes of cheer. Look out on the broad field, sisters, and see the victories being won for our cause and the signs of other victories near at hand, and you must take fresh courage. Our cause is a winning one, although victory seems long delayed sometimes. We have only to hold together and press forward. Let us rise and sing "To the Work, to the Work, we are Servants of God."

Yours for advance,

MARY E. WOODWARD.

FIELD NEWS

The Boston W. C. T. U. was greatly blessed in securing Mrs. Trego for four lectures, January 30, 31 and February 1. The illustrated lecture on the last evening was especially effective. The auditorium of the M. E. church of Monroeville, where the meetings were held, was packed, many standing. The temperance people of Monroeville and vicinity were awakened to renewed zeal and the union is much encouraged. The collection amounted to $32.64.

MARY CLAYTON.

Mrs. S. L. Oberholtzer, national superintendent of school savings banks, is sending out the first number of "Thrift Tidings," a bi-monthly little sheet for the benefit of state superintendents of the department and educators who are desirous to take up thrift teaching in the schools. The first number is devoted chiefly to figures of the late savings of various schools.

South Wabash Union, with good attendance, held the regular meeting with Pharibe Ridgeway February 13 in the nature of a memorial service, with a Frances Willard program, made intensely real by the "home-going" of our beloved local secretary and county treasurer, Annie Jones, on February 8. She was of that modest, sweet faith so rare, always at her post. While we so keenly feel our loss, it seemed not like death, but "life more abundant." Our tenderest sympathy goes out to her aged mother, another faithful member, whose sole companion in the home she was.

MARY E. KING.

Montpelier, Hartford City and Roll W. C. T. U. workers heard from. A gold medal oratorical contest held at Montpelier Baptist church February 6th, directed by Mrs. Mabel Wearley, local superintendent of contest department, was largely attended. Five contestants, three from Montpelier and two from Hartford City. Miss Ruby Allen won the medal. Title of piece, "Two Pictures."

Thursday, February 7th, the W. C. T. U. ladies of Blackford county held an all-day meeting in the Methodist church at Montpelier and, despite the snow storm, cold and distances, the different unions were well represented, and brought sunshine and cheer in their faces, delicious lunches in their baskets and love and bravery in their loyal hearts. Our devoted county president, Mrs. S. M. Stahl, presided. After a season of prayer letters were read from State President Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger. Several committees were appointed, among others the committee for the spring institute to be held at Roll. Mrs. Sarah Harold, chairman. Mrs. Bert Ritter of Hartford City was unanimously elected county superintendent of contest work, to take the place made vacant by the death of our beloved sister, Lillie B. Palmer, of Roll. The reports furnished by the many superintendents of different departments of the several unions were encouraging and showed progress and determination to press the battle to the gates. The program was interspersed with several prayers, showing Christian activity. Rev. C. H. Brown and wife of Montpelier were present and aided by their co-operation and blessings on our work.

MARY BOWERS DUNLAP,

Supt. Press.

The Madison W. C. T. U. held a silver medal contest January 28. Mrs. Rosalia Jamieson, superintendent medal contest department. The contestants spoke well. The medal was awarded to Miss Liland Tevis. A program is being prepared for the observance of Miss Willard memorial February 17.

Dana W. C. T. U. secured the services of Mrs. Trego of Ohio for January 14, 15 and 16. Her first lecture was Monday night and it contained many good thoughts. She held a mothers' meeting Tuesday afternoon, which was appreciated, also another lecture at night. On the last night she gave an illustrated lecture on "Darkest America." Her pictures were taken from real life and showed so much sorrow caused to humanity by the worst curse that can befall any nation. She charged no admission, but a free-will offering of more than $18 was given her. The weather was so bad it prevented many from attending the meetings. The Dana Union held a memorial meeting of Francis E. Willard at the home of Mrs. Fillinger February 7. Several visitors and members were present and a profitable meeting was held. Devotional exercises were held and a book of Miss Willard's life, "An Uncrowned Queen," was reviewed. This union is gaining in numbers and it is its aim to make this the best year of its existence.

PEARL COOPER.

Elkhart Press meeting was well attended at the home of Mrs. H. Millard, the president. After the devotional service and a short business session the local press superintendent took charge of the program. The motto hymn of the W. C. T. U. was sung and the members responded to roll call with a press quotation, some of which we quote:

"The pen is mightier than the sword, and the newspaper is the vehicle through which the pen reaches the masses."

"Press work in the temperance reform is nothing more nor less than temperance evangelization by means of the printed page."

Frances Willard said, "Each year the press becomes a greater power, more generally discussed."

"No influence is at present so persuasive as that of printer's ink and whoever fails to rate the press at its true value has but grasped a fractional part of the problem of reform."

"It is easier to evade the spoken than the written word. The latter may confront you unawares in an idle or lonely hour, but what is printed in an obscure county paper may travel on a mission least dreamed of by the writer."

Enthusiastic letters were read from Mrs. Minnie Horning, national press superintendent, and Miss Laura Cammack, state press superintendent. The following extract is from a reading by Mrs. J. A. Grant on "The Press for Christian Temperance."

"Why should the devil have all the good times?" was the clear-cut question of good John Wesley. "Why should the devil have so much printers' ink?" was from the first a leading question among white ribbon women. There is not another line of work except that of gospel meetings which our women have taken up with so much alacrity, for they are quick-witted enough to see that there is not in the world another power where we can bring to a focus so much influence for the spread of temperance principles and temperance practice as the newspapers, because they go everywhere and are read by all people. The voice that speaks dies on the air almost before its echoes reach us, but the firm types and black ink hold through months and years. The newspapers that issue from the press in New York city may be read in Yokohama, Melbourne, St. Petersburg and in the islands of the sea. When you have got a thought into cold type it is there for "keeps." There is no magician in this age like the clear-headed, far-sighted man or woman who impresses the thoughts that he believes are winged with God's truth upon the printed page.

A paper prepared by Mrs. L. E. Hall on "The Influence of the Press" was short but to the point. In closing she expressed our gratitude to those friendly editors who have opened to us the use of their columns.

After singing Indiana's song Mrs. B. C. Rowley, director of the national L. T. L. Correspondence Training School, gave an excellent talk on "What the Press Means to the L. T. L."

During the social hour refreshments were served.

"WE NEVER CAN CREATE A PUBLIC SENTIMENT STRONG ENOUGH TO SUPPRESS THE DRAM-SHOPS UNTIL GOD'S PEOPLE TAKE HOLD OF THE TEMPERANCE REFORM AS A PART OF THEIR RELIGION."
—Theodore L. Cuyler.

WHAT WE LICENSE, WE PROTECT.

What we license, we protect; what we license, we wrap the flag of the country around and make it a legitimate branch of business, and in the legalized aspect of the traffic lies its power. What does God's Word say about it? What does it say about licensed wrong? If Isaiah had seen the license system of the United States as it is now, he could not have better expressed it than he has, "Woe unto him that justifieth the wicked for a reward." The license system takes the money from these men who are dealing out liquid death for a government revenue, and thus makes it a legitimate branch of business, and God says, "Woe." I find every phrase of the subject of this work in the Bible. God has wedded the Gospel and the temperance cause, and "what God hath joined together let no man put asunder." The first prohibitory liquor law ever passed was passed up in the Congress of Heaven, and it was not submitted to the people, it never had to be remodeled, and it never will be repealed, and then the awful iniquity of taking a revenue from the liquor traffic and putting it in the till of the government. "Woe to him that buildeth a town with blood and establisheth a city with iniquity."—Demorest Medal Contest Speaker.

I. RECENT VICTORIES.

(From the Associated Prohibition Press.)

1. Gains in Prohibition Territory.—America more than half free from the open saloon, 30,000,000 now under Prohibition law—large sections of Canada, England, Scotland, Norway, Sweden and Australia free—New Zealand already cast a majority vote for complete Prohibition. (1905) expects to reach the required three-fifths in favor of it in 1908.

2. Prohibition is Proved Practicable for Large Cities.—San Francisco's prohibition experience was the most widely noticed example of this. The police figures show that there was a total of 337 arrests in the city for the two prohibition months of May and June, 1906, as compared with 1,274 arrests for the two following months of high license (August and September, 1906.)

The Portland Oregonian, one of the leading daily newspapers of the Pacific Coast and strongly anti-prohibition editorially, in a big first page Frisco news story from its staff correspondent July 9, 1906, declared:

"It has proved beyond the slightest possibility of doubt that a large city like San Francisco can thrive without the liquor traffic."

Before this unexpected object lesson had been completed Kansas City, Kan., furnished a still more striking illustration of the new enforcement spirit. A bustling manufacturing city of 100,000, the metropolis of prohibition Kansas, it had never before honestly enforced the State law. Rising public sentiment ousted the law defying mayor and through Attorney Trickett permanently closed every one of the nearly 200 wide open joints, and results were immediately crystallized into increased prosperity for bankers and real estate agents and an almost complete suspension of crime and lawlessness.

These examples answer for all time to come the oft reiterated question, "Will prohibition work in the great cities?" But these two notable instances are only representatives of a long and growing list of similar cases, among them being Cambridge, Quincy, and a dozen other cities of Massachusetts; Colorado Springs, Colo.; Evanston, Ill.; Fargo and Grand Forks, N. Dak.; Topeka, Kan.; Portland, Me. (under Sheriffs Pearson and Dunn), and a large number of other municipalities.

Knoxville, Tenn., (60,000 population) voted for prohibition March 11th by 1,929 majority, the largest vote ever polled. Burlington, Vt., (20,000 population) voted prohibition March 5th, for the first time in its history.

3. Awakening in Other Lands.—Not only from all parts of America, but also from every kingdom of Europe and Asia, Australia, Africa and South America, comes the news of growing popular agitation and battle against legalized vice. The representative attendance and successful deliberations of at least two World Congresses of the alcoholic fighters within the last twelve months—one held in America, the other in Europe—have emphasized the fact that the reform has become a world movement for civic righteousness.

4. Revolution in Attitude of Daily Press.—In the first 60 days of 1907 at least forty leading daily newspapers of America gave large news or editorial space to friendly discussion of current prohibition progress. The Chicago Evening Post gives a full column every week to National prohibition news. The Chicago Record-Herald has frequent editorials strongly in favor of prohibition. The Georgian, Atlanta, and other daily papers have begun to "cut out" all their liquor advertisements.

5. The church is organizing to overthrow the liquor traffic. Sixteen leading denominations, whose aggregate membership is over 166,000,000 now have official Temperance Boards or Committees with energetic leaders. These denominational Temperance Boards at Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 30-31, organized a National Inter-Church Temperance Federation for united forward movement against the drink curse.

6. Prohibitionists last November (1906) either on the straight party ticket or in conjunction with others, elected twenty-three members of ten legislatures and in two whole States and one hundred legislative districts of twelve States polled a vote exceeding the quota required for a million votes for a Prohibition President in 1908. The Prohibition party now has over 2,500 active workers who give all or a part of their time to the cause and used more than $200,000 last year in spreading the agitation in all parts of the country.

II. THE SIZE OF THE PROHIBITION REFORM.

1. National Drink Bill (direct) 1906, $1,500,000,000.

2. Invested in Liquor Traffic (1906) $415,000,000.

3. Consumption of Alcoholic Beverages grown from 296,876,931 gallons and 7.70 gals. per capita in the year 1870—to 1,694,392,765 gallons and 20.37 gallons per capita in 1905.

4. There are 240,000 saloons legalized by law, in 42 States.

5. At least 75 per cent. of the crime, ninety per cent. of the murders, three-fourths of the divorces, can be traced to the saloon door.

6. Only five per cent. (or about 400,000) of the 8,000,000 young men in America are in the church, while at a low estimate over 2,000,000 are regular patrons of the saloon. Which stands the better chance to get the remainder?

7. The liquor traffic has a permanent lobby at Washington and at every State Legislature, and during the last sixty days out of 500 temperance bills introduced in the various State Assemblies at the demand of the decent citizenship, less than one per cent. of the really important measures were passed, owing to the wide awake defense of the liquor forces. Of State prohibition and local option bills introduced in twenty-five states only in two or three instances were the temperance people victorious, yet the vast majority of the people in most of those States were believed to favor such legislation.

8. The nation now gets $195,000,000 annually from the liquor blood-money profits, and Congress constantly refuses to pass the Hepburn-Littlefield bill to protect all Prohibition territory from invasion by brewers and liquor agents under cover of present inter-state commerce regulations.

9. The astute leaders of the liquor business are now everywhere attempting to stem the tide of the prohibition reform by securing the support of temperance leaders to so-called high-license legislation on the pretense of swelling "road" or "school" or "police funds," but in reality to so solidly establish the business in the economic systems of municipal and State governments as a permanent source of "income" that nothing could avail against the legalized pestilence.

III. THE TOTAL ABSTINENCE BASIS FOR A SUCCESSFUL LIFE.

1. Today the business world, the insurance world, the fraternal world, the scientific world and the professional and artistic world are coming to realize as never before that (1) total abstinence is a fundamental requirement for success, and are in principle and practice adopting the notable declaration made famous by the White-Ribboner: "Temperance is the total abstinence from the use of all things hurtful, and moderation in the use of all things helpful."

2. The railroads, nearly 200,000 miles of them, are now operated by men of whom abstinence is strictly demanded, the tendency being strongly in the direction of the "on duty or off duty requirement."

3. The industrial world is becoming just as vigilant. One of the most significant of these cases has been the campaign for local prohibition.

JUDGE SAMUEL R. ARTMAN,
Lebanon, Indiana.

Who rendered the remarkable decision the License of the Liquor Saloon Unconstitutional.

This decision is attracting the attention of jurists and representatives of all classes of society in the whole country. The decision was the result of a conviction of some of our foremost prohibition men regarding the subject. They insisted and argued the unconstitutionality of license. Through the direct efforts of the Hon. Charles E. Newlin, a number of business men of all political parties became interested and a conference was held Nov. 23, 1906, in Indianapolis. The result of this conference was the appointment of a committee to secure a test case and follow it through the courts. A test case in Indianapolis was decided upon against an applicant for license at the January term of the Commissioners Court. The firm of Doan & Orbison was employed and a remonstrance filed in the names of Schuyler Young and Wm. J. Trefz, voters of the tenth ward. The Commissioners overruled the remonstrance and granted the license. An appeal was taken to the Circuit Court. A change of venue was taken from Marion County to Boone County. Judge Samuel R. Artman of the Boone County Circuit Court, set January 25th to hear argument on the case. Hon. Wilson S. Doan and Charles J. Orbison of Indianapolis, each spoke about half an hour in presenting the case for the remonstrators. Hon. W. S. Doan made a powerful and convincing speech, setting forth the unconstitutionality of license on account of the character of the business to be licensed. The applicant was represented by John W. Kealing, holding that license was a restriction under the police power of the State and that the character of the business was a matter for legislative discrimination and not a judicial matter. The case for the remonstrators was ably summed up by the Hon. Sumner W. Haynes of Portland, Ind., and A. B. Kirkpatrick of Kokomo, Indiana. Hon. E. C. Newlin says:

Judge Artman took the case under advisement and stated that he would give the most careful study of the briefs filed by both sides, and would hand down his decision on February 13th. When Judge Artman took the bench at 9:30 on the morning of February 13th, every seat in the large courtroom was taken and many were standing. Almost the entire bar of Boone County honored their Judge by their presence and many attorneys from other cities were present, as well as many visitors from Indianapolis, Lafayette, and other points. For more than an hour the large audience hung breathlessly on every word of Judge Artman, as he spoke the momentous words that for the first time officially declared license of the saloon unconstitutional. At the close of the reading the entire audience broke into applause which culminated in the audience arising and giving hearty cheers until called to order by the vigorous rapping of Judge Artman. After the preliminary motions looking toward an appeal of the case to the Supreme Court of Indiana, the audience came forward and heartily congratulated Judge Artman for his great decision.

Seymour W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Donaldson, February 27th. Devotions, Mrs. Keller; Business; Quotations from Miss Willard; Music; Personal Reminiscences by Mrs. M. C. Carpenter; Selections from Miss Willard by Mrs. Enos; Reading Gov. Hoch's prohibition address by Mrs. Carpenter; Piano, Mrs. Pfaffenberger. A large attendance. A delightful social half hour with dainty luncheon followed the business session.

Congress has adjourned after defeating laying on the table or postponing practically every important temperance and reform measure before it for consideration. The transporting of alcoholic liquors into prohibition territory now carried on under the interstate commerce law. Prohibition in District of Columbia. Anti-child labor. The protest against the seating of Reed Smoot, the Mormon Senator elect from Utah. This was in accordance with the dictates of the Republican leaders in order to hold the Mormon States, Utah, Idaho and Nevada, for the Republican party and was pleasing to President Roosevelt. Our Indiana men, Vice-President Fairbanks and Senator Beveridge were factors in his retention. If the women of Indiana had the ballot these two Indiana men would hardly be given the high privilege of representing them. All honor to our Senator Hemenway who voted to unseat Smoot.

Woman Suffrage received much greater consideration in the Indiana Legislature than could have been realized four years ago. The measure was defeated in the State Senate by a majority of two votes. We will have the victory before another decade. Then too we have faith to believe that by that time we will have constitutional prohibition for Indiana.

Literary Club Program Committees are now beginning on the program for another year. Suggest to them some of the following subjects: Francis E. Willard; The Nations' Drink Bill; The Nation's Tobacco Bill; Motherhood, the Crowning Glory of Woman. Debate, "Resolved that hereditary is a more potent factor in the development of character than environment." The Observance of the Sabbath Day in Christian and Heathen Countries. Immigration Laws—Ellis Island. One million immigrants annually; How shall we reach them with Christianity? Patent and Proprietary Medicines. Indiana laws concerning women and children working in factories at night. Child-labor.

Let Nothing but the absolute impossibility prevent the members from attending the Mid-Year Executive Meeting at Marion, April 2-3, in the Methodist Church, beginning at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Diamond medal contest that evening to which all persons interested from adjacent towns and vicinity are invited. If you desire to interest in temperance a member of your family or a friend, especially among the boys or girls, invite them and pay their expenses to this contest. A few dollars spent each year in bringing loved ones into contact with prohibition workers and prohibition work, will mean more to your own peace of mind after awhile than compound interest on the little money thus invested. The enthusiasm of a great diamond medal contest is inspiring and will do much toward allaying prejudice in older minds and in creating respectful consideration and interest among the young people. Attend this diamond medal contest yourself and bring some one with you. No person young or old is interested in anything not informed upon. Our duty is to spread information either by our own efforts or through the ability and instruction by some other means.

Clean Bill Boards—For the sake of the impressionable minds of the children see that all objectionable pictures are removed from the bill boards.

The Saloon business is not benefitted by the town pump and the public drinking fountain, but the people enjoy them. In the towns and cities business men will co-operate in restoring the old wells and in putting up the drinking fountains. In order to secure their co-operation present the subject to one or two more organizations of women—then write articles concerning it to the papers, thus creating an interest and the wells and public drinking fountains will be a reality. There are firms that make very nice iron drinking fountains. It would be practical for our unions, in some places, to raise the money and place a drinking fountain in some good location where it would serve as a blessing to thirsty beasts many months in the year. In several States the W. C. T. U. has done this, thus keeping its name in a helpful, suggestive manner before the people. In some of our temperance papers the Mott Iron Works, of 120 Fifth Ave., New York City, advertise drinking fountains. They say special prices will be given to all temperance organizations. Write to them for catalogue. Now would be a good time to secure the money and put in a fountain.

Press Reporters your work is lasting. It is more far reaching in its effect than the spoken word. Be persistent, tactful and energetic.

Observe Lord's Day Week April 7th to 14th—For Christ's sake. For the sake of this generation and especially for the sake of the coming generations.

Spring Institutes are now in session. Everywhere that circumstances will permit a life size framed picture of Miss Willard should be presented to the church in which the Institute is held or to the High School. Pictures of Miss Willard can be secured of Misses Gilbert & Austin, 137 Wabash Ave., Chicago. Send to them for prices, etc.

Flower Mission—Those interested in the blessedness of the mission of flowers to the sick and distressed should now place flower beds, plant bulbs, seeds or cuttings for this purpose. Children will get very helpful lessons from the care and culture of "Flower Mission" flower beds.

Mothers! The children entrusted to your care and training will grow up with just about such characters as you have worked for. Not what you want them to be perhaps, but what you trained them to be.

Mothers! Your children when grown will be largely what you trained them to be. If you explain the Scriptures to them when they are too young to read, they will become interested in the characters and if you continue to read and talk and teach concerning Holy things the children will become imbued with love and admiration for Christ that will do more toward forming real character than will be easily estimated. Reverence for Holy things, reverence for motherhood and concept of the great plan of salvation is best taught while the little people are in closest communication with their mothers. Hours spent daily for outward appearances for the little accomplishments that are for time only should never be allowed to break in upon the time dedicated by mothers toward definite effort for the salvation of the children. Oh that the modern life might have more time for God living, for meditation and for definite character training in the home. Mothers that are physically tired are not in the best condition to be winsome, patient and loving trainers of children.

Prize Temperance Essays. Now is the time to offer prizes in gold for the best essays in High Schools and the grades. Subjects to be selected by the W. C. T. U. For detail information concerning such contests and prizes write to the editor of The Messenger, Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College Avenue.

Temperance Rally Days in our Sunday Schools should be planned for months in advance. One a quarter could be made a great success by the earnest co-operation of our workers and the Sunday School authorities. Gospel temperance meetings were a great educational feature in many places. These are largely discontinued.

Now let us have Sunday School Temperance Rally Days.

CALL FOR MID YEAR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING.

The Executive Committee of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana, will meet in Marion, April 2d and 3d, 1907. The first session will be held at two p. m., on Tuesday, April 2d. The Executive Committee is composed of the State Trustees, Secretaries of Y. & L. T. L. branches, editor of State Paper, President and Secretary of Board of Superintendents, and the President of each County Union. The members of the Executive Committee will be entertained for supper, lodging and breakfast by the Marion ladies, and a good noon lunch can be procured at the restaurants for twenty cents. I trust every member will be present.

CULLA J. VAYHINGER, President.

IMPORTANT.

My Dear Sisters:

I have received many letters concerning the letters sent to you by the Green-Wheeler Shoe Company of Fort Dodge, Iowa. In reply I desire to say that the State refused at its convention to endorse the enterprise and have never rescinded that action. I shall validate no stamps unless authorized by the women to do so. The National refused to have anything to do with the enterprise, but of course it nor the State legislates for the Local Union. I hope you will just lay these letters aside and pay no attention to them until after the Mid Year meeting. I do not know how they came in possession of our Annual Report, to secure the names of so many women of the State.

Yours, CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

IN HONOR OF FRANCES E. WILLARD.

The W. C. T. U. of Goshen royally entertained twelve ladies of the Elkhart union and many friends at an all day indoor picnic yesterday, held in honor of Frances E. Willard's birthday, at the home of Justice S. S. Whisler, 513 South Fifth Street, that city. At 9:30 o'clock Mrs. M. E. McCaskey, president of Goshen union, standing in the archway above which "Old Glory" was tastily looped, called the meeting to order and all joined in singing "Christ for the World We Sing." Mrs. H. B. Millard, president of Elkhart union, conducted the devotional exercises. A solo was sweetly sung by Miss Hilda Hammond. The principal address of the morning was delivered by Rev. Pugsley, an evangelist from Toronto, Canada. Every word that he spoke thrilled and enthused his temperance hearers. Rev. Fradenberg, pastor of the Baptist church, gave a fine address on "The Needs of the Sabbath." Mrs. Cunningham gave an interesting account of her visit to "Willard Hall" and "Willard Rest Cottage." Mrs. Pittinger a paper on "Parents Duty to Children."

Mrs. Bechtel read an excellent paper on "What Have the Church and the W. C. T. U. in Common?" In part, she said, "I cannot begin to tell unless I say everything. Here are a few: The same commission, the same leader, the same opportunity, the same equipments, consecrated workers, the same cause, the same enemy, the same souls to save. I want to put emphasis upon souls to save, and I wish I could burn the thought into minds and hearts, that souls saved in time need not later be saved from the wreck and ruin of a misspent life of debauchery and vice."

"Why I Belong to the W. C. T. U.," was a subject in which every member participated and as a result many witty and interesting talks were given. After a recitation by Miss Grace Hammond the noontide prayer was offered. A sumptuous dinner was served and a joyful time spent socially. Several school teachers, clerks and others came at this time to exchange greetings.

The afternoon program consisted of solos by Miss Hilda Hammond and Miss Vinnie Nickum, recitations by Miss Ruth Rhodes and Mrs. Young, and a reading, "My Last Glass," was delivered in a charming manner by Mrs. Hammond. Rev. Hewitt spoke on "Ideas from Practical Work in Our Community." With a large, beautiful picture of Frances E. Willard before him, Rev. Wood told of her life, character and work. Rev. Mathews, pastor of the Reform church, spoke on "Reform Work." He treated the outer or human reformation from the standpoint of society and the inner or divine reformation from the standpoint of the individual.

The Elkhart ladies with others enjoyed the delightful, instructive program, and some remained to attend the revival service at the Baptist church, conducted by Evangelist Pugsley.—A Goshen Daily.

RECENT VICTORIES.

bition protection for their industries, carried on by the leading manufacturers of Indiana. A remarkable interview in the Indianapolis News with G. E. Fredericks, secretary of the Kokomo, Indiana, Steel and Iron Company, was published Nov. 24, 1906, in which Mr. Fredericks declared that the saloons near their factory cost their company $75,000 a year, "if not more." "Let us have a law," he declared, "prohibiting under the severest penalties a saloon in the factory districts." And as representative of hundreds of other towns everywhere, the News correspondent concludes with this statement:

"Kokomo has thirty saloons that pay about $7,500 into the city treasury annually. The manufacturing interests of Kokomo are damaged more than $75,000 every year by the saloon interests. 'There you have it in a nut shell.'"

4. George Bernard Shaw, the famous English author and dramatist thus epitomizes his experience for the last quarter of a century, and expresses the growing conviction in the world of thought and literature:

"I have not failed to observe that all the drugs from tea to morphia and all the drams from lager beer to brandy, dull the edge of self-criticism and make a man content with something less than the best work of which he is soberly capable. He thinks his work better, when he is really only more easily satisfied with himself."

V. PRACTICAL WAYS OF FIGHTING THE SALOON.

1. Agitation—(1) Circulation of latest prohibition facts and literature; (2) Public rallies; (3) Personal work; (4) Prohibition bill-boards; (5) Letter-writing to the daily and weekly press, replies to erroneous editorials, etc.; (6) A movement against liquor advertising in street cars, press and magazines.

2. Constructive—(1) Prohibition legislation, in City, State and Nation; (2) Voting right; (3) Pledge-signing work in Sunday Schools and day schools, and in shops and factories; (4) Social settlements; (5) Rescue homes; (6) Coffee houses; (7) Establishment of drinking fountains for man and beast, not in front of saloons; (8) Organizing the young people; (9) Study classes for the reform; (10) Financial and personal support of approved movements now fighting the liquor traffic.

THE EPITOME OF THE GREAT REFORM

Dr. T. Dewitt Talmadge epitomized the whole battle in which we are engaged in this significant and ringing paragraph, which might well be committed to memory by every worker for God who is enlisted in the great struggle for freedom from legalized rum:

"American slavery was a pet lamb as compared with this red dragon. All the families which have been robbed of fathers and brothers and sons by the rum traffic; all the States of the Union that have been despoiled of their mightiest men; all the churches of Jesus Christ which find the chief obstacle to the advancement of religion in the appetite for strong drinks and all the intelligence and all the patriotism, and all the enthusiasm of the land will yet pack itself into an avalanche that will come crushing down upon this, the worst evil that ever afflicted a nation. There may be many defeats before we get the final victory, but victory will come as surely as there is a God in Heaven."

IV. CAN WE ABOLISH THE SALOON—WHEN? HOW? WHAT THEN?

1. When? At once, so far as our own responsibility goes, provided that from this hour forth, we consecrate our voice and purse and vote to the cause of the home vs. the legalized drink curse, and remember that, until the battle is won, the issue faces us squarely at every election, and at every point where we meet friend or business or religion or politics on the highway of life.

In the larger aspect, we shall abolish the saloon whenever we can spread the facts of its economic devastation, its moral pestilence, and its political menace in vivid and thought-arresting fashion before all the people, and then focus the power of the church and organized decency at the saloon's weakest point, its colossal robbery of the poor, its spoliation of youth, its merciless destruction of home and wife-hood and motherhood.

2. How? By loyalty to principle, by refusing to compromise with license champions or license parties, by hearty co-operation in every move for the outlawry of the saloon, and by keeping in active and constant touch with the battle-line, ready to aid by every sacrifice the occasion may demand.

By realizing that the prohibition reform is the great heroic movement of this age, and its progress and triumph will appear the providential solvent of sectionalism, sectarianism, racialism, materialism, and all the other isms which have retarded the forward march of our American civilization.

3. What then? Then will come the long-sought answer to the reformer's puzzling query, "What can be a substitute for the saloon?"

And the answer will be (1) the home, redeemed and glorified, as a fit shrine for the nurture and inspiration of childhood and manhood.

(4) The church, with all doors open seven days in the week, the club-house of the masses.

(5) The City Hall and State House, purified of its ghastly alliance with organized vice, the temple of Christian citizenship, where patriots rule in place of the saloon boss and the spoilsman.

MRS. STANLEY AT HOME.

Dear Sisters—I must tell you of my great disappointment in not being able to be with you these lovely days. My house-keeper was called away by the illness of a friend on Dec. 17th. Since that time I have searched in vain for some one to take her place. I have advertised in city papers—have written fully fifty letters and enlisted my friends all over the State to search for a good, reliable woman, who would accept a permanent place in my home and until this is done I can not give a day to field work. I heard of one woman in Virginia and another in Brazil, but am not sure either can come before the Mid Year Executive Committee meeting. If anyone who reads this appeal can help me solve this problem, wire me at my expense—or write me particulars. Prefer a middle aged woman. I wrote many letters daily during the session of the General Assembly. My own "Mis-Representative" voted against the equal suffrage bill. I don't know why he ignored the long letter I wrote him. As yet I have received no reply. Miss Woodward will send me to the northern counties already arranged for as soon as the problem of help can be solved. Hoping to see all members of the Executive Committee at Marion, I am Cordially, ELIZABETH T. STANLEY.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

It is said "there is a million Sabbath slaves who, for seven unbroken days, are compelled to attend machinery or fires, or drive engines, or run cars, or sell papers or distribute mail, because ten million people are too selfish to forego Sunday conveniences." It is well for every member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to ask herself the question, "Am I one of these selfish ones?" It is a law without exception that no man is better than the thing to which he consents. When we acquiesce in any evil we give our consent to that evil. Sabbath desecration has become an appalling evil. The Sabbath observance department of the W. C. T. U. was created because of the close connection between the liquor traffic and Sabbath desecration. The traffic has made common cause with the demons of lust, greed, appetite and pleasure. So with the Sunday saloon we have the Sunday trains, Sunday stores, Sunday newspapers, Sunday games, Sunday theaters and Sunday work.

Can we be silent to these evils and not sin? Great responsibility rests upon us as an organization and as individuals. There is a wide difference whether these evils go on with our protest or without any protest on our part. If our protests are not always heeded, and some officials fail to do their sworn duty, we must remember that courage and determination are needed to overcome difficulties. We can not be loyal to our pledge for God and home and native land unless we do all in our power to preserve for our homes and our land the blessing of a Christian Sabbath. Its foes are numerous, determined and aggressive. Let us be equally determined, as vigilant and courageous. If we do fail in some instances, we must not be discouraged. Let every union in Ohio begin now, to-day, to plan for Lord's Day week. So arrange all other duties that we may spend this week—April 7th-14th—in one united effort in work and supplication to God for help to overcome the influences which now threaten to destroy this blessed heritage, the safeguard of religion and morality. Ask the labor unions to unite. The working men appreciate their need of the Sabbath. Ask pastors of every church to preach sermons, the prayer meetings, the missionary societies, Christian Endeavorers, Epworth Leagues to unite or to give one service to the importance of Sabbath keeping. Hold at least one public meeting, with good speakers to give the physical, economical and spiritual reasons for proper observance of the Sabbath. Get the Loyal Temperance Legions interested; circulate literature, pledge cards and talk with your friends. With this united effort of earnest work and prayer may we not claim the promise, if we agree as touching anything that we shall ask it shall be done for us. The Lord is not slack concerning His promises. His commandments are not grievous, and in keeping them there is great reward. May the Lord pour out his spirit upon us all, is the prayer of your superintendent.

MARY D. OGLE.

—Ohio Messenger.

Knoxville, Tenn., March 12th... (By Associated Prohibition Press.)—After one of the most remarkable campaigns ever known, this city of 60,000 yesterday rejected the saloon, silenced the strenuous liquor advocates of high license and by a majority of 1929, in the largest vote ever cast in this city, decided to re-incorporate as a Prohibition municipality under the provisions of the Adams law.

Election day opened with a monster parade early in the morning in which 10,000 women, children and men, carrying flags and banners and singing temperance songs participated.

The fight was made squarely on the "wet" and "dry" proposition, and 6420 voters declared for abolishing the charter. This majority of 1929 was entirely unexpected, even by the temperance forces. The parade was the most pathetic ever witnessed here. Feeble old men and women and tiny children marched two abreast. The line was two miles long, and the parade was forty-five minutes passing a given point.

The scenes at the polls were even more spectacular. Two-thirds of the 60,000 population, with several thousand of visitors appeared. Church bells tolled every hour. Lunch was served. Men, women and children sang and prayed and pleaded with the voters.

Only two wards gave "wet" majorities. Many arrests for boozing were made.

Bristol, Tenn., by a vote averaging nearly 32 to 1 declared for Prohibition, March 9th. Bristol, Va., just across the State line, votes on April 22.

The Prohibition tide seems to be sweeping the whole State and other victories are expected in the next few weeks.

Figures from the report of the State Factory Inspector, Mr. D. H. McAbee: "Last year 33,265 women and girls earned their living in the factories, laundries, department stores and printing offices in Indiana. The number of men who worked in the factories, stores, etc., was 175,294. During the fiscal year 208,597 persons were employed in the industries of the State, being an increase of 18,131 over the previous year. 'These figures,' said the inspector, 'tell a story of prosperity and the fact is the half has not been told. In the industries of the State last year many more employees could have been used had it been possible to get them.' The inspector's report shows that of the 33,265 women employed during the year, 1,850 were under 16 years of age. Of the men employed 3,580 were under 16."

THE MESSAGE.

AMERICA'S LEADING LIQUOR ORGAN OUT FOR HIGH LICENSE.

The Indianapolis News editorially denounces the out going Legislature in its issue of March 4:

"We have contended for years that the saloon as it is conducted at the present time is out of standard of the average saloon is eternally at war with the moral standard of the average citizen—and we made it when it hurt us with the trade to say such things—that the saloon must be changed and radically changed or the saloon will be voted out of existence by every community save business and tenderloin precincts in our larger cities. . . . People do not object to wine, beer or whisky, but they do object to drunkenness, and they do object to the violation of law, and we do not hesitate to say the very large majority of the men connected with our trade object to these things as earnestly as the most enthusiastic advocate of Prohibition principles."

"The license should be a contract between the retail dealer, the State and the community in which he does business, and conviction of violation of the law should cancel the license and prohibit the man from ever securing another license. It is urged that only one license be issued for every 500 population, and that the license fee should be between $500 and $1,000. . . . 'If,' Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular says, 'the retail liquor business continues as at present, we firmly believe that during the next few years the sale of alcoholic beverages will be outlawed in more than half our States.'"

After this the News concludes trenchantly: "It is of course clear enough by this time that a majority of the present Legislature were before the election pledged against all legislation for the promotion of temperance. The legislature has been hostile to any effort, however conservative, toward better control of the liquor traffic."

"Of course this can mean only one thing, and that is that the liquor men succeeded in electing a majority on which they could rely. Promises were demanded and given of which the public knew nothing, though there was a suspicion that things were not all right."

"Men who were elected to serve the people had beforehand bound themselves hand and foot to the liquor interests."

"The Taggarts, Bells, Liebers and Crawford Fairbankses knew what they were about. They got their men and they held on to them. There is no party politics with the liquor interests."

"It seems to us that it is none too soon for the people of Indiana to begin the campaign for the election of the next Legislature. They have been sold and betrayed this time. They will suffer the same fate two years hence unless they choose as legislators men who will represent them rather than the liquor interests."

"They will not be able to get such men unless they begin work at an early day."

"As for the liquor men themselves, we can only say that their stupidity and recklessness are amazing. Apparently they have no idea of what is going on all over the country."

FIELD NEWS

PRIVATE LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

629 West Granite Street,

BUTTE, MONTANA, March 12, 1907.

Dear Sister—Butte, as you may know, is the largest mining camp in the world, consequently there is great need of Christian temperance work here. Our Union is not large, but we are planning to have a place for headquarters and a mission room. To do this we need money and have decided to hold a U. S. Fair about the middle of April. This means for us to write to one or two Unions in each State, asking them to contribute something for their State. We ask your Union to give something for your State. Anything salable, however small, will be gladly received. We wish to have every State represented.

Yours in W. C. T. U. work,

MRS. A. A. McMILLAN.

Seymour W. C. T. U. held their quarterly mothers' meeting January 23d, at the home of Mrs. Aura Smith. A good attendance and excellent program. Papers giving help and pleasure to all. Musical features were especially enjoyable. Miss Nellie Crane and Carol, Helen and Master Aura Smith were responsible. Mrs. Aura Smith is a charming hostess and this was one of the most helpful of the always popular mothers' meetings.

LaFayette Central Union held a Frances Willard memorial service at the first Baptist Church chapel Sunday, February 7th, and the impressive exercises were witnessed by a large assemblage of people. Mrs. Thomas L. Webb presided. Mrs. Jennie Conn, president of the union, read the life of Frances Willard and addresses were made by Rev. O. B. Rippetoe, Rev. O. R. McKay and Rev. E. G. Lewis. Solos were rendered by J. T. Gunn and Miss Vera Winn and together they sang a duet. Miss Emily Wilgus acted as accompanist.

Campbellsburg W. C. T. U. was very fortunate in securing Mrs. Trego for four lectures, March 3d, 4th and 5th. The illustrated lecture on the last night was unequalled, the pictures were all that was good and elevating. Large crowds were in attendance, especially on the last night. Not only was our Union benefited, but the entire audience was swayed by her earnestness and her gentle, sweet pleading manner and talks. Several new members were taken in to the ranks. We all learned to love Mrs. Trego, and praise God for the new interest she has caused to be awakened in our midst. The proceeds netted $17.50.

MRS. EVA O. CHAMBERLAIN, Press Supt.

Brookville—The W. C. T. U. observed Frances Willard Day at the home of Mrs. A. O. Dare. Opening song, "My Faith Looks up to Thee," followed by the reading of the Crusade Psalm, the 147th. Sunshine powders were passed, each taking one, which caused a hearty laugh. Next the president stated that the meeting was to commemorate the memorial of Frances E. Willard. The biography of F. E. Willard was read. Then the question, "How may we be benefited by studying the life of Frances E. Willard; also her influence upon the young." Next why should a Christian be a W. C. T. U. member? "The Law of Habit," followed by "A New Era in Temperance;" then "The Coming Brotherhood." Last but not least, "How the Memorial Fund was Used to Organize New Unions." Song, "All Around the World," repeating in concert the Lord's Prayer. Four new members were added for the month of February. The regular meeting was held in the home of Mrs. W. E. Smith. Song, "Some Glad Day." Devotional. Scripture reading and sentence prayer. Lesson subject, "Anti-Narcotics." Leader Mrs. Geo. Vanarsdall. MRS. MARY D. SCOTT, Press Reporter.

The Boswell W. C. T. U. has not been heard from for some time through the Message, but we are still very much alive. We have a membership of 34, including honoraries. We have twelve department superintendents, most of whom are doing good work. We only meet once a month, but have good, interesting meetings, and a new member is occasionally added to our list. At our October meeting with Mrs. Ida Samuel, our delegate Mrs. E. A. Smith, gave us a most excellent report of the Portland convention, which with special music by Mesdames Samuel and Wright. Refreshments, free will offering, and three new members. November first we had a rousing Franchise meeting, with the superintendent of that department, Mrs. Robert Kelly, in charge, using for our study the Polly Grot Petition, with readings of up-to-date statistics concerning the enfranchisement of women. Dec. 6th we enjoyed the Union Signal reports of the World's and National conventions.

January 3d we observed Mothers' Day at the home of Mrs. Bell Myers. Mrs. Anna Eberly, superintendent of Purity and Mothers Meetings had charge of the program, and most all present took part and helped make this a most profitable meeting, and the responsibility and opportunity of motherhood exalted. February 7th members and friends to the number of 33 gathered at the home of Mrs. Kelly to observe in connection with our regular meeting our Frances Willard Day. A program of songs and appropriate readings by Mesdames Cook, Ione Eberly and Luella Vanhorn was given. This was followed by a very interesting and appropriate talk by Rev. Chamberlain, making prominent the facts of Miss Willard's sorrow and consecration, with the thought for us that no life has ever yet, or ever will attain to any degree of real worth or power, without passing through the Gethsemane of consecration and self denial. A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served. A free will offering of $3.00 was received. February 15th a silver medal contest was held with pupils of the eighth grade. We tried the plan of collection instead of admission, and we believe it the better plan as we find that the class of people we are trying to influence are not enough interested to pay an admission. Our contest was a success. We have sent our $2.00 memorial offering to the National W. C. T. U. treasury. We will present a large framed picture of Miss Willard to the school as near Memorial Day as possible. Our suffrage petition was signed by a goodly number, considering the time and opportunity we had to work it. We have the hearty co-operation of our ministers and teachers, several of them members of our Union. We have twenty copies of the State Minutes in the Union.

MRS. ANNA A. EBERLY.

Richmond Frances Willard Union met at the home of Mrs. Henry Luring. Miss Mary Toms conducted the devotional service assisted by Mrs. Philabaum. In response to roll call members gave quotations from Miss Willard's writings. A duet by Mesdames Longenecker and Gorman was enjoyed. Papers and select readings by Mesdames Ellen Norris and Hannah Graves. "Golden Rule," a solo, by Mrs. Gorman proved very entertaining. Several new members were added and a committee was appointed to draw up and have published, a "protest against the Mormon elders circulating and promulgating their odious doctrines." A vote was sustained that the union sign a petition asking for the unseating of Reed Smoot, U. S. Senator. A collection of $1.35 was raised toward our annual $2.00 memorial fund. The union will meet in two weeks at the home of the Rev. Trautman, 20 South Thirteenth Street.

MRS. L. D. HOPKINS.

The Howard County W. C. T. U. held its fourth quarterly superintendent's meeting in the Friend's Church at Greentown, the second Thursday in February. First a devotional service of scripture reading and prayer. Then an excellent meeting, presided over by Mrs. Ida Mix, the County President. Various subjects of importance to members of the union were discussed. Then came the noon tide prayer. The afternoon service was opened by a song. The five departments namely, Medical Temperance, Contest Work, Peace and Arbitration, Purity in Literature and Art, Law and Statistics, were presented by the superintendents. A very interesting discussion followed. Meeting adjourned to meet the second Thursday in May.

South Bend Colfax Ave. W. C. T. U. entertained their L. T. L. on Washington's birthday at the home of one of the members of the union. Songs, recitations and games were enjoyed and refreshments were served. Over thirty children were present. Mrs. M. J. Sheldon of Perry, N. Y., aunt of the Rev. C. M. Sheldon, the author, was present, and gave the Legion three dollars to be used for literature. The children gave her a rising vote of thanks and the Chataqua salute. The Legion is growing in interest and members through the labors of Mesdames Nash and Lushbaugh.

LaPorte Union held an interesting parlor meeting February 8th at the home of Rev. J. N. Harmon. Miss Libbie Tabor led the devotionals. Suffrage was one of the questions discussed. On February 22d a business meeting was held in the W. C. T. U. parlor. Also Frances E. Willard Day was observed. Those taking part were Mesdames M. Baumgardner, R. Bowers; J. N. Harmon, J. Fuller, Oscar Parkell and Seth Pease.

The Cold Spring W. C. T. U. organized three and one-half years ago, with one exception have held a meeting the first Tuesday of each month. Have met each January with the president for the day. Held at 2 p. m. a Mothers Meeting. This year had seven recitations by the little folks. Selections read from American Motherhood and discussed by all present. Miss Brown, a former member of the union presided at the organ. We decided that day to memorize a passage of Scripture each week of the year and answer roll call each meeting by repeating four passages. Thus far all that have attended since have responded by so doing. We may be able to give a reason for the hope within us and ever have the sword of the Spirit to help fight our battles. February 17th, Frances Willard Day, the Presbyterian minister preached a most excellent sermon from the text, "She Hath Done What She Could." We were invited to hold our March meeting at the home of Mrs. E. Chance, but on account of sickness held it at Mrs. Evans' home. Not many were present. Our county president was with us with her words of cheer and we parted feeling 'twas good to be there. Probably our union has the least paid up membership in the State, but we hope to continue for our Father has said where two or three are gathered together in my name there am I. While we are sometimes pained by the indifference and opposition to our work we will go on trusting that if we do what we can, we will at the close of this life hear the "well done."

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Sarah Cutler: LaPorte Union, is mourning the loss of this dear sister. She was called home Feb. 28th, her funeral was held on Mar. 4th. The text—Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints was very appropriate, Psalm, 116-15. Her age was 83. A long life well spent.

Seymour W. C. T. U. sustained a great loss in the "home going" of Mrs. J. B. Conrad, wife of a Baptist Minister. She was Supt. of the Scientific Temperance Instruction, both local and County, was an earnest and intelligent worker. Held a reception for teachers at her home. Was much interested in all W. C. T. U. work. Three little daughters lost a loving mother; the husband, who fully sympathized with her in W. C. T. U. work, a faithful wife and efficient helper in all good work.

Mrs. Mary A. Ralldigs, Vice Pres. of Marshall Union, died Feb. 22nd, at the age of 77 years. Pneumonia took her away in less than a week. She had been a member of the W. C. T. U. at Annapolis for several years and has been a regular attendant at our Union for seven years, always ready to perform her share of labor and responsibility. Was a charter member of the Marshall Union being Vice Pres. and Sabbath Observance Supt. of both County and Local Unions. She was truly an earnest worker in the cause of humanity and right, was ever ready to lift her voice against the evils of the day. Her work will be sadly missed. It can be truly said of her, she was a mother in Israel. She was rich in heavenly things. When laid away the little white bow was on her breast. The union gave a beautiful floral offering.

From the Associated Prohibition Press.

Almost unconsciously but nevertheless irresistibly during the past few months, the Prohibition Reform has been widely extending its influence, its audience and its ranks of recruits in the great "out-side" public once either actively hostile or else stolidly indifferent to its message.

The change has been taking place so steadily and imperceptibly that its importance and significance has scarcely been recognized, but the proof of it lies in this startling fact now everywhere self-evident:

TEN OR TWENTY YEARS AGO, THE PROHIBITION ADVOCATE FOUND SCARCELY AN ITEM OF DATA OR ARGUMENT FOR HIS CAUSE EXCEPT SUCH AS WAS FURNISHED AND PREPARED FOR HIM BY RADICAL PROHIBITION INVESTIGATORS AND AUTHORITIES ALONE.

Today the arsenal of Prohibition ammunition could be supplied with practically every weapon of offense and defense merely from the news articles, studies, addresses and judicial decisions of men and women who may properly be regarded as entirely outside of the ranks of the strictly Prohibition forces.

Prof. S. Lawrence Bigelow of the University of Michigan in Popular Science Monthly for March, 1907:—

"The Federal Government has no disciplinary motive in this heavy tax (Internal Revenue); that function is performed by the individual states and cities under the familiar name of local option. The government merely takes advantage of the strong feelings of so many individuals against the use of alcoholic beverages at all, to levy a tremendous tax. It is an interesting fact in this connection that no increase in the tax has ever produced an appreciable diminution in the amount consumed in this or any other country."

The-Collegiate Prohibition Association of America—Officered by wide-awake, aggressive college-bred leaders, the Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association of America is rapidly becoming a factor of influence and numerical strength in university life, second only to the College Y. M. C. A. movement itself.

The remarkable development of this unique endeavor in the higher institutions of learning during the past few years is another of the many evidences of the growing strength of the Prohibition reform throughout America.

Twenty-six years ago when Wendell Phillips startled the college world of Harvard with his radical eloquence and boldly championed the cause of Prohibition and Woman Suffrage in his famous Phi Beta Kappa address, conservative scholarship sneered at his "seditious" teachings, and put them down to the professional incendiary of the confirmed "reformer."

Eighteen years later in 1898 and 9, revelations of college dissipation and debauchery at many leading denominational institutions strangled the Christian church, and showed how little effect the appeals of Phillips and his brother-moralists seemed to have had upon the student world.

At this very time, however, while drunkenness and contempt for "temperance" appeared to be rampant in the colleges, an earnest body of young men and women were launching the Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Movement, which, in less than a decade has spread into every leading state, and now counts its friends into the thousands among university students, instructors and professors.

Over 150 colleges and universities are represented on its membership rolls. A large number of prominent college presidents are openly friendly to its endeavors.

There are today colleges in practically every state in the Union in which a large per cent, if not the whole of the faculty-staff are avowed Prohibitionists.

CAPTURING THE UNDER-GRADUATE LEADERS—

The college Prohibition movement has from the start aimed to enlist the undergraduates "honor" men and women in the Prohibition reform, with singular success. College leaders in scholarship, oratory, athletics and religious endeavor now form a large proportion of the active workers in the Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Leagues.

For instance, the third prize winner in the last national oratorical contest of the College Prohibitionists, at Minneapolis in June, 1906, was recognized as one the best all-round athletes of the Pacific coast, and ten days after his participation in this national contest, won second place in the broad jump in the World's Championship Games at London, England, being beaten only by the World's Champion, Peter O'Connor, of Dublin, Ireland.

The National Secretary, Harry S. Warner, of the College Prohibition movement, in an interview with the Associated Prohibition Press today at his headquarters in The Temple, epitomized the purpose in these pointed words:

"A distinguished college authority has said: 'One third of the college students are just ordinary, 'One third go to the devil, and 'One third rule the world.'"

"We propose to get hold of this third for the Prohibition reform."

And their strenuous nation-wide agitation, continually in progress during the college year, with traveling secretaries going from school to school and from state to state, testifies to the success with which they are everywhere meeting.

THE COLLEGE PROHIBITION CAMPAIGN—

Secretary Warner thus outlined the important coming events in the college movement.

"The enlistment of college men for the anti-liquor-fight—that is the key purpose in the coming series of state conferences, which are to be held under the direction of the National Secretaries of the College Prohibition movement in April and May.

"In each of the more prominent states, where such conventions have not been held this year, the students will gather from the colleges and universities to join in two days of earnest discussion as to how to make their lives count most for the removal of the liquor evil from our country.

"A team of National Secretaries, composed of Traveling Secretary, Virgil G. Hinshaw, of Minneapolis, Minn., and General Secretary Harry S. Warner, of Chicago, will attend most of the state conferences speaking daily upon such topics as 'The Claims of the Prohibition Movement Upon College Men,' 'Volunteer Service for Students,' and 'The Sources of the Liquor Problem and How to Get at These Sources.'"

"Prominent state and local speakers will speak upon the work of their organizations and the field in their state and the opportunities it offers. Each half day the Secretaries will lead in conferences on the local League and state work and the value of study of the liquor problem and similar civic reforms during college days.

FOURTEEN IMPORTANT CONTESTS AND CONFERENCES IN THE NEXT SIXTY DAYS—

In the following states at some central college—Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, Colorado, Southern California, North California, Oregon and Washington.

During each conference an oratorical contest will be held, the winner will be entitled to contest for the National prize. Our Indiana Conference will be held at Greencastle under the local management of the De Pauw University Prohibition League, May 3 and 4. Speakers include Secretaries Warner and Hinshaw. The oratorical contest will be held on Friday night.

"So much for the great legalized branch of the sale of dissipation in Chicago. The net results of the free and undisciplined struggle have been two: The thorough saturation of Chicago—especially of the tenement districts—with alcoholic liquor; and a high and successful premium on the criminal saloon."

Prof. Hartman of the University of Leipzig gives this advice regarding the need of teaching Scientific Temperance in schools.

"Saturate your whole teaching force with anti-alcohol instruction. Place anti-alcohol books in teacher's libraries, and in those of all universities, and polytechnics. See that the subject is discussed by the pedagogic press, at meetings of school directors, and before teachers' gatherings. Secure lecturers of the highest expert knowledge—jurists, physicists, physiologists, to address the combined schools of each city. Introduce the subject wherever possible into the religious classes, the natural science classes, etc. Send circulars home to the parents showing them the danger of alcoholic poisoning to children; and even invite parents together to explain to them the danger of drinking. Urge the teachers to organize for the fight; develop anti-alcohol unions among the school children."

From every organization that sympathizes or compromises with the rum traffic, Christian men should separate themselves and unite in an organization, every member of which shall, at all times, including election days, and in all places, including the polls and with all powers, including the ballot, stand against the giant evil of the day.—Bishop Fitzgerald.

THE WHITE FIBBON.

"I seek it, the white, white ribbon,
In parlor and street and cars
I watch or its flashing message,
As those who watch for the stars;
For though it be frayed and dingy,
And worn on a shabby dress,
It lends to its faithful wearer
A charm you may never guess.
So wear it with pride, dear women,
Morning and noon and night;
Glad to show,
Wherever you go,
You are standing for God and right."

THE YEAR OF JUBILEE.

"To preach the acceptable year of the Lord." means the grateful, pleasant, agreeable opportune time appointed by God. The thought becomes plain when we connect it with the Sabbatical or Jubilee year of the Jews, that was ushered in with the soundings of music and trumpets and the most extreme demonstrations of Joy. It meant so much to these people. All debts were cancelled, Homes that had been lost by famines, sin, sickness or death were restored to the rightful owners and bondmen freed, and great brotherly kindness prevailed.

Under the Gospel dispensation every year may be a Jubilee year. It will come to us along our strongest desires and efforts.

The year of Jubilee can not come to the drunkard restoring his home, cancelling his debts, and freeing his children from the bondage of ignorance, poverty and disgrace until every Christian man and woman "preach the acceptable year of the Lord."

Today is the year of opportunity! What is your duty? Is it not to sound a trumpet blast against the walls of national iniquity that the year of Jubilee may be herelined in.

MATTIE CAMMACH GIBSON.

THE CHURCH'S "MOVE" NEXT.

It's our move. What shall we do to get the boys into the church and then to send them out so nerved and vitalized with its teaching, that its word will be with power, in the body politic? The answer is: Make the church strong. She cannot hold young men with a grip that is flabby.

The national rallying place for a campaign of virility is at the liquor problem; we are informed about it; we are agreed about it; it is imminent; it is moral; it is economic; it is industrial; it is terrible.

Think of the license question. To the Christian voter comes the saloon-keeper, red-handed, saying, "I intend to pre-empt the streams of political power and gear them to gin-mills for grinding young men to saloon pulp. I shall do so, right or wrong; but I prefer to have the right to do it." What do you say?

And the Christian voter fairly gasps at the cruelty and the treason of it and replies:

"You should not do this thing; it is a crime that you propose. The chief asset of the nation of its men; and you break men and bray them as in a mortar. And the chief temples of the nation are its homes, and you loot homes and desolate them. The chief defense of the nation is the school, and you defeat it and pervert its output. The chief security of the nation is the law, and you befoul it at its sources and defeat it all the way. The chief business of the nation is truth and justice and you make them a lie and a farce. The most precious possession of the nation is the hearts of its women, and you despise them. I forbid you, in the name of public virtue."

And the saloon-keeper says: "Oh, well, if virtue is the subject of your story, we can do business. Fetch out your virtue; show it to me; put a price on it; sell it. How much is it?" And this Christian government puts it up for sale, with a tag on it, and even hawks it in the purlieus of the city, and the saloon-keeper says: "Done, I can use that kind of virtue in my business, knock it down to me. I take it off your hands and off your mind. It is mine."

And it is his, at so much money, by the year. That is the license system.—John G. Woolley, to Young Men in HOME HERALD, Jan. 16, 1907.

The Patriot, the leading liquor paper of Washington has the following news:

"The brewing interest of the country have in operation in the city of Washington a press bureau which is intended to educate the people to a realization of the harmlessness of beer as a beverage, and incidentally to look after legislation in the interests of the brewers."

FLOWER MISSION.

June 9th is annual Flower Mission Day. Our state superintendent of this Department, Mrs. Nellie S. Davis, R. R. No. 3, Marion, has no doubt been in communication with many of the unions during the year and has urged definite work.

There are many persons who can be reached through the medium of flowers and scripture text cards not easily reached otherwise.

Some good work is done in other state in this department by the superintendent securing the co-operation of the ladies who have flowers by getting them to promise one or more good sized bouquets a week.

Then enlisting the interest of the boys and girls to distribute the bouquets.

Every bouquet to have attached, by narrow white ribbon, a card bearing a scripture text, and the words, "Woman's Christian Temperance Union" in small type underneath the text.

These bouquets to be taken regular on certain days of the week to the schools, the hotels and the stores.

This work to continue so far as the stores and hotels are concerned as long as the flowers bloom in the yards.

Consider if you please what this would mean.

The message of flowers and scripture texts would reach many through the schools, hotels, and stores. Familiarize them with some of the work of the W. C. T. U. Especially would this be far-reaching and appreciated by the traveling public who notice closely every thing on the dining tables at the hotels and the shopping public which is always attracted by bouquets on the show cases in the stores.

This method of work can be broadened so as to reach many places not included in the usual plan of reaching the sick and afflicted in the homes and at the hospitals.

Flower Mission Day—(some day in June)—the ninth is early for our flowers—should be observed by every union in Indiana, by sending button hole bouquets to some special place. Hospital, jail, offices in the court house, to the fire department, factories, street car barns, orphan's homes, county poor farms.

To some places, besides the bouquets, fruit, or slices of white cake wrapped in tissue paper and tied with white ribbon and scripture card attached would be a dainty gift. This especially to those in street and interurban service.

The Flower Mission work is beautiful and much can be done by one individual.

Each local president should consider the importance of the Flower Mission in carrying the gospel of Jesus Christ and the blessedness of our beautiful White Ribbon work.

The Mid-Year Executive was held in the First M. E. church, Marion, April 2 and 3.

All of the general officers were present and a large representation of the county presidents. The business meetings were held Tuesday, P. M. and Wednesday A. M.

Mrs. Martha L. Gipe, president of Marion Co., represented her county executive in making a nice little speech of request for the state to invite the National W. C. T. U. convention to come to Indianapolis in 1908 or 1909. This was heartily approved.

The National convention will be held this year at Nashville, Tenn., and possibly in 1908 in Denver, Colo. Indiana must have it in 1909 if not in 1908.

The Indiana State convention will be held in October this year at La Fayette.

Invitations were also received from Elkhart and Bedford but a more central place was decided upon.

The condition of the Hadley Industrial School was presented by Mrs. Lizzie Hann, president of the Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Daisy Barr, of Van Buren, Grant county, secretary of the Young Woman's Branch, resigned on account of being called to the pastorate of the Friends church at Fairmount. Mrs. Barr is a woman of rare qualifications for work.

Mrs. ———, a returned missionary, from India, was elected to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Barr.

Mrs. McWhirter urged greater activity of the press reporters in the local unions, showing their wonderful opportunity to keep the reading public informed upon the work of the W. C. T. U., not by contributing articles on department work but by sending in fresh brief items concerning the local, state and national work and workers.

Miss Sears, State Treasurer, reported an increase of paid members thus far this year.

During the Institute's work there will no doubt be a large increase if the local treasurers will collect the dues.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Julia Overman held a diamond medal contest.

On Wednesday afternoon there was a large attendance of the Grant County White Ribboners and friends.

Miss Mary Woodard made a very practical splendid short address on High License or Prohibition.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl spoke with great earnestness on the Mothers' Meetings.

Mrs. Martha L. Gipe spoke regarding the needs of our work.

Mrs. Ida Mix, secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion Branch, made a good report of the Legion work. She urged that greater effort be made to enlist the young people and to secure leaders.

Mrs. Mix is doing much for the L. T. L.

Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, former state president, was present and enthusiastically greeted. She spoke encouragingly.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley was present for the first of the meeting only, greatly to the disappointment of many.

Mrs. Vayhinger, our state president, made an able and convincing address upon the Relation of Temperance to Missions. This was a great meeting.

The observance of "Lord's Day Week" has given new interest to our W. C. T. U. work in some places in Indiana.

More people are realizing the danger to us as a nation from the indifference toward the Sabbath Day. Our superintendents are doing some excellent work.

One superintendent of Sabbath Observance in an Indianapolis union asked eighteen pastors to preach sermons on the subject on April 14. Many did so, thus great numbers of our earnest christian people were reached with the appalling need of the christian man's activity against the Sabbath being made a holiday and not considered a holy day.

Great service can be done for our cause by words of commendation and appreciation to the editors of the newspapers, regarding what they do and say favorable to temperance and purity. It would only take a few minutes to write a little note and less time to speak over the telephone. The newspaper belongs to them and usually editors are very sensitive concerning the "pulse of the people."

You say they advertise liquor, yes they do. but it is also a fact that the newspapers carry the news to the people and are our very greatest factors in moulding public sentiments.

A resolution for a good purpose may be passed by a small body of people without creating very much favorable sentiment but if the report of that little meeting including the resolution is published in the local paper, the facts are given wide-spread publicity and are commented upon by all classes of readers. Definite sentiment is thus formed many and many times much good accomplished.

The very greatest need of our local unions is good reporters.

Girls or women who will learn how to do good and acceptable reporting.

Newspaper men want news.

The report of a local union meeting should eliminate all minor details, such as would not be of general interest, but something like the following outline.

Time, place, important items reported. If resolution is passed, give it verbatim. Report such business only as will be of general interest to persons unfamiliar with our work, never report little things in detail. Mention names of each person who is on the program. Married women who are not widely known in the community by their first names should be mentioned in the report by their husband's names or initials—thus Mrs. Parker Smith unless she is well and generally known as Mrs. Elmira Smith. A short concise report type-written or very plainly written with pen will almost always get a conspicuous place in the paper if it is sent in the very day or the next morning after the meeting. Stale news is never acceptable. Poor penmanship is abominable. Proper names can not be guessed at but must be spelled correctly and written plainly.

To shirk the work of writing a report by calling up by telephone and giving the editor the news is not practical and is not wise.

Usually the nicely written, well arranged report will appear exactly as sent in and that is what should always be done instead of telling some things that occurred and expect an editor to write a nice report.

The influence of the newspapers is invaluable to our cause.

The Indianapolis Central W. C. T. U. is working for the appointment of matrons or chaperones to look after young girls who go unchaperoned to our large city parks. This subject was first presented to the union by Mrs. L. D. B. Cowan one year ago. A resolution deploing the need and seeking co-operation was presented from Central union to the Local Council of Women at the May meeting and indorsed, this being the last meeting of the council until October no work was done. Mrs. Cowan again presented the matter to Central union and a committee from the union consisting of Mrs. Cowan, Mrs. S. D. Farabee and Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter was appointed. This committee went before the City Park Board and asked for the appointment of two matrons or chaperones for each park for duty from May 15 to Sept. 15, from twelve o'clock noon on twelve o'clock, midnight, or until the parks are closed. The chaperones to be discreet, capable, christian women who will take a motherly interest in unprotected young girls and have authority to send them home if deemed best. This committee presented the subject to the Methodist Ministerial meeting and to the Presbyterian Ministers' meeting, being received in both instances most graciously and hearing passed in both meetings strong resolutions of co-operation.

Army Canteen, that institution of evil to our soldier boys must be fostered by some public men in order for them to keep the influence of the liquor element so necessary for their support at the polls if they are elected to office.

PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

At Elkhart we began the new year by holding a meeting in this department with Mrs. R. C. Travis. Rev. H. N. Spear gave an address on Billboards and Impure Pictures. He made some very fine points along these lines and read our state law bearing upon this department. We have sent out eight thousand pages of literature and are hoping to help create public sentiment for a higher class of pictures. Our Penny Arcade has gone to a cooler climate and just now we are rejoicing that no others will enter the field. Were it possible for us to stop the printing even of impure pictures it would help our boys and girls in many ways.

In eleven years there were captured thirty-five tons of obscene matter and destroyed. Dear sisters is there not from these figures something for each of us to do?

Dear Supt. will you not ask every pastor to preach one or more sermons during the year and report the same to me. Send me any suggestion or item of interest. I have sent out report blanks. Any one that has not received one please write me at once.

Yours in the Work,
R. C. TRAVIS, State Superintendent.

ANNIVERSARY PEACE DAY.

"On May 18, 1899, one hundred delegates of the twenty-six nations that had representatives at St. Petersburg, met in a palace at The Hague to consider the Czar's rescript issued in Aug., 1899. The mightiest monarch in Christendom, appalled that the increased cost of armaments was bringing about the very results armies were formed to avert, had urged the nations to discuss gradual proportionate disarmament. For three months the Conference worked steadily on its problems." The result of this work is the permanent International Court and its fine Temple of Peace which is about to be erected at The Hague in Holland.

The Peace department of the World's and National Woman's Christian Temperance Union in co-operation with other Peace organizations asks that the anniversary of that first Conference of Nations, May 18, (or a date near to it) be observed by schools in all localities, where practicable, for the promulgation of arbitration principles.

Suggestive programs and samples of literature can be obtained for ten cents, of the department superintendent, at Winthrop Center, Me.

HANNAH J. BAILEY, Supt.

World's and National Peace and Arbitration.

Marion County Institute was held in Trinity Methodist church, West Indianapolis, with a good attendance. Careful arrangements having been made by the county officers. Mrs. Gipe, county president, was present and ably assisted in the details by the other county officers. Mrs. Vayhinger, state president, was the leader. Rev. Moore, the pastor, was present and helpful in all ways possible. Under Mrs. Vayhinger's able leadership the institute was helpful and interesting. New members were added to the union. Mrs. Vayhinger's address on Suffrage was excellent. The contest on the last night was good.

For Flower Mission Scripture text cards send to Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College Ave., Indianapolis. Price 15 cents per hundred. Sold only by the hundred.

Mrs. W. L. Northam writes: "The Sheridan W. C. T. U. and other temperance organizations secured the services of Mrs. Trego for her three days' lecture course. To say we enjoyed her talks would be expressing our feelings mildly. Her illustrated lecture and pictures were fine but she is such an artist at "word pictures" that to some they were more of a treat than the pictures on the canvass. Mrs. Trego's argument is convincing and her style of delivery so entertaining that to hear her once begets a great desire to hear her again. The night services were well attended and as an indication of the appreciation of her work an offering of twenty-five dollars was taken up the last night of her lecture. We considered it a great privilege to have had Mrs. Trego with us.

Monroe County dry but one place and I shall not tell you which that is for we have such a strong union there and with nine honorary members who say to our women command and we will obey so it will be dry too when the time comes. Temperance outlook was never better in Bloomington than now, although our dry town there is much yet to do. Some of the boys are found drunk from Lemon Extract. Now dear sisters for once and forever banish all from your home that contain any alcohol. With Mrs. Beck, Co. President, we think there will be no doubt we will have our six unions. Requests are coming in for organization, so we think the harvest is ready. We have a young lady with us who has won the grand diamond medal. Not many countries can boast of that. I do not suppose she will care if I tell her name—Miss Simmons. Now do not criticise us about our high school trouble. They were not W. C. T. U.'s. Had they been 'twould never happened.

PRES. O. SIRBENTHAL.

Madison County Institute was held in the beautiful First M. E. church, Anderson, Ind., April 10 and 11th. Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, the leader, and the testimony of one and all was that this was the best ever held, the lecture on Wednesday evening was one of the finest.

Medal Contest on Thursday evening good. As a result of the Institute twenty-three active members were secured and ten for the "Ys." Mrs. Retta Jones, the County President, was largely responsible for the success of the meeting in her wise planning and the local women responding to the plans.

Gov. Hock of Kansas, says: The per capita wealth in Kansas is ninety dollars, nearly three times the average in the United States, and a poor-house is always a joke in Kansas. Prohibition is no failure.

It is the duty of liquor men throughout the country to 'spot' every Congressman and member of a legislature, who is suspected of strong temperance proclivities, and exert themselves to the utmost to defeat him."—Texas Liquor Dealer, San Antonio.

FIELD NEWS

South Bend:—The week of prayer for Sabbath Observance under the auspices of Mrs. Kathryn Wert Holler, our indefatigable state superintendent of Sabbath Observance, was held in South Bend and was attended by many earnest people who not only pray but act for a good cause. Mrs. Holler called at the Ministerial Association when that body was in session and urged upon them to preach a sermon Sunday, 14th, on the Sacredness of the Sabbath Day, which was readily agreed to. Professor Thompson will address a mass meeting some time in May on Sabbath Observance. Aside from accomplishing all this, Mrs. Holler conducted a Chart Talk on this great subject at the Gumcydt St. Baptist church which was listened to by a good sized interested audience and also at the Colfax Union the program for the afternoon was on Sabbath Observance and many good thoughts were brought out. Mrs. Holler knows how to push her department work, and she ever meets with success.

Dupont:—Mrs. Trego, a National Evangelist, was with us for a three days' meeting in March. Mrs. Trego's lectures and addresses had excellent influence in this locality and resulted in increased membership of our union and a general good influence on public opinion on the matter of licensing of the liquor evil. Mrs. Trego's final lecture, stereopticon, was an especially powerful shot at the liquor devil. I can scarcely think of anything better for a mixed audience in country or city.—L. C. HOPPEL.

The Boston W. C. T. U. of Monroeville, Allen county, Indiana, entertained the County Institute on March 20th and 21st. This being the third time in succession that the County Institute has been entertained by this union. The Institute was a general uplift to all who were able to attend. Sickness kept many at home. Mrs. Cammack Gibson was present and cheered by her hopeful presence, and helped by her practical advice and encouragement. A Silver Medal Contest was held on the second evening by a class of boys and girls, ranging in age from 9 to 13 years. They were greeted by a crowded house. Master Virgil Youse received the medal. Mrs. Gibson's address, "Five Boys in Knee Pants," was listened to with marked attention. Many favorable comments were heard regarding it. Altogether it was a very interesting and helpful institute amply repaying the Marion team for their work.

The Salem W. C. T. U. held Willard Memorial service at the Presbyterian church here, at 7:00 p. m., on the 17th. The church was crowded two other congregations here being dismissed for the occasion. Mrs. Fanny G. Ellis, our efficient president, presided. The meeting was a success in every way. Judging from their very close attention, remarks at the close of the meeting, and the large free will offering for our work, the big audience highly appreciated the program.

Our Union meets the first and third Tuesday of each month. At our last meeting a member read a lengthy paper on "Equality of the Sexes Morally, Socially and Civilly, is in Accordance with the Scripture." In hope of dispelling some of the ignorance in regard to the woman's rights question, we put on our program for the year, several subjects relating to this matter. Our local Superintendent of Franchises conducted a very successful canvass for signatures to the petition sent out by State Superintendent, securing the signatures of ninety per cent. of those to whom the petition was presented.

MARY N. OVERMAN,
Superintendent of Press Work.

The Columbus W. C. T. U. has had Mrs. Trego with them for a course of lectures. Any Union desiring Mrs. Trego's service need not have any fears of being disappointed. She is fine. Her stereopticon lecture, as well as the others, is first class.

Butterville:—Mrs. Trego visited our community March 17, 18 and 19, and we are delighted with her services. We feel that our cause has been wonderfully strengthened by having had the presence of this eloquent and powerful speaker with us. The audience proved materially their appreciation when the baskets were passed and twenty dollars was given Mrs. Trego. The lectures were powerful and convincing, sound doctrine was the basis of each address. Indiana ought to grow with such women as we have in the field. We have twenty-nine members now.

BERNICE DENTON.

LaPorte Union held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Oscar Parkell April 5, to plan for their spring institute. Other business of importance was also transacted. It was decided to order more literature for the members and others. After the meeting, Mesdames Parkell and Bowers served light refreshments.—MRS. SETH PEASE, Press Reporter.

St. Joseph County W. C. T. U. held a Frances Willard Memorial meeting at the First M. E. church in South Bend. Excellent papers on Miss Willard as a child, as a student, as an organizer, and Miss Willard's Home-going, were read respectively by Mesdames Lydrek, Shumaker, Beyer and Axtell. Mrs. Cotton presided. Excellent music was contributed. The program was followed by a social hour, during which light refreshments were served. There was a large attendance and a generous collection given for the organization fund. Sunday, the 17th, Rev. Appleby preached a memorial sermon at the same church.

Bargersville W. C. T. U. organized in June, 1906, is growing. We have twenty-four members. All are working and are very much in earnest. Temperance Sunday was observed by the Sunday School and teachers, emphasizing temperance truths. Response to roll call was made by the children repeating temperance verses from the Bible. Also three special songs, one declamation and a temperance sermon by the pastor.

Hamilton County Institute was held in the Friends' church at Noblesville, April 8 and 9. Mrs. Rose Pierce was present and encouraged us with many excellent suggestions upon the different departments of work. A number of good papers were read and Mrs. Margaret Cox of Westfield, gave an interesting talk on the Hadley Industrial School.

Mrs. Melissa Emery conducted a successful oratorical contest at the First Methodist church on Monday evening. We feel greatly benefited by the recent lecture delivered in our county by Mrs. Rebecca Trego, and under the leadership of our faithful president, Mrs. Dolly Stalker, we hope to make this a great year for the W. C. T. U. in Hamilton county.—MRS. MARY K. SHOE-MAKER.

Blackford County W. C. T. U. Institute, held April 8th and 9th, at Roll M. E. church, was profitable and inspiring. We were fortunate in securing the services of Mrs. Culla Vayinger. Monday evening she held a large audience in rapt attention by her pointed, decisive truthful utterances, and rendered the temperance work comprehensible to us common people. Her enthusiasm and energetic labors were continual throughout the entire institute Tuesday. The refreshments were served in the basement of the new church, thereby making it possible to have all day service. Our beloved county president, Mrs. S. M. Stahl, in her own impressive, gentle spiritual manner, rendered equally profitable service. Ten new members were gained for Roll union and a splendid Gold Medal contest Tuesday evening was held by Mrs. Bert Ritter, county superintendent of contest work. The music furnished by a ladies' quartette, and a male quartette, was exceptionally pleasing. Mrs. Bert Ritter won the medal.—MARY B. DUNLAP, Press Superintendent.

Oak Ridge Union held a very unique all day meeting with an interesting program, consisting of inspiring remarks concerning the National convention, short talks on various subjects. In the afternoon the Oak Ridge School, with Miss Johnson, the teacher, attended in a body and sang some beautiful and appropriate songs. Mrs. McVicker explained the work of the Loyal Temperance Legion. A splendid dinner was enjoyed by the many present. The special feature of the day was the "Linen Shower" for Hadley Home, consisting of table linen, napkins, towels, dish towels, dust cloths, two comforts, one quilt, fifteen yards of curtain goods, twenty-eight yards of muslin, pillow cases, dresser scarfs, etc. Mrs. Ann Shugart donated one hundred dollars to the Home. She is an earnest member of Oak Ridge Union. This was a great day for Oak Ridge church.

Seymour W. C. T. U. program for a meeting at the home of Mrs. W. A. Wylie:
Devotions—Mrs. M. C. Carpenter.
Business.

Prohibition—Where, and With What Success—Mrs. Hadley.

Ladies' Quartette Mesdames Hoffman, Tickermyer, Carpenter and Wylie.

Other Means Employed—Mrs. W. F. Pfaffenberger.

Music—Ladies' Quartette.

Papers were carefully prepared and of unusual interest, and good attendance. In addition to program Mr. Hadley, father of T. H. Hadley, was present and spoke encouragingly.

Seymour W. C. T. U. arrange to have Gov. Hock's Prohibition address printed in three daily papers, also in the two weeklies. Our special edition was delivered to every home in the city. Seymour believes in the printed word as well as spoken.

Huntington County Institute first day was ably conducted by Mrs. Irene Gard, county president. Our Leader Mrs. Cammack Gibson, had illness in the family which prevented her attending. The subjects presented were instructive and interesting, followed by lively discussions. In the evening we listened to a report of the National and World's conventions, by Mrs. Irene Gard of Warren, which was full of inspiration and worth to our local unions. Tuesday, 19th, our leader being with us added greatly to the interest and enthusiasm, her very presence makes one want to do things, and push work along all lines. Her lecture in the evening was listened to by an attentive audience. His Divine Presence, seemed very near.

Elkhart Birthday Anniversary—A Press meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wertz to which a pressing invitation had been sent to nearly three hundred people, two hundred of whom accepted. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Caroline Fassnacht and Mrs. Charles Holler of South Bend, and Mrs. E. M. McCaskey, president of Goshen Union. There were twenty members of the Hudson Street Loyal Temperance Legion present. Mrs. Lillian M. U. Stevens, president of the National W. C. T. U., was the first Press Superintendent for the United States. This Press meeting was held in her honor.

The following we quote from an Elkhart daily: "The press' idea was carried out in the decorations, there being a tree in one corner whose branches held 'Union Signals,' 'Crusader Monthlies,' 'Messages' and the 'Phalanx,' which are some of the state and national temperance organs. Above this in large blue letters on a white background were the words, 'Press Department.' In an archway hung a large, beautiful picture of Mrs. Stevens, above which were a shield and the press colors, red, white and blue. Other decorations were mottoes and colors.

"The literature committee; Mrs. L. E. Hall and Mrs. Alice Watson, wore Union Signal dresses and during the program told of the 'Tree We Love' and 'How to Tell a Story.'

A piano selection beautifully rendered by Miss Rose Keene, opened the program.

"Mr. Kent, editor of the Daily Review, spoke on 'The Power of the Press,' Mr. L. H. Martin on 'The Press as a Promoter of Evil,' Rev. Grimes, pastor of Castle U. B. church, on 'How Should Christian Organizations Utilize the Press,' and Mrs. B. C. Rowley on 'The Work of the Press Department of the W. C. T. U.'

"These addresses were all excellent and most heartily appreciated. The L. T. L. sang a legion song and gave their legion yell.

"Mr. La Tanner gave a fine piano selection and Mrs. Johnson sweetly sang 'The Holy City.'

"The humorous reading, 'The Editor's Guests,' was delivered in a charming manner by Miss Nellie Smith, and followed by a social hour came press napkins, pressed peanut sandwiches and newspaper cake. At this time Miss Verna Miller and Miss Anana Peterson, Junior Legioners, favored with piano solos.

"Willard autograph cards, tied with the press colors, were given as souvenirs.

"Everyone declared that they had spent a delightful evening at the hospitable Wertz home.

"When the Legioners were ready to leave, they were again asked for their yell, which is here given:

"Hobble! Gabble! Razzle! Dazzle,
Sis, Boom! Bah!
Hudson Street L. T. L. Rah! Rah! Rah!
Will educate and agitate
For God and home and native state,
Rah! Rah! Rah!"

Grant County Jubilee, a red letter day indeed, for the W. C. T. U. forces of Grant county, was Thursday, the 18th of April.

Representatives from 18 different unions gathered in the beautiful country home of their beloved president, Mrs. Gulie E. Shugart. In order to surprise her there was no need of any strategem to insure her absence for a short period as every one knew of her devotion to her church and that this was the time for the regular mid-week service. No inconvenience was encountered by those that quietly took possession of the premises upon the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Shugart, imagine the greeting! More than one hundred White Ribbons fluttered over as many loyal hearted comrades who met them in the yard with the Chautauqua salute, singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." After a most royal welcome had been extended by Mr. and Mrs. Shugart, a banquet feast was enjoyed, such as has not been surpassed recently, either in quality or quantity. Three long tables filled and re-filled until in a remarkably short time all had been served.

In the afternoon a surprise in a more practical form arrived, consisting of a beautiful $25.00 kitchen cabinet which was presented by Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, with a few well chosen remarks. It was most graciously received by Mrs. Shugart. Her husband, B. L. Shugart, paid a high tribute to his wife when he said, she is worthy not only the ranks of the W. C. T. U., but as has been proven in every place she has been called to fill. Beautiful remarks were made by the Rev. Daisy Barr and the Rev. Harvey Ratliff.

At the regular meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Sarah Robertson the members planned a happy and complete surprise by the presentation of a solid silver sugar shell, the date happening to fall on the anniversary of the birthday of the hostess. The gift is highly appreciated by the recipient.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Rebecca J. Bulla, of South Bend, died March 3d. She was a valued member of the Colfax W. C. T. U. Was an earnest prohibitionist, though, in common with her sex, was denied the right of suffrage. Was a member of the C. W. B. M. of the First Christian Church and also of the South Bend prohibition alliance. Long continued ill health and especially the last few years, compelled her to cease activity along these lines, but a deep and abiding interest remained to the last.

INDIANA SUPREME COURT TO DECIDE.

Sixth Successive Defeat for Saloon Within Three Months Drives Liquor Men to Higher Tribunal.

INDIANAPOLIS.—DECISION NO. 4—AND LEGAL VICTORY NO. 6 for the Prohibitionists in their judicial campaign to prove the saloon nuisance and saloon-license unconstitutional, has just been rendered in the Noblesville Circuit Court by Special Judge Reed Hollman, appointed by Judge Christian, in granting a change of venue to the attorneys of Edward L. Sopher, in the case in which his own famous decision was rendered on April 13th, last.

Special Judge Hollman had no sooner rendered his decision than THE LIQUOR ATTORNEYS GAVE NOTICE THAT THE DEFENDANT WOULD APPEAL FROM THE JUDGMENT AGAINST HIM TO THE SUPREME COURT.

This is just what the Prohibitionists have been waiting for ever since Judge Artman's decision, Feb. 13, 1907.

The Future of the Case Before the State Supreme Court.

This appeal, at the outset of course puts the saloon side at a disadvantage. The editors of the Patriot Phalanx, largely through whose courtesy the Associated Prohibition Press has been enabled to give its readers the first particulars of the last five victories against the liquor business, thus outline the possible future of this case, now appealed to the highest judicial tribunal in the State of Indiana:

"The liquor attorneys Shirts and Fertig, of Noblesville, have filed this appeal on behalf of their client Sopher, who was fined by Special Judge Hollman for maintaining a public nuisance, squarely on the ground that all saloons ARE NUISANCES PER SE." In making the appeal to the Supreme Court they asked the court to allow oral argument. If this is granted, there will certainly be a court room packed with interested hearers when the case is heard.

"THE ATTORNEYS ALSO OFFERED TO FILE THEIR BRIEFS IN TEN DAYS, AND PETITIONED TO HAVE THE CASE ADVANCED. This will probably not be done, as our Supreme Court rarely advances a case, the chief exceptions being when the life or liberty of some one is in jeopardy. THE EVIDENT PURPOSE OF THE SALOON ATTORNEYS IN TRYING TO HAVE THE CASE HURRIED UP, IS THEIR HOPE TO GET THE DECISION BEFORE THE RISING TIDE OF PUBLIC SENTIMENT IN THIS STATE GETS ANY HIGHER, aroused by the decisions of the judges who have declared the license law unconstitutional. THE PROBABILITIES ARE THAT THE CASE WILL NOT BE HEARD UNTIL AFTER THE SUMMER VACATION."

Another Liquor Seller Follows Sopher and also Appeals to State Court.

"Attorney Pierson has also filed a transcript for an appeal to the Supreme Court in the case against his client, Mr. Laham, of Sheridan, who was denied a license in the decision of Special Judge Hutchinson at Lebanon."

The Attorney General of State Will Appear for Prohibition Side.

"When these cases are argued in the Supreme Court, the saloon attorneys mentioned will of course be re-inforced by the best legal talent that the liquor side's money can employ, as the brewery and saloon forces realize the very life of their business is at stake. ON THE OTHER SIDE, HOWEVER, THE ATTORNEY GENERAL OF THE STATE IS REQUIRED BY THE LAW TO APPEAR IN COURT FOR THE TEMPERANCE SIDE, since the decision of the Circuit Judges upheld the side taken by the County Prosecuting Attorney. Assisted by Doan & Orbison, it will certainly make a strong legal combination, which will plead for the judicial abolishment of Indiana's liquor license law."

Details of Sixth Great Indiana Victory in Less Than 100 Days.

NOBLESVILLE.—The score is now six to one. Edward L. Sopher has just been found guilty of maintaining a public nuisance in conducting a saloon in this city. He was fined ten dollars and costs. This was the case in which Judge Christian, in overruling a motion by defendants to quash indictment, rendered his famous decision declaring the saloon a nuisance and the law which licenses it unconstitutional. After the Judge's ruling, that the facts were sufficient to constitute an offense, Attorneys Shirts & Fertig for the defendant asked for more time before proceeding to trial, which was granted. They then asked for a change of venue from Judge Christian, which was granted, and he appointed as Special Judge, Reed Hollman, an attorney of Lebanon.

In the trial just concluded here, the only witness examined was Sopher's bartender, who testified that the defendant was engaged in the saloon business in Noblesville, and that the saloon was open to the public on March 9th, the date alleged in the affidavit. The defendant's attorneys insisted that it was necessary to prove that this particular saloon was a public nuisance because of disorderly conduct and violation of the law, if such existed. The judge, however, held to the opinion that all saloons are nuisances per se.

Appeal to Supreme Court Saves Trouble for the Defendant.

Notice was at once given that the defendant would appeal from the judgment against him to the Supreme Court. It might have gone harder with saloonist Sopher than it did. The judge intimated that he would have ruled to abate the nuisance by ordering the saloon's doors permanently closed had the attorneys for the State insisted upon it. The prosecuting attorney, with Doan & Orbison, preferred that the nuisance question be first passed upon by the higher court.

Decision of Judge Hollman.

At the conclusion of the arguments Special Judge Hollman rendered an oral opinion, which though brief was right to the point. This gives court victory number four in Indiana, in less than one hundred days, to the opponents of the saloon and the law under which it is protected and fostered.

In passing on the case, Special Judge Hollman said: "The only question involved is whether or not the retailing of intoxicating liquors is so injurious to the public as to make the business a public nuisance. In view of the fact that nothing good comes from a saloon, except financial gain to the proprietor, it is in my mind purely a public nuisance. It is a nuisance because the results, both directly and indirectly are bad. The saloon effects the man who goes in by robbing him of his character, his money, his reputation, and making of him, in many instances, a criminal and a vagabond. Indirectly it affects his family, who must suffer by reason of his abuse and his failure to provide. THE SALOON AFFECTS THE PUBLIC GENERALLY IN THE INCREASED EXPENSE NECESSARY FOR MAINTAINING JAILS, PENITENTIARIES, ASYLUMS AND POOR HOUSES. IN MY JUDGMENT, A BUSINESS WHOSE CONSEQUENCES LEAD TO SUCH RESULTS IS WITHIN THE DEFINITION OF A PUBLIC NUISANCE, AND THEREFORE AMENABLE TO THE STATUTE UNDER CONSIDERATION."

INDIANAPOLIS, May 9.—News has just reached this city that the boards of County Commissioners in Morgan and Fountain Counties, (at Martinsville and Covington) in regular monthly session this week, received applications for saloon licenses and turned them down unanimously.

Each county of Indiana has a board of three County Commissioners, which board receives applications for licenses, and heretofore has always granted them, unless there is a remonstrance filed with the majority of voters in a city, ward or country township.

IN THESE CASES THERE WERE NO SUCH REMONSTRANCES, BUT THE COMMISSIONERS TOOK THE HIGH GROUND THAT JUDGES ARTMAN AND CHRISTIAN WERE RIGHT IN THEIR DECISIONS AND THEREFORE ACTED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THIS CONVICTION.

Applicants for licenses in those two counties must now "lie down" or appeal to judge of the Circuit Court, where THE ISSUE WILL BE SQUARELY MET AND ARGUED ON THE LINE OF CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE LICENSE LAW.

Morgan County now has eight saloons, all in the county seat, Martinsville.

Fountain County has 34! Four of them sought to have their licenses renewed at this term of the Commissioners.

The first honors for this precedent-making action goes to Morgan County, where on Monday last the Commissioners refused licenses to two applicants from Martinsville.

The cases being up for determination, Frank E. Carlisle, of Mooresville, a Commissioner, moved that, inasmuch as it was the understanding and opinion of the board that a saloon is a public nuisance, and that there was a remonstrance on file, the board was without authority of law or morals to grant a license to sell intoxicating liquors, and further that if any one should grant a license to sell intoxicants in Morgan County, it should be the Circuit Court and not the Board of Commissioners. This motion was sustained by the other two members, James Blair and S. W. Tackett.

Morgan County Commissioners Upheld by County Attorney.

The commissioners then asked County Attorney Silas C. Kivett for his opinion on the question. Kivett upheld the board and stated: "If the saloon, as an institution, is within itself a public nuisance and inherently dangerous to public peace, public safety and public morals (as, in my opinion it is), then this board has not only the right to refuse a license to conduct such an evil, but it is wholly without authority to grant such a license."

In answer to questions put to him by attorneys for the applicants, Mr. Kivett further said that it was his understanding "that THE SUPREME COURT OF THIS STATE, THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT AND THE COURTS OF LAST RESORT OF MANY OF THE STATES OF THE UNION HAVE ADJUDICATED CASES WITH REFERENCE TO THE SALOON BUSINESS ON THE BASIS THAT A SALOON IS A DANGEROUS INSTITUTION AND IF SUCH IS ITS STATUS, THEN NO RIGHT OF LICENSE CAN EXIST; THAT IT IS A NATURAL RIGHT OF EVERY CITIZEN TO BE FREE FROM SUCH AGENCIES AS ARE INHERENTLY DANGEROUS TO HIS PEACE, SAFETY AND MORALS; THAT NO COURT OR LEGISLATURE HAS THE POWER TO ADOPT A RULE OR PASS A LAW WHICH ANNULS THIS NATURAL RIGHT; THAT NATURAL LAWS ARE SUPREME, IRREVOCABLE AND UNCHANGEABLE — WHOLLY BEYOND THE POWER OF LEGISLATURES TO REPEAL, MODIFY OR AMEND—BUT FROM THE VERY BASIS UPON WHICH SOCIETY RESTS, NATURAL LAWS MUST BE HELD SUPREME. It would shock all sense of modesty if a law should be passed authorizing and directing this board to grant to certain men, on the presentation of certain credentials and the payment of a fee, a license to commit acts of public indecency on the streets. Even the most hearty supporters of the saloon would not hesitate to condemn such a law and proclaim its invalidity as being against the common right, and, to my mind, the evils inseparable with the sale of intoxicating liquors, perhaps by long custom more easily endured, are by far more dangerous to society than the case suggested, and hence deserves like condemnation, and I can not advise this board that there is any law empowering it to barter away the rights of citizens to be free from things in their very nature dangerous to their peace and safety and the well-being and good morals of the community."

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

As already announced, June 30th is to be Sunday School Anti-Cigarette Day. Each Sunday School Superintendent should be interviewed and won to an effort to observe Anti-Cigarette Day. Try to have the Anti-Cigarette Program prepared by our Department used in every Sunday School. Furnish the Sunday School with all needed supplies. This will be a wise and good investment of the funds of the Local Union; though we recommend, also, that Sunday Schools purchase their supplies. The afternoon of June 30th should be devoted to an enthusiastic Anti-Cigarette Sunday School Rally, with a program of interest in which representatives of each Sunday School shall have part. Mrs. Stella B. Irvine has prepared a new Anti-Cigarette Rally Program, which will be easily arranged, and we believe very effective. Offer a prize for the best essay on "Why Sign the Anti-Cigarette Pledge?" Have the essay read and the prize awarded at the Sunday School Rally. Superintendents, push the medal contest work in the Sunday Schools. Have at least one contest each quarter, just before the Temperance Sunday. The new Sunday School medal is beautiful.

Enroll the Sunday School workers, including Sunday School teachers on our Department Roll of Honor. Each will receive a certificate and our catalogue of supplies. Send the names to me. Send for programs, etc., to Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, Riverside, California.

MEMBERSHIP DUES.

Every member of our local unions should feel an interest in the collection of membership dues. The liquor men count us by our membership, and that is only from the reports giving the number that have paid dues. Our petitions and our resolutions carry weight with them just in proportion to what number they represent. The Ohio W. C. T. U. with over sixteen thousand members demands consideration. No body of men will turn away from a request sent in by that many women without giving it due consideration, favorable, usually. The Indiana W. C. T. U. with only six thousand can not have the influence that Ohio can have. Now in every Union there are some who would help us by the payment of dues if they understood how greatly we need the influence of each name. We need the influence of each woman! Every name added to our membership means much for our cause. Women! collect dues and thereby help to make the W. C. T. U. of Indiana a more powerful organization. There are few Christian women who will refuse to give their names and their dollar membership fee for our temperance cause. To secure members, district the town, or city, and go out in twos, visit every woman who is not openly in favor of saloons. Tell these women of our great need of their influence in this time of greatest temperance activity in Indiana. If the temperance people gain the victory over the saloon element we must have strong reinforcements. Every woman who will help in increasing our membership during the near future will be definitely helping to hasten the day when Indiana will shake off the saloon yoke. Help! Help now!!

Hon. Charles Eckhart of Auburn, Indiana is one of our best friends. He helps the Prohibition cause and he helps the W. C. T. U. Mr. Eckhart gave $25.00 in gold to the Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association for the first oratorical prize.

Kentucky has ninety counties under prohibition and in each of the remaining twenty-five counties there is some prohibition territory. This is the old Bourbon State.

PROHIBITION FOR TENNESSEE.

The liquor business is outlawed in the State of Tennessee, except in the following four places: Nashville, Chattanooga, Memphis and LaFollette, a small mining town in the mountains of Eastern Tennessee.

Clinton County Institute was held at Mulberry. Mrs. Trego was present. Of her Mrs. Hattie Steckel says: "She is a splendid all round consecrated W. C. T. U. worker. She did our Union and our town good. Explained our work along many lines."

The liquor trade is no longer a loosely scattered business with 200,000 individual and independent agencies for the retailing of intoxicants, but a big monopoly with $500,000,000 of vested capital interests, with greater political power than any three of the other so-called trusts, and a grip upon organized vice, corruption and crime, which once broken by its own legal destruction, would more surely tend to the purification of politics and the redemption of American manhood than all other moral endeavors now being carried on, the church alone excepted. That is the situation today and the Prohibitionist is confident that the hour of final victory for the greatest moral reform of modern history is already sounding in our ears.

The State Prohibition Oratorical Contest was held in the college chapel at DePauw University on May 3d, at 7:30 p. m., with a fair audience. There was a big delegation from Taylor University; smaller delegations from other colleges. Invocation by Rev. J. F. Hoagland, who prayed specifically for the speakers and the cause they represented. The speakers and subjects as follows: "Conspirators Shall Not Rule," Wm. D. Leekens, Valparaiso; "America's Coming Crisis," A. B. Kenna, Taylor University; Gustave Noelscher, Earlham; "The Eternal Solution of the Liquor Problem," A. R. Gephart, De Pauw; "Why Swallow was Defeated," Lloyd M. Crograve, Indiana University. Excellent music was furnished, among which was a vocal solo by Mr. Lawrence Oulay and violin solo by Mr. Ross Baker. While the judges were out Mr. Nattkemper, a DePauw student, who won the diamond medal at our State Convention at Columbus, gave a humorous reading. The prizes were in gold; first, $25.00; second, $15.00; third, $10.00; The first was won by the Earlham man, second by DePauw and third by Taylor University. The local arrangements were in charge of the DePauw Prohibition League, J. Raymond Schmidt, president. During the State Conference, of which this oratorical contest was the closing, Mr. Schmidt was elected state president of the Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association. Mr. Schmidt is an earnest, energetic young college man, of whom Indiana has reason to be proud.

The Mid-Year Executive Committee emphasizes reports and reporting. Mrs. Potter, superintendent of Rescue Work, also tendered her resignation and the department was left vacant the remainder of the year.

Moved by Mrs. Retta Jones, that we as a State W. C. T. U. ask for municipal suffrage at our next Legislature. A hearty unanimous vote was given to this recommendation.

The subject of final reports was introduced by Mrs. Cammack-Gibson by the following motions: That advance sheets of the superintendents' reports be printed previous to the State Convention, and that the reports be in the hands of the recording secretary by the 25th of September, was indorsed; as likewise the following: That superintendents make a summary of the work done in their departments at the close of their reports.

Miss Woodard handled the subject, "Making a State Directory," in a very helpful way, urging the county presidents to have their unions hold their elections early in the year, (first meeting in September) and send names of officers immediately to the corresponding secretary; and also that counties hold their conventions before State Convention and report officers and superintendents.

RAILROADS.

There are nearly half a million miles of steam railways in the United States, and over 1,200,000 employes in connection with those railways; and the mileage of the roads of the country is all the time increasing. And besides the steam railway, there is the electric car lines; 500 miles of surface street car lines in New York City alone. Then with the postmen, policemen and firemen of the country, your mind can grasp that a great work can be done through this department, touching the lives of so many hundreds of thousands of earnest workers.

In some places free reading rooms and libraries have been opened, where railroad men can go and pass the time when "off duty," when otherwise they would have no place but in the saloon—these places always being ready and anxious to receive them. During the past year, Kansas

City, Mo., has opened one of these havens of rest and good influence. This one, besides having a free reading room, has bath, waiting, lunch rooms and room for games. The building has cost $2,000, but it is all paid for, and since opened, a few months ago, the library has been visited by 300 cattle men, 400 railway men, 100 wayfarer men and boys, and others. The dear, faithful women are running it in opposition to the seven saloons that are about it. One day a man said to the superintendent, "that he had been shipping cattle to Kansas City for the past seventeen years, and that this "Willard Free Reading Room" was the first door that had been opened to him, outside of the saloon;" and then he said, "I want to see the women that have done this great work."

In some places drinking fountains have been erected in convenient places, where the street car men can get a drink of pure, good water, instead of going to the saloon, to be refreshed after a hard run.

Many superintendents send invitations to railway men and their families to be present at special services, and these services are usually well attended. Several State Superintendents report "the interest is growing in this department."

TEMPERANCE LITERATURE.

Dear Editor—Please state in your paper that I am requesting every National Officer and Superintendent of Department Work, every Evangelist, Organizer, State President and Superintendent of Temperance Literature, and through them, every Local Superintendent of this department in the Union to observe Neal Dow's birthday, March 20th, as Union Signal Day, by holding a public meeting and by striving as did that great and good and wise man, to flood their State knee deep in Temperance Literature.

I have asked, that if they had received a blessing this year, to send to my associate in office, Miss Addie Austin, The Silversmith Building, Chicago, for Miss Anna Gordon's book, "Toots and Other Stories," and to give it to some little child. If they could do no more than to send out one leaflet where it might do good, or to send thousands to hotels, lumber camps, lodges, saloons, clubs, depots, parks, sanitariums, reformatories, reading and rest rooms, schools, pulpits, S. A. Camps, churches, hospitals, public meetings and Sunday Schools. Asking that God will bless a service done in His name for temperance and prohibition. Yours with love,

MRS. MAE A. DAVIS,

1115 Montana Street, El Paso, Texas.

Artman Decision.—It will be good news to prohibition and temperance workers everywhere to know that the famous decision of Judge Artman, of Indiana, declaring saloon license unconstitutional has been printed as a United States government document, and is now available as such from the public printer at Washington. It is "Senate Document No. 384, 59th Congress, 2d Session," and its title page shows that on motion of United States Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, on March 2, 1907, the Artman decision was "ordered to be printed." This is in itself a notable achievement. "Senate Document No. 384, 59th Congress, 2d Session, ought to be in great demand.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

June 30th will be Anti-Cigarette Day in the Sunday Schools of the United States. This is in accordance with the request made by our National Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. E. B. Ingalls, and also by the appointment of the Temperance Department of the International S. S. Association. The plans outlined by the S. S. Department are as follows: Let a special committee interview each S. S. Supt. presenting the Anti-Cigarette Program for the S. S. hour and offering assistance. Confer also with Temperance Secretaries and tactfully suggest plans for Anti-Cigarette Day. Let unions furnish all the needed supplies. Send to Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, 115 Walnut Street, Riverside, California, for the S. S. Anti-Cigarette Budget of "Helps;" price, 15 cents. Circulate Anti-Cigarette Pledges and such literature as will cause an "arrest of thought." Plan for a S. S. Anti-Cigarette Rally in the afternoon, using the program prepared by Mrs. Irvine, entitled "The Anti-Cigarette Warfare." Each school can be represented on this program. Announce and advertise the rally, stirring the hearts of the people by printed articles in the local papers. Offer a prize for the best essay on "Why Sign the Anti-Cigarette Pledge," and have the same read by the writer at the rally. Report the work done to your County and State Superintendents of the S. S. Dept. Beloved White-Ribboners, the call comes to you for service. June 30th, Anti-Cigarette Day for the Sunday Schools, affords you a wonderful opportunity—will you not seize it? All the "tools" needed for this work will be found in the "Budget" above mentioned, and also new, illustrated and very attractive Anti-Cigarette leaflets. Let us equip ourselves and begin at once to plan for the observance of Sunday School Anti-Cigarette Day.

INSTITUTES.

The Whitley County Institute was held at Churubusco. The Institute opened with the County President, Mrs. Pressler in the chair and Mrs. Retta Jones as leader. Reports were given of some special temperance work done in the county; some of the county superintendents also gave very good reports of their work. The State Program was used through the entire session of the Institute, with only one exception, "that of holding a contest in the evening." Many subjects were discussed that were very interesting and instructive. The question box brought many questions before the Institute, which, with their answers, convinced many that suffrage should be given to women. The lecture on Thursday night, April 18th, was well attended. Mrs. Jones presented many thoughts on the subject of "Social Perils" and proved that the greatest of all are impurity and intemperance. The subject for the second night was, "Why Disfranchise the Women?" This was a grand address given by Mrs. Retta Jones. The recitations, songs, solo, quartette and instrumental music were all very good.

MARY M. COULTER.

The Mooresville W. C. T. U. entertained the Morgan County Institute April 22d and 23d, which was said to be the best institute ever held in this county. With two such loyal leaders as Mrs. Bettie Adams of Morgantown, our county president and Mrs. Rose Pierce, state superintendent, as our leader, our institute could not have been otherwise than a grand success. The attendance was good and a greater interest was shown than was ever known in this county. Our white ribbon women in Mooresville are greatly encouraged and have renewed courage and hope to press onward and upward in this grand work God has given us to do. Our superintendent of Flower Mission is planning for a public entertainment in the near future to secure friends to carry on the Flower Mission. Our baby contest was greeted with a crowded house and was a success in every way. We have been asked repeatedly to hold another, which we hope to do soon. Little Doris Lietzman, who won the medal, was only six years old. The following poem she recited was written by one of our white ribbon sisters, Mrs. Dora Dresslar:

A HAPPY HOME.

Now friends you have heard this story
And Oh! could it be more sad?
Listen, now I will tell you another
Which will make your hearts more glad.
I have the bestest papa
That ever you did see,
He loves mamma more'n a bushel,
And they both love me.
He brings me all the good things
Every time he comes,
And he never scolds and snaps at me,
Like the papas who drink rum.
To the serpent in the wine glass, he says,
"No!"
And stamps it to the ground,
"I'll never be a brute for you!
But I'll be a man all round!"
Oh we love each other dearly,
And we have the happiest home,
Just let me tell you the secret,
Cause my papa don't drink rum.

Morgan County Institute at Mooresville—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union held their annual institute at Mooresville, April 22d and 23d, conducted by Mrs. Rose Pearce. Mrs. Bettie Adams, President of Morgan County, opened the first session, which convened at two p. m. Monday. Mrs. Alice Burke gave the address of welcome, which was responded to by Mrs. Pearce. Some good papers were read and recitations given; these with the business consumed the time. Much interest was shown along all lines of temperance. A silver medal contest at night closed the exercises for the day; Miss Gentry of Mooresville, being the minner of the medal. The second and third sessions were brim full of enthusiasm. Several ministers and citizens of the town being present, all of whom took part in the afternoon session. Great interest was manifested at every meeting, and this proved the best institute in attendance and interest ever held in Morgan County.

Mrs. Bessie Grove, Press Reporter.

The Dearborn County Institute was held in the M. E. Church, Dillsboro, Indiana, with a good attendance. We had the pleasure of having our State Treasurer, Miss Clara M. Sears, with us. She ably assisted our dear County President, Mrs. Rynerson, and the rest of our officers in carrying out the program. We had a number of excellent papers. Prof. J. H. Roubust on "The Boy and the Cigarette;" Rev. A. A. Helms on "Evils of So-Called Patent Medicines;" Rev. V. B. Hargitt on "Licensed Evil; a Violation of the Purpose and Spirit of the Law;" with a number of other good papers read. Many good things were helpfully discussed. The Medal Contest was fine. Miss Mamie Vinson, of Dillsboro, receiving the medal. The address by Miss Clara Sears the second evening was very good. So in all we feel we have had a very helpful institute and the hospitality of the good people of Dillsboro will long be remembered.

Mrs. Emma Wernke.

Wells County Institute was held March 28th and 29th, in the First M. E. Church, of Bluffton, with our dear sister, Mrs. Cammack Gibson, as leader, who with her store of knowledge was ever ready to answer our many questions, and give information on many subjects. Rev. Harrington, pastor of the Christian Church, Bluffton, was present and gave us much encouragement by his presence and the many good things he said. He is a thorough voting Prohibitionist, therefore his heart is in the work. A number of other Prohibition brethren were also in attendance. The first evening there was a grand gold medal contest, with six contestants. The winner of the medal was a young man, one of Wells County's enterprising school teachers. Friday evening we went to the Mission, where we were greeted by an enthusiastic crowd, and listened to a very able discourse by the leader. He urged us on to greater activity in the cause we love so well. Many beautiful flowers were donated to our use by the Myers Green House, among them a beautiful bouquet of white carnations. These were all taken to brighten the rooms of the sick of the city.

The Bartholomew County Institute was held in the U. B. Church at Orinoco, May 9th and 10th. State President, Mrs. Culla Vayhinger, leader, who is now a resident of our county. There was a large and enthusiastic audience at both evening sessions. Thursday evening Mrs. Vayhinger gave her lecture on "Why Disfranchise Women Citizens," in a forcible manner. The following ministers assisted with the program: Revs. Harlow, Haley, Hyde and Neal. The session closed Friday evening with a gold medal contest class from Hartsville, prepared by the County Contest Superintendent, Mrs. Minerva Cummins, of Hartsville. Miss Pearl Clap won the medal. There was a silver offering of $10.00 taken, and a gain of twenty-five new members during the institute, three being honorary members; twenty-one members going to the Orinoco Union, which gives it a membership of thirty-one active and four honorary members. The union was organized last September. We already feel the effects of Mrs. Vayhinger's residence in this county, there being a general awakening of temperance sentiment.

Miss Birdella Brown,
Columbus, Ind., R. F. D. No. 1.

The Benton County Institute met in Oxford April 25th and 26th. It opened Thursday afternoon with devotion by Miss Phoebe Kolf of Oxford. The institute was greeted in a pleasing manner by the County President, Mrs. Amanda Smith, after which the State Organizer, Mrs. Rose Pearce, leader, took charge. Mrs. Petree led in a discussion on "How Best to Push the Work." Mrs. Pearce occupied the rest of the time in answering questions on our new laws, and how best to enforce them. Mrs. Pearce lectured in the evening on general lines of temperance work. Owing to the cold, disagreeable weather Thursday, the audiences were not so large as was hoped, but Friday made up for our disappointment as the members from Otterbein and Boswell came on the early trains and all spent a very profitable and interesting day. Rev. Miller, of the Free Methodist Church, gave a most interesting talk on "Why he is a Temperance Man." He attributed it to his early training in the L. T. L. Mrs. Ella Maddox, of Otterbein, read a paper on "Representative Women of Today." Mrs. Edith Wright of Boswell, had a paper on "Anti-Narcotics," showing that tobacco, as well as drink, punishes the innocent with the guilty. Mrs. Florence Smith's paper on "Why Should a Church Member Belong to the W. C. T. U.?" was full of good reasons why all Christians should belong. Mrs. Laura Hawkins not being present her paper on "Purity in Literature and Art," was read by Mrs. Gwin. The symposium on "The Attitude the Church Should Maintain Toward the Saloon," was introduced by Rev. Gillet of the Christian Church, followed by Rev. Raxon of the M. E. Church, and Rev. Chamberlain of the Boswell M. E. Church, which was very interesting. Mesdames Rowe and Petree conducted the parliamentary drill, which was made interesting by everybody trying. Mrs. Rowe read a paper on "Are the Newspapers of Today Educative in the Best Sense?" An expression was taken as to whether Benton County wished to have the National Convention invited to Indianapolis in 1908 or 1909. Those present were in favor of it. Also much pleasure was expressed at having the State Convention at LaFayette this year. Friday evening a silver medal contest was held, in which eight contestants took part. Robert Metsker, of Boswell, received the medal, his subject being "I and Hepsy." The Glee Club and other musical talent of Oxford, which helped in the entertainment made it a very decided success.

H. W. M.

The Porter County Institute was held in the U. P. Church at Hebron, on May 2d and 3d, with Mrs. Rose Pearce as leader. She instructed us along all lines that were helpful and did us much good. Our county president was with us and represented the Valparaiso Union. Many interesting papers were read and discussed, all of which inspired us on to nobler efforts. A silver medal contest was held the evening of the 2d in the largest church in town, which was filled to overflowing, showing the interest in our work in the community. In our contest were five girls and two boys. The medal was won by Opal Wright, a girl of Hebron, speaking "The Deacon's Sermon." Mrs. Pearce in a pleasing speech presented the medal and explained the different steps in the work. Many members were added to our list as the result of our county institute.

ELIZABETH RICE.

The Jefferson County first annual meeting and county institute was held at Dupont, Ind., May 2d and 3d, and was a grand success, conducted by our County President, Mrs. G. W. Augustin, with our beloved State Treasurer, Miss Clara Sears as instructor. We all voted her a host in herself and want her again. We had a fine attendance and an exhilarating and helpful session. Gained seven new members; six for Dupont and one for North Madison. The papers read are being published in the Madison Daily Democrat. Quite a number of subscriptions were obtained for the periodicals represented.

Presbyterians See Cheer in Current Prohibition Progress.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 18.—In its annual report to the Presbyterian General Assembly the Permanent Committee on Temperance declared that current events were full of encouragement to the prohibition reform. Continuing the report said: "One-half of the area and more than one-third of the population of the United States is now under prohibitory law. The attitude of science, industry, education, religion, journalism, sociology, law, labor, capital, business, economics, art, literature and general public sentiment all prophecy the overthrow of the liquor traffic."

FROM MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

I am glad to report fifty new members from my recent trip north. I spent two days in Argos and the country near by. Had good audiences and all the churches were full of enthusiasm. They had just had an unjust decision by the courts, which defeated their remonstrance, and therefore the people were eager to hear the gospel of Prohibition. Mrs. Shedd joined me there for a county campaign. We went to Plymouth, Culver, Bourbon, Gilead and Bremen, and found the local unions all on the surface and many of them in fine fighting trim. I spent the Sabbath at South Bend, where Mrs. Fassnacht had plans well laid for her county. We went to Mishawauka Sabbath morning, where Rev. Travis had a fine audience for us. The women there are anxious for organization. The afternoon and evening were spent in South Bend. The forces there have decided to move against their saloons under Judge Hartman's plan. Sabbath afternoon I addressed the Y. W. C. A., and the M. E. Church in the evening. The meetings at La Porte, Valparaiso, N. Liberty and Knox were small on account of the rains, but withal enthusiastic. The offerings to the State Fund were as follows: Bremen, $5.18; Argos, $5.20; Plymouth, $1.57; Culver, $6.50; Bourbon, $5.00; Gilead, $3.31; Mishawauka, $10.50; South Bend, $7.15; La Porte, $1.89; La Porte, later, $1.11; Valparaiso, $2.15; N. Liberty, $1.95; Knox, $2.36. I was called to Bloomington last Saturday by the Temperance Committee of the Friends' Church. Had three fine audiences. Our dear little De Ella Leonard is pastor of the church there. She will help our cause in Parke County. The victory is ours.

Elizabeth T. Stanley.

The April meeting of the Carmel W. C. T. U. was held at the M. E. Church on the afternoon of the 18th. The subjects discussed were of special interest to mothers. Mrs. Mattie Cox, county superintendent of Mothers' Meetings was present, and addressed the meeting on the subject of "Mothers Responsibilities and Duties." A cradle roll was organized with an enrollment of thirteen. After adjournment refreshments were served, and quite a number of visitors being present a social time was enjoyed during which three new members were enrolled.

EVA JESSUP, Press Supt.

The LaFayette Union of the W. C. T. U. gave a very successful silver medal contest recently, and under the management of Mrs. I. S. Wade. It was a class of little girls from ten to fourteen years of age, and their skill in this work was quite pronounced. Miss Henrietta Meachens being the winning contestant. There was a good audience and was a financial success. This union expects to give another contest in a very short time.

Seymour.—The Mothers' Meeting in April at the home of Mrs. J. E. McKinney was a decided success in numbers present and excellence of the program. Mrs. Brook's paper, "Girls and Boys of the Present," was highly appreciated and discussed. Visitors contributed to the program and to the pleasure and profit of all. Mrs. F. H. Hadley, local superintendent of Mothers' Meetings was in charge.

FIELD NEWS

Indianapolis Central Union has three L. T. L's. Mrs. Helen M. Gougar is an honorary member of this union.

Temperance Literature is necessary now in every community to counteract the influence of the great advertising schemes of the brewers and the whiskey men. Send for catalogue of temperance literature to Miss Ruby I. Gilbert, 131 Wabash Avenue, Chicago; and send for catalogue of publications to The National Temperance Society, 3 East Fourteenth Street, New York City. Select leaflets and buy enough to help to inform people regarding the use of alcohol and concerning the liquor business.

LaFayette—The Annual Spring Institute of the Tippecanoe W. C. T. U., held in the assembly hall at the Soldiers' Home, was largely attended by the various unions of the county. The program was good. Mrs. Sarah Stevens was unable to attend. Her paper was read by Miss Naomi Jester. "Benefit to be Derived from Entertaining the State Convention?" Mrs. Belle Carver, Mrs. Richardson; Music, Miss Stiltz; "What Preparation Do I Need for Successful Work in W. C. T. U.?" Mrs. Sarah Stevens was the leader of the discussion, Mrs. E. Seoney; "Will the Blind Tiger be Made to See His Way Out?" Rev. Rippetoe; "Help and Hinderances in Department Work," Mrs. Jennie Conn, leader of discussion, Miss Strang; "Study of Indiana's Reform Laws," Rev. Frank Cones; "Building a Living Monument to Frances E. Willard; How and by Whom?" Mrs. Mary George, leader of discussion, Mrs. E. S. Moore; "The Great Awakening; Have You a Part in It?" The subject was ably handled by Mrs. Helen M. Gougar, who took the place of Mrs. Ray Stinespring, giving much encouragement to suffrage workers and other interesting and helpful thoughts. The numbers on the program were all very interesting and were enjoyed by all. A pleasant feature of the day was the dinner served at the noon hour in the dining hall at the home. The spread was prepared by the ladies of the city and was enjoyed by about seventy of the members. The W. C. T. U. has done much good work in the past year. The campaign for the coming year was discussed. The attendance showed the great interest.

Mrs. A. L. Greene.

Fairmount Union will hold a grand rally day on the Fourth of July at the Wesleyan Camp Ground.

Mrs. Mary McVicker organized a Legion of Farrville recently. Both Junior and Senior.

The Lafayette W. C. T. U. held a memorial service for Frances E. Willard at the home of Mrs. C. C. Robinson at 2:30 p. m., Mrs. A. L. Green presiding. The exercises began by reciting the 23d Psalm, after which Mrs. J. E. Chamberlin offered prayer. A short program opened with a solo by Miss Anna Robinson. "The Flower of Temperance Chivalry—Frances E. Willard," was read by Mrs. H. H. Moore. Miss Lucile Brady gave instrumental numbers upon the piano, Miss Henrietta Meacham and two little loyal legioners, Lewis Keilin and Willard Greene, recited pleasing selections. Mrs. C. C. Robinson read our national president's letter, urging the observance of Miss Willard's memorial day. In this way we not only commemorate her grand life and noble work, but in reviewing it we gather inspiration for our own effort in the cause she so bravely championed. At these meetings the free-will offering is devoted to organizing new unions throughout the State and Nation. Refreshments were served at the close of this pleasant profitable meeting.

Local Union Presidents are urged to appoint Superintendents of Railroad Department. All who do so please send the full name and address of the new superintendent to the State Superintendent, who will send instructions.

Mrs. Anna Campbell, State Supt.,
405 Washington Ave., Frankfort.

Mrs. J. F. Brown, a beloved member of Indianapolis Central Union, has been sojourning in French Lick for two years. Soon after identifying herself with the Church and Sunday School she became interested in some boys and girls. Very soon she organized a Loyal Temperance Legion. With the Legioners she has held oratorical contests, which have popularized the work greatly, so that invitations from several points in the county to hold contests have been accepted. There are fifty members in the Legion. This Legion is the only temperance organization in French Lick or in the whole of Orange County. This wonderful woman, for such she is, surely is worthy to be the daughter of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Clark, of the Patriot Phalanx.

The Steuben County Institute was held at Angola, with Mrs. Retta Jones as leader. From the Angola Magnet we quote from the report of Mrs. Smith, County W. C. T. U. President: "The first two meetings were largely devoted to reports from the various officers and superintendents, and many helpful suggestions were brought before us as to necessary preparation and planning in order that success may crown our efforts in the future. Father Delaney spoke briefly and to the point on social purity. The army canteen was discussed.

"The Gold Medal Contest in charge of the county superintendent of contest work, seemed to be the greatest attraction. The contestants were well drilled, and all deserve honorable mention. The medal was awarded to Miss Madge Cleckner, of Pleasant Lake. Instructions given as to the best way to conduct a Legislative campaign. Temperance in the Sunday School was discussed. The question box for the department of franchise was the cause of spirited discussion. Licensed evil, a violation of the purpose and spirit of the law, was presented by Prof. Bailey. The address was a decided protest against license, showing that the law was intended to provide for the general welfare and protection of the people and we have no right to license that which brings ruin and desolation to so many homes. D. R. Best discussed the same subject, explaining the relation of national law to State law, and made plain the truth that when the majority of voters do not want the saloon it must then be a thing of the past. We were made to understand why we should study a digest of state laws, by Judge Woodhull, and learned from him that the licensing of the liquor traffic is an invasion of the rights of the people.

"The Importance of the new Inter-Church Movement for Temperance," by Revs. Knepp and Stauffer brought to our attention the fact that this movement is bringing Christians face to face with things as they are, and as soon as we go forward unitedly in the name of our Master, then the victory will be won. The evening address on "Why Disfranchise Women?" was given by Mrs. Retta Jones. In her gracious way she insisted that the right of franchise must be granted to women, because it is God's plan."

President H. B. Brown, of Valparaiso Normal School, has come out squarely for the Prohibition party. The Valparaiso School now has an annual registration of 5,000 students, being second in size in the whole country to Harvard alone. National Secretary Harry S. Warner, of the Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association, addressed nearly 300 of the leading students of the institution in Y. M. C. A. Hall, on "The Claims of the Prohibition Movement on College Men."

At Markland M. E. Church was held one of the most eventful and interesting institutes the W. C. T. U. ever held in Howard County. The institute opened with Mrs. Ida Mix, county president in the chair. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Ida Wygant, county evangelist, after which plans for pushing the work were presented by the various county officers and superintendents. The Hadley Industrial School was represented by Mrs. Retta Jones of Alexandria. She told of the needs of the school and of our duty in caring for those needs. At the noontide hour a very impressive consecration prayer service was conducted by Mrs. Jennie Wooten. After the organization of the institute by the leader, Mrs. Retta Jones, the subject of Sabbath observance was presented and a very able paper by Mrs. Myra Small was read. The discussion was opened by Mrs. Clara Edwards, in which almost every phase of Sabbath desecration was touched upon and mention made of some very definite work done along that line. A solo by Mrs. Bertha Baldwin was enjoyed. A pathetic recitation was rendered by Mrs. Luella McKee entitled "No Room." At night a large audience was delighted with an able address, delivered by Mrs. Retta Jones on the subject, "Why Disfranchise the Women?" The speaker proved equal to the emergency and the subject was viewed from almost every angle. She spoke of the excuses and reasons advanced by those who oppose women suffrage and we think successfully refuted every one. Miss Edith Hillis sang a solo. The principal features of the last day were a talk on "Purity" by Mrs. Luella McKee. The address of Judge A. B. Kirkpatrick on "Licensed Evil as Applied to the Liquor Traffic," was spicy and full of enthusiasm. One of the many good things he said was, that legalized traffic in rum was a national evil and that license, either high or low, was wrong. In closing the judge paid a high tribute to the memory of Miss Frances E. Willard. Rev. Shoemaker of Markland Avenue M. E. Church, spoke briefly on the importance of the New Inter-Church Movement. The speaker divided his time with Mr. Laramore, known as the "Phalanx Man," who spoke for a time on "Out and Out Prohibition." A very enthusiastic talk was given on the subject of "Medical Temperance," by Dr. Baldwin of Greentown. The result of the meeting was an increase of seven new members and an uplift for all the old ones.

Vanderburgh County W. C. T. U., including Central, Frances Willard, Independence and Howell Unions, meets on the last Saturday of every month at the W. C. T. U. rest room, Evans Hall. This is our Temperance Hall, having perhaps the largest audience room in Evansville. The W. C. T. U. occupy the entire front with their lunch and rest rooms. They have been established for about two years, and have been successful from the beginning. Mrs. M. J. Jennes is the superintendent. Our rooms are patronized by sales and business women, school teachers, school girls and shoppers from the city and smaller towns; also a number of men and boys. We have the daily papers, a piano and couches in our rest room. At our last meeting Mrs. Jennes reported there had been fifty for dinner on that day. Last summer we had an emergency tent, with a trained nurse at the Evansville Chautauqua Assembly. We also had a W. C. T. U. day. Mrs. Florence Richards of Ohio, being our speaker. This year we expect to have a tent and Manager Archer has been corresponding with Dr. Anna Shaw, but as yet we are not sure of securing her services. County President, Mrs. Bell Whitney, has successfully conducted a number of medal contests, and has planned for several others, including a gold medal contest. During the year I have contributed a number of articles to the press, but here the work of the local press is impossible. Evansville is the second city in Indiana; they want the news, not columns of essays. Still they are much more ready to give space than formerly. The County Institute conducted by Mrs. Rose Pearce will be held here. Down here in "the pocket of the State" we seem rather remote from W. C. T. U. centers. Sometimes we have felt rather neglected. As all State offices and superintendents are held in the Northern or Central part of the State. The Central Union is one of the oldest unions in existence, dating back to the crusade. At one time it was the largest in the State. Any W. C. T. U. member visiting Evansville should be sure to come to our headquarters. Always open at Evans Hall, corner Fifth and Locust streets.

Zannie K. Pattison,

County Press Supt.

Indianapolis North-East Union is not dead by any means. It is just as good as ever, though not so noisy as it once was. It is still at work with all its might. The meetings are very good, the attendance is excellent and at almost every meeting there are new members added to our list. At the last meeting there were three new members received. Our union observes the different rally days with an interesting program. Mrs. Gipe, our county president, attended the March meeting. Her presence and short address inspired us to greater work and deeper interest.

TILLIE MORRIS, Cor. Sec'y.

Wabash County W. C. T. U. held their institute in April, with a good attendance, and all felt it was a day well spent. Mrs. Cammack Gebson's presence with us was very profitable and acceptable. Her lecture the previous evening was given to quite a large and appreciative audience. The institute closed with a social in the evening at the home of our County President, Mrs. Emma Sullivan. Those who braved the storm enjoyed the evening very much.

LaPorte Union on April 29th was much favored by having Mrs. Stanley at an afternoon meeting in the W. C. T. U. rooms. The ladies served supper. Then through the rain repaired to the M. E. Church, where Mrs. Stanley gave an interesting and very helpful lecture. On May 6th we held our institute with Mrs. Pearce, a former member of our union, as leader. We were all so pleased to have her again with us. The day was beautiful and it was well used. The churches were represented by their pastors, there being four present. One, however, was called away on account of sickness. Everyone seemed interested and the discussion of the different topics entered into with zeal and earnestness. Dinner and supper was served at the W. C. T. U. headquarters. In the evening at the Baptist church Mrs. Pearce addressed an appreciative audience. The coming to us of these estimable sisters has been very profitable.

Mrs. Seth Pease.

The Bremen W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Miller in their regular monthly meeting with about thirty ladies present. The subject for the afternoon was "Good Literature." Mrs. S. A. Knoblock read a comprehensive paper on the subject and many other ladies took part in the discussion which followed. Mrs. Oyler of Warsaw, gave a very interesting talk, which was much appreciated. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ed. Henry. A special invitation has been given to ladies to attend and take part in the meetings. In the evening of the same day Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, the State Vice-President of the W. C. T. U., spoke to a large and appreciative audience at the Evangelical Church. Her subject was "The Work of the W. C. T. U." Her address was very strong and forcible convincing many people of the good that the W. C. T. U. is doing in our country. At the close of her address nine ladies signed the pledge and became members of our local union. During Mrs. Stanley's short stay she made many friends, who will be glad to welcome her back to Bremen.

PEARL PLATT, President.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Rebecca J. Bulla of South Bend, died March 3. She was a valued member of the Colfax W. C. T. U. She was an earnest prohibitionist—though in common with her sex, was denied the right of suffrage. She was a member of the C.W.B.M. of the First Christian Church and also of the South Bend Prohibition Alliance. Long continued ill health and especially the last few years, compelled her to cease activity along these lines, but a deep and abiding interest remained to the last.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

The thirteenth annual convention of the Indiana Loyal Temperance Legion will convene in Elwood, Indiana, July 9, 10 and 11, 1907. For many months the loyal workers at Elwood have been looking forward to these convention days, working and planning that our stay among them might be one of profit to us. Let us, then, repay them by bringing enthusiasm, both in our numbers and our reports. Let us prove to the good people of Elwood that we have learned to combine the enthusiasm of the college student with the thought and sincerity that comes from our desire to help those less fortunate than ourselves. Let us come into this convention with earnestness and a desire to make it the very best meeting we have ever held, as much ahead of 1906 as 1906 was ahead of all the preceding gatherings. The program will be inspiring—our cheery faces and enthusiasm will be inspiring.

We extend a most cordial welcome to all friends, and especially to our mother, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, to visit any or all sessions of this annual meeting.

Sincerely yours,
(Miss) Edith Hillis,
State President.

(From Associated Prohibition Press.)

Hon. Charles R. Jones in an after dinner speech at a banquet at Evanston, Illinois, May 2d, regarding prohibition victories said:

1. Abstainers.

"Despite some surface indications, which can not hide the actual fact, it may be set down as incontrovertible that there are today millions of total abstainers from alcoholic drink where there were only thousands fifty years back and practically none at all a century ago. Says a well-known authority on this topic: 'A hundred years ago nearly everybody took something. Liquor was to be found on every side-board. Besides the grogshop, every grocery sold it, and no tavern was without it. Freer was its use than water by the human species.' Today there are abstainers in every occupation and walk of life and the milder non-alcoholic beverages have displaced the decanter and the 'side-board' in thousands of lunch rooms, restaurants and private dining rooms.

2. Scientific Teaching.

"Today the laws of the Federal Government in the District of Columbia and in every Territory and the laws of all the forty-five states unite in requiring that America's 25,000,000 school children shall be thoroughly taught the dangerous effects of all alcoholic drink. The fundamental system of scientific temperance education has been developed and completed through the able and persistent agitation of the W. C. T. U., led by Mrs. Mary H. Hunt during the past two decades. Less than twenty-five years ago there was not a single statute on the law-books of any State or Territory making any such provision.

3. Railway Abstinence.

"Less than a generation ago railroad employee" were among the hardest drinkers in the land. Since, 1899, when the American Railway Association, controlling 160,000 out of 200,000 miles of track in the United States, adopted total-abstinence rules for its 1,000,000 men, the movement has extended itself to practically every road in America, with constantly growing emphasis upon both the spirit and the letter of prohibition. These total abstinence rules now apply to more than 1,500,000 men in the service of American railways.

4. Abstinence in Industry.

"No more striking item in our 'net' progress appears than in the pronounced abstinence movement in industry. Within the memory of some men now living, liquor was generally regarded as an essential part of a worker's diet. 'Mechanics and laboring men,' says Dr. Fehlandt, 'were provided with a daily ration of spirits, to which the town bell summoned them at four and eleven, as regularly as meals were provided at other hours. The farmer, during harvest and haying time, kept his help in the field constantly supplied with a bottle of whisky or New England rum. The man who couldn't drink was not supposed to be of much account when it came to hard work.'

"Today, it is quite unnecessary to point out, this attitude openly championed by any business man would be treated with general contempt and ridicule. But the business world has gone much farther than that. The United States Census Reports for 1897-8 show that out of 6,792 employers of labor interrogated 3,527, or more than fifty per cent now make some requirement as to abstinence, and more than 1,284 of the latter require total abstinence on or off duty. That was a decade ago and this percentage is undoubtedly greater today.

"Labor itself is arriving at the same position. Here is the personal testimony of Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, in a recent interview: 'Fifteen or twenty years ago, the common meeting place of a labor union, would be a saloon or the room adjoining a saloon, but we changed all that. I would not say that it is now never done, but the whole influence of the Federation is given against it. It was not good for the men. It was not good for the unions. There was more likelihood of violent talk and unwise measures. It hurt the standing of the unions in the community. Hence that is practically done away.'

6. Fraternal Orders.

"Fifty-six out of sixty-four leading fraternal orders of the United States, with an aggregate of over 3,000,000 members, now refuse to admit saloon-keepers and bartenders to their ranks. Such discrimination would have been thought impracticable a quarter of a century ago."

7. Medicine Bars Alcohol.

"A veritable revolution has occurred in medical science within a generation. In an important paper read before the Central Texas Medical Association in 1903, Dr. R. B. Turner states these facts. 'Thirty years ago the dominant principle of the practice of medicine was stimulation. Alcohol was supposed to arouse and support vital forces in disease; hence its universality in the therapeutics of that age.'

"In contrast with this there is now a strong element in the medical profession who have almost wholly discarded the use of alcohol, except in extraordinary cases; National Temperance Medical Associations in both England and America, have been organized led by many of the most distinguished physicians and surgeons now living; several leading hospitals have successfully banished alcoholic remedies from their medical commissary; and now investigations carried on by many of the great insurance companies are emphasizing the startling conclusion of actuaries that teetotalers, as a class, live from twenty to fifty per cent longer than moderate drinkers.

8.—Prohibition Law.

"Such comprehensive progress in social thought, public opinion and scientific and industrial experience has inevitably crystallized in widespread legal reform against the drink traffic. It is sometimes erroneously stated that there was more prohibition territory in the United States fifty years ago than there is today. That is wholly incorrect. Before 1890 there were only nine States in which prohibition had been in actual operation for a longer consecutive period. than a year or two, and in at least half of those States its effective enforcement was never permitted through the alliance of the outlawed liquor interests and the dominant party in power.

"Since 1890, State prohibition has been in operation with constantly increasing success in three States, while county, district, municipal and township prohibition has extended its sway into more than half the entire country, including the almost total banishment of the saloon in ten other States north and south, and large sections in at least twenty of the remaining thirty-two.

9. Uncle Sam vs. Curse.

"By ceaseless educational agitation the United States Government has been prevailed upon to take several historic steps in line with all this advance. Since time immemorial liquor had formed an indispensable part of the soldier's or sailor's ration. By adequate legislation Congress abolished the last official remnant of this custom in January, 1901. The sale of liquor in the Navy has been forbidden since the order of Secretary Long, February 3, 1899. Illinois has just taken the first notable advance step in this line, creating by law, a prohibition district a mile in diameter around the famous army post of Fort Sheridan, thus giving the death blow to the 'outside dive' plague, and setting an admirable example to the rest of the States. After urgent, popular appeal, Congress has abolished the open saloon-buffets for many years the disgrace of the National Capitol Building.

10. Court Hits Traffic.

"No phase of this progress is so notable as the increasingly rapid succession of judicial decisions unfavorable and distinctly hostile to every pretension of the licensed liquor traffic. The epoch-making decisions of Judges Artman and Christian, declaring saloon-license fundamentally illegal and unconstitutional, are not based, as might be supposed, on the theoretical logic of the temperance reformer, but are at every point anchored securely upon the highest judicial conclusions of the State and Federal Supreme Courts themselves without an attempt at original or sentimental argument.

11. Church Militant.

"But of greater importance than any or all of these encouraging features, we find that public opinion is today thoroughly abreast of this progress in our great reform, and that prohibitory law and the latest judicial decisions equally find a great people in actual sympathy with their purpose and intent. There will be no reaction due to emotional victories or unbalanced enthusiasm. It is the era of reason and common sense in civic endeavor. But the transformation is remarkable. The church 100 years ago shut its eyes to dissipation in both pew and pulpit. Today practically every church in Christendom stands upon the platform well-expressed in the quadrennial address of the Bishops to the General Conference of the Methodist Church, at Los Angeles: 'The banner we follow in this holy war must bear these two legends: Total abstinence and legal prohibition—total abstinence as the only personal security and the only foundation for effectual help to the 'weaker brother'; constitutional prohibition of the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating liquors to be used as beverages, and the only method yet discovered for any widely effectual and permanently successful war upon the liquor traffic.'

12. Women to Rescue.

"In addition, the White Ribbon Movement, with its 300,000 mothers and home-makers, and its 300,000 young people, and the other powerful temperance organizations altogether represent an organized force wholly undreamed of a generation ago.

13. Press in Line.

"The daily and weekly secular press are publishing more prohibition news and friendly editorial comment monthly than were to be found in the entire prohibition and religious press a decade ago.

14. Saloon Not "Necessary."

"Finally, the developments of the past twenty-four months in law-enforcement, Sunday closing and complete prohibition in various of our largest cities has once for all silenced the boast of brewer and distiller that the liquor traffic is a necessity or a permanent fixture in any center of population, however situated—provided that officials true to their oath of office are once elected, backed by a permanent political organization of the best citizens.

15. The Prohibition Party.

That is the crux of situation today, and the Prohibition party for more than thirty years has steadfastly championed the policy which all experience and necessity now unite in pressing home to every patriotic citizen. What, does some one ask, has the Prohibition party to show for its persistent career of nearly four decades, that it should claim the right to now command the attention of the awakening nation to its principles? What part in all this progress belongs to it. Most certainly it has such right and part. For twenty-five years all the leaders of the temperance reform, with very few exceptions, have been open and are pronounced party Prohibitionists have held more public rallies to further the cause than all other agencies combined.

"The Party Prohibitionists through their publications have furnished at least nine-tenths of all the important data, statistics, argument and educational information on the liquor problem, and at great expense have sent their investigators around the world, to every leading country of the earth to get the actual facts at first hand for every worker in the reform.

"Party Prohibitionists, it is no exaggeration to say, contribute more than three-fourths of all funds annually raised for the furtherance of the battle against drink. A conspicuous recognition of this natural leadership is noted in the fact that when the United States Government last year undertook to enforce the Prohibition law of Indian Territory, it passed over all known deputies and marshals in the field and chose William E. Johnson, a Party Prohibition editor for the job, and inside of ninety days, four hundred joints, backed by the biggest breweries in the nation, had surrendered and their panic-stricken keepers were hustling their illegal wares and fixtures to more favorable climes.

"Well, but what about its actual political victories? A decade ago the party could not point to a single man of any consequence who had

The National W. C. T. U. Convention will be held at Nashville, Tenn., in November.

Mrs. Vayhinger, state president, will speak at Spencer on July 4th.

Rev. J. F. Snyder, for fifteen years connected with the Western Chautauqua at Island Park, Rome City, is now connected with the Winona Publicity Department. This staunch friend of the W. C. T. U. and prohibition served faithfully and well the highest interests of Island Park Assembly. On account of the refusal of the railroad company to grant any concessions for Island Park Assembly this year, the work cannot be carried on there as previously. The Winona management have thus been able to secure this able and energetic Christian man with great executive ability.

Any Union paying expressage on five copies of the State Minutes they will be sent them free, by sending their order to Miss Clara M. Sears, State Treasurer, Anderson.

BEER-MAKERS IN NATIONAL COUNCIL PLAN TO EXTEND DEFINITE EDUCATIONAL PROPAGANDA.

Brewers of America in Forty-Seventh Annual Convention Admit Strides of Prohibition, Praise State and Federal Government for Promised "Substantial Recognition" of Business, Propose to Cut Loose From Whisky Interests to Save Their Trade, and Find Consolation in Increased Sales, Aggregating Five and One-Quarter Million Barrels of Product in Past Year.

(Staff Correspondence of the Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Ill., June 22.—More than three hundred leading beer-manufacturers of the United States, representing three times their number, participated in the forty-seventh annual convention of the United States Brewers' Association, which has just been concluded at Atlantic City.

The convention devoted its attention exhaustively to the remarkable current progress of the prohibition cause, and listened to detailed reports from every State in the Union, where the liquor business is now being threatened by awakening public sentiment.

Brewers in National Convention Admit Progress of Prohibition.

What the leaders of the brewing industry think of the outlook for their business, despite their increased beer sales, is vividly manifest in the following militant call to arms presented by the so-called "Vigilance Committee," and which was afterwards unanimously adopted as the utterance of the convention itself:

"The recent alarming growth and intensification of the prohibitory spirit, as shown in this exhaustive review, call for the gravest concern on our part and point the necessity for a general closing up of our ranks and the adoption of vigorous measures of defense.

"It is only too apparent that the enemies of our industry have more than held their own in the struggles of the past year.

"Emboldened by their victories in the South—victories conditioned by a wave of fanaticism—cheered by their advance in the West and not discouraged by their setbacks in the East, they are planning greater conquests in the near future. Their resources are without limit and they refuse to admit defeat. They are pledged to a war of extermination.

"The friends of personal liberty, of the 'square deal,' of just and equal government, could not ask fairer warning than is afforded by the history of the past year."

The report itself of this "Vigilance Committee" covers more than 10,000 words descriptive of the trials, tribulations and defeats and successes achieved by the paid lobbyists and hired defenders of the traffic in every section of the country. What the "Vigilance Committee" of the Brewers Finds Noteworthy in Various States.

Some of these striking details are as follows:

"Alabama—Our predictions with regard to the prohibition and dispensary movement in this State have been only too literally fulfilled. Our esteemed member, Mr. J. M. Wilzin, of Birmingham, writes us that the Legislature has passed and the governor signed both a County Option Bill and a County Dispensary Bill.

"California—Through courtesy of Mr. J. G. Phillips, acting secretary, we learn that the Brewers' Protective Association of San Francisco, have been successful in their fight against Sunday closing, the Council passing the requisite ordinance on March 17th.

"Colorado—Mr. A. J. Zang of Denver, reports briefly as follows: 'The Legislature, which has just adjourned, passed a Local Option law permitting any voting district or precinct to vote upon and decide the liquor question. We tried our best to defeat this measure, but were handicapped by having a Methodist preacher for governor, backed up by woman suffrage.'

"Delaware—Our zealous citizen, Mr. Harry W. Stoeckle, of Wilmington, writes: 'The recent Legislature passed a bill providing for special election on the question of 'License or no License,' to be held throughout the entire State in November next. Governor Lee has signed the bill.'

"Georgia appears to have found herself directly in the swath of the late temperance tornado. Within the past three months two large towns have voted liquor out.'

"Idaho—Mr. John Lemp of Boise, kindly advises us: 'At its recent session the Legislature passed a Sunday closing law for the whole State.'

"The people of Illinois have lately been receiving much enlightenment as to their foolish and antiquated laws from the United Societies for Social Self Government. Nothing more useful in the line of popular education was ever undertaken. The Societies represent a voting strength of 150,000 and have the backing of the Federation of Labor.

"Indiana—Judge Artman of the Circuit Court of Lebanon, has made a sensational bid for fame by deciding that the state has no more right to license saloons than to license gambling.

"Iowa—Many bills adverse to our industry were introduced at the late session of the Legislature, but most of them failed of passage. A bill prohibiting saloons within one mile of any military reservation was passed.

"The high tidal wave of anti-saloon fanaticism which swept over the south made itself strongly felt in Kentucky. At present there are thirty-two 'wet' counties and eighty-seven 'dry' counties, a gain of twenty-five counties for the Prohibitionists since the enactment of this law. There are still pending twelve elections to be held within the next two months.

"Massachusetts—Somewhere about twenty bills affecting the liquor interests were introduced into the Legislature this year, several of which were particularly dangerous.

"I AM HAPPY TO REPORT THAT WE WERE ABLE TO DEFEAT ALL THESE MEASURES AND THE OTHERS WHICH ARE NOT REFERRED TO HERE SPECIFICALLY WERE KILLED IN THE COMMITTEE.

"South Carolina—After fifteen stormy years, checkered with fraud and scandal and marked by agitation so violent that it was more than once threatened to break into civil war, the famous—many say infamous—Couth Carolina Dispensary has been formally abolished by act of the Legislature.

"Texas—These figures indicate the progress of local option in Texas; under local option 102 counties out of 230.

HELEN M. GOUGAR DEAD.

Noted Indiana Temperance Agitator Dies Suddenly of Heart Disease.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 6.—Mrs. Helen M. Gougar, one of the leading temperance workers and woman suffrage leaders in the United States, fell dead of heart disease, this morning, at her home in Columbia Street, this city.

Mrs. Gougar had just arisen from bed and was in the act of dressing when she told her husband that she was very ill. He arose to assist her, but she fell dead on the floor. Mrs. Gougar had suffered attacks of heart trouble, but she was in her usual health last evening.

Mrs. Helen M. Gougar was one of the most remarkable women in Indiana, and was regarded as one of the most effective orators in the middle West. She participated in political, temperance, religious, union labor and woman suffrage movements, and in every one her executive ability was of great value.

Lectured for Twenty-Five Years.

Mrs. Gougar was the daughter of William and Clarissa Jackson, and was born in Hillsdale, Mich., July 18, 1843. She was graduated at Hillsdale College in the class of 1862, with the degree of A. M., and was married to John D. Gougar, of Lafayette, December 10, 1863. On the great social and philanthropic problems of the day she acted with a courage that startled the boldest men. As an organizer she had few equals. Early in her career she started out as a public lecturer and for twenty-five years she was in lyceum bureau work.

Mrs. Gougar was a firm believer in the system of government in New Zealand and desired the United States to adopt the same kind of laws. Lecturing almost daily, she traveled long distances to fill engagements, which extended over nearly every State in the Union. She also published a newspaper, wrote magazine articles and books and engaged at the same time in temperance and woman suffrage lectures.

Regarded as a Born Agitator.

Mrs. Gougar was recognized as a born agitator, leader and reformer. As an orator she was original in expression, wholly free from affectation and spoke without manuscript. Some of her opponents accused her of being too accrimonious, and in this respect it may be said that when she administered a verbal castigation her words always attracted attention. Many of her admirers termed her the "queen of the rostrum." Her contributions to magazines and newspapers were filled with fearlessness, directness and originality.

Mrs. Gougar was a warm friend of Mr. Bryan and in 1896 she went from coast to coast advocating his cause. She closed the campaign the night before the national election in Lafayette with a rousing address at the opera-house. One of the issues involved in the campaign of 1882 in Indiana was a woman suffrage amendment to the State Constitution. The Republican party favored the submission of the amendment to the people; the Democratic party took the opposite side. Mrs. Gougar entered the struggle with all the energy of her nature enlisted in behalf of the Republican Legislative ticket. At that time she owned and edited a newspaper, known as Our Herald, which had a wide circulation, and through this medium she advocated her cause.

For five years, 1878 to 1883, the temperance people of Lafayette remonstrated against the licensing of liquor. No attention was paid to the remonstrance until Mrs. Gougar interested herself in the movement and conferred with the committee. In the midst of the campaign Mrs. Gougar became involved in a scandal which her friends always declared was a slander without cause. She sued the people who started the scandal, and a judgment of $5,000 was awarded her.

Mrs. Gougar delivered more than two hundred lectures a year for twenty years. She visited Europe four times studying labor questions of the Irish race under English rule and embodied her observations in books and pamphlets. She espoused the cause of home rule on the platform as well as with her pen. Her most noted works are: "Strange Incidents in One Life" and "Forty Thousand Miles of World Wandering." She had also written many pamphlets on political questions.

Her Last Appearance.

In the winter of 1885 Mrs. Gougar caused to be introduced in the Kansas Legislature the bill granting municipal suffrage to the women of Kansas. She spoke many times before different State Legislatures in the country, and several times was called on to address special meetings of the United States Senate. Her last appearance in public was at the last session of the Indiana Legislature when she spoke before both Houses on the prohibition subject.

THE MESSAGE.

been elected to office on the straight party ticket. Today we have over 1,000 men in office in a dozen States, and members of ten Legislatures who were elected either on the party ticket alone, or in conjunction with independents.

"But of more significance than all else is the growing friendliness among leaders of thought and action with the idea and their appreciation of the supreme need of immediate national political union to oppose and compass the annihilation of the now nationally organized traffic in drink."

SECRETARY'S MESSAGE.

Dear Comrades—The last quarter of our W. C. T. U. year is well underway, and what we do further before final reports are due must be done quickly. Our cause has been gaining ground this year as never before, and our State organization must keep pace with the progress. It is very important for our influence in the State that we have a gain in membership this year. Many Unions over the State have made encouraging gains and are still hard at it trying to win other new members. Shall we not all try with increased earnestness and zeal for our cause to increase the membership of every Union in the State? Hold on to every old member, is possible, and win at least three new ones this quarter.

From the news that comes to me from various parts of the State, I am expecting a fine report from our Superintendent of Medal contests. This department affords us marvelous opportunities to train our young people for temperance and to educate public opinion. In our own community the contests call out people who never attend any other kind of temperance meetings, and no doubt this is true in every other community. Let every union in the State hold at least one contest during this quarter. If any Union in the State is discouraged, I recommend a good medal contest as an infallible remedy for the "blues." Try it this quarter. Mrs. Trego will return to our State early in September, for a four months' engagement. Dates will be made for her first in the northern part of the State. Unions that want her may write to me at any time and I will plan for you when she is in your part of the State.

I would like to know all the dates I am to plan for before I begin to make out her route, so it is not too soon to make your request. Mrs. Trego has done us excellent service, and we are fortunate in getting her to return to the State so soon, as she is much in demand elsewhere.

Let every Union in the State plan to send a large delegation to our next State convention at LaFayette. We all need the inspiration of these large gatherings of our forces to quicken our zeal for the cause. Many delegates attended our last convention for the first time and went home with an enthusiasm that has not oozed away with the passing months. And sisters; by all means go to our great national gathering at Nashville, next November. The expense will not be great, and every moment of the time will be crowded full of good things. One hundred representatives is the very least that should content Indiana in that convention. We want to capture the next convention, or at least 1909, for Indiana. A large and enthusiastic delegation, such as we mean to send, will do much toward winning favorable consideration for our invitation. Begin now to plan to go, or to help send some one from your Union.

Yours to serve,
Mary E. Woodard.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

This June will go down in history as a phenomenal one. We have had constant rains where our meetings have been planned and only the great enthusiasm of the people has made it possible to continue the work. I had a fine audience in Franklin County on Decoration Day. Addressed the conference of the Universalist Church in Union County; held two meetings for the Friends' Church, and one for the United Brethren since my last message.

Went to Mooresville on the 11th inst. and found their Union on the boom. They are going to put Morgan County in "benefit night" at the State convention. I also visited Monrovia and Brooklyn Unions—had a small audience on account of heavy rains, but Monrovia had a fine parlor meeting. Young women served refreshments, and at Brooklyn we elected new officers and got ten members to hold the forte.

Morgantown is wide awake. They had a brass band and a fine audience to greet me. They had just held a grand-mothers' contest—the first in the State. They had a grand-mothers' choir also, and they have almost doubled their membership this year. Contributions to State work were as follows: Mooresville, $1.40; Monrovia, $1.87; Brooklyn, $2.52; Morgantown, $3.71; total, $9.50. We also secured fourteen active and two honorary members.

I now go home dear sisters and must remain there until God opens the way by sending me a capable house-keeper.

Yours for victory,
Elizabeth T. Stanley.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

Dear Co-Workers—No doubt you have your plans all made for the Fourth of July Rallies by this time. I hope so. There is no time in the whole year when the principles of Christian Citizenship can be taught so forcibly as on this day, when everybody feels true patriotism, and the Christian people are anxious to raise the celebration of this day above fire crackers and like amusements that have taken the place of what the day really stands for. I quote from the May Message: "Seek to pre-empt the day for temperance instead of 'foll de roll.'"

I hope you have done excellent work in this department all through the months that have passed. Less than three months remain before my report will be in the hands of the State Recording Secretary, as decided at the Mid-Year Executive Committee Meeting, so that advanced sheets of superintendents reports may be printed previous to the State convention. So please be prompt in reporting to me. Keep full account of all work done in this department. I shall expect County Presidents to report to me, where you have no County Superintendent of Christian Citizenship. In a short time you will receive from me report blanks like printed below. Please fill them out and send to me by September 20th.

Faithfully yours,
Gertrude Fulton, State Superintendent.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

My Dear Sisters—The month of roses is again with us and that reminds us of dear Jennie Cassaday and our messages of love and helpfulness to be carried in the fragrance of the flowers, to shut ins from sickness and also those shut in by prison bars. May the Father baptize each one of you for this tender service and give you the wisdom which He has promised. June also reminds us that our year is three-fourths done, only three more months for work before closing up our books for another year. At the opening of this year many said: "It shall be the best!" Has it been? The saloon was never so talked about in Indiana as it is today. As the sarchlight of truth is thrown about it, all the hideousness and blackness of the monster is brought out in bold relief and the people are gathering the pebbles which, when slung by the Davids of the State will sink into the vitals of this giant and mean his death. I am glad you have been in this fight for years, have served, many of you all through the years of unpopularity, have borne the jeers and criticisms, yet remained true to God and right. Many people who used to say, "The saloon is here to stay," since reading of the rapid strides made by the temperance reform the past year, are not so sure about its staying, and are hunting for a seat in some of the numerous band wagons belonging to the many temperance organizations of the State, so as to be in the final parade and join the chorus, "We killed the saloon, way down in Indiana." Many towns and townships are saying to the saloon, "You can not stay in our yard," but there is still a great work for the W. C. T. U. Until our yard is bounded in on the north by Michigan, on the east by Ohio, on the south by Kentucky, on the west by Illinois, the Hoosier State can not do without her white ribboners. May we take as our motto, "We cooperate with every organization which has for its end the overthrow of the liquor traffic, but we work to make our own organization the greatest power in the State for total abstinence and the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors."

Will your county come up in October with a gain of one hundred members? Will your Union be on the honor roll because your subscription list to the Union Signal equals one-fourth your membership?

Yours for service,
Culla J. Vayhinger,
Hartsville, Ind.

GIFTS RECEIVED BY THE W. C. T. U.

Through the executor, James F. Reed, of the estate of the late Mary S. Gates, of Greenfield, Ind., the Treasurer, Miss Sars, received $100.00 on the endowment fund for the Hadley Industrial School, and $100.00 for the W. C. T. U. of Indiana, to be used in temperance work.

The State received $99.34 from Eunice P. Wilson, to be held in trust for the Grant County W. C. T. U. A gift from the late Lucy Baldwin estate of Grant County.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Alexander of Franklin, through the generosity of kind hearts hearts and interest in the work gave $100.00 to be used for the Hadley Industrial School. These gifts are much appreciated.

Mrs. Don P. Baine, National lecturer and organizer, of Washington, D. C., is doing splendid work in the northern part of our State, filling a month's engagement, returning to the East July 2d. Many new members are being secured and paying dues, which means much to local Unions who secure a worker.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 18.—The National Baptist Anniversary Meetings in this city yesterday, completed the first definite organization of the denomination under the name of the Baptists of North America, and this great assembly, representing churches in twenty-seven States and a constituency of 2,000,000 members, then SIGNALIZED ITS HISTORIC ACTION BY UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTING AS THE FIRST RESOLUTION OF THE NEW BODY A MOTION TO ENDORSE AND SUSTAIN THE MOVEMENT FOR AN INTERDENOMINATIONAL TEMPERANCE FEDERATION, which was formally proposed at the Pittsburg Interdenominational Temperance Conference, January 31, 1907.

(The movement for an Interdenominational Temperance Federation to "unite all Christian Churches in aggressive warfare against the whole liquor traffic," was first suggested in an appeal issued by the Permanent Committee on Temperance of the Presbyterian General Assembly, at Des Moines in 1906. In response to this appeal church leaders representing the official Temperance Committee of sixteen denominations representing 15,000,000 church members met at Pittsburg, Jan. 31, 1907, and drew up an outline basis for such a National Federation, to be closely affiliated with the "Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America," which was unanimously adopted. This proposal was to become valid as soon as approved by the churches represented in the conference.

WHY NOT A WHITE RIBBON DAY?

By Mrs. E. M. Pearce, in Pennsylvania W. C. T. U. Bulletin.

In our public schools we have "Longfellow Days," "Whittier Days," "Lincoln and Washington Days," why not a white ribbon or Frances Willard Day? Miss Virginia McQuiston, a young, enthusiastic teacher in the Saltsburg, Indiana County Schools, asked this question, and solved it for herself by having it.

For her annual visitor's day she wrote a little play called "The White Ribbon," in song and dialogue. Many patriotic features were introduced. The States represented, especial recognition being given the original 13. There were fairies, a children's play would not be complete without them—the fairies of the "red, white and blue," and these added much to the pretty spectacle, but the coming of the "White Ribbon" sprites, two little girls, literally covered with white ribbons, bearing in their hands the gift of the "white ribbon" for each state, and receiving its pledge, aroused the enthusiasm of the audience, and the applause was long and loud. The final scene showed two score white ribbon streamers waving high in the air as little arms could reach, while sweet child voices in song pledged the young singers to work for "God and Home and Native Land," and over all the sweet face of Frances Willard looked down. At the conclusion, the white ribbon sprites passed among the visitors, giving to each a little bow of white ribbon, and in an instant it became a company of white ribboners, for they were all pinned on, and so worn out on the street.

In this room temperance is taught not only from text books, but an effort has been made to secure the written pledge of each pupil to total abstinence. That she might not exceed her prerogatives as a teacher, Miss McQuiston had each pupil carry the pledge card home, show to parents, and if consent were given to signing, it was so returned.

FIELD NEWS

Keystone W. C. T. U.—Contest work is being very successfully carried on under the Superintendency of Mrs. Sabrinna Black. Early in May the second Matrons' Silver Medal Contest was held, in which six contestants participated. The medal was won by Mrs. Olive Deboy. There was a good audience and a liberal collection was taken. The second L. T. L. Silver Medal Contest was held on the evening of May 25th. There were seven contestants, two boys and five girls. The medal was won by Miss Vemes Walter, one of our Junior L. T. L. girls. The W. C. T. U. and L. T. L. of this place are both flourishing and much good is being accomplished by them.

Mrs. O. E. Hagler, Press Supt.

The Campbellsburg Union held their Grand Gold Medal Contest on the night of May 23d. A large crowd was in attendance. The speakers acquitted themselves with honor. The medal was given to Mrs. Blanche Batt. The door receipts amounted to $18.50. Our County Institute should have been held at the same date, but for some unknown reason our leader, Mrs. Pearce, failed to meet with us.

Mrs. B. H. Chamberlain.

Seymour W. C. T. U. secured Rev. Edger chaplain of the Reformatory at Jeffersonville, on Sabbath evening recently. The large audience room of the M. E. Church was filled with a most appreciative audience. He said that among the many causes for crime sending young men there, strong drink, either directly or indirectly sent nine out of every ten.

The Decatur County Institute was held in the Presbyterian Church at Greensburg. Mrs. Culla Vayhinger, leader. There was an enthusiastic audience at both morning and afternoon sessions. Mrs. Carrie Meek gave the welcome address, which was responded to by Mrs. Bungle. Mrs. Powers read a splendid paper. Recitations and songs were given. Several ministers and citizens being present, all of whom took part. In the evening a grand address was given, "Why Disfranchise the Women?" by Mrs. Vayhinger. The county was organized with the following officers: President, Miss Mary Gray, Greensburg; Vice-President, Mrs. Nettie Parker, Greensburg; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Hester Westport; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Ella B. Wright, Greensburg; Treasurer, Mrs. Ella Smith, Sandusky. (Miss) Mary Gray.

Kendalville L. T. L.—This has been a splendid year for the L. T. L. of Kendalville. Last year the maximum attendance was about thirty, while this year we have reached nearly a hundred many times. We commenced the year with a trolley party, through the courtesy of the T. C. I., and closed with a social meeting, at which ice cream and cake were served. At one of the Stanley evening meetings, one hundred of the children were on the platform, singing "Our Coming Army," "Saloons Must Go," and "We'll turn our glasses upside down." We also gave the L. T. L. Yell. The children are all enthusiastic over the temperance question and will help greatly towards putting out the saloons in our town. Our meetings have been held twice each month, immediately after the W. C. T. U. meeting, and often a number of women will remain to enjoy the exercises and see the children so happy in their L. T. L. work. Every W. C. T. U. should have a healthy, growing child, the L. T. L.

Clark County Institute was held at Utica. Leader, Mrs. Ella Kroft of Whiteland. Visitors were present from Jeffersonville, Charleston and Sellsburg. Miss Henrietta Smith was elected to fill the unexpired term of Miss Spangler, whose resignation takes effect in July.

The work of the institute consisted of papers and addresses and discussion of these, and of methods in advancing the temperance cause. An excellent paper was given on the evils of patent medicines by Miss Lide Spangler. Rev. Grimes of New Albany, discussed the subject of "Temperance in the Sunday School," and Rev. Zugg of Charlestown, the subject "The License Evil Contrary to Spirit and Purpose of Law;" Mrs. Kroft gave a paper on "Woman's Suffrage." All these were much enjoyed and were helpful and hopeful in spirit.

The ladies of Utica showed their hospitality in many ways, and especially by the delicious dinner and supper served. Especial thanks are due to Rev. Baldridge, of the M. E. Church, who was helpful in many ways.

It was intended that a medal contest should be held on the evening of the 28th, but as this was impossible, a mixed program, arranged by Mrs. Knowles of Charlestown, was given. It consisted of music, drills and recitations and formed a pleasing part of the Institute. The Institute was most excellent and helpful.

Mrs. F. R. Zugg, Reporter.

The Goshen W. C. T. U. has experienced a real temperance revival. A series of meetings were held, in which Mrs. Don Blain of Washington, D. C., a National W. C. T. U. lecturer, delivered three excellent lectures and conducted a parlor meeting. Mrs. Blain attributes the success of the meetings to the loyal and intelligent help of the local women, who prepared for her coming by the use of printers' ink, by personal invitations, by letter and phone. But the Union attributes its success to Mrs. Blain's ability to interest her audiences. She is a pleasing speaker, presenting facts that interest voters as well as women in an attractive manner. She made many warm friends while in Goshen. Fifteen new members were added to our ranks.

Mrs. Amanda S. Kauffman, Cor. Sec.

Dana W. C. T. U. made their annual visit to the County Home, June 6th, and were welcomed by the new Superintendent, Mr. Brown. There were twenty-five inmates in the home and all but three were able to attend the services, which were held in the large dining room. The room looked cheerful with the tables covered with flowers and literature, which were supplied by the Union. After short service Bro. Greenway gave an instructive talk, after which each inmate was presented with a treat of candy, oranges and bananas.

Vermillion County—A remonstrance was signed against the saloon in Helt Township, lately, by a majority of thirty. This puts the saloon business out of this township for two years.

The Huntington County Institute was held in Huntington, with Mrs. Gibran as leader. County President Irene Gart, presiding. The attendance was fairly good, and interest excellent throughout. Three Unions were well represented. All our pastors were invited, but two responded, giving short talks on the suffrage question that was much appreciated. Our county convention is to be held at Warren, when we hope to have a more extended report to give you. Our local Union is still alive and holding on with some good results, for our principles are spreading, and like the Bayan tree, taking root every where. As is our custom, we observed Decoration Day by a visit to Mt. Hope, placing a sprig of evergreen with our card attached by a white ribbon upon the graves of our promoted members, sixteen in all, who lie there and sending the same tribute to our graves in country church yards. We have lost by death and removal several members in the last year. We always remember Jennie Cassiday's birthday by a visit to the County Infirmary, taking literature, fruit, candy, nuts, cake, ice cream (always donated by a local firm), bright pictures and calendars for their rooms, have a short song and praise service, and the inmates I think look forward to our coming with great anticipation. We have two medal contests on the way, and hope to have a more cheering report later. Our letter from home, The Message is excellent.

Mrs. Emily R. Newcomb.

Hartford City Union held its annual all day picnic at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Moore. The morning was spent socially and delightfully. At noon a sumptuous dinner was served, there being fifty-three present. In the afternoon a meeting of the Union was held with an excellent program, consisting of selections by Rev. and Mrs. Naftzger; a select reading by Mrs. Hollingshead; readings by Miss Edna Carrell and Miss Lizzie Hummer. Short talks by Mr. O. K. Moore and Rev. Naftzger, which were much appreciated. Three new members were added. Mrs. J. A. Bedwell.

Huntington County is alive. We have held one institute and two executive sessions; at Roanoke we have gained twenty-two members; we have given our report of the National W. C. T. U. at ten different points, not all in Huntington County. We have arranged to hold a joint meeting with the Prohibitionists, on the Fourth of July. We have fourteen different departments and a County Directory. We also have been asked to report our parlor meeting, held at Warren, at the spacious home of Mrs. John Border. A literary program was rendered, after which, the report of the National W. C. T. U. was given. A call for members, one was added to the list. A fine collection.

Yours for service,

Mrs. Irene Gard.

Campbellsburg Union was organized in April, 1900, after which time it has held the following contests: Silver medal, 9; gold, 5; grand gold, 1.

Indianapolis Central Union held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Mary Moody. After the usual routine was over a special memorial service was held in memory of Mrs. Helen M. Gougar, who was an honorary member. Mrs. Regan opened the service by singing, "Take Up Thy Cross." Tributes were paid to the memory of Mrs. Gougar by Mrs. L. D. B. Cowan, Mrs. Sylvester Johnson, Mrs. Kistler, Miss Malvin, Mrs. Moody and Mrs. McWhirter. After which the president, Mrs. Frances Boyer spoke of Mrs. Gougar being in our meeting just four weeks previous, right there in Mrs. Moody's home, speaking at our request, of her work in our recent Legislature, her bill and efforts for municipal suffrage for women. At this time Mrs. Gougar said she intended to work for suffrage through and with the W. C. T. U.

Bedford Union observed Flower Mission Day with a service at the First M. E. Church, after which bouquets were taken to the jail and hospital, to the Mayor's office, to the editors and to the sick. Many faces brightened.

LaPorte Union received three young lady members at a recent meeting—all of whom are active Christian workers. The Union will be greatly benefitted. On Flower Mission Day bouquets, with scripture text cards attached, were taken to the sick, and to the jail, where a short service was held. Reported by Mrs. Pease.

Terre Haute Union observed Flower Mission Day, which came on Sunday. A wagon was decorated with flags and a number of the Union went out to the poor farm. Going out of town they sang, "Wind the White Ribbon Round the Nation." A beautiful service was conducted by Rev. Nysman, Baptist minister, in which several persons took part. On Saturday members of the Union visited the hospital, street car barns, police station, fire department, Rose and Glen Orphans' Homes. Cut flowers being scarce over 600 artificial roses were made of pink tissue paper. These seemed to be appreciated as some said they could keep them longer. Distributed 150 cut flower bouquets, 550 Scripture text cards, 4,245 pages temperance literature. On Sunday many of the men were wearing the pink roses.

Fourth of July at Park—The Tippecanoe County W. C. T. U. will hold a Fourth of July celebration at Columbian Park. An interesting program has been arranged and a delightful day is anticipated. There will be a silver medal contest and speeches will be made by A. B. Kirkpatrick of Kokoomo, Martin A. Quinn and Joseph Gilbert, of the Labor Union of this city. There will be a swimming contest and band music. The following committee is in charge of the day's entertainment: Chairman, Mrs. T. L. Webb, Mrs. Henry Budge, Messrs. Stinespring, Blackstock, Dorwin, Gunkle, C. B. Jamison and Rev. Rippe-toe.

Judge Artman Overwhelmed With Invitations to Speak in Many States.

By unanimous vote the Indianapolis Union Ministerial Association invited Judge Samuel R. Artman of Lebanon to address a mass meeting in that city, Sunday May 12th, at Roberts Park M. E. Church. Judge Artman was in the Baptist Church at Shelbyville in the evening.

Judge Artman now has applications for lectures from thirty-six places in many States, and several offers from lecture bureaus and Chautauquas for every available date, at a price that would turn the head of a less modest and retiring man. But he has refused all these tempting offers, and after being persuaded for weeks, has at last reluctantly overcome his modesty and has placed his entire vacation in the hands of these business men of Indianapolis who brought this suit on which he rendered his now famous decision declaring saloon license unconstitutional, and he will be offered in a series of lectures, at a reasonable fee, the proceeds to go to create a fund to carry all the cases now projected, as well as the three that have been tried, to the Supreme Court of the United States. As the dates are necessarily very limited, those desiring Judge Artman's lecture should at once correspond with C. E. Newlin, 5372 E. Washington Street, Indianapolis, for dates and terms.

A GENEROUS GIFT.

Dear Editor—A recent phone call by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Alexander, of this place, gave the welcome information of a donation of one hundred dollars ($100.00) for our Industrial School for girls. This is the second generous gift with which Mr. and Mrs. Alexander have favored the school. They have been much interested in the successful school work of two of our girls who have been attending the Franklin High School for the past year and who are expecting to finish the course here.

At the last meeting of Franklin W. C. T. U. there was an expression of gratitude for the generosity of these noble benefactors, whose second gift has followed so closely the generous gift of Mrs. Cybert of this place, at our last State convention.

The trustees believe there are many people of means in our State who would gladly help the school if they were more fully acquainted with its plans and purposes, and with what it has accomplished. Let the members of local unions do their whole duty in giving the necessary information.

Mary Hadley Hall.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lafayette Union of the W. C. T. U. will deeply feel the loss of Mrs. Helen M. Gougar. She was ever ready to respond when called upon to assist in the work. The May meeting was held at her home and Mrs. Gougar gave an address, taking as her subject, "Home Reading for Children." The meeting was for Mothers. Light refreshments were served by Mrs. Gougar. Oh how we shall miss her! We feel that the work will be greatly crippled in Tippecanoe County.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. XII. No. 9.

ANDERSON, IND., AUGUST, 1907.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

(From Associated Prohibition Press.)

Ex-United States Senator E. W. Carmack of Tenn., said: "I believe that we may have come to the parting of the ways with the whisky power, and that the time for half-way measures has passed. The saloon has sinned away its day of grace and must be dealt with henceforth as an incorrigible offender against society."

"Whenever it has been demonstrated that any business is essentially injurious to the public morals, the public peace, the public health, or in any way to the public welfare, such business should come under the condemnation of the law."

"The saloon, by its insolence, its arrogance, its persistent lawlessness, has forced the issue upon the people, and the people must meet it. It refuses to be reformed; it must therefore be destroyed. It has proclaimed by its conduct that it would die rather than obey the law. In doing so, it has left but one course for self-respecting and law-respecting people."

The tidings that come to us from Georgia are, indeed, uplifting and inspiring. The State Senate there passed the Prohibition bill by a vote of 33 to 7. Governor Hoke Smith has announced his purpose to sign the bill. The House will certainly pass it by an overwhelming majority, and Prohibition will go into effect in that great State January 1, 1908. The Georgian, the daily paper of which Hon. John Temple Graves is editor, has made a brave and valiant fight for prohibition as was outlined by the Associated Prohibition Press last week. The next Southern State to adopt state-wide Prohibition will perhaps be Mississippi. Then will come Texas, and one by one, there is scarcely a doubt, that every Southern State will in the near future enter the Prohibition column. Georgia will not be satisfied with mere statutory State Prohibition; they will adopt a constitutional amendment forever prohibiting the sale of liquor in the State. The same course will be followed in the other States. Meantime, the new State of Oklahoma is waging a courageous battle for incorporating Prohibition in its original constitution. There is every prospect that the Prohibitionists will win.

Artman Decision Goes Marching On.—The Indiana Supreme Court bolstering of saloon-license last month is already well-nigh forgotten by the great mass of the people, but the Artman decision goes marching on as if nothing to the contrary had been recorded. The latest idea to prove popular Church and Prohibition rallies is to call for a vote of the audience on a resolution endorsing the Artman verdict and predicting its approval by the United States Supreme Court within a given number of years. Here is a news item of this sort just received.

In a remarkable address at the First Methodist Church of Memphis, Tenn., the pastor, the Rev. Lewis Powell, declared that the nation is waiting impatiently for the approval of the Artman decision by the United States Courts, and at the close of the service at least 1,000 of an audience of 1,500 endorsed by rising vote the following resolution: "We are advancing to the point that the Supreme Court of the United States will inevitably pronounce against the liquor traffic, and that such a decree will come within ten years."

In the course of his sermon Dr. Powell said: "The African slave trade, the nefarious gambling, lottery institutions, prize fighting, once had the sanction of law and protection of civil government, but the judiciary of government in Christian civilized lands had adjudged these things immoral and therefore could not have the sanction and protection of the State. The Supreme Court of this nation has also adjudged the liquor traffic inherently immoral and harmful to human interests and has declared that to engage in its traffic is not one of the rights of American citizens. All that remains for the Supreme Court of the United States to do is to advance one step further and in its decision to say that the liquor trade is inherently immoral and harmful to human interests, therefore it cannot be legalized and protected by this State or municipal government, and it will not be ten years at our present rate of progress, in our appreciation and recognition of the immutable law of right, until such a decision is reached and the liquor traffic outlawed. Within ten years there will not be a liquor saloon in Memphis, nor one tolerated under this Federal Government."

"Our indictment against the liquor traffic is that it is an enemy to morality. It is an enemy to religion, to education, to life, to our safety, to our liberty, and an enemy to the happiness of our people, to equity, to justice, and an enemy to domestic tranquility. It is man's greatest enemy for it is the devil's best friend. It is God's enemy, and in the name of American citizenship, and in the name of high Heaven, we insist that the Supreme Court of the United States should hasten their conclusions and reach a decision which will outlaw this nefarious liquor traffic."

Brewers in National Convention admit effect of reform wave.

ELEVATE THE STANDARDS OF JOURNALISM.

The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union has inaugurated a concert of action for the ethics of journalism, through its department of work for Purity in Literature and Art, of which Mrs. Emilie D. Martin of New York city is World's and National Superintendent. Mrs. Martin writes:

"After fifteen years of organized work, it is an encouragement that the President of the United States would bar from the mails unexpurgated accounts of the particulars of the Thaw case, and that one of the United States district attorneys, Henry L. Stimson, has threatened the papers with criminal proceedings for violation of Section 3893 of the revised statutes regarding mail matter. Attorney Stimson further states that the mere fact that such matter purports to be an account of a judicial proceeding, furnishes no excuse for a violation of the statute in question."

"A leading New York paper, through its officials, recently pleaded guilty to publishing indecent advertisements in violation of the statutes concerning obscene books, pamphlets, pictures, papers, etc.; yet many newspapers received in our homes today are violating these same statutes."

"When such violations are discovered, W. C. T. U. members should call upon the editors or write to them, and induce others to call or write, using their influence for the suppression of that which degrades and demoralizes. When these means fail, bring the matter to the attention of the postmaster-general and the district attorney."

"Where one person reads a book, five thousand read a newspaper. With its telephone annexes, all the world twice a day passes in review. The power of the press should be used to stem the swelling current of details of crime, and advertisements both medical and fraudulent that pamper to morbid conditions."

"An encouraging feature in this fight for purity in the home and society and for the suppression of evil reading is the attitude of the National Editorial Association, expressed in the following resolution:

Resolved, That the National Editorial Association of the United States earnestly sympathizes with the woman's movement for the promotion of purity in literature and art, as tending to maintain the moral standard and endeavoring to realize the prime object of the press—the elevation and betterment of humanity, intellectually, morally, and socially; for the suppression of sensationalism, cruel personalities, and immoral details in the reports of vice and crime, which tend only to degrade the moral standard of the community, often inciting to the re-enactment of the horrors thus depicted; and that we will further endeavor to make the press one of the truest and best friends of humanity by refusing space to all questionable and impure advertising, also excluding from our writings and doings, the untruths and half-truths, which are often more dangerous and often have more of poison than unmasked vice, because of the pure alloy which promotes their circulation."

"The International League of Press Clubs has reaffirmed the action of the National Editorial Association, also passing the following:

"Realizing the important place the press assumes as one of the great educational influences of the day:

Resolved, That it shall be our earnest effort in the future, as it has been in the past, to assist the guardians of the home in their endeavor to send forth from thence such citizens as will guide and guard the best interests of the fireside in every land; as tending to the uplifting of humanity, which leads at last to peace, purity, and truth."

"State and Territorial Editorial Associations have passed resolutions to raise the moral tone of the press. The motto in an appeal to editors or associations should be: 'To exalt virtue above self-interest.' Emerson said: 'The truest test of civilization is not the census or the crops, but the kind of men the country turns out.'"

Resolutions of the National W. C. T. U.:

"WHEREAS, Many of the magazines and newspapers of the day carry advertisements of alcoholic liquors and also other advertisements and pictures which should not be allowed to enter the home; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we choose for our homes, so far as possible, the newspapers and magazines which exclude such advertisements; that we will, however, in a spirit of frankness and kindness, ask publishers and editors to cease to include in their publications objectionable advertisements; moreover, we will remonstrate against such advertisements and pictures being posted in public places, believing them to be demoralizing; and we consider that it is the duty of town and municipal authorities to prevent such displays on bill-boards or in other public places."

"Right thinking by the individual is the basis of a righteous nation. The mind must have the best nutrition for right thinking. It is timely to consider pure intellectual food as well as other pure food; for 'as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he.' Paper is as patient as Job; it gives back all it receives. The censorship of public opinion relating to trusts, corporations, railroads, and graft, will not hesitate to sound the knell of all that retards the growth of wholesome journalism."

Suggested impurity, through printed word and portraiture, is the parent of impure act, soon reinforced by the fire-feeding alcohol. Thus, the purified journalism of a nation would tend to a temperance of wide and deep character."

Certain Chicago newspapers have recently published articles exposing the evil effected by the low-grade theaters, and condemning these and the "nickel theaters" as corruptors of youth. Very good, thus far. But as proof that there is still something to be accomplished in behalf of purity on the part of these very newspapers, it is to be noted that one great daily, which exposed and condemned a certain infamous "sensational dance," carried, in the very same issue, a theater advertisement of that identical dance! We are fast coming to realize that the advertising columns of a paper should bear some degree of consistency with its editorial policy, and to demand that no part of the publication shall offend against decency. Yet too many purveyors of news and information still permit in their advertising columns what they would not dream of printing elsewhere—words and pictures that are unfit for the eyes of men and women, much less for those of the children who are permitted to see them. Definite, insistent protest on the part of white ribboners will go far towards elimination of the objectionable from the press, and prompt report to the Post Office department of violations of the postal laws regarding impure matter, will go still farther."

We hereby call upon every mother and father reading these words to take counsel with the bravest and wisest impulse of mind and soul, fall into line with every effort of the Purity in Literature and Art department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and by any means and all means strive to remove the traps that are being set for innocent feet. Feet? Souls! For these are things that bring eternal blight. It is a slaughter of the innocents too deadly to contemplate, and those who, having knowledge of the evil fail to take up arms in defense of the innocents, take part in the slaughter!

Another phase of this work, and a most important one, is what has been appropriately termed, the menace of modern fiction. Popular books, high-class magazines and many of the best weekly publications, contain an appalling amount of free advertising for liquors and tobacco, in the guise of fiction. Let a vigorous protest go from every reader to the publishers of this class of fiction, and it will soon cease to be a marketable product. The evil calls for heroic measures, which should be promptly applied in the form of cancelled subscriptions, should a courteous but unmistakable protest fail of the desired result. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union represents 300,000 homes, and its demand for current literature which shall be free from insidious suggestions for the cultivation of the liquor and tobacco habit, is of sufficient importance to meet with a respectful hearing."

Army Canteen—That institution of evil to our soldier boys must be fostered by some public men in order for them to keep the influence of the liquor element, so necessary for their support at the polls, if they are elected to office. Yes, and too the great dailies must occasionally publish an editorial favoring the canteen, this they do. In order to make the canteen a little more acceptable to the temperance people, it is now asserted in an editorial in a great daily that "it is a notorious fact that the abolishment of the canteen was accomplished by the aid of whisky influence."

NEW LIGHT ON COCA COLA.

Mrs. Martha M. Allen, Homer, N. Y.

There has been much discussion as to the presence of cocaine in the drink advertised under the name of Coca Cola. The company manufacturing this beverage has been very abusive of the writer of this article because she said that if Coca Cola is made of coca and cola, as its name would indicate, it must contain cocaine, because cocaine is the active principle of the coca leaves. Why the manufacturers should Picnic at Hadley Industrial School, August 8th.

Mrs. Annie W. Clark, president of the Ohio W. C. T. U., died of pneumonia recently, after a very brief illness. Our sympathy goes out to the great White Ribbon host of the Buckeye State in the hour of bereavement. A leader is fallen.

President Roosevelt has sent more messages to Congress than any other President of the United States. Why does he constantly ignore the subject of the liquor business? Our people are spending more than one hundred million dollars a month for intoxicating liquors. Every class of intelligent, thinking people (except those connected with the liquor traffic) agree that the liquor problem is the most gigantic moral, economic and industrial problem that faces the American people. Why is our President silent? Why did Senator Beveridge favor the seating of the Mormon, Reed Smoot, in our greatest law making body, the U. S. Senate? Why did Vice-President Fairbanks invite Mormon Reed Smoot to preside over the U. S. Senate during his temporary absence?

OUR DEPARTMENT OF PURITY.

It seems to us that a timely suggestion to the Unions is demanded. No more delicate nor difficult field of work is included in the broad undertaking of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union than that of the promotion of purity. It begins with the child, continues along young womanhood and manhood, strives to impress its teachings upon parents and matured men and women. Even here the work cannot end but must become more potent by enlisting the aid of the church and the school.

As civilization becomes more complex, we realize the solidarity of every institution, which makes either for the uplift or degradation of the race. Nothing in the social compact stands isolated nor without vital importance to the great moral problems, which we are striving to solve.

The State has an obligation to society and to the home along the lines of promoting purity, which has not been largely felt. Judges and courts do not realize their tremendous power and their duty along these lines. As an illustration, in the city of Indianapolis, recently, a young girl was met in a restaurant by an old woman; asked to go to her home, was kindly treated for a day or two and then given beer on the third evening, told to keep quiet or there might be trouble, and that night visited by young men. We blush to state so plainly the sad occurrence; and nothing short of conscientious conviction that it ought to be done, would induce us to bring before the readers of The Message such awful conditions. The old woman was tried; the evidence from her was that the girl only sixteen years of age had asked for beer, that she had no knowledge of the alleged happenings, which the girl had confessed and upon this finding the judge dismissed the case against the woman.

In another instance, with details almost as revolting, a young girl was found in a place of evil resort; and, although only a child sixteen, the woman who contributed to her delinquency was fined by Judge Whallon of the Police Court in the paltry sum of ten dollars.

Let our Purity Department superintendents over the State and Nation post up on the law; and especially the penalties for violations; and, if these judges have done the best they could have done, let us demand more stringent measures. Time should not be lost. Get ready for the next session of the Legislature, and see that such laws as we now have shall not be overlooked. The judges and courts ought to know that we expect them to come up to the full measure of their responsibility.

EFFECTIVE WORK.

In many places nothing is done to advance the contest work. Simply electing a superintendent amounts to little unless the person elected is personally interested and seeks the pleasure of having a "good report" at the end of the term. White Ribbons in many places are anxious to multiply Unions, and yet allow the work among children to languish because an utter lack of helpful influence. It is not so everywhere.

Mrs. Fannie E. Wade, wife of the well-known lecturer, I. S. Wade, is superintendent of Contest Work in Lafayette Union, W. C. T. U., and in a short time has given out three silver medals to prize winners, as follows: May 7th—St. Paul M. E. Church, LaFayette. Good class. Fine attendance. Winner of medal, Henrietta Meacham. In this contest Helen M. Gouger was one of the judges and in presenting the medal delivered her last speech. June 24—West LaFayette M. E. Church. Good attendance. Good general program. Prize winner, Lois Jackman, a niece of Rev. A. W. Jackman of Monticello. July 12—West Side M. E. Church. Attendance not large. Interest good. Class of boys. Prize winner, Robert Parsons.

The work will continue until LaFayette Union has six candidates for the gold medal. No branch of the W. C. T. U. work better deserves encouragement from women who don the White Ribbon than this labor among children. Miss Anna Robinson is assistant superintendent, and is energetic in pushing the work.

STATE SUPERINTENDENTS.

Dear Superintendents—At the Mid-Year Executive Committee meeting it was voted that advanced sheets of the superintendents reports be printed previous to the State Convention. Therefore your report must be in the hands of the recording secretary by the 25th of September. It was also voted that superintendents make a summary of the work done in their departments at the close of their reports.

W. C. T. U. PICNIC HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL, AUGUST 8th.

The friends of the W. C. T. U. Hadley Industrial School are cordially invited to meet in the grove of the Hadley School farm and enjoy an old fashioned out of doors picnic. A good program by the children. We hope to have our State President, Mrs. Vayhinger and Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley with us. Bring well filled baskets; stay all day; enjoy an outing never to be forgotten. Trains leave Indianapolis for Hadley, 7:15 a. m. and 5:00 p. m.; return leave Hadley 9:45 a. m. and 4:40 p. m. Come. We want you to meet the girls and look over the building and farm. Yours for a good day,

Lizzie C. Ham.
Lida Outland.

PRESS SUPERINTENDENTS.

As time carries us on I am reminded that reporting time is drawing near, and am very anxious for a full report. Twice this year I have asked for the names of County and Local Press Superintendents, and but very few responded. To be sure you all read everything in the Message each month, so when you finish reading these lines PLEASE get a postal card, and if you are a County Press Superintendent write your own name and address, and that of your local press superintendents in the county, and if you are a local press superintendent, send your own name and address, and you will receive a blank report. Now, I am not asking much of each of you, but if you fail to respond I can not send you a blank and your work will not be counted in the annual report. I am sure that much work has been done this year, but our report to the National Superintendent will depend on you dear ones. Again, I repeat it, please send me your names and addresses as soon as you read these lines. I still have some excellent press leaflets which are yours for the asking. Yours for success, (Miss) Laura Cammack,

Converse, Ind.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

I attended the State L. T. L. Convention at Elwood, July 10th. It was indeed inspiring to see the brave young people so full of zeal for our great cause. Oh! that every Union in the State had an active L. T. L. I went to Summitville the 11th, Lapel the 12th, Anderson the 13th, and Muncie the 14th.

The weather was very sultry, but we had good audiences at most places—and men and women alike ready to accept the gospel of Prohibition. I found the manufacturers of Anderson circulating petitions in an effort to move the saloons out of the industrial section of the city, and locate these crime breeders in the business district, where the police force might be better able to "put on the lid," but the business men objected to their proposed neighbors, for they know that every legitimate industry is robbed by the saloon, and they don't want to mar the beauty of their proud city by these plague spots. Muncie is bidding for schools and prap the saloon to move on. Lapel closed her saloons and drove them to Anderson, where they will perhaps do a better business. But the "hand writing is on the wall" and the people realize that the only way to curtail the traffic is by cutting off its head. Donations to State Fund: Summitville, $3.00; Lapel, $3.06; Anderson W. and Y., $2.54; Muncie, $3.00; Normal City, $4.70.

Yours for victory,
Elizabeth T. Stanley.

UNITED STATES BREWERS' CONVENTION.

The "Vigilance Committee's" report as follows, was adopted by the convention:

Admit Progress of Prohibition.

What the leaders of the brewing industry think of the outlook for their business, despite their increased beer sales, is vividly manifest in the following militant call to arms presented by the so-called "Vigilance Committee," and which was afterwards unanimously adopted as the utterance of the convention itself:

"The recent alarming growth and intensification of the prohibitory spirit, as shown in this exhaustive review, call for the gravest concern on our part, and point the necessity for a general closing up of our ranks and the adoption of vigorous measures of defense.

"It is only too apparent that the enemies of our industry have more than held their own in the struggles of the past year.

"Emboldened by their victories in the South—victories conditioned by a wave of fanaticism—cheered by their advance in the West, and not discouraged by their setbacks in the East, they are planning greater conquests in the near future. Their resources are without limit and they refuse to admit defeat. They are pledged to a war of extermination.

"The friends of personal liberty, of the 'square deal,' of just and equal government, could not ask fairer warning than is afforded by the history of the past year."

The report itself of this "Vigilance Committee" covers more than 10,000 words descriptive of the trials, tribulations, defeats and successes achieved by the paid lobbyists and hired defenders of the traffic in every section of the country, State by State.

Some Sample Reports.

Here are a few sentences from some of their State reports:

"Alabama—Our predictions with regard to the Prohibition and Dispensary movement in this State have been only too literally fulfilled. Our esteemed member, J. M. Milzen, of Birmingham, writes us that the Legislature has passed and the Governor signed both a County Option bill and a County Dispensary bill."

"Colorado—A. J. Zang, of Denver, reports briefly as follows: 'The Legislature which has just adjourned passed a Local Option law permitting any voting district or precinct to vote upon and decide the liquor question. We tried our best to defeat this measure, but were handicapped by having a Methodist preacher for Governor, backed up by woman suffrage.'

"Georgia appears to have found herself directly in the swath of the late Temperance tornado."

"Kentucky—The high tidal wave of anti-saloon fanaticism which swept over the South made itself strongly felt in Kentucky. At present there are thirty-two 'wet' counties and eighty-seven 'dry' counties, a gain of twenty-five counties for the Prohibitionists since the enactment of this law. There are still pending twelve elections to be held within the next two months."

"North Dakota—The Legislature has passed an extraordinary bill which forbids soliciting for the sale of intoxicating liquors. This law goes into effect July 1st, and, as a consequence, most of the brewers doing business in the State will withdraw their agents."

NEW LIGHT ON COCA COLA.

be so indignant over such a statement is matter for wonder, when they sell a drink under such a suspicious name.

However, the truth about the cocaine in Coca Cola has come to light. Some months ago the Coca Cola company entered suit against the United States government to recover money paid during the Spanish-American war as a tax upon their product, which was listed by the government as a patent medicine subject to a war tax. During the trial, the attorney for the company stated that Coca Cola is a little less than half sugar, the liquid in which it is held in solution being water. In each glass there were, he said, about 1 to 1½ grains of caffeine, one-fourth hundredth of a grain of cocaine, and 1½ grains of phosphoric acid, with flavoring added, and with less than one-half of 1 per cent. of alcohol as a preservative.

So the company has, through its attorney, admitted that there is a small quantity of cocaine in each glass of Coca Cola. Whether there is as little as the attorney stated may be a matter of doubt with some people. After the great show of righteous indignation made by the manufacturers when it was hinted that cocaine might be hidden away in their product, their word as to the smallness of the quantity, when forced to tell, may be regarded as uncertain.

Why have so many analysts failed to find cocaine when examining coca cola? Let the council on Pharmacy and Chemistry of the American Medical Association answer. In referring to "Tucker's Asthma Cure" in the Journal of the American Medical Association for March 16, 1907, the Council reports different analyses, some of which give cocaine a constituent of the Tucker "Cure." In regard to the inconsistencies of the analyses given, it is said, "These are partly due to the fact that proprietary medicines often vary in their composition from time to time and partly to difficulties inherent in the analysis of a complex mixture. Cocaine can be identified by characteristic qualitative tests, but its quantitative determination is very difficult, and, when the quantities are so small, it is practically impossible."

It is now easy to understand why so many chemists reported finding no cocaine in Coca Cola. "It is practically impossible" to determine it when very small quantities are used.

Another point is: the composition of some proprietary medicines differs widely according to the part of the country, or the world, where they are to be sold. For instance, in Australia a chemist of good standing reported finding over 40 per cent. of alcohol in a preparation which in Massachusetts contained 28 per cent. and in North Dakota, with its strict drug law, only 21 per cent. was found. It would seem that proprietary beverages also may differ as sold in different states. In some parts of the South, it is said by a prominent paper of the drug trade, Coca Cola drinkers call it "dope," and in Tennessee some very careful, reliable persons say that this drink has certainly a very peculiar effect upon those who imbibe. Cases were followed up of boys and girls who drank it, and they seemed to be in an unnatural condition, and wanted it in increasing quantities.

All will grant that cocaine is a dangerous drug, even in small quantity, as it has such a capacity to form a disastrous craving. But is the other ingredient, caffeine, perfectly harmless? Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist of the United States government, wrote recently of caffeine in headache remedies, as follows: "Caffeine (or theine), the alkaloidal principle of coffee and tea and of other plants, is a drug frequently used in headache remedies, and its effect as a drug upon the human system is so pronounced as to render its use in headache remedies a matter of the gravest importance. Even in tea and coffee its effect is so strong that many persons drinking them late at night will have their sleep disturbed, or often pass an entirely sleepless night. But when caffeine is separated from tea and coffee, and used as a separate drug, it exerts a more specific action upon the system than when in natural combination. Caffeine has a direct stimulating effect upon the nerves, the brain, and the spinal cord; its general effect, when used as a drug, is to induce nervousness with deranged digestion and impaired health."

Wolfe has shown that three grains of caffeine will impair the quality of the gastric juice, which may make clear Dr. Wiley's reference to deranged digestion. The attorney for the Coca Cola company said that each glass contains from 1 to 1½ grains of caffeine. Will not impaired digestion result from drinking Coca Cola throughout a season?

The attorney for the government in the suit referred to declared that Coca Cola "should be classed as a dangerous medicinal compound," which will "originate, engender, cultivate and inflame the desire for stimulants, opiates and narcotics." This is as strong as anything the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has ever said. Let us pass it along to others.

N. B. This article, somewhat elaborated, can be brought out in leaflet form to be sold at 30 cents per 100. If there is sufficient demand to warrant its publication, it will be printed. Please write to Mrs. M. M. Allen, Homer, N. Y., stating how many copies you will order.—Ohio Messenger.

THE PROHIBS AND THE BIG POLITICIANS.

(From Mida's Criterion (Liquor Organ.)

The prohibits are in a bad way over the conduct of the leading public men who are spoken of as presidential timber.

Vice-President Fairbanks is vigorously condemned because cocktails were served at his home on May 30 when President Roosevelt was entertained by him.

As for the President, he is altogether too outspokenly liberal and independent on the liquor question to suit the straight-laced saints on earth.

Carrie Nation gave our President particular fits because in passing through Kansas he had aboard a few of the good things that aid in stimulation.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, of Illinois, is getting no support from the prohibitory element because he is liberal in his views on the drink question, and has a palate that keenly relishes the ancient in vintage and the aroma of good tobacco.

In Ohio the anti-saloonists are opposing the nomination of Secretary of War Taft because he earnestly advocated the restoration of the army canteen as a step toward true temperance. And so the test of big politicians might be gone over, for a man to suit the prohibits must be built on too narrow lines to ever become prominent or popular. They are certainly scarce of presidential timber.

The Knights of Pythias have recently issued an order excluding wholesale and retail liquor dealers, bar-keepers, and proprietors of hotels where bars are kept from membership.

A PROGRESSIVE CONSTITUTION.

Extracts from a speech made by Dr. J. P. D. John, at the Fourth of July W. C. T. U. picnic, held by the Greencastle union:

Genuine temperance sentiment was never before so strong throughout the land as it is on this anniversary of our nation's birth. East, west, north, south, the people are shaking off their lethargy. They are waking, they are nearly awake. And when they fully open their eyes to the menace of the saloon its days will be numbered. In the south the people are more fully aroused than in the north. In the state of Texas, they have county local option, and during my recent trip through that state, the battle was on again between the enemies and the friends of the saloon. When a county votes "dry," the saloon is banished for two years. Then at the expiration of the limit, the contest is on again. They are voting all over the state of Texas this week, and if the birds that whispered in my ears last week tell the truth, the forces of righteousness will prevail. And what is true of Texas, is true throughout the greater part of the south. And what is true in the south, is, in large measure, true throughout the length and breadth of the land.

When the people record their verdict that the saloon is immoral and a menace to the State and nation, that moment the saloon will become an unconstitutional thing, whatever the statutes of the state or nation may declare.

The constitution cannot be changed except by constitutional methods, but its interpretation changes with the convictions of the people. What was unconstitutional once, is constitutional today, though the instrument itself is the same. This is true, whether it be the constitution of a state or of the nation.

Public sentiment has much to do with the construction and exposition of obscure, doubtful, or prophetic passages in the constitution. Indeed, parts of the fundamental law are inoperative until the public conscience becomes quick and tender enough to see to the bottom of its truth.

The constitution of the state of Indiana is founded on Christian morality. Whatever is immoral is illegal, either actually or potentially. Moral legislation against immorality cannot be unconstitutional, because it is the very essence of the constitution.

Public conscience must decide what is immoral and what is moral. The time was in the state of Indiana when public conscience decided that lotteries were not immoral. Legislation in the interest of lotteries was then constitutional. The time now is when public conscience says that lotteries are immoral, and legislation in the interest of lotteries is now unconstitutional. It is the same constitution but a revised public conscience.

The time has been when the public conscience has said that the saloon was not immoral, and legislation against it was, therefore, unconstitutional. The time is close at hand, if indeed it is not already here, when the public conscience is saying that the saloon is essentially and irretrievably immoral, and when the public conscience formally utters that word, all legislation in its interest will be unconstitutional.

It has been reserved for a distinguished jurist of our own state to anticipate the omnipotent proclamation of the public conscience, and in the generations to come, I would rather be Samuel R. Artman, though he should never rise above the position of a circuit judge, than to be any one of the supreme justices, who may temporarily reverse his decision. Whatever the decision of the present supreme bench may be, the decision of the future will be that Samuel R. Artman saw the truth, and heard the utterance of the public conscience while it was yet unspoken. Some things which men called truth a century ago, we call error today. Is it the truth that has changed, or is it the philosophers? Truth is eternal, but its appearance varies with the eyes of the beholder.

The uprising of the temperance people throughout the nation is phenomenal. Men and women of all creeds and parties are demanding the suppression of the saloon. This tide of sentiment cannot be stayed. The people are in earnest. If our public servants, whether in legislative, executive or judicial circles, heed the call, it will be well with them and the nation. But if they close their ears to the call of the new public conscience, and open their ears to the threatenings of the demagogue, the hot fires of the public indignation will flame against them; and the people will rise in their might and their clear vision of the right and drive them from executive, judicial and legislative halls, and remand them to private life; and the people will find other servants who will not falter in the presence of duty, and who will courageously ring the death knell of the saloon.—Greencastle Banner.

The United States Supreme Court by recent decision has made it unlawful for any person to solicit orders for liquor in the State of Kansas. A conviction is subject to a fine of not more than $500.00 nor less than $100.00. In addition there may be a penalty of from one to six months.

FIELD NEWS

Union County Convention of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the country home of Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley. Every preacher in the county is invited and the Prohibitionists are planning to be present. Medal contest by the young people is one of the helpful features of the program.

Munsey's Magazine editorially announces: "No more advertising contracts for whiskey, beer or wine, and no more objectionable medical advertising, or objectionable anything, in fact, will be accepted for Munsey's Magazine."

Greencastle W. C. T. U. held its annual Fourth of July meeting and picnic in the beautiful grounds surrounding the house of Mr. and Mrs. O'Daniel. Mrs. J. P. D. John, the president, in charge. The program was of unusual interest. Those participating were Rev. C. Cauble, who had charge of the devotional service. Dr. H. A. Gobin, who spoke on "The Stainless Flag." Dr. J. S. Hoagland told of the victories for temperance. Dr. J. P. D. John's subject was "A Progressive Constitution." Followed by Prof. John B. DeMotte, who spoke briefly, with great earnestness regarding local conditions. The singing evangelist, Mr. Harry Maxwell, greatly assisted by his interest and enthusiasm. Numbers by a male quartette, consisting of Messrs. Maxwell, Potorff, Oucley and Connelly, were much appreciated. A feature of the meeting was the singing of a chorus of girls from the Loyal Temperance Legion. Among the much admired decorations was a floral design in patriotic colors, the gift of Mrs. Hattie Moore. The afternoon was closed with a picnic supper of generous proportions brought by the guests and eaten in true picnic style. Facts taken from the Greencastle Banner. Prof. and Mrs. DeMotte generously furnishing ice cream for the entire company.

Contest Work is booming in Indiana. Counties in the lead are Grant, Marion, Madison and Jay. Competition is close. One local superintendent has held fifty contests within a year. The new Educator No. 12, is now in the hands of the State Superintendent. It is bright, new, and up-to-date. Send for copies to use as prohibition literature. Let me hear from counties that want a representative in the Diamond Medal Contest at State Convention at Lafayette.

Julia Overman,

State Superintendent, Marion, Ind.

Temperance Posters—Printed on manila card board, in large, red and black letters, setting forth the latest temperance statistics. Tack them up at Fourth of July celebrations, cha-ta-quas, fairs and anywhere they can be seen. They are silent educators for temperance. Price five cents each. For sale by Mrs. Eva Miller, 723 Jackson Street, Peoria, Ill.

Lafayette Memorial Service for Mrs. Helen M. Gougar—The W. C. T. U. Unions of our city held a memorial service for our well loved comrade and friend, Mrs. Helen M. Gougar, at 3:30 p. m., June 30th, in the Second Presbyterian Church. Miss Eliza F. Baker, County President, presiding. The Rev. John P. Hale, pastor of the church to which Mrs. Gougar belonged, voiced the invocation at the beginning of the service. Beautiful vocal numbers were rendered by Rev. Trucksess and the Mises Berry and Mitchell, with organ accompaniment by Miss Eva Linn. Dr. I. S. Wade paid a well merited tribute to the life and character of Mrs. Gougar, likening her to famous heroes of the past, who dared everything for righteous principles. Rev. A. W. Conner, of the Christian Church, also spoke in high commendation of Mrs. Gougar, citing some of her original remarks, which always carried a wholesome truth. Mrs. Mary George gave a sketch of Mrs. Gougar's life and some of its accomplishments. Beginning to teach in the public schools at the age of sixteen years, she thus early assumed the responsibilities of her phenomenally successful and useful career, which from our mortal vision ended all too early. Thus we publicly showed forth the love we bore our great hearted leader, and our sorrow for her loss. For we of Lafayette do indeed feel stricken and bereaved in the going from us of Helen M. Gougar.

Mrs. H. H. Moore.

Ray—Mrs. L. F. McWhirter, editor of "The Message."—We wish to express our appreciation of the work done in Steuben County by Mrs. Don G. Blaine, of Washington. Hamilton, Angola, Pleasant Lake and Fremont Unions experienced temperance revivals; new members being added to each of the unions, and those already enrolled were encouraged to go on with the work, which must be successful. Her lectures were pleasing, setting forth the great truths in a convincing manner. The parlor meetings were well attended and the work done was greatly appreciated by all. We pray that God's richest blessing may be with Mrs. Blaine.

(Mrs.) Edna S. Smith,

President Steuben County, Ray, Ind.

The Prohibitionists of Huntington County held an all day's picnic in the beautiful Chamber's grove, six miles south of Huntington, on July 4th, with fine weather and good attendance. In the forenoon the W. C. T. U. were invited to give a gold medal contest, and Mrs. Effie Hubley, our superintendent of that department, responded with a class of six of exceptional merit. Miss Elizabeth Mason winning the prize. Her reading was "The Ballot of the Bishop and the Brewer." After a sumptuous dinner we listened to a most able address by Rev. Harry G. Hill of Indianapolis. All combined a most profitable and sane Fourth of July.

Hendricks County Flower Mission Superintendent, Margaret Kendall, has gone on before. We shall miss her loving visitations and words of cheer. From our May meeting we sent her a beautiful double white potted geranium, with the text: "The Angel of the Lord Encampeth 'Round About Them that Fear Him and Delivereth Them." She told her nurse to water it and take care for it and when she was gone to send it back to the Union. There were five ministers took part at her funeral. Rev. David Hadley leading with the text, "This woman was full of good works and alms which she did." A very appropriate text in her case. Another said, "She hath done what she could." Margaret said to the writer a few months ago, "Soon it will be said of me, 'She is gone, it's all right.'"

Rhoda McClain.

New London is small but loyally active. Flower Mission Day is observed annually. This year after a beautiful service, held at the home of the pastor, participated in by several persons, including young ladies who are interested, visits were made, and bouquets with text cards were distributed. The young ladies seem to enjoy this work and their help is appreciated.

Lafayette—Tippecanoe County Swimming Races—The celebration at Columbian park, under the auspices of the County W. C. T. U. was very successful. In the silver medal contest Miss Esther Brown secured first prize, the others participating being Miss Anna Shipley and Miss Bernice Crowden. Miss May Thomas, county superintendent of silver medal contests, officiated. In the afternoon there were addresses by A. B. Kirkpatrick, of Kokomo, and Joseph C. Skemp of this city. Judge Kirkpatrick spoke on "Christian Patriotism" and Mr. Skemp on "The Labor Question. Both addresses were eloquent and interesting. There were many swimmers in the contests in the swimming pool. Charles B. Jamison had charge of the contests and the following won prizes: Guy Duessler, best exhibition of diving; William Terry, best swimmer; Joseph Redman, best all-around swimmer. The prizes were donated by Jamison Brothers, Reitemer & Ditzler and J. Higley. The uniform rank of Woodmen of the World gave an exhibition drill. The Mulberry band furnished the music.

Miss Susan Clark, our state superintendent of work among colored people, died on July 16th, after a long illness at the home of her brother, Mr. W. F. Clark, editor of The Patriot Phalanx, of Indianapolis. Miss Clark was for years a close friend of Mrs. L. D. B. Covan, Mrs. J. R. Wood and Mrs. Mary E. Balch. She was a member of the Indianapolis Central W. C. T. U. Besides her State work, she was, until stricken by disease, a persistent, efficient local worker. She held mothers' meetings among the colored women of the city and conducted a Loyal Temperance Legion composed of colored children. In early womanhood she had been a missionary, going out under the American Board. Mrs. Clark led a life of active service, Christ-like simplicity, and her heart was ever responsive to the needs of humanity. She loved much. In Miss Clark's death our cause has lost a loyal, energetic friend. Her life was a plea for the holy living and a protest against sin. She did what she could.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mr. Robert Gilmore of Bloomington a devoted loyal brother in-law of the W.C.T.U. died after a serious illness of weeks. His wife, our sister, Mrs. Jeanette Gilmore has our deepest sympathy. Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore went to Los Angeles, in 1905, with our Indiana party.

In Memory of Our Promoted Comrade.

The Heavenly Father has seen fit in His wise providence to remove from the ranks of the Princeton W.C.T.U. our dear sister, Mrs. Elmira Blair. We deeply feel our loss and extend to the bereaved family and sorrowing relatives our heartfelt sympathy.

DOES IT PAY. By Rev. Chas. Scanlon.

This is an excellent recitation.—[Editor.]

DOES IT PAY to license a traffic which lessens the demand for the helpful things of life, which increases their cost and diminishes the ability to pay for them?

DOES IT PAY to license a traffic which makes men less skilful, less steady, less reliable; which lessens endurance, lessens confidence, lessens credit, lessens the demand for food, clothing, shelter and tools with which to work?

DOES IT PAY to license a traffic which breeds idiots, paupers, criminals, lunatics and epileptics and casts them upon society to be supported by decent, honest, industrious people?

DOES IT PAY to license a traffic which increases taxes by creating a demand for jails, penitentiaries, asylums, hospitals, almshouses, orphanages, reformatories, police and criminal courts?

DOES IT PAY to maintain a national quarantine against criminal and dependent classes from abroad and license 25,000 saloonkeepers to manufacture such products at home?

DOES IT PAY to support the families of saloonkeepers and bartenders and pay their rent, taxes, insurance and buy luxuries for them in order to get a few pennies of our many dollars back in revenue and license?

DOES IT PAY to employ teachers to teach children the evil effects of alcohol upon the human system and license men to sell a thing which inflames the stomach, hardens the brain tissues, softens and weakens the blood vessels, impoverishes the blood, overworks the heart, dims the eye, dulls the hearing, diseases the throat, lungs, kidneys, liver, nerves and muscles; the demand for which is wholly artificial, and when supplied serves no good purpose?

DOES IT PAY to call ministers to preach the Gospel of love, charity, honesty, purity, forgiveness and redemption, and license other men to engage in a traffic which fosters hate, engenders strife, breeds dishonesty, impurity and destruction?

Pittsburg, Pa.

WHOLESALE'S CONVENTION.

The National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association met in Atlantic City, June 18th to 20th, two weeks after the adjournment of the United States Brewers' Association.

Following the example of the brewers, or perhaps more correctly, stirred by the same threatening current events adverse to their trade, they raised an even more strenuous note of warning and alarm against the apparently irresistible progress of Prohibition sentiment, legislation and law-enforcement during the past year. After furnishing the principal topic for consideration during the first three sessions of the convention, all day Tuesday, and Wednesday morning, June 18th and 19th, the "vexed question of Prohibition," as their official journals call it, became the one sole issue to which the convention could devote its attention at the fourth momentous session on Wednesday afternoon, and it was still the uppermost night-mare of the convention spellbinders in its closing hours on Thursday, June 20th.

Here are a few pointed excerpts from addresses as published in the leading liquor press of the country:

"I can say without fear of contradiction that during the past year we had more troubles to confront us than during the entire period of our existence."—President Taylor, of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association of America, in his report to the Twelfth Annual Convention at Atlantic City, N. J., June 18, 1907.

"During the past twelve months the prohibitionists have made grave inroads on our business. Especially is this true in the South, and unless we work with more energy and determination to stop this tidal wave, every State in the South would be closed to us."—The Same.

"Difficulties confront us now that were undreamed of at the birth of the Association."—The Same.

"At no time, at least in recent years, has the liquor trade had as much to contend with as during the past year. It has been beset with much difficulty and opposition, which came from both within and without. Efforts to restrict and suppress the sale of liquor have been strongly urged and few sections of the country have been free from agitation. Every function of government has been called into play to accomplish restrictions."—Report of the Executive Committee of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association, June 18, 1907.

"The past year has been one of continuous activity. Attacks on the trade have been widespread, varied, and persistent. No part of the country has escaped. Legislative bodies have been deluged with bills hostile and unjust in character. . . . The number of elections held has also been large."—Report General Manager Protective Bureau, National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association, June 18, 1907.

"The reports of our officers and the speeches on the floor of the convention all point out as the most important point to be considered, the increased efforts of the prohibition element, both in enforcing Prohibition laws and in endeavoring to obtain new legislation adverse to our business."

"While matters of National Legislation and regulations for the enforcement of National law engross our immediate and most careful attention we cannot fail to recognize the fact that after all these troubles are past history; whether ending satisfactorily to us or otherwise, we will still be confronted with the ever-abiding and increasing troubles attendant upon the effort of the Prohibition element, and their success in deceiving the public, etc."—Report of the Committee on Resolutions, at the Twelfth Annual Convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association, June 18, 1907.

According to "Beverages" (New York), "The dominant subject of debate was the omnipresent vexatious prohibition issue, and the best means of fighting it. Numerous useful suggestions were brought forward by the different members who participated in the debate, and the general consensus of opinion seemed to be that a gigantic effort should be made to impress upon the trade the importance of the difficulties which it was battling against, and the absolute necessity for a better support of the Protective Bureau. The general trend of the discussion indicated that this department of the Association's work would in the future be practically its most important feature."

The Georgian, a daily of Atlanta, on July 19th published the names of a thousand substantial citizens of that city who have banded themselves together and publicly announced their determination to secure the enforcement of prohibition in that city, when the law goes into effect, Jan. 1, 1908.

Judge William Jefferson Pollard, of St. Louis, originator of the "pledge parole" plan for drunkards, which has brought to him wide notoriety has been re-elected for a term of four years. His plan has attracted great attention and the keenest interest has been taken in watching its success. It has been incorporated in the statutes of Vermont and adopted by at least one other judge.

Of Beer, Liebig, the great chemist, says: "There is more nourishment in as much flour as will lie on a table-knife than in nine quarts of beer."

"Beer, wine, spirits, etc., furnish no elements capable of entering into the composition of blood, muscular fibre, or any part which is the seat of the vital principle."

Dr. Ridge says: "There is as much nourishment in a pennyworth of bread as in a gallon of ale."

Sir Michael Foster goes still further and says: "There is no more nourishment in a gallon of beer than is found in a lump of sugar."

"Beer is not a real food. You may put all the nourishing portion in a gallon of the best beer ever brewed on the end of a ordinary table-knife. So little nourishment is there in it that you would have to be drunk over and over again before you could swallow enough beer to supply nourishing food sufficient for a square meal."—Norman Kerr, M. D.

The Sunday "lid" has taken such a firm hold in Missouri that it may result in complete prohibition. When reform gets a start it is always hard for it to decide upon a stopping place.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"The Temperance Question has reached the stage in every State where it refuses to back up and be hitched. The sentiment is gaining ground that a business that has to have thrown about it all the restraints and protection of a law is a business that is not respectable enough to exist unrestrained in a civilized community, and is making it necessary for the men behind the bung and vat to go slow."—Denver Times.

The Louisville Courier-Journal of Monday July 8th, says concerning closed saloons on Sunday in that, the largest city in Kentucky: "The quietness that prevailed over the city yesterday was the subject of comment on all sides. The police are a unit on the question that the closing on Sunday almost wipes out arrests. It was unusually dull about Central station all yesterday and last night. Few negroes were arrested, which usually constitute the bulk of arrests on Sunday. Chief Sebastian Gunther and Captain James Hendricks expressed themselves as being delighted with the situation so far as the enforcement of the law is concerned. Major Patrick Ridge, Night Chief, said last night that effects of closing the saloons on Sunday were easily seen. He said it gave the police virtually a day of rest."

From Leslie's Weekly—"The Federation of Churches is doing a good work in holding daily religious services among the workmen of New York City. This work is to be commended, and in every practical way encouraged and helped. But it seems to us that the Federation of Churches will do more than it has yet accomplished if it will turn its special attention to two subjects: 1—Genuine spiritual revival, a righteous reformation in all the churches. 2.—A united, organized and determined movement for the enforcement of the laws protecting the sanctity of the Sabbath, and restraining liquor selling, gambling and vice, and an equally united and militant effort to secure such additional legislation on moral issues as is needed."

Statisticians figure it out that about seventenths of the poverty and destitution in the city of Chicago is caused by drink. If the saloons of Chicago were set side by side they would make a solid row five miles in length. The drink bill of the city amounts to more than $75,000,000 a year. Not only is this a useless and depressing waste, but think of the expense to the city it carries with it, the courts, jails, police force, charities, etc., etc. Something too much of this booze nuisance.

Happily we are beginning to see the day when gambling can be and is tabooed. The social evil is also slowly retreating before the advance of civilization. The liquor traffic is fighting a more desperate battle, but one that is steadily going against it.—Minneapolis Journal.

Hon. William Jennings Bryan said: "I was born a teetotaler and I signed the pledge very early and I sign it again and again, every time I get a chance. I have two reasons for abstaining First—I believe it is best for me, and secondly, even if I imagined I was strong enough to withstand the temptations of drink, I am not willing that my example as a Christian should lead others astray." When Mr. Bryan was at a banquet in Tokyo, attended by the Cabinet and heroes of the Russo-Japanese war, he turned down his wine glass and responded to the toast, "Admiral Toga" with the words: "To the man who conquered on the water, I drink his health in a glass of water."

President David Starr Jordan, of Leland Stanford University says: "There is no possible question that business prosperity rises in any town as the saloon disappears. When people become accustomed to clean towns, without saloons, without pig pens and dens of vice, they will not tolerate any of these evil influences afterwards." The saloon, which is the center of the vice of drunkenness, is especially destructive to young men. The community has the same right to prohibit saloons as it has to prohibit cesspools."

Idaho.—Sunday Closing Law went into effect May 12th. Restaurants, drug stores, soda fountains and news stands only are allowed to keep open. Heavy fines are imposed upon any officer who fails to report a violation.

The Home.—Laxity of discipline in the average home and consequent lack of obedience of small children soon develops irreverence for parents and disregard for their advice and counsel. This results in the young people of many homes going out and coming in at their will. Within the recollection of most people of mature years there were few well regulated homes that did not have hours. Members of the family were at breakfast as well as at other meals. Ten o'clock was bedtime and later hours were the exception. Then is was that the father of the family was considered and usually was, the head of his own household. Deference was paid to the wishes of the father and mother. The rules of their home were generally considered with respect. How different now! The experience and maturer judgment of parents is often lightly considered. With changed conditions the thoughtless young girl becomes the prey of designing men. Laws have not been sufficiently strenuous for the punishment of such criminals and the public has failed to realize the responsibility of the protection which very many homes does not provide. The failure of fathers and mothers to know where their young daughters are and with whom they are associating, cannot be condoned. Then too, in a growing or large city there is a constant influx of young people seeking employment, away from their parents; too often locating in a boarding or rooming house, or with distant relatives, all of which appeals to the public for a larger measure of protection. Our city parks ought to be better lighted and the larger parks should have chaperons or matrons whose duty it would be to discretely look after the young unprotected girls who go to the parks.

What a change would take place in social circles if the young girls were chaperoned and required to keep early hours. If the good respectable fathers and mothers of girls would establish such rules for their homes, it would be far easier for themselves and better for their girls in every way. Then it would be that fathers and mothers of boys would have reason to rejoice. At the average home there is not a definite bed time hour. A young man caller, regardless of age, knows that he can stay until he wants to go home—eleven, yes twelve o'clock. The father may "fuss" at the mother about it, if so, she usually gets him to keep quiet. The next morning the daughter eats little breakfast, if she gets up for breakfast. Lack of sleep, and irregular hours is the cause of pale, nervous girls, who cannot measure up to their grandmothers in physical endurance. The same cause makes boys unable to cope with the strenuousness of our present commercialism.

Prohibition for Georgia after Jan. 1, 1908. We are encouraged by the following item. Read it and pass its prophesy on to ten Indiana men.

Beverages, the official organ of the National Liquor League of America, in an editorial on "Prohibition in Georgia," says: "The result in Georgia presents no pleasant outlook for any section of the business. That state in its judgment has treated all alike, and no false notion that beer is a temperance beverage and should be allowed to hold on has been entertained or brought forward.

"We dislike to acknowledge it, but we really believe the entire business all over has overstayed its opportunity to protect itself against the onward march of prohibition, which in some sections of the country is advancing like a prairie fire with not a hand raised to stop its progress.

"For years we have sounded the warning of the impending storm. For years we have argued for organization and for years we have, in season and out of season, pleaded for unity, harmony and co-operation among all branches of the business, but all effort on our part and on the part of others has resulted in no good.

"Five years ago a united industry might have kept back the situation that now confronts it, but today it is too late.

"Might as well try to keep out the Hudson river with a whisk broom."

STATE CONVENTION.

A request from the chairman of the entertainment committee. Will local presidents please urge upon the secretary the necessity of forwarding the names of the delegates. Just as soon as appointed. That the committee may have time to do the work as it should be done.

Yours in service,
Mrs. Mae Williams,
213 Russell Street, W. Lafayette, Ind.

State Convention chairman of entertainment is Mrs. Mae Williams, 213 Russell Street, Lafayette, Indiana.

Presidents of Local Unions, please urge your membership to collect all membership dues possible. Indiana's record of membership will depend for one year upon the number reported by the State Treasurer at the State Convention. Because the local union treasurer, on account of hindrances, cannot collect dues, is no reason whatever for the membership to decrease, and it will not if a few earnest women feel deeply the importance of the power of numbers when we authorize our State Officers to sign petitions, etc., representing our constituency. Numbers then count greatly for they give the actual number of paid members. If you will help in collecting dues you will be adding power to the State W. C. T. U.

Prohibition for Indiana! This will come when our organized temperance forces unite to work for Prohibition. How? By distributing great quantities of literature! By public meetings, and by aggressively pushing the issue in the church, the college, through the newspapers and exercising every influence possible socially. Let us sow Indiana knee deep in prohibition literature. The fallacy of high license is a delusion and a snare. The liquor men want it. Their great newspapers advocate it.

All State Officers, state superintendents, county presidents and local union presidents who have newspaper cuts of themselves are urged to loan them to our State Press Superintendent for use in Lafayette papers before and during the State Convention. For this purpose please send them by Sept. 15th to Miss Laura G. Cammack, State Superintendent, Converse, Ind.

Our State W. C. T. U. Convention will be held at Lafayette, Ind., October 11th to 15th. The members of the convention are the General Officers, Branch Secretaries, Editor of Message, State Superintendents of Departments, and County Presidents. Each local union is entitled to the following delegates: President, one delegate at large, and one delegate for every twenty paid regular members. Delegates should be elected immediately and the names and full addresses of delegates should be sent by September 10th to the chairman of convention entertainment committee. Write names plainly. To guess at or decipher a proper name that is poorly written is no easy task for a stranger. Entertainment for lodging and breakfast will be free for all duly elected delegates. If the delegate cannot attend she will inform her alternate as early as possible, so that she can attend. Dinners and suppers will probably cost twenty-five cents each. There are many restaurants near the church. Be sure to be present at the opening of the convention. Take the boys and girls with you. Young people will enjoy much of the convention. They would also enjoy a visit to Purdue University. For information concerning board for young people who may care to attend the convention write to Mrs. Mae Williams, 213 Russell street, Lafayette, Ind.

NATIONAL W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

Nashville, Tenn., will entertain the National Convention this year, November 8th to 13th. The round trip railroad fare from Indianapolis will be a few cents less than $16.00. No sleeping car fare. Tennessee will practically be under prohibition, only four places in the State where liquor is sold. Nashville is one of those places. If any white ribboner can go, or any friend of our cause, man or woman can go, we extend to such a one an invitation to be ready to go on November 6th. We also invite the L. T. L's and other young people to go. Board at about one dollar per day for visitors. For further information write Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College Avenue, Indianapolis.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Dear Sisters:

In another column you will find the convention call—which means the time is short for doing what we said at the beginning of the year we would do. I see the superintendents are again reminding you of "reports," and I trust they will be made glad by the largest reports ever sent into the State. I know you have been busy, so report what you have done.

We are to have with us at our convention, Prof. Charles Scanlon, Mrs. Beauchamp and Judge Stubbs, of the Juvenile Court of Marion County.

The first evening is to be County Presidents evening, the presidents of the counties making a gain of fifty and more furnishing part of the program. I trust many counties will be represented. Go out at once and by personal solicitation gather in some new members. See that their dues are paid. Hoping to see a full representation at Lafayette, I am

Yours sincerely,
Culla J. Vayhinger.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY MESSAGE.

Dear Sisters:

We are closing our W. C. T. U. year with the notes of victory ringing on every hand. Let the women of Indiana catch up these strains, and with hearts full of praises for what has been done, and heads full of plans for the future of our work, come up to our State Convention to consult together and to arrange for a more aggressive campaign next year than Indiana has ever known. Georgia is rejoicing in State wide prohibition, and all who know the facts concede that this victory is largely due to work of the women and children of the State, led by their splendid State President, Mrs. Mary Armour. If the women of Georgia can do so much, what may not the women of Indiana do when banded together and nerved for the fight. If any dear sister has grown discouraged because victory is long delayed, let her look at Georgia, and buckle on her armor a little more closely and press again into the battle. See to it, local treasurers, that there are no deserters from our ranks this year. Nothing would please our enemies more than to see a falling off from our ranks, but we will show a fine gain in our State, if all old members pay dues.

When this reaches you the teacher will be gathering in their institutes in many parts of the State. As you know, the "Crusader Monthly" is now the official organ of the department of Scientific Temperance Instruction, and this fact should be brought before the teachers. This paper contains many helpful suggestions to teachers, and should be in the hands of every grade teacher in the State. Here is a chance for excellent service, sisters. Who will do it?

It is the earnest wish of your Corresponding Secretary that our directory this year be complete. It is a great disadvantage in many ways for your State Officers to have easy access to the names of county and local officers. Please hold your elections in September and forward names of officers to me promptly that the directory may be complete by State Convention.

Mrs. Mary Sibbets of Kansas, is coming to our State for work from October 15th, till National Convention. Those who heard her at Portland last year will want her to visit your unions. Write me at once for dates that I may complete a route for her.

Mrs. Maude L. Green, National Organizer and chalk talker, will also come into our State for work previous to the National Convention. Mrs. Green illustrates her lectures as she talks by use of the crayon, and thus sends home the truth through both ear and eye. Write me for dates and terms.

Remember that each local union is entitled to the following representation in the State convention: The president, one delegate-at-large, and one additional delegate for every twenty paid up members. We hope every union in the State will have a full delegation present. Those who accept the place of delegate should prepare to attend every session of the convention, that they may give their union a full report. We are expecting a grand convention. The program is nearly complete, and everything indicates a feast for those in attendance. Local unions should appoint delegates and forward their names at once to the chairman of the entertainment committee in Lafayette.

Yours for service,
Mary E. Woodard.

THE MESSAGE

SUPERINTENDENTS TAKE NOTICE.

It was decided at our Mid-Year Executive Committee meeting that advance sheets of superintendents reports will be printed this year. Superintendents who wish their reports printed in the minutes this year must send them to our State Recording Secretary by the 25th of September. It is desired that a summary of the year's work will be given at the close of the report and that the reports be type written. Let ever local and county superintendent help the State Superintendent of her department by reporting promptly.

MEDICAL TEMPERANCE.

Superintendents are urged to send reports of all work done by September 15th, to Dr. Marther E. Keller, State Superintendent, 212 K. of P. Bldg., Indianapolis.

EVANGELISTIC.

My Dear Evangelistic Superintendents:

The months have passed so rapidly that we are almost to the end of another year and the time for our reports is only one month away. I earnestly hope that you have had a good year and that you will promptly send your reports. Will the county superintendents urge the locals to be prompt. There may be local work in counties having no county superintendnt, if such is the case will the locals confer directly with me and report their work, if ever so little. I find I am running short on report blanks, so if any superintendent has more than she needs please send them promptly to me. If you should not receive a blank please answer the questions on letter paper in the order they are printed on the blank, as it saves me much time and trouble. I will have them appended to this letter so that no one will fail to know what the questions are. So far as I know each county superintendent is supplied. Some times Providential hindrances interfere with the duties of the superintendent, so that the local workers do not receive the blanks, but if the questions are in the paper, and the paper is read and kept for reference, no one is at a loss to know how to report. You have often been in my thoughts during the past year and I have wished I could see you and have a heart to heart talk. My home duties have been unusually heavy and if I have failed to answer your letters promptly you must pardon me. If I am permitted to attend the convention I will more fully explain. If any superintendent, county or local, has failed to receive Miss Greenwood's leaflet let me know immediately and I will send it.

Faithfully yours,
E. M. Haughton, State Supt.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

Dear Sisters:

Since my last message to you I have been in northern counties, where are folks are already planning their county conventions in order to have a good representation at Lafayette in Oct. I had a very appreciative audience at Bryant, July 26th; Hoagland, 27th, Ft. Wayne, 28th, Roanoke, 29th, Markle, 30th, Wabash, 31st. I am sorry to report Mrs. Emily McIntosh very sick. Yet she had her meeting well planned. A letter to her from all who are helping her department of colored work will cheer and help her.

Ft. Wayne women took advantage of their pastors vacations and gave us fine audiences. Roanoke has a fine union and a splendid corps of officers. Their president formerly lived in Grant County. They gave me a great reception in the afternoon. Served elegant refreshments and secured seven new members.

Markle is still in good fighting trim and with them it is a constant battle for they have closed their salons, and every effort has been made to defeat the will of the people and open the death traps again.

Wabash union is discouraged, but South Wabash has yet a good organization. I was entertained in the home of their representative, and I told him of our plan for legislative campaign for municipal suffrage for women and the encouragement received from all sources leads me to urge our women in every county to send at once to Mrs. Laura Thompson, of Greensburg, a good report for her department and see to it that every union in the State has a superintendent of franchise work, and when the next General Assembly meets I dare predict that the good men of Indiana will not longer lag behind other progressive States and they will gladly grant our petition. Yours for loyal service,

Elizabeth T. Stanley.

SECRETARY YOUNG WOMAN'S BOARD SENDS A MESSAGE.

Dear Girls:

I was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the "Y" Secretary, at the mid-year meeting. I am entirely new in the work, but I have been studying the plans received from our National Superintendent, but have not undertaken any work. Now as one year is nearly gone and the time for reporting is near at hand, I shall expect a report from each "Y" in the State.

I wish the president of each "Y" would write me a personal letter, asking questions and giving suggestions that we may become acquainted before the annual convention at Lafayette. Be sure to collect your dues that we may not fall behind in our reports. Send your delegate to the convention. I'll try to do more for you hereafter. Lovingly your co-worker,

(Mrs.) Mary S. Craig,
"Y" Secretary, Upland, Ind.

PURE FOOD.

While reports of our State Laboratory Commissioner show that faithful work is being done, it is easy to see that the time of watchfulness by all is not past. There is no provision made as yet for government inspection of meats sold by local dealers and butchers, who supply thousands every year in the country and small towns. The same is true of the milk supply outside of cities. Hence the great mortality of infants who are fed on milk. This problem is of sufficient importance to induce every County President to interview the representative of the State Board of Health in her respective county, in an effort to provide an inspector. I will be glad to co-operate in such an undertaking if called upon. I trust all who have taken an interest in the department of Household Economies will call for report blanks at an early date.

Mrs. May A. Moody.

Woman Suffrage—The women of Finland enfranchised and elected to seats in the Diet. The first time in the world's history that women have occupied seats in an elected National Parliament.

Norway women have been granted franchise limited by a slight property qualification. A tax on an income of $84 in the country and $113 in the city, the husband's taxes entitling the wife to a vote. A woman earning from $1.50 to $2 a week will be able to vote. The women asked for suffrage without limitations and for eligibility to Parliament. The new law admits them to the lower House. With the power in their hands, however, to elect the members, they should soon be able to enlarge their own privileges. It is supposed that about 300,000 women are enfranchised.

The effect of Norway's action on Sweden is an interesting question. The Swedish women are very thoroughly organized for obtaining the suffrage. They have had all except the Parliamentary franchise for many years and since 1902 they have been making a strong and systematic effort for this.

Oklahoma—The framers of Oklahoma's Constitution have provided for Prohibition, pure and simple, without resource or remedy. With the odds heavily against them, representatives of our industry have put up a good fight.

Virginia and North Carolina—In these two States the Temperance wave has made itself felt strongly. Men are going to jail and penitentiary for taking liberties with the excise that a little while ago would have been indulgently connived at. The good old days of distilling and blockading seem to have gone forever.

PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

Beloved Sisters:

The year is nearing the close. I have sent you literature and report blanks. If I have missed any please write at once and I will send blanks. Beloved superintendents please report as it is on your report that the year's work must be made up. Let us have a good report for the State Convention. Lovingly yours in the work,
(Mrs.) R. C. Travis, Supt.

Elkhart, Ind.

After June 1st, express agents were ordered to decline to receive shipments of intoxicating liquors when destined to officers in Kansas. This order went out from the Wells-Fargo Express Company in Kansas City, and affected about 350 express offices that had been receiving C. O. D. liquor. "Public sentiment forced us to issue the order," said O. J. Peterson, Gen'l Agent Wells-Fargo Express Company at Kansas City.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

To Superintendents of Mothers' Meetings:

Dear Sisters—Permit a word of entreaty, exhortation, if you please. Will you be prompt with your reports. I have sent blanks and literature to all who have applied to me, and to every superintendent who's name and address I could get through the directory and otherwise. Will you please fill them out and return them to me. My report at State Convention and to the National Superintendent will depend wholly on what you report to me. It has been decided to have advance sheets of superintendents reports printed, that means you must be prompt with your reports to me, or they will not be printed in the annual report. Some have given me their reports at State Convention. Don't do it, for belated reports will not be in the annual report. Please send all reports to me by the 15th of September, so my report may be ready on time for the advance sheets. Your in His name,

Hartford City.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl.

The county presidents will have one night at the State Convention with time according to new members gained, given each one to tell of her victories.

Miss Lena Hamblen of Swayzee, won the diamond medal in the contest held at Winona.

(Staff Correspondence of the Associated Prohibition Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—When the brewers of the United States in their annual convention in June, 1902, announced the launching of a "systematic literary agitation concerning malt liquors," the people of the United States little realized the deluge of "systematic" bombast, misrepresentation, and deliberate falsification of which they were to be made the target during the succeeding half decade.

The columns of the daily press and popular magazine during these past five years have contained at a low estimate $50,000,000 worth of this "systematic literary," beer advertising.

It is no exaggeration to say that this advertising in the daily, weekly and monthly secular publications has done more to perpetuate and extend the despotism of alcohol and the appetite for alcoholic beverages than all the 250,000 open legalized rumshops of America in the same length of time.

The saloon as an institution has everywhere become discredited by pulpit, press and public opinion, but the liquor advertiser can enter the most cultured and refined Christian home in the land in his purchased vantage-point of publicity in the high-class magazine or daily newspaper.

In doing this and permitting this the reputable press of America has to an extraordinary degree, nullified the effect and influence of the scientific and social teaching about alcohol in our public and Sunday Schools and in tens of thousands of youthful minds has confused the truth of science and medicine and the terrific facts of every-day experience.

BREWER PABST COLLIDES WITH UNCLE SAM.

Glaring Two-Column Ad. in Big Dailies Makes Astounding Claim That the United States Department of Agriculture "Officially Declares Beer the Purest and Best of all Foods and Drinks." Sensational Climax of Beers "Educational Campaign" Emphasizes Need for National Movement to Put Liquor Advertising in Same Class With Lottery Publicity and Abolish it by Congressional Enactment.

What Brewer Pabst says in leading advertisement in daily press (August 6, 10, 12, 1907, et al.):

"The United States Department of Agriculture officially declares that Beer is the purest and best of all foods and drinks."

What the United States Department of Agriculture says in a letter to the Associated prohibition Press (August 9, 1907):

"No such statement has been made by the Department . . . I regret that there is no law by which such practices may be reached."

THE MESSAGE.

The advertisement suddenly flashed its extraordinary news to the readers of the Chicago Daily News from the fifth page of its issue for Tuesday, August 6th, and then, in rapid succession, the same story was repeated in a remarkable list of metropolitan dailies, among which a few minutes perusal of various issues on a nearby news stand revealed the following:

Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal, Aug. 12, p. 3.
Atlanta, Ga., Constitution—(Henry Grady's old paper)—August 12, page 7.
Galveston, Texas, News, August 11, page 24.
Providence, R. I., Journal, August 12, page 5.
Memphis, Tenn., Commercial Appeal, August 14, page 11.
The Oklahoma City, Okla., Daily Oklahoman, August 11, page 3.
The St. Joseph, Mo., Gazette, August 11, page 3.
The Chicago Evening Post, August 10, page 4.
The Chicago Tribune, August 12, page 11.
The Minneapolis, Minn., Journal, August 12.
The Denver, Colo., Times, August 12.
Etc., etc.

These insertions in fifteen different widely separated dailies is of course, prima facie evidence that the ad. in question is one of the regular syndicate advertisements of the big Milwaukee brewery, whose announcements every so often appear simultaneously in scores of the leading daily newspapers of practically every State in the Union.

What the "Ad." said:

Here are the striking features of this sensational ad., which appeared in the papers listed above:

"The United States Department of Agriculture officially declares that beer is the purest and best of all foods and drinks."

"Beer is a genuine temperance drink."

"Temperance workers realize that by encouraging the use of beer, they discourage the use of intoxicating liquors." Etc., etc.

What the Department of Agriculture says:

The Associated Prohibition Press promptly wrote the editors, the brewers, and to Uncle Sam for verification of these extraordinary statements.

In reply to our inquiry the following communication was received at Associated Prohibition Press headquarters Tuesday morning, August 13.

"Department of Agriculture
Office of the Secretary,
Washington.

August 9, 1907.

Mr. Fred. D. L. Squires,
Editor Associated Prohibition Press,
184 LaSalle Street, Chicago.

Dear Sir—I have your letter of the 7th inst., enclosing a clipping from "The Daily News," Chicago, of an advertisement of Pabst Blue Ribbon beer, in which the statement is made that the Department of Agriculture officially declared that "beer is the best of all foods and drinks." You are correct in assuming that no such statement has been made by the Department. The Department does all in its power to prevent having its views distorted, but I regret that there is no law by which such practices may be reached.

Respectfully,

M. N. Hays, Acting Secretary.

Pabst Company sends "preliminary reply" after a whole week's consideration.

The Associated Prohibition Press Wednesday, August 7th, mailed the following inquiry to the Pabst Brewing Co., Milwaukee.

"August 7, 1907.

The Pabst Brewing Company, Milwaukee, Wis.

We were much interested in the advertisement of your beer which appeared in the Chicago Daily News last evening, Tuesday, August 6th, on page five of said issue, in which the statement appears, "The United States Department of Agriculture officially declares that beer is the purest and best of all foods and drinks." Will you kindly inform us as to when and where and under what circumstances the statement was made, and any particulars regarding it that you may have at hand."

Chicago is only eighty-eight miles and two hours distant from Milwaukee, but after awaiting in vain for a reply from Wednesday, August 7th, until Monday, August 12th, we forwarded the following, hoping for better luck:

"August 12, 1907.

Pabst Brewing Company, Milwaukee, Wis.

Gentlemen—Under date of August 7, we wrote you for information regarding a statement in your advertisement of Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer in the Chicago Daily News of Tuesday, August 6th, which declared that "The United States Department of Agriculture officially declares that beer is the purest and best of all food and drinks."

"We sent this inquiry in perfectly good faith and expected a reply in due season. Since our letter of August 7th, the same advertisement with the same statement regarding the United States Department of Agriculture has appeared in the Chicago Evening Post, of August 10, page 4, and the Chicago Daily Tribune of Monday, August 12, page eleven. Such repeated prominence to a declaration alleged to have been made by the United States Department of Agriculture by a reputable concern such as yours is, certainly means that the statement in question must have some basis in fact, and in view of many inquiries at this office in regard to the matter we would appreciate an immediate reply, giving us information as to when and where and under what circumstances the official statement was made by the United States Department of Agriculture asserting that 'beer is the purest and best of all foods and drinks.' Thanking you for the favor of a reply by return mail, we are,

Very truly yours,

Editor."

On Tuesday morning came the letter from the Department of Agriculture, but still no response from the ad-man of Pabst. So we followed our other two apparently vain inquiries with a third one, which contained as an interesting enclosure, a copy of the letter above quoted from Acting Secretary M. N. Hays.

Forty-eight hours more elapsed and in the Thursday morning mail, August 14, the ninth day after our first inquiry, came the following remarkable response from brewer Pabst's advertising Department:

"Pabst Brewing Company,
Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 14, '07.

Mr. Fred. D. L. Squires,
184 LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir—We are in receipt of your various communications under dates of the 7th and 12th insts., addressed to both this office and our Chicago branch.

With reference to the subject matter contained in same, will say that we have what we consider very good authority for making the statement in question and expect within a few days to be in position to favor you with full information along the line requested, as well as arguments fully backing up the statements contained in our advertisement.

Trusting in the meantime you will kindly have a little patience, we are

Yours truly,

Pabst Brewing Company,

By F. H. Squier."

"In the meantime"—While the Company that makes this false assertion is seeking "information and argument,"—to substantiate its falsehood—"Have a little patience!"

Yes, but—

"In the meantime" at least ten million men and women have read the advertisement with its libel on the United States Government, and tens, perhaps hundreds of thousands of them have swallowed it as Gospel truth and heard nothing to the contrary in over a fortnight of time.

"In the meantime" every saloon-keeper in America that handles the Pabst fire-water has basked in the joyful belief—which he of course shared with all his patrons—that at least he can remain in the same business and be selling them on the authority of Uncle Sam, "the purest and best of all foods and drinks," in the shape of the most vicious liquor on his bar.

"In the meantime" thousands of unthinking men, who, still have been taught to revere and honor the integrity and honesty of the Federal government, have taken this bit of fiction for a warrant for dissipation and have taken one more stride toward moral ruin and physical degeneration.

And "in the meantime," God in Heaven pity them! the tens of thousands of homes cursed and blasted by drink—by beer more than any other—will have endured fourteen days more of hell-on-earth, the direct fruit of this easy-going traffic in beverage poison, which has grown so fat and bloated in its career of graft that it dares to trample down law, wherever it may do so with impunity, (but no longer in Kansas), deceive all it may with its seductive advertising falsehoods and continue to devour and destroy a wealth of good grain that might otherwise bless the thousands it now plagues and damns with liquid pestilence.

Why should not the United States Government take such a business, a thousand times more deadly and dangerous than the lottery graft, and through the next Congress, henceforth prohibit all its flaunting, fraudulent advertising as it has already abolished all gambling publicity?

"Coca Cola."—At Washington, June 21, 1907, the War Department issued an order forbidding the sale of Coca Cola in post exchanges in the Department of the East. This action was taken after an analysis of its ingredients was made at the Department of Agriculture by Prof. Wiley, chief chemist, who reported that in a majority of samples of Coca Cola he tested, he found quantities of cocaine and caffeine. Officers reported to the War Department that enlisted men have discovered the effect which the drink produces upon them, and that for the purpose of getting this effect they drink six or seven glasses of the stuff, and that the result is injurious to health as well as destructive of morals.—National Advocate.

State and County Sunday School Conventions should be attended by our white ribbon women and by our prohibition men. This neglect on our part delays the time of victory for prohibition. Attend your Sunday School convention! Urge every prohibitionist to attend!

Indianapolis Central W. C. T. U. had U. S. Senator Fred. T. DuBois of Idaho, for his famous lecture on Mormonism. In closing he deplored the fact that our Indiana Senator Beveridge had favored the seating of the Mormon Reed Smoot in the Senate and had used his influence and power in the committee and in the Senate for Smoot.

Mrs. Retta Jones, of Alexandria, completed a week's work in Wells County, Wednesday, July 24th, from which we received great encouragement, and much good was done. We find her to be a very forceful and convincing speaker, and with great faith in the cause she represents. Although a very busy time with farmers, and their wives as well, sixteen names were added to the roll of membership new life was given to discouraged hearts, and we know Mrs. Jones will live long in the memory of the white ribboners of Wells.

Stinesville W. C. T. U. celebrated National Independence day in a very delightful all day meeting at the country home of sister Lettie Wble. After a bountiful dinner, consisting of all the good things in season, the President, Katharyn Hoadley, took charge of the meeting and disposed of the business part as speedily as practicable to give more time for the literary program, which had been arranged by Maggie Welch, as leader, which consisted of inspiring patriotic and other appropriate music with readings as follows: Lon Holtzman, "Our Flag and by Whom Made;" Dora Easton, "Women's Rights;" Ida Steigleman, "The Fourth of July;" Zula Edwards, "Home, Sweet Home;" a recitation by President Katharyn Hoadley, "The Shoe Maker and the Little White Shoes." Ice cream and cake were served by the hostess.

We trust that all State Superintendents will remember that their final report must be in the hands of the recording secretary by September 25th, that advance sheets may be had for the convention. Also the mid-year executive recommended that the reports be type written and a summary of the year's work be given at the close of the report.

Grant County holds its annual convention at Upland, October 3d and 4th.

Mrs. Vayhinger attended the temperance days at Winona, and had a conference with the management and they have given the W. C. T. U. fair prospects for another year.

The Owen County W. C. T. U. held an open air meeting at Spencer, July 4th. At 10:30 the crowd was called together by the band and the exercises for the forenoon were opened by prayer. The speaker for the forenoon, Mrs. Vayhinger, State President of the W. C. T. U. was introduced, and made an excellent address, and was one of the best presentations of the anti-saloon arguments that has ever been made in our town. In the afternoon an address was made by Senator Moore of Greencastle. His speech was well received by the large audience. The temperance people of our county feel greatly strengthened after such a good meeting.

BEER FAR WORSE THAN WHISKEY.

Unspeakable as are the evils of whiskey drinking, those of beer are unspeakably worse. Where whiskey slays its tens of thousands, beer slays its millions. Whiskey is an active but intermittent fiend. With many he only stabs at times and seasons, and has his vacations of evil doing. Beer is a sluggish, corrosive, persistent demon that rests not neither day or night. Whiskey has the viciousness of a rattlesnake; beer, the slimy, noisome, unshakable grasp of a devilfish. Men may do good things as well as bad things under the influence of whiskey, but never under that of beer. It is deadening, stupefying, callousing, finally paralyzing. Some men may drink whiskey all their lives and yet live the full sheaf of years of the psalmist. Never the beer drinker.

All physicians will at once say that of all their patients they most dread a habitual beer drinker. He has no reserve, no stock of vitality upon which to draw, and when a disease that a healthy man would throw off with little trouble sets its fangs on him he is marked for the grave. In every large city thousands of deaths occur every year in which the cause is given as pneumonia, but the real cause is that the beer drinker's stamina has been so lowered that slight cold becomes a fatal disease. Physicians may, and do, disagree upon almost everything else, but upon this they are astonishingly unanimous. Everyone will testify that a beer drinker's life is shortened in exact proportion to the amount of the sloppy brew that he consumes. It affects him in every way and every organ of his body, beginning with cirrhosis of the liver, or what is usually called hob-nailed, liver and then attacking his kidneys, his lungs, his heart, his eyes, and in fact every vital organ. It seems to be more penetrating, insidious and deadly than whiskey, because no organ or fiber escapes injury and final breakdown from it.

A number of the German railroads have, therefore, absolutely prohibited all beer drinking during working hours, and have established booths where their men can get coffee, tea, cocoa or similar drinks. It has paid richly to supply these without cost, but some of the roads charge a pfennig or a similar trifle for a cup of tea or coffee, for considerations looking to the self-respect of their men. Much of the best temperance work in the world is to-day being done in Germany, and it is all directly against the positive, manifest evils of beer drinking. It is a work that should engage the earnest efforts of every right-thinking man and woman in this country.—The National Tribune (National organ of the Grand Army of the Republic.)

"GEORGIA PERMANENTLY DRY."

(From Associated Prohibition Press.)

Meanwhile the temper of the people of Georgia grows more decided in its apparent determination to secure all the blessings which strict law-enforcement will assure them. The Georgian, Atlanta, Monday, August 26th, under the above headline says editorially:

"Our Carolina contemporaries of Charleston and Columbia are inclined to think that Prohibition in Georgia will not be permanent—that it will be short lived and full of sorrow. They are mistaken. In course of time the cities may repent and grow tired of virtue and abstemious ways. But the force that passed the Prohibition bill was the country vote. The Georgia counties have been prohibition for twenty years and will doubtless be so for fifty more. They will not repent or change. Nor will they consent to reinstate the cities in the position to override these country prohibition principles through the devilry of the jug trade.

"We have to inform our contemporaries that Georgia is permanently dry."

MILK AND ALCOHOL IN MEDICINE.

At the beginning of the seventh decade of the nineteenth century, the total expenditure for alcohol in the London hospitals was about $40,000 a year. The expenditure for milk during a corresponding period was about $15,000. At the present time these figures are exactly reversed. The annual expenditure for alcohol is slightly under $15,000, while that for milk is more than $40,000.

Commenting upon this complete reversal of feeling in physicians' minds, the Journal of the American Medical Association suggests that the contrast between the use of milk and alcohol is likely to be increased with the progress of medical science.

The decrease in the use of alcohol and the corresponding increase in the consumption of milk represents indeed a definite principle in medication whose significance cannot be mistaken. Physicians do not esteem stimulation of the patient by any form of drugs nearly so much as formerly. Such drugs are very illusory in their effects. They affect the patient favorably for the moment, but the subsequent depression more than makes up for the previous exaltation of spirits and apparent increase of vital force.

In a word, alcohol is going out in medicine, and though, as in the case of nearly all outgrown medical remedies, it still retains a place of supposed importance in popular estimation, this is not justified by the experience and the careful observations of trained medical minds.—Independent.

A Liquor Journal, "Bar and Buffet, under the editorial headline, "What Shall we do to be Saved," says:

"Georgia has gone dry. Another great State has placed the ban upon the liquor traffic. Furthermore, those who profess to be able to read 'the handwriting on the wall,' say that all the rest of the Southern States will follow suit.

"That is the condition that confronts us. There is no theory about it. It is an undeniable and concrete fact. The prohibitionists are gaining ground steadily and rapidly.

"While our ranks are torn by internecine strife, while the straight whisky people and the rectifiers are fighting each other, while the wine men are pulling one way and the brewers another, the cohorts of total abstinence are marching steadily on.

"In their ranks there is unity, well-defined aim, singleness of purpose, enthusiasm and they all work together. In our ranks there is none of these. Instead, all is confusion. We are not only doing nothing to oppose the enemy, but we are playing into their hands by fighting among ourselves.

"Every thinking man of the liquor interests knows that this is true. The picture is not overdrawn. Prohibition is no longer a remote possibility, but a menacing probability. The movement is gathering strength like a prairie fire and spreading almost as fast and relentlessly.

"And it is our fault. We have been blind. We have refused to see. We would not understand. We would not believe. Now we have too. We cannot longer evade the issue. We have to look the facts in the face and we have to do it now—at once.

THE EPITOME OF THE GREAT REFORM.

Dr. T. Dewitt Talmage epitomized the whole battle in which we are engaged in this significant and ringing paragraph, which might well be committed to memory by every worker for God who is enlisted in the great struggle for freedom from legalized rum:

"American slavery was a pet lamb as compared with this red dragon. All the families which have been robbed of fathers and brothers and sons by the rum traffic; all the States of the Union that have been despoiled of their mightiest men; all the churches of Jesus Christ which find the chief obstacle to the advancement of religion in the appetite for strong drink; and all the intelligence, and all the patriotism, and all the enthusiasm of the land will yet pack itself into an avalanche that will come crushing down upon this, the worst evil that ever afflicted a nation. There may be many defeats before we get the final victory, but victory will come as surely as there is a God in heaven." —Texas White Ribbon.

Hon. Champ Clark in a speech before the convention of the Christian Church at Sedalia, Mo., during the last week in June, said many things concerning the past and future of our country, of course including the liquor traffic and liquor drinking. About drinking he said:

"Now, half the population of the United States are teetotalers, and one-half of the remaining half drink a drink occasionally—when convenient. Open confession is good for the soul, said the speaker, and therefore he was going to confess that for nine years he had not taken a drink during a session of Congress, for four years he had not taken a drink while in Washington, and for three years he had not touched a drop of liquor. And the reason that he had not done so was because he had a boy coming on of whom he thought more than he did of himself."

LIQUOR MEN SEE "HANDWRITING ON THE WALL."

Champion of Fair Play and Wine and Spirit Gazette add two More Strenuous Warnings to the Nation.—Wide Alarm Signals of the Whisky Press.—Leading Liquor Editor Frankly Admits the Notorious Evils Which Breed in Every Saloon.

(By Associated Prohibition Press.)

"It is an unfortunate circumstance that most wine rooms, parlors or whatever else these places off saloons where women assemble may be called, are nothing but assignation retreats and covers for social evil. They are not family resorts and it is a misnomer to call them such.—Beverages, official organ of the National Liquor League of America in leading editorial Friday, September 6, 1907."

It is impossible to list and note all the wild alarm signals of the liquor trade press in these days of rapid prohibition progress and liquor business disintegration. Two of the most significant of these utterances during the past few days are given below. The first one is from a leading editorial in the issue for September 7, 1907, of the Champion of Fair Play, Chicago, "official paper of the liquor trade of the west," whose editor, Robert J. Halle, is general secretary of the National Liquor League of the United States. Editor Halle under the editorial headline "A Look Around," says:

"An active local campaign has been started in Pennsylvania.

Georgia has gone prohibition crazy, and is even arresting people for drinking tonics in drug stores.

Unscrupulous wealth is backing cranks to have the liquor trade declared unconstitutional.

Connecticut, in its recently adjourned Legislature, passed eleven anti-liquor laws.

Missouri has given its Governor unlimited autocratic powers to attack the liquor trade by discharging liberal officials.

Kentucky is threatened with State prohibition. Ohio is threatened with prohibition.

Delaware is threatened with local-option prohibition.

The South is saddling its race questions on the liquor trade.

Demagogues are inspiring hatred against the liquor trade everywhere.

Just have a look around, ye men of the trade.

"You will need all your resources, all your grit, all your strength, and all your united power to preserve your rights and privileges against the flood tide of unreasonable and unreasoning prejudices."

Wine and Spirit Gazette Issues a "Warning."

The editor of the Wine and Spirit Gazette also is "seeing things," not in his sleep but in broad daylight, and stirred by the evident inertia of the liquor trade which has been basking so long in the sunshine of political protection that for the most part it seems utterly oblivious to the possibilities of the menacing storm clouds on the horizon, addresses the following appeal to its trade readers throughout the country:

"The license system is in peril and the business interests dependent upon its perpetuity are threatened with disaster.

"The new wave of restriction and proscription gains its impetus in the South, where the negro question haunts the white citizens unceasingly, and race hatred dominates all the relations of life.

"The growth of the no license area in the South is phenomenal."

Here the Gazette proceeds to enumerate the outlook for the liquor business in Texas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Missouri, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, Kansas, Illinois and Pennsylvania, and then continues: "Let these facts speak for themselves, they cannot be made more emphatic by comment.

"What are the business interests, imperiled by this wave of prohibition, doing to turn back the destructive tide

Practically nothing.

To meet in convention, have a good time, resolve and go home.

Run a literary bureau whose literature only reaches the already convinced.

The wine producer resolves in his interest.

The distiller resolves in his interest.

The brewer is for the brewer; and the wholesaler wants the whole thing, and there you are.

The common interest and the common cause is neglected, while the crisis is here and destruction impends.

The State Convention will be held at LaFayette, October 11th to 15th, in Trinity M. E. Church, corner of North and Sixth Streets.

Chairman of entertainment, Mrs. Mae Williams, 213 Russell Street LaFayette. All names of delegates with their addresses should be in the hands of the chairman of entertainment before this Message is received, but if for any reason there has been unavoidable delay send by first mail.

Each delegate whose name is promptly received will be sent a card giving name and address of her hostess during the convention.

The delegates will receive free entertainment for lodging and breakfast.

When you get to LaFayette do not ask the entertainment committee to change your place of entertainment. Do not ask the entertainment committee to let you have some special friend with you. Great effort is made by the committee to provide delegates with comfortable, pleasant entertainment. It is very discourteous to say the least, not to accept graciously what is provided. If not satisfactory or if there are friends who desire to be together a boarding place should be secured.

The influence of the delegates in the homes is expected to advance temperance sentiment and righteousness. Tact and discretion by guests in homes can accomplish much for our blessed cause.

Upon arrival in LaFayette delegates will go right to their places of entertainment. The entertainment cards received by the delegates will give the name and address of hostess. This will enable the delegates to take their baggage right from train or car to their place of entertainment. Delegates should plan to be on time for the opening of the convention on Friday morning at nine o'clock.

Tax Assessments for next year's taxes are being made up and the burden of crime and pauperism must be provided for in the levy. When will farmers and decent people get enough of the prime source of crime and pauperism with its cost and misery. In some localities the liquor traffic has been outlawed through the bunglesome remonstrance plan; but the tax burden goes on in these communities. The State penitentiary, asylums, reformatories, and, in most counties, criminal prosecutions, maintenance of jails and poor houses are kept up with taxes from townships which can proudly boast of no saloon. We are so interrelated in our social compact that nothing short of utter annihilation of the liquor traffic everywhere will give relief.

Remonstrances should be circulated in every township and city ward of Indiana; but do not stop with this work. The burden ought to be placed on the liquor traffic so long as it is allowed to live by the grace of its political friends. Moreover, we should profit by the assurance of the Supreme Court and of the Governor of the State, that the whole business can be abolished by the Legislature. Would it not be a shorter cut to pay attention to the election of a legislature pledged to do what the Supreme Court says it alone can accomplish. Even a respectable minority of Republicans, Democrats and Prohibitionists sent to the next session, pledged to introduce and work for a prohibition measure would work wonders. Let us try for this.

Keep Them Out by constant agitation in communities where the liquor sellers have been forced to leave. Nothing continues to live when it ceases to grow. One condition of all organic life is growth. If we keep saloons out we must continue to pay the price. Work and enlarge faith until the whole State and Nation shall be freed.

Beer as a food is the last straw on which the drowning business of poisoning its victims, cling with hope of deceiving an intelligent public. This antiquated assumption has been thoroughly disproved and German chemists, as well as scientific men of other lands have demonstrated the worthlessness of rotted grain, when destroyed in its life sustaining properties, through the decomposition of the brewers vat.

Our State Convention ought to be very large in attendance. One of the handsomest churches of LaFayette has been provided. The ladies are making every preparation. We have trolley car advantages every hour for most of the State direct to LaFayette. Let us plan to go in great numbers. Take the young people. They must very soon fill our places.

High License must be fought. Please ask your voting husband, friend and brother to watch the dilemma in which the politician now finds himself. On one hand, the better class of people who are in large majority want the saloon abolished. The politician knows this and is afraid to resist the rising tide. On the other hand the saloon men are looking for a way to escape and live. The politician knows this and hears their cry. What can be done to keep both elements in line. A plan has been struck and will be worked for all it is worth in this State. Denounce the saloon, anathematize the business, and please and deceive the temperance people. But suggest high license and make a way for escape for the liquor man. Rob the robbers, the criminal makers, the pauper mills, but do not deceive them—let them live and win the plaudits and help of the business that ought to die. But the politician says the liquor dealer opposes high license. So does the murderer oppose a life sentence; but one convicted and sentenced to hang he begs for the thing he has opposed. The people have convicted the liquor traffic—the politician now proposes to commute the sentence to high license. Let us oppose this policy and go on to prohibition and be rid of the infamous traffic.

TO NASHVILLE, TENN.

The National W. C. T. U. Convention will be held in Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8th to 13th. Great preparations are being made for a large convention. The Southern States will be largely represented. Every person interested in our temperance work is invited to attend this convention. Young people will be greatly interested in and benefited by the attendance of such a convention.

Take the boys and girls! Urge good men to attend the convention! Every white ribboner who can possibly do so should attend his National Convention.

Nashville is nearer to us than any place where the National Convention has been held for years. Fare for the round trip from Indianapolis will be a few cents less than $16.00.

The Indiana delegates and visitors will leave Indianapolis at 8:10 a. m., Nov. 6th, arriving the same evening in Nashville. The White Ribboners, L. T. L's and all temperance friends of all ages are invited to join this Indiana party going to Nashville. No sleeper fare. Take well filled lunch basket. We will leave Indianapolis via Pennsylvania R. R., going to Louisville, there we take the Louisville & Nashville road which takes us through some of the finest of the Blue Grass Country, and over the mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee. Arrange to join our party. Invite your friends to go with you. For further particulars concerning the trip write (Mrs.) Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

The Georgia Legislature voted for State prohibition with one hundred majority. The prohibition law will go into effect Jan. 1, 1908. Indiana W. C. T. U. rejoices and takes new courage.

Westport W. C. T. U.—Wednesday the 28th was a great day for the W. C. T. U. of this section of Decatur County. We held an all day meeting at the old settlers' reunion, near Westport. The president of the Westport Union, Mrs. J. G. Brengle, had charge of the program in the forenoon. The Greensburg and Westport unions held a joint silver medal contest, which was very interesting. In the afternoon Senator Mattingly and Hon. Felix McWhirter debated on temperance and prohibition. The debate was very entertaining and instructive. The addresses were listened to with much attention and thoughtful consideration by a large crowd of voters.

Mrs. Mary Brengle.

POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES IN TAXATION OF SPIRITS.

The first taxation of spirits was in 1791, and varied in amount from 9 to 25 cents per gallon, according to the degree of strength. This taxation continued till 1800, when it was repealed on the recommendation of Thomas Jefferson.

It was renewed as a war measure in 1813 and repealed in 1818.

For forty-four years spirits were free of all tax.

In July, 1862, the tax was again imposed as a war measure and fixed at 20 cents per proof gallon.

On March 17, 1864, it was raised to 60 cents per gallon.

On July 1, 1864, it was raised to $1.50 per gallon.

On January 1, 1865, it was raised again to $2 per gallon.

1868 it was reduced to 50 cents and increased in 1872 to 70 cents. Increased again in 1875 to 90 cents, and on August the 28th, 1894, increased to $1.10 per proof gallon, where it now stands.—Penn. W. C. T. U. Bulletin.

To Editor The Message:

The Western Grove Union is sorry to report the death of Mrs. Charity B. Toms, who departed this life August 4th. She was a valued member of this Union and of the Friends' Church at Westland. During the latter part of her life she was unable to attend the meetings on account of poor health, but she had a deep interest in the work until the last. She leaves to mourn her departure a husband and a stepson. From your sister in Christ, Mrs. Mary J. Coffin, Greenfield.

NOTICE TO DELEGATES ARRIVING ON INTERURBAN CARS.

Dear Sisters—Owing to the frequent arrival of the interurban trains it was thought best by the committee not to meet any of them. Both lines enter the city on the same track. Local cars stop at Sixth street. Get off there. Walk two blocks north, which will bring you to the door of the convention church. Those coming on limited cars will have to get off at Fifth street, making one block farther to walk.

The Rev. H. C. Morrison, D. D., in an editorial in his paper, "The Pentecostal Herald, of Louisville, Ky., says: "The Georgia Legislature has passed an iron clad Prohibition law by one hundred majority. Good for Georgia. She has done a noble work for herself and set a splendid example for other states to follow.

"Yes, the law will be enforced. The people mean business. The bar-keeping, loafing, drinking, thieving gang of whiskyites had as well learn at once that the time has come for them, to change their habits or pack up and move to Chicago. Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, the Carolinas, Texas, Mississippi and Florida are all falling into line.

"And, thank God, old Kentucky is coming to the front, sweeping everything before, to the bank of the Ohio river. We serve notice now on Indiana, Ohio and Illinois that they may get ready to receive our drunkards, distillers, barkeepers and thugs, brewers and the whole gang of murderers and murder makers. Of course, if you don't want them, meet them at your bank, warn them off and let them float down the river. They need the water cure badly.

"Let every true friend of the cause of temperance in Kentucky go to the polls this year and put in a straight Prohibition vote, and we will give old whisky a staggering blow, which will be the beginning of the end. Come on, men, let's hit him one lick that will count for all time to come."

THE MESSAGE.

C. E. WORLD SYMPOSIUM.

From Associated Prohibition Press.

The Christian Endeavor World symposium, which was open to all subscribers, whatever their personal views, resulted in an astonishing indictment of the local-option movement from both practical and theoretical viewpoints. Out of interesting replies from sixteen correspondents, in eight different States, fourteen including the three prize winners, strongly preferred State Prohibition to local option and pointedly criticized the weak features of "local option," while only two attempted any defense of the local option plan.

This is more remarkable in view of the fact that local option is just now apparently in the very height of its popularity. The Christian Endeavor World Symposium being freely open to both sides was thus a remarkable reflection of the growing dissatisfaction of Christian people with the "local option" idea as applied to the liquor issue.

The leading arguments in the Christian Endeavor World Symposium were as follows:

AGAINST LOCAL OPTION.

1. "Local option is a movement forward, to be sure, but what is the use of crawling ahead like a baby, when it is possible to step out like a man."
2. "Local option is optional. There should be no option in the matter of a crime. The 'traffic' is a crime."
3. "A city or town may vote by a large majority for no license and the next year by as large majority vote for license."
4. "It is more easy for those who drink to get supplied in neighboring towns where they have a license."
5. "Because the liquor traffic is not local. It permeates the State; you cannot solve a State question by a local measure."
6. "Local option permits the 'traffic' to remain organized in its interests in the State, and is thus on the ground to improve the first opportunity to reclaim lost territory."
7. "Under most local-option laws opportunity comes every two years when, under certain conditions, a new vote can be taken. Thus local option is constantly in politics, and settles nothing permanently."
8. "If we had local option there would be very little difference in the number of saloons. The country districts where there are few saloons would abolish those, but the cities would continue to license the greatest evil the nation has faced."
9. "A town may vote continuously for no-license, but may be so surrounded by license communities that its action is practically nullified."
10. "Local option is a great deal like a bowling alley no sooner are the pins set up than they are bowled over again. No sooner are we done fighting and winning local option than we must go around and stir up the same 'dry's' again."

FOR STATE PROHIBITION.

1. "State Prohibition is the more desirable, for the reason that it affects a larger area than local option."
2. "Some people might say that State prohibition does not ensure the removal of the 'hell gates,' since in States where prohibitory laws have been enacted the traffic in souls goes merrily on. This may be true, but it cannot be laid at the door of prohibition. Elect officers who will perform their sworn duties and then there will be no saloons in States, where, by the will of the people and the action of the legislators they are declared to be 'legally dead.'"
3. "State prohibition is more permanent, especially if the law is part of the constitution."
4. "State prohibition is local option for the reason that State territory is only enlarged local territory, and in itself is local as compared, for instance, with all the other States. Let us have local option by all means, but let the term cover as many square miles of territory as possible."
5. "Experience teaches that State restrictive laws are vastly more effective than town laws. Every no license community is a mark for certain brewers and distillers, who have ways of crawling over, under, or through the fence to make a market for their goods."
6. State prohibition outlaws the manufacture and sale within the State. Local option outlaws simply the sale (or saloons), and leaves the brewery and distillery untouched; it cuts off the limb, but leaves trunk and roots to flourish."
7. "The State is taxed to build charitable institutions and penitentiaries. She should control the greatest factor in filling them."

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE.

Dear Comrades:

Milestones in progress are reached and passed. The first milestone in the work of Scientific Temperance Instruction was reached when the passage of laws made the study of Physiology and Hygiene, with special reference to the influence of stimulants and narcotics upon the human system, compulsory in the public schools of our states and territories. And still another was passed when suitable text-books were provided for such teaching.

Yet we must not be satisfied with legislation alone. The same self-sacrifice that was demanded in the securing of these laws is today demanded in their defense, and their enforcement, while our text-books must be watched over as jealously as a mother watches over the honor of her child. And still more a suitable length of time must be given for the teaching of this study, with not less than forty lessons per year.

But while attending to these things most carefully and systematically, it will be well for us to begin a great task that must be accomplished; for the physical as well as the moral life of the millions of children in the public schools depends upon the way in which Scientific Temperance Instruction is given. In other words the problem confronting us today is how best to reach the army of teachers in the United States and enable them to realize their great opportunities and what should be done in meeting them. We must win the teacher to see the reasonableness of this instruction, as the whole trend of the age is in this direction.

Therefore we urge:

- (1.) That the subject of Scientific Temperance Instruction be presented at the meetings of every Teachers' Association, both National and State.
 - (2.) At all State and county institutes.
 - (3.) At all assemblies of teachers gathered either for examination or summer schools.
- Again, we recognize the fact that the unfamiliarity of this study in its "pedagogic form" is a chief reason for teachers objecting to it, therefore we ask that universities, colleges and normal schools be visited and urged to give special prominence to this study in order that the coming teacher may be better fitted for this line of instruction.

Still further in carrying out this educational campaign, we must appeal to our right hand supporter, the Church of God. The Presbyterian Church has already, through its temperance committee, undertaken this work. But every pastor, in every church should be asked to present the subject of Scientific Temperance Instruction, at least once a year to his congregation in order that the people may become informed as to its far-reaching importance.

We also urge that at the annual school meetings some well-prepared person present the subject of Scientific Temperance Instruction, the school board to pay especial attention to this teaching. And in order that this shall be accomplished, great interest should be taken in the character of the men and women who shall constitute our school boards.

As in this study the teacher needs every available help, we ask that all local unions subscribe for a sufficient number of copies of "The Crusader Monthly" to place one in the hands of every teacher in the grades. Two full pages of "The Crusader Monthly" in addition to the anti-cigarette page will now be devoted to truths and illustrations, and the whole paper will prove of great assistance to teachers. The paper costs but twenty-five cents a year, and many teachers, if solicited, will doubtless make their own subscriptions.

And now, my sisters, I beseech you, not to allow one school in city, or village, or country to be without an efficient W. C. T. U. superintendent who shall visit it at the hour when Scientific Temperance Instruction is given at least once a month. See to it that she has as many helpers as needed in the cities, and let the teachers feel assured that nothing is taught in the schools that commands more profound interest.

Finally, my sisters, let us this year plan for a great educational prize contest to be conducted as follows: Let every local union offer a prize for the best essay on "The Value of Total Abstinence to a Life." Let there be two prizes, first and second. Make the first, if possible, seven dollars, the second three. Let the essays be confined to the seventh and eighth grades, and the first year high-school, or if there are nine grades, to the three highest grades. Then let every county offer a prize of the same amount for the best essay in the county. Let every state offer a prize for the best essay in the state. And the National W. C. T. U., through its superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction, offers a prize of fifty dollars for the best state essay. Also the World's W. C. T. U. offers a prize of fifty dollars for the best international essay written on this theme by a pupil under the second year of the high school, during the years 1907 and 1908.

Local, County, State, National, and World's Superintendents will each severally make their own arrangements for the contests.

Faithfully yours,

(Mrs.) Edith Smith Davis.

National Superintendent Scientific Temperance Instruction.

remote counties were voting dry because they could sell in the center of population.

The Georgia brewers thought that the dry wave couldn't strike their territory, but it did.

The complacent stupidity of these people was marvelous, but no more so than that of the great brewing centers of the North.

Pay heed to the facts.

When the majority representation in the Georgia Legislature represented dry counties, Georgia enacted prohibition.

Texas will follow suit. Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi and other Southern States will fall in line.

The next line of battle will be in Washington, in the United States Congress.

The Southern Representatives will be controlled by their prohibition constituency, the Senators the same; the Representatives from Northern prohibition States and no license districts being in the majority, all revenue and inter-state commerce laws will be in line with the prohibition policy.

What will the complacent brewers and dealers of New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and other brewing centers do when the Washington avalanche descends upon them?

The anti-license policy is intelligent, concrete, consistent. The opposition has no policy, is disintegrated, chaotic. The gift of prophecy is not required to declare the result. Gentlemen of the trade, what are you going to do about it? On the Great Clock of time there is but one word—'Now.' By the Street of By and By one arrives at the house of Never. 'On Time,' is the cry of progress. 'Too late,' is the groan of failure."

The Liquor Trade Getting Its Eyes Opened to Its Own Abominations."

No more remarkable article has appeared in recent magazines than the confession (although it may not have been intended as such) of J. Fanning O'Reilly, editor of Beverages, in a six-column statement on "The Growth of Prohibition and Local Option" in the Independent for September 5th. It is certainly a notable idea of the editor of this progressive weekly to ask Mr. O'Reilly for his views on the liquor question, but even he must have been somewhat staggered as he editorially admits, at the surprising candor of the liquor editor in drawing a picture of the present condition of the liquor trade which could scarcely be excelled in blackness by a radical prohibitionist journalist. Commenting upon Mr. O'Reilly's article, the Independent says, "Were the Sioux Indians to give a name to Mr. O'Reilly, it would be 'The man-afraid-of-his-saloons.'"

In his article Mr. O'Reilly frankly admits that the saloons have "offended public sentiment;" they have been without check or regulation;" "the business as a whole is in bad repute;" "the brewers of Indiana have voted to close up two thousand saloons in that State." Indeed, "The representatives of its various sections have convened in successive years at different places and passed perfunctory resolutions pointing at the legality of their business, its moral status, etc., but all of this counted for naught in the face of the ocular evidence presented by the existence of dives, back rooms, assignation parlors, gambling rooms, hand-books, and such like evil adjuncts of a legalized business."

To show that editor O'Reilly was not trying to "stuff" the editor or the readers of the Independent in his article in that journal, we quote the following from the leading editorial in Mr. O'Reilly's own paper, Beverages, Friday, September 6, 1907.

"Various forms of viciousness seem to fasten to the liquor traffic with the tenacity of barnacles. The reform of the saloon and the elimination of the dive and such like efforts may not head off the wave of prohibition now spreading over this republic, but these steps can certainly help some."

"House cleaning must go on, however, if the industry is to set itself right in public esteem."

"It is an unfortunate circumstance that most wine rooms, parlors or whatever else these places off saloons where women assemble may be called, are nothing but assignation retreats and covers for the social evil. They are not family resorts, and it is a misnomer to call them such. No saloonkeeper who has adjuncts of this character to his business is entitled to public consideration, and no business that tolerates them can be otherwise than looked down upon and scorned."

"A saloon has no more right to be 'sporty' headquarters than a grocery store. Such conditions bring the business into disrepute."

Two Governors (Hoke Smith and "Joe" Folk) speak strong words on prohibition and law enforcement.

FIELD NEWS

Miss Sears spoke very entertainingly on "Mothers' Responsibility," after which elegant refreshments were served. There were about seventy-five representative ladies present.

Seymour.—A feast of good things was enjoyed recently when the Seymour Union was favored with noted guests. On July 24th, a mothers' meeting was held, which was addressed by Miss Carrie Heaton, a returned missionary from Japan, who graphically contrasted women's condition in that country and our own.

On August 24th, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, our State Vice-President and State Lecturer, addressed the Union at the home of Mrs. Conner, speaking particularly of the World's W. C. T. U. Convention.

On Sunday, August 25th, Mrs. Stanley spoke in the morning at the Methodist Church and in the evening at the German M. E. Church. The evening service being short in order that all might hear the Rev. Sam Small.

There was a large attendance at the services. All who listened to her address felt the liquor problem was indeed the great question before the people today, involving as it does, all others. As she delivered her words of warning, she gave fact after fact none could gainsay. She also gave encouraging notes of victory all over the State. Eight members were added.

Seymour W. C. T. U. met August 28th at the home of Mrs. S. H. Huffman. Good attendance. Our Messenger, of Kansas, describes how the Eldorado Union entertains the elderly ladies annually with a dinner. At their last "Annual Dinner" there were nine ladies present who were over eighty years old, two of them being over ninety years old. The dinner was at a hospitable home and the decorations consisted of autumn leaves and chrysanthemums. The good dinner, the hospitality and a little program was enjoyed. Some old hymns and songs were especially appropriate and recalled pleasant memories.

The Floyd County W. C. T. U. annual institute was held at Galena, under the able leadership of Mrs. Ella Kroft. Mrs. Jones, the county president, opened the regular program with a talk on plans for pushing the work, which was followed by a resume of the work of the Indiana W. C. T. U. and the Hadley Industrial School.

Mrs. Hanswald welcomed the leader in behalf of the Floyd county workers. Mrs. Kroft responding in her pleasing and characteristic style.

Officers were appointed: Recording Secretary, Mrs. Swift. Reporter, Mrs. Hanswald. Committee on Resolutions, Mr. McKinney. On Membership and Registration, Mrs. Gardner.

The County President led a discussion on appliances and preparation needed for W. C. T. U. work.

The subject of school savings banks was taken up, set forth the importance of training the young in habits of thrift and economy.

An oratorical silver medal contest was held in the evening, Miss Leah Davis being the successful contestant.

Among the many interesting subjects of the second day's program, were, plans to be adopted to get the subject of temperance before the Sunday Schools and how the Sunday Schools can assist in temperance work; Sabbath Desecration; Building a Living Monument to Frances Willard, and Why Study a Digest of the State Laws?

Mrs. McKinney read an original paper on "The Morning Scene. Mr. Swift had for discussion, "This Year's Legislation and the Hopeful Outlook," and the Rev. McKinney, "The Boy and the Cigarette."

Mrs. Kroft closed the afternoon with an instructive talk on medical temperance. In the evening a Senior L. T. L. was organized with Mrs. Pritchard as Superintendent.

The Bright W. C. T. U. held a public meeting in the M. E. Church on Sunday evening, August 11th. Rev. Long, pastor of the Christian Church at Harrison, Ohio, delivered an eloquent and instructive lecture on "Scientific Temperance" in the M. E. Church at Bright on Sunday, August 25th.

Mrs. Sarah Bonham.

Owen County.—The annual convention was held at Gosport, August 28th. All of the unions were represented. Attendance good and meetings full of enthusiasm. Papers on "Why the Men Should Belong," and "Jail and Prison Work," were read. Some recitations were given and some good music rendered. A memorial service was held in honor of Miss Anna Hudson, who recently died and who was a charter member of the Stanley Union of Carp. Mrs. Lura Hyden Boleyn of Peoria, Ill., was present and conducted a question box that was very interesting and helpful.

Nettie A. Stone, Secretary.

Oklahoma Votes for Prohibition.—September 17th is the day set for Oklahoma to vote on the new State constitution. Our W. C. T. U. of that State has waged a constant war against the liquor traffic and now they have issued a call to prayer for that day, and their unions are asking the unions of all the States to join them. Women of Indiana, we can pray. Let us definitely set apart Sept. 17th for the prayer for constitutional prohibition for Oklahoma.

South Bend.—Colfax Avenue Union entertained the unions of the city at a thimble Wednesday afternoon, August 28th, at the beautiful home of Mrs. F. L. Axtell. The program, which was in charge of Mrs. Axtell, comprised several musical selections, both vocal and instrumental, and two drills, one parliamentary, the other in the form of a parlor play, was quite unparliamentary and very amusing. Light refreshments were served after the program. About fifty ladies were present.

Mrs. W. M. Weld.

Oak Chapel Union's (Grant County) president, Mrs. Cora Osborne, was given a surprise party by the union on her birthday, July 26th, at her beautiful country home. The surprise was well planned. All met at the home of one of the members, Mrs. Rachel Maddox, a neighbor, and went in a body to Mrs. Osborne's home. The surprise was greatly enjoyed. A sumptuous picnic dinner was set upon tables out under the trees by the ladies, all of whom had brought well filled lunch baskets.

The dinner was greatly enjoyed by all, including the men at work on the farm. After which an interesting program was given consisting of mandolin solos by the Misses Belle Johnson, Ruby Coats, Nellie Hudson; recitation by Dasie Oliver and a song by little Jeneabee Coats.

The day was greatly enjoyed by all. There were 64 persons present. This union meets once a month at the homes. The average attendance for the year has been eleven. Considering that many live six miles, being farmers wives, sometimes the roads are bad and the horses in use, this average attendance indicates deep interest and unflinching faith. The Oak Chapel Union was organized Nov. 20, 1904, with 11 members; now there are 33 regular and 8 honorary members. Some have been lost by removal. The death of the secretary, Alice Stout, was a serious loss.

The Jackson County Convention met September 10th at the First Baptist Church in Seymour. There was a good attendance from several parts of the county.

Officers of the county convention for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

Mrs. W. F. Pfaffenberger, Seymour, president; Mrs. H. E. Kathmann, Brownstown, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Grace Beldon, Crothersville, recording secretary; Mrs. R. R. Short, Rockford, treasurer; Mrs. C. R. Hoffman, Seymour, superintendent of evangelistic work; Mrs. Enos, Rockford, superintendent of medal contest; Mrs. R. R. Short, Rockford, superintendent of Sabbath Observance; Mrs. F. Teckmeyer, Seymour, superintendent of mothers' meeting; Mrs. S. H. Huffman, Seymour, superintendent of scientific temperance instruction; Miss Lou Van Horn, Seymour, superintendent of press work.

The solo by Miss Anna Carter, sung with sympathy and bringing out the beauty of thought and words, was a great pleasure to the convention.

In the evening an address was delivered at the church by C. E. Newlin, the noted temperance lecturer. His speech was heard with interest by a fair sized audience. Music was furnished by the boys orchestra, led by Prof. Norton. They rendered several numbers in a most acceptable manner pleasing both the speaker and audience.

Wayne County W. C. T. U. Convention was held in Fountain City, September 10th, and in spite of the rain there was a good attendance. There were five crusaders present, white ribbons tried and true. The morning was occupied by reports and an election of officers, which resulted in the re-election of those who have served the past year. During the noon hour a bounteous repast was served in Willard Hall, the new headquarters of Fountain City Union. The afternoon program was full and interesting. Mrs. Hartley, county president gave an excellent address on "Woman's Work and Responsibility," showing that the work of the W. C. T. U. has not only accomplished great good in society, but has resulted in marvelous development of woman herself. The symposium on "Why I am a Member of the W. C. T. U.," was full of good suggestions. Our well-known honorary brother, Aaron Worth, was present, and cheered us with a short speech in his own happy way of saying things. Miss Mary Woodward spoke on the power and influence of the press. She showed how it is being used by the liquor men to educate the people in the use of their products and urged that the W. C. T. U. make a greater use of this powerful means to enlighten the people as to the real nature and effects of all alcoholic beverages. A symposium on "Why I am a member of the W. C. T. U.," elicited a number of bright enthusiastic responses. Wayne County W. C. T. U. women begin the new year with fresh courage and renewed faith that "Woman's Cause Shall Win."

Dubois County W. C. T. U. Institute was held at Ireland, at the M. E. Church, April 25th and 26th. On Friday the 26th at 10 o'clock the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Kroft.

Several of the members gave short talks. Miss Maud Lemmon was made reporter of the institute. Miss Nellie Greene was appointed to take names of those who attended the institute. Mrs. Kroft gave a short talk on things needed and things not needed at the Hadley Industrial School. Short talk on temperance in the Sunday School by Miss Maud Lemmon. The afternoon session was called to order by singing. Discussion of Sabbath desecration and talk on flower mission. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Carrie Pettit, Birdseye; vice-president, Mrs. Kate Lee, Ireland; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Highfill, Birdseye; recording secretary, Mrs. Flora Root, Ireland; treasurer, Miss Maud Lemmon; secretary L. T. L., Mrs. Mary Zimmer, Birdseye. Superintendents of Departments—Miss Blanche Glezen, flower missions; Miss Maud Lemmon, systematic giving; Mrs. Marietta Green, Sabbath observance; Mrs. Jennie Lemon, contest work; Miss Mand Lemmon, evangelistic; Miss Genevieve Williams, temperance in Sunday School; Miss Kate Lee, assistant temperance in Sunday School; Miss C. Lessie Dillon, narcotics. Address by Mrs. Kroft on the World's and National conventions. At 7:30 o'clock Mrs. Kroft preached an excellent sermon, which was enjoyed by all present.

Flora Root, Secretary.

"Tennessee—Prohibition has made its master stroke in this State and the people seem to have temporarily gone daft."

"In Ohio it is not to be disputed that the area of 'dry' territory is steadily on the increase."

Mrs. Cammack-Gibson has had a trip to Rockport and Liberty Chapel, Ohio, where she preached three times and delivered two temperance addresses.

There will be a diamond medal contest at the State Convention by young men.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Harriet Isabelle Jordan was born March 26, 1830, and died August 26, 1907. She united with the First Baptist Church of this city in 1841 and through life showed to the world what it means to be a Christian. In the death of Mrs. Jordan the cause of temperance loses one of its staunchest friends and most tireless workers. Mrs. Jordan was identified with the Meridian Woman's Christian Temperance Union from its organization in February, 1886. She was actively interested in the effort made by this Union to secure a matron at the police station who would have charge of the women and children detained there. Later she worked just as faithfully to establish the Rescue Mission and Door of Hope. The funeral services were held August 29th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wallace Sherwood, No. 2519 N. Delaware Street.

Again death has entered the ranks of the Meridian W. C. T. U. and taken its faithful superintendent of Flower Mission Work, Mrs. Mary Howard Wheeler, who died September 4th. As the flowers and scripture texts she distributed quietly carried their messages of love and cheer, so did Mrs. Wheeler's labor for the Master in many lines of Christian service, but especially in the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. With unselfish devotion to duty, and with consecrated co-operation, Mrs. Wheeler helped her husband, the Rev. W. V. Wheeler, make the Rescue Mission and Home what it is to-day—one of the greatest powers for good this city has ever known. Who can measure the influence of such a life?

Mrs. Wheeler was laid to rest September 6th, amid the flowers she had loved and used to brighten and strengthen the lives of the unfortunate and neglected.

Mrs. Margaret Kidd entered into life August 20th, just as the morning light was breaking. Lawrenceburg W. C. T. U. sustained a serious loss in this home-going of our beloved sister. But she will be missed everywhere. The home is lonely without her, the church has its vacant seat, the boys in the Sunday School say there is no other teacher like her. We pray that her mantle will fall on some one, and though the workman has been called home, the work will still go on.

Death has again invaded our circle, this time in the person of the venerable Wm. C. Levering, an aged and highly esteemed gentleman, he being an honorary member of the Central W. C. T. U. He was a very energetic S. S. worker as well as in all temperance movements.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

Advancement of Our Work!

REPORTS OF STATE SUPERINTENDENTS OF DEPARTMENTS.

W. C. T. U. Normal Institutes—Mrs. Rose Pearce, Superintendent.

Thirty-nine institutes held. Results in membership were to W. C. T. Unions, 161; Y. W. C. T. U., 17; honoraries, 47. Making a total of 225 members. Unions organized, 2; L. T. L's, 5; Y. Unions, 1. Subscribers to Union Signal, 82; other papers, 206. For this year Mrs. Pearce urges every county and local president to early make definite plans for the institute.

Mothers' Meetings—Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Supt.

Mothers' meetings held, 128; with 2,155 women under their influences; 12,684 pages of literature distributed, of which Grant County takes the lead, having through her two Superintendents distributed 5,013; 255 American Motherhoods taken, of which Blackford County reports 83; 17 purity sermons; Grant County reports 8; 33 original papers, for which Elkhart reports 8; also the greatest number of mothers won for the W. C. T. U. through this department. There are 7 W. R. C. Rolls reported; Decatur County reports 23 children enrolled; 10 cities report curfews.

I sent blanks and literature to 71 County and Local Superintendents; letters written for this work, 33; cards, 12; articles sent to Message, 3.

Press Department—Miss Laura G. Cammack, Superintendent.

That the Press work is helping to educate the people of Indiana is an indisputable fact, and gains many new members for our blessed cause.

Some most excellent reports have come to my desk, and at this, the close of another year's work, while others are not so good, and, I fear that all work has not been reported.

Can any Superintendent expect to see her Union benefitted much by the Press work if she fails to do her duty, and only furnishes one or two notices or reports during the year?

To be sure not. But, oh, what golden opportunities are lost by that Superintendent, and who knows what good she might have done had she made use of her pen and the columns of the papers at hand, for the editors who refuse to use your articles, etc., are very scarce these days.

As in other years, Grant County has the best press report for the year, with a record of 641 items, 65 articles, 325 notices; 10 press meetings and 10,088 lines printed.

If every county in Indiana had such a Press Superintendent as Grant County has, the membership of the W. C. T. U. would be more than doubled in six months' time.

Whitney, Blackford, Wayne, Elkhart, Tippecanoe, Allen and Wells Counties have good reports, and they and others not so good are unanimous in the assertion that the Press work has helped the work of the Unions in their counties and localities.

People will and must read the papers, and if our work is well reported and advertised in the daily and weekly papers it is bound to be read and have its influence.

May God help us, dear Sisters, to see and appreciate the great opportunities which are ours for this grand work of the Press, and to redouble our energies for another year, and do a work which will not only reflect credit on our organization, but which will mean the strengthening of our forces a hundred fold against our common enemy, the legalized saloon.

Scientific Temperance Instruction—Mrs. Mattie C. Gibson, Superintendent.

Much interest has been shown this year in most of the counties reporting. The recently adopted physiologies, Conn series, are in general use, and the law respected in county and village schools more than larger places. The success of the work always depends on the qualification and interest of the teacher. So "the teacher helped" should be the slogan of this department.

St. Joe County, Mrs. Ethel Bair, superintendent, visited the School Board in regard to one of the teachers who smoked in the presence of his pupils, and also placed a picture of Mrs. Hunt in the High School.

Mrs. Meadows did fine work in Evansville among the teachers, taking subscriptions to the Crusader Monthly, distributed 50 copies of State laws.

Marion County, Mrs. Nellie Fox, superintendent, made 80 visits to public schools and met with the Indianapolis School Board and prayed for more time for the subject. Will ask for a special department teacher for scientific temperance. Crusader Monthly subscriptions, 80; literature, 2,400 pages; lectures, 35; public school visits, 140; copies of laws given teachers, 112; press articles, 22; essays, 10; presented 10 insti-heat and cold, bright days and dark ones, in success or failure, I have done my very best for the advancement of this department.

All of the methods of other years have been vigorously pushed and special emphasis has been placed upon the observance of the "April Week of Prayer."

In South Bend the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A. and the Young People's City Union (representing thirty young people's societies of the city), united with the W. C. T. U. in holding a noontide service each day of the week. The churches were kept open continuously from Monday morning until Saturday night, so that passersby might go in, at any hour and worship. The public press has given liberal space to our articles and there has been a general awakening along all lines.

Much thought is being given to a scientific investigation of the practical and material benefits of the Christian Sabbath, and employers and workmen are now realizing that the Divine law cannot be violated without injury and loss to both. If the 200 bones of the human body are to be strong and regular; the 400 pairs of muscles fully developed; the circulation kept normal, and the brain and nervous system active and accurate, that they may each perform their

THE CANTEEN CRISIS.

The resolutions of the National Army and Navy Union at their recent convention favoring the restoration of the Army beer Canteen, together with the recent recommendation of it by Geo. A. W. Greeley in his annual report, brings the Canteen Question squarely before the country. Many of the daily papers are having favorable editorials. Most of the popular magazine articles on the army contain favorable words for the Canteen. Besides many paid items of "news" in the daily press favoring the Canteen all show that a powerful propaganda is at work in behalf of the Canteen, trying to deceive the public as to the real facts in the case, and to create a public sentiment favorable for its restoration by next Congress, in the regular Army and in the various Soldiers Homes—notwithstanding the fact that such distinguished generals as Miles, Shafter, Joe Wheeler, Daggett, Ludlow, Howard, Boynton, Wilcox, Stanley and Guy V. Henry have strongly opposed the Canteen.

Beyond all question we shall have to fight this Canteen battle all over again in Congress this winter. The crisis is now upon us. Immediate efforts must be put forth to stem this tide setting in favorable to the Canteen. The public needs to get the real truth about this Canteen question. Accordingly the Reform Bureau through the undersigned, has published a small neat edition in a 16 page pamphlet of Gen. A. S. Daggett's famous discussion of the Canteen question. It is the story of General Daggett's own personal experience and observation though many years of the actual workings of the Canteen. It is the most overwhelming refutation of the pro-canteen arguments that has been given to the public. It is unanswerable. General Daggett's high personal character and his long, active and honorable career in the army make him an unquestioned authority on the subject.

We are particularly anxious to send free copies of this document to all clergymen, army officers, members of Congress and State Legislatures, to thousands of editors and to tens of thousands of leaders in the nation. We need right now $5,000 or $10,000 or more with which to press this campaign. The postage alone will require a large sum. Already many friends have sent in small contributions for this battle, but as yet we have scarcely funds enough available to cover one good sized state. Will not the Christian and temperance forces of the land come to our relief quickly with contributions for this urgent Campaign?

Yours for battle and victory,

Rev. Bennetts C. Miller, Field Sec'y.

Sabbath Observance—Mrs. Kathryn Wert Holler, Superintendent.

In the darkest period of the world's history, very early in the morning, upon the first day of the week, our Lord arose from the dead, and the first rays from the Sun of Day were on that morning blended with the new Light of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. The new dispensation and the new day were thus begun, filled with the glory of the Lord since the Holy Ghost descended and with Divine approval set his seal upon the day. Christians have everywhere recognized in it a blessing and have remembered the day to keep it holy.

It was in 1898, nine years ago, in this beautiful city that I was first chosen your State Superintendent. In those years I have served you as best I could, through sickness and in health, in

The W. C. T. U. year just closed has been one of remarkable results in our State. Read the reports of some of the faithful State Superintendents of departments in this issue. Estimate if you will, what results will follow. There is no other temperance organization in our State with a net work of organization, officered and always at work. In educational value there is no such organization in this country. The summing up of the little things done by the local unions all over our State as given in the reports of the superintendents shows the mighty power of the organization of the Christian women of a State for the protection of their homes.

Public Meetings are great factors in our advancement. Every union should hold a public meeting once in three months.

Hon. Charles R. Eckhart will again contribute the money for the State Intercollegiate Prohibition Oratorical Prize. The contest will be held in February, at Valparaiso University. The prize is $50.00 in gold.

For Nashville Convention Delegates.—Those who find it necessary to stay over night in Indianapolis on November 5th, or upon their return trip, can have rooms at the Linden Hotel for 75 cents one person, in a room, or 50 cents two persons in a room. The Linden Hotel is without a bar and is at 311 N. Illinois Street, two blocks north of the Interurban Station, and on direct car line to the Union Railway Station.

proper functions, they must have this one day in seven for rest.

We agitated the Saturday half-holiday, believing that it would lessen Sabbath desecration, and note with pleasure that some of the largest retail stores in the State are giving this time. One factory in South Bend employing about 3,000 men, is giving the half-holiday to its employees.

In the January Number of the Ladies' Home Journal there was a splendid article, written by the "Lady From Philadelphia," with a view of improving public sentiment on Sabbath observance. It means a great deal for our cause when such publications advocate our ideals. Sunday baseball and Sunday football were stopped in South Bend. About 2,000 people were on the grounds when the police stopped the game.

We closed stores on Sunday, (one merchant was fined $14.30 for selling goods); stopped teamsters from hauling lumber; also, workmen on the street. Five scenic theatres sprung up in our midst and dared to open their doors on the Lord's day. Over 2,000 petitions have been sent to our chief of police protesting against their Sunday exhibitions. Two of them have already been closed, but we are determined that all of them must close on Sunday.

We have kept constantly after law violators and have stopped Sunday work wherever and whenever we saw it being done. When you turn over a stone, how the bugs run. Law breakers are similarly affected when the light is let in upon them. "The wicked flee when no man pursueth," but, as Dr. Parkhurst says, they make better time when some one is after them. Saloon men, all over the State, are agreeing to close their places of business on Sunday.

By the united protest of the people the bill to legalize Sunday base ball, which carried in the Senate, was defeated in the House by a vote of 49 to 41.

Butlerville had four original papers read at public meetings. North Liberty stopped Sunday baseball by the better element leasing the ball grounds and re-letting for Saturday games. Castleton had the Sabbath laws printed on large card board and posted in stores and public places. For the third time since I have been your Superintendent we have won the National prize, having made a gain of forty-five new Superintendents this year.

I have received 140 letters and have had work reported from the following counties: Bartholomew, Benton, Blackford, Decatur, Delaware, Elkhart, Floyd, Gibson, Grant, Hamilton, Hendricks, Howard, Huntington, Jackson, Jay, Jefferson, Johnson, Jennings, Knox, Laporte, Madison, Marion, Marshall, Miami, Morgan, Parke, Pulaski, Putnam, Rush, Spencer, St. Joseph, Tippecanoe, Vanderburg, Vermillion, Wabash, Wayne and Wells.

Hinshaw of Hartford City sent the best local report and will receive Mrs. Earle's $100.00 prize story, "Aunt Ruth's Sunday."

The magnificent work being carried on by this department of our organization needs no apologist. Peace and Arbitration—Miss Lavinia Baily, Supt.

It would hardly be possible, even is desirable, to give a tabulated account of the work accomplished in this department in the past year. Much for it, perhaps, has been regarded by the workers as of too small account to merit reporting. But do not think that, my Sisters. If you have only spoken the thoughts of your heart—"I am for peace"—some other heart is better for it, and the cause has made a gain. Here is a report from one county:

"Public meetings, 3; parlor peace meetings, 3; peace sermons, 11; lectures, 1; papers written for public or parlor meetings, 3; literature circulated 6,731 pages; peace papers taken, Messenger of Peace and Advocate of Peace; Children are taught and interested in peace; Peace Day Observed."

And one local union reports: "One peace meeting held; one sermon preached; one paper written, which is to be printed, and one paper read at our county convention; two hundred pages of literature distributed."

THESE ARE MODEL REPORTS.

Besides that which has been done in county and local unions, we have, co-operating with the Department of Mercy, sent to the War Department our protest against the proposed establishment of Rifle Practice in our public schools. Our Peace Department also sent protest to the management of the Jamestown Exposition against the vain and expensive pagentry which was intended to dazzle the country and the world—with the manoeuvres of "war with all its enticing splendours." The people who delight in war constantly make effort to decoy our youth into military life.

For the first time Indiana is entitled to send an L. T. L. delegate to the National W. C. T. U. Convention. Miss DeEtta Walker of Greencastle, is the delegate.

LA FAYETTE.

The State W. C. T. U. Convention was held in Trinity Methodist Church, LaFayette, October 11th to 15th. The president, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, in charge. The church was decorated with beautiful silk banners, American flags and streamers of the red, white and blue. Pledge cards were strung suspended about the galleries.

Behind the pulpit hung life sized portraits of our departed leader, Miss Francis E. Willard, and the brilliant Mrs. Helen M. Gougar, whose home going in June was considered such a calamity to the cause and the success of this convention. These portraits were draped in white and yellow. Surrounding the pulpit inside the altar railing were splendid big palms and other plants.

The convention opened auspiciously on Friday morning with all the State Officers present, and very full delegations from the counties of the State.

The president's address was able and comprehensive and received with great appreciation and applause. The report of the corresponding secretary, Miss Woodard showed great advancement in our work in many lines. The report of Miss Sears, as treasurer, was of great interest, amazing that so much aggressive work for an entire State could be carried on with such limited funds.

Memorial Service.

The memorial service was in charge of Mrs. M. L. Gipe, president of Marion County. For this service the platform decorations with plants and flowers were particularly good. Near the center of the platform was a beautifully draped empty chair in memory of Mrs. Gougar. On the platform, besides those who participated in the service were Hon. John D. Gougar, and Mrs. Sherry, the bereaved husband and sister of Mrs. Helen M. Gougar. The service was very impressive and beautiful. Special and appropriate music was followed by Scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. McKeen. The names of our promoted comrades were read by Mrs. Oakes. There were fifty-eight members and five honoraries. Mrs. Stanley recited very tenderly a little poem. A select reading by Mrs. Gipe was followed with appropriate music. Miss Baker, president of Tippecanoe county paid loving tribute to the memory of Mrs. Helen M. Gougar. The service closed with a solo and prayer.

Diamond Medal Contest.

The diamond medal contest on Saturday evening was preceded by a beautiful program by the Loyal Temperance Legion.

Mrs. Julia Overman, state superintendent of Oratorical Contest Department was in charge. There were seven young men in the contest and great interest was manifested by the audience in their speeches. Wm. Wolf, of Marion, was awarded the medal.

Sunday Meetings.

Old Trinity Methodist Church was filled with an eager crowd on Sunday morning to hear Mrs. Vayhinger, the State President. The pastor, Dr. Lewis, in a very gracious manner introduced the speaker. He paid tribute to woman and her ability, expressing a hope for the time when there would be no restrictions upon women as Gospel teachers and preachers. Mrs. Vayhinger made an able address.

Mass Meeting.

The mass meeting was held in the same church at three o'clock in the afternoon. Long before the appointed hour every seat in the church was taken. Chairs were placed in all the available space. An eager, anxious throng of delegates and the LaFayette people waited to hear Prof. Charles of Philadelphia speak on the greatest question of the hour. For more than one hour and a half that vast audience sat motionless, except when applauding, and listened to the wonderful truths so eloquently spoken by this matchless orator and statesman. At the close of his address Judge George W. Stubbs, of the Juvenile Court, of Indianapolis, was introduced. He said that he endorsed everything the speaker had said. Then from his judicial experience related instances in confirmation of what the speaker had said.

Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, president of the W. C. T. U. of Kentucky, was introduced and gave greetings from the old Bourbon State, which is now nine-tenths prohibition.

In the Trinity Church that night there gathered another great audience, this time to hear an address by Judge Stubbs, of Indianapolis, on "The Juvenile Court." Most intently did this great audience listen to Judge Stubbs as he told of the pioneer work done before a juvenile court was established in Indianapolis. Of the increasing interest and development. He spoke of its far reaching influence and support by citizens. Now there are but two paid officers. The work being done voluntarily, the first citizens of the city as "probation officers."

W. C. T. U. Speakers.

Our W. C. T. U. speakers spoke in many of the churches of LaFayette at both services on Sunday. The audiences were very large and the collections for our cause were generous.

Mrs. Francis E. Beauchamp, of Lexington, Ky., president of the State W. C. T. U. and one of the most brilliant women of the Southland, was greeted on Monday evening by an immense audience in the convention church. Mrs. Beauchamp took for her subject this passage, "Take ye away the stone." With keenest argument and apt illustration she pointed out some of the conditions that are hindrances to the progress of the bringing in of Christ's Kingdom—showing the great need of consistent, Christian citizenship. Never while memory lasts will those who were in that vast assemblage forget that wonderful address.

Convention Notes.

Mrs. Mattie Cammack Gibson, who has served the State as recording secretary for fourteen years, resigned and Mrs. Rose Pearce was elected to the office. Mrs. Gibson has served the cause faithfully and well. As an organizer and lecturer she has been in every part of our State and perhaps there is no woman better known. As a Friend's minister Mrs. Gibson has entered many open doors. Her labors have been arduous at times, but never so heavy as to weigh down her beautiful spirit. She is ours, we shall hope that her duties are lessened, but realize that while life lasts her best endeavors will be for Christ and humanity.

Friday evening of the State Convention was of unusual interest. It was unique and greatly enjoyed. The welcome by the mayor was responded to by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley in her own inimitable manner.

The "Crusaders" were called to the platform. Some of them did not show the requisite number of years, and it was explained that they were children at the time of the "Woman's Crusade," and helped by their singing.

Then the Loyal Temperance Legion representatives went to the platform, followed by the Y's and the County Presidents. Each County President was requested to "speak a word" for her county. This was done in brevity and with ability, such as our women alone possess.

With the splendid music, the splendid addresses, the earnestness mingled with witticisms and good humor, conspired to make this spectacular program one of great interest, as well as unusual significance.

There were 362 voting delegates in this convention.

State Officers Elected.

President, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, Hartsville; Vice-President at large, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Liberty; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Mary Woodard, Fountain City; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Rose Pearce, Cayuga; Treasurer, Miss Clara M. Sears, Anderson.

When Mrs. Vayhinger's election as president was announced the convention arose and sang "Blest be the Tie That Binds," and amid fluttering handkerchiefs, tears and God bless her, Mrs. Vayhinger thanked the women for their confidence, love, etc., then said I want you to see my mother, Mrs. Johnson, who was brought to the platform, and amid applause was introduced. Both mother and daughter were given the Chau-taqua salute.

The LaFayette convention was the largest ever held by the White Ribboners of Indiana. Many young women were in the delegations.

On Monday afternoon, by invitation of President Stone, of Purdue University, the entire convention was taken out to the University and back in special street cars, which were provided by the college authorities. This visit was greatly enjoyed. The day was fine—the October air and gorgeous colorings of the foliage of the campus trees conspired to make the trip delightful. Great interest was manifested by the delegates in this greatest of technical schools.

PLAN OF WORK FOR 1907-'08.

Each union should make earnest effort for a gain in membership. A gain of fifty or more in each county is our aim for the year.

Public Meetings.

Local unions should hold at least one public meeting during each quarter, either lecture, contest or Gospel temperance meeting. Let this be a year of special effort to reach the masses.

We urge local unions to prepare interesting programs or contests to be given in unorganized neighborhoods or towns and at the meetings distribute literature and prepare the way for organizing unions.

Visiting Committee.

We hereby call attention to Sec. 2 of Article I, of our by-laws, which reads: "There shall be appointed a visiting committee, whose duty it shall be to visit every family in the town, village, ward or neighborhood, and present the cause, distribute literature, and bring to bear such other influences as will secure co-operation in the temperance work."

Department Work.

We urge continued activity and progressive work in all our various departments. With this aim in view, let each superintendent inform herself on her special department, and be able to present the work in a way that will be effective. For this purpose the State Minutes are indispensable.

Organization.

Each local union is requested to send $1.50 to the State Treasurer to be used as an organization fund.

All poorly organized counties should begin at once to try to bring their organization up to the standard of at least six unions, with not fewer than ten paid members in each union, with a county organization.

County Gains.

All counties making a gain of fifty, seventy-five, or one hundred members shall be on the program, on benefit night, at the State Convention, and shall share pro rata in the free-will offerings.

Committee:

Miss Mary E. Woodard,
Mrs. Jennie Ridgway,
Mrs. Emily McIntosh,
Mrs. R. C. Travis,
Miss Edith Hillis.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

Dear Sisters:

Another year ended and we are so much nearer the goal for which we toil. He must be ignorant, or ill-informed, who longer doubts the early triumph of Prohibition. I have just returned from a trip south. Prospects for a fine crop of Prohibition votes in that section is fine. I find everywhere Republican editors who do not agree with Gov. Hanly on his $1,000 license policy. They agree with us that it would only guild the vice and retard the victory, and they also know that all the rich saloon keepers of the State are in favor of it, therefore they prefer to stand by the resolutions of the church, which says, "It can never be licensed without sin," and the people are disgusted with the effort to regulate the traffic in boys and girls.

I had good audiences at Seymour. Sam Small was with us to tell of the victory in Georgia. At Brownstown I met a discouraged little band of workers, loyal to the cause, but in that little town the saloon forces are running a bluff on the business men, by threat of a boycott, and young boys under age are even taking their own lives in order to get away from the appetite for drink.

Bedford gave me a fine audience. They want the next State Convention. Loogootee had a street fair, but our faithful women there are trying to "hold the fort." Petersburg has a flourishing union, and I got several new members for them. Princeton has voted the saloon out and through their contest department have developed some very fine educationists. Evansville, Howell and Mt. Vernon are yet on the surface planning for more aggressive work next year. Connorsville had me at her county fair, and they have a "clean voters' league" in that city which is doing fine work. I also attended a pioneer rally at Guilford, and one at College Corner, while resting.

Then I started on my last trip before the convention. Had a fine audience last night at Western Grove. I am now going to Kirklint, Sept. 17th; Rossville, Sept. 18th; Frankfort, Sept. 19th; Otterbein, Sept. 20th; Alexandria, Sept. 21st; Fairmount, Sept. 22d; New Castle, Sept. 23d; Richmond, Sept. 24th; Portland, Oct. 1; Celina, Oct. 2; Upland, Oct. 3; Kentucky State Convention, Oct. 4th to 8th, and hope to meet you all at LaFayette.

Offerings to the State fund, not yet reported: Bryant, $1.95; Hoagland, $3.40; Ft. Wayne, $13.05; Roanoke, $3.05; Markle, $3.36; Wabash, $2.29; Colfax, $1.04; Seymour, $7.71; Brownstown, ninety cents; Bedford, $5.51; Loogootee, $1.50; Petersburg, $3.25; for local work, Princeton, $3.56; Western Grove, $5.05. A small thank offering to our State Treasurer would enable Indiana

W. C. T. U. to carry forward her splendid plans for an immediate Legislative campaign for municipal suffrage for women. Let all who believe we are engaged in a holy war help just a little to furnish ammunition to arm our women who are the greatest fighters the world ever saw, when home is assailed. Yours for victory in 1908.
Elizabeth T. Stanley.

Scientific Temperance Instruction.

Dear Local and County Superintendents:

It was my aim to meet you at the State Convention, but after my appointment there seemed to be no time, so I take this means of greeting you. I shall send out my plan of work and samples of literature as soon as the minutes are out, so I may get your names and addresses. However, if in the meantime you would write to me and give me your address I would be very glad. Until the plan is sent out, would you please study carefully and put into execution the plan of our National Superintendent in the October Message. I am following a strong woman in this department and will need your sympathy and co-operation, so please work faithfully and report promptly. Yours for success,

TO NASHVILLE, TENN.

The National W. C. T. U. Convention will be held in Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8th to 13th. This will be a great convention held in a State that has but few cities and towns that permit the sale of liquor. The expense of the trip, the time of the year, and the great interest in this temperance work are inducements that will cause many of our Indiana people to attend.

Take the young people with you! Urge the husbands to go even though they can only stay two days it will be worth the trouble and expense. Invite friends to join our Indiana party. Nashville is near to us. We must make the most of this opportunity. The Indiana delegates and visitors will leave Indianapolis November 6th, at 8:10 a. m., via the Louisville division of the Pennsylvania route, arriving at Louisville at 12:10 noon. Out of the same station they will leave Louisville via the Louisville & Nashville p. m. Regular two cent per mile fare from all points in Indiana to Louisville and return. From Louisville to Nashville and return a rate of one regular and a third will be granted upon the certificate plan. Thus the round trip fare from Indianapolis to Nashville will be a little over $12.00. There will be no transfer expense at Louisville, no sleeper fare for the trip, but a free chair car from Louisville to Nashville.

Mrs. Vayhinger, the state president, will be with the party, and all will go directly to Indiana headquarters, where rooms will be provided at reasonable rates, and board there or near by. We estimate that the expense will be about $1.25 per day. For further information write to Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College Avenue, Indianapolis, Indiana.

FIELD NEWS

Bright—The County W. C. T. U. Convention was held at Bright, September 27th, conducted by Mrs. Rynerson. Rev. Johnson, pastor of the Christian Church at Lawrenceburgh, gave an interesting address. Officers were elected for the ensuing year and several profitable talks were given by delegates of the different unions.

Mrs. G. E. Denny writes—The Madison Loyal Temperance Legion recently organized by the State W. C. T. U., has trebled itself in membership and its enthusiasm knows no bounds. The Madison boys of L. T. L. made up the following yell for their own special call: "Yell! Yell! Yell! We are the Boys of the L. T. L. Saloons Must go for the Madison Boys say so." God grant it may be soon.

Tippecanoe County held their annual convention at Columbia Park, in LaFayette, on Friday, September 30th, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. There was a fair attendance in the morning. Reports were heard from officers and superintendents. We were very much favored in having with us Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, who was kept in LaFayette by a disappointment in train service. Mrs. Stanley gave us a short talk. Lunch was served in the park at the noon hour. After the usual devotional hour we were again pleased to listen to another of Mrs. Stanley's interesting and helpful addresses, after which reports of superintendents were continued and the officers and superintendents for the ensuing year were elected resulting as follows: President, Miss Eliza Baker, 223 Waldron St., West Lafayette; vice-president, Mrs. A. L. Green, 100 Thornell St., West Lafayette; corresponding secretary, Mrs. O. M. Meacham, LaFayette; recording secretary, Mrs. May Williams, 213 Russell St., West Lafayette; treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Straw, 306 Salisbury St., W. Lafayette; secretary L. T. L., Miss Naomi Jester, cor. State and Chauncey Sts., West Lafayette. Superintendents—Literature, Mrs. Sarah M. Stevens, 123 Russell St., West Lafayette; narcotics, Miss Meta Taylor, 114 E. New London—Our union is small and not often heard from, but we are still at work trying to do our best for our homes and community. Once a year we have a special flower mission day. Our girls are glad to help us. Our last flower mission meeting was held at our pastor's home. We had the Scripture cards tied ready with white ribbon, arranged flowers, then held a very interesting meeting with the subject, "The Influence of Flowers." Select reading by Mary Casand, "Lessons of the Lillies." Also select reading by Malissa F. Hodgkin, "What the Flower Mission Means." A recitation by one of our girls, "A Glass of Cold Water." After special prayer for the girls, and those to be visited, also the Scripture texts and the flowers the girls went on their mission with happy hearts feeling they were working for the Master. One great trouble we meet is too often the texts provided are not appropriate. Where is the best place to obtain these? And can't some one see to it that we have texts more suited to the occasion. There are so many promises and invitations. If any of the little unions have never tried this and think they can't, give it a trial, and it will prove a blessing I am sure. We believe bread cast on the waters will be found.

New London W. C. T. U.

The Campbellsburg Union feels the loss of their president, Mrs. J. J. Smith, deeply. She moved to Indianapolis the last of August. We feel that we can't say enough in her behalf, as she was a whole-soul, enthusiastic, temperance worker. Our most sincere and heartfelt love and best wishes follow her in her new life. Mrs. Kittie Brown, vice-president is filling the chair as president. We will elect new officers at our next meeting. Eva Chamberlain, Press Recorder.

The Marion County Convention was held September 25th-26th, in the Mapleton M. E. Church. Mrs. Martha L. Gipe, presiding. Reports from local presidents showed a large amount of work done and some increase in membership. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Martha L. Gipe; vice-president, Mrs. Alice Baxter; recording secretary, Mrs. Virginia Dearborn; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lulu Cravens; treasurer, Mrs. Lizzie Heath; Loyal Temperance Legion Secretary, Miss Marie Leck. The following department superintendents were appointed: Work among colored people, Miss Sarah Colton Smith; medical temperance, Mrs. Amanda Whitson; scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. W. A.

Fox; Sunday School work, Mrs. Lulu McCain; mercy and help, Mrs. Nina Murphy; purity in literature and art, Mrs. Agnes Sherwood; literature, Mrs. M. R. Wells; parliamentary usage, Mrs. Luella McWhirter; press, Mrs. Ella D. Oakes; anti-narcotics and household economics, Mrs. Mary Moody; oratorical contests, Mrs. Mary Brown; Hadley School, Miss Lucretia Hobart; jail and prison work, Mrs. L. E. Scott; evangelistic work, Miss Della Brown; Sabbath observance, Mrs. Julia Morgan; railroad work, Mrs. Susie Miller; soldiers' and sailors', Mrs. D. Dougherty; mothers' meetings, Dr. Martha Kellar; flower mission, Mrs. Frances Metz; Christian citizenship, Mrs. Henrietta Rhoads; franchise, Mrs. Fannie Kelso; music, Mrs. Kate Carr.

The president's address was earnest and filled with good suggestions for work during the coming year. Wednesday night a gold medal contest was held under the direction of Mrs. Carrie Handy. There were six contestants between the ages of six and fifteen. Master Louis Jennings of Bridgeport, won the gold medal. Memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Kate Carr. Nine members went to their reward during the past year. Mrs. Carr and Mrs. McMahan favored the convention with a vocal duet. Dr. Martha E. Kellar gave an address on "Heredity and Maternal Influences." The committee on resolutions offered the following:

Whereas, The pulpit, press and platform and the courts have been pleased to co-operate with the W. C. T. U. in promulgating sentiment against the liquor traffic, and have shown themselves vitally interested in the preservation of the home and the principles of our union. Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Marion County Women's Christian Temperance Union in convention assembled, extend a welcome to all forces united in this great cause.

Whereas, Judge Artman has declared that anything inherently wrong cannot be judiciously right. Therefore

Resolved, That we pledge anew our efforts to secure legislation against the foe that is seeking to destroy our children and our homes, for the sole purpose that men may make money.

Whereas, In Marion County the laws governing the liquor traffic are poorly enforced, or not enforced at all, and public sentiment in said county allows women and children to enter saloons. Therefore Resolved, That an increased effort be made the coming year to enforce the temperance laws.

Franklin County W. C. T. U. held their annual convention in the M. E. Church at Bath, September 24th and 25th, with Miss Mary E. Woodard as leader. The evening of the 24th she spoke to a good audience on the subject, "What Shall we do With the Saloon." The 25th was convention day. After the election of officers and the reports of president, secretary and treasurer, the rest of the day was spent in hearing original papers on scientific temperance instruction in the schools, mothers' meeting and franchise. We had a very interesting session. The ladies taking an active part in the discussion of the different subjects. Closed by singing temperance doxology and prayer by Miss Woodard. The following county officers were elected: President, Mrs. Smith, Bath, R. F. D.; president at large, Mrs. Mullin, Brookville; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Brown, Bath; treasurer, Mrs. Miller, R. F. D., Colo. The above named for the ensuing year. Mrs. Woodard gave her views on woman's rights, taking franchise for her subject, which was interesting and very beneficial to her hearers. Might she be permitted to come this way again. The meeting was socially and educating. Meeting closed with the temperance doxology. The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Miller. Mary R. Scott, Press Rep.

The Nottingham W. C. T. U. held a grove meeting Sunday afternoon, September 22d. It was well attended. Mrs. Walmer gave a very interesting address and enrolled three new members, two active and one honorary. The Union also held a meeting a few weeks before at which Rev. Claude A. Gurder was the principal speaker. He gave the history of his life which was wonderful. Collection amounted to over $5.00.

A Temperance Rally was held at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Z. H. Stanley, north of Liberty, Ind., Oct. 24th. White ribbons of Liberty and College Corner gathered to spend a few hours in this lovely home. A bountiful dinner was spread and greatly enjoyed but not more so than the time spent in pleasant conversation. A short business meeting was held and interesting talks given concerning the cause of temperance and good citizenship. After enjoying Mr. and Mrs. Stanley's hospitality all separated for their homes feeling that the day had been one of profit as well as pleasure.

The Indianapolis Francis E. Willard Union annual meeting was held September 10th. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. L. W. Gray; vice-president, Mrs. W. M. Williams; recording secretary, Mrs. H. E. Hathaway; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Gerkin. A full corps of superintendents was elected.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC VS. THE BOY.

From an Address by Dr. Wiley J. Phillips, of Los Angeles, California, Editor of the California Voice.

(From the Associated Prohibition Press.)

"When we remember that of the 16,000,000 young men in the United States 10,500,000 of them have already contracted the drink habit, it would seem that it was time that something was being done.

"When we remember that in this twentieth century only twenty per cent. of the young men ever darken a church door, and that only about 2½ per cent of these are actively engaged in Christian work, it would seem that something ought to be done.

"When we remember that in 1906 we gave $1,350,000,000.00 or more to support the liquor traffic than we did to support the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ in the United States, it would seem that something ought to be done.

"When we remember that last year we paid in the United States to support the saloon and dam the boys and girls of this country $1,325,000,000.00 more than we did to educate them, it looks to me as though something ought to be done.

"We are sending our boys out into the world where we have placed more death-trips than we have saving stations.

"We have placed in their way by our deliberate premeditated vote 116,000 more licensed saloons in the United States than we have churches."

That the Prohibition party is a vital factor in current prohibition politics is shown in the post-election situation which has suddenly developed in Pennsylvania. The Venango Daily Herald in its leading editorial November 9th, under the headline "Local Option Assured," says:

"Republican politicians are skurrying to cover, to escape the storm which is brewing. They are declaring for local option hoping to stave off the growth of the Prohibition party, manifested by the wonderful showing of election day, when, in the face of a big slump in the vote of the State, the Prohibition vote did the marvelous thing of making a gain of twenty-five per cent.

"The expected has happened, and the forecast of events made by the Prohibition State Chairman, before election, has proved to be exactly accurate: 'The way to get a local option law through the Legislature is to vote the Prohibition ticket in such numbers that the alarmed license party leaders will turn to local option to stay the people from forcing upon them absolute prohibition.'

"The Prohibition party has done it."

"The Pittsburg Dispatch, after a thorough and careful study of the situation by one of its staff workers, declares that the passage of a local option law by the next Legislature is an assured thing, and points out that the temperance people will not even have to work for it, the only question being how strong and effective such a law shall be.

"In its article the Dispatch quotes the Republican City Chairman of Pittsburg, Franklin P. Booth, who is regarded as a level-headed political prophet. Yesterday Booth has this to say:

"A local option law will be passed by the next Legislature just as sure as anything. You can't any more stop it than you can dam up Niagara. I have told some of my friends who are in the liquor business there is no use in their going against it and that they might as well come out and aid in the passage of a fair bill."

The Chicago Record Herald, Wednesday morning November 13th, gives first page prominence to a news story from Raleigh, N. C., dated Nov. 11th, written by its famous correspondent, William E. Curtis, who, in the course of a discussion of the railroad agitation, declares significantly:

"The issue of prohibition of the liquor traffic is sweeping the South like a prairie fire, and if the agitation continues at its present heat for two or three years longer it will not be possible to get a dram of whiskey or a glass of beer south of Mason and Dixon's line."

"Prohibition is absorbing the entire attention of the South today," said one of the most prominent politicians of North Carolina.

"Now everybody who wants an office is howling for what our Governor calls 'pro-high-bition,' and nobody thinks of any other question. The church people are all in it; women and children are marching in campaign processions and peddling tickets, and there is no other political issue before the people. If the Prohibitionists will nominate a Southern man as their candidate for President they will get every electoral vote in the South."

FOR A LITTLE GIRL.

I'm a little temperance girl
Only eight years old

I wouldn't touch a glass of beer,
If you'd fill my hands with gold.
(Hands extended.)

I have a little brother,
He belongs to the legion, too,
I spect there'll be no drunkard mans
When we're as big as you.
For don't you see, we boys and girls,
Will all for temperance stand;
And we'll be great big temperance folk.
Now won't that be so grand?

(Rise on toes at "great big.")
Not a drunkard to be seen,
For don't you think it queer?
The first things drunkards learn to drink,
Are cider, wine, and beer?
So we'll go to the temperance legion
And try to be good and true,
And all the ——— boys and girls
We ask to join us too.

(Put in the name of your own town and have the child extend her hands as she gives her invitation.)

HOW PROHIBITION WORKS IN KANSAS.

Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, D. D., the distinguished author and preacher of Topeka, gives the following facts:

"Prohibition in Kansas has put the liquor business into the catalog of other crimes where it belongs.

"It has put the people into a position of positive antagonism to the saloon.

Gov. Hoch says: "A quarter of a million people have been born in the State who have never seen a saloon or joint and have grown up to believe as a part of their creed that it is an un-mixed evil."

Of the 105 counties in the State only 21 have any paupers. Only 25 have poorhouses. Thirty-five have their jails absolutely empty. Thirty-seven have no criminal cases on their dockets. Kansas has the smallest number of paupers of any State in proportion to its population. It spends more money for education in proportion to its population than any other State.

Eight hundred and five newspapers are printed in the State, only twenty of which ever print any liquor advertisements and four of these twenty are printed in the German language.

After a short struggle in May and June, 1907, the joint property owned by ten outside breweries, worth more than $250,000, was confiscated by the State Supreme Court and the brewers implicated surrendered and left the State. It was conclusively proved that the brewers were the backers and owners of practically every notorious joint in the State.

In his official message to the Legislature for 1907, Gov. Hoch said:

"The absurd contention that more liquor is sold in prohibition Kansas than in license States should deceive no one. It is made chiefly by those who would be entirely content with the prohibition policy if their statements were true, but official figures abundantly refute the ridiculous statement. Uncle Sam is a pretty good book-keeper and a pretty good collector. Compare prohibition Kansas with our neighbor, license Nebraska, for instance. Nebraska has about one-third less population than has Kansas, but Uncle Sam has collected about $2,000,000 a year liquor tax from the people of Nebraska, while he has been able to get only about $100,000 from Kansas. The amount of fermented liquor sold in Kansas is from 6,000 to 10,000 barrels a year; in Nebraska from 200,000 to 300,000 barrels, and in Missouri from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 barrels."—Ohio Messenger.

THE LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGIONS AT NASHVILLE CONVENTION.

By Mrs. Ida M. Mix, State Branch Secretary.
The report of the General Secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion Branch, Miss Margeret Wintringer, shows a gain of over 2,000 members; $1,014.48 was paid into the National Treasury, giving our Branch twenty voting delegates in the convention. There were 838 graduates this year. Three new State Legions organized, West Virginia, South Dakota and Nebraska. An all day conference was held on Thursday, November 7th. Talks were given by Miss Anna A. Gordon, World's Secretary; Miss Elizabeth P. Gordon, National Evangelist; Miss Louise E. Hollister, and Mrs. Maude L. Greene, National Organizers and Lecturers; and all the State Secretaries present telling of the gains and victories of the past year, which were many. In the evening Mrs. Cora E. Seberry, Secretary of the Y Branch, gave an excellent address, and the State Presidents from the various States gave short talks. Those of us from Indiana were very proud of our own Miss DeEtte C. Walker, Indiana State L. T. L. President, Greencastle, Indiana. Conferences were held every morning at 8:30, and afternoon at 5:15, for the discussion of plans to forward the work. The especial lines for this year will be to co-operate with the Young Peoples' Church Societies; 50,000 subscribers to the Crusader Monthly; continue the Anna A. Gordon fund; an effort for 500 members to the W. C. T. U. form the L. T. L.; and for 200 paid Legion workers.

Demonstration night the Junior Legion had a drill with song. The Seniors were represented with young men and young women wearing caps and gowns of white, bordered with the colors of the State they represented, marching together to a ballot box in the center of the stage and casting into the box a large white ballot, while singing "Hand in hand we cast the ballot," followed by the State Secretaries carrying their State pennants.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS TO MEET DECEMBER THIRD.

Many Persons From all Parts of the State Expected—Noted Speakers on Card.

A "get-together-conference" of all the temperance forces in the State will be held in Indianapolis, December 3d, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance of temperance workers from the various counties. It is expected that the W. C. T. U., the Anti-Saloon League, the Prohibition party, the Good Templars and all other organizations opposed to the liquor traffic will be represented.

The sessions during the day will be held in the assembly-room of the Board of Trade, and the evening session at the same place. Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, of Hartsville, State President of the W. C. T. U., has been spending much time in the preparation of the program for the conference. Several speakers of national fame will be on the program. Among them will be Charles W. Trickett, Assisstant Attorney-General of Kansas, who closed more than 150 blind tigers in Kansas City, Kas., and kept them closed. He will talk on "Law Enforcement." The Rev. H. M. Parkhurst, of Chicago, will talk on "The Saloon License." Mrs. Vayhinger will have for her subject, "The W. C. T. U. and License." Another interesting subject will be "The Work of the College Young Man," by D. Leigh Colvin, of New York.

How to Make Indiana Dry.

E. M. Barney, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League for the Indianapolis district, will speak on "How to Make Indiana a Dry State by 1912." Samuel W. Haynes, of Portland, will give a history of saloon licenses.

At the night session there will be two addresses. Judge Samuel Artman, of Lebanon, will talk on "Saloon License Unconstitutional," and his address will be in line with his decision, made several months ago, that the saloon business is illegal and cannot be licensed. The second address will be on "The Best Law to Abolish the Saloon," by Mrs. Lillian M. Stevens, of Portland, Me., national president of the W. C. T. U. There will be general discussions of all the subjects that will be under consideration. The male quartet, of Anderson, and the Invincibles, of this city, will furnish the music.—Indianapolis News.

Dr. Andrew White delivered a lecture at Cornell University not long since on the need of better education, and advocated the study of the Bible in the schools. He said: "No man's training can be finished without it. I would have readings in the schools from the sacred book—the story of Joseph, the Sermon on the Mount, and the wonderful writings of St. Paul. An educated man who has not these in his memory is to be pitied."

The Bible stands out alone in literature; no other book is of such importance. We need to study it in youth and in old age.

December 3d to Indianapolis to the Anti-License Conference. Every person who can spare a few hours should attend this conference.

Indiana must be free from saloons. Every union hold a public meeting before January first. Yes, that is soon, but no other subject is more interesting to the reading, thinking people.

The National Convention in 1908 will be held in Denver, Colorado. Indianapolis and Wisconsin are asking for the 1909 convention. The Indiana delegates pinned "Indianapolis, 1909," badges on the delegates at Nashville. Great interest was manifested in securing the pledges of the votes for Indianapolis.

ON TO WASHINGTON.

The united temperance forces are planning a campaign for prohibition in the District of Columbia. It will be a mighty struggle. Everybody will be interested. All of our people will gladly contribute. At Nashville it was decided to raise $10,000 for the National W. C. T. U. to use in this great conflict. Indiana White Ribboners will help. Our delegates pledged $100.00 for Indiana. We are so glad that they did this. It will give us an opportunity to help.

INDIANA IS GOING DRY.

Not a licensed saloon in the following counties: Brown, Pike, LaGrange, Washington, Sullivan, Monroe, Orange and Boone, when present licenses expire. Twenty-one county seat towns dry Albion, Bloomington, Bloomfield, Corydon, English, Franklin, Fowler, Kentland, Knox, LaGrange, Monticello, Nashville, Princeton, Paoli, Petersburg, Rensselaer, Shoals, Spencer, Sullivan, Winchester, Winamac and Lebanon, when licenses expire.

Ohio W. C. T. U. gained over 8,000 members last year. Ohio now has 25,000 paid members, with 15 counties having 500 or over paid members which entitles them to send their delegate to the National Convention. In the death of Mrs. Anna Clark, State President, the unions felt greatly bereaved, but loyal hearted women they were, they redoubled their efforts and secured the phenomenal gain of 8,000. Mrs. Clark's union at Columbus, with a membership of 100 at the time of her death in the summer time, had a total of 500 paid members by the time of the State Convention in October, and sent their delegate to the National Convention. Indiana re-joices over the great gains in Ohio. A membership of 25,000 will help bring prohibition for Ohio.

THE SWEEP OF PROHIBITION.

Victories for Prohibition are being announced every day. Six Prohibition States: Maine, Kansas, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Georgia and Alabama. The South will soon be free from the slavery of drink. This has been the result of Local Option (Local Prohibition.)

Today Tennessee has but three cities and one little town where liquor is licensed: Nashville, Memphis, Chattanooga and a small mining town.

Kentucky has 100 dry counties; 15 counties with dry territory and only four wet counties. Mississippi almost totally dry with a Governor, E. F. Noel, who made his fight for the Democratic nomination largely upon the Prohibition plank. The movement for absolute prohibition is spreading rapidly in North Carolina, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, South Carolina, Texas, Iowa and Nebraska. The prediction is that Arkansas, Kentucky, New Hampshire and Vermont will adopt State prohibition. The recent temperance victories in Delaware are most encouraging.

A PLEA FOR PROMPTNESS.

Dear Co-Workers

I am writing you again as Treasurer, and will send the first quarterly report blanks so you may have them by December 15th. The question has been asked several times, "If we make a gain of ten will we get a premium lecture?" Our plan of work is changed and we do not send a lecturer to Unions making a gain during the quarter, but at the end of the year.

According to Plan of Work, "All counties making a gain of 50, 75 or 100, shall share in the pro rata in the free-will offering at the State Convention, on benefit night."

The programs are now ready to mail. They will cost one penny a piece. Send early so your order may be filled. I believe the State W. C. T. U. Minutes will be ready to send to the Unions by the time you receive this issue of the Message. We only have 1,500 copies this year, so be prompt with your orders. Fifteen cents per copy, or ten cents in packages where the Unions pay the expressage.

I hope the first quarter's report will show a large gain over last year and the only way to accomplish this is to see each member personally and collect her dues. Indiana can make a gain of 1,000 if we try. Send all corrections of addresses for the Message to me. Only a few State Superintendents have sent their plan of work to be printed. Now send soon so you will have something to work with.

Do not forget your donation for the Hadley Industrial School to the State Treasurer.

Lovingly,

Clara M. Sears,
Treasurer W. C. T. U. of Indiana.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

Dear Co-Workers

I have just returned from the National Convention and for the encouragement of those who did not go, I want to say that the reports from every State were enough to convince our $1,000 license friends that they only waste their time when they parley on any sort of a compromise measure. We are out for prohibition—and it is coming more rapidly than we had thought possible. I spent one Sabbath en route at Salem, Ind., and had fine audiences there.

Mrs. Ellis had invited the churches for the evening, and they were jubilant over the closing of all the saloons in their county. At Campbellsville I found the last saloon dead. It was buried at eleven p. m. the night I spent in their town. I want to give you some helpful statistics from Washington County. The Sheriff seems to pay the board bills of the "jail-birds," and before they closed their saloons the board bill for those in jail was from $60 to $165 every quarter, and the last quarter with closed saloons, the jail board bill was $7.40. Let every county in the Nation save the board bills of the drunkards in the jails and prison pens, and there will be no question about the revenue to run the government.

I was in Louisville on election day and the all day prayer meeting was very inspiring—from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. women were on their knees praying that God would lead the patriotic men to rebuke the candidates who had pledged an open Sunday to the saloons of Louisville. The battle cry was "Home Protection," and "Sabbath Rest," and "Prohibition," and the people notified all candidates elected that they retained the power to dethrone them if they failed to carry out their pledges.

In Nashville I met the comrades of the Southland jubilant with hope and inspired by victory. We had over 500 delegates. The people in the South are in earnest. They are ready to sacrifice for the cause. On Wednesday evening an offering was made to the National W. C. T. U. to aid our move on Washington, D. C., and I am glad to say we got $7,410.00 that one evening.

Wake up! all ye people who think the women can fight the millions of the liquor traffic with penny collections. The fight is on. No doubt as to the result, but we can hasten the victory and make the battle short and decisive if we will back up our prayers by opening our purse strings and flood the Nation with literature. Why even in the State penitentiary we found men who said "God bless you. When I get out I'll vote for prohibition, for we would not be here but for the saloon." We left two copies of the Union Signal, one copy of the Patriot Phalanx and one Crusader Monthly for the library of the State Prison. The president of the Kansas W. C. T. U. says they are selling their poor houses in Kansas; that no State without saloons needs these institutions. The next convention goes to Denver and the next is invited to Indianapolis. Yours for victory in 1912.

Elizabeth T. Stanley.

OFFICIAL.

Dear Comrades:

When this reaches you only a few days of the first quarter of our new year will remain, so swiftly does time speed away; but I hope it will find every local Union with work well planned for the year, and every member hard at work to carry out the plans. Those of you who had the blessed privilege of attending our great convention at Lafayette, have gone home full of zeal and enthusiasm for our great organization. No one who was there could have felt it other than a privilege to belong of such a band of consecrated women who are fighting the worst foe that ever dared lift its hideous head under our flag. I hope your home unions, through your reports, have been able to catch a little of the spirit of the convention and some of the enthusiasm and determination to push the work as never before.

Most inspiring reports come from some of our sister States. Ohio made a gain of 8,000 members last year, bringing their membership up to 25,000. They are working hard for suffrage and are going into a campaign to win. Wisconsin made a gain of 1,100 and other States are reporting large gains. We rejoice in all these victories, but sisters, Indiana must not fall behind the procession.

In our "Plan of Work" for the year we say we will try for a gain of fifty in each county. Now this is not much to ask and hope for. Some counties now report a gain since State convention. What about yours? Let every white ribboner take hold right where she is and push. Be sure to read the State Minutes and inform yourselves about our work. Read the "Message" and "Union Signal," and then tell others about what you have learned. Set your heart on some neighbor and win her to our cause. Our State President's fine address and your State Corresponding Secretary's report should be read in every local Union. These will be found in the State Minutes. No county or local president should consider herself properly equipped for office without the State Minutes and the Union Signal. If she can not get these for herself the Union should see that she is supplied. Let us equip ourselves for service and fight valiantly for our cause.

A call was sent out by our convention to all temperance organizations in the State to meet in conference at Indianapolis, December 3d and 4th to plan some method of defeating the efforts of the whiskey men and their allies to foist a high license law on Indiana. There should be a large attendance at this conference. It will be a notable gathering. The program contains the names of some of the best speakers in the nation. Put on your white ribbon and come. A large attendance will mean much for our cause.

Now for "a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull all together," for a thousand new members in Indiana this year.

Yours for service,

Mary E. Woodard, Cor. Sec.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Dear Superintendents

Let our watchword for the coming year be "Overcoming Discouragements," and I am sure we will have great victories to report in 1908. For your splendid efforts the past year I thank you, they have won for us the National Banner once more. For the future I pledge you my best efforts, and will do what I can to help in any way I may be of service to you. I will gladly send my plan of work and other helps to new superintendents.

Have the people educated through the press and pulpit. Enlist helpers wherever you can.

Interest the pastors of all denominations in the subject of Sabbath Observance. Invite them to co-operate with us, by giving at least two sermons and one prayer meeting during the year to this subject. Distribute literature on all appropriate occasions.

Yours to help,

Kathryn W. Holler, State Supt.,
South Bend.

In the last year of the army canteen, there were 1,645 court-martials for drunkenness. In the year 1906 there were but 504.

THE MESSAGE.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

Dear Sisters:

I am just home from the National Convention, the greatest in many ways ever held in America. A victorious note rang throughout the whole convention. Every song, prayer and report seemed echoing the shout of victory, which began in Georgia, sounded through Oklahoma, and is being taken up throughout the South. "Praise the Lord who helped us, the South is going dry." Alabama is in line with her prohibitory law before her Legislature now and victory is assured. Ohio with a net gain of 8,000 members, the largest gain ever made by any State. A subscription for $7,410, taken in a single evening, the greatest subscription ever raised in the world for the cause of temperance. With this great wave of sentiment backed by deeds and gifts, on in full speed, to lag behind is sin!

What will Indiana do another year? First—Sound the Slogan—"7,000 members in the State by September 15, 1908!"

The cause needs the women and they can be had for the asking. Will we ask? Let this be our banner year in membership, with three definite things in view.

First—7,000 members.

Second—We have less than 600 subscribers to the Union Signal. Let's make it 1,500 before the close of the year.

Third—We pledged at the National Convention to work to add 1,000 new subscribers to the Crusader Monthly. Let's get it into the hands of every school teacher in the State because of its merit in teaching scientific temperance.

A beautiful banner will be given to the Union making the largest per cent. gain in membership. Prizes will be offered for excellence in each of the other points.

We can do these things, and let's say by God's help, we will do them. Let's have no playing at temperance work this year, but real valiant work.

Lovingly yours to serve,

Culla J. Vayhinger.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEAGUE.

By Miss DeEtta Walker, State President, Greencastle, Indiana.

The great National Convention showed a year of victory and growth in the Legion as well as along other lines of the work. Four new organized State Legions were reported. On the day preceding the opening of the convention an all day conference was held. In the evening at a mass meeting of the young people of Nashville, at the Vine Street Christian Church, the State L. T. L. Presidents and various representatives of the different State Legions gave ten or fifteen minute addresses. On that great demonstration night the Legion also took part.

Conferences were held every day at 8:30 a. m. and 5:15 p. m. These conferences dealt with the most important features of our work and were most instructive and inspiring. The same hopeful, earnest spirit pervaded them as was manifested in the Mother National. The Legioners made Miss Margaret Wintringer, our beloved National Secretary a life member of the National W. C. T. U.

It was decided to add four more pages to the Crusader Monthly, providing sufficient advertisements can be secured at the rate of ten cents an agate line; $1.40 an inch or $30 a page. Indiana pledged 1,000 more Crusader Monthly subscriptions. This means hard work for our young people! Will not all White Ribbons help us? Could you know how in earnest we are you would feel that all efforts to assist us are not in vain. Please report concerning Crusader subscriptions or advertisements, either to Mrs. Ida M. Mix, Kokomo, or myself.

WHERE PROHIBITION PREVAILS.

From one-half to eleven-twelfths of the population of seventeen States at present live under absolute prohibition laws. These States are Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Iowa.

Prohibition law prevails in large sections of Alabama, Rhode Island, New York, Maryland, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Missouri, Colorado, California, Washington, Oklahoma, South Dakota.

Within the last few months the prohibition movement has been indorsed by the Governors of many States, among them Governor Cobb, of Maine; Governor Hoch, of Kansas; Governor Burke, of North Dakota; Governor Smith, of Georgia; Governor Dawson of West Virginia; Governor Harris, of Ohio; Governor Hanly, of Indiana; Governor Beckham, of Kentucky; Governor Glenn, of North Carolina; Governor Broward, of Florida; Governor Campbell, of Texas; Governor-elect Noel, of Mississippi, and Governor Folk, of Missouri.

Maine adopted State Prohibition in 1855, when General Neal Dow declared that Maine was "one of the most drunken and poorest States in the Union, there being seven distilleries and two breweries in Portland alone." At present prohibition law is enforced in nine-tenths of the State.

Kansas under prohibition, has prospered wonderfully. Of the 105 counties in the State, it is claimed, only twenty-one have any paupers and only twenty-five poorhouses. In thirty-five the jails are absolutely empty. Thirty-seven have no criminal cases on their dockets.

After a short struggle in May and June, 1907, the joint property owned by ten outside breweries, worth more than $250,000, was confiscated by the State Supreme Court. The brewers implicated surrendered and left the State. In his annual message to the Legislature for 1907, Governor Hoch said:

"The absurd contention that more liquor is sold in prohibition Kansas than in licensed States should deceive no one. It is made chiefly by those who would be entirely content with the prohibition policy if their statements were true, but official figures abundantly refute the ridiculous statement."

"Uncle Sam is a pretty good bookkeeper and a pretty good collector. Compare prohibition Kansas with our neighbor, Nebraska, for instance. Nebraska has about one-third less population than has Kansas, but Uncle Sam has collected about $2,000,000 a year liquor tax from the people of Nebraska, while he has been able to get only about $100,000 from Kansas. The amount of fermented liquor sold in Kansas is from 6,000 to 10,000 barrels a year; in Nebraska, from 200,000 to 300,000, and in Missouri from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 barrels."

In Kansas City the battle for the abolition of the saloon a little more than a year ago attracted wide-spread attention. For twenty years liquor was sold in defiance of the State law. Of the results of the abolishment of the saloon, Attorney Trickett recently declared:

"Kansas City has increased in wealth and population at a rate never known before in its history. During the last year our population increased more than 13,000, and more new buildings were erected in this city than in larger Kansas City across the State line. During the last year the manufacturing products of this city increased $50,000,000, making a total of more than $200,000,000. During the last year the deposits of banks have increased by $2,000,000."

Of the effect of prohibition law in North Dakota, Governor Burke recently declared: "We have had prohibition so long that in some counties there are no jails."

Under an agreement entered into by nearly all the brewers of Indiana recently they will cease the establishment of saloons in nearly all the cities of the State, and more than 2,000 brewery saloons now in existence will close as soon as the licenses expire.

It is said by the wisecracks of both the Republican and Democratic parties that the time is not far distant when they will have to take a stand one way or the other.

The liquor dealers have now entered the contest. They claim that prohibition has succeeded in many localities, particularly in the South, through the indignation of the people at the outrages committed by lawless persons under the influence of liquor. They have resorted to the same weapons as the temperance crusaders—the ballot and the pamphlet.—The North American, Philadelphia.

MOST INFLUENTIAL ORGANIZATION OF WOMEN ON EARTH.

The above is the Tennessean's prominent heading given a first page account of the opening day of the National W. C. T. U. convention at Nashville.

The convention was welcomed by Gov. M. R. Paterson, Mayor J. S. Brown and many others. The Tennessee W. C. T. U. was represented in a strong welcome by the State President, Mrs. Silena D. Holman.

Forty-nine States were represented by over six hundred delegates, regular and fraternal. Of the convention, The Tennessean said:

"In the first place, this organization is the largest and most influential exclusive woman's organization in the world, and its leaders are women of recognized ability and of national prominence. In the second place, it is these women who have brought about the wonderful temperance movement that is now at the very height of a brilliant success, and on which the eyes of the world are fixed wonderingly and admiringly. They have not only accomplished marvelous things, but they have marvelous plans for the future."

The president's address during the forenoon session was a remarkable one from many standpoints. Consistently, intelligently and entertainingly, it told of the great aims of the organization and the plans and prospects in the various branches of work that compose the complicated machinery of the organization. Mrs. Stevens is not only a woman of fine presence and splendid oratorical attainments, but she is a thorough parliamentarian. She presides with dignity and her rulings never fail to give entire satisfaction to the body of devoted women over whom she presides.

The first annual convention was held in the city of Cleveland, Ohio, in 1874. The beloved Miss Frances E. Willard herself organized a union in Nashville, in 1882, and just twenty years ago the convention met in Nashville in annual session for the first time.

Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens has been widely complimented as a parliamentarian and a presiding officer of the best type, but after all it is as the sweet womanly woman that she is known and loved best. To meet her socially one can but be impressed with her womanliness, her strength of character, her high-mindedness and her gentleness. She is pleasing as a presiding officer, but she is delightful as a friend."

CONVENTION NOTES.

The election of officers elicited great interest, as it always does. The present officers were all re-elected, the votes being made unanimous. All made happy and impressive speeches expressive of their appreciation, Miss Gordon and Mrs. Stevens receiving quite an ovation.

Voting delegates, 462; on nominating ballot for president, total number of votes cast, 397; for Mrs. Stevens, 360; the others receiving votes were Miss Ensign, Mrs. Beauchamp, Mrs. Frances W. Graham and Miss Brehm. The secretary was instructed to cast the ballot of the convention for Mrs. Stevens, which was done, making her election unanimous. Mrs. Stevens responded graciously and eloquently, and thanked the convention for the great honor bestowed upon her.

Mrs. Susanna M. D. Fry was elected Corresponding Secretary, receiving 341 votes out of 396. Others receiving votes were Mrs. Scovel of Minn.; Mrs. Graham of New York; Mrs. Horning of Illinois; Mrs. Beauchamp of Kentucky and Miss Marie Brehm.

Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Anderson was elected Recording Secretary receiving 343 votes. Mrs. Harriet W. Brand was elected Treasurer. Of 389 votes cast 364 were for Mrs. Brand. With a few graceful remarks Mrs. Brand accepted the election and received beautiful flowers.

All the officers received flowers and some received presents. Indiana is proud and loyal to Mrs. Brand, whose ability is recognized by the National W. C. T. U. Mrs. Stevens nominated as her Vice-President, Miss Anna Gordon. Mrs. Anderson nominated as her assistant Recording Secretary, Mrs. Sara Hoge, of Virginia. These officers were both elected by a rising vote of the convention.

Miss Margaret Wintringer was elected L. T. L. Secretary by a handsome majority.

The entire convention was great! grand! The day sessions were largely attended and the evening meetings held in Ryman Hall, with a seating capacity of 4,000, were great rallies. Never has there been such interest and enthusiasm at any convention. President Stevens' address was masterful and eloquent. It should be read by every W. C. T. U. member. The Corresponding Secretary's report showed a gain of over 10,000 members and general advancement everywhere.

The following amendment was proposed by Miss Ensign of Ohio: "No general officer shall succeed herself in office for more than five consecutive terms, of one year each." There was a spirited debate of more than an hour. The ability of women in the delegations was shown in this debate, many of whom had not been heard from the platform.

The National will not limit the term of office. The amendment was lost by a large majority.

Temperance music was an inspiring feature of the convention. Mrs. Frances W. Graham, national musical director, of New York. Mrs. Graham has a strong contralto voice, and her baton was tied with a large bow of white ribbon.

Postmaster Wills located a postoffice station in the basement of the Presbyterian church for the benefit and convenience of the W. C. T. U. convention and placed a clerk in charge. All the facilities of the postoffice were furnished through this station and all the mail intended for the convention delivered there.

The address of Mrs. Armor, of Georgia, was second to none of its kind in the country, and was a repetition to a certain extent, of the style of Sam Jones. She stated that there was a tide in the lives of men, which taken at the ebb, leads to fortune. "This tide in the history of our country," she said, "is the great temperance wave that is now sweeping the liquor dealers from the map of the United States. One-half of the people in this country are living under the prohibition law. Let us raise a flag of purity and peace over a true land of the free and home of the brave, where the liquor trade is ground in the dust. Give us the money and we will agree to close every saloon in the country."

"I have been appointed to collect $10,000 for this noble work, to make Tennessee a prohibition State. You people are not accustomed to give enough of your money to God. You pay enormous prices for clothes, etc., and save only the remnants for Him who is everything to you."

Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, of Wisconsin, was the next to address the audience and took the subject, "Temperance Work Ahead." Mrs. Davis was the National W. C. T. U. representative to the Stockholm Anti-Alcohol congress, held last year, and has traveled through Europe investigating each country from the standpoint of temperance. She says that Norway is more nearly free from the drink evil and Belgium is the worst liquor-cursed country on earth. Her talk displayed thought and research in touching the problem of temperance from domestic and foreign viewpoints.

The last address was by Rev. Anna H. Shaw, national lecturer of the W. C. T. U. Miss Shaw at once went to the heart of the question and presented it logically. Her discourse was a remarkable combination of logic and eloquence which held the audience in rapt attention from the moment she took the platform. She argued that the only feasible solution of the world's problem of liquor traffic is legislation. "All other methods," continued the speaker, "have failed. Pledges only compound the sins of drink. Personal appeal has come to naught." She maintained that the women are responsible for all the strides made by temperance, that women are guaranteed the right to the positions they have taken by the divine right to motherhood. "The Diety never placed upon her the responsibility of motherhood and child-rearing without giving her the power to defend herself in her motherhood and protect her offspring in their rearing." Her words were fervid and of an eloquence that carried conviction, and at the close of her address the hall shook with tremendous applause.

FIELD NEWS

The "Canteen" question is being much written about. For information concerning the conditions send for a leaflet, "The Truth About the Canteen," by Brigadier-General A. S. Daggett. Price, single copy, three cents; per dozen twenty-five cents. Send in postage to Rev. R. C. Miller, P. O. Box 16, Hartford, Conn.

The DePauw Prohibition Oratorical Contest will be held on January 17th. The prize of twenty-five dollars is contributed by friends. Six students have already entered the contest. Every temperance man and woman who can possibly do so should attend this contest. Greencastle is cursed with saloons and if it is possible for young men to be educated along prohibition lines while there in school, they should be encouraged by the Greencastle citizens, residents of Putnam County and others near by.

Terre Haute Union makes the following report of work done the past year. It is a fine showing for a small Union, and much better than many large Unions can give: Social calls, 1,793; calls on sick, 1,921; bouquets given, 4,728; text cards, 538; visits to hospital, 15; tracts given, 150; money sent to India sufferers, $20; value of clothing sent to earthquake sufferers, $40; coal furnished, $7. Who can estimate the amount of cheer and comfort resulting from the work of these faithful white ribboners.

A red, white and blue reception was given by the W. C. T. U. of Lebanon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bratton, Tuesday evening, November 22d, to the new members and their husbands. The rooms of the Bratton home were most tastefully decorated in red, white and blue crepe paper.

The program, which was arranged by the victorious reds, was very much enjoyed by the large number present. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Raper and Mrs. Fannie Adams. Mrs. Mary L. Hendricks read a paper giving the history of the W. C. T. U. and its work. Little Frances Hendricks rendered a vocal solo as did Miss Gertrude Hendricks, both numbers being greatly appreciated. Mrs. Louella McKee, the local president, welcomed the new members most heartily. Miss Mae Gabriel, one of the new members, in a few well-chosen words, made response to the kindly welcome. The Rev. Mr. McKee rendered a vocal solo, which added to the enjoyment of the hour. Mrs. S. R. Artman in her usual happy manner gave a musical reading entitled, "De Walls am Comin' Down," with Miss Goldiene Groves at the piano. Following this Mrs. Henderson, assisted by her helpers, served refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, veal loaf, pickles and coffee. During this part of the evening's exercises the Rev. Mr. McKee acted as toastmaster, and the following toasts were given: "The Saloon vs. the Church," Will's Parker; "How the Honorary Members or Men can Assist the W. C. T. U.," Judge Samuel R. Artman; "Whiskey in Medicine," Dr. J. R. Ball. Judge Artman paid a glowing tribute to the organization and said that the credit for the great temperance reform rested largely with the women. The occasion was the result of the contest just closed in which the membership of the W. C. T. U. was enlarged from forty to one hundred and seven. The organization was divided into two divisions under the head of the Artman brigade. Mrs. Will Groves was the leader of the reds and Mrs. Henderson leader of the blues. The reds won by a plurality of ten; therefore according to previous agreement, the blues entertained the victors. Five years ago Lebanon had thirty saloons; one year ago fourteen saloons. Now they have two saloons and one of them goes out of business in March next and the other in April.

The Westfield W. C. T. U. has started in for another year's work with Maggie Cox as president, and new superintendents of the different departments of work. Mrs. Malissia Emry gave an interesting account of the State Convention, after which many declared they were willing to work harder the next year than in any previous one. Through the earnest efforts of our Sunday School Superintendent, Hamilton County brought the Sunday School banner back with her from the convention. She also held it last year. Mrs. Mary Sibbitts spoke to an appreciative audience at Westfield, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U.

The Campbellsburg Union held their first Matrons' Silver Medal Contest on Saturday evening, November 2d. The church was beautifully decorated with the stars and stripes; also our emblem, the white ribbon. Miss Willard's picture hung in a prominent place, draped in the white ribbon, mixed with "old glory." The platform was arranged with evergreens and cut flowers. There were five contestants, all dressed in pure white, and as some one was heard to say, "looking as if they were only girls of sixteen summers." A good audience was in attendance and seemed to thoroughly enjoy the speaking. The contestants all acquitted themselves with honor. The medal was awarded to Mrs. A. H. Chamberlain. The door receipts amounted to $11.90.

On November 4th we were so fortunate as to get a date with Mrs. Stanley. She came to us from Salem. She gave us a talk at two o'clock on Monday and also that same evening. She came to us just full of good things and her talks were well received at both meetings. She seemed to have infused new life into each one of us and as she went out from us we heartily said thank God for such a woman as Mrs. Stanley, and may the greatest success attend her. One new member, Mrs. Oscar Jones, was taken in at the night meeting. The Union feels strengthened by having her with us. The last saloon in Washington County was closed last night, November 4th, at midnight. The temperance people are rejoicing over their victory and are jubilant to think that the last black spot is at last removed from this fair little town of ours. We are eagerly looking forward to the changes for the better, which are sure to follow the removal of the saloons.

Eva Chamberlain.

Indianapolis Central begins the year with an increased membership of twenty. Our visiting committee, Miss Leck chairman, has been busy and we hope as a result to add still more to our numbers. We have a corps of superintendents of which any Union would be proud. Our Flower Mission Superintendent, Mrs. Poindexter, has two little helpers, Mildred Easter and Frances Willard Rockwood, who render efficient service. Our Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Norris, arranged for a series of meetings for Mrs. Trego at her church, one of which was a mothers' meeting. Ten new members were secured at these meetings. We have the promise of three temperance sermons on Universal Temperance Sunday, and have arranged to have pledge signing at three Sunday Schools. Our Medal Contest Superintendent, Mrs. Mary Brown, has held two medal contests, and has another class about ready. Our Evangelistic Superintendent, Mrs. Scheerer, has been serving as a King's Messenger during the M. E. Church revival meetings. She is also our Superintendent of Systematic Giving, and has held one meeting in the interest of that department, all of the members present, except two, were tithers. She also talked to the Epworth League on the same subject and made some converts.

Grant County—The meeting held in the West Branch Church on Sunday afternoon, November 17th, for the purpose of presenting Miss Frances E. Willard's picture to the seven public schools within a radius of the Deer Creek W. C. T. U. membership, certainly proved a grand success. The entire space was filled with an appreciative audience. All the teachers of the respective schools, except two were present, and gave short addresses of acceptance. Entertainment, songs and recitations were furnished by the different schools. The County Superintendent, Mr. Brumfiel and the Trustee of Sims Township, Mr. Macabe, gave excellent talks on methodical and influential lines. A high tribute was paid to the womanhood of this country. Woman has been in the fore front of moral reform in all ages. The County President, Mrs. Julia E. Shugart, spoke briefly of Miss Willard's life, followed in close connection by Miss Myrtle Drukemiller, Mrs. Sarah E. Thomas and others. The trend of thought throughout was the great influence or unnatural imprint that is so often brought about by impure pictures. Thus it was pronounced a very fitting tribute of honor that this strong and purifying influence could be placed before the children as an inspiration to high and noble living.

Our Editor, Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, on Thursday, November 7th, at Eastman's Sanitarium, submitted to a surgical operation and the word comes she is doing well. Let us pray for her recovery dear sisters, as we need capable women in our work to help us to victory.

The Indianapolis North-East W. C. T. U. held a very successful Gold Medal Contest, November 13th at the Methodist Church, corner of Twenty-Second Street and Arsenal Avenue, conducted by the local superintendent of contest work, Mrs. Cora Harper. Much interest was manifested and the house was full. Mr. H. B. Henderson, teacher of music, very kindly favored the audience with several madolin selections, and little Miss Nina Brigham sang "Heaven Won't be Heaven Without You, Dolly." The Misses Carlisle sang "Will the Angels Let me Play." The recitations were all so well delivered that it required very close marking by the judges to determine who was the winner; but after due consideration, the medal was presented, with a few well chosen remarks by Mrs. Mary Brown, superintendent of contest work for Marion County, to Miss Fay King, 2051 Lambert Street.

Howell—On Thursday afternoon the W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Martha Forcum. The meeting was opened by singing, then led in prayer by Mrs. Whitney. Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Barrett. The minutes were read by Mrs. Hicks. Mrs. Whitney read a good essay on the Thirty-Seventh Annual Convention at Lafayette, and it was very beautifully illustrated. The meeting was closed by prayer by Mrs. Martha Forcum. After the meeting was closed light refreshments were served and each one spent a pleasant afternoon.

The Stinesville W. C. T. U. is not often heard from, but is doing quite a great deal of work in our little town. We are deeply indebted to the good men for the removal of our two saloons. Rev. Atkins of Indianapolis is to give us a good rousing temperance lecture November 24th, at the Baptist Church. Mrs. L. C. Litten, contest superintendent, will hold a contest on the evening of November 23d, and we hope soon to have Mrs. Trego to lecture for us three evenings. We are glad to announce the arrival of two little ones in the homes of Sister Edwards and Sister Walker. It is our prayer that these little lives may be consecrated to the glorious cause of the "white ribbon."

Dearborn County held a very interesting and helpful meeting in Aurora, November 8th. At the morning session the State "Plan of Work" was discussed and adopted. A department work, Round Table, brought out many helpful suggestions. In the afternoon, Mrs. Sarah Evans gave a report of the State Convention and plans were laid for more aggressive work during the year just begun.

Mrs. A. E. Rynerson.

The Boswell Union gave a reception Saturday afternoon, November 2d, at the home of Mrs. Estella Smith, to the new members of the union. There were twenty-one regular members, nine new members of full membership, nine new associate members and eight guests, making a total of forty-seven persons present. The house was nicely decorated with the Union's colors, yellow and white. The guests were received by the officers, Mesdames Estella Smith, Edith Wright and Anna Eberly, after which refreshments were served. The house was then called to order by the president, and the new members were each presented with a pledge card and a bow of white ribbon. The names of Mrs. Lochie Laughlin and Miss Pleasant were given as new members, and that of Mary Samuel entered on the cradle roll. Rev. N. A. Chamberlain, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, gave an appropriate talk to the new members, closing with a fine tribute to the self-denial and loftiness of purpose of our former sainted leader, Miss Willard. Mr. Smith and Mrs. Ella Best delighted the guests during the afternoon with appropriate and beautiful selections on the pianola.

All indications are that the second primary Prohibition Oratorical contest of DePauw University, which will be held in McHarvey Hall, on Friday evening, January 17, 1908, will be one of the most spirited contests of the season. The interest in the temperance question among the students is increasing each day thus showing that the energetic work of the Prohibition League is already bearing fruit. The contest was to have been held in December of the fall term, but unforeseen events make it necessary for the date to be fixed on Friday evening, Jan. 17, 1908. Notwithstanding the postponement the six contestants previously announced will participate. A prize of $25.00 will be awarded to the winner. This prize was contributed by the following persons: Hon. Hugh Dougherty, Hon. Charles M. Lemon and Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter of Indianapolis; H. C. Allen of Greencastle and Mr. A. S. Prescott of Goshen, each giving $5 to the same. The successful man in this contest will represent DePauw University in the State contest to be held in Valparaiso the latter part of next February.

SOUTH BEND DRY.

At a meeting of the South Bend Milk-Dealers' Association, November 13th, most of the dealers agreed not to deliver any more milk on Sunday. The indications are that all of the dealers will join in the agreement, thus stopping every wagon in the city.

All scenic theaters in South Bend are now closed on the Lord's day.

ANDERSON, IND., JANUARY, 1908.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

DEPARTMENT OF WORK AMONG RAILROAD EMPLOYEES.

National Superintendent, Mrs. Evalyn N. Graham; National Evangelist, Miss Jennie E. Smith, 515 W. Franklin St., Baltimore, Md.; State Superintendent, Mrs. Anna Campbell, 405 Washington Avenue, Frankfort, Ind.

To the Workers in this Department:

Through your faithfulness, efficiency, sacrifice, and spirituality, and by the blessing of God, work among railway employees has grown greatly in influence and power.

This department developed by Miss Jennie Smith, was adopted by the National Union, it being the only society operating in this field which stands for total abstinence, civil prohibition and equal standard of morals for man and woman.

Each local union should appoint a local superintendent, these should, if possible, be women who have some social relations with railway men. Women whose hearts are filled with love for Christ and humanity, and who feel something of the burden of this work laid upon them.

The 121st Psalm is chosen as especially appropriate for railway men, going out in constant peril, "The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in."

The way-car or caboose is the home of many employees, and their equipment is urged as a specialty in work for local unions. Let individuals as well as societies push this needed work and furnish at least one caboose outfit, consisting of a rack for literature, to be replenished weekly. A rack for gospel hymns and Bible. Upon the fly leaves of the Bible inscribe the pledge and scripture texts, and mark throughout comforting passages to be quickly found in case of accident.

Equip engine-cabs in the same manner when permitted.

Place silent comforters in rooms of the sick and injured, and in railroad wards of hospitals.

Flower Mission.

Visit with flower mission service the sick and disabled in hospitals and in homes. Appoint regular visitors for railroad wards in hospitals. Show sympathy and respect by presence at funerals and in care for bereaved families. Floral emblems at funerals, tied with white ribbon and scripture text. Observe special days and holidays, and present flowers to railway employees.

Railway Reading Rooms, Restaurants and Lodgings.

Where railway reading and rest rooms are established and well regulated, they command the approval and gain substantial aid from railway officials, their employees, and the public in general. Some local unions have done remunerative work through well managed restaurants with lodgings as an adjunct to the reading room, and where no building is available, old cars have been painted, furnished and made home like, as reading, resting and lunch rooms, these often prevent recourse to intoxicants and other temptations. For saloons and houses of gambling and ill-fame are too often found in dangerous proximity to railway shops, yards and stations.

Cultivate acquaintance, socially, with families of railway men; if possible, hold parlor, and "mother's" meetings in their homes, inviting the women to meetings of the local unions, and the children to meetings of the Loyal Temperance Legion.

Work among traveling men, street-car men, policemen, firemen, men in the postal service, express and hack men, is placed in this department and should include lines of effort already recommended.

Women Employees.

Give attention to women in employ at stations, offices and restaurants, visit them, introducing them to helpful social and religious influences.

Hour of Prayer.

Each day at noontide. Especially pray for this department Tuesdays.

Meetings.

Permission given, hold meetings in shops, depots, transfer buildings and in construction camps, mass-meetings and cottage-meetings, with song service.

Public meetings should be held, addressed if possible by Pastors or Specialist.

Try and interest the railroad women for they have it in their power to aid the work of influencing and interesting those coming and going from their homes and boarding houses. We need the Christian influence of those who are so earnest in secular affairs.

Reports.

All superintendents are requested to keep an accurate account of all work done, classifying the same, and from which annual reports should be drawn.

Local and county superintendents should gather reports of meetings and work, with incidents worthy of preservation, and forward frequently to the State Superintendent, who will send items of work to State reporter of The Union Signal, and to the press, and other matter deemed suitable, to National Superintendent to enlarge and enrich literature of the department. Do not ignore blanks when sent.

Where possible, carry work under W. C. T. U. banner.

FURNISHING MEMORIAL FOR HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

At a meeting of the Indiana W. C. T. U. Trustees, held December 2, 1907, a provision was made whereby any local union or individual, contributing $10.00 annually for furnishing and keeping in order a bedroom, will be entitled to the furnishing memorial for that room. The same to be indicated by a neatly framed tablet bearing the name of the Union or of the individual. This tablet is to be placed in the room.

A memorial of $5.00 annually was placed on each single bed in the dormitory and hospital. This memorial to be indicated by a tablet in a similar way to that of the memorial for the room.

Many of the rooms which were furnished simply, yet beautifully, in the beginning must now be refurnished, wholly or in part. While the amounts named will not do this at once, it is estimated that in the run of years, it will, with careful buying and with the reductions which can be secured by purchasing in large numbers or quantities.

The Trustees are confident that there are many local unions and also many individuals in the State who will be glad to furnish a room or a bed on the plan named.

Send all money to the State Treasurer, Miss Clara M. Sears, Anderson, Ind.

By order of Indiana W. C. T. U. Trustees.

NORMAL INSTITUTES.

Dear Sisters:

Many of you will, I know, be looking for the schedule and program of Institutes in the January Message. As the program is not completed I have thought it best to keep back the schedule and publish both in the February Message.

In the meantime may I ask each one of you to plan and work so that this season our Institutes may surpass both in number and influence any past season. I would like to hear from every County President regarding her plans. Dear White Ribboners we must make a special effort this coming year to increase our membership and gain subscriptions to the Union Signal and Crusader Monthly. In no way is our influence so far reaching as during our Institutes if we plan wisely and well.

The wave of temperance sentiment that is sweeping over the country and has reached, and touched our own beloved Indiana, gives us opportunities beyond any in past years. Let us make the most of them, and use them for the protection of the homes of our State. The Plan of Work for this department has just reached me, and before the January issue reaches you, will be in your hands.

Please try and work to it and write me at once. With every good wish for a Happy, Prosperous and Blessed New Year, I am

Lovingly yours to serve,

Rose Pearce,
State Supt. Institutes.

Mrs. Cora Strack,
Flower Mission Supt.

When we remember that in this twentieth century only twenty per cent. of the young men ever darken a church door, and that only about 2½ per cent. of these are actively engaged in Christian work, it would seem that something ought to be done.

Twenty years ago in San Francisco they had 200 flourishing churches which were well attended. At the time of the earthquake, notwithstanding the increase in population by the thousands during the twenty years, they had 160 churches and 3,400 saloons licensed by the people. The saloons caused forty churches to die and to go out of existence. And one of the largest remaining churches has lost 50 per cent in membership and spiritual power. In Northern California there is a town with 150 legalized saloons and twelve churches.

A visit to the liquor cafes in Los Angeles one night found 350 girls and 600 boys drinking liquors in three places; only three. On another night, (Sunday), four places were visited, and found 391 girls, some from the best families, drinking liquor. One was the daughter of one of the pastors of the city, who was preaching that night in his pulpit. The girl could not have been remonstrated with for she was patronizing one of the places her father had voted to permit to do business. Every man who votes for the nominee of any party that licenses the liquor traffic, becomes, himself, by his vote, a party to the liquor business and the results which it brings.

National W. C. T. U. Convention, 1908, Denver, Colorado, October 16-21.

Indiana Mid-Year Executive will meet at Lebanon, during the first week in April.

Now is the time to decide to attend the National W. C. T. U. Convention at Denver. The trip will be fine. Colorado gives the right of suffrage to women. Decide now to go to Denver next fall and take your son or daughter with you.

Mid-Year Executive Meeting is of great importance. The membership is as follows: The Board of State Trustees, which includes the five general officers and four others; the Branch Secretaries; editor of State paper; President and Secretary of the Board of State Superintendents and the President of each county. Everyone of these persons should attend without fail. The county presidents should be sent by their counties. Every county president should be able to report at least three newly organized unions at the Mid-Year Meeting.

County Institutes—Indiana has been greatly benefited by the County Institute plan. At no time in the history of Indiana W. C. T. U. has there been such an opportunity for holding great institutes. As soon as the time and place for the County Institute is decided upon, advertise and advertise. Consider how much is accomplished in the commercial world by advertising. Then consider if you please, how much advertising is done by the theatrical people and with what results. If our W. C. T. U. people would advertise their county institutes, conventions and conferences great indeed would be the results. Expensive advertising is not always the most effective. Printing posters and hand bills do not cost much money and they certainly help to interest many in the subject mentioned, especially if they are used some time in advance. It is belittling to the cause to plan for a county meeting of any kind and then fail to widely announce and advertise. For any kind of a County W. C. T. U. meeting advertising should begin four weeks before the time set. A write up of plans for meeting and place of holding with names of prominent speakers should be sent to the county newspapers three weeks in advance. Following this practical announcements through the columns of the newspapers, special letters and invitations to women's organizations, young peoples' societies and to church organizations should be sent several weeks previous to the date of the meeting. A generous and businesslike use of posters and hand bills up to the last day is indispensable. Personal letters of invitation to educators, ministers and men holding local and county offices should be sent, signed by the county president and county recording secretary. For this latter purpose nicely printed cards are used by some organizations; with these should be enclosed a printed program of the meeting. In order that the Indiana County Institutes, Conventions and Conferences may this year be instrumental in bringing great victories for our cause, every local union should decide to help as never before. For your County institute the local presidents should now help the county president to decide definitely about plans and committees for the county. There is great need of a county advertising committee. This should be composed of an energetic capable woman from each union, to serve with a prompt, efficient county officer.

The most prominent and influential men and women in educational and philanthropic work in every county of Indiana should this year be on our W. C. T. U. Institute, Convention and Conference programs. The best musicians of our counties should this year be secured for our W. C. T. U. county programs. Invite them individually and invite the best quartettes, and orchestras to help us. Whenever possible invite them many weeks ahead and furnish temperance music for them when practical. Get newspaper cuts of the institute leader and as many others who will be on the program as possible, including the prominent musicians and use these ahead of time in the newspapers with a short personal. To successfully do these things will require weeks of time. Great results must follow our County Institutes. In order that this be accomplished great plans and much work must be done before the institute is held. All Indiana for Prohibition! Now is the time to work and plan for our greatest year's work!

NOTES FROM THE CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.

Madison Union reports 200 members enrolled. Ft. Wayne reports forty new members.

Mrs. Mary Sibbitt, who gave Indiana several weeks of very efficient service, closed her work at Morgantown, December 20th, and returned to her Kansas home for a rest through the holidays. A Connersville paper called her a "cyclone of mother love backed by enthusiasm." She held a great meeting at Portland on the afternoon of Sunday, December 8th, at which she plainly told the men their duty on the saloon question. She then solicited funds for the prosecution of the work and raised $121.82. Mrs. Sibbitt has promised to return to our State if possible for two months work in the spring. Those wishing her services may write your State Corresponding Secretary, and your application will be kept on file.

Mrs. R. J. Trego, who has been in our State since September 8th, closed her work in Wells County, December 20th, and returned home for the holidays, after which she is to go east for a few weeks. Mrs. Trego has won many friends in our State, who will be glad to welcome her back.

One new Union has been organized in each of the following counties since State Convention: Huntington, Hamilton, Jay, Blackford, Rush, Vermillion. If any other unions have been organized in the State please report the names and addresses of the officers to the State Corresponding Secretary.

The work of the year has started out with great promise. Many encouraging reports come to my desk. Many letters say, "our delegates to the State Convention come home full of enthusiasm and give splendid reports." We had a great convention and the inspiration of it has been felt all over the State. It has given our work new life. Let us keep this inspiration throughout the year. We have a great cause, and a leader "who was never foiled in battle." Victory is sure if each one is faithful to duty.

Mary E. Woodard.

EVANGELISTIC DEPARTMENT.

Beloved Co-Workers:

Just a few words of New Year's greeting to remind you that you are lovingly remembered by your State Superintendent. I wish I could sit down by you for a little while and talk over the work with you and of your own heart experiences. How is it? Are you fully given up to do the Master's will, no matter what that is? Do you rest in Him? And do you enjoy His blessed companionship and fellowship? I trust you do, and that you are daily feeding upon the Heavenly manna and "growing in grace and in the knowledge of God." I have not yet received Miss Greenwood's annual leaflet. As soon as I do I will endeavor to get it to you with my own leaflet. I think she may have some new suggestions, which I may wish to emphasize. I have a number of her last year's leaflet on hand. If anyone has failed to receive this please let me know and I will send it to you. If I can serve you in any way let me know and I will do anything in my power to aid you. Can you not arrange for a week's Gospel Temperance meetings? Let us make this the best year in our work for the salvation of souls and for the temperance cause. Let us daily pray for each other and the work. With love and best wishes for a "Happy New Year," I am

Faithfully yours,

E. M. Haughton.

STATE TRUSTEES MEETING.

The Board of Trustees met in Indianapolis, at The Bertha Ballard, December 2d, at 10 a. m. All members of the Board were present. After Scripture reading and prayer by Rev. Vayhinger, the business of the day was at once taken up. Reports from Miss Mary Woodard, Corresponding Secretary, regarding the work since the State Convention were most encouraging. Many calls for speakers and organizers reported.

The State President strongly urged the need of working for an increase in membership and in subscriptions to the Union Signal and Crusader Monthly. Plans were laid to further same. Letter from the Secretary of Winona was read, and on motion the program for W. C. T. U. day at Winona, 1908, was framed.

Reports from our Hadley Industrial School were encouraging.

An invitation to hold the Mid-Year meeting at Lebanon was accepted. This meeting will be held during the first week in April, and will be of one and one-half days' duration, meeting on the first day at two p. m. After a full day of business meeting adjourned at 5:15 p. m.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE.

I was very much surprised and disappointed, in looking through the minutes, to find that fewer than half the counties have superintendents of this department. Now dear sisters this is one of the important departments in our work and I hope many new superintendents may be added to the list at once. Send me the names and addresses and I will help them all I can.

Our work in this department is only begun. We have the law, we have the text book, but are the required number of lessons taught? There is something for you to find out. The "Conn" text books are adopted and are pretty generally in the hands of the pupils. But these reach only as low as the fourth grade.

What are the primary teachers doing? Have they anything to do with them? These are some of the points for us to be working on.

I now have law cards which may be had at ten cents per dozen. Mrs. Cammack Gibson's Temperance Programs may also be had from me at five cents each, or six for twenty-five cents. My plan is ready and will be sent out with samples of literature to those whose names and addresses I have, and others who may apply. Send to Crusader Monthly, Evanston, Ill., for sample copies. Let us do with our might what our hands find to do.

(Mrs.) Ethel E. Bair,

North Liberty, Ind. Supt. St. Joseph County.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

Dear Comrades:

As the blessed Christmas tide draws near I want to send each one who wears the white ribbon a word of love and good cheer. Since my last message to you I have visited several unions and found all of them with an increased membership this first quarter. I find it much easier to enlist both men and women in our work now than ever before, for they begin to realize that we are going to win. I have had one service for the Vayhinger Union of Indianapolis, the past quarter; two for Eaton, where I secured ten new members. They have voted their saloons out there and our forces are jubilant. They are now turning their attention to "blind-tigers" that seem to crouch along the streets. But the good people are not so much afraid of a blind-tiger as they are afraid of the argos-eyed devil of the licensed saloon.

I went to Hartford City in the afternoon and had a fine audience—got six members. The largest union in the State was present in a body, with our fearless General Stahl at its head.

At Connersville I found the churches putting on new hope because of their increased success since they lined up for prohibition. They don't say "temperance" over there any more, but are out for prohibition. I was at College Corner in my own county, Sabbath evening. Had a fine audience, all the churches uniting. Our women there had been sewing last week with a sick sister and caring for a poor family who were drifting over this chilly earth because of misdirected energy. I now go to Celina, Ohio, for a Christmas service. They are disgusted with high license.

Yours for victory in 1908.

Elizabeth T. Stanley.

When we remember that of the 16,000,000 young men in the United States 10,500,000 of them have already contracted the drink habit, it would seem that it was time that something was being done.

DEPARTMENT OF MORAL EDUCATION.

Dear Sisters:

You see the National has changed our name from Mothers' Meetings to Moral Education. No doubt some of you will soon be writing for Plan of Work. I pray that we may all take on new energy in view of the great victories coming our way. As mothers and homekeepers we cannot afford to be indifferent to the evils of impurity blighting the lives of so many young people and bringing sorrow to so many homes. In order to counteract these evils and establish a single standard of purity for men and women, we must enlist all the forces we can rally, and do our work as unto the Lord. Please, will every County Superintendent write to every local union in her county, and if there is no local superintendent urge the appointment of one at once. Emphasize the importance of keeping a record of all work done. We want to inspire the county superintendent to be more persistent in her efforts to secure more and better reports from local unions. County Superintendents have said there is no place for me to report. We are going to have one, and as soon as out I will send to every County Superintendent whose name and address I can get in the directory or otherwise.

To Local Superintendents: First secure a small blank book; don't keep it blank, but record in figures the number of all meetings held, sermons preached, pledges signed, and every page of literature distributed, in fact, all work done in any branch of this department. Urge the thorough distribution of good, pure literature, and the circulation of "American Motherhood," a most excellent magazine which can be ordered from your State Superintendent, or Crist, Scott & Parshall, Cooperstown, New York. Price $1.00 per year. No superintendent who has that book in hand will be at a loss for material for a mothers' meeting. My leaflet explains how to begin as well as I can tell you. I will send a moderate supply to all superintendents who apply with stamps for postage. If possible establish a circulating library of choice purity books.

Secure the curfew ordinance in your town, unless you have it, and if so work for its enforcement. We must strive to save the boys and girls who are congregating about the railroad stations and roving the streets after dark. Twenty thousand of such as these are now in our reform schools, and 2,000,000 are arrested every year in the United States. The White Ribbon Cradle Roll is now called the "White Ribbon Recruits" and no work is more hopeful. Push this branch, for through it we enlist mothers who cannot be otherwise interested, and this little army of recruits will soon fill our places. The plan of the W. C. T. U. does not call for any dues. It is well however, to ask the mother to make a freewill offering on each birthday of the child to the local superintendent to aid in providing literature for the mother to help her in training her child. Our National Superintendent wrote me just before the National Convention that we "stood a good chance to get the National Banner." If all work done had been reported the banner doubtless would have come to Indiana, but you forgot. May our Heavenly Father help us all to do our best.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl, State Supt.

PROPORTIONATE AND SYSTEMATIC GIVING.
Dear Comrades:

It seems impossible to attend such a magnificent gathering as the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, without being filled with the same spirit and enthusiasm, and hopes for the future success of the cause we love. Every superintendent desires that her department be the best. As State Superintendent of Proportionate and Systematic Giving, I wish to urge the great importance of having County as well as Local Superintendents, and will you kindly send names at once? Please note the subjects in the Model Program sent out by the State and carry out the program. Please take first Sunday in April for ministers to preach on the subject, if they will, and may the seed sown bring forth abundant harvest. Lovingly yours,

Mrs. Tilman Hobson.

The Ladies of the W. C. T. U. of College Corner, met at the home of Mrs. Margaret Harvey, December 5th, and had a sewing for the benefit of Mrs. Charley Harvey, who has sickness in the family. The ladies made eight garments besides many other helpful things they did. Mrs. Harvey appreciated their kindness. God bless them and may the good work go on.

Mrs. Stanley, our State Vice-President, delivered an address in the M. E. Church of College Corner, Sunday evening, Dec. 15th, it being a union series. There was a large attendance. All who listened to her address felt that the liquor problem was indeed the great question before the people today. She gave a fine report of the National Convention at Nashville.

The South Dakota State Committee is out with its 1908 campaign announcement, which involves an "on to the Legislature" movement, and the endorsement of the State-County Prohibition law.

FIELD NEWS

Madison—Mrs. Mary Sibbitt, of Wichita, Kansas, gave an address at a mothers' meeting on the afternoon of November 19th, at the Christian Church, giving a heart to heart talk to the women. She compared the W. C. T. U. to a great tent, with forty ropes, and the white ribbon army holding tight and fast each rope, when by and by the great tent would open up and we would have a prohibition tent under which to raise our girls and boys. At the close of the talk, twenty-one mothers came forward and joined the ranks of the white ribbon army. At night Mrs. Sibbitt spoke to a large audience at the Court House, the men of the G. A. R. attending in a body. She expressed her love for these grand men, who by their sacrifices had been made possible the freedom which we now enjoy. She also spoke to the women of the Women's Relief Corps, encouraging them to continue in their noble work of brightening the path way of the dear old veterans. At the close of the meeting seven more names were enrolled, most of them being men who joined the ranks of the white ribbon army. Mrs. Sibbitt certainly proved herself a lecturer of great ability, and is an inspiration to those who hear her on the grand old subject, "temperance."

Jennie D. Simpson.

Decatur County—Mrs. Mary F. Sibbitt of Kansas visited our county during November, and conducted a series of meetings. Arriving at Greensburg on November 20th, she held a mothers' meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of one of our members, which despite the unfavorable weather, was well attended. In the evening she spoke at the New Point. The following evening she lectured at St. Paul in the Methodist Church. A number of our local union attended, going by the interurban line. On Friday afternoon, accompanied by our county president, she conducted a meeting at Sandusky, one of our neighboring villages, where there is a small union, and Friday evening delivered her splendid lecture, "David and Goliath," as her text, to an interested and appreciative audience at the Presbyterian church in our city, Greensburg. At the close of the meeting five new members and one honorary was added to our local union. All who had the pleasure of hearing her were deeply interested in her earnestness, and we feel that she is a power indeed in the temperance cause and will gladly welcome her again.

Mrs. Lillie B. McKim.

Danville is supposed to be dry, after a long fight. The people here did not realize that while they had "slept the enemy had sown tares." When the remonstrance was up they thought there was such a strong temperance sentiment here that there was no danger but what there would be enough signers, but failed to prove it in Commissioners Court, when the case was tried before Judge Allen. By hard work it was proven that there were six majority in favor of remonstrance. Thank the Lord. Remonstrances in Liberty and Union townships were too strong to be questioned. The W. C. T. U. held their county convention at Avon, September 27th. The old officers were selected. We had a good contest at night, a house full. A lad of Mooresville got the prize.

Rhoda McClain.

Evansville—We were much pleased to have our dear white ribbon sister, Mrs. Trego, with us for a few days, as she was returning from the National. I enclose a clipping from the Evansville Journal-News. Mrs. Trego is an earnest Christian worker and a woman that reaches the hearts of her hearers. I wish it had been possible for every mother in Evansville to have been present at our parlor meeting. We hope to have her again. May God bless her in her work for the boys and girls of our nation.

"The lecture on 'Darkest America,' given by Mrs. R. J. Trego, national evangelist of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Monday night at Evans Hall, was one of the most interesting and instructive of the kind that has been given in Evansville. The lecture was illustrated with stereopticon views, all taken from life and illustrating most forcibly the points of the speaker's address. 'Darkest America's' cloud appears as the liquor traffic, and the evils of dissipation were well shown in picture views of the stomachs of the occasional drinker, the moderate drinker and of the drunkard. Many other views were given showing the physical, moral and financial effects of intemperance. The lecture was enjoyed by a fairly good audience.

"Mrs. Trego has made three addresses in Howell and two in Evansville, and goes now to Northern Indiana for several days work before returning to her home in Cleveland, Ohio. She has been attending the National W. C. T. U. convention in Nashville."

Mary B. Jenner.

Mary B. Jenner.

At Elwood Sunday afternoon, December first, was a great day for the W. C. T. U. The big temperance mass meeting held in the wigwam, which has a seating capacity of 7,000, was the best and most enthusiastic gathering of the kind ever held in the city and shows that the temperance workers are not asleep. The meeting was announced for three o'clock, but the crowd began to assemble long before that hour and by the time the first speaker was introduced the hall was well filled. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Sarah Adair, the local W. C. T. U. president. There was an orchestra composed of the orchestras of the Christian and the M. E. Sunday Schools. After singing "America," followed by Scripture reading and prayer, Miss Hook sang a temperance solo, and the "Kansas Cyclone," as Mrs. Sibbitt is called, held the audience with a voice that was full of power, reaching to all parts of the big room, and presenting arguments backed by statistics, that none could gainsay. Space would forbid a full review of this masterful presentation of the reason why the licensed saloons should be abolished. To get the best results one must hear this talented lady, who is devoting her life to this movement, and who views the situation at this time as the most encouraging of any period since the Government began sharing in the profits of this infamous business. Rev. I. S. Wade, of Lafayette, followed Mrs. Sibbitt in a rousing address, and although he started out saying that after the cyclone there is a calm, yet it proved to be anything but a calm for he had the closets attention of that large audience, late though it was, and he was accorded generous applause. He was so filled with the message he brought us that he could not waste a moment of his time, but continued speaking amidst the applause. Rev. Wade has had a wide experience in this line of work and his address was a power for good in the Elwood crusade that is to persist until our city is rid of the places that deal out want, woe and ruin to so many homes. The male quartette furnished a very appropriate number and was well received by the enthusiastic audience.

Taken altogether that Sunday meeting was one long to be remembered and the results will be of untold benefit to Elwood. Surely no one who heard the pathetic incidents related by the speakers could longer hesitate as to their duty.

One thing is certain that there is no longer any neutral grounds, and no timid ones need try to hide behind such an excuse. Mrs. Sibbitt addressed a large audience at the M. E. Church in the evening. A large number of women and gentlemen put on the white ribbon.

The Frankfort Union has defeated one saloon keeper and he will close his place December 26th. Only one! But it was one of the worst, for there the boys were enticed and led astray. We had five temperance sermons World's Temperance day. The union accepted the invitation of Dr. Melear, pastor of the M. E. Church to attend in a body, and listened to one of the most forceful temperance sermons ever delivered from that pulpit. Dr. Melear not only preaches and prays for the temperance work, but he wears the white ribbon and votes as he preaches and prays. Mrs. Emma Saylor spoke at the U. B. Church in the morning at the Sunday School hour on "Home versus the Saloon," and also conducted a silver medal contest at the M. E. Church, at the Sunday School hour in the afternoon. Pledge cards were signed in all the Sunday Schools. Three of our members belong to the State Board of Charities and assist Judge Claybaugh in the Juvenile Court. Through the influence we have the curfew law enforced. Our press superintendent writes for two of our daily papers, and also writes other articles, besides announcing special meetings and reporting all the regular meetings.

Mrs. Jennet Amelia Gilmore of Bloomington writes a personal letter to the editor: "My health has been very poor. I have sold out and am going to Los Angeles, California, the last of the week. I am all alone. I feel very sad at parting; over thirty-four years in the W. C. T. U. work. I helped my pastor's wife to organize the Crusade forces. I have been all through the campaign. I am about alone now; they have nearly all passed over am alone now; they have nearly all passed over the river that were in the first ranks. I served nineteen years as County Superintendent of Literature, and held other offices. I have done what I could to advance the cause; I spared neither money nor time, and I can assure you it makes me feel very sad to leave. It was my husband's wish that I go for my health. I said it was sad to go alone into a strange place. He said you go into your W. C. T. U. work and into your church work and you will make friends. My wish is that God's richest blessing may be on Indiana W. C. T. U. I would like to have the Message to know how you are getting on. Remember me to all my friends.

The Balbec Union enjoyed one of Mrs. Sibbitt's good lectures on the evening of November 28th. Mrs. Sibbitt delivered eight or ten lectures in our county and we believe much good was accomplished.

Another item that should have been reported earlier was a season social given by the Balbec

Union on the evening before the State Convention. It was held at the home of the President, Mrs. Edmundson, and was a success socially and financially. Four booths were arranged and decorated to represent the four seasons. Each booth was furnished with tables and the young lady waiters were kept busy serving refreshments. At the spring booth were sold chicken sandwiches and coffee; summer, ice cream and cake; autumn, pumpkin pie and milk; winter oysters. The pumpkin pie, cakes and milk were donated by the Union.

The Bremen W. C. T. U. observed World's Temperance Sunday by using the Sunday School Temperance Pledge cards in the Sunday Schools. We received a good number of pledge signatures in the morning. In the afternoon we held a special temperance meeting, which was well attended, the auditorium of the church being filled and a very good interest shown in the temperance work.

Mrs. Matilda E. Berg.

The Stinesville W. C. T. U. had the pleasure of having Mrs. Trego, who held a mothers' meeting and gave a very inspiring lecture. Her talks at the public schools were very entertaining as well as instructive. Four ladies of this union visited the schools and presented Miss Willard's picture, books and literature. The gentlemen's silver medal contest with Mrs. L. C. Litten in charge, was largely attended. The church looked very pretty decorated with white and yellow and with ferns. Miss Willard's picture hung at the back of the platform draped with a large white bow. The medal was awarded Mr. Sylvester Hoadley, whose whole soul seemed to be centered in the good he can do in this temperance cause. The other contestants did well and were given carnations. The Union will hold a handkerchief and fancy candy bazaar December 21st.

Seymour—Dec. 11th, a good attendance; excellent music and a very enjoyable social half hour, with a very interesting program at the meeting of the W. C. T. U. at the residence of Mrs. W. C. Black. Important business was transacted and one new member added to the Union. Nov. 28th an interesting meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Wylie. Roll call responses, "Reasons for W. C. T. U. Thanksgiving," Reading, "My Mother Taught Me," Mrs. Short; "Licensed Saloon Unconstitutional," Mrs. Hadley; "Progress of the W. C. T. U. in the Last Decade," Mrs. Hoffman; Mandolin music by Miss Gertrude Wylie.

From South Bend daily press, sent to Message by Mrs. Caroline Fassuacht—"A very fine temperance rally was observed at the First Baptist Church Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., that organization and the city Sunday Schools joining forces. The attendance was very large, nearly every Sunday School in the city being represented in addition to the temperance unions. A programme of exceptional merit was presented and enthusiasm was of a high order. Rev. M. C. Beale, superintendent of the St. Paul's Memorial M. E. Church, presided. Superintendents of the different Sunday Schools occupied seats upon the rostrum. Remarks were made by city ministers and others interested in the cause of temperance. The programme also included dialogues, readings and recitations by members of the different schools. The First Methodist and the First Presbyterian orchestras furnished music. Vocal numbers also added to the effectiveness of the programme. Pledge cards were passed before the close of the meeting and many signed."

"The Auditorium annex was filled to overflowing with an enthusiastic audience Sunday evening at the concluding lecture of Dr. N. W. Tracy, the noted temperance evangelist. The services were conducted by the W. C. T. U. A quartette sang two beautiful selections. The series of lectures just closed are considered the finest of their kind ever given in South Bend and the W. C. T. U. is gratified over the deep interest in temperance and reform which they have advanced in this city. Dr. Tracy has gone to Plymouth, Ind., where he will deliver his course of lectures under the auspices of the ministerial association of that city."

Columbus Union is sorry to report the going out of one of the charter members. Sister Eliza B. Veach passed to the great beyond November 24th. She was not able to attend our meetings for quite a while before her death, but her prayer and sympathies were always with us.

Mrs. S. W. Buxton.

Blackford County—Mrs. S. M. Stahl, County President and also local president of the Hartford City Union, with Mrs. O. P. Sample went to Mill Grove, Friday, December 6th, and organized a W. C. T. U. with eighteen members and a good prospect for more. It was through the earnest effort of Miss Forest Andrews that the union was organized and she was elected president. Miss Andrews is a very devoted Christian and will push the work. Rev. and Mrs. Price kindly opened their home for the meeting and also became members. Mill Grove has no saloons but the good sisters wish to line up and help in great fight. Hartford City has twenty-three saloons, but the fight is on and they will have to go. As you have not heard from our city for some time I wish to say we are not asleep, but have had Mrs. Sibbits of Kansas, James M.

Dawson, of Indianapolis, Rev. Beard of Eaton, our own Mrs. Stahl, and Mrs. Stanley, all to give addresses recently. Judging from our large audiences and generous collections (if nothing more) they were very much appreciated. We are creating public sentiment.

Mrs. Sample, Press Reporter.

South Bend Dry—At a meeting of the South Milk Dealers' Association, November 13th, most of the dealers agreed not to deliver any more milk on Sunday. The indications are that all of the dealers will join in the agreement, thus stopping every wagon in the city. All scenic theatres in South Bend are now closed on the Lord's Day.

Howard County—South Kokomo W. C. T. U. held a social November 12th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hillis, with a short program, consisting of song, Scripture reading, prayer, talks by Revs. Shoemaker and Golt, recitation by Mrs. Tate, song by four young girls and motion song by two small children. The hostess Mrs. Albright, Mrs. Keck and Mrs. Spurlin served refreshments, while there was music by the graphophone. Thursday, Nov. 14, there was a meeting of Supts. of departments at Phlox. The departments considered were Purity in Literature and Art, Anti-Narcotics, Peace and Arbitration, Law and Statistics, Evangelistic, Jail and Prison Work. Much interest was manifested and much good work planned for the coming year.

H. M. Arnold, Co. Press Supt.

Elwood—Tuesday evening, Dec. 3d, there was an interesting, interdenominational meeting held with a large attendance. Rev. R. Loyd Roberts of the Congregational Church, presiding. The enthusiasm was great. One minister in his address stated that he had voted an independent ticket, but from this on, if he lived to be ninety years old, he would vote for straight Prohibition. It was decided to at once organize a permanent temperance league, which should have control of the work, and act according to the best knowledge of the present conditions. Officers were elected as follows: President, F. E. Thomas; Vice President, Sarah J. Adair; Second Vice-President, J. R. Elliott; Secretary, Fred. Buchanan; Treasurer, Rev. Fred. Clark, of the M. E. Church. It was requested that the outline of the plans be made public. There will be a remonstrance started in all of the wards and townships in a short time. This movement was started by the Elwood W. C. T. U. There will be no stop until a clean sweep is made and this will be done if we are able to carry out our plans.

Sarah Adair.

The Monroe County W. C. T. U. held its convention in the Christian Church yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Susan Russel presided at the request of Mrs. Beck, president. The reports for the last year were encouraging. The election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. A. J. Sieben-thal, president; Mrs. Bert. Hoadley, Stinesville, vice-president; Mrs. Von Behren, recording secretary; Mrs. Litton, Stinesville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Maude Luzzader, Smithville, treasurer. Superintendents of departments were elected as follows: Mrs. Henry Dodds, mothers' meetings; medical temperance, Mrs. T. J. Clark; press, Mrs. H. T. Kitson; contest work, Mrs. Russell; equal suffrage, Mrs. Berry; soldiers' and sailors' Mrs. Lena Beck. A gold medal contest was held in the evening with four contestants. Mrs. Boyle, Cecil Botkins of Smithville, Mrs. Bert Hoadley and Lena Krebs of Stinesville. Mrs. Hoadley was winner of the medal. Mrs. Adams, of Morgantown, gave a very interesting report of the national convention lately held at Nashville, Tenn.

The Salem W. C. T. U. meeting on December 3d was both entertaining and instructive. A large majority of the members and several visitors were present. Quarterly reports and talks along their special lines of work were given by the respective superintendents of the following departments: Literature, Purity, Franchise, Sabbath Observance, Press Work and Parliamentary Usage. The subject, "Resolved, That women being, if not more interested in the welfare of the children, should be allowed to vote on equal terms with men," was interestingly discussed.

Our Superintendent of Franchise Mrs. Lucretia Prow, led in the discussion, producing unanswerable argument in support of the assertion, proving that the welfare of the children, and consequently of the nation, demands the full enfranchisement of the women of the nation. This was our twelfth discussion on woman suffrage during the year, and at the close, our president, who at the beginning was not at all in favor of it, and who suggested the discussion that she might become better informed on the subject, announced herself as now being in favor of women voting. She said she would vote if she had a chance. Two or three others who had not been right sure whether they were in favor of equal suffrage for women or not, announced that they were now decidedly favorable thereof.

On adjournment a guest recited a touching poem, with good effect, after which the hostess, Mrs. Lizzie Clark and daughter, served refreshments, among which were ham sandwiches tied with our emblem of membership. There was a feeling that this had been the most enjoyable as well as the most beneficial of our meetings during the year. The visitors were so well pleased with it that four of them donned the white ribbon.

We had Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley with us Saturday night and Sunday night, November 2d and 3d. On Saturday evening she gave a short address and a reading in the Baptist church, to a moderately sized, but very appreciative audience. She spoke at the Blue River Friends Church on Sunday morning. This is about two miles out. Here she held a large audience with marked attention for more than an hour. At the close of the meeting, everybody apparently wanted to shake hands with her and bid her God speed in the cause. Several of our Union drove out to this meeting. Her address and high appreciation thereof by the intelligent audience, made us feel very thankful for the W. C. T. U. On all hands such remarks as this: "Wasn't that fine?" That was the grandest thing I ever heard." They said to us, "I reckon you are proud of Mrs. Stanley." We answered we should think we are proud of her. The several pastors of the Salem churches joined in arranging for a union meeting at the Christian Church here on Sunday evening, to hear Mrs. Stanley's reading, "At the Mercy of the State." The house was crowded to the utmost, even standing room was at a premium. It is estimated that at least 600 were present. It was a grand success.

Local Supt. Press Work.

Colorado Prohibitionists are carrying on a strenuous inter-campaign agitation. For the first three months seven field workers have been devoting their entire time to the party movement. The Robley Quartet who have captivated nearly 20,000 people during the last four months, will close their engagement with the State Committee, November 21st, State Chairman Reinhardt states that this year the funds from all quarters is more than has been received in any year since he has been in the State. The hearty cooperation of the W. C. T. U. in many sections has encouraged the party workers.

IN MEMORIAM.

Richmond Frances E. Willard Union mourns the death of one of the staunchest, truest sisters, Mrs. Caroline C. Hodgins. Her life was positively for all good. For many years she served God, the W. C. T. U. and the cause of Peace with fearlessness and loyalty. At the beginning she was a member of the Trustees of our Hadley Industrial School. So long as health and strength permitted she did what she could.

February 22d Unions should hold Public Meetings or Oratorical Contests.

FOR MARCH 20—PROHIBITION DAY.

Now is the time in which to lay plans for big mass meetings, engage speakers and arrange for High License debates, engage the Opera House, or the biggest auditorium in town. Secure the services of the best orchestra.

Ask the Sunday Schools to each furnish a great chorus of temperance music, their Superintendents to assist them. Get the best one or two speakers possible.

Announce—advertise—put up posters everywhere. Send posters out to be used along the roads. Send small bills in quantities to every section of the community. Keep many lines of black faced type announcements in the papers.

For weeks keep up the advertising and when the great day comes the people will be there. Arrange for the proper person to take a $500.00 collection for the work in town and township. The W. C. T. U. can do much if it will swing out on the promises of God.

"Fifty Thousand Members and Ohio Dry" is the watchword of the Ohio W. C. T. U.

Quarterly Temperance Sundays for 1908 will be March 29th, June 28th, Sept. 27th and Nov. 29th, (World's Temperance Sunday.)

High License is now being endorsed by the liquor men of Pennsylvania. The law "is eminently satisfactory to them," they say.

Who Says "Prohibition Don't Prohibit?" The next day after Georgia went dry a Cincinnati paper said that it would mean the loss of $5,000,000 a year to the wholesale liquor dealers. The St. Louis millionaire brewer Adolphus Busch was quoted by the Associated Press from Kansas City, Dec. 9th, regarding the spread of Prohibition: "Its spreading all over the South and even Oklahoma went prohibition. That cost me a million dollars. I am in favor of local option." If prohibition does not prohibit as we have been told for two decades of years, why such statements. The very statement is a lie on its face.

The Chicago Tribune of December 11th has a large first page cartoon of the interior of a "Poor Man's Club" (a saloon) underneath this striking picture is a list of "club notes" giving brief information concerning the awful happenings to "members of the club," those who were injured or robbed in the saloon on one night. It is suggested that if all newspapers would thus list the reports of injuries and murders from result of the saloon, each day in a column separately, it would enable the reading public to better measure results from the liquor business. The liquor advertisements in our papers and magazines pay such large revenue to the publishers that they accept them.

Now the Brewers are demanding that the papers that get their money for advertising must suppress Prohibition news. In every community it now becomes the privilege of our W. C. T. U. people to "cry aloud and spare not." Newspaper editors and publishers must either be with us or against us. So long as they get much of their income from whiskey and beer advertising they are subservient to the liquor men.

College towns in Indiana are going dry.

FIVE PROHIBITION BILLS BEFORE CONGRESS.

These five measures are:

(1) The McCumber Bill—to prohibit liquor selling anywhere on or adjacent to property owned by the United States Government.

(2) The Littlefield Bill—prohibiting all interstate liquor traffic into prohibition territory—a square deal State's rights proposal, demanded by every Prohibition community in America.

(3) Another Inter-State Bill—going further than the Littlefield measure and to act as a lever for that one—asking the total Prohibition of all Interstate liquor selling into license or prohibition States alike.

(4) Bill Suggested by former Governor L. C. Hughes of Arizona, prohibiting liquor selling within twenty-five miles of any Indian reservation.

(5) Bill Forbidding Importation of Opium throughout entire jurisdiction of the United States except by Government Commissioners for medicinal use.

To pass this important legislation and each individual item of it, one thing is absolutely required:

Flood the Congressional mails, bombard every Senator and Representative with an irresistible deluge of appeal and petition, until every Christian citizen and every citizen of whatever faith throughout the land who believes in civic righteousness shall have let his Legislators at Washington know what he wants and that he wants it now.

Meanwhile, although the Prohibition National Committee's special representatives at Washington will focus all their energies to aid in this great struggle to secure reform "by petition," the Prohibition party will not abate one instant in continually striking the same unanswerable keynote of its everlasting campaign, thunderingly emphasized in this present situation. "The only way for the people to achieve what they want and be sure they are getting what they ask for, is to elect men who will first of all represent them, and who will not need to be cajoled, and pleaded with, as well as being petitioned, begged and entreated as a special condescending favor, to enact this reform measure and that, but who will make it their first business to do it, because they were elected on a platform frankly pledged to champion the rights of the people rather than those of the successful grafters who may control a few votes.

Indeed here is one of the most astonishing of Treasurers collect membership dues from the women and ask every Christian man you meet to give you a dollar for the W. C. T. U. At public meetings ask the people for money to push the work. Men will give largely if asked and they have reason to believe work will be accomplished. At local union meetings do not ask for penny collections. So long as the saloon keepers are raking in the shekels at the rate of one hundred million dollars a month in this country, we must have dollars and not pennies with which to arouse the people to the pitch of opening up the flood gates of public opinion. To do this we must devise definite campaigns for information and agitation in every community in Indiana. This will mean one great temperance meeting with a good speaker once a month, besides systematic literature and temperance newspaper campaigns to continue until the Legislature meets in January 1909. Now is the time to call together counselors and lay out the plans and engage the speakers. The treasurers can secure the funds whenever the great work begins. Men and women who are not now members will help both with money and influence. Treasurers should have great faith in God's promises, then work and pray for the success of His cause.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

My Dear Sisters:

The first quarter's books are closed and show a gain of 227 members over corresponding quarter last year. Several unions sent in no dues this first quarter, and so the increase is not what it should be. It should have been at least 400. I trust the president of each union in the State will look carefully over the treasurer's books and help the treasurer collect dues at once, not waiting for the second quarter, to do the work. We must keep dues collected each quarter, or it will be impossible to reach our 7,000. The work is starting off splendidly, new members being added and new work being undertaken.

I trust each union will carefully consider the list of departments in the Annual Report on pages six and seven, and appoint local superintendents for as many of them as they can possibly work, then send name of superintendent with her address to the State Superintendent of the department. Be sure that the local superintendent keeps an accurate report of all work done in her department and reports it to the county or State Superintendent.

The Mid-Year Executive Committee meeting will be held April 7th and 8th, at Lebanon, Ind., and we hope each County President will be able to report at first roll call at least three new unions in her county and a good substantial gain in membership. Also a gain in subscriptions to the Union Signal and Crusader Monthly. It is the duty of the county organization to send the County President to this meeting, paying her expenses.

O, dear hearts, it is entirely possible for us to be felt in the temperance reform in the State as never before. Ring true to total abstinence in the individual and prohibition of the traffic! Gain women to our great cause, for each woman gained is a power set in motion which will be felt by many others. Let's bring our tithe of time and money into the store house of the Lord and test Him and prove Him and see if He does not pour us out a blessing, both as to numbers and influence. God help us not to play at temperance work, but to consecrate all to it until the great rum devil is driven back to the pit from whence he came—and the boys and girls, men and women, even the church of the Lord Jesus Christ, both in home land and in foreign field have a chance to do the work God intended to be done. Write me if I can be of any assistance to you.

Lovingly and prayerfully yours, situations in our political annals—while the whole nation is throbbing with an unprecedented tide of enthusiasm and intense conviction on the Prohibition issue, Congress and the President no less, sit idly at their posts of duty, apparently nerveless and unimpressed, waiting like automations, until the people en masse shall go down upon their knees and set the legislative wheels moving as by humiliating supplication as subjects ever addressed to either tyrant or despot.

Culla J. Vayhinger.

But meanwhile, the present duty of petition and appeal, whatever its distasteful character, faces every good citizen alike.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION.

In the plan of work as well as in letters sent out, I have spoken of the prize essay contest. The following are the rules for conducting and the subjects chosen for them. Keep this "Message" for use in conducting these contests. These rules are, however, obtainable in leaflet form. If you care for more, write Mrs. Edith Smith-Davis, 2913 Brown Street, Milwaukee, Wis., for "How to Conduct a Prize Essay Contest," for twenty-five cents per hundred.

How to Conduct a Prize Essay Contest.

Each local superintendent should first obtain the permission of the principal of the school to hold such a contest. Then the teacher of the grade in which the essays are to be written should be asked to outline the subject for the children and to require each child to write an essay on one of the chosen subjects. When the essays are handed in, let the teacher select the ten best essays. These should be used in a local contest and a prize awarded the best. In city schools a second contest may be held between the different schools of the city, and the best essay chosen for the competition between the different schools of the county or district. The prize county essay should be used in competition between the different counties for the State prize. The State prize essay must be sent to the National Supt. of Scientific Temperance Instruction before the 15th of August of each year and will be entered in competition for the National prize of fifty dollars for the best high school essay or of best essay from the grades.

NOTICE.

Neither Dr. Mary Wood Allen nor her daughter, Rose Allen Chapman, are longer connected with American Motherhood, as writers, but will write for the Union Signal instead. We hope that White Ribboners will be true to our own publications and subscribe for the Union Signal and Crusader Monthly.

Dear Sisters:

We are nearing another Francis Willard Memorial Day, which I hope will be observed in every union in the State with a suitable program. Let every address point beyond our human leader to that Divine Leader, "whose we are and whom we serve," for Frances Willard was great because she "was not disobedient to the heavenly vision." Send $2 of the offering to Miss Clara Sears, Anderson, Ind., for the National Missionary Fund, for organization.

APROPOS.

How happy the man who is taking "The Message" It restrains him from vice, and broadens his prestige;
He meets Demon Rum, who says "come with me." But he points to "The Message"—to it will I flee.

The Message is pure—its counselings safe—
It battles for God, and a bright, useful life;
And gives a black eye to old Demon Rum,
Causing mothers to smile, by saving "The Bum."

Young man, if you're wise, and mother love hath, Heed the voice of "The Message," and spurn with a laugh
All approaches of vice, that leadeth away
From a home that is pure, to the unfortunate gay.

Both the young and the old are subject to fall
Without such restraints, that examples recall,
Which are cited, in truth, on every page
Of the friend of the home—the fearless Message.
Greencastle, Ind., Oct. 4, 1907.

The Commissioners in charge of the Nancy Hanks Lincoln Park in Spencer County, Ind., have notified the county authorities that not another dollar will be spent in improvements if the saloon, which is being built at the entrance to the park is granted a license.

Temperance Music—In all W. C. T. U. and temperance meetings sing temperance songs. Send to Miss R. T. Gilbert, 337 Wabash Ave., for catalogue of temperance literature and music. Get "Saloons Must Go" and have it learned by every Sunday School in your community. It can be secured with music for a few cents for a hundred pages. The White Ribbon Hymnal has some good songs to stirring music. Young Peoples' Societies will use temperance music if furnished for them.

SOCIAL MEETINGS AND RED LETTER DAYS.

Those of you who were at the State Convention at Lafayette in October last, will remember the new department created there, "Social Meetings and Red Letter Days." I was elected Superintendent of that department, and have been busy finding out my duties. As a new superintendent and a new department are two hazardous things to get together. Of course we have all observed some of the Red Letter Days each year, but as our National Superintendent says, it is not only good to observe, but also to report work done. Will not each county president appoint a superintendent for this department. All our existing laws have been enacted because people saw, or wished to see the need of them. Just so this new department has been created. I shall soon send a letter to each county president enclosing some of our National Superintendent Mrs. Mary D. Tomlinson's literature, which fully explains the work.

Our next Red Letter Day is February 1st, "Industrial School Day," and the next one is one I am sure we all observe, Feb. 17th, Francis E. Willard's heavenly birthday. We have three in February, the third being Washington's birthday. Some of the churches or schools celebrate the 22d, but we should get them to use our literature.

Wishing all of you a happy, work-full, prosperous year, I am

Sincerely yours,

Mrs. Lily W. Petree,

Supt. Social Meetings and Red Letter Days
Indiana W. C. T. U.

WORK AMONG COLORED PEOPLE.

Dear Sisters—Through our paper I wish to talk to you about my department. I am hoping that every president where there are any colored people in the town may help me in the work of organizing unions among our colored sisters. We need the women in our work and dear sisters a colored man's vote counts just as much at the ballot box as the man that fills the executive chair. Let us make a great effort the remaining part of the year for a large increase in membership. In this way I am using the State plan of work in this department. May all keep a record of what they do and write me a postal telling about it. Please write me at any time if you know where work can be done.

Mrs. Emily McIntosh,

State Supt.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

The Physical Education Department of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union will, at the next National Convention, award two beautiful white satin banners to the two States whose annual reports indicate the largest, and next largest, amount of practical work along the following lines:

Report.

1. Total number of County and Local Superintendents. Gain this year.
2. Total number of special Department meetings held by Local Unions.
3. Number of County W. C. T. U. Conventions and Institutes which have included this Department on program.

4. Number of Health Culture Classes conducted under the auspices of Local Unions; also, the number of Local Unions that have devoted specified time to practical physical work, at regular meetings. Give number of such meetings.

5. Total number of County Teachers' Institutes that have, this year, included "Physical Education" as part of the regular program, whether theory, practice, or both.

6. Legislative effort to secure compulsory education in the schools under public control; or, to secure amendment to existing law.

7. Effort by County and Local Unions to secure, without State law, this training in the schools.

8. Information regarding the status of Physical Education in the Schools and Colleges of the State, including Normals.

9. Number pages Department literature sold, or distributed free.

10. Effort made to secure a thorough and required course of Physical Education in all Normal Schools of the State.

Note—In making these reports, to compete for the banners, the words "about" or "nearly" will not count. The statements must be definitely made.

The reading and discussion of articles published by this Department, in the Union Signal, may be reported in connection with No. 2.

Superintendents are requested to send report not later than September 15th.

I beg of every county or local union to appoint superintendents in the departments of Health and Heridity and Physical Culture, and send names and addresses to

Mrs. C. C. Thomas, State Supt.,
3426 S. Boots St., Marion, Ind.

TEMPERANCE LITERATURE.

Part of the year has passed, but I trust the county and local superintendents of Temperance Literature have not been idle. But have been working this, one of the most important departments of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The great work of the W. C. T. U. is to arouse and enlighten public sentiment. Abraham Lincoln well said, "With public sentiment nothing can fail; without it nothing can succeed." Ours is a wide and fertile field! May we carefully and thoroughly cultivate it, in order to bring forth a fruitful crop.

If properly worked it can and will aid every department of our work. Its possibilities are almost unlimited. Unworked, of course, like any other barren field, it is useless. Dear sisters, let us be prompt this year, and bring the work in and to the front. A prize is offered by the National Superintendent of Literature to the State sending in the best report. Will you not help to bring it to our own dear State?

Let me remind you that the State Superintendent alone cannot accomplish this. She needs and has a right to expect the assistance of every county and local superintendent within our State. In the onward march of our organization toward the victory for which we strive, let us remember He who leads us is stronger than any human agency, and that to Him we must look for strength and guidance. Relying then upon this help and the earnest co-operation of every local white-ribboner, it is our prayerful hope, earnest desire and steadfast determination to make this the best year this department has ever known.

According to the plan of our State, we shall strive for 1,500 subscriptions to the Union Signal and 1,000 Crusader Monthlies in the hands of the teachers of our State. Send a stamp to Miss Ruby I. Gilbert, 131-137 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., for catalog of temperance publications and leaflets. I shall be glad to correspond with you with reference to any of the plans of our work. Let us redouble our diligence. Aim to do definite work, and do it in a manner that will count.

Yours in loving service,

Mrs. Nettie D. Ware,

R. F. D. No. 21. Fairmount, Ind.

FRANCHISE.

Dear Sisters:

We have sent out the Plans of Work to every union in the State named in the State Minutes. There are twenty-one County Superintendents of this department named. There are seventy-six counties named. We are very anxious that each union study the Plan of Work, and then do something to help this department.

We are working for the destruction of the legalized liquor traffic. Dear sisters, nothing counts as effectually as ballots. We will continue the work for Municipal Suffrage. Before long you will receive petitions, which we hope will be presented to and urged to be signed by every citizen of your respective territories. The world was lost by woman by woman it shall be redeemed.

Now sisters, altogether lift, push until we are out of the rut of prejudice and have regained the place God meant for us when "He created man in His own image, male and female created He them, and gave them dominion."

Lida Outland,

Upland, Ind.

State Supt. Franchise.

THE MESSAGE.

financial question. But above all that, it is a great political question to be settled at the ballot box.

Everywhere the W. C. T. U. has steadfastly urged that to license the sale of liquor was wrong. No license! No compromise with evil! has been the slogan. Now after these years of effort and prayer, Indiana as many other States, is feeling the result of the great work done in definite education by the W. C. T. U.

Public conscience is awakened in many places. There is an expressed determination to rid the community of the saloon. The liquor men are alarmed and through their most ingenious plans and strongest agents they are advocating "High License," fearing prohibition will carry. The liquor men announce through their paid agents (some of our great daily newspapers), that High License is a temperance measure, and so much is done to prove what a blessing it would be to Indiana that really good, earnest people are led to believe in it. "High License as a temperance measure" emanates from the same source that has come that other notorious falsehood, "Prohibition Don't Prohibit." Whenever temperance people advocate High License or "Local Option" with high or low license, standing on the solid foundation of right. If it is wrong for saloons to conduct their human grist mills it is certainly wrong to permit them to do so for a price—set that price in many or few dollars. In order to secure a no license law (prohibition) for Indiana every local union and every individual member must be depended upon to work and pray to that end. Work—yes it requires work to show our good people the tricks of the liquor men and to make them have full confidence in the power of their own ballots. Pray for discretion, wisdom and ability to help in this mighty battle for the home.

NOTICE.

Each County President that can make arrangements for a worker in County Teachers' Institute, to speak along lines of Scientific Temperance Instruction, please notify me at once. Ask your County Superintendent to pay $5 for the services and let the county W. C. T. U. pay traveling expenses of the worker.

Culla J. Vayhinger.

OFFICIAL.

Miss Ella Broomell of Philadelphia, a National L. T. L. Organizer and lecturer, will come into Indiana for work in March. She will work for both W's and L. T. L's wherever she goes. She is an elocutionist and a good speaker and will give us effective service. Her terms are very reasonable. Those wishing her services should write at once to your State Corresponding Secretary, that her route may be made out to the best advantage.

FROM THE EDITOR.

During my four weeks' stay at Eastman's Sanitarium, after a severe surgical operation, my precious mother was suddenly called to heaven from my home. Through my serious illness and great bereavement God wonderfully sustained me. The loving messages, the helpful letters of sympathy and the flowers received from the unions and from membership over the State cheered and encouraged me and my family. It is with deepest appreciation and gratitude that these are remembered. O, that I could have the privilege of personally telling each one of you something of my gratitude for what you have done to help me. With love and loyalty,

Luella F. McWhirter.

FIELD NEWS

Miss Gertrude Jones, superintendent of the Nurses Training School at Eastman's Sanitarium, Indianapolis, and three other young women there are members of Indianapolis Central W. C. T. U. It is indeed a beautiful service for our cause that can be rendered by the Christian nurse.

The Madison W. C. T. U. has been doing some very practical temperance work. Not long ago God sent a drunkard to the home of the president of this union. He was taken in and cared for, although he was on the verge of delirium tremors. He is much stronger now, has returned to God, and is trying hard to fight the demon drink. Pray for him White Ribboners. Mrs. G. E. Denny.

The Union Signal says: "Temperance posters were put up by Lakeland, Florida, W. C. T. U. and after being repeatedly destroyed some citizens decided to have a sign made of galvanized iron proclaiming "Saloons Must Go."

Another case involving the constitutionality of liquor licenses is now before the Indiana Supreme Court. A brief has just been filed before that tribunal by Hon. Charles F. Holler, attorney for Thomas C. Barnes et al., against Michael Wagoner, a local liquor seller. Mr. Holler has for his assistants Timothy E. Howard, of South Bend, a former judge of the Supreme Court; A. B. Kirkpatrick, of Kokomo, and Sumner Haynes, of Portland.

Send "The National Prohibitionist" as a weekly visitor to your minister, a teacher or a friend, whom you know has a desire for information concerning the great temperance movement in this country. Price $1.00 per year. Send to The National Prohibitionist, 87 Washington Street, Chicago. It is only according to our information upon a subject that we are interested. Temperance newspapers are indispensable in every home where there is intelligence.

The Patriot Phalanx is the long established Prohibition paper for Indiana. It must be more widely read in every county in order to stimulate the good men to vote for Prohibition for Indiana. Send it as a weekly visitor for a year to two families who would be interested if they had information. Indiana must be free from the saloon. It will be free when the men decide to vote it out. The men voted it in when they passed our "License Law." Help to give the arguments to them, that come from common sense and reason in order to off set the arguments they get through the newspapers and the public speech of politicians. Both sources come from the secret councils of the liquor men's organization. They send out the word and it is taken up and repeated until good men hear it so often, see it in the papers, that they think it is true. Recently many things are being uncovered.

The facts regarding the liquor men offering about $100 a month to the county newspaper men of Missouri if they would use such "editorials" as they furnished to them were not given out by the county newspapers or great dailies. It remains for the Prohibition Press to publish such facts. Not until more voters are readers of temperance newspapers will Indiana be carried for Prohibition. For our Indiana Prohibition weekly newspaper, The Patriot Phalanx, send $1.00 each

Miss Clara Sears, State Treasurer, would greatly help your union if you would invite her to come to you. Send for her.

Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, State President, can give some time to field work this spring. Now is the time to secure her promise for dates.

Miss Mary Woodard, State Corresponding Secretary will arrange to give some time to the field. Write her at once and arrange with her for a week's work or less.

Wayne County boasts a new union organized on New Year's day by the county president, Mrs. Hartley. The name of the union is "Center," and the president is Mrs. Laura Clements.

Local Union Presidents please consider that when your union has scored a victory or accomplished some important work that the knowledge of your achievement will be helpful to other unions. In order to thus help be sure and have a "write up" sent immediately to the editor of The Message.

Hon. Charles E. Newlin, of Indianapolis, is being kept a-field delivering his lecture "The Unconstitutionality of Legalizing Wrong." Indiana needs this strong champion of No-License in many towns in every county. Mr. Newlin is a splendid speaker, whose strong arguments carry conviction. He is one of the best speakers in Indiana.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, our State Lecturer, has few equals in the whole United States as a public worker for our cause. Why is she not all of the time in the field. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley would greatly help our cause. Mr. Stanley is a very prosperous business man he would no doubt go occasionally with Mrs. Stanley as he did over in Wells County.

Last summer after the death of Mrs. Annie W. Clark, Ohio's State President, her union in Columbus paid tribute to her memory by increasing the membership from about three hundred to one thousand regular paid members. Thus that one Columbus union sent two delegates to the National Convention.

Those who heard the wonderful speech of Hon. C. W. Trickett at the No-License Conference in December, will be glad to know that it has been printed in neat pamphlet form by the Patriot Phalanx, and may be had at the very low price of one cent each in quantities of ten or more. This speech should be read by every voter in the State. Let each union send for a number for distribution. Address Patriot Phalanx, 117 W. Maryland St., Indianapolis.

You will rejoice to know that Miss Sears sent dues to our National Treasurer for 225 more members than in the corresponding quarter of last year. This is very encouraging, but we must do better still this quarter if we bring our membership up to 7,000 by the end of the year. Let us sing "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow," and push on.

Your white ribbon comrade,
Mary E. Woodard.

For Institutes arouse interest. Have you some young persons on your program? This victory will not come until the younger people take hold. Miss Marie Leck, of 1611 N. Alabama Street, Indianapolis, is Marion County's Loyal Temperance Legion Secretary. Miss Leck is a young woman of very attractive personality and is an interesting speaker. In a County Convention or Institute Miss Leck would be of valuable assistance. Miss Leck can serve a limited number of unions and counties. Write her for information.

A literature campaign can be carried on by many individuals and by unions. This must be done and subscriptions to our temperance newspapers must be taken if we succeed in staying the great tide against High License. Right now is the time to begin. Men and women are taking subscriptions to temperance papers who never did so before. They realize that the dissemination of temperance facts must be made. Leaflets against High License are published and should be distributed by the tens of thousands. This can be done very effectively without much expenditure of money and effort.

The Prohibition Wave is rolling on to Washington. A bill has been introduced in Congress by Representative Chandler of Mississippi providing for the prohibition of the liquor business in the District of Columbia. If the bill should become a law, it would prevent the operation of breweries and distilleries, as well as the retail sale of liquor. The bill provides for punishment, in event of violation of the law, fines ranging from $100 to $500, with or without imprisonment of from thirty days to six months. The bill has been referred to the House Committee of the Alcoholic Liquor Traffic. The liquor men are greatly agitated over the proposed plan of the Prohibitionists to make Washington City dry. Help it on!

If Indiana is to secure Prohibition from the next Legislature there is not an hour to lose. We can have Prohibition if every person who reads these lines does some definite work. What? How? Urge the county to hold a two days' Institute. Get people interested. Send for speakers. Insist on your union having a great mass meeting February 17th, or near that date, say March 20th. Give a dollar to the local W. C. T. U. every month from now until January, 1909. Urge others to give. Send for fifty cents worth of leaflets and distribute them yourself or get little boys to do it for you. By the persistent efforts of 7,000 women in the Indiana W. C. T. U. this State can have State wide Prohibition in 1909, when the next Legislature meets.

President Roosevelt in a 30,000 word message discussed forty-five different topics. He elaborated his views on almost every topic of political, social and industrial life. In about one dozen words he refers to liquor selling to the native of Alaska as being a felony. Such an absolute silence on the issue that is stirring the people of all sections of this country in an unprecedented manner is really very remarkable. The President's amazing indifference toward the prohibition reform has caused much quiet comment and put many people thinking. President Roosevelt's silence concerning the liquor traffic is not accidental—there is a cause.

The President is after other law violaters in all walks of life. He can not be ignorant of the liquor dealers defiance of law. He certainly is aware of the great desire of the people living in prohibition territory to have the Government to cease issuing Government liquor licenses for that territory. The people are now demanding the passage by Congress of the Littlefield-Dolliver bill, which will prohibit liquor being shipped by agents into prohibition territory. When this bill is passed President Roosevelt may decide to take notice.

A County or Local Union with 500 paid members by September 15th, can have the privilege of electing a delegate to the National W. C. T. U. convention. Last fall Ohio had thirteen counties that each had sufficient members to send its own delegate. Last summer after the death of Mrs. Annie Clark, Ohio's State President, her union in Columbus with about three hundred members paid tribute to her memory by bringing up the membership before November first to one thousand regular paid members.

The State Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Oratorical contest will be held February 17th, at Valparaiso College. The prize of twenty-five dollars in gold will be given by Hon. Charles Eckhart, of Auburn. Seven colleges will be represented. Earlham won last year. Attend this contest at Valparaiso. Rally to the support of these Prohibition young men, who will deliver original orations. These young college prohibition speakers are greatly helping to arouse public sentiment. Some of them will before ten years be members of State Legislatures. Too much stress can not be laid upon the College Prohibition work. The Prohibition Leagues in all of the colleges are limited in their efforts and work for lack of money. The average man does not stop to consider that every year a multitude of young people go out from Indiana college halls who know almost nothing about the Prohibition movement. For with a very few exceptions Indiana colleges do not lend any influence toward Prohibition. These same young people are rapidly taking responsible and influential positions in all walks of life.

Through the news dispatches to the daily papers we read of scores of victories for the W. C. T. U. in Indiana. In many instances the great tide of public sentiment has been used by the local unions against the issuance of license to saloon men and other even greater victories. In all this we are rejoicing and would be so happy to receive an account of the work and victory written for The Message. Stop and consider what it would mean to cause one earnest, energetic Christian mother to become aroused to action against the liquor business. Her influence would be aggressively used in the home, the neighborhood and in her church for prohibition. Then think what it would mean to have a whole union aroused to action. We can not estimate the far reaching results. Our blessed White Ribboners are the very busiest women in all Indiana. They are doing great things in many portions of the State. We will be so thankful for concise accounts of the work done and results accomplished to publish in The Message. These reports would give inspiration and courage to many of our friends in the nearly 7,000 homes into which this little paper goes once a month.

Frances E. Willard's heavenly birthday Feb. 17th is observed by special services all over the world wherever floats the white ribbon. Every union in Indiana should hold a special meeting at or near this time. In the W. C. T. U. homes everywhere, special mention should be made to the family at the evening meal concerning the life and work of Miss Willard. (Quotations from her writings on slips at each plate and a picture on the table would lend interest.) The only monument by the W. C. T. U. to the memory of this best beloved woman of the world is being wrought out in human lives. In order that the cause for which she labored may indeed bring results worthy of her life and memory each local union in this country is asked to contribute at least two dollars to a Memorial Organization Fund. Individual contributions are also needed. The great National W. C. T. U. has a per capita membership income of only ten cents; one cent of which goes to the World's W. C. T. U. Therefore the advancement of the work in new or missionary territory depends largely upon this Memorial Organization Fund. Send the money to Miss Clara Sears, State Treasurer, Anderson, Ind.

The W. C. T. U. is the great university of reform. With a membership in this country of more than 2,000,000 mothers and sisters representing 150,000 homes. Over 10,000 local organizations holding regular meetings as often as twice a month, besides the special meetings planned by the unions or held by department workers. In Indiana alone consider the educational force of the local union meetings, not less than 11,000 have been held during the last year. With persistent energetic effort these Indiana unions have been keeping up the work for more than thirty years. Holding meetings in the homes, churches, school houses, the jails, at the summer assemblies, picnics, work shops, hospitals and almshouses. Besides these meetings, thousands of visits have been made to the homes of the people carrying consolation and the Gospel of Christ to the suffering and sick. In one year alone over 1,000,000 pages of literature was distributed. There has been a constant agitation and education concerning the awful results of drink and the enormous proportions of the liquor traffic as a great religious, moral, social, industrial and for subscriptions to Mr. Wm. F. Clark, 117 W. Maryland Street, Indianapolis.

The Message extends its congratulations to the "National Prohibitionist," the new National Prohibition Party paper which succeeds the "Defender" and "Home Defender" and has secured the old "Voice" subscription list. The new paper will be under the editorial management of Wm. P. F. Ferguson, one of the best known and ablest Prohibition editors of America. Edward E. Blake will have charge of the circulation, which is a guarantee that it will constantly increase. The "National Prohibitionist" comes into being at a time when the tidal wave of prohibition is sweeping over the country and the great reform demands just such an able National paper as we believe these gentlemen propose to make. It is surely a propitious time for the launching of such a great enterprise and we feel confident that the Prohibitionists and Reformers of the country will give it their most hearty co-operation and support.

Stinesville W. C. T. U. held a very important business meeting January 8th, at the home of Mrs. Lillian Litten. The treasurer's report was given, showing the union in a flourishing condition. It was decided to place the Crusader Monthly in the hands of the teachers of Bean Blossom township. Master Paul Hoadley recited the "Prohibition States," closing with the hope that Indiana would soon join them. The ladies' Xmas bazaar proved a success in every way.

Marion County holds a monthly executive meeting. There are only about fifty Union Signal subscriptions in the eleven unions in the county and nearly one-half of these are in the Indianapolis Meridian Union. In order to increase the subscriptions it was decided to appoint as a special solicitor Miss Bessie Eckman, who is hoping to receive the renewals from all present subscribers and to secure a sufficient number of new subscribers among the membership of the Marion County unions to put each union on the Union Signal honor roll. That means one subscriber out of every four paid members. Miss Eckman is spending much time and effort endeavoring to communicate with every W. C. T. U. member, not only in Indianapolis, but in all of Marion County. According to our information on any subject are we interested in that subject. The increased number of readers of the Union Signal in any union will help our cause. Miss Eckman has been a student at Taylor University for four years, and is now studying the W. C. T. U. work, expecting to devote her life to God's cause as a W. C. T. U. missionary. To enable her to attend the National W. C. T. U. convention at Denver, Col., Oct. 16-21, she is working for the $25.00 prize offered by the Union Signal for 250 new and renewal subscriptions by October 1st. While she works persistently for Marion County subscribers she will be thankful for any subscriptions received. Address Miss Bessie Eckman, 2312 College Avenue, Indianapolis. New phone 6430.

Decatur County—The W. C. T. U. held a meeting in honor of Mrs. Mary B. Willard, at the home of Mrs. Anna Chandler, Thursday, January 2d. The meeting was opened by Mrs. J. C. Smith reading the ninety-first Psalm, after which some of the members led in prayer. Mrs. J. C. Smith gave a reading on the life of Madame Willard, entitled, "When Mrs. Willard was Nearing her Heavenly Home." In this reading was taught the beautiful lesson of what a blessing it is to have a glorious Christian heart, as did Mrs. Willard, for in the day of her departure from this earth she went forth rejoicingly and triumphantly. Mrs. Leroy C. Smith gave a talk entitled, "An Appeal to Mothers," in which she brought in Mrs. Willard's life as a model for mothers.

Mrs. J. H. Parker gave some extracts from Mrs. L. M. Steven's address, entitled, "Maine Under Prohibition is Better than Indiana under License," which was very interesting. Mrs. Jennie read a letter from the State President, Mrs. Vayhinger, who stated that the work was opening beautifully, and said "Let down the net for a draft for 1908," and closed by saying that we must pray and work for great things this year.

Mrs. Ella Smith.

Seymour—Quarterly Mothers' Meeting at the home of Mrs. Hadley. A delightful feature of the afternoon was the piano playing by Helen Hadley, only eight years old, who furnished two numbers on the program.

Dubois County—To the Honorable Board of Commissioners of Dubois County, Indiana.—We the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Dubois County in call session assembled hereby express our appreciation of the Christian sentiment expressed by Rev. Father Biegel, of Elwood, Ind., who in a recent sermon said: "No saloon keeper in my parish is permitted to receive the blessed sacrament, and if they continue to transgress the law and bring disgrace upon the church they will be excommunicated and forbidden to enter the sanctuary." We recommend that noble sentiment, not only to the Catholic Priests of Dubois County, but to the Protestant ministers of the county, and ask each and every one of them to take the same stand for temperance and wage the same war against the saloons that Rev. Father Biegel is waging at Elwood, and having read of the fearless stand taken by the commissioners of Morgan County in making applicants for a saloon license prove the allegation in their application, to-wit: That they are men of good moral character. And how by their actions saloons have been put out of business here. We deplore the fact that the Commissioners of this county have for years past, in the very face of the law, been issuing license to men they knew to be habitual drunkards, therefore be it resolved that we the W. C. T. U. of this county requests and demands that the Board of County Commissioners from this time on, require strict proof of the allegation that the applicants are of good moral character, and they rebut the fact when they know the applicants are not fit persons to be entrusted with the sale of intoxicants as is now provided by law, and that in the future they refuse all persons a license who are in the habit of becoming intoxicated and who are otherwise unfit under the law to conduct the saloon business. Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the county papers and a copy to the President of the Board of County Commissioners. Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. Kate Lee, Vice-President.

Mrs. Flora Root, Secretary.

The above was published in a county newspaper.

Tippecanoe County feels that the holding of the State Convention in Lafayette was a real blessing to all W. C. T. U. workers here. It showed the people that the W. C. T. U. is "doing things;" awakened the members to renewed activity and brought into the various unions of the city not a few new members. On Dec. 3, 1907, the county held a "Jubilee Meeting" and had a reception for new members in the new Y. M. C. A. building. There was a program of music and recitations, which was heartily appreciated by the large number present. Refreshments were served, after which the company was invited to witness a game of basket ball played by the members of the Y. M. C. A. On the 17th of January Tippecanoe County held an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. C. C. Robinson, on Perrin Avenue. This meeting was for all officers and superintendents of the various unions as well as for the county officers and superintendents. To help each one to learn the duties of such offices and superintendencies. Mrs. May Williams of the Lafayette union was sent to the National W. C. T. U. convention as the State delegate at large. Tippecanoe county paid her traveling expenses. Mrs. W. H. Strang of the Lafayette Monon Union went as a fraternal delegate to the National Purity Convention at Battle Creek, Mich.

Mrs. A. L. Greene, Co. Press Supt.

The LaPorte W. C. T. U. hold their meetings in the evenings, instead of afternoons. This gives the laboring class an opportunity of attending. The members are more faithful and the husbands and honorary members are also present. Several new members have been added since our grand and inspiring State convention. As our dear corresponding secretary has said, let us all keep this inspiration and much good will be accomplished. January 12th was temperance day in all the city churches, but a terrific blizzard raged all day, drifting the snow high and filling everything full, so the attendance was not as large nor the enthusiasm as great as was expected, but it is hoped that much good will come out of the effort. This union will observe the 14th of February, to the memory of Francis E. Willard.

Mrs. Seth Pease.

Mulberry—The Kansas Cyclone, Mrs. Sibbitts, has come and gone. She gave us two lectures and one Mothers' and Young Ladies' meetings. We have four new members; one was a blind girl. Mrs. Sibbitts said at the close if any one wanted to become members they should hold up their hand, so she held up her hand, but wondered where the money would come from, but thought if the Lord wanted her in this work he would help her get it in some way. So after the meeting closed there was a white ribbon sister who sat behind her, said Rose I will pay your dues, so in the evening she handed it to me. Our town never had such a stirring up. She is a wonderful woman I hope she may live many years to work for humanity and prohibition. I wish she could be kept in our State for some time.

Harriet F. Steckel.

Seymour—Sabbath evening, January 5th the temperance program, "The Saving of Daddy," was greatly enjoyed by the large audience in the German M. E. Church. Mrs. M. J. Carpenter read the story. The choir of the church furnished the music, every number deserving special mention. Elizabeth Hoffman's song, "If I were a voice," "The Battle Song," "Will They Return as They Go," and many others were given in a manner to delight all who heard. All united in singing coronation and were dismissed by prayer by the Rev. Knauff, pastor of the church. The meeting was under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The offering was $3.00.

Montpelier—The W. C. T. U. is in a flourishing condition, having forty-eight paid members. We have from fifteen to twenty-five average attendance. At present we are having a contest dividing our union equally. One side wears red and white ribbon, with Mrs. Alice McGrew as the president; the other side wears blue and white, with Mrs. Alice Miller as the president. The contest will last six weeks and the side that gets the most new members will furnish an entertainment and the side that gets defeated has to furnish a banquet for the union. We hope to add several new members to our union, as well as a revival with our old members.

We had a Mothers' Meeting January 10th out in the suburbs of our city. It was well attended and I think did much good. Mrs. Geo. David's is the superintendent of the mothers' department.

Mrs. Clem Philebaum, Press Reporter.

Mrs. Sabrina Black, contest superintendent for Keystone Union, has held in the last month three Matron's Silver Medal Contests and one L. T. L. Contest. Six matrons in the year, all have been very successful. Collections more than covered expenses. Mrs. Black will in the near future hold the first matrons Gold Medal Contest.

Mrs. Elva England, Supt. Press Work.

Howard County—Tuesday evening, December 17th, at the Friends' Church, the two Kokomo W. C. T. U.'s gave a reception to the teachers and physicians of the city. Mrs. Ida Mix presided over the meeting in her usual womanly and dignified manner. Mrs. Ida Wygant led in fervent prayer. The songs by the choir were quite appropriate and added to the interest of the meeting. The church was beautifully decorated with Christmas bells and a large bouquet of fine chrysanthemums graced the table in front of the pulpit. Mrs. Mattie Cammack Gibson of Jonesboro, so long connected with Scientific Temperance Instruction in the public schools, made a very pleasing and instructive address. The refreshments furnished at the close of the meeting were excellent and in keeping with the rest of the entertainment. After a social time the guests departed feeling that they had been royally entertained. Mrs. Gibson also spoke at the Harrison Street Church in the afternoon to a large audience of mothers. Three new names were secured at this meeting. Let us keep up the good work till all the mothers in this fair land of ours wear the white ribbon.

H. M. Arnold.

Allen County's President met with the Hoagland W. C. T. U. December 13th, and had a very interesting meeting; gained one new member. The union is doing nicely. Dec. 17th visited the Boston union; meeting was held at the home of Rev. West, the pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Monroeville. The meeting was in charge of our very efficient superintendent of mothers' work, Mrs. Fannie Edwards, who had a well prepared program, which was well rendered, consisting of songs, papers, and discussions, taken part in by many present. There was a very good attendance.

December 18th I visited the Francis E. Willard Union of Ft. Wayne. Mrs. Dr. Steman being the hostess. The ladies of this union are very much encouraged. They have gained thirty new members the first quarter and are planning for greater work this year than Ft. Wayne has ever known. Their annual program is out and is full of very helpful subjects.

The managers of the mission meetings that are being held in a former saloon building have asked the W. C. T. U. ladies to take charge of one meeting a week. Great good is being done in these missions, there being three in Ft. Wayne. At the close of the meeting the hostess served a very elaborate lunch, which was enjoyed by all. January 11, 1908, I will meet with what was formerly Crescent Union, to decide what they will do about starting their work again with a prayer that this great work will go on to greater victories.

Mrs. Emily McIntosh,

Hoagland, Ind.

The Spencer W. C. T. U. held a "call meeting" for the election of officers at the home of Mrs. James A. Layman, January 9th. President, Mrs. R. McClaren, who has already served three years as president and has done excellent work for our union. Mrs. Dr. Gray, treasurer; Mrs. Ralph Beem, secretary; Mrs. M. C. Baumgartner, corresponding secretary. There was a short program, consisting of song, prayer, and scripture reading. A recitation was given by Mrs. McClaren; a paper by Mrs. Reid Hight. Nice refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Reid Hight and Mrs. Dr. Seay.

Mrs. Baumgartner.

South Bend, Colfax Avenue, held a special Loyal Temperance Legion meeting in December. The collection was given to the L. T. L. leader and Flower Mission superintendent for a Christmas treat for Linden Avenue Legion. The Christmas meeting of the Legion was largely attended and greatly enjoyed. Rev. H. B. Hostetter, of Westminster Presbyterian Church, gave a very interesting talk. Every member of the L. T. L. was given a generous treat of candy, popcorn and peanuts, and one little girl said that what Mrs. Nash gave her was all she had for Christmas. The Legion and Colfax union are again helping toward the coal bill of the chapel where the Legion meets.

has bought a piano. The room is a cozy place where we hold our meetings once a week. We hope to do much good for our city through this room, which is always supplied with good books and temperance literature by the Francis Willard L. T. L. of Madison. Mrs. Denny.

Seymour—For the third time, October 23, 1907, Mrs. R. R. Shert entertained the W. C. T. U. of Seymour, at her beautiful home north-east of the city. Members and visitors went via inter-urban. A royal welcome, a feast of all the good things obtainable and a delightful visit filled the social hours. A very complete report of the State convention was presented by Mrs. Pfaffenberger. Echoes of the same with notes of Purdue University, were given by Mrs. Shert, who brought the great meeting of Indiana's W. C. T. U. home to all.

Rev. Allen favored the union with an encouraging address, and a brief resume of the past year's work was given. One honorary member added to the roll. Mrs. Chas. Clark, from Tulsa, Indian Territory, was the guest of honor. Mrs. Elliott, of Jeffersonville, and Mrs. Frank Woodmansee of Indianapolis, were the other out of town guests. There was a large attendance. This was one of the most delightful meetings of the year.

Elkhart Central Union—Is she sleeping? Oh no, she is very much awake. She has been courting, courting and courting, courting again, then courting some more. The first quarter of the W. C. T. U.'s year is marked by very interesting, profitable, spiritual and largely attended meetings where enthusiasm is ever at high tension. The president, Mrs. Iva Wood Parker, assisted the Civic League in securing signatures to the blanket remonstrance in the third ward, and was subpoenaed as a witness in the Gerster trial, which was an attack on the remonstrance. The battle raged for five days in the Goshen court, when the remonstrants won out. Mrs. Parker was again subpoenaed as a witness in the Dotson trial, a second attack on the remonstrance, and again a victory came to the temperance forces. A number of the W. C. T. U. ladies attended these trials every day. The ladies spent two days in the Elkhart Superior Court, when two saloon keepers were put out of business charged with law violations.

Saloonkeeper Smith took his case to South Bend and for three days the ladies went along to be company for him. Smith won the case, but as he is in the third ward, will be compelled to close his saloon July 1st. The remonstrance has put four saloons out of business and seven other applicants have been refused licenses. Elkhart rejoices and is singing praises to the great good Father.

The names of fifteen hundred women have been secured to the following pledge: "Since the Liquor Dealers' Protective Association has threatened to divert business from business men who sign liquor remonstrances, we the undersigned hereby pledge our support and patronage as far as possible, to business men who sign such remonstrances."

The W. C. T. U. furnishes "Rest Cottage" a home for unfortunate women, with baked goods each Saturday.

LETTER FROM SUPERINTENDENT OF INSTITUTES.

Dear Co-Workers:

Please read carefully the Institute Program and Schedule printed above, and write at once to your State Superintendent, or your appointed leader, or both, saying that you accept dates scheduled your county. It means so much to the work when we hear from you promptly. Again let me remind you that we are making a special effort to increase our membership this year, and the Institutes give us a great opportunity along this line. Let us pass the 7,000 mark when we meet in October at the State Convention. We can do it if we will. Read carefully "Indiana's Plan," also your State Superintendent's "Plan of Work," which I mailed to each County President some days ago. Write me for help or information. Let us enter upon this year's work with united prayer and effort.

Lovingly yours to serve,

Rose Pearce,
Cayuga, Indiana. State Supt. Institutes.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Margaret Rapp, a member of Seymour W. C. T. U. went Home. A life long worker in the Temperance cause. The W. C. T. U. were given the privilege of assisting in the funeral service after a hymn and a prayer and we encircled her casket and our tiny white bows were lovingly laid therein. The W.C.T.U. sisters sang, "Shall we meet beyond the river". Her life spoke for the cause she believed in to the large number assembled from all parts of the country to do her honor. We are bereaved; Mrs. Rapp is among those who "May rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

THE NATIONAL W. C. T. U. TREASURER AT ANDERSON.

Friday evening, February 14th, Mrs. Harriet W. Brand, Treasurer of the National W. C. T. U., of Evanston, Ill., gave an address at the Mission Church, corner of Fourteenth and Brown Streets, in loving memory of Frances E. Willard, temperance reformer. Despite the most unfavorable weather, there was a large and interested audience. Mrs. W. W. Leib of the local W. C. T. U. presiding. The devotional services were conducted by Rev. Charles P. Luce, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Brand reviewed the life of Miss Willard from girlhood until she was promoted. She dwelt particularly on her early call to the temperance work; on her intellectual development; of her consecration to the work she loved so well. The address was replete with beautiful thoughts, expressed in choice language, a deserved tribute to the honored leader of the temperance reform.

Mrs. Brand also discussed the temperance movement throughout the country, which was instructive and interesting. Beautiful music was furnished by a male quartette under the leadership of Prof. Wiley. The temperance people of Anderson wish Mrs. Brand God speed in her work. While in the city she was the guest of Miss Clara M. Sears and parents.

TRICKETT STIRS CHICAGO.

Assistant Attorney General Charles W. Trickett, of Kansas City, Kans., stirred the dry bones of religion and politics in two tremendous addresses in Chicago under the auspices of twenty-five allied temperance, prohibition, and law and order organizations. Mr. Trickett struck the key note for Sunday closing and a straight prohibition movement in Chicago, with five hundred Chicago preachers as his auditors. For two hours of the busiest time of the day, Mr. Trickett held his audience spell-bound with his appeal for a militant church to take advantage of the present opportunity and to take the first step towards absolute prohibition in Chicago, compelling the Mayor and the officials to close the 7,000 law defying gin-mills on the Sabbath day. "Any executive or other official of the law whose duty it is to maintain the dignity of the municipal or State government who refuses to enforce and obey the laws of the State is a traitor and a nullifier, and if the city of Chicago, through its present administration, connives at law-breaking, it is in rebellion against the sovereign power of this great State. The people of this country will have little respect for the latter day home of Abraham Lincoln, if it is to tolerate rebellion within its borders." This sentiment of Mr. Trickett was cheered to the echo.

For over an hour Attorney Trickett outlined the details of the wonderful law enforcement triumph achieved in Kansas City, Kans., and the Sun Flower State during the past fifteen months.

"We found," declared Mr. Trickett, "that the bulwark of law-defiance and the real liquor anarchists we had to fight were the great outside millionaire brewers, who, through the innumerable jointists with which they had flooded our commonwealth, had laid siege to the sovereign law of Kansas and fully intended to secure its repeal through deliberate nullification."

Then in the most direct and graphic language Attorney General Trickett pictured the success of law-enforcement in Kansas City and outlined the countless obstacles over which the friends of law and order had to fight their way before they could redeem that great metropolis from the clutches of the whisky machine.

Mr. Trickett's address was punctuated with applause at almost every period and the enthusiasm was remarkable in so serious minded an audience.

When we remember that last year we paid in the United States to support the saloon and damn the boys and girls of this country $1,325,000,000 more than we did to educate them, it looks as though something ought to be done.

Governor E. E. Noel, of Mississippi says: The brand of crime has been placed upon liquor selling by the moral sense of all the counties in the state, except a few on the Gulf coast and the Mississippi river front. There the saloons and their friends ask, now, to be let alone. This is a self-refuted appeal. They do not let those localities alone which have outlawed the liquor traffic but, on the contrary send to them both liquor and liquor soaked victims, breeding crimes which would not otherwise occur. Besides, in all state elections and in the legislative gatherings the foreign and home liquor dealers are found actively at work, seeking to control results in their own interests. By thorough organization, continued watchfulness, absence of all scruples, and readiness for every emergency the liquor forces cannot be prevented, as long as the business is legalized from frequently holding, and exercising, the balance of political power. Those who become its beneficiaries, regardless of platforms, are generally found to be in full sympathy and accord with the liquor interests and oblivious to their crimes. This pernicious political influence makes absurd their claim of saloons being a local question.

"If prohibition is made purely statutory, foreign liquor dealers and their home sympathizers will attempt to renew the question before every legislature. For this reason we should also have a constitutional amendment submitted, so that only the people could undo what they once determine."

Every County Superintendent should visit every union in her county once every three months. Superintendents who do this arouse an interest in their departments that only personal sacrifice can accomplish.

March 29th is Temperance Sunday. For Sunday Schools arrange special temperance music and have two good temperance readings. In some places these will be more profitable than the prescribed lesson. Right now is the time to make arrangements.

For excellent information in literature send in postage stamps a few dimes to the following addresses:

Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, 2913 Brown Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

Hon. Charles R. Jones, 184 LaSalle Street, Chicago.

Miss Ruby I. Gilbert, 131 Silversmiths Bldg., Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

"Government control of Liquor Traffic," twenty cents for fifty copies, Mrs. L. M. Stevens.

"Prohibitory Law-Facts," Dr. M. E. Keller, 219 K. of P. Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

"Prohibition in Maine," five cents per copy. Poem, "The South is Going Dry," 100 copies for thirty cents.

W. C. T. U. Songs—"Crusade Glory Song," to the tune of the Glory Song (Gospel) and "Under the Star Spangled Banner," to the tune of "Marching through Georgia." These are on one leaflet at fifteen cents for fifty copies. Send to the writer, Mrs. Antoinette Hawley, Denver, Colorado.

Local and County W. C. T. U. Officers must have the ammunition to successfully combat our enemy. Every one should be a weekly student of The Union Signal, the bulletin sent out by our commander-in-chief of the W. C. T. U. (The National Officers.) To be a consistent informed officer the reading of The Union Signal is necessary. Yes, you have The Message, which tells you of the out posts, the skirmishes and battles in our Indiana unions. In order to have the wisdom to plan and work most intelligently for Indiana every officer and private in our ranks should read The Union Signal. Besides the individual need to our White Ribboners, The Union Signal's weekly letter from Washington will interest the men and young people in the home. They will be interested in the world's correspondence. The Union Signal, $1.00 per year, less than two cents a week. Send money order to The Union Signal, Evanston, Ill.

Facts! If the W. C. T. U. had never done any other thing than through its Scientific Temperance Instruction Department, to have the following results it would go down to history as a great organization. Think of it! Last year over 500,000 essays were written by school children on "The Value of Total Abstinence to a Life." At least 500,000 homes were reached and parents made to think. Teachers who had been indifferent for lack of information now became interested and their attention called to the subject. A tremendous influence for temperance has been the result. This temperance uprising all over the nation is the result of the thirty years educational agitation of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Women get facts concerning our great work. Use them in the press. Send them to your pastors, to Sunday School teachers. Scatter the information and you will help to roll an even greater temperance wave by November 4th, when it will count to have a real total abstaining President of the United States. The next President will be a total abstainer if you each one do all you can to influence public sentiment to that effect. For Indiana is a strong factor in the national election.

Use Temperance Songs.

Have a Temperance Reading at every meeting held by the W. C. T. U.

We are sending our boys out into the world where we have placed more death-traps than we have saving stations. We have placed in their way by our deliberate premeditated vote 116,000 more licensed liquor saloons in the United States than we have churches.

We want you to see this fact that there have been planted in the way of our boys, 116,000 more saloons than churches. More saloon keepers than preachers, more saloon keepers than teachers, more gambling dens than Sunday Schools, more brothels than Christian Endeavor Societies.

FRANCHISE.

Dear Sisters:

The Institute season is at hand. It is the time when the general public can be reached with the truth. There is no subject that the women of Indiana are more interested in at the present time than the woman's enfranchisement. Let the suffrage topics be ably championed and, whenever possible, let the evening lecture be upon this subject. Some of our leaders are well prepared and will be glad to deliver suffrage addresses.

Yours for emancipation, Lida Outland.

FLOWER MISSION.

Dear Sisters:

Almost half the year has passed, yet I feel sure all the local and county superintendents of this beautiful department have been doing excellent work, as Jennie Cassaday has said: "Our mission is to lead burdened souls to Christ; to cheer and comfort all who need a friend and to help the poor to help themselves. To carry into places of sorrow and want the softening influence of the flowers, the full meaning to each of a helping hand." The flowers may be supplemented by gifts of fruit, jelly, food, fuel, delicacies, comforts for the sick, medicine, clothing, household articles, assisting the poor, sick and discouraged. Distributing books, cards, magazines; arranging a chorus to sing at the homes of shut ins and at institutions. Give drives and outings to convalescents, and to those who are compelled to remain much in doors. Dear sisters, let us put forth our very best efforts this year in this, the Master's work. I have written letters and sent plan of work to every county superintendent and to many of the local superintendents. Two letters have been returned to me unclaimed. If any county superintendent has not received plan of work, write me and I will send one. A detailed record of all Flower Mission work done is most essential to the building up of the work and should never be neglected. I trust when spring comes and flowers begin to bloom that each local union will devote one meeting to this department with Flower Mission program. We will send report blank in March and September. Write me if I can help you in any way.

Lovingly yours,

Viola R. Harvey.

At Washington City in 1900 at the National W. C. T. U. convention Indiana was awarded five National Banners for most excellent reports in each of five different departments. At that time Indiana did not have a third as members as New York State, and not half as many as Pennsylvania and Illinois; was thousands of members behind Massachusetts, Ohio and Michigan. The great wonder of the National Officers and National Superintendents was how did Indiana win so much with not one union of over 100 paid members; not one county then with 500 paid members and a State membership so much less than many others.

It was explained easily. Then our unions used "blanket report blanks" and reported four times a year to the State Superintendents. More work, yes four times more work was done and it was carefully reported. From some places objections were raised by women because during a quarter their increase in postage would mean ten cents or may be in some places twenty cents. This they declared they could not stand and the counties ought not to stand.

The result was that the plan of reporting was gradually changed. Then the State printed all the Department Questions on one long sheet and sent to each County Corresponding Secretary and she sent it on to the unions. At the unions the superintendents of the department secured all reports of work done and filled the report blank for her union.

Now each State Superintendent prints her blanks and mails them herself and asks for annual reports. Few State Superintendents have as many as fifty County Superintendents of their department. To the County Superintendents the State Superintendent sends report blanks for each local union in the county. The County Superintendent then sends one to each local superintendent.

Indiana department workers will have far greater work done in the unions, if at every union meeting some time is given for reports of department work. Every sensible woman knows that frequent reports stimulate to activity. There is scarcely a member of a union in Indiana that does not do some kind of W. C. T. U. work every day—the reporting of which would increase the work in a great ratio.

NATIONAL PRIZES OFFERED.

The Scientific Temperance Instruction Department will give a prize of fifty dollars this year for the best essay written in the High School, and one of thirty dollars (the Mary C. Upham prize) for the best essay written in the grades. These contests must be conducted by rules sent out by the department. Last year over five hundred thousand essays were written by school children on "The Value of Total Abstinence to a Life." Indiana must work for this prize. Send for rules and plans to our State Superintendent, Mrs. Ethel E. Bair, North Liberty, St. Joseph County, Indiana.

The Medical Temperance department will award a banner to the State reporting the largest number of physicians reached with medical temperance literature. The literature must be by or sanctioned by this department, as some medical temperance literature contains grave errors.

Physicians may be reached by lending or giving the department books, by mailing or giving personally the pamphlet by Dr. Mac Nicholl of New York, entitled, "Does Alcohol Sustain Life?" or the pamphlet by Dr. J. H. Kellogg of Battle Creek, Mich., entitled, "The Truth About Alcohol as Medicine;" packages prepared for physicians by Mrs. M. M. Allen, National Superintendent. These packages are of different sizes and sell at five cents, ten cents and fifteen cents. For State plans regarding this department write to our State Superintendent, Dr. M. E. Keller, 212 Pythian Building, Indianapolis, Ind.

The Sabbath Observance department offers to our Indiana Superintendent five dollars worth of Sabbath Observance literature for use in her State, if she reports by the end of the year an increase of twenty local and county superintendents. For further State plans write to our State Superintendent, who is also Associate National Superintendent, Mrs. Kathryn Wert-Holler, 749 Howard Avenue, South Bend, Ind.

Mothers' Meetings—The prize is a banner to the State for the largest per centage of local reports secured which shall answer definitely ten questions in figures. Another for the largest number of Mothers' Meetings held in a State. Another for the largest White Ribbon Recruits enrolled during the year in a State. Percentage means the largest number according to the number of local unions in a State. For further plans inquire of State Superintendent, Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Hartford City, Ind.

Institutes—The Institute Star will be given to the State sending the best filled report blank. The Institute Banner will be given to the State making the best all round report. Proportionate results will be considered. Last year Illinois 290 Institutes. Cooperate and help our State Superintendent, Mrs. Rose Pearce, Cayuga, Ind. Bring this banner to Indiana.

Literature—The department offers a beautiful silver loving cup to the State sending in the best report. Best means the fullest in answer to every question. The National Superintendent of Literature, Mae A. Davis, says: "A letter, well written, in interest of the department work is Temperance Literature and every page of the paper you edit ought to be sent to Superintendent of temperance literature. Why not?"

"The States are doing wonderful things in the way of using temperance and religious literature and yet they do not report it to their State Superintendent. While I was in Nashville I heard of Illinois sending out 5,000 copies of a temperance paper one day. A religious news paper in New York sends it out, free of cost, by the wagon load, and the President of Georgia said that they sent one wagon load and three buggy loads in one day and yet to my knowledge none of these things were reported. Then if you have a National Superintendent of any department why not report the literature she sends out as State literature? Then it will be reported twice?—not so."

Medal Contests—A gold medal will be given to the State that reports the largest number of contests in proportion to State membership. The National Banner will be awarded to the State making the greatest increase of contests over last year. A gold medal or 100 reciters will be given to the county superintendent who holds the largest number of contests. A gold medal will be given to the local superintendent who holds the largest increase in the number of contests over last year. A gold medal will be given to the State Superintendent who reports the largest number of high grade contests.

Indiana must win some of these prizes. Write to our State Superintendent, Mrs. Julia Overman, Marion, Ind.

TO LOCAL UNIONS.

The State Central Committee has placed some restrictions upon the material sent to The Message. Limiting death notices to fifty words. Resolutions are often very interesting and surely consoling to the friends, but on account of the limited space of The Message these should be used in the local papers.

Local reports of about two hundred or two hundred and twenty-five words. County reports of about three hundred words will enable us to get more reports from the same union or county and the reports will be later. Postal card reports are greatly valued.

County Conventions should plan to clear the fields every where this spring for a great summer's work. When a county superintendent is such without works it is time for a change. Declare the office vacant and elect another. The war is on and there is no time to stop. Fill up the offices with energetic women who do things. Little things count in our ranks at a tremendous value.

Indiana women let us be prompt and loyal in sending $2.00 for the Frances E. Willard Memorial Fund from each union in our State. Do this right away! Send to our State Treasurer, Miss Clara Sears, Anderson, Ind.

Mrs. Harriet W. Brand our National Treasurer, is an able and convincing speaker, she was greatly appreciated as Indiana's Corresponding Secretary, which place she resigned when called to be a National W. C. T. U. officer. Mrs. Brand is coming into Indiana for some work each month. Write and engage her for dates. Her terms are very reasonable. Her address is Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill.

County Presidents who frequently visit their local unions greatly help the work.

The Boy Magazine ought to be put into the hands of all boys of twelve years and older who attend Sunday Schools. The front cover inside is very attractive. It is red and contains Hoffman's Head of Christ. Send for sample copies and prices to "The Boy Magazine," 1119 The Temple, 184 LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill.

A Temperance Newspaper in the home of every church member would bring Prohibition for Indiana if nothing else was done. Take subscriptions for temperance newspapers. Begin today. The Patriot Phalanx, $1.00 per year, official organ Prohibition Party of Indiana, 119 W. Maryland Street, Indianapolis.

The Prohibitionist, $1.00 per year, official organ of the National Prohibition Party, 87 Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

The National Advocate, $1.00 per year, Organ National Temperance Society, 3 East Fourteenth Street, New York City.

To agents every one of these papers make some special rates. Women and boys and girls who want to help the cause and earn some money too, can arrange to do so, beginning right now, if they will write to one of these papers and get samples and get to work.

THE MESSAGE.

SPECIAL SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION PREMIUMS.

(1) To the Scientific Temperance Instruction Departments of the two States sending between Oct. 25, 1907, and October 1, 1908, the greatest and the second greatest number of yearly Crusader Monthly subscriptions for teachers, in proportion to State W. C. T. U. membership, will be awarded premiums of $15 and $10 respectively.

(2) To the Scientific Temperance Instruction Departments of the two States sending between October 25, 1907, and October 1, 1908, the greatest and second greatest number of subscriptions for teachers will be awarded premiums of $15 and $10 respectively.

All subscriptions must be plainly marked so in your subscription letters. Send to the Crusader Monthly, Evanston, Ill., for samples. If you are working for the $25.00 L. T. L. Library premium it need not interfere, as these subscriptions may also be counted on that. Shall Indiana be one of the winning States?

Yours for Indiana,
Ethel E. Bair, State Sup't.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

Dear County Superintendents and County Presidents:

A few days ago I sent to you my literature and hope it has helped you to understand more fully the work of this important department. I want to thank you for the faithful work done last year, for because of it Indiana was given honorable mention by our National Superintendent in the Union Signal. It pays to be faithful. I hope you will study carefully the little booklet I sent you and I am sure you will be interested to know that no department has made greater progress than ours. I am expecting something good from the National Superintendent right soon, and will hand it on to you as soon as I receive it. Keep an accurate account of all work done on middle pages in booklet. Let nothing be left undone. Strike at gambling, whether it be in the low dive, gilded saloon or parlor. Let us not forget what gambling is. The law says: "Playing of any game whatsoever for any sum of money or other property of value." Educate the people along this line. Many do not know they are violating the law when they have parlor games and give prizes. "My people perish for want of knowledge." Begin now to arrange for addresses on "Christian Citizenship" at open air meetings, chautauqua assemblies and G. A. R. encampments. Pay to secure a place on the program for addresses or recitations at any public meeting. Do not report meeting without address or recitation given. With these few lines of encouragement, and hoping for a united effort of all the forces, I am,

Yours for service,
Gertrude Fulton, State Sup't.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGIONERS.

The Executive Committee of the Loyal Temperance Legion will meet at the home of Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College Avenue, Indianapolis, Ind., March 27, 1908, at 10 o'clock. This committee consists of the State President, Vice-President, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary, Treasurer, Musical Director, State General Secretary, State Superintendents of Departments, State Agent for Crusader Monthly, County and Local Superintendents and County Presidents. Mrs. McWhirter writes that she extends this invitation "By authority of the President of Indianapolis Central W. C. T. U., the union to furnish the lunch for the Executive Committee at the noon hour. The committee to have private rooms for their meeting. Just the social hour at noon with the Central Union." Now let every member of this committee make arrangements to be present. The work needs you.

Yours for success,
Ida M. Mix, State General Secretary.

CALL FOR MID-YEAR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING.

The Mid-Year Meeting of the Executive Committee will be held at Lebanon, Ind., beginning at two p. m., on Tuesday, April 7th, and closing with the afternoon meeting on Wednesday the 8th. The Executive Committee consists of the Board of Trustees, Secretary of the Young Woman's Branch, Secretary of the Loyal Legion Branch, Editor of the State paper, President and Secretary of the Board of Superintendents and the President of each County Union.

This meeting is of vital importance and I sincerely hope that every member will answer to roll call at the first meeting. It is the duty of each county to send its President, paying her expenses.

Each County President is asked to respond to first roll call by stating gain in membership in her county over corresponding quarters last year, so I trust March dues may all come in that we may know just how much we have gained. The total gain to that time should be at least 750 if we are to reach our 7,000 members this year.

Yours for service,
Culla J. Vayhinger.

MEDAL CONTEST WORK.

It is the earnest desire of this department to make this by far the best year in the history of our work in the State. In order to do so heroic work must be done in every locality. Of the seventy-five counties organized in W. C. T. U. work only thirty-five have incorporated this department in its work. Is it asking too much to suggest that every county take up medal contest work at once? At least seven hundred contests must be given in the State to come in line for a National banner—our goal for this year. If each of the seventy-five counties would immediately go to work and succeed in holding only ten contests during the year our ambition might easily be gratified. This is the National campaign year, and no better way of arousing public sentiment can be devised than that outlined by this department of work. Will you not swing into line and help us? If you do not understand the work we will gladly give you all necessary information. If your county or local superintendent does not move out, write to me directly yourself and I will help you start. It is a wonderful field of activity. Try one contest and you will become enthusiastic. I shall expect to hear from you at once.

(Mrs.) Julia Overman,
Marion, Ind. State Sup't.

Dear Sisters:

The interest is greatly increasing in this most important department. The letters that come to me daily from over the State are most encouraging, and I am confident we will have a good report. But I feel sure the work unreported will be very great. Oh, that every union could fully realize what a loss this is to them, not only to the union, but also to the County and State and the public. I wish I could impress upon every Press Superintendent the great importance of this department. We ought to be in earnest about this now when this great temperance wave is sweeping our country. The public ought to know more about our work and our efforts to rid our State of the licensed saloon. The leading dailies of the State have shown greater courtesy to us and have presented the temperance question more frequently and more justly than ever before. All along the line there are encouraging signs. It is a blessed privilege to be co-laborers with God in putting away evil things and bringing to pass the reign of righteousness. Then let us do our duty in active energy in the realities of now.

I find the names of forty-one County Press Superintendents in the annual minutes. I have sent the State plan of work to these Superintendents with a letter of greeting, urging them to immediately send them to their local superintendents. I feel that they have not all done this, as I have received a great many letters from local superintendents asking for the plan of work. I want every Superintendent to communicate with me, and every County Superintendent whose name is not in the State Minutes please write to me at once, as I have no way of knowing you. And I will help you in every way possible.

Mrs. Emma Saylor, Supt.
52 Taylor Street, Frankfort, Ind.

MEMBERSHIP CONTEST PLAN.

Choose two captains from the Union. They choose alternately from the membership until all on the roll are chosen. Each member on the one side wears a streamer of red ribbon, on the other, a blue. Give four weeks for work, placing time for closing of contest when the work is begun. When a woman is won to membership, her dollar paid, the woman winning her pins the white ribbon on her and with it the color of the side which she represents and the new member begins working at once for that side. At the end of the given time, a reception is held, the side winning most new members (no woman is counted until her dollar is paid) furnishing the literary program, and the other side furnishing refreshments. Honorary members do not count in the contest.

The New Crusade Plan.

Each member pledges to secure at least one new member before June 15, 1908.
This is the plan which made Ohio's gain.

THE YOUNG WOMAN'S BRANCH OF THE NATIONAL W. C. T. U.

Dear Comrades:

As newly elected Secretary of the Young Woman's Branch I wish to send you a few words of greeting through your State paper. Though I have held this position but a few weeks, the more I study how we may build up our work the larger becomes my vision and the more enticingly beautiful becomes the work of the Young Woman's Branch. You will find that your power in the temperance cause will come through a deep conviction of the rightness of the cause and a thorough knowledge of the working machinery of the organization of which you are a member. Will you not seek that power, this year by a careful study of the Union Signal, your own State paper, the Y. Year book, which will be ready in about a month, and the department literature furnished by State and National Superintendents of the W. C. T. U. Your State Secretary will from time to time give you practical suggestions about work for your union, but may I not urge the following points:

(1) Let every Y carefully observe the noontide prayer and ask other Christians to do the same.

(2) Take up a few of the departments of our work and be very thorough keeping accurate record in a blank book of the work done in each.

(3) Pay dues early in the year and when these are sent on to the treasurer see to it that they are designated Y dues.

(4) Have interesting programs for your meetings. You will find the Year Book helpful in arranging programs.

(5) Do some big thing for your town to bring your work before the people, such as erecting drinking fountains, putting Miss Willard's picture in schools, libraries, soldiers' homes and other institutions. Will you not each one who reads this column begin at once to look about you for the many bright young people who would be a help to our work and who need the all round development which is sure to come from the espousal of a righteous cause and invite them to join the Y. This is the beginning of a new year in our work and the time for good resolutions and I want to ask each member of the Y to resolve that this year she will not let the temperance work wait upon social life, church work, and every other duty, but will remember that ours is an Interdenominational Christian Organization and that we are fighting the greatest enemy of the Church and so give to the Y faithful service.

I realize that you are a busy young woman and these are busy times so let us drop all the unimportant things which cumber our lives and attempt great things this year. I stand ready to help you in any way I can. Write to me when you have perplexing problems. If you have interesting original papers, or poems send them to me and we may be able to use them in our page in the Signal. Be sure to send to me news items about your work that your ideas may be passed on to others. May the Lord bless and keep you and give you each day the joy which comes from service.

CALL TO PRAYER.

March 20th, From 2 to 4 P. M.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana is called to observe March 20th as a day of prayer for the following things:

(1) That the Holy Spirit will touch the hearts of the women of Indiana, that they may be willing to put on the white ribbon and become aggressive in the temperance reform in the State.

(2) That He may so burden the heart of every white ribboner in the State for our cause that she may just now go out to gain other women to it.

(3) That God will strengthen the voters, too, by their ballots, free the State of the traffic by electing a Governor and Legislature that will give us prohibition of the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating liquors.

(4) That God may strengthen us to pray and work for the defeat of all candidates, both for Governor and Legislature, who do not stand committed to the overthrow of the infamous liquor traffic in the State.

Dear Sisters—I trust March 20th, Neal Dow day, may be observed as a day of prayer, for the things indicated in the call. Have a short sketch of the "Life and Work of Neal Dow;" a short talk on "The Advantages of Prohibition in Indiana"—and then get hold of God in prayer for the success of our cause which we know is God's cause. The victory is coming if we only remain true.

Culla J. Vayhinger.

The Board of Trade of Columbus, Ohio, under date of November 8th, sends a letter to the Ohio State Prohibition Committee, offering its heartiest cooperation in securing the National Prohibition Convention for that city in 1908. This letter, which is officially signed by Secretary John Y. Bassell, states that the Board of Trade "hereby guarantees its support in the entertainment of delegates, furnishing Memorial Hall, fully equipped for convention purposes together with ample auxiliary accommodations, which shall be required."

FIELD NEWS

Coloma—The evening's program for February 6th, was most effective. Opened by prayer, followed by a very appropriate program on the life of Frances E. Willard. A new member was added to the now small band of twelve W. C. T. U. workers. Announcement was made for next month's program, Union Signal Day; closing with the hymn, "Blest be the Tie."

Mrs. Lydia Jett, Press Cor.

Poseyville W. C. T. U. met at Mrs. T. J. Williams on January 16th; President Mrs. Lou Rogers presiding. Devotionals were led by Mrs. T. J. Williams. After the business of the local union the county work was considered by the County President Mrs. Charles Cleveland. With the help of Mt. Vernon union the county officers were elected as follows: County President, Mrs. Lou Rogers, Poseyville; Vice-President, Mrs. W. D. Brown, Poseyville; Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. B. Black, Mt. Vernon; Treasurer, Mrs. Charles Cleveland, Poseyville. After which refreshments were served. Our Mt. Vernon sisters were very much pleased with our meeting and the work of the year has started out with great promise. Let us keep this inspiration throughout the year. Victory is sure if each one is faithful to duty.

Eda Tilton, Press Supt.

Howard County—The quarterly meeting of County Superintendents of departments was held in Russiaville, Thursday, February 13th. The morning session was in charge of the County President, Mrs. Ida Mix. The four departments considered were Mercy, Sabbath Observance, Franchise and Flower Mission. These meetings are very helpful to the unions.

Henrietta M. Arnold.

Huntington County has the honor of having the first union organized after the State Convention. Roanoke and Markle are dry, and Warren will be dry in June, if not earlier. We have twenty-one indictments against one man, and eighteen against another, gained one case in court and expect to gain another to-day. The W. C. T. U. started the ball rolling, and we had the help of all ministers and business men. The only reason that all towns are not dry is because people are afraid. Women do not be afraid, because we as a W. C. T. U. have greater power than we think, we can use tact, ask questions, do not condemn, place ourselves in line and "victory is ours." Our beloved local President of Markle lost her dear husband, Mr. James Penfold. He started south to regain health and seek a location, but died in a few days after reaching Texas. We expect to hold an institute, as these are training schools. We have a fine new Court House at Huntington, and our local union at Huntington applied for a room in same, and we now have headquarters, and the President, Mrs. Newcomb, has asked all interested in temperance work to call on Saturday and Tuesday, and feel at home. Yours for service,

Mrs. Irene Gard.

Mooreville—At the meeting of our union Tuesday, January 28th. Little Margaret Tutt, age eight, and small for her years made application for membership. She had earned the membership for herself and her application was received with appreciation. She is a medal speaker, and the white ribbon looks well under the shadow of her bright curls. We are already thinking of sending her to the next State convention.

Sarah K. Manire.

The Richmond Frances E. Willard Union is growing in interest and numbers. Our President, Mrs. Nettie V. Traum, gave an enthusiastic report of the State Convention to members and visitors at the home of Eliza Morris. A mother's meeting was held on the 29th of November at the home of Mrs. Traum. An interesting program was rendered. Several mothers with their young children were present. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served. A public meeting was held at the First M. E. Church in December, at which Rev. Traum gave an address on "The Father's Responsibility." The baneful effects of the cigarette habit, and the department of Mercy, were the topics for an interesting program. Meeting held at the home of Eliza Morris. On the 19th of January Wilson S. Doan of Indianapolis, gave his lecture, "The Boy and the Flag," to an appreciative audience at the Christian Church. Col. Bain is to speak for our union on the 11th of March. A Frances E. Willard memorial meeting is being planned for February 21st, to be held with Mrs. Luring, 63 South Fifteenth street.

Mrs. Sadie H. Eves, Cor. Sec.

Russiaville—At a recent meeting held with Mrs. Mary Rich, plans for the future were made and superintendents appointed. The Flower Mission Department under the leadership of Miss Olive Lee is almost a society itself. Excellent reports of one month's work were given. It is the hope of the union that the children in Honey Creek township will become so interested in this department that they will double their energies in planning for the growing of flowers and plants next summer. A little thought now might enable us to make a creditable display of plants, flowers, hanging baskets and vegetables at the Fair this fall, or we might have a Flower Show in mid-summer. Such an exhibition would be of value to our homes, for there is no home so poor or cottage so small that it couldn't have a part and compete for a prize.

Russiaville—We have our meeting every two weeks. Had a beautiful occasion when we organized on Sunday afternoon. Had one largely attended meeting in the M. E. Church, at which time Mrs. Wygant of Kokomo, addressed us on W. C. T. U. work, and we have a meeting advertised for the Christian Church in three weeks, when Rev. Frank Stafford (quaker) will preach a temperance sermon. This much to tell you we are active. Yours devotedly, (Mrs.) Nora Trueblood Gause.

Vanderburg County—The unions are increasing in membership and interest steadily growing. The lunch and rest room at Evans Hall is well patronized. Kept open house New Year's day, refreshments were served. Quite a large number called. Favors of white ribbon were pinned by County President Mrs. Whitney, on which were printed, "Indiana Dry in 1912." Howell union is doing fine work, having employed a fine vocal teacher to train the Senior L. T. L. for a temperance choir. Gave a reception for the school teachers, having twelve teachers in attendance, each one of the teachers taking part in a very interesting program on scientific temperance. The Y organization was suggested by the W. C. T. U. ladies and the next week they met at one of the homes of the teachers and organized a Y with twelve of the leading young ladies of the town, six being school teachers, with the following officers: President, Mrs. Fannie Jarrett; Secretary, Miss Enola Sutter; Treasurer, Miss Mary Weno. The W. C. T. U. gives a temperance program once a month at the meetings of the M. E. Ladies' Aid of fifty-two members.

Mrs. B. Bassett, Co. Sec.

Grant County—Deer Creek Union—On February 4th, the seventeenth anniversary, an all day celebration was given, which was a grand success, not only enjoyed by the membership. But long before the noon hour the Swayzee, Tleff and Deer Creek unions were represented. The devotional was conducted by Nellie S. Davis, followed by music, and a recitation by little Mildred Shugart. The main feature on the program before noon was an address given by an honorary, Mr. Harvey Ratliff. His subject, "A Bigger Soul." An attainment, sure and certain to an active membership in an organization composed of so many Christian departments. A young mother, Mrs. Audra M. King brought her two little girls to the platform, where Mrs. Shugart dedicated them to the W. C. T. U. by invoking God's blessing and tying the white ribbon on the wrist of each. At the noon hour dinner was served in plates to more than one hundred people. A pleasant hour was spent. At 1:30 after the devotional conducted by A. W. Jay, the local treasurer was called to the platform and was reminded by the president that she was graciously remembered by the rank and file. The token was a handsome cherry rocker, ornamented by a large bow of white ribbon. But this was not all, a second surprise quickly followed, when our County Press Superintendent arose and with a neat little speech presented the president and treasurer each with a beautiful W. C. T. U. souvenir spoon, engraved and embossed with historic emblems of our organization. Vain glory could not have been the innermost thoughts of the recipients, but instead, a humble consecration. All the while conscious of the silent message, embodied therein, of "Blest be the Tie That Binds."

The debate, "Resolved, that Famine, War and Pestilence, are more destructive than the Liquor Traffic," was ably handled by Mrs. Sarah E. Thomas and Bennet L. Shugart. The speeches of both negative and affirmative being followed closely. The decision in favor of the negative, "The Liquor Traffic." Mrs. Nellie B. Kelley gave a very interesting talk on the selection of literature for the child. Mrs. Ida Harris with a vocal solo. Little Irene Shugart, a recitation. One honorary and two regular members were received. Thus closed another chapter for the Deer Creek W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Sue Ratliff.

Indianapolis Central W. C. T. U. held two important meetings in February. A regular meeting at the home of the President, Mrs. Frances Boyer on February 13th, was largely attended. Mrs. Samuel Schuck read a very comprehensive paper on "Advances in Temperance Legislation." It was reported that temperance classes conducted by Mrs. Mary Clark Brown, in the "Door of Hope" were helpful. Each week there being a change of girls; some gone, others had come to take their places. There are thirty girls there now. Mrs. Brown reported two silver medal contests held. The L. T. L. at French Lick, Ind., organized by Mrs. Brown and now conducted by Mrs. Rhoades for Central Union is in excellent condition, with a membership of forty boys and girls. The L. T. L. work conducted by Miss Marie Leck at the Cristamore College Settlement is increasing in interest. At this meeting there were present many visitors, among them Mrs. Handy, president of Mapleton union, and Mrs. Brigham, president of Indianapolis North-East Union, and Mrs. J. W. J. Smith, formerly president of the Campbellsburg union, who has moved to the city. Miss Eckman reported that Marion county unions were earnestly working for subscriptions to the Union Signal. Broad Ripple union had one subscription and had secured nine new subscriptions. Three subscriptions were given to the Union Signal at this meeting and three new members paid dues.

On Sunday evening, February 16th, this union observed Frances Willard Memorial Day in Broadway Methodist Church. Mrs. Harriet W. Brand, National Treasurer, a member of the union, made an excellent and scholarly address on the "Life of Miss Willard and her Relation to the W. C. T. U." The large audience was deeply interested, at the close, Mrs. McWhirter, treasurer of the union, made a plea for membership, which was responded to by seven earnest men and women, who gave their names for membership. There was special music by the choir. The cordial hospitality of Rev. L. C. Bentley, the pastor, and by the membership, encouraged Central union to work with greater persistence.

At Louisville, Ky., the M. P. Hunt W. C. T. U. held a Willard Memorial meeting on February 16th, in the Walnut Street Baptist Church, at which there were more than one thousand people present. Mr. F. T. McWhirter, of Indianapolis, made an able address on the "Life and Characteristics of Miss Willard." At the close of which fifteen persons joined the union. Mrs. E. W. Loomis, formerly a Marion County worker organized the union with thirty-eight members. Since then she has organized an L. T. L. with thirty members and a Y with fifty members.

Hartford City—Truly the way of the transgressors are hard. The saloon keepers of Hartford and Montpelier are having a stormy time in convincing the law abiding citizens that the saloons and gambling dens are a blessing in disguise. In January two saloons were stopped by the activity of the W. C. T. U. and a remonstrance. The first Monday of February the Commissioners met and two saloon keepers made application for license. One was granted for Montpelier. The other was confronted by a committee of the W. C. T. U. ladies and their attorney Mr. B. G. Shinn, who had circulated a remonstrance against Mr. Stuart, of the Ingram hotel, but when he found out the facts that the cold water brigade were camping on his tracks he withdrew his application and the hotel will stop dispensing wet goods February 14th, but there are more and more to follow and we are ready for the fray. Two more Hartford City saloon keepers will apply for license to sell poison at the regular March term of the Commissioners' Court, but they too will meet a watery grave. Those four saloon keepers of Blackford County, who quit selling booze by request, will doubtless engage in a more honorable business.

Miss Birdella Beam of Columbus, R. F. D. No. 1, writes that Orinoca union is the only one in Bartholomew County that keeps a W. C. T. U. column in a newspaper. Orinoca union held a public meeting late in December, which was largely attended. The program consisted of an address by the president, Mrs. Ora Harlow, on the "Plans of the W. C. T. U., Recitations and Special Music." Much enthusiasm in the union and new members added.

Mrs. Harriet W. Brand, National Treasurer, was the guest of the South Bend Chapin Park Union, February 13th. Mrs. Fassuacht entertained in the afternoon for Mrs. Brand. Her beautiful, spacious home was appropriately decorated and more than two hundred ladies were present. After a short musical program Mrs. Brand spoke briefly of the work of the W. C. T. U. That evening a splendid audience greeted Mrs. Brand in the First Baptist Church. Her address was strong and greatly appreciated by the representative citizens of South Bend.

NOTICE TO UNIONS.

Please send the name and address of every saloon keeper and liquor selling druggist in your community to Mrs. J. D. Johnson. Do this immediately.

Press Reporters please send reports of meetings held and special work done to the Message the very next day so it can be read from the first issue afterwards. The reports sent to the local newspapers should contain all the detail information, but when these are published and clipped from the paper and sent to the Message they must be somewhat changed. Please write reports for the Message with the purpose of telling our two hundred and fifty local unions of the work done. The results accomplished.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. DELLA ALLEN, of the Sycamore Union, has been called home after a long, earnest, devoted life. The W. C. T. U. assisted in the funeral service. The county president made a very fitting and touching talk. The local and county unions gave floral tributes. The union realizes its great loss, but the memory of her works will be an inspiration to her co-workers. Her husband, two sons and an aged mother have our deepest sympathy.

SIMON MENDENHALL, an honorary member of the Sycamore W. C. T. U., died, after an illness of some weeks. He was a devoted and loyal brother. The union's loss, we realize is his gain. Though he has gone from us, his encouraging words and myrthful spirit will live on in our lives. We share the sorrow with his wife (our sister) and his children.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. XIII. No. 5.

ANDERSON, IND., APRIL, 1908.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

PROHIBITION LAW FOR INDIANA

Men Should be Sent to the Next Legislature Who Will Vote for State Wide Prohibition.

The Union Signal should be read by every intelligent W. C. T. U. and Missionary Society member in Indiana.

Local presidents and other officers will find that the membership must have this National W. C. T. U. paper to do the best, most effective work.

Can you think of a real live old party man who does not have his county paper? No, the men always subscribe for and read their party papers, and besides they take their lodge, trade and professional papers.

White Ribbon women who do not read the Union Signal are more or less handicapped in their temperance work. No other class of women are expected to be so well informed upon the many phases of the great reforms of the day as are our W. C. T. U. women.

To be strong, to be courageous in their work, knowledge is absolutely necessary. To have information on the mighty progress being made in the temperance and purity reform, W. C. T. U. women should have the Union Signal. $1.00 per year. Address Union Signal, Rest Cottage, Evans-ton, Ill.

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND SAYS:

Intemperance is doing the Holy Church harm beyond the power of pen to describe. In the past I thought there was power in moral suasion, that when the liquor sellers were shown the evil of their ways, they would abandon the traffic. But we have seen that there is no hope of improving, in shape or form, the liquor traffic. There is nothing now to be done but to wipe it out completely.

MRS. EDITH SMITH DAVIS.

(By Eva Kilbreth Foster.)

Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, in assuming the superintendency of the World's and National departments of Scientific Temperance Instruction in Public Schools and Colleges (under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union) assumes merely the responsibility of a wider constituency. The first year of her service in this larger field of work already familiar to her has amply justified the choice of superintendent for this double office, made in 1906 by the World's and the National organizations.

Of English descent, Mrs. Davis combines the "seasoned" culture of an Old World ancestry with the progressive spirit of an American twentieth-century womanhood. She began existence on a Wisconsin farm (but a few miles from Frances Willard's childhood home), and Wisconsin's invigorating breezes have freely blown through the major years of her life.

Milton College, Lawrence University, and a post-graduate course at Wellesley College have been factors in her training for service. Upon completing her post-graduate course at Wellesley College, early in the eighties, three years were spent at Clark University as teacher. In 1882 Lawrence University conferred upon her the degree of Master of Arts, and in June, 1907, the degree of Doctor of Letters.

To the rare educational advantages enjoyed by Mrs. Davis have been added the extensive travels which have brought her into close fellowship with scholars of the Old World as well as with the foremost thinkers of America. Sent as a representative of the National W. C. T. U. from the United States to the Anti-Alcoholic Congress at Stockholm, July, 1907, she was able to acquaint herself with methods adopted by both continental and English schools looking to the advancement of Scientific Temperance Instruction among the children of Europe. Credentials of the United States Government, as well as her own official prestige, gained for her many privileges of exceptional interest and significance.

As has already been stated, the work to which Mrs. Davis was appointed by the World's and National organizations is in no sense new to her. She had been actively and creditably identified with W. C. T. U. interests in Wisconsin long before assuming the specific work of the S. T. I. department in her state. As early as 1884 she was superintendent of a Band of Hope. Later she was closely associated with Frances Willard in the work of social purity, and still later, she held the presidency of the Milwaukee Union, which at that time included all the unions of the city.

The volumes from Mrs. Davis' pen betray its versatility, suggesting the many-sided nature of the writer. Under the title "Two" she has written a temperance story which has already passed its seventh edition.

Mrs. Davis presides with ease, grace and dignity over the home of one of Wisconsin's most distinguished divines, the Rev. Dr. I. S. Davis, of Milwaukee. Two daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Davis hold positions of responsibility suited to their literary gifts, while a third daughter and a son are still pursuing their studies in Milwaukee's high school. Mrs. Davis is actively interested in many church societies and prominently identified with the club life of the city. She is a recognized power within and without white-ribbon circles.

Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, who so long and so ably represented the work of this department, making herself felt as a mighty force abroad as well as at home, was wont to say: "Our star of Hope hangs over the schoolhouse." The interests of the "schoolhouse" (at home and abroad) bid fair to progress, not retrograde, under the intelligent and forceful leadership of Mrs. Hunt's able successor. Reinforced by a board of counsellors which includes among its names men of recognized authority in the world of science, the world of medicine, the world of philosophy and religion, Mrs. Davis hopefully and steadfastly pushes forward

MRS. TILMAN HOBSON,
Anderson Ind.,

State Superintendent of Systematic Giving.

The following tribute and original poem was given by Mrs. Hobson at Richmond, Ind., at the Frances Willard Memorial service, in the First M. E. church, where several ministers assisted:

It is fitting to the memory of the one who has passed from this busy stage of action out into the realities of eternity's golden shore, that we meet to show our appreciation of her labor, her undaunted courage and untiring devotion to the cause she loved, the suppression of intemperance, the protection of home and loved ones, and the salvation of the youth of our land from lives worse than death.

She believed it far better to build characters that would stand the storms and temptations of life than after their feet have gone down into the dark waters of vice to then reach out a helping hand and bring them back to the fold of Christ.

She lifted her warning voice in the morning of life. She went forth to do the Master's bidding ever conscious of the needs of humanity. As she neared the sunset shore she increased her energy, knowing that full soon the Master would come and claim His own.

Such a character is an inspiration to us all, helping us to realize that:

"The lives of great ones all remind us,

We can make our lives sublime,

And, departing, leave behind us,

Footprints on the sands of time."

While we meet to do honor to her memory, let us remember that it was not only works of righteousness which she did that merit praise, but the Spirit of Christ who gave her power to accomplish such noble results. We believe that Frances E. Willard was a chosen messenger sent of God to warn the lost of their condition and point them to a brighter and happier way. Let us cherish her memory, and realize that all the higher attainments of this life are gained by a constant devotion to the cause we love. The up-building of God's Kingdom upon this earth is by constant self-sacrifice on the part of His loved ones.

Her eyes beheld the great possibilities of the future, and with prophetic vision she saw in the distant horizon the Bow of Promise that victory shall come to every land. Her ears were attuned to the faintest whisper of distress. Her heart thrilled with love's tenderest sympathy to the lowest person. Her voice, that was lifted in prayer to the Almighty for the protection of home and loved ones, echoed and re-echoed the strains from angel voices as it was wafted to a sorrowing world.

Her hands gladly led in the varied conflicts of life, smoothing the pathway by her gentle touches, till those wearied with the struggle of life took fresh courage and pressed forward. Her feet were ever ready as angels of mercy to tread the gilded halls of sin to rescue a brother or sister.

These are hushed in the silent hall of death. The alabaster box of life has been broken, the fragrant ointment has been poured out, and she has gone forth clothed in robes of Christ's righteousness to rest in the eternal sunshine of God's love. Yet, still she lives; her character, grand, noble and pure, is stamped forever upon the tablets of our memories, and not till time, which beareth all things onward, brings us to our last resting place shall we forget her labors. Swing outward, ye gates of the future; lift the veil from our darkened vision, that we may behold her in the spirit world.

"And now I give the gospel of her precious life, I owe it to herself and to the world, grateful for all her tender ministry in life and death. I bring these leaves, entwined with her own roses, dewy with our tears, and lay them as a tribute of our love upon the grave that holds her sacred dust."

Sleep on, and while the birds sing sweetly above thy lone and silent tomb, other voices shall sing the songs of temperance; nor will they cease till the Flag of Prohibition waves proudly on Liberty Shore.

The uncrowned queen of our land has been taken;
Transplanted in Heaven's garden to bloom.
Rich with the perfumes of Heaven she awakened
Beyond the portals of a lonely tomb.

Clothed in the garments of an angel she ascended,
swift on white pinions she flitted away;
Joined by a band of angels in glory,
Jesus, had called, she no longer could stay.
And now on the banks of the beautiful river,
Which flows by the clear crystal fountain of God,
There with her loved ones will rest on forever,
In the home of the blest where angels have trod.

Rest on, noble sister, in death's quiet slumber;
May laurels of peace encircle thy brow.
And the robe of pure whiteness, the emblem thou lovedst,
With the bright crown of immortals adorning thee now.

Thy great soul has passed on from its mission
On earth, to a higher and holier sphere;
May we who are left take up thy loved mantle
And wear it as nobly as thou didst while here.

Drinking fountains. In many towns the W. C. T. U. has erected drinking fountains. The old town pumps are fast disappearing. In some instances, we understand, that they were removed at the behest of the liquor interests. In a few instances we are assured of the fact.

Could there be a more fitting movement to the W. C. T. U. work and workers than to erect a drinking fountain? The Union at Mitchell, South Dakota, is putting up one of unusual beauty, with electric lights at the top.

Now is the time to consider this subject. Get information; see what can be done, and plan. Erect a W. C. T. U. water fountain.

Women and boys who desire to help the cause of prohibition in Indiana and to make some money for themselves, can do it quickly and easily.

There is no surer way of persons becoming interested in definite work for prohibition than to become readers of a temperance paper.

We have the Patriot Phalanx, our state Prohibition party paper, and the National Advocate, published by the old National Temperance Society. One of these temperance papers, or both, should be in the home of every Christian man in Indiana. Now is the time to work for subscriptions. Write immediately for terms to agents to these papers and begin to solicit subscribers. The addresses are as follows: The Patriot Phalanx, 119 W. Maryland St., Indianapolis, and The National Advocate, 3 E. 14th St., New York city.

Why does the Message urge that these papers have greater circulation in Indiana? Because we know that according to a man's information upon a subject is he interested in that subject. No real sincerely-minded man can read either one of these papers from now until Jan. 1, 1909, without being actively interested in helping to urge our legislators then to give us state-wide prohibition.

How absurd are the poster advertisements of the liquor dealers! Do they think that people of even moderate intelligence will accept such weak arguments in favor of the blighting curse of rum? The press which now accepts their bloody dollars for full page expensive advertising is being forced by public opinion to array itself more and more, editorially, against the common enemy to humanity, in every relation of life.

View the liquor traffic from whatever standpoint, its destructive results are, everywhere, so appalling that no one can be deceived by the frantic plea of brewers and distillers. Capital is diverted from other industries, which would employ six times as many people in the factories and three times as much value in raw material. Moreover, the employees would produce useful commodities, which would find a growing market in a million homes now poverty stricken and diseased on account of the saloon.

Less than a generation under prohibition would demand the output of a million more wage earners than are now required, and the land would blossom as a rose with nature's products to be used for the uplift of the home. Year by year the transformation would make glad the desolate places.

Local option, at best, can be only a temporary relief from the ravages of the liquor traffic. It is just as logical to consider burglary settled by local restraint with license in other localities, as to claim that local option can be a satisfactory remedy for outlawing the liquor traffic. Nothing short of state-wide, nation-wide prohibition can be effective. The constant annoyances and inroads of the liquor dealer will harass local option communities, counties and states until the final victory establishes universal prohibition. Local option is preferable to remonstrance, as is to a sensitive person sweitzer cheese to a rotten egg; but neither has the proper flavor. We can not temporize or compromise with the liquor problem and be at peace.

Do not be deceived by the claim that liquor men prefer local option to the remonstrance plan. They do not, but if their friends can divert the attention of the people and divide the sentiment, high license will be made possible. The Indianapolis News and other papers opposed to prohibition will push high license in the interest of their advertising patronage and other patronage of the liquor traffic, and this can not be done effectively unless the temperance people are divided. Let us stand united for prohibition, state-wide, and accept local option only as a last resort.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

For more than thirty years the friends of the Lord's Day, all over the world, have set apart the week beginning with the Sabbath following Easter Sunday as a week of prayer, for the preservation of the sanctity of the Sabbath. Let us this year endeavor, if possible, to enlist more churches and more people than ever before. There is no more important week engaging the attention of the Christian, today, than that which we are called upon to do in this department. God's cause will be honored and the Christian life benefitted, if we specially consecrate ourselves to this week of service.

At all times let us use our whole influence against Sunday excursions and Sunday travel, the Sunday newspaper, Sunday visiting, Sunday amusements of all kinds, the Sunday use of the postoffice, and especially the careful training of our families. It is our little children who are making society, and who will soon be on the highway of life. The next generation lies like plastic clay in our hands. We should make good use of the opportunity to instill into the child's heart these Sabbath influences.

During the special week of prayer let us secure the united co-operation of the young people's societies and the churches with the W. C. T. U. in holding noon-hour services. A church centrally located should be used. Get the best singers and speakers in your city to help in the meetings. Nothing is too good for the W. C. T. U. At South Bend last year we had the co-operation of over thirty young people's societies, also the Y. M. C. A., the Ministerial Association and other organizations. We will endeavor to do as well if not better this year.

The public must be educated, and we must do this primarily by means of Sabbath leaflets, which every local union is requested to distribute through the community; also through sermons, which are requested at intervals from all pastors; by use of special exercises in Sabbath schools and Loyal Legions; by lectures and public meetings; by publishing state Sabbath laws; by free use of the newspaper press, and let us not forget the assembling of ourselves together for prayer and consecration in behalf of the Christian Sabbath.

Your comrade in service,
Kathryn Wert Holler,
State and Associate Nat. Supt. Sabbath Observance, South Bend.

Every local union in the state should observe the April week of prayer.

Have Sabbath Pledge signing in Sabbath schools and L. T. Ls Sunday, April 26th.

"Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy."

"Sunday is the golden clasp that binds the volume of the week."

"Preserve the Sabbath fully and you cripple the saloon greatly."

"The saloon is the school where Sabbath desecration is taught."—Dr. James Brand.

WEEK OF PRAYER FOR THE SABBATH.

April 26th to May 3d will be observed as the annual world's week of prayer for a better observance of the Christian Sabbath.

Call to Prayer leaflets, especially adapted for sending to ministers and various organizations are now ready, and can be secured from Mrs. V. F. Cox, Vienna, N. J., at 10 cents per 100 leaflets. Kathryn Wert Holler, State Supt.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

One half of this year is gone. What have we done for our department? What are we doing, and what, by the help of the Holy Spirit, will we do in the remaining six months? I have sent my plan of work, with some good literature, to every superintendent whose address I could get through the state directory and otherwise. There are a few counties among the fifty in the state directory that have not reported a Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings. Henry, Jennings, Johnson, Knox, Kosciusko and Wells. Will not every County President see that there is a County Superintendent of this department, and every County Superintendent see that there is a Local Superintendent in every Union? I hope no county will fail in this very important department. We are out for great victories this year. The fight is on, and we will win if we are true soldiers. The bravest soldier and the truest trainer is the mother in the home. God bless the mother! What I want now is to remind you, dear mothers, of the importance of improving the present time as the days are going by, and keeping a record of all work done and reporting at the proper time. There will be three banners awarded at the National in this department. Will you help your state win one or more of these banners? The first banner will go to the state securing the largest percentage of local reports with the ten answers definitely given. Second to the state holding the largest percentage of mothers' meetings. Third to the state securing the largest percentage of white ribbon recruits. We can win some of these banners if we will, and while winning banners we can do what is better, be sowing seed and winning souls. I will, at state convention, give a book to the local superintendent who holds the most mothers' meetings, and one to the superintendent of the white ribbon recruit who reports the greatest number of children enrolled.

Yours for service, Mrs. S. M. Stahl.
Hartford City.

At Washington our W. C. T. U. headquarters is a busy place. Our National Superintendent of Legislation, Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, is in charge. We owe much to her energy, tact and persistency in seeking and securing information concerning temperance legislative matters and sending out this information to our constituency through the Union Signal.

The liquor men have for many years had headquarters in Washington, our nation's capitol, with heavily paid attorneys to watch all legislation injurious to their business, with an ex-United States Senator as leader with a salary of $15,000 per year.

Under such circumstances they have succeeded in keeping from vote or passage any measure that hurt their business. They know full well that so long as the Government can be kept issuing internal revenue liquor licenses that it will help to nullify state prohibitory laws.

The interstate commerce law now permits the shipment of liquor into states and counties where prohibitory laws are in force. These shipments made and received in original packages not sold by the drink.

Think of our Government permitting such a nefarious business. And now great effort is being made by the best element of citizens of the whole United States to get Congress to pass the Littlefield bill to prohibit the sending of liquors by express, mail or otherwise into prohibition territory. The liquor men have great political power, and for many years have succeeded in keeping such a bill from passing Congress. They may succeed again this time.

Great interest is manifested by all temperance and liquor forces in the outcome of this bill.

Our national officers are now at Washington, busy with things of vital interest. Ex-Senator and Mrs. John B. Henderson are total abstainers and earnest advocates of prohibition. They recently gave a luncheon at Boundary Castle, their Washington home, in honor of our beloved national officers, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, Miss Anna Gordon and Mrs. Hoge. With them were invited Miss Elizabeth Gordon and Mrs. Clinton Smith, President of the District of Columbia W. C. T. U.

THE HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL SUIT.

Dear Sisters:

Since the appearance in the Indianapolis papers of the account of suit filed by Martha J. Hadley against the Hadley Industrial School for clear title to the farms deeded by her and Addison Hadley to the school, many letters of inquiry have come to me and other members of the Board of Trustees from the women over the state asking the exact condition of affairs.

Aunt Martha Hadley knew nothing of the fact that the suit was filed against the W. C. T. U. and the school, and says she authorized no one to file suit against us. It has arisen from other sources. She spent Christmas with the children in the school, and expressed her delight at the condition in which she found things. She also expressed her satisfaction to the trustees who visited her a few days since. She is grieved that this has arisen, and expressed her desire to have the whole thing withdrawn from court. If it is not withdrawn it will be no fault of her's. Our affairs are in the hands of our attorneys, Wiley & Jones, and you need not fear the outcome I am sure. I trust you will send your donations speedily, as the receipts have greatly fallen off since the suit was filed, and things are going on at the school the same as formerly, and so we must have the funds to meet expenses. The income should be greater than ever as this suit means added expense. I am sure you will relieve the situation by sending your donations without delay. Pray that the Lord may overrule the designs of evil men for His glory and the good of the cause. I promise to serve you to the best of my knowledge.

Yours sincerely,

Culla J. Vayhinger.

TO UNIONS.

Please forward your donations and gifts for the Hadley Industrial School to the Treasurer, Miss Clara M. Sears, 222 W. 14th St., Anderson, Ind. Help at this time will be much appreciated.

Will Mrs. J. D. Johnson please give her address, as a request appeared in March Message, asking for the names of law violators, saloon keepers and liquor-selling druggists. The women do not know where to address the lady.

FIELD NEWS

The North Vernon W. C. T. U. has a membership of sixty ladies and several associate members. We hold regular meetings every two weeks, on Tuesday. Every other meeting is a public meeting in one of our churches, with a specially arranged program. These meetings are attended by our members as well as others. On Feb. 25th the Union gave a reception in honor of the fifteen ladies who had recently come into the Union. This was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Powell, and each W. C. T. U. lady brought her husband as a guest. A very nice program was given, and a delicate lunch served, which made the evening quite a success socially and won friends for our Union. Mrs. Rose Pearce has just closed a temperance institute, which was held two days. This was a great uplift for the workers in the Union, as well as an education along temperance and reform questions for many who attended the sessions. Several most excellent addresses were given by the pastors of the city, and a very interesting talk was given by Mr. Matthews, a lawyer, on the subject: "The Saloon License, Unconstitutional and Unscriptural." Also Professor Weedman, superintendent of our public schools, gave an excellent address about "The Effect of the Cigarette Habit on the Growing Boy." We felt regret when the institute closed and we had to bid Mrs. Pearce good-bye and God speed. She, with her pleasant, winning way, had, in the two days she was in our city, grown very near to us. She is a splendid institute worker, and we, as a Union, felt that we had been specially blessed in having her with us. The W. C. T. U. of our city has done much to mold temperance sentiment by our work, keeping the cause ever before "the people," feeling sure that victories will be won. "Not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit," saith the Lord of hosts.

Balbec—On March 4th a very good Willard Memorial service was held at the home of the President, Mrs. Edmundson. The rooms were decorated appropriately with pictures taken from the Union Signal. Also a large framed picture of Miss Willard was draped in white. Mrs. S. W. Haynes and Mrs. Fred Stovenour, our County President and Treasurer were present. Also Mrs. Sarah Mason, President of the Pennville Union.

The Balbec Union is conducting a "Red and Blue" membership contest, and one new member was secured for each side. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Edmundson invited the ladies to the dining room to partake of what she modestly termed "a little lunch," but proved to be a full meal served in courses. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Edmundson, who had certainly spared no efforts to make the meeting a success.

Eva D. Hunt.

Salem—On Sunday evening, beginning at 7:00, the Salem W. C. T. U. held a very entertaining and uplifting Willard Memorial meeting at the M. E. church. Four of our pastors dismissed their respective congregations for the occasion and participated very helpfully in the service. Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather the house was well filled with an appreciative audience, which later was evidenced by their close attention and liberal contribution for the extension of our work. The editors of our two new papers, the Salem Democrat and the Republican Leader, honored the meeting with their presence, and gave a writeup of it in their respective papers as being excellent. The W. C. T. U. highly appreciate the inestimable help of these editors in our work, graciously according us free space in their columns in the interest of our cause, and, furthermore, they deserve, and doubtless have, the gratitude of all rightminded persons, especially of all parents, for their decided stand along reform lines and for furnishing such clean, high-toned newspapers, so well fitted for the family circle. Our County President, Mrs. Fanny B. Ellis, has been quite ill for a few weeks, but is recovering now, though not yet able to get out from home, so she has called the County Executive to meet with her to arrange for our County Institute, which is to be held at Campbellsburg, May 7, 8, 10.

Mary N. Overman, Local Supt. Press.

Terre Haute—W. C. T. U. for the second quarter made 123 sick calls, 79 social calls made, 94 dainties given to sick, 13,956 pages of literature distributed, 129 Scripture text cards used, $10.90 in money used, 4 cans of fruit given, had an attendance of 34 at meetings, 113 bouquets given, have held regular meetings and have held two mass meetings for the Red Letter Days, have observed Crusade Day, Dec. 23; birthday of Madam Willard, Jan. 3; Frances E. Willard's Heavenly Birthday, Feb. 17; Union Signal Day, March 1; will observe Neal Dow Day at our next meeting. Ever in line with the work. Mrs. J. F. Curry, President Terre Haute W. C. T. U., 1323 Ash St. The Indianapolis Meridian W. C. T. U. met Feb. 12th with Mrs. Wolf, 1906 Broadway. Mrs. Sherwood, State and County Superintendent of Purity in Literature and Art, gave startling facts that research in her department revealed. She also gave practical methods of carrying on the work of this department. Mrs. W. J. Becket read a carefully prepared and profitable paper on prohibition. A member suggested Mrs. Becket's paper would be very desirable to use on "Temperance Day" in missionary societies. We hope our penny strips will eventually yield us "a mile of pennies" with which to enlarge our work.

Allen County, Benton Union—Frances Willard Memorial meeting was held Feb. 11th at the pleasant home of Mrs. Fannie Edwards. Several were present besides our own noble women, some of whom came in several miles from their country homes, 34 ladies being present, which was a large attendance, considering the sickness that is prevalent. Our state programs were followed, and four interesting papers read. The music was appropriate and helpful. Altogether an excellent meeting. A thank offering was taken.

Westfield W. C. T. U.—Our Union is alive to the issues of the day. Although we have no saloons in our town or vicinity, yet we realize that there is much to be done by the Union as a whole. We have taken a more decided stand for Sabbath observance in our town. We held a memorial to Frances E. Willard. We are proud of the woman who stood so nobly for a great reform.

Mrs. Ella Briles.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley held two successful meetings under the auspices of Perkinsville, Madison County, W. C. T. U., on Saturday night and Sunday morning in the M. E. church, Perkinsville. On Saturday night she gave the reading: "At the Mercy of the State." On Sunday morning she secured fourteen new members and three honorary members for the Union. On Sunday night she gave an address, "The Coming Victory," in Lapel M. E. church, and although the rain descended in torrents a good sized audience greeted her, and the boys' band of eleven pieces was present to furnish music. Her address was fine. Mrs. Stanley is one of our best and most inspiring speakers.

Edith V. Cascadden.

The Boy Magazine is one the children will enjoy, but it is intended also for parents, philanthropists, teachers and all interested in the moral and civic betterment of boys and girls. Price, 50c per annum. In clubs of four, 25c per annum. Send 5c for sample copy of the Boy Magazine. Room 1119 Woman's Temple, Chicago.

Seymour W. C. T. U. Jan. 22d held a meeting with Mrs. Sawyer. Subject: "Cigarette-Tobacco Habit." Paper by Mrs. R. R. Short. Solo, Miss Sawyer. "How do Christian People, in an Indirect Way, Help Perpetuate the Liquor Traffic?" Mrs. M. Carpenter. Solo, Mrs. Hadley. A good attendance. Mrs. Short's very able paper much appreciated.

A Great Victory for Madison—The W. C. T. U. of Madison are jubilant over the fact that we have put one saloon out of business, and the good work is just begun. Our brave County President, Mrs. George Augustine, filed the complaint that led to the revoking of the license. Our local W. C. T. U. is "now days" attending trials and we are proud to show the liquor men where we stand. Our men have their fighting harness on now and are petitioning the City Council to make the entire city residence district dry, except about two wards. We believe we will succeed, for we have a Council that we are proud of and the bravest mayor in the state of Indiana. If we succeed this will shut out about ten saloons. You will hear from us again soon, for Madison W. C. T. U. is working as it never worked before. "Our God is Leading On."

Mrs. G. E. Denny, Local President.

Allen County—The Silver Medal contest at Dixon, Ohio, Jan. 18th, by Boston W. C. T. U., was well attended by the people of that vicinity as well as many from Monroeville, one car being well filled with Monroevillites. The class did well. Medal awarded to Miss Gladys Heckler, of Jackson township. The prohibition songs by the male quartet were enthusiastically received, as was also the solo by Miss Eva Edwards, and recitation by Mrs. Mary Miller. This is the third time we have taken a class to Dixon, and have always been asked "to come again." This little town is on the Ohio state line. Also on our street car line; a ten minutes' ride from Monroeville. This contest was under the management of Mrs. F. Barnhart, contest superintendent of Allen county. The judges were Mrs. Vogle and Dr. J. C. Cowan, of Monroeville, and Mr. Stephenson, of Hoagland.

Poseyville W. C. T. U. held their annual Frances E. Willard Memorial service Feb. 16th, at 7:15, in the M. E. church, with a large attendance and a neat program. Music by choir and orchestra. A paper on the life of Miss Willard was read by Mrs. Doctor Boren. A fine address was given by Reverend W. B. Farmer, Methodist minister. We received a very liberal offering, of which $2 was sent to the Memorial fund. We hope to bring Posey county to a higher standard in the temperance work this year. Yours for God and Home and Native Land, Mrs. Dan Rogers, County and Local President, Poseyville.

Marion County—At the February meeting of the Marion County W. C. T. U. Executive Committee a communication was read from Mrs. Margaret Dye-Ellis requesting letters to be sent to our Congressman, Hon. John H. Foster, asking him to use his influence and vote for any legislation that will procure prohibition of the liquor traffic in the District of Columbia. Mrs. Gipe, the County President, urged the women to give this immediate attention. It is desired that men and societies in general, as well as women, write to Mr. Foster. It was decided to petition the State Fair Board not to keep the fair open on Sunday, as has been suggested by this board. In a public meeting of the German Federated Societies it was voted to withhold support from all candidates for office who would be in favor of any legislation restricting personal liberty. The Marion County Ministerial Association is asked by the Executive to urge the united effort of all the churches in the city to counterbalance such action. Mr. Swartz Mustard, of Broad Ripple, Ind., has done a gracious act in giving a large, pleasant room in the Masonic building, erected by him, to be used as permanent headquarters and home for the Broad Ripple W. C. T. U. This room is heated and lighted free of charge. Mrs. Susie Miller, County Superintendent Railroad Employees' Department, secured permission to place literature in the Terminal Station and in the railroad men's reading room at the Union Station. A year's subscription to the Patroit Phalanx has been sent to the reading room.

Ella D. Oakes.

The Danville W. C. T. U. held a Frances Willard Memorial service Feb. 26th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicewander, in Clinton St. An interesting program was given, consisting of the reading of The Crusade, psalm and hymn, with prayer by Miss Lina Hinks. Paper on the "Life and Works of Frances Willard," by Mrs. Margaret Mills, using the closing service as arranged by Miss Willard in the "White Ribbon Hymnal," including the song, "Blest be the Tie." Our Union has taken up the membership contest plan, with the president and vice-president as captains, and it is hoped that much good will come out of the effort.

Bremen Dry—By remonstrance the following saloon men will go out of business when their licenses expire: Mechel, March 7; Lightner, June 3; Walter, June 6; Matz, August 7; Otto Walter, October 7; Hoople, December 7. This is the work of the W. C. T. U. and the Law and Order League. The W. C. T. U., by agitation and education, makes this possible.

Mapleton W. C. T. U. held a splendid evening meeting Feb. 11, '08, at the home of Mrs. Thomas McClintock. The Rev. Orcott delivered the opening address and certainly sounded a key note for the cause the organization represents. His address was ably followed by Mrs. Stanley, our State officer, who tarried with us en route home from work in the South. She presented not a few of the unequal situations and begged for a reason for a revenue on souls—of course, no one could adjust reasons. Mr. Will J. Condrey and E. Baker assisted by Mrs. Leo Ennis and Miss Ennis rendered quartets, and a ladies' quartet delighted all present with their melodies. The hostess served most tempting and delightful refreshments, and all retired to their homes feeling blest and profitably entertained.

Connersville W. C. T. U. pledged $500 at a recent meeting to be used in temperance work in that city. We hope that the result of this work may be to lessen saloon power in Connersville and to greatly strengthen the sentiment against the pernicious, evil-born license system.

The following small leaflets, in bold, good type may be had for postage only, by sending to Miss M. C. Metzger, 1530 Washington St., St. Louis, Mo.:

Write to Miss Metzger and enclose 6 or 8 cents in stamps for some of each of the above leaflets.

The National Temperance Society, 3 East Fourteenth St., New York city, sends out much excellent temperance literature. Write for samples. The following is a list of some new leaflets: Dehli and Walton, especially for towns of less than 5,000 people. Fargo and Moorhead, two cities on opposite sides of the river; one in Prohibition N. Dakota, the other in High License Union. Beer and the Body, probably the most convincing document in the English language against the use of beer. How High License Works in Massachusetts, should be read.

Bloomington—Organized effort of the women of Monroe county against intemperance was stimulated at the executive session of the County W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. Henry Russell in this city. Mrs. Hoadley and Mrs. Litten, representing the Stinesville Union, reported indictments against druggists in that place and a general cleaning out of intemperance and law violation in that erstwhile "oasis." Violation of the law was reported by the Bloomington Union, and plans were discussed to bring all such violators to justice. A grand Gold Medal contest will be given in the near future by representatives from the Stinesville, Spencer and Bloomington Unions. The date of the contest will be announced later. It is urged that all who have at heart the temperance cause will encourage the speakers by their presence. County President Mrs. Siebenthal is looking after the arrangements for the contest, which promises to be one of the best ever held here.—Bloomington Daily Telegram.

The Mapleton W. C. T. U. very appropriately celebrated the Heavenly Birthday of our dauntless leader, Frances E. Willard, in the M. E. church, on Sunday evening, Feb 2d, by recollections from her life and that of her family delightfully related by Mrs. Frances Boyer, President of Indianapolis Central Union, and an address by Mrs. Luella McWhirter, who appeared in her usual magnetic and forceful way, faithfully presenting her subject. There was a good audience, a good collection and two members received.

Mrs. Annette I. Kistler,

The Benton County Woman's Christian Temperance Union held their annual spring institute at the Methodist church in Boswell, Wednesday and Thursday, March 4 and 5, Mrs. Amanda Smith, County President, of Oxford, presiding. The church was beautifully decorated with blooming plants and cut flowers, also a large picture of Miss Willard. Oxford Union was represented by Mesdames Amanda Smith, Lillian Petree and Edward Morris. Otterbein by Mrs. Nettie Maddox, Rev. Stein, of Oxford; Rev. Jenkins, of Ambia, and Revs. Rogers, Leonard and Chamberlain, of Boswell, represented the church. Each gave an interesting talk at different times during the institute. The state officers and superintendents were Mrs. Nettie Maddox, State Parliamentarian, who gave a splendid drill Thursday morning. Mrs. Lillian Petree, State Superintendent of Social Meetings and Red Letter Days, also gave an interesting talk on the work of her department. The leader of the institute was Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, of Liberty, State Vice-President. Interesting and helpful talks were given by Mrs. Stanley both days, and on Wednesday evening she gave the beautiful reading, "At the Mercy of the State." A large audience listened to this beautiful story. On Thursday evening she gave an interesting and instructive lecture on "Christian Citizenship," which closed the institute. Other talks and papers were given by members of the Union and "Parliamentary Usage," "Scientific Temperance," and "Enfranchisement of Women," were the main departments dwelt upon. Every session was largely attended, and all were encouraged and benefitted by the institute.

Ray, Ind.—A great social event was an open meeting of the W. C. T. U. at the home of Clyde McNaughton and wife on Monday evening, Feb. 17, in memory of Miss Frances Willard's Heavenly Birthday. The house was prettily decorated with yellow and white bunting. Music was furnished by some members of the L. T. L. and other young people, with Mrs. Ella McNaughton presiding at the organ. A paper on the life of Frances Willard was read by Mrs. Anna Reynolds. Some temperance notes were given by Mrs. Lida Duguid. A stirring address was delivered by the President, Mrs. Mary McTaggart. A strong appeal to the pocketbook for funds to carry on the great temperance work was made by the treasurer, Mrs. Elnora McNaughton. A collection amounting to $7 was received, and six new members were added to the list. About 65 persons were present, who pronounced the evening's entertainment a great success. Light refreshments were served.

Mrs. Mary McTaggart, President.

Mrs. Jennie French, Cor. Sec'y.

The Liberty Center W. C. T. U. is doing much good work and is steadily growing in numbers. Liberty Center being a town of about 500 inhabitants, there is not the work that the city sisters have. The town has no saloons, as the were put out of business by remonstrance about five years ago, and there has been none since, with the exception of a "blind pig," to which some one administered a substantial dose of dynamite, and Mr. Hog hunted new pastures. The Union, however, is showing up finely in the flower mission work, contests and public meetings. The last public meeting was held Feb. 17th, being in memoriam of Frances E. Willard. The Union at that time presented a beautiful portrait of Miss Willard to the schools. "Her Student Life," was presented by Miss Sadie Park; "Her Religious Life," by Miss Dessie Seaman; "Her Qualifications as a Leader," by Rev. Holmes; "Christian Citizenship," by Mr. James Lewis. Music was furnished by a male quartet. A large crowd was present and the entire program was well received. The Union is now having a membership contest, which is hoped will greatly build up the Union and widen its influence. The last regular session was held March 3d, at the home of ex-President Fannie Garrett. Three new members were received, being Jane Thrailkill, Ethel Dean and Etta Reece. At that time Mrs. Minnie Kasler resigned her position as corresponding secretary and Etta Reece was substituted. The next regular meeting will be at Lulu McElhaney's, April 7.

Mrs. Anna Lowdermilk,

Press Reporter.

W. C. T. U. of College Corner met at the home of Mrs. Henry Baker Wednesday afternoon, March 4th. An interesting program was given. Sixteen members and four visitors attended. Before the meeting closed a new member was added to the roll call. At the close of the meeting the ladies called on a lady that is near death's door and gave her a beautiful hyacinthus and card of sympathy. The Folwer Mission Superintendent presented her with flowers. The Union is doing all they can for those around them.

Decatur County; Greensburg W. C. T. U.—The second meeting on the program for the new year was an evening meeting, and was held at the pleasant home of one of our new members, Mrs. A. D. Galbraith. There was a large attendance of members and guests, about sixty in all, and an entertaining and instructive program was carried out. The subject, "How to Secure Better Co-operation of S. S. Workers," was ably discussed by several superintendents and teachers who were present. The preceding meeting had been a Madam Willard Birthday program, and was in the nature of a mothers' meeting. On Feb. 16th our Union held Frances Willard Memorial services in the First M. E. church, and it was gratifying, indeed, to see many there who were never interested in a temperance meeting before. An excellent program was rendered for the occasion. Our Union is steadily growing in interest and membership, many new members being gained from time to time. We are glad that it is not popular at this present time to encourage the saloon. Many of our ministers are really awakening to the fact, and are making it known. I send you this much to tell you we are active and are doing what we can.

Cordially yours, Mrs. Lillie D. McKim,
Press Supt. Greensburg W. C. T. U.

Notice to Unions—I desire to send letters to every saloon keeper in the state. Will you please send me all the names and addresses of saloon keepers within your town and community? Your sister in Christ and for the overthrow of the liquor traffic. Address Mrs. J. D. Johnson, Pennville, Ind.

Frankfort Union has put nine saloon keepers out of business by remonstrance, and not feeling satisfied with that, we decided to remonstrate against the business as a whole in Frankfort and Center township. When we started we did not know just where the money and help was to come from, but our trust was in God, and we had both given us freely. All the ministers entered into the war (for it was a war), preaching sermons, holding mass meetings and working with untiring zeal for signatures. And our brothers-in-law, the Prohibitionists—we could not have won if it had not been for their help. And many whom we never asked to help, came and asked for cards and volunteered their services. But it was not all smooth sailing. The liquor dealers flooded the city with false statements and secured 368 withdrawal cards, bought them with whiskey and money, and when they were filed there were only 48 legal, many having signed withdrawal cards who did not sign our remonstrance cards. We went into the Commissioners' Court with a good majority in each ward. We had employed two attorneys and the liquor dealers employed two, also. There were three applicants for license; two of them withdrew, and after a day and a half's fight the Commissioners made a ruling upholding the remonstrance. From this ruling the one applicant took an appeal to the Circuit Court and the case will be fought out there. In the meantime the remonstrance will be in effect in the entire city. The temperance forces feel it a great victory, and are looking forward to next February when our city will be dry. Our Union has entered a contest for new members. The members have been divided equally with Mrs. J. C. Jennings and Mrs. Caroline Scripture captains. We observed Miss Willard's Heavenly Birthday at the home of Mrs. T. N. Lucas. A fine program was rendered, and notwithstanding the fact that Mrs. Lucas' home is one of the largest in the city, her parlors were crowded, and five active and one honorary members were received.

Mrs. Emma Saylor, Press Supt.

Jay County again heard from. Portland to the front. Wednesday evening, Feb. 27, the Union held a Willard Memorial service at the home of Mrs. Charles Ewey. Each lady was accompanied by her husband or a friend. The following program was rendered: Song, "Nearer My God to Thee;" Scripture lesson, Mrs. Stewart; prayer, Mrs. Gertrude Fulton; cornet solo, "I'm a Pilgrim," Chester Yount; responsive reading; "Miss Willard's Childhood," Mauree Louday; solo, "Mother's Bow of Ribbons White," Ether Hood; "Frances E. Willard," a tribute, Mrs. J. L. Johnson; cornet solo, Chester Yount; song, "How Firm a Foundation?" closing prayer, Dr. Line. The first contest for new members closed at this time and the new members were received into the Union by Mrs. Fulton; the blue ribbon side winning. Fourteen members were received. At the close of the program refreshments were served. In January the Jay County Executive Committee met with the Superintendent of Departments in an all-day meeting at the Presbyterian church. The department work was discussed and instructions were given to superintendents in their work. Seven unions were represented and an interesting session was held. The ladies of the local union prepared an excellent dinner and served about fifty ladies in the dining room of the church. Mauree Louday, Local Supt.

Clinton County held a Press Rally in the M. E. church, Mulberry, March 4th. The meeting was presided over by the County Press Superintendent, who also read an interesting paper on "The Influence of the Press." The White Ribbon Choir of Mulberry furnished the music. Mrs. Walters, Press Superintendent of the Rossville Union, read a paper on "The Duties and Difficulties of a Press Superintendent." Mr. Clark, editor of the Mulberry Reporter, and Mr. Staley, reporter for the Morning Times, Frankfort, each gave encouraging talks on the department. Mrs. Brinkhoff, County President, and Mrs. Saylor, State Superintendent of the Press Department, impressed the importance of the press department on the local unions. The meeting was very enthusiastic. A large audience was present, and the County Superintendent felt encouraged by the presence of a large number of men. The decorations were of newspapers and flowers.

Mrs. Ella Kyger, County Supt.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. MARION LOCKWOOD, of the Pleasant Lake Union, has been called home after a long, earnest, devoted life. She held the office of County Corresponding Secretary for several years. The local and county unions gave floral tributes. The Union realizes its great loss. Her daughter and son have our deepest sympathy.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. XIII. No. 6.

ANDERSON, IND., MAY, 1908.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

LETTER TO THE FIRST INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF MOTHERS.

In Session at Washington, D. C.

March 16, 1908.

Acting upon the conviction that in motherhood rests the greatest power for the moral and physical regeneration of the race, as well as the keenest appreciation of its need, the undersigned respectfully present this memorial to the International Congress of Mothers:

Whereas, Throughout the nominally civilized world there is being perpetuated, by the almost universal acceptance of the double standard of morals, a great crime against posterity, and

Whereas, Childhood is thereby condemned to false and vicious teaching and consequent temptations to impurity, and

Whereas, Public prostitution is permitted by authorities and largely ignored and condoned by public sentiment, and

Whereas, Womanhood is sacrificed and enslaved, manhood brutalized, and all the hideous moral and physical consequences of sin are fastened more firmly upon mankind, and

Whereas, While the public brothel remains a recognized institution, the sons and daughters of many mothers must be debauched to supply and feed it, therefore,

WE DO CALL UPON THE MOTHERS OF THE WORLD, in the interests of righteousness, humanity and decency, for the sake of the moral, intellectual and physical welfare of the race, to unite in demanding the single standard of moral purity, and the elimination of the brothel; and to expect and demand for the generations to come the heritage of an unstained fatherhood.

MIDYEAR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

Executive Committee met April 7 and 8, 1908, in the Central Christian church, Lebanon, at 2 p. m., with President Vayhinger in the chair. After the devotions the Secretary called the roll, and twenty-four members responded by giving the loss or gain in membership in counties. Twenty-two counties reported a gain.

Miss Sears read a report for the first six months of the year, which showed that dues had been paid for 3091 members, as against 2220 last year, thus giving a gain for the six months of 871.

Miss Woodard reports 15 new Unions since the State Convention, and the outlook for the work most encouraging all over the State.

The services of Miss Anna Robbins, a national organizer, have been secured for three months, commencing June 7th. County Presidents were urged to write Miss Woodard at once for dates.

Mrs. Hadley-Hall asked to be released from her appointment as a State organizer, giving as her reason pressure of other W. C. T. U. work. Her request was granted, and Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. Vayhinger spoke of the great need of a much larger subscription list for Union Signal and Crusader Monthly, for Indiana, and asked the County Presidents to work for same in the local Unions of their various counties.

The management of Winona having granted the W. C. T. U. of Indiana July 15th of Temperance Week, plans have been made for a grand Diamond Medal contest. A meeting to present the departments, which will be presided over by Mrs. Hattie Brand, National Treasurer, and a lecture by a National Lecturer. The membership is urged to make an effort to attend in large numbers.

It was decided to have a new State Banner, also pennants for the departments, these pennants to be given as prizes by the State Superintendent for the best report by County Superintendents of the various departments. County Presidents were also asked to use their influence and do their best to come to State Convention with County Banners from all the counties.

On motion, it was decided that the pennants should be secured in time for the meeting at Winona on July 15th.

An invitation to hold State Convention for 1908 at Bedford was read and accepted.

In view of the fact that the National Convention will this year be held two weeks earlier than usual, a motion prevailed that Indiana State Convention meet October 1st to October 6th. State Executive will meet on Thursday, October 1st, at 2 p. m. at Bedford. Convention will open Friday morning, October 2d.

The State will this year offer a banner to the county having the largest subscription list to the Union Signal in proportion to its membership, the State Treasurer's books to be the basis of membership, and the Union Signal galley sheet the basis of subscription list.

Moved and seconded, that each county have cards printed bearing the name of county, its gain in membership and number of saloons put out during the year. These cards to be taken to State Convention and placed in the church. Motion prevailed.

The State will this year offer a banner to the county having the largest per cent. gain in membership, also for the local making the largest gain.

On motion, a committee was appointed to make a financial plan to meet the expenses of the National Delegates, and to report before the close of this session. Committee: Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Fulton and Miss Sears.

Moved and seconded, that as State Convention is one week earlier than usual, the advance sheets of the State Superintendents be in the hands of the printer by September 17th. Motion prevailed. Mrs. Fulton, Secretary of Board of Superintendents, was asked to notify Superintendents of this, and also ask them to change dates on blanks sent out to local unions.

Mrs. Hall reported plan for expense of National Delegates as follows: "Each member is asked to pay ten cents toward this fund. County Presidents to ask that same be sent to State Treasurer before State Convention." After discussion the motion prevailed, and the State President was asked to write to County Presidents explaining plan fully.

On Tuesday night, April 6th, a Diamond Medal contest was held in the church, under the direction of Mrs. Julia Overman, State Superintendent of contest work. On Wednesday a large audience was delighted with the debate on "Woman's Suffrage." The affirmative was taken by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley and Mrs. Judge Artman, and the negative by Miss Mary E. Woodard and Mrs. Retta Jones. Following the debate, Mrs. Hattie Brand, National Treasurer, made a short address.

PEACE AND ARBITRATION.

Dear Comrades of Peace:

We are not doing nearly all that needs doing in our department, and I can but acknowledge that much of the fault lies at the door of your leader. Forgive me this, and now let us quicken our pace, and, as far as we may, redeem the time. The 18th of May is Hague Peace Day. I wish it might be commemorated in every county in Indiana. This may be done, first, by public school exercises, where teachers agree to it; second, by public or social meeting, held by W. C. T. U.; third, by sermon or by Christian Endeavor meeting, or both, held on the 17th (Sunday) of May. Will not County Presidents or County or Local Superintendents of Peace and Arbitration make an earnest effort to observe this day of peace in some way? If the meeting can not be arranged for the 18th of May, or very near that, work it up for the earliest date you can command. I am sending programs for meetings to every county in the State. Let me hear from you that they bring in large returns.

Yours Loyal, though late,
H. Lavinia Bailly,
Supt. Dept. Peace and Arbitration.

TEMPERANCE LITERATURE.

I trust it is the earnest desire and prayer of each Superintendent of Literature, whether county or local, that the work done this year may surpass anything accomplished in the past.

I have sent out forty-four blanks and plans of work, have written the Corresponding Secretaries of the remaining counties, who did not have Literature Superintendents.

Some have responded nicely. I am anxious to hear from every county in our State.

Will you please write me, that I may send you blanks and plan?

Why not each Union strive to have one-fourth, at least, of your membership subscribers to the Union Signal. Every White Ribboner so much needs to read this weekly letter. Are you helping to bring up the Union Signal subscription list to 1,500? Also, helping to put the Crusader Monthly in hands of 1,000 teachers?

Let us each keep a good supply of leaflets, and give out unsparingly, yet carefully. Keep wall-pockets in depot waiting rooms, etc., filled with good, clean literature.

Please write to me and I will help you in every way possible. MRS. MATTIE D. WARE,
State Superintendent of Temperance Literature.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

Since my last, I attended the anniversary meeting of Meridian W. C. T. U., and spent the night with Mrs. Amanda Whitson. About 100 guests were present and a splendid program rendered, closing with refreshments. The day following I attended Boone county's rally in honor of Judge Artman. All the temperance forces of the State were represented. A fine audience crowded the church, and a magnificent banquet was given in the home of the Artmans at 6 p. m. Mrs. Artman wears the white ribbon and knows how to defend the faith.

I had fine audiences at Perkinsville and Lapel on Saturday and Sabbath following. Got sixteen new members in Madison county in spite of the downpour of rain. Cayuga Institute was a success. Mrs. Rose Pearce had everybody in line. Meeting in opera house at beginning. Seventy-five people took dinner at the church. Boswell followed, with every woman at her post. They don't plan for failures over in Benton. Miss Willard was right when she said: "There are no women like our women." I believe it, and God will not fail this ballotless army now, but lead us on to victory.

ELIZABETH T. STANLEY.

Following dates taken:

March 14 and 15, Seymour; March 28 and April 4, Elkhart; April 7 and 8, Lebanon, April 21 and 22, Princeton, April 23 and 24, Mt. Vernon; April 25 and 26, Evansville, April 27 and 28, Stinesville, Wayne, Montgomery and Clinton counties.

FROM STATE SUPT. OF INSTITUTE.

Dear Sisters:

At the mid-year Executive meeting, held at Lebanon on April 6 and 7, it was decided that at the next State Convention, which will be held at Bedford, the State would present a banner to the county having the largest subscription list to the Union Signal in proportion to its membership. The State Treasurer's books to be the basis of membership and the Union Signal galley sheet to be the basis of subscription list. Now sisters, won't you all set to work at once and try to win the banner? You need the Signal this year as never before, for the temperance work is moving forward with rapid strides, and you must "keep up" if you would do great things. The Union Signal needs your support that it may grow better all the time. Send in your subscription at once.

Rose Pearce,
State Recording Secretary.

HOME ECONOMIES.

Dear Sisters:

I will send out report blanks to County Presidents trusting that they will present them to County Institutes and Local Unions in the hope that those who have done work in the Department of Home Economics will fill them out and forward to the State Superintendent (Mrs. Mary A. Moody, 219 E. 10th St., Indianapolis) at their earliest convenience.

I will send a paper along the line of Home Economics on the phase of work that is preferred by any one who will notify me of her preference and desires such literature. If one wishes to do school gardening, if she will send to one of our members on Congress he will undoubtedly be glad to present her with vegetable and flower seeds; and local dealers would probably also assist in such an enterprise.

The teaching of certain kinds of handicraft in the school, such as hand sewing, which, in these days of machinery, has almost become a lost art for girls, would prepare many a one to be useful and perhaps provide them with employment, or helpfulness in the home.

Carpentering for boys, and school gardening for all could be made wonderfully beneficial in all the efforts of life's struggles when the school days are over and the real battle of life comes, demanding a knowledge of work that commands good wages. In conversation with the unemployed, I find that those who have received technical training are seldom long idle. I have in mind a Belgian who secured employment during the ordeal of the unemployed simply because his mother attended a school of horticulture with him that he might become interested in pruning and grafting. This culture enabled the young man, although a stranger in a strange land, to make friends and a home, whilst others drifted aimlessly and were friendless. Such educational knowledge enables one to admire and delight in the wonderful works of nature pointing us to nature's God. Let us appreciate nature study, more for ourselves, and especially for the children.

MRS. STAHL PROVES VERY ENTERTAINING.

The Roanoke W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Callison on Second street Tuesday afternoon. The topic for the afternoon was "Mothers' Meetings," which was very ably discussed by Mrs. Stahl, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meeting Department. Most of the members and several visitors were present and appreciated the address very much. Every mother in this vicinity should have heard this talk, which explained her influence and duty as a mother. Special music was furnished by the quartet. After the regular program refreshments were served by the hostesses. The W. C. T. U. is increasing in interest and also in membership, as six new members were added at this meeting. Mrs. Stahl gave an address on "Personal Responsibility" at the U. B. church in the evening.

OFFICIAL.

Dear Sisters:

We have good news for you. Our Treasurer's books at the end of last quarter showed a gain of $71 over the corresponding quarter of last year. Your unwearied efforts are bearing fruit. The gain would be much larger if all old members had paid their dues promptly. We are hoping that no one who marched with us in the past year, and shared in the splendid advances we have been making, will lose step now, just as we are getting ready to shout victory. We are going to double this gain before our State Convention, but, remember, in order to do this we must hold our old members.

Our National Convention will be held at Denver October 15-21. This compels us to hold our State Convention unusually early so that our delegates may have a few days to prepare for the trip. Our State Convention will meet in Bedford October 2 to 6. You are all going, of course. We had a wonderful convention last year at Lafayette, but we expect this year to surpass it, and we want you all there to rejoice with us, and we hope you will become so imbued with the convention spirit that you will catch up the cry, "On to Denver!"

At our recent State Executive meeting it was decided to secure a banner for each State Superintendent of Department to be awarded at our State Convention to the Union making the best report in the particular department.

Miss Anna Robbins, a National Organizer, will come into our State in June for three months' work. She is one of our most successful workers. She had several years experience as nurse in the army and knows by personal observation of the effects of the canteen in the army. She spent three years in Manila, and gives a lecture on her experiences there, and has costumes and curios with which to illustrate her lecture. She gives two lectures at each point on very reasonable terms. You will want her, of course, so write me at once for date and terms that I may make out her route to good advantage.

Bear in mind that since our State Convention must come so early, reports must be in correspondingly early. Last year dues were sent in just too late to be counted, and made us seem to have fallen off in membership instead of making a gain. Let us be prompt with dues and all reports this year that we may make a good showing at the State Convention.

A large number of unions have been very successful in gaining new members by means of a membership contests. If your union has not tried this method, will you not do so at once? It is a good plan, but it will not work itself.

The Institutes are being well attended and many new members are being won by them, but they can never take the place of the personal work of each individual member. Remember our rally cry: "7,000 members for 1908, 1,500 subscribers to the Union Signal and 1,000 teachers taking the Crusader Monthly.

Yours for advance,

Mary E. Woodard.

Mrs. Mary T. Craig, State Superintendent of Sunday School Work, of Upland, will be away quite a while with her husband in evangelistic work, and asks that you send reports, etc., to Mrs. Lida Outland, Upland, Ind., the former Superintendent. Mrs. Craig will inform us when she returns.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE.

I am receiving a number of letters of inquiry concerning the prize essay contest and I take this means of answering them.

1. Time for essays to be sent to State Superintendent should be not later than June 15 to give time for grading and getting ready for State contest.

2. Essays are to be confined to eighth grade and first year in high school.

3. Those in the same grade must write on the same topic.

I have not sent out any report blanks this spring, but will send out in the fall, and expect a full report for the year.

MRS. ETHEL E. BAIR,
State Superintendent, North Liberty, Ind.

FIELD NEWS

Howard County W. C. T. U. Institute was held in March, in the First Baptist church, Kokomo. Mrs. Rose Pearce, leader. The Institute was a success in every way. There was a large attendance at each session. Reports from Superintendents showed much good work being done. Tuesday evening Mrs. Pearce spoke to a large audience, telling of her work through the State, how the temperance sentiment was spreading and how busy and hopeful the women were in ridding the town of the legalized saloon. There were songs by the choir, recitation by Mrs. Grace Unger, of Russiaville; piano solo Mrs. Olive Lee, Russiaville. The choir sang "Indiana's Going Dry," and every one joined in the chorus. Wednesday morning Mrs. Pearce gave an interesting talk on things done and left undone at Washington, D. C., which affect the cause. A committee was appointed to write to Representative Foster, of the First district, indorsing all he has done and urging him to support all bills touching the work, and especially the Littlefield bill. Hon. A. B. Kirkpatrick spoke on "How Can Statutory Prohibition Best be Made Effective and Permanent," showing the difference between statutory and constitutional prohibition. Statutory prohibition can be secured much sooner than constitutional—then push it to constitutional. Little Irene Brubaker, of Russiaville, aged 4, recited a touching poem on the "Sweetness of Mamma's Kiss, Free From Tobacco and Whiskey Taint." She easily won the hearts of all. At the afternoon session W. R. Voorhis spoke on law enforcement. He said if the law is to be enforced public sentiment must be aroused until the people want law enforced. His remarks convinced all of the necessity of agitation. The "Church's Opportunity" was arranged as a symposium. The first was Mrs. Ellis, who advanced the thought that Sunday School teachers, ministers and all Christian workers should make a greater effort to have temperance sermons and temperance lessons and temperance evangelistic meetings. Rev. Choate, pastor of the Congregational church, said the church had largely misunderstood the grand mission God gave her, proving this true by her hesitancy to take hold of all the great questions that have touched her material life. The church is fast recognizing the fact that it is its duty to do all in its power to prepare a pure atmosphere for a saved soul to breathe as well as to save a soul to breathe an atmosphere. Mr. Penland then gave an original recitation: "Did You Ever Stop to Think?" Rev. Merrill Wilson compared the church and its helpfulness and the saloon and its hurtfulness on society. Other speakers of the afternoon were Dr. Baldwin, of Greentown, who is such a worker and helper to the W. C. T. U.; Miss Rebecca Trueblood, Miss Amanda Turner, Mrs. Nora Gause, Mrs. Ida Mix in behalf of the State L. T. L. work. At 4:15 the question box was opened and many interesting questions answered.

South Bend—The home of Mrs. C. Fassnacht, St. Joseph County President, was the scene of a very pleasant affair, given by Chapin Park Union. Husbands, honorary members and friends of the union were present March 26th. A fine program was given, which was listened to with the closest attention. Mrs. Walter Fassnacht and Mose Galoway sweetly sang "What Are You Going to Do?" and Miss Madge Woodward rendered two piano selections, which were well received. Mrs. Katie Wert Holler read an excellent paper on "The Needs of the Day," which was received with a hearty applause. A request was made to submit the paper to the press. The city papers were glad to receive the article. Mr. D. D. Nenit, an educated Hungarian, gave an able paper on the Hungarian population in the city, and Dr. Von Bonbordi also gave a talk on the same subject. The gentlemen made an urgent appeal for a W. C. T. U. among their people. Short talks were given by the County Treasurer, Local President, Mr. Charles Holler and Mr. Barnes. Each number was enthusiastically received. A number of new members were received, as well as honorary members. Elaborate refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. C. Fassnacht, Mrs. Walter Fassnacht and Mrs. Emil Keger. The party broke up at a late hour. The husbands and honorary members are hoping to spend many more evenings of such fine entertainment and social intercourse.

Red Key Union held the first of a series of public meetings Sunday evening, April 5th, at the M. E. church, with a large and appreciative audience. A splendid program was given. The union has planned to hold these meetings at the different churches on the last Sunday evening in the month, and they ask for the basket collection to defray the expense of the local work. Special music will be provided for the meetings. Our union is steadily growing. We now have forty members; twenty per cent. of them taking the Union Signal. We hope it will grow rapidly under the public meeting plan. Its a good thing—try it.

The Dearborn County W. C. T. U. Institute was held in the Presbyterian church at Lawrenceburg, Mrs. A. E. Ryerson, County President, presiding. The first evening was an address by the leader, Mrs. Rose Pearce, of Cayuga. Tuesday forenoon the plan of work was fully discussed, followed by reports from the different unions in the county, all being represented. Meals were served by the local union of Lawrenceburg. The address of welcome by the Local President, Mrs. George Wencke, was full of hope and courage. The response by Mrs. Pearce had a ring of victory. Balance of afternoon fully occupied with regular institute work. The medal contest by young ladies in the evening was attended by at least 350 people. Miss Lesta Ammerman won the medal. A paper on "Proportionate Giving," by Mrs. H. Bobrink, was an earnest and strong appeal for God's money to be turned into His work. "The Effect of Popular Amusements Upon Habit and Character" was discussed by Mrs. Jennie Ward, followed by Rev. Spinks on "Proper Home Attractions to Counteract Outside Attractions." After the noon hour, the Institute sang with a vim: "Indiana's Going Dry," followed by a duet, "Somebody's Boy," by W. F. Ward and wife. "The Church's Opportunity," by Rev. Davis, was a convincing argument that this is the work of the church. He said the church members who frequent such places comfort the saloon keepers. Ministers who are opposed to the temperance work are clogs in the wheels of progress. W. F. Ward told us when this State would have prohibition and how. The Institute closed in the evening with a short address by Mrs. Pearce, followed by a social half hour. There was a spirit of earnestness and enthusiasm to the end.

Stinesville—Guest Day of our union was held at the home of Sister Laura Williard, March 18. The front rooms were tastefully decorated in the red, white and blue; the dining room in carnations and ferns. Mrs. Zula Edwards had a very enjoyable program, assisted by Mrs. Easton, concluding with an old-fashioned spelling bee. Mrs. James Pickles won two prizes during the afternoon, a spoon tray and souvenir spoon, and Mrs. R. A. Dunn an olive tray. Mrs. O. Sibenthal, of Bloomington, as the union's guest, gave a very interesting talk on "What the W. C. T. U. Has Done for Her." Mrs. Lillian Litten gave readings on "The Life of Gen. Neal Dow." After refreshments of sandwiches, brick cream, cake and coffee, each lady was presented with a carnation and white bow as she left the dining room. There were fourteen members and sixteen guests present. Mrs. Litten gave a contest March 28, for young ladies. Miss Bonnie Easton winning the medal, the other contestants carnations. The musical part of the program was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Miss Downey, of Gosport, gave a reading and monologue while the judges were making their decision. Our regular monthly social and business meetings are well attended, and the union has prospects for a flourishing summer's work.

Union County Institute, held in Liberty, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley leader, was very successful from start to finish. Our local women, some of whom were at the M. E. church at eight o'clock, smiling and enthusiastic, brought well filled baskets for our lunch hour. Our College Corner delegation, a goodly number of them, came over on the ten o'clock train. We crowded an immense amount of work into our forenoon program, closing with a solo by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley. Our leader gave a short talk, followed by a review and report of work done since our last county meeting. There was some discussion of the work hoped to be done before our State Convention, and committees appointed for literature, etc. We had a most excellent paper on "High License," read by Mrs. Geeting, of College Corner Union, followed by a spirited discussion of same. Also a discussion of how much corn it took to make a gallon of liquor and how much the traffic helped the farmer, the discussion being led by Mr. Stanley. Our morning's work was well and enthusiastically done. Then came luncheon hour. Prof. Thomas Record, with his high school teachers and students, lunched with us, also ministers and their families, making 75 or 80 in all. After the fragments were gathered we furnished a nice repast in the evening for 25 or 30, and still something was left over. The afternoon program, from 1:15 to 3:15 o'clock, was in the hands of Prof. Record and his students. It consisted of vocal and piano solos, duets and readings, then a debate by eight students. Subject: "Resolved, That Women Should Have Equal Suffrage Rights With Men." The subject was well and spiritedly handled by the young people, but some of us White Ribboners were disappointed when the judges gave their decision in favor of the negative. A very comprehensive paper was read on the subject "Equal Suffrage," by Mrs. Leslie Laird, of College Corner; also one by Mrs. Laura Eaton, of Liberty, followed by a discussion opened by C. W. Stivers, editor of Liberty Herald, and participated in by several others. The closing exercise of the afternoon was an address by Rev. Titus Lowe, who a short time ago returned from a four years' residence in Calcutta, India, as the pastor of the English-speaking church of that Oriental city. He told of the prevailing conditions in regard to temperance there. His address was thrilling, instructive and very entertaining throughout. Thus closed the day's program. The evening of the 17th there was a Gold Medal contest, which, like all that had gone before, was excellent. The contestants acquitted themselves well, and the judges awarded the medal to Miss Ruth Conaway, of Liberty. Prof. Record presented the medal. We received four new members; we also received seven subscriptions to the Crusader Monthly. Two of Liberty's saloons have gone out of business, and the other four will go out as their licenses expire; closed by remonstrance.

THE MESSAGE.

South Marion—About two months ago the South Marion Union of the W. C. T. U. started a membership contest. The union was divided, one side being the "Blues," the other side the "Reds." The side gaining the most members was to furnish the program while the other side was to serve refreshments at a reception given the new members. The Blues were winners, getting twenty-two members, and the Reds only five. The reception was given at the home of Mrs. Eli Cogshall, President of the South Marion Union, on Thursday afternoon, and was a pleasant occasion. Sixty ladies were present. The house was beautifully decorated in red, the color of the badge worn by one of the contesting sides. The ladies of the other side wore large blue badges. Red ice cream was served with white cake. Mrs. Julia Shugart, County President, gave an impressive and appropriate address of welcome to the new members. The Blues sang an original song: "Hustling is What Gained Us the Day." Miss Landis gave a reading, "My Lost Boy." Mrs. Nunemaker gave a harp solo. The new members were brought forward and introduced separately, our President pinning a white ribbon on each. Grant county has twenty-six unions. South Marion Union is the largest; it has ninety members.

Bloomington—Now I feel I can safely say no other county in Indiana has done any more temperance work than Monroe in the last two years. Closed twenty-three saloons, several houses of disrepute, increased membership of W. C. T. U. from 35 to 90 or more, and of the Prohibition Club 150 members. Now, Bloomington Union is ashamed that we failed to contribute last year to Hadley, and pained that we were not reported in our last annual in giving our memorial fund, also convention fund, which we did early in the year. I have just returned from Michigan, and am again in the work. I hope to see many of you at the mid-year.

Boone County held a very successful institute at Zionsville, March 12 and 13. Great interest was manifested. A Silver Medal contest was held; Samuel Newman was the successful contestant. Five new members were added to the local Union from active; one honorary.

Hartsville Union closed the membership contest March 12th, which resulted in a tie, which was all right, and gained twenty new members to the Union. Many more are interested, and coming in soon. We feel proud of our Union and what it has accomplished, and pray God's blessing on us more and more. Also a Willard Memorial service was held on March 15th consisting of literary program. It was very interesting and effective in giving out information concerning temperance and its influence.

Report of Goshen All-Day Picnic, February 18th—On Tuesday morning fifteen members of the local Woman's Christian Temperance Union boarded the 8:50 o'clock car for Goshen. They did not stop at the court house, as usual, but went to the home of Mrs. Landgravers, corner Seventh and Pearl streets, where they had been invited by the Goshen W. C. T. U. to attend an all-day picnic.

The elegant home was beautifully decorated with flags and flowers, and at 10:30 o'clock Mrs. M. E. McCaskey, President of Goshen Union, called the house to order.

After a devotional service, she welcomed the Elkhart guests and other visitors. Mrs. Milton Wertz, who was one of the ten delegates from the State of Indiana to the National W. C. T. U. convention, held at Nashville, Tenn., last November, gave interesting reports of the convention.

Miss Grace Cunningham sweetly sang "Jesus Has Something for Each One to Do." Readings were given by Mrs. Hammond, Mrs. Berry and little Miss Weaver.

When both hands of the clock were pointing heavenward Mrs. D. Kaufman offered the noon-tide prayer.

For two hours old friends met and exchanged greetings and a joyful time was spent socially.

Seventy-five persons visited the dining room, where they were served to a sumptuous dinner.

By 2 o'clock the number had swelled to over one hundred, and the afternoon program opened with a piano duet by the Misses Hammond.

Other numbers on the program were stirring addresses by Rev. Vannuys, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. Butts, pastor of the M. E. church.

Miss Grace Hammond sang a solo and the Misses Lane a duet.

Mrs. B. F. Hammond captured the house with a reading, "The Town Pump."

Mrs. Betchtel proved to be the star number on the program and closed her witty remarks with the reading, "A German's Version of Barbara Fritchie." The delightful, instructive program, which closed at 4 o'clock, was enjoyed by all.

Smithville Union held an election of officers March 13th, with the County President in the chair: President, Mrs. L. Litz; Vice-President, Mrs. L. Leonard; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. E. Deckard; Treasurer, Mrs. A. Fox. New member, Mrs. L. Leonard. Smithville will aim to increase its membership, and although Monroe county is dry, will lend its aid to assist in keeping it dry, and having Indiana dry in 1912. Asking for the prayers of our unions throughout the State for this small band of workers.

On Thursday Evening, February 20th, the Princeton W. C. T. U. held its annual Memorial service for Frances Willard in the First Baptist church. A picture of Miss Willard, the State motto and the national colors composed the decorations, which were artistically arranged. A free-will offering was taken for the national work. The following program was well given:

The Wayne County institute was held at Richmond on the 10th and 11th of this month. The county convention was held the forenoon of the 10th, at which time reports were given of the condition and progress of the five unions in the county. Dinner was served in the basement of the church, and the two hours' intermission was an enjoyable occasion, not only because of the good things provided, but also on account of the social privileges. The institute opened in the afternoon under the leadership of Mrs. Ella Kroft, who endeared herself to the Wayne County women. Those selected to take part in the program responded promptly, almost without exception, and the general opinion seemed to be that the papers and discussions throughout the institute were helpful and uplifting. The first day closed with a Silver Medal contest in the evening. The attendance on the second day was larger than the first, and there was more enthusiasm manifested. The evening lecture was given by Col. George W. Bain, of Kentucky.

The Delaware County W. C. T. U. institute met at Eaton, Ind., March 12 and 13. Miss Mary Woodard, of Fountain City, was leader, and made an address on Thursday evening. The program was carried out in part as planned in the Message. Mrs. Jester, of Eaton, made a short address of "welcome, after which there was a short review of the work done in the county by the County President. "Is Irreverence Increasing Among Children?" was handled in good shape by the S. S. Superintendent, in which she thought parents were too careless about their children in allowing them to run the streets and not be in Sunday School. "Effect of Popular Amusements on Habits and Character, Including the Five-cent Theater," was discussed by Odessa Rayle, of Muncie, in which she stated that the American people seemed to care more for entertainment than was wise and it was appalling that only one per cent. of our young people went through college, and more of them quit school in the grades to make money to spend, with never a thought of saving a dollar. "Home Attractions to Counteract Outside Attractions," was ably handled by Rev. Williams. He said in part that the home had the first chance to save the children, and the world did not ask for them unless the home did not want them and sent them to the streets to be amused and trained. A paper by Mrs. Lockhart, of Albany on "Work and Regular Habits as Elements in Character Building," was good. She said, give the child work to do and see that he does it properly. Mr. Masters gave a splendid talk on "How Can Statutory Prohibition be Best Made Effective and Permanent." Mrs. Priddy's paper on the subject of "The Church's Opportunity" was well read and instructive, and in great earnestness she said that great good had already been done and now we must put the saloon from before the people. The W. C. T. U. at Eaton worked under discouraging circumstances and at great disadvantage on account of sickness and death in their midst, but did entertain well, and the ladies of the institute thank them for their kindness and hospitality.

The Broad Ripple Union celebrated their twentieth anniversary February 21st in an all-day meeting. They were favored with a beautiful day and a goodly attendance, and many excellent speakers. Miss Laura Gregg, representative of the National Suffrage Association, gave an address in the afternoon which was both instructive and interesting. Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, our State President, gave the evening address. The Broad Ripple Union has been accomplishing great things of late. Along with lending all the help and influence to the work of the Anti-Saloon League, which has been very successful, and the saloons have been banished from our midst. The Union has also taken up the work of Sabbath observance, and not a grocery in the town is open on the Sabbath.

South Bend—At the last meeting of the Colfax W. C. T. U. it was decided to send for two books, entitled "Alcohol, a Dangerous and Necessary Medicine," one to be placed in the Y. M. C. A.; the other to be used in the Union.

Grant County—Aaron Worth Union. On March 5 a meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Nettie D. Ware. Press and Temperance literature were the departments for the afternoon program. The devotional was conducted by Rev. W. L. Thompson, an honorary member of our union. An open parliament was in charge of our President, Mrs. Belle Kimes. Topic: "How May the Literature of My Department Help in the W. C. T. U. Work?" was of much interest to all present. Little four-year-old Ina Dilts gave a reading on "Tobacco." The mother is our Anti-Narcotic Superintendent. Rev. W. L. Thompson, Superintendent of Parliamentary Usage, organized all present into a class and conducted an instructive drill. Leaflets of eleven of the departments were distributed. Our Union is less than one year old. The evangelistic and literature departments are especially strong.

Whitley County W. C. T. U. held a very interesting and successful institute in the Baptist church at Churubusco, March 23 and 24, with Mrs. Kroft as leader. The attendance was good, especially at night, when the seating capacity of the church was taxed to its utmost. The reports of the County Superintendents showed much good work accomplished and victories gained since last county convention. Many excellent papers were read by members of our county W. C. T. U. Discussions by our members and our ministers were very instructive. The subject, "How Can the Church be Strongly Co-operative Against the Saloon?" was taken by Rev. LeCount, U. B. minister. He said that while the various denominations have their own hobbies and church rules and do not agree on all matters, they have come to the conclusion that they all have one great enemy, namely, the legalized saloon, and that they are putting aside the little trivial affairs and are beginning to work in harmony to rid our land of this great evil; that the churches, the W. C. T. U., the Anti-Saloon League, the Prohibition party, and all other temperance organizations are uniting their forces and declaring that the saloon must go—"it is going." The address on "Woman's Ballot," by Mrs. Kroft, proved that where women have the right to vote, their ballot is nearly always cast in the interest of the home and against all that is wrong. This was a fine address. We feel proud of Mrs. Kroft. The address on "License, High or Low," by Rev. Miller, M. E. minister, at the union services on Sunday night was very good and has started many voters to thinking seriously on the subject. The music, recitations, songs and addresses at the night services were all well rendered.

Wells County—The best institute in the history of the White Ribbon work of Wells county was held in the First M. E. church of Bluffton on March 19 and 20, with Mrs. Kroft as leader. There were about 250 persons in attendance, with 92 voting delegates in the number. Seventeen new members were added to the local union. All the pastors of the city gave us their presence, also Rev. O. H. Harris, of Six Mile, and all took active part in the program. All of the talks and papers were in line of reform, expressing the determination to work for statutory prohibition. Mayor Hamilton gave the address on "Law Enforcement." On Thursday evening Hon. C. S. Newlin gave one of his excellent addresses to an interested audience. On Friday evening a Matron's Silver Medal contest was held, Mrs. Ulmer being the winner. After the contest Mrs. Kroft occupied the time with one of her helpful talks. At all of our meetings Rev. H. A. Welker, of the Reformed church, was the leader of the song service. One marked feature of our institute was the attendance of a goodly number of men, many of whom were honorary members of the different local unions of the county. We have never had occasion to be so hopeful for the cause of God and home and native land as at this time, and we feel that a good time is coming for Wells county. The ladies of the Bluffton Union served a bountiful dinner at the church both days of the institute. On the first day 85 were served, and on the second day 74 were at the tables. To those dinners special invitations had been sent to the pastors and their wives, the physicians and their wives, the editors and their wives, and the lawyers and their wives. With President Willis at the helm and a force of willing workers all in line, we expect to accomplish much during this year. We are hoping to live to see the verification of our new prophetic song, which was written especially for our institute: "Wells County's Going Dry," for that is a day for which we long have prayed.

Temperance Sunday—March 29th was generally observed by the W. C. T. U. of Marion county. Literature was distributed and temperance addresses made. The County President, Mrs. Martha L. Gipe, by request, taught the lesson to the young women of the Central Avenue M. E. Sunday School, emphasizing purity in thought and deed and urging temperance in all things. After the lesson Mrs. Gipe addressed the school in a body, receiving close and interested attention.

Peru—March 20th a Neal Dow meeting was held, Mrs. J. O. Ward in charge, with a very interesting program consisting of a prayer and song service, readings from the "Life and Work of Neal Dow," and "The Advantages of Prohibition in Indiana." The meeting was held in the Evangelical church and was well attended.

Eagletown—On Monday evening, April 6th, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, President of the Indiana W. C. T. U., addressed a large and appreciative audience at the Friends church at Eagletown. The subject chosen was the Prophet Nehemiah's words on rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem. Mrs. Vayhinger handled the subject in an able and pleasing manner, showing to each and every Christian and Temperance worker throughout our land that we must work with the "Trowel in one hand and the sword in the other." At the close of the meeting several new members were added to the union at this place.

Coloma—The W. C. T. U. met at Coloma, Friends church, Thursday, April 2d. The business of the day was transacted as usual. A very interesting paper was read by Mrs. Elizabeth Cox on "Systematic Giving."

Laporte Union held a Frances Willard Memorial service February 14th. Miss Laura Gregg, of Garnet, Kan., was present and gave an interesting address. This Union also held a Neal Dow meeting on March 20th. C. G. Catten had charge, and a good program was given. The members are planning for a good institute this spring.

The Lafayette Union held their annual Frances E. Willard Memorial meeting February 17th, at Mrs. John Morris'. There was a good attendance and a neat program. Florists donated many cut flowers, which were afterward distributed to the sick. A generous free-will offering was received. This union also held a Gold Medal contest March 20th at the Christian church. There was an unusually good class and after close judging the medal was awarded Miss Esther Brown, who gave "Old Soapy" in a splendid manner. Other classes are preparing and much interest has been aroused.

The Blackford County W. C. T. U. institute was held at Montpelier March 17 and 18, and was one of the best in every respect in the history of the temperance work. The County President, Mrs. Stahl, had charge, and Mrs. Ella Kroft, of Fairfield, was leader. The address of welcome by Mrs. West, the local President, and response by Mrs. Kroft were especially good and had the desired effect. Brief review of work showed that much good and effective work had been done, and this is due largely to the fact that we have a wide-awake, enthusiastic County President. A Matron's Silver Medal contest was in charge of Superintendent Mrs. Ritter, and Mrs. Wearly, of Montpelier won the medal. Splendid music was furnished by Mrs. Brown and the male quartet of Montpelier. Some very interesting and enthusiastic talks were given by Mrs. Kroft, Revs. Brown, Johnson, Berry, Canada and Ervin, of Montpelier, and Rev. McCormack, of Hartford City. We are happy to say the ministers of the Gospel are helping in the temperance fight, not only preaching but actually in the fight, and this was one thought of their talks, to unite with the W. C. T. U. and drive the saloons out of our towns. One very effective service was the dedication of five small children to the W. C. T. U. by their mothers and was conducted by Mrs. Stahl, who, in her motherly way, made it the more impressive. Mrs. Wearly's paper on "Work and Regular Habits as Elements in Character Building," was especially good, and understood best by the mothers, for it was written by a mother. Our Father alone can know the good done in the home for the great temperance reform. Space will not permit the mention of many points of interest, but we are nearer victory and the end not far off. Much credit is due the ladies of the local union for the royal way in which they entertained the institute. Mrs. Kroft gave the closing address Wednesday night. It was indeed inspiring to the unions and all present were greatly helped by hearing such a noble Christian woman as Mrs. Kroft as leader.

Boone—The county institute of the W. C. T. U., held at Zionsville, March 13th and 14th, was very interesting and beneficial. The weather was beautiful. There was a good attendance. Mrs. Retta Jones, of Alexandria, institute leader, deserves great credit for her earnest effort and energy manifested in making the institute a success. Thursday evening, March 13th, a large and appreciative audience witnessed a very enjoyable Silver Medal contest. All earnest W. C. T. U. workers who attended this institute gained much strength and courage to go forward and fight the great drink evil until its death knell shall be sounded from "shore to shore."

DeKalb County—The institute held at Garrett, March 26 and 27, under the leadership of Mrs. Ella Kroft, was a success in every way. Almost every number on the program was filled by the party to whom it had been assigned, and the topics, thus presented by preachers, attorneys, doctors and our good women, had a telling effect along the union lines of our work. Mrs. Kroft is sure of a hearty welcome if she can again visit DeKalb. The medal contest by seven of the bright boys and girls of the county was a sentiment-working force. The medal was awarded to Ruth Lindorfer, of Garrett. Garrett Union has increased its membership many fold, and Auburn reports 112 as against 38 last year and greatly increased activity. Waterloo has just organized, with 16 charter members. The President is Mrs. Jennie Knisely of that place. Our County President, Mrs. Bert Patterson, of St. Joe, is getting the work well in hand, and ably following the heroic officers who have preceded her. Butler has been successful in maintain a strong union, composed of but few members—quality taking the place of quantity. The Butler sisters are in the front rank, though the number is not large.

Elwood W. C. T. U. celebrated Frances E. Willard's Heavenly Birthday on February 16th at the Baptist church. Mrs. Sarah Adair, the President, presiding. The devotional services were conducted by Mrs. Ebert. Rev. Chandler gave a very interesting talk on Miss Willard's life. Quite a lengthy program was listened to by a good crowd. On Wednesday, February 25, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger visited our union, gave an interesting talk in the afternoon at the public library, after which we had a social time. Mrs. Vayhinger lectured at the M. E. church at night. In spite of the bad weather a good audience greeted her. The union of Elwood is still awake and fighting the saloons and everything in their line with all the energy they have.

Westfield—On account of recent unavoidable change of date our Hamilton county convention and institute were held jointly, it being the proper time for institute. Mrs. Retta Jones was present to conduct some portions of the program. She is full of energy and enthusiasm and in her talks transmitted a goodly amount to sixty other members of W. C. T. U. in attendance, as well as some honorary members. It was the largest and most enthusiastic gathering of White Ribboners ever held in Hamilton county and at Carmel. The Carmel local union entertained the White Ribboners and all others beautifully the two days with nicely served and palatable lunches at noon, and opened their homes to rest our tired bodies when night came. Many subjects of importance were brought before the institute-convention and discussed, and new truths came to light which were strong agitation against the tobacco, cigarette and liquor habits. Also papers were read and discussed on the subject: "What Influences Should be Used on the Children at Home to Prevent Them From Falling into Degradation Company and Habits?" Speeches were made by Hon. Northain, our candidate (Phobi.) for the Legislature, and others. God bless every true-hearted Prohibitioner and White Ribboner. On behalf of the convention.

From Vayhinger Union W. C. T. U.—Rev. C. C. Bonnell, of East Park M. E. church, remembered the Neal Dow Day of prayer in his regular Thursday evening prayer service. Rev. Collins, of East Tenth Street church, preached a very good temperance sermon on March 15th. On the same date Rev. C. C. Bonnell, of East Park church gave a very able sermon in reply to the large advertisement and letters sent to the ministers by the Southern brewers. East Tenth Street church observed the temperance day with a very effective program. Mrs. Dr. Keller gave a very good talk. Department of Franchise had a very successful meeting at East Park church, conducted by the Invincibles.

Elkhart County meetings a great success. Mrs. Tillman is a fine leader. The mass meeting in Nappanee was held in the opera house and it was packed to the doors. The institute at Elkhart was very enthusiastic, the women of the entire county having been very aggressive in the law enforcement campaign, and, as everywhere else, they decided that the liquor traffic must be prohibited, not regulated. Goshen had two evening meetings and secured seven new members. My greatest surprise was in Bremen, where I found all saloons voted out. Think of it! I think this the greatest victory yet won by local remonstrance. The unions in this section are holding parlor picnics and membership contests to increase numbers and enthusiasm, and they have made the organization popular. Spent Monday evening at Argos, and Tuesday at Mulberry. Wednesday at Lebanon, where we discovered that Mrs. Judge Artman is a star debater for equal suffrage. Our cause is enlisting the brightest and best, for we champion the cause of the people. Yours for victory, Elkhart Central Woman's Christian Temperance Union—A magnificent audience greeted Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley at the Baptist church, Wednesday evening, April 1st. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and ferns, and at 7:45 o'clock the program opened with a pipe organ selection by R. M. Stewart. After the invocation by J. W. Gossard, the St. Paul M. E. Male Quartet pleased with music. Mrs. Stanley, endowed with the power of oratory and fortified with a fund of facts, came before a large and appreciative audience and by her natural talent and by her college training in the elements of civil law, held the closest attention for more than an hour. The subject of her address was "Christian Citizenship," and in a most convincing manner she attributed nearly all of the domestic, economic and political ills to the use of intoxicating liquors. The reading, "Christian Patriotism," was charmingly delivered by Miss Daun Kremer. One of the boys of the Junior L. T. L. presented pretty bouquets of carnations, tied with white ribbon, to Mrs. Stanley and Miss Kremer. Boys of the Senior L. T. L. gracefully acted as ushers and collectors. Rev. H. M. Spear, pastor of the Baptist church, pronounced the benediction.

Elkhart County Institute—One of the most entertaining and profitable Institutes ever held by the Elkhart County Woman's Christian Temperance Union convened at the Baptist church in Elkhart, Thursday, April 2d. Goshen and Nappanee Unions were well represented, and Mrs. J. E. Tilman, the County President, presided. During the morning session reports were heard and several departments of work and other subjects brought up spirited and helpful discussions. Some of the afternoon topics were "Work and Regular Habits as Elements in Character Building," treated by Mrs. T. M. Baker; "Proper Home Attractions to Counteract Outside Attractions," by Rev. C. E. Rice; "Effects of Popular Amusements Upon Habits and Character," by Rev. M. E. Bachman, and "How Can the Church be Strongly Co-operative Against the Saloon," by Rev. H. N. Spear. The music consisted of W. C. T. U. songs and several solos. Some pertinent questions along lines pertaining to the work were asked by the audience and answered by Mrs. Stanley. Enthusiasm was at high tension when six members of the Junior L. T. L., each carrying a wand surmounted by a gilt star, took their places on the platform and gave a rousing prohibition exercise, closing with a chorus of voices as follows:

"Indiana, are you coming, are you coming, are you coming

To be a temperance state?

Things must really get to humming, get to humming, get to humming,

You would better fix a date.

Indiana, are you coming?"

At both morning and afternoon sessions Mrs. Stanley gave helpful talks. On Thursday evening she delivered another stirring address on "Tricks of the Trade," in which she showed the breweries' influence over legislatures and politicians. Every session was largely attended; a good collection was taken; new members were added to the W. C. T. U. ranks, and subscriptions to the temperance publications were secured. As a sequel to the Institute, which closed Thursday evening, Mrs. Milton Wertz, of Middlebury street, gave an informal dinner at noon Friday to the members of the W. C. T. U., and in the afternoon the members and a number of other guests enjoyed the reading: "At the Mercy of the State," given by Mrs. Stanley.

In last Message it was stated that the supply of programs for local unions is exhausted, but a few orders can be filled by our Corresponding Secretary. Those who want the programs, please write an once to Miss Mary E. Woodard, Fountain City. Price, one cent per copy.

THE AMERICAN PROHIBITION YEAR BOOK FOR 1908.

This compact and timely volume contains a whole library of valuable matter. The authors have made a specialty of going to official sources, to government reports, for much of its statistical information. Being double the size of former editions, it covers a much broader field. It has fifteen departments: "Almanac," "Total Abstinence," "Consumption and Cost of Drink," "Economics," "Criminology," "Legislation," "Results of Legislation," "The Liquor Trade," "A National Problem," "Political Action and Methods," "Party Records," "Religious Bodies," "Courts and Decisions," "Election Returns," "Organization and Lists."

Here are many hundreds of things which the people wish to know in connection with the present widespread agitation on the liquor traffic and its record. We observe that under "Economics" it presents a very compact, yet comprehensive view of the fundamentals of Political Economy, while under "Legislation" it gives the history from earliest civilization of all nations of dealing with the liquor traffic, including "Tribute," or "Tax," "Permits," or "Grants," "Low License," "Dispensary," or "Gothenburg System," "High License," "Local Option," Prohibition," etc.

The "Results of Legislation" are very impressive, and are probably the most complete ever gathered outside of an encyclopedia. The work abounds in "graphs," or diagrams, helpful in showing at a glance the proportions and relations of the statistical statements made.

The book shows by official figures how prohibition will bring to the farmer twelve times the sale for his products that he now has from the liquor patronage. It also shows the workingman how the liquor traffic keeps hundreds of thousands of men idle; and also keeps down the reward that labor should receive. From the pages of this book the average citizen will be able to glean fundamental facts which will enable him to formulate his own answers to the mass of prejudiced and misleading statements now being poured forth by the alarmed and desperate liquor men, who realize that "their craft is in danger."

Several pages devoted to court decisions are convincing and convenient for the inquirer. The actual figures show that the drink bill of America exceeds two and a quarter billions of dollars every year. This is not rhetoric; it appears to be cold mathematics, and speakers will be safe to so declare.

There are no secret chambers in this volume, for a copious index throws open every door. The student of affairs, the politician, the public speaker, the clergyman and the private citizen should find in this book matter suggestive, informing and authoritative. (Cloth, 50c; paper, 25c. IN MEMORIAM.

Bluffton Union sorrows the going away of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Thomas at the age of eighty-three years, nine months and fifteen days, after an illness of one month. She had for many years been a member of the Union and will be sadly missed. She was a faithful christian who through her long life of mingled joy and sorrow, never lost her cheerful spirit and interest in all things human.

Mrs. S. S. Whisler, one of our earnest and efficient workers, has died. The last W. C. T. U. work she did was to assist in arranging for Mrs. Stanley's meetings. Wednesday evening she was as well as usual and enthusiastic over the work. Friday morning the Master said: "It is enough; come up higher." We shall greatly miss her at our meetings.

FLOWERS WANTED.

Unions in small towns or country having more flowers than they can use will please express them to Marion County, Flower Mission Department W. C. T. U. We want every reform and charitable institution in Marion County visited on that day and fear we will not have flowers.

Chicago Board of Trade interests warned by liquor men. One of the letters sent out says in part:

"As a matter of self-preservation, we are compelled to find out who are our friends and who are our enemies. No firm that directly or indirectly assists the Prohibition party can consistently do business with us, and we therefore take the liberty to ask you how you stand on the question."

The plan outlined, reduced to its legitimate analysis, is that a Black List is to be prepared which will contain the names of all business firms and business men who favor prohibition. When these names have been secured it is the purpose of the malsters and brewers, together with their tools and vassals, to boycott all of these and do them all the harm that can possibly be done them by these criminal interests.

Hon. Wm. H. Taft, in his "Your Aspect of Civic Duty," says:

"I think the doctrine of Prohibition is at war with all the ideas and teachings of the English-speaking race. * * * Here and there a wise man can be found who is in favor of prohibition, but these are the exceptions and are very few. The conscience of the world goes against the doctrine."

DANGEROUS INNOVATION.

[By Editor Gregory, of Williamsport.]

The Jews of New York have succeeded in having the name of Christ in any of its forms and the word Christmas eliminated from the singing books used in the public schools, and the publishers of song books are beginning to revise the books with these names left out. The order for this freak step was made by the board of education. The demand on which the order was made was that the word was sectarian and had no place in the books. The threat was made by the Jews that if the words were not taken out of the books they would cease sending their children to the schools.

When it is remembered that the people who are demanding this radical change in the protestant singing books are descendants of the people who made false accusations against the Christ and finally put Him to death, there is no wonder now that the children of these murderers want the school books of Christian parents separated as far as possible from Christian belief, doctrine and practice that they may conform strictly to the beliefs, doctrines and practice of Jews. What the Jews of New York City demand the Jews of Chicago and all other cities of the country will demand.

PRESIDENT'S APPEAL.

Dear Sisters:

Our third quarter is closing, and I am praying and working, and I hope you are doing the same, for a good increase over the third quarter last year. At our mid-year we found we had a gain of 872 over corresponding quarters last year. If Unions that have not reported will do as well the coming quarters we will have 7,000 women by September 15, 1908.

Do not fail to organize in some way for a membership contest, and do it now. Women are awaiting an invitation to join our ranks, so go after them today. This is the crisis year in Indiana prohibition work. Let us not be found wanting in ranks. We are ordering beautiful new state banners to be given for excellence in work done and reports sent in by local Unions and counties. Each State Superintendent is to have one to offer in her department. Each county is asked to bring their county banner; also a piece of cardboard 18 in. long, 12 in. wide, with name of county, number of members gained and number of saloons put out this year, printed in large letters and figures upon it, and ready for hanging. These will hang about the convention church.

If any of you have used a song which has been especially helpful in stirring up enthusiasm in the work and will send me a copy of it, I shall be glad to select from them to use in convention.

May the few remaining months be full of labors.

Yours,

CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

BIBLE IS BARRED FROM CHICAGO SCHOOLS.

Management Committee of Board of Education Says it Seeks to Preserve "Unsectarian Character."

All books containing biblical quotations, as well as the Bible, are excluded from the Chicago public schools. The reason given by the school management committee of the Board of Education is a fear that official sanction of its use "might result in evoking distrust of the integrity and unsectarian character of the schools."

The fight that has been waged for weeks over the study of the Bible or books containing quotations or references, it is said, is only temporarily checked by the action of the trustees. It is certain to be renewed, it is conceded, in the disposition of certain books used for supplemental reading, which have been recommended by the teachers and others charged with the duty of selecting such reading matter.

[Everywhere our Christians must consider from whence comes their blessings. Women must always bear in mind that it is only in lands where the Gospel of Jesus Christ is taught (The Bible) that woman is anything more than a slave.

Jesus Christ is the emancipator of woman. To Him we owe unswerving allegiance.—Editor.]

FOR PROHIBITION.

No man or enterprise ever ultimately lost a cent by standing for the right. If the stars in their courses fought against Sisera they will per contra. Fight for the man or enterprise that stands four-square for righteousness. When Elijah was hungry in the wilderness, God's ravens fed him there. The same God that gave victory to Gideon, that rescued Daniel from the den of lions, and that shielded Paul and his companions when the hour of shipwreck came, rules and reigns today, and He will not allow His friends and advocates to suffer if they unselfishly stand for Him.

The liquor traffic is the deadliest enemy the human race has ever known. It is organized as a foe to law, order and righteousness in every state throughout the nation. It employs a vast corruption fund which is used constantly for misleading popular opinion and the subornation of the press.

Mrs. L. M. Stevens and Miss Anna Gordon, National President and Vice-President-at-Large, are spending the months of April and May at National headquarters in Evanston, Ill. In addition to the usual heavy correspondence incident to the general work, they have taken an active part in the local option campaign in the state, delivering addresses at Springfield, the state capital, and at Moline, where a hot fight resulted in a no-license victory. A prohibition majority of nearly 40,000 in Illinois rejoices the hearts of all enemies of the saloon.

Plans for the next National W. C. T. U. Convention are already under way, and Mrs. Stevens and Miss Gordon will go to Denver in May to confer with state and local committees. It is expected that the convention will be held in the fine new auditorium now in process of erection in Denver for the special accommodation of the great National Democratic Convention to be held in that city in July.

CANDY.

"Give children plenty of pure sugar, taffy and butterscotch and they'll have little need of cod-liver oil," says Dr. Woods Hutchinson in the Woman's Home Companion.

"In short, sugar is, after meat, bread and butter, easily our next most important and necessary food. It is a significant fact that the free-lunch counters run in connection with bars furnish every imaginable thing except sweets. Even the restaurants and lunch grills attached to saloons or bars often refuse to serve desserts of any sort. They know their business. The more sugar and sweets a man takes at a meal, the less alcohol he wants. Conversely, nearly every drinking man will tell you that he has lost his taste for sweets. The more candy a nation consumes, the less alcohol.

Sunday School workers are reminded that June 28 in Anti-Cigarette Sunday. The plan to observe one Sunday in each year as Anti-Cigarette Day in the Sunday Schools was first proposed by our National Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. E. B. Ingalls. Later the International Sunday School Association, through its Temperance Committee, designated the second Temperance Sunday of each year as Anti-Cigarette Day. Plans, programs and new illustrated anti-narcotic leaflets for Anti-Cigarette Sunday are prepared by the National Superintendent of the Sunday School Department, and are included in the Quarterly Budget. Price, 15 cents. Send to Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, 115 Walnut street, Riverside, California.

PROHIBITION.

Recent Typical Results—Its Latest Progress—Notable Testimony.

Prohibition is a good thing—if it works,—that today is the attitude of millions of honest citizens who have become interested in the extending conquest of the Home Protection forces, but who are not yet informed as to its actual results, where in operation.

Herein are epitomized a few of the typical results of local and state prohibition, honestly enforced, although in every case seriously handicapped by uninterrupted interstate nullification, which the Littlefield measure in Congress will help put an end to, when passed.

Recent Typical Results of Prohibition.

Missouri—Three years ago three counties out of 114 in the state of Missouri were "dry." Today 72 counties have voted out the saloon and the rest are following in rapid succession. The campaign for a state prohibition amendment to the constitution is enthusiastically under way.

Every distillery except one in southern Missouri, which includes 18 counties, has been forced out of business by prohibition during the last two years.

On February 29, 1908, when the First District Press Association met at Macon, Mo., the local editor interviewed the editor-delegates on prohibition. He found them unanimously in favor of it, declares the Kansas City Star, and "those from whose homes the saloons banished longest were the most outspoken. Not an editor complained of any embarrassment to his town by loss of saloon revenue."

Tennessee—Every one of Tennessee's 1,848 towns and municipalities, with the exception of three, are now saloon free by the gradual progress of prohibition reform during the last twenty years. State prohibition seems inevitable within two years. Knoxville, Tenn., its largest prohibition city since November 1, 1907, shows for the month of January, 1908, exactly 88 arrests compared with 181 for January, '07. The Sentinel of that city says, February 10, 1908: "Prohibition has reduced drinking two-thirds at least and thereby reduced all kinds of vice."

Bristol, Tenn., (population 10,000) has reduced its police force twice since November 1st last, when prohibition came in force. Since Bristol and Knoxville went "dry" there is not an open saloon between Roanoke, Va., and Chattanooga, a distance of over 400 miles.

Alabama—Birmingham, Ala., (population with its suburbs 125,000) adopted prohibition October 28, 1907. The law went into force January 1st, 1908. January 25, 1908, the Birmingham News says editorially: "For ten years Birmingham has not enjoyed so wonderful a period as it has since January 1st. Prohibition has proved a powerful agency in the betterment of public morals." The number of arrests for drunkenness in January, 1908, was scarcely one-sixth as large as the average when saloons were in operation. The number of arrests in Birmingham in December under license was 1,114, average, 36 a day. The total for January was 398, 14 a day. In December the street gang contained on an average 30 white men. In January the average was five.

The suburbs of Bessemer, Ensley, Gadsden, Jasper and Anniston, all iron and steel working towns where twelve or fifteen prisoners on the average daily faced the police judge under license, now report frequent days when there was no business for the court. "The undertakers declare that their ambulances are rusting in their stalls," state a special dispatch to the New York Tribune.

One of the managers of the steel plant of the United States Steel Corporation at Ensley said to the Tribune correspondent: "The record of accidents in January (under prohibition) shows a decrease of 60 per cent." Street car casualties, formerly of daily occurrence, are no longer reported, or at rare intervals. In January 1,044 state and county business licenses were issued up to January as compared with 1,029 up to January 25, 1907, showing an increase in the number of business houses in spite of the closing of 300 saloons in the county.

Under prohibition Anniston, Ala., during January, 1908, reports 129 total arrests, eight for drunkenness. Under license for December, '07, there were 427 arrests, 179 for drunkenness.

Kansas City, Kansas—Mr. William E. Curtis, the well-known correspondent for the Washington Star, Chicago Record-Herald, and other papers, himself not a Prohibitionist, in an interview January 28, 1908, with Assistant Attorney General C. W. Trickett, of Kansas, reports the striking results of enforced prohibition in Kansas City, Kansas, a city of 100,000. Following are a few typical facts:

"On June 8, 1906, there were 256 saloons in Wyandotte county, Kan., of which Kansas City is the seat. There were 200 gambling houses and more than sixty houses of evil repute.

JUNE, 1908.

STATE CONVENTION LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Marion—June 16, 17, 18.

Welcome—Evening June 16.

For City—Judge W. T. Williams.

For Churches—Rev. J. Boyd Jones.

For W. C. T. U.—Mrs. C. W. Boucher.

For L. T. L.—Miss Lucile McVicker.

Important—Entertainment will be given all delegates except dinners, which will be served for 20 cents.

Press Reporters, please send an account of the work that your Union is doing to The Message. For instance, if your Union has had a public meeting or has done some special work, please "write it up" the next day and send it to the editor of The Message. By telling of your work, if it is only a five-line item, it may encourage some other band of women to do some definite work. If you have had a speaker or had a "good meeting" tell The Message.

Treasurers, now is the time to collect dues. If your list is too long for you to personally do the work, take an hour and write out the names and ask some of the members to help you. June 15 is the day that all local dues should be sent by the Local Treasurer to the County Treasurer. Collect dues! Secure donations for your treasury. How? By talking in company about how the W. C. T. U. needs money and tell what for. Keep this up. At every meeting of the Union, too, talk about it. After a while the people will begin to think about how little they give in a year to the temperance work. When they think a while they will give. How few families give two dollars a year for temperance in Indiana. W. C. T. U. families give, but, oh, few other women contribute of their money to the temperance work.

Prize Essay Contests! Send us the report of your contest.

For Temperance and helpful leaflets secure the following: "The Liquor Traffic and Foreign Missions," by Mrs. Marion H. Dunham. price 30c per 100. "The Relation of Temperance to Missions," 50c per 50; 90c per 100. (Excellent.) Order of Miss Ruby T. Gilbert, 131 Wabash avenue, Chicago, Ill. "An American Problem," by Mrs. C. S. Dauks (Foreigners). Price, 3c each. Order of Mrs. Mary B. Wilson, 4734 Hazel avenue, Philadelphia.

For Flower Mission Day. Life sketch of Jennie Casseday, 3c or $1.00 per 100. Flower Mission Scripture text cards, 25c per 100. Order of Miss Ruby T. Gilbert, 131 Wabash avenue, Chicago.

For July 4 arrange a Temperance Rally. Interest societies, lodges, etc.; secure a good band and a great speaker. Crowds of people will come. The receipts from the "eating stands" and other "privileges" will guarantee all the money needed, provided, of course, that the same energy and ability is exercised in advertising that is used by the "show" concerns everywhere. This campaign year July 4th will be pre-empted by others if our temperance people do not act early. Secure grounds; secure bands and speakers. The way to succeed is to succeed.

July 20 is Loyal Temperance Legion Day.

Temperance Sunday June 28. Ask the privilege of distributing a temperance leaflet in the Sunday School, and another kind in the church on that morning. A few cents spent by you for leaflets and wisely distributed may wonderfully help some good men to get stirred to action on temperance.

INDIANA LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

My Dear Legioners:

"All Aboard for Convention."

Such ought to be the arousing cry of every Legioner these days. For it is just about a month now till we will all gather at Marion, Ind., on June 16, 17 and 18, in our Fourteenth Annual Convention. This is to be held in the Friends church, corner of 38th and Harmon streets. Begin to plan now for the "best convention we have ever had." Let every Legion be represented. One Legion writes they are planning to send twenty-five delegates. Think of it! Shall the rest of us let that Legion put us in the shade? Not if we are Loyal Legioners, and can help it, I'm sure.

MRS. ELLA KROFT,
State Superintendent Anti-Narcotics.

Call a meeting at once to decide how many and who are going from your place, then send names of same to chairman of entertainment committee, Mrs. C. C. Thomas, 3426 South Boots street, Marion. Do this at once. Then go to work in earnest on Crusader Monthly, Dues, Diploma, Seal Course and Departmental work. Rush this work as you never have before. Let's not have one thing unfinished. Review the year's work in your local, and if you see any department that has not been worked as it should have been, throw yourselves into that department and do something yet; much can be done in a month. Dozens of Crusader Monthly subscriptions ought to be sent to Miss Hazel Hunt, Marion, before June 16th. Every penny of dues must be collected. We need the money badly. And who is to do all this? Not the General State Secretary, nor the State President, nor the State Treasurer, but you—you to whom this letter is sent. Soon the department report blanks will be sent you. Fill these out promptly and fully and return to the State Superintendents. The least little delay may keep them from getting in the state report. One more very important thing. Few Legions have made donations to the State Treasury this year. As State President, I appeal to every Legion in Indiana to make a donation of from 50 cents to $5.00 within the next two or three weeks. Send same to Nathan Lemfesty, 625 west 4th street, Marion, Ind. Hoping to see many of the Legioners very soon, with prayers for our work. Loyally,
DE ETTE WALKER, State President.

DEPARTMENT OF ANTI-NARCOTICS.

Not long since a brother said to me: "You may destroy all the whisky, alcohol and beer, but do let tobacco alone. I can't get along without my tobacco." I said: "Do you know that according to our best authorities the degenerating effect of tobacco is worse than that of liquor?"

I am pleased to say that the women of the W. C. T. U. are in open hostility to the use of tobacco in all its forms. We will not be willing to tolerate the evil a day longer than we are compelled to. We only want to do our brothers a great kindness. We do not want to deprive them of anything that would be for their good physically and spiritually. We want to help them save their money, their time and their physical and mental ability. Men want to be kind, generous and courteous. If some would only stop and think, they would soon find that they are not so kind, generous and courteous as they might be. We have gone into homes of the poor and needy; have carried to them the necessities of life or some article of clothing for an invalid mother or daughter, as the case may be, and while in such homes trying to alleviate pain and suffering, to be tormented with tobacco juice or the smoke from a cigar or old pipe, we are led to say that these people are not as kind and generous as they ought to be. And they know, too, that their loved ones are worried over their waste of money and their bad and filthy habits, saying nothing of the positive injury to the sick ones in the home. As for myself, I must confess that it takes a double portion of God's grace to endure these things and keep sweet, or to be thrown for two or three hours in some railroad depot and have men that claim to be gentlemen puffing away at an old pipe or cigar. This seems very discourteous to me. We ought at all times use our personal influence against the great evil. We can do this by speaking in a mild, kindly way.

We have an excellent tobacco and cigarette law in our state, but we need better enforcement. We believe that cigarettes are not legitimate articles of commerce, because they are wholly noxious and deleterious to health. Their use is always harmful and never beneficial. They possess no virtue, but are inherently bad, and bad only. They find no true commendation, merit or usefulness in any sphere. On the contrary, they are widely condemned as altogether pernicious. Beyond question their every tendency is toward impairment of physical strength and mental vigor.

George Baumhoff, superintendent of Lindell Railroad, St. Louis, says: "Under no circumstances will I hire a man who smokes cigarettes. He is as dangerous at the front end of the motor as the man that drinks. In fact he is more dangerous; his nerves are liable to give way at a critical moment. A motorman needs his nerve all the time. A cigarette smoker can not stand the strain."

George Torrence, superintendent of Illinois State Reformatory, Pontiac, Ill., says: "I am sure that cigarettes are destroying and making more criminals of boys than the saloons. Cigarettes are not the effect of crime, but the cause of it."

While we are working against the tobacco evil, let us not forget, or rather neglect, to fight against opium and kindred drugs. The use of cocaine is on the increase. Poor and ignorant people are using it extravagantly. Do not let the cigarette absorb all others. Remember almost all kinds of headache medicines contain some injurious drugs. The Massachusetts State Board of Health decided after an investigation that the following drugs among many others contain opium: Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, Piso's Cure for Consumption, Jane's Expectorent, Perry Davis' Pain Killer and Coe's Cough Balsam.

The Second Quarterly Sunday School Temperance day, June 8, is Anti-Cigarette day. Plan largely. Pledge every boy and girl you can possibly reach, hold mass meetings with the children, urge ministers to preach on the subject and present the work in the Sunday School. Make much of this day.

Every Union ought to have a Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics. Consult your State Superintendent. She has her own special plans. These should be carefully followed by the local workers. Your Superintendent will be glad to hear from you; write and tell her what you have done in this department; carefully report every item, no matter how small, to State Superintendent, that she may have a full report to go to the National Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics.

Dear sisters of the Local Unions, upon you rests the responsibility of teaching the people the evil effects of narcotics and of showing them how to fight these drugs. Send for literature, tobacco pledges, copies of state tobacco law, hold public meetings devoted to this subject. May you be alive to your opportunities and help hasten the day when narcotics will be unknown in our bright and beautiful land.

For information write Mrs. Ella Kroft, State Superintendent Anti-Narcotics, Fairfield, Franklin County, Ind., or Brookville, R. R. No. 2.

FRANCHISE DEPARTMENT.

We have sent the petitions to every county in the state; two for each Local Union. Now for a signing crusade. Begin immediately and keep it up until you have asked every person in your community to sign this petition. We want municipal suffrage. Let us ask for it. The Legislature will be influenced by names signed to the petitions; a great number will bring the victory. There will be given, at the State Convention, three premiums. One to the county having the greatest number of men's signatures to the petition. Another to the county having the greatest number of signatures to the petition. Another to the County Superintendent sending in the best report of Franchise work done during the year. It means work, for we must have the reports this year by the 10th of September if they are "counted in." Who will be the winners. If you need more petition blanks send for them; also instructions or information, literature, etc.

FLOWER MISSION DAY JUNE 9.

The Gospel of our Flower Mission work is needed everywhere.

Every Union and almost every family included in the W. C. T. U. membership can do some special Flower Mission work on Tuesday, June 9.

Mothers, sisters and Sunday School teachers, you can enlist the interest and help of the boys and girls. To do this will be of far-reaching benefit. Flowers are scarce; instead use fruits, candies, jellies, dainty desserts, cakes and cookies; always tying a Scripture text card on the gift. Besides the fruits and delicacies, small scrap books, books, interesting clippings, or personally written letters will be greatly appreciated. In Indiana our W. C. T. U. should so systematically plan that Flower Mission Day will be observed, if ever so humble and simple, in every orphan's home, poor farm and jail. The street car employes, the old people and the "shut ins" should be remembered. Growing plants taken to the offices and places of business of those men who have loyally helped our cause will only be a little expression of appreciation. Especially in this connection should our friends the ministers, the teachers, the physicians and the editors be considered.

The Unions should keep a supply of the Scripture text cards on hand. They are very inexpensive and can carry a Gospel message where it may help a soul on to heaven.

FLOWER MISSION.

Our red letter day will soon be here—June 9. The birthday of our sainted Jennie Casseday. Let each Local Superintendent arrange for a special Flower Mission meeting on June 9, and I trust

THE MESSAGE.

there will be thousands of bouquets distributed on that day. And let a text card and white ribbon bow go with each bouquet. The object of the Flower Mission is something more than to give momentary pleasure. Eternity alone will reveal the spiritual ministrations, personal kindness, the tender care and sympathy bestowed by those who carry out the flowers.

Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ."

Lovingly,

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION CONVENTION.

The Fourteenth Annual Convention of the Indiana Loyal Temperance Legion will be held at the Friends church, corner of 38th and Harmon streets, Marion, Indiana, on June 16, 17 and 18, 1908. The chairman of the entertainment committee is Mrs. C. C. Thomas, 3426 South Boots street, Marion. The names of all delegates must be sent to her as soon as possible. Let us make this the grandest convention in the history of our Legion. A splendid program is being prepared. Marion knows just how to do things and you will be royally entertained. Come and catch the irresistible spirit of enthusiasm and work. Get into the greatest battle that was ever waged for humanity now, for 'twill soon be too late. The call has come for the young people at the head of the ranks. May not one delay! CLARA M. SEARS, Treasurer.

Oklahoma—Kansas' southern neighbor, adopted prohibition September 17, 1907, by 18,000 majority. Oklahoma City, the state metropolis, under license (November 17 to December 7, 1906) reported 224 arrests, 150 for drunkenness. Under prohibition, November 17 to December 7, 1907, total arrests 138, for drunkenness, 11.

"The official records show that during the year after the closing of the saloons, from July 1, 1906, to July 1, 1907, Kansas City showed an increase of 209.7 per cent. in building operations, the largest of any city in the Union. The next largest gain was 77 per cent. Three times as many laboring men bought homes in our town last year as ever before in its history.

"The closing of the saloons has reduced our court expenses $25,000 a year, which was formerly spent in the prosecution of criminals.

FIELD NEWS

The Vanderburgh County Institute was held April 25th in Rest Room, Evans Hall, Evansville, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley presiding. Opening was with devotional exercises, led by Mrs. M. Hargrave. Mrs. Stanley then spoke of W. C. T. U. plans of work, State and National. Mrs. Lydia Ashby spoke of W. C. T. U. publications, saying many were discouraged because they did not read the papers, so did not know of the great advance made. Mrs. Jennie K. Pattison read a paper on "Causes That Led to Woman's Suffrage Movement." Chief cause being the low estimate of women which had come down from Oriental polygamy. Mrs. Stanley, in her usual fluent and forcible manner, outlined the plans for the state campaign for woman's suffrage. In the afternoon session Mrs. Stanley and a number of the ministers of the city joined in an enthusiastic discussion of the outlook for prohibition in Indiana. Miss Hannah Calahan sang "The Little Teetotaler." In the evening at Evans Hall Mrs. Stanley discussed "The Liquor Traffic From a Business Standpoint." At 10:30 a. m. Sunday Mrs. Stanley spoke at the First Baptist church on "The Foe of the Church, the School and the Home." Her address on Sunday afternoon was the "The Coming of Victory." At Howell M. E. church, 7:30 p. m., "Perils of Our Civilization and Their Remedy." On April 25th the W. C. T. U. of Evansville, Ind., celebrated the third anniversary of the opening of their lunch and rest room. A number were present; a pleasing program was rendered, after which refreshments were served. Mrs. Mary B. Jenner, Superintendent, reported a large increase of patronage during the present year. Over 16,000 meals were served. And a number of donations to charity had been made.

Lafayette—Wednesday evening, April 22, Mrs. Ray L. Stinespring, County Medal Contest Superintendent, held a Matron's Silver Medal contest in Trinity M. E. church of Lafayette. The class consisted of six ladies. Mrs. A. M. King of West Lafayette won the medal.

Mrs. E. E. Blake, legislative campaign manager for Illinois Prohibition committee, has engaged ten of our Indiana college prohibition men for summer field work in Illinois. My, how Indiana needs the efforts of these and other prohibition college young men.

Van Buren—The W. C. T. U. of Van Buren held a very enthusiastic meeting recently at the M. E. church. Mrs. Lulu E. Shugart, County President, and Mrs. Sarah E. Edgerton, County Evangelist, of Grant county, were present. A mothers' meeting in the afternoon, addressed by both ladies, was well attended, and seven new members were added to our Union. In the evening a mass meeting was held, addressed by Mrs. Shugart and Mrs. Edgerton, also Rev. Murray, of the M. E. church, and Rev. Anderson, of the Christian church. We expect to hold another meeting of the same character soon.

South Bend—The Pleasant View W. C. T. U. held a Sabbath Observance meeting in April at the home of Mrs. John Rennor on Diamond avenue, with a large attendance. The subject was ably handled and six new members were added to the roll. May 5th a praise meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Jacob Miller, pleading for and acknowledging the God-given rest day. May 13th, at the home of Mrs. John Staples, the subject, "Temperance the Hope of the World," was ably handled by the ladies, and a chart talk on "Sabbath Observance" by Mrs. Kathryn Holler, State Superintendent, could not have been better. Her presence and talk were greatly appreciated by all.

Danville—A reception given by the Danville W. C. T. U. in honor of the new members, won through the membership contest plan, was held at the home of the Local President, Mrs. David Mills, on the afternoon of May 7th. An interesting program had been prepared and many guests invited. Rev. Sarah Hadley conducted the devotions. A hearty welcome was given the new members by the President. Response to the welcome was by Mrs. Randolph, one of the new members, who also sang a beautiful solo, "Nearer, Lord, to Thee." Mrs. Retta Jones, of Alexandria, was present and made a pleasing address. Seventeen new members were added to our number, one dear sister giving her name and a five dollar bill at this reception. Refreshments consisting of Neapolitan cream, cake and coffee were served by the Reds, the Blues having gained the most members. Much interest was manifested, and this Union will be a strong factor in Hendricks county.

The Greencastle W. C. T. U. is holding monthly temperance meetings in the assembly room of the court house on Sunday afternoon. Dr. Vandyke of the Presbyterian church spoke at the April meeting on "The Progress of the Temperance Reform." Temperance meetings are not popular in this college town. The Methodist school, DePauw University faculty gives little attention to the subject. To get the co-operation of those whom it would be expected would work the hardest against the liquor business in Greencastle is indeed a problem. An educational or literature campaign for no license is being quietly conducted under the leadership of Rev. A. T. Riley. The work has continued for several months and is having good effect. Two-page temperance bulletins, containing much up-to-date information, are being systematically distributed at stated times. Perhaps there is no place in all Indiana where the people are more "conservative" on real temperance issues than in Greencastle. Rev. A. T. Riley and his committee have had some financial help from people outside of Greencastle in order to be able to carry on their literature campaign. Brother Riley is a man of superior attainments and ability; is an earnest, enthusiastic and indefatigable worker. To him is due much of the credit of work planned and done. Any Union desiring to conduct a literature no license campaign can get much information from Rev. A. T. Riley, Greencastle.

Washington County W. C. T. U. Institute met in the Christian church at Campbellsburg May 7-8 and was one of the most interesting and helpful meetings that has been held for a long time. The good citizens of Campbellsburg and our efficient leader, Mrs. Rose Pearce, deserve much credit for the success of the meeting. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, there was a good attendance each day. The entertainment Thursday night was something for the W. C. T. U. to be proud of. Music, with Mrs. Lydia Hiles of Campbellsburg presiding at the organ; recitation by Mr. Hugh Lippen, Salem; Reading, Miss Cook, Campbellsburg; recitation, Mrs. Eva Chamberlain, Campbellsburg; music, male quartet, Campbellsburg; recitation, Viletta Brown, Campbellsburg; reading by Rev. Erickson, Campbellsburg; recitation, Mrs. Glass, Campbellsburg; quartet by Jean brothers, Campbellsburg; talk by Mrs. Rose Pearce, which was enjoyed by all. At the close of the meeting Friday afternoon the County President, Mrs. Fannie B. Ellis, of Salem, had the privilege of pinning the white ribbon on six new members, while all joined in singing "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

The Liberty Center W. C. T. U. met April 7 at the beautiful country home of Luella McElhaney. There were twenty-five ladies present. The Lesson Franchise facts was discussed. The most interesting feature of the meeting was the deciding of the membership contest, which proved that those wearing the blue ribbon received ten new members and those wearing the red ribbon twenty-three, making thirty-three new members, which more than doubled the original number. The ladies then proceeded to carry out their agreement that those receiving the most new members should give a public entertainment and those the fewest to serve refreshments to all. Accordingly at the next regular meeting, May 5th, at the Baptist church, Mrs. Fannie Garrett, ex-president of the Union, and captain of the blue side, assisted by Flo Carroll, Ida Popejoy, Belle Gaskill, Carrie Lee, Susan Sliger, Ida Thompson and Amanda Fudge served dainty refreshments. One new member, Mrs. Ida Gephart, was received at that meeting. The following Friday night the red side gave their entertainment at the Methodist church. Mrs. Jennie Merriman was captain of the red side. The church had been beautifully decorated in red and white bunting and carnations. The program was splendidly carried out. The music was furnished by the Union Chapel and the Boehmer male quartets, and the class furnished a few selections. The recitations were worthy of special note. The entertainment was one of the most successful that has been held in our little town. The new members were: Lucretia Ware, Lurana Buckner, Maria Prible, Anna Ware, Addie Gordon, Gertie Jones, Vada Reese, Ethel Jarrett, Ethel Helton, Mary Weldon, Myrtle Tinkle, Jane Marshall, Carrie Morris, Ida Romine, Ruie Garrett, Margaret Sturgis, Lizzie Dean, Florence Yelton, Nora Stinson, Belle Arnold, Vernoshia Brinneman, Fausta Griffin, Della Snaveley, Nellie Prible, Lizzie Coleman, Floretta Day, Nellie Crinn, Sarah Johnson, June Sturgis, Ruth Croasdale, Ida Thompson, John Prible and Charles Hartley. Two more new members have been taken in since, Mrs. Ida Gephart and Verna Johnson, making sixty-one members in all.

South Bend—The Week of Prayer was observed in South Bend by each of the four Unions of the city holding a prayer meeting on different evenings. On Wednesday evening, at their regular prayer meetings, the churches of the city took for their study "Sabbath Observance." The preachers were asked to preach on "Sabbath Observance" on Sunday, May 3d. The work is being pushed wherever we see an opportunity to do so. Not only are the Unions active in that department, but we have been the means of getting different church organizations, such as the Ladies' Aid and Missionary Societies, to take up Sabbath observance as a study.

Bright Union held a very successful membership contest. The Union was equally divided, with Mrs. George Morgan captain of the Reds, and Mrs. T. B. Gibson captain of the Blues. On the appointed day it was found that the Blues were the victors, they having gained thirteen new members and the Reds twelve. The contest being so close it was unanimously decided that both sides unite and give a dinner and reception. The hall dinner was served to about 125 members and friends. A short program was greatly enjoyed. Bright Union has also just held a rally of four night meetings. The first night was given to "Sabbath Observance," with Mrs. T. N. Todd chairman. Rev. M. G. Long, of the Christian church of Hanson, delivered an excellent address. The second night the L. T. L., senior and junior, gave the program; Mrs. J. R. Liddle, Superintendent of the Senior L. T. L., chairman. The third night was given to Hadley Industrial School, with Mrs. G. E. Heiskell chairman. A paper on the school, written by Miss Jennie Morgan, and read by Mrs. George Morgan, was the feature of the program. An offering was taken for the school. The fourth evening closed the rally with a contest; proceeds for county work. There were seven contestants; six married ladies and one gentleman.

Elkhart—On May 5th a very profitable and entertaining meeting was held by Mrs. R. C. Travis, our energetic County Sabbath Observance Superintendent, at her home, 309 Main street. The meeting had been much "talked up" and planned, invitations having been sent to Goshen and South Bend Unions. The day was anything but pleasant, but the white ribboners are not afraid of pure water, plenty of it, so undaunted they came, until nearly fifty were present. Mrs. M. E. McCaskey, President of the Goshen Union, led the devotion and was in charge of the meeting. "Are the Christian People of the Nation to Blame for Sabbath Desecration?" was the title of a good paper by Mrs. Young, of Goshen. After this the meeting was turned into a conference. A question box proved very instructive, and we were most fortunate in having with us Mrs. Katherine Holler, of South Bend, our loyal and ever busy State Superintendent of Sabbath Observance. She proved herself equal to the occasion, and gave most helpful answers and suggestions along lines of work and law. We saw in many instances that tact must be used as well as watchfulness and prayer if we would win in what we undertake, for we find that there are others who are taking advantage of every opportunity to overpower the right. "All at it and always at it," would be a good motto for Christian people in this fight for temperance and right living. During the social hour a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess, showing again that Madam Travis does not do by halves what she undertakes. In the evening there was a meeting held in the same interest in the beautiful home of Mrs. M. A. Deal, where about sixty gathered to hear an interesting program, the principal speaker being Hon. Charles Holler, of South Bend, who gave us "The Signs of the Times" in such a way that our eyes were opened to the strategy used along some lines in a way we had not thought of before. This address was followed by Rev. C. E. Rice, pastor of the Lutheran church, who gave us a short, crisp, right-to-the-point talk on "Sabbath Observance." Meetings like this along department lines tend to bring us to a sense of duty as well as to make us more sociable, and get better acquainted.

Mrs. Martha Gipe, President of Marion County W. C. T. U., organized a Union May 10th in the Bethel Church near New Augusta, Ind., with nineteen regular and eight honorary members. The women were so much in earnest that they came to the organization meeting with the white ribbon on. Surely much may be expected from a band of women with the enthusiasm manifested by this new Union. The officers are: President, Mrs. Bertha Lemon; Vice-President, Mrs. Blanche Hollingsworth, both of New Augusta; Recording Secretary, Miss Effie Wisely, Clermont; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Ethel Kissel, Haughville Station; Treasurer, Mrs. Mary Shaw, Clermont. The Union will meet at the homes of the members once a month.

Bartholomew County Institute was held at Hope, with the intention of reviving the old Union that had gone down. We had a good program. A lecture in the evening by Mrs. Retta Jones, leader, on the subject, "What the W. C. T. U. Stands For," was well attended and enjoyed. The all-day session was well attended and much enthusiasm displayed. Our State President was with us and presented the "Franchise" subject in her usual forcible manner. Other speakers were Rev. Layton, Rev. Harlow, O. B. Bannon, chairman of the Prohibition party of this county and Mrs. Alice Redmon. We had the co-operation of ministers and Prohibitionists. The Institute closed with a grand Gold Medal contest, held by Contest Superintendent Mrs. Minerva Cummins and Miss Birdella Beam. There was a large audience. The Moravian choir, with soloist Miss Reggenas, of Hope, furnished music during the session. The medal was awarded to Miss Irene Clarkson, Columbus. Enough names were given to organize a new Union, which will be done in the near future. The Institute was a success. We feel much good is being done in our county.

Gibson County Institute was held in the Broadway Presbyterian church in Princeton April 20-21. Mrs. Lizzie Pfohl, County President, was in the chair for the business session. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, State Vice-President, was Institute leader. "The Union Signal" and "Crusader Monthly" were subjects of papers by Mrs. May Stormont and Mrs. J. G. Brown. Mrs. Lizzie Metcalf read a good paper on "Proportionate Giving." "Training for Character," by Mrs. Eva Carithers; "Is Irreverence Increasing Among Children?" by Emma McCurdy, and "Home Attractions to Counteract Outside Attractions," by Mrs. Law, were instructive and to the "point" in their respective subjects. "The Effects of the Cigarette Upon the Growing Boy" was ably handled by Mrs. Sarah Simpson, followed by a discussion. A parliamentary drill was led by Mrs. Stanley. Mr. George Newman spoke entertainingly on "When This State Expects to Have Prohibition." "The Church's Opportunity" by Rev. Gaiser and Rev. Law was ably presented. The devotional services were led by Mrs. S. J. Simpson. On one evening a Silver Medal contest was held, Miss Ruth Guthrie won the medal, and on the other evening Mrs. Stanley delivered a splendid lecture to a very appreciative audience. Throughout the entire Institute Mrs. Stanley's help was invaluable. With strong convictions, a great fund of information and with rare ability as a speaker, Mrs. Stanley was ever interesting and helpful.

Marion County Business Conference and Institute was held in the M. E. church at Ben Davis, a station five miles west of Indianapolis on the interurban line. Weather fine; attendance surprisingly large during the two days. The grand Gold Medal contest, held on the evening of the first day, was largely attended. The program was in charge of Mrs. Mary Clark Brown, County Superintendent of Contest Department. The contestants accredited themselves well. The son of Dr. Jennings won the medal. At the business session much practical business was transacted, encouraging plans were adopted and an aggressive spirit evident in all the business. The Institute leader, Miss Mary E. Woodard, and the County President, Mrs. Martha L. Gipe, were at their best. Many departments were presented and methods discussed. Medical Temperance is a subject of great interest to Marion county. The subject "Should the Church Papers Advertise Patent Medicines Which Contain Opium or Alcohol?" was earnestly discussed. Leader, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, our former able State Superintendent of Medical Temperance. The parliamentary drill elicited much interest. Symposium: "Training for Character," by Mrs. Agnes Sherwood, Miss Woodard and Dr. Martha Keller, was worthy of a state convention audience. The evangelistic service by Miss Della Brown, and devotions led by Mrs. Kate Carr, Mrs. Fannie Kelso and Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, were of unusual interest. The short address on "Proportionate Giving," by Rev. Mary Cox, was especially helpful. Scientific Temperance teaching and the Crusader Monthly elicited much deep interest. Mrs. W. A. Cox, Superintendent, is pushing the work. Equal Suffrage in many phases was discussed, Miss Woodard leading. Strong, able and effective speeches were made by Rev. L. C. Bently and Rev. Harry G. Hill upon phases of "The Church's Opportunity." "High License, High Treason Against the Best Interest of the State, the Church, the Home and the Individual," was the subject upon which Rev. E. S. Shumaker was invited to speak, but he declined, and Mr. F. T. McWhirter made a forceful, convincing short ad-

MISS ANNIE A. ROBBINS,
Formerly Chief Nurse United States Army Hospitals, now National Lecturer of Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Miss Robbins was for four months chief of First Division Hospital, Seventh Army Corps, Jacksonville, Fla., and Savannah, Ga. One and one-half years chief of Santa Mesa United States Army Hospital, Manila, Philippine Islands. Seven months, Havana, Cuba.

On June 7th Miss Robbins will begin work in Indiana. She speaks on varied subjects. "Life in Manila," has been of great interest everywhere.

Now is the time to secure her. Write today to our State Corresponding Secretary, Miss Mary E. Woodard, Fountain City, Indiana.

dress upon the subject. A good chicken dinner was served at noon for 25 cents. There was great interest manifested in the Institute. The Unions of the county were well represented and the best people of Ben Davis encouraged by their presence and help.

The President of Newberg Union, which was organized a year ago, writes thus of their work: "Our Union is growing; we started with nine members and now have twenty. We have not done very much active work, but I think paying our dues, and meeting for prayer, and having our meetings regularly announced from the pulpits of our churches is itself a steady protest against the great curse. We have circulated the Sunday School pledge cards in each of our three Sunday Schools; have lately taken steps to have temperance songs in at least one of them; we have put the Crusader Monthly in the hands of our school teachers, and have six other subscribers. We had Mrs. Maud Green and Miss Henderson for three services and two of us helped to circulate the remonstrance lately, which won by twenty-six majority. Public sentiment is growing in Newberg.

Madison Victory. April 15th occurred the trial of Mr. Lou Barnes, saloon keeper, to revoke license. Our local W. C. T. U. accepted the invitation of the president of the Civic League, who brought the charges, to be present. We went in a body. Twenty-six women, all wearing the white ribbon, filed into the court room. As we were marching in a saloon bum began to count us. After doing this for a little time and still the women kept coming, he exclaimed: "Well, gee whiz, how many are there; about nine hundred?" So God multiplied us in the sight of our enemies. He gave us the victory, too, for the mayor revoked the license. We are conducting a column in one of our local papers, which goes by rural route all over our county. Thus we are lining up for a dry county. Mr. Chapman, editor of the Daily Democrat, has given us permission to use this column. Since doing this all his saloon subscribers have dropped his paper. He deserves a great deal of praise, and temperance people all over Jefferson county should subscribe for the Democrat.

Notice—Dear Sisters, I want to thank you who have assisted me by sending the names and addresses of saloon keepers. I appreciate the effort you have made and God will bless you. He is blessing me in my part of the work. But as I am a crippled invalid and can't walk a step or help myself in the least, all I can do in this great struggle of right against wrong I must do sitting in my chair, as I have done for ten years. I haven't much I can put into public work, and if this letter crusade continues I must look to you to send me the means to help carry on the work. Names and addresses are coming in, five hundred from some places, and we are sending out letters as fast as we can, and have encouraging reports from them in some places. Those who have not sent names, will please send two cents for each name they send and the crusade will go on.

Your sister in Christ,

MRS. J. D. JOHNSON, Pennville, Ind.

Mrs. Jennie Ward, of Guilford, County L. T. L. Secretary, assisted by Mrs. Emma Siefferman, of Bright, organized a Loyal Temperance Legion at Logan May 6th. Bright Legion is having a membership contest.

PROHIBITION STATE CONVENTION

Held in Indianapolis May 20th.—1,200 Delegates Present—Greatest Convention Ever Held in State.—Nomination of Following:

For Governor—Hon. Sumner W. Haynes, Portland.

Lieutenant-Governor—Dr. Abraham Huntsinger, Mishawaka.

Secretary of State—Wm. H. Hill, Vincennes.

Auditor of State—Dr. Henry Coons, Lebanon.

Treasurer—Wm. H. Crowder.

Attorney-General—Tillman E. Ballard.

Reporter Supreme Court—Benjamin F. Watson, Indianapolis.

Superintendent Public Instruction—Prof. Monroe Vayhinger.

State Statistician—Jesse B. Davis.

This is a strong ticket, headed by one of Indiana's strong, able lawyers, who is a Christian man. Hon. Sumner W. Haynes will lead this party to victory if the men who oppose the saloon in our state vote as they talk. Mrs. Haynes is one of our State W. C. T. U. Department Superintendents. She will preside with grace and dignity over the Executive mansion of Indiana. The W. C. T. U. of the state will do everything possible for the election of Mr. Haynes and the men sharing with him the honors of this ticket.

The state platform adopted is one that speaks with no uncertain sound concerning state-wide prohibition and equal suffrage.

The state platform is a broad and comprehensive document of twenty paragraphs, six of which point out phases of the drink problem, which make it the dominant state and national issue of the hour. The platform demands the repeal of the internal revenue tax on alcoholic liquors; immediate prohibition of the liquor traffic for beverage purposes; the complete prohibition of interstate traffic in intoxicants; points out that the liquor traffic is responsible in a large measure for the evil of child labor; that the social evil with its traffic in girls is associated with the traffic in intoxicants; that the present tendency to graft is directly traceable to the present conduct of the liquor business.

The platform declares for state-wide prohibition in Indiana, and points out the criminal complicity with the liquor traffic of the Democratic and Republican parties in these words:

"For half a century the policy of this state has been to perpetuate the liquor traffic by a license law which neither the Republican nor Democratic party proposes to change. This license system, which grants the privilege of creating criminals, paupers and lunatics, and causes deaths, divorces, misery and poverty, and barbers away the health and morals of the people, is a political crime. We declare that no legal power constitutionally exists to license the liquor traffic. We deny the right of Congress, the Legislature or the people of this state or any subdivision thereof, by majority vote or otherwise, to grant a privilege to any one to engage in a crime of such enormity. We propose to give the saloons no option, no respite, no choice and no quarter. We are in favor of prohibition in any and all the territory of the state or United States, but we are not in favor of giving consent to the existence of any saloon anywhere. It being generally conceded that a very large majority of the voters of Indiana are opposed to the saloon, we pledge our party, if placed in power, to the enactment and enforcement of a state-wide prohibition law."

In addition, the platform favors an equitable graduated income and inheritance tax; postal saving banks; greater protection for bank depositors; strict regulation of foreign corporations operating in Indiana; direct vote of the people for President, Vice-President and United States Senators; laws providing equal opportunities for capital and labor; adequate pensions for old soldiers; laws providing for the impeachment of public officials who fail to keep their oath of office; and a law empowering the Governor or Attorney-General to appoint special enforcement officers where regular officials are derelict.

Graft is condemned; universal suffrage favored, and reduction of official salaries urged.

Prof. Monroe Vayhinger is the president-elect of Taylor University, at Upland, Ind. He will be inaugurated president at commencement during the first week in June. Prof. Vayhinger has been nominated for Superintendent of Public Instruction by the Prohibitionists, and he must be elected. He is a scholarly, capable man, for years held the chair of Hebrew in Moore's Hill College, and is now the newly elected president of Taylor University. His splendid wife, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, is our State W. C. T. U. President. He must be elected. Our W. C. T. U. women can do much toward his election. His influence as Superintendent of Public Instruction would count for a strong enforcement of our Scientific Temperance Instruction law.

The Candidate for Reporter of Supreme Court, Hon. Benjamin F. Watson, is an able lawyer, the author of law books, has served on the bench in Indianapolis with credit. Mr. and Mrs. Watson are both members of the W. C. T. U.

A POEM.

Prohibition's sun is rising,
And it soon will brightly shine
With a rich and fadeless glory,
O'er this world now steeped in crime.

Mothers' prayers are fast ascending
To the Father's throne above,
For the safety of their children
Cradled in the arms of love.

For they know the chains of darkness
Soon will bind their loved ones low
If the earnest hearted Christians
Fail to vote the saloon must go.

Hasten then the gladsome moment
When our anxious hearts shall know
That our lovely sons and daughters
Shall be free the dreaded foe.

And the homes that now are blighted
By the cruel curse of rum
Be made happy by the music
To the words of "Home, Sweet Home."

Hark! I hear the distant toling
Of the liquor's funeral knell,
And I wait in breathless silence
For its long and last farewell.

O, 'tis coming! God in mercy
Soon will set the captives free,
Then the golden bells of heaven
Will ring out sweet liberty.

—Mrs. Tilman Hobson.

Congress, by a vote of 167 to 42, refused to re-establish the canteen in Soldiers' Homes.

The Nashville Tennessean, The Chattanooga Star and the Knoxville Sentinel, three of the most influential and best known daily newspapers of the South, are the "big three" press champions of prohibition in Tennessee. With the Georgian, of Atlanta, the News of Birmingham, the News of Charlotte, S. C., they share the glory of leading the battle in the South against the drink traffic.

"Prohibition Don't Prohibit," so says the man who does not want prohibition. Internal revenue figures show a great decline in the quantity of whiskey and beer being made.

The internal revenue receipts from whisky of the United States government are showing a striking shrinkage.

January, 1908, shows a shrinkage as compared with January, 1907, of $502,114, divided as follows: Whisky, $479,533; beer, $22,581.

February, 1908, shows a shrinkage, compared with February, 1907, of $1,322,157, divided thus: Whisky, $1,134,868; beer, $187,289.

March, 1908, shows a falling off, compared with March, 1907, of $3,035,472, divided as follows: Whisky, $2,543,210; beer, $492,262.

The average monthly decrease for the past nine months has been only $937,262.

ONE DAY IN SEVEN IS SACRED, SAYS JACKSON.

Kansas City Judge is Champion of Sunday Laws Arraigns the Avaricious.

Judge William H. Wallace, of the Jackson Criminal Court, who has been credited with having started the Sunday observance movement that now has become widespread, has issued a statement on his interpretation of the Missouri law. He arraigns those who he says violate the law for pecuniary gain, and dwells upon what he says is a crying need of one day of rest out of every seven.

As a result of Judge Wallace's campaign the county grand jury has returned indictments against violators of the Sunday law, forced hundreds of shopkeepers to close their places of business on that day, and placed over half a thousand Sunday-working actors, theatrical managers and their employes and others under bond for hearing later. The judge says he will not cease his efforts until the law is respected to the letter.

Judge Wallace has for many years been one of the foremost lawyers in the state and has always fought for law enforcement. He was appointed to his present position by Governor Folk.

An Old Institution.

Judge Wallace in his statement says:
"It is a mistake to suppose that the Sabbath is purely a religious institution and that its enforced observance is for the benefit of the church. The Sabbath was ordained before man had fallen or there was a church or the need for a Redeemer. By divine example the Almighty ordained it by resting from the work of creation on the seventh day and He impressed forever its sacred character by hallowing it. The Sabbath would be with us had sin never entered the world. Justice Field, so long a member of our United States Supreme Court, was right when as one of the Supreme judges of California he declared that Sunday laws are enacted primarily for the protection of labor. We can not wonder, therefore, that men who work for wages in all the departments of human industry are sending in the unanimous indorsement of the labor unions to which they belong.

The Guns of Avarice.

"Nor should we wonder that avarice is turning its guns upon the friends of Sunday observance. It can on Sunday glut its ravenous maw with more of the wages that have been paid the laborer than on any other three days of the week combined. The Sunday theatre, as rich a harvest as the Sunday saloon, is proof of this fact."

Judge Jackson says that upon the two doctrines that the constitution of man requires and the word of God commands one day in seven as a day of rest are grounded the Sunday statutes of the several States of the Union. He says that as the abuse of the liquor traffic is aiding the cause of prohibition, so the open and defiant desecration of the Sabbath is opening the eyes of men to the importance of Sunday observance.

WINONA TEMPERANCE CONFERENCE.

Program is by far the most representative and best ever arranged for Indiana people. Our temperance people will attend in great numbers. This is the time to take the young people to Winona for a week, if possible, otherwise take them for a few days.

W. C. T. Unions in the northern half of Indiana should plan to go in parties. Be sure to hear the speakers on Sunday, the 12th, and then stay just as long as possible. If our forces rally at Winona during Temperance Week as they can do, great enthusiasm will result from this wonderful week's program. Enthusiasm that will help to make Indiana dry. For this purpose we need the young men. We need their splendid interest and ability. We should have one thousand first voters at Winona during this Temperance Week.

We should have one thousand high school and college and other young women at Winona during this Temperance Week.

The young people want to go to Winona. All that is necessary is for the older folks to make the plans and give them the outing. Right now is the time to make arrangements to spend some time at Winona.

POINTERS.

In North Carolina prohibition carried by 40,000 majority.

Illinois, April 7, voted out 1,500 saloons. Michigan spring elections put out of business 260 saloons and TWO breweries.

South Carolina's Republican and Democratic candidates for governor are out and out for temperance—one for local option, the other for state-wide prohibition.

Oregon, on June 1st, voted the saloon out, so that on July 1st nineteen counties out of a total of thirty-four will be dry.

Nebraska now has fifteen dry counties.

Dr. J. B. Cranfield, of Texas, says:
"It matters not, however, how many tricks the liquor power perpetrates in the South, for ultimately every saloon, every distillery, and every brewery is to be banished from all the Southern States, and I do not believe the time will be long delayed. The remarkable victory in North Carolina is but a forerunner of other victories that are sure to be achieved in the war of the South against the liquor traffic. Now is the time to secure speakers for annual County Conventions, to be held in September.

Mrs. Harriet W. Brand, Treasurer of the National W. C. T. U., is critically ill in Evanston, Ill. Many Indiana friends and comrades will be grieved at this information. Mrs. Brand was officially connected with the Indiana W. C. T. U. for years, having resigned as State Corresponding Secretary to accept the office of Treasurer of the National W. C. T. U.

Notice—Material intended for publication in The Message should be sent to the editor. Correspondents who think to save trouble by sending articles for publication to the Treasurer, Miss Clara Sears, at Anderson—where The Message is printed—are only increasing the already heavy duties of our dear Treasurer. All articles of whatever nature intended for The Message that are mailed to Miss Sears are forwarded to the editor. If the extra time thus required prevents the insertion of such articles it is the fault of the correspondent. No item, notice, letter or article is published in The Message until after it goes through the hands of the editor, whose address is at the head of the first column on second page of The Message.

The famous address of Hon. E. W. Chafin at the Indiana Prohibition State Convention has been put in permanent leaflet form by the Patriot Phalanx in response to a tremendous demand for this masterpiece of prohibition logic. This large four-page leaflet is for sale at 75 cents per hundred; $3.00 per five hundred. Address Patriot Phalanx, 117 W. Maryland St., Indianapolis, Ind. This address contains unanswerable arguments concerning every phase of the present political situation. One hundred copies wisely distributed among the thinking men and women of a community will do a great service to our state. If one hundred of these are ordered and distributed by a half dozen women in every county great results will follow.

The Fourteenth Annual Convention of the Loyal Temperance Legion of Indiana met in the Friends Church, South Marion, June 16, 17 and 18. At the first session of the convention the main feature was the President's annual address by Miss De Etta Walker. The recent wonderful victories for prohibition were rapidly reviewed, and some of the needs of the work pointed out. She passed on to the Home Legioners, the inspiration gained at the National W. C. T. U. Convention at Nashville and urged the young people to work more zealously for victory in Indiana.

Tuesday evening the convention received a royal welcome. Mrs. C. W. Boucher, professor of oratory in Marion Normal College, in a splendid speech welcomed the convention on behalf of the W. C. T. U. Miss Hazel Hunt spoke for the L. T. L. and Miss Harriet Stockton, of Kokomo, responded to the addresses of welcome. The city was ably represented by Judge Marshall Williams, and the churches by Rev. Boyd Jones. These strong, helpful addresses greatly stimulated and encouraged the convention workers, and they could but wish that in every city there were such fearless, outspoken men to lead the temperance fight.

The officers elected for the coming year are: President, Miss De Ette Walker; Vice-President, Mr. Alfred Cowley; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Blanche Thorne; Recording Secretary, Miss Irma Smith; Treasurer, Mr. Harry Walsh, Bedford; Organizer, Miss Marie Leck, Indianapolis, Musical Director, Miss Hazel Hunt, Marion.

Several excellent reports of Superintendents of Departments were given, details of which will appear later.

A Gold Medal contest was arranged for Wednesday evening. Five young ladies took part. A young lady from Jonesboro won the medal. This was presented by Miss Addie Austin, Associate National Secretary, who, in many ways, was of great value in the convention. She had a table of temperance publications from the Ruby J. Gilbert publishing house of Chicago for the benefit of the wide-awake girls and boys of Indiana. After the contest a delightful reception was enjoyed at the home of Miss Irma Smith. Just here it may not be amiss to say that much credit is due Miss Smith for the success of the convention arrangements.

A pleasing incident of Wednesday afternoon was the presentation to the L. T. L. of three dear babies, their mothers reserving the privilege of bringing them up. Mrs. Mix tied the white ribbon on the right arm of each and prayers were offered consecrating them to the temperance cause. The Superintendents of Local Legions were called to the platform and introduced by Mrs. Mix in her happiest manner.

After the Alumni meeting at the close of the convention everybody went out to visit the National Soldiers' Home, and were much interested by what they saw.

The Putnam County delegation, including the State President and two State Superintendents, with their Local Superintendents, came to the platform and extended a cordial invitation for the next convention to meet in the classic city of Greencastle. This invitation was accepted, so let all Loyal Legioners plan to attend.

TO BEDFORD.

Every Union in Indiana is entitled to send delegates to the State Convention. The President and one delegate-at-large from every Union, and one delegate for every twenty paid regular members. Members should be considering how much it will mean to attend this convention and to take a boy or girl with them. At Chautauquas, rallies and picnics tell the temperance people about this state convention to be held at Bedford.

The Unions in the southern part of the state can greatly increase their usefulness by sending a full quota of delegates and by having the boys and girls and young folks attend.

NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Committee on General Arrangements for the Prohibition National Convention at Columbus, July 15 and 16, have issued a timely memorandum of hotels, restaurants and boarding houses, with other information, which every one should have who expect to go and which will be sent on request. Address Hon. Charles R. Jones, 92 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

Many hundreds of our Indiana people will attend this convention. From every county in the state prominent citizens are going and will take their wives and young men sons with them.

The liquor traffic is beginning to realize its peril, and will make a desperate struggle to save itself. It will have strong supporters, even among good men, as did slavery, and the struggle will be both hard and long; but in the end the saloon will be overthrown. The saloon, with its degrading and corrupting influence, must be destroyed in order that men and boys may be saved, women and children protected from poverty, shame, disgrace and sorrow, and the moral and economic advantage of the nation advanced.—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

"ATLANTA WINCES

After Four Month's Trial of Prohibition the Chamber of Commerce of Georgia's Leading City Protests—Retribution for Hoke Smith.

"At the regular meeting of the Atlanta, Ga., Chamber of Commerce held early in the month, that body unanimously declared against prohibition laws and called upon all business men and business bodies throughout Georgia to join them in a movement to bring about a modification of the liquor laws now in force."

The resolutions sub-joined to this declare that prohibition in Georgia is "illogical and impracticable," "operates against the welfare and material interests in the state," and "is detrimental rather than helpful to real temperance, and unwisely and unnecessarily restricts and retards the development of our state."

The same story is given prominent space in Mida's Criterion, the Chicago liquor magazine, in its issue for June 1, page 49.

Astonished by these resolutions, alleged to have been "unanimously adopted" by the Chamber of Commerce of Atlanta, we wrote to that body inclosing a copy of the resolutions as printed in Beverages, and received an immediate reply from Mr. W. G. Cooper, Secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, dated May 30, 1908, in which he says:

"The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce has adopted no such resolutions and none of that tenor have been offered. I understand that the resolutions quoted were adopted by the Savannah Chamber of Commerce.

As is well known, Savannah is dominated by the liquor interests, and is the one city where the immediate effectiveness of prohibition has been much in doubt on that account. The mere fact that the Chamber of Commerce of Atlanta, the leading city of the state, with a population double that of Savannah, has taken no such action and that the law has resulted in an astonishing drop in the figures for crime and drunkenness, is of no consequence to the liquor press, who are bent upon defending their business to the last hour of doom by every sort of falsehood which they can set in circulation.

No wonder the Atlanta Georgian, in its issue for June 4, in an editorial denouncing this libel on the city, to which the Associated Prohibition Press had called its attention, concludes with these words:

"If the matter printed in Beverages is all as grossly inaccurate and false as this, one can well imagine its value even to the interests it is presumed to represent. Indisputable records, printed time and time again in the Georgian, show that the prohibition act is being enforced here, and its beneficial effects are proven by the police and court records."

Governor Glenn Declares Prohibition Has Become a Business Issue—In an interview in the Atlanta Georgian, June 8th, Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, declared that there was no tendency towards re-action in his state on the prohibition question. "All three candidates for governor in the present campaign are committed to the enforcement of the present law. The people are awake upon the question of temperance. It is no longer a moral issue alone. It is a business and moral issue. The people are eliminating the saloon as a matter of business sagacity."

The Woman's Christian Temperance Unions of Columbus, Ohio, have arranged for a lecture by Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, Superintendent of the International Reform Bureau, in that city on the evening of July 14th, preceding the Prohibition Convention. The lecture will be a non-partisan, but a fearless, one on "Congress as Seen From the Third House," or "Seens and Unseens in Washington," showing the reform record of the Democratic, Republican and Populist parties for the past twenty years in Congress. The lecture will be free to all.

The debating championship of Chicago and Cook County High Schools was won, June 12th, by the William McKinley High School, in an exciting discussion of the question, "Resolved, That Prohibition Should be Established." The winning school championed the affirmative.

The Herald and Presbyter, Cincinnati, Ohio, is carrying on an editorial campaign against reputable papers and magazines carrying whisky and other immoral advertisements. "We have been receiving may letters indorsing our position," it states in its issue for June 10th. "If these papers and magazines wish to go into Christian and respectable homes, let them leave out these invitations and solicitations to evil. An agent for a whisky house or an opium den or any place of evil resort would not be permitted to go into the home, talk to the children and invite their patronage. It will not be long until the papers and magazines will learn the lesson of decency if good people withdraw their patronage until they conform to the standard of respectable living. The whisky business has no more right to advertise itself than the gambling business."

Hold your watch in your hand for one minute. During this time $2,000 has been spent for drink in the United States. This goes on the entire year, day and night.

HADLEY SCHOOL.

On my return from California, I find there is an opening for girls at the Hadley Industrial School, and any Union wanting to place a girl there will please correspond with me in regard to the same. Address Mrs. L. C. Hann, 2438 Broadway, Indianapolis, Ind.

EVANGELISTIC DEPARTMENT.

Dear Sisters:

I would that I might speak to you face to face and that together we might consult about the work and pray for an outpouring of the Holy Spirit in quickening power, that we might be better qualified for the work. As this seems impossible, I must be content to speak to you through The Message. Do you carefully read the paper? I sometimes fear that in the multitude of cares that press us we may lay the paper aside for a more convenient season and overlook it entirely. It might be just the paper that contains a letter of instruction from the Superintendent of some department that we failed to read, and we would miss the needed help. I purposed last fall to carry out the instruction of the Executive Board in getting out a new plan of work, but my home cares with the addition of sickness has hindered me. My husband has been sick most of the time since the middle of January, and I had six weeks of illness in February and March. I have endeavored to answer all requests for help. If I have omitted any please inform me immediately. I have made an earnest effort to get Miss Greenwood's leaflets into the hands of each Superintendent. I trust the County Superintendents have not failed to supply the local. If there are Local Superintendents unsupplied please inform me and I will see that you have the leaflet. I have also sent out a number of other leaflets, which I trust have been helpful.

Miss Greenwood's leaflet, or "Evangelistic Circular," for 1907 and 1908 is so full of helpful suggestions that I hardly need to do more than to request you to prayerful read it and work according to its plans. I have always endeavored to work in harmony with our World's and National Superintendents' plans. This is why I urge you to know what they are by carefully studying them, and then as far as possible working them. On the 6th and 7th pages of the circular you will find, under the head of "Evangelistic Literature," many excellent books and leaflets advertised. Send for as much of this literature as you can afford to purchase and circulate it among your members. Carry a list of the leaflets to your meetings and tell the workers about them, inducing them, if possible, to subscribe for leaflets. As they are only a few cents apiece many would gladly pay for them. I am confident that we are not making use of our literature as we should. On the last page of the circular you will find a list of questions suggesting various lines of work in the Evangelistic Department. These questions will appear on the blanks I will send you in time for your yearly report. I only ask for one report, and that will come in September. We will have to be very prompt this year as the National Convention comes earlier than usual. I trust you are keeping a careful memorandum of your work and that we will have the best report for Indiana this year that we have ever had. If you have read the National Minutes for a number of years past you will find that our state is among the best in this department. But it is not where it should be. We can do a great deal more than we have ever done. Dear County Superintendents, will you please see that your local workers are supplied with the literature. Promptly forward whatever I send to you. If I can assist you in any way let me know and I will gladly do anything in my power. If there have been new Superintendents appointed in unorganized counties send to me for help. I pray the Father's blessing upon the work and workers, for "without Him we can do nothing." Let us keep in close contact with Him, then we will be able to reach hearts, and just in proportion as we ourselves are helped can we help others. Sincerely yours,

E. M. Haughton, State Superintendent.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

Dear Superintendents and County Presidents:

I have sent to each of you the report blanks for this department. I tried to send as near as I could enough so that each Union in your respective counties might be supplied with one. I hope they will be handed out at once. I am very desirous that a full report be sent in this year. Great interest has been awakened along this line in the last few months all over our state. Civic and Good Citizenship Leagues (which means practically the same thing as Christian Citizenship) have been organized by the voters. So may we not take courage? I trust in every county this subject will be presented on the Fourth of July at picnics, as well as at other outdoor meetings during the summer months. Co-operate with other organizations along this line. Ask your ministers to preach a Christian Citizenship sermon in the month of October. Look carefully over the questions asked on blank report sent you and answer by September 15, as my report must be in the hands of the State Secretary by the 17th. As was voted in mid-year executive meeting, a beautiful pennant will be given as a prize for the best report by county in this as in every department.

Faithfully yours,
Gertrude Fulton, State Superintendent.

Indianapolis Frances E. Willard Union observed June 9, Flower Mission Day, visiting three public institutions—the new Methodist Hospital, Eleanor Hospital and Aged Woman's Home. Mrs. Dotia Dougherty, Superintendent, and Mrs. Welden had charge of the services. Flowers, fruit and papers were distributed with discretion.

Mrs. Ella Rose.

TO STATE SUPERINTENDENTS.

Dear Sisters:

At Mid-Year Executive it was voted to hold State Convention October 1st to 6th, one week earlier than usual. It was also voted that in order to have advance sheets of the Superintendents' reports printed for State Convention it would be necessary for your reports to be in the hands of the State Secretary by September 17th. State Superintendents take notice and work accordingly.

Gertrude Fulton,
Secretary Board of Superintendents.

PROPORTIONATE AND SYSTEMATIC GIVING.

Dear Comrades:

A recent letter from our National Superintendent of Proportionate and Systematic Giving says that she is just recovering from a severe spell of pneumonia and would leave for California in a few days. During her absence the responsibility will rest upon the State and County Superintendents. May we realize the importance of the work. Every Superintendent longs that her department be if possible the best. To this end let us press forward toward the mark of the prize. Your Superintendent has sent to every County President except one (whose address was doubtful) blanks and literature to be given to the County Superintendent. The plan of work designated by our National Superintendent is that each Local Union appoint a Superintendent to act in her own church, interesting her pastor and official board, supplying them with literature, thus opening the way to organize a "Tithers' League in each church. The finest plan will not work itself. Success depends on the faithfulness of the County Superintendents in urging that Local Superintendents be appointed. In the position we hold we are unable to reach the masses. I will be delighted to hear from any of you and will gladly assist in any way I can. Sincerely yours,

Mrs. Abbie Hobson.

A new Prohibition poster: "The Saloon or the Boys and Girls 'the Real Issue.'"—The National Committee has just secured a limited quantity of a beautiful new prohibition poster, in five different colors, with the above title. The size of this poster, which is in double form, is 46x34 inches, one-half of which consists of a fine lithographic picture representing a boy and girl of fourteen years holding the stars and stripes with the above noted phrase in bold relief; the other one-half containing in large print an epitome of the liquor question from the economic point of view, a concise reply to the recent liquor poster now in circulation throughout the country. The National Committee can supply these posters prepaid in mailing tubes at the rate of two sets for fifteen cents, and special prices for larger quantities. Address Charles R. Jones, chairman, 184 La Salle Street, Chicago.

Beverages, the well known liquor paper of New York, in its issue for May 22d, prints a long series of resolutions opposing prohibition, which it credits as follows in headlines and opening paragraph to the Chamber of Commerce of Atlanta, Georgia:

FIELD NEWS

The Madison Union celebrated Jennie Caseday's birthday at the regular monthly meeting at Red Men's hall June 9. Mrs. Frank Vail, our Vice-President, presided. After the usual devotion, reports of Superintendents of Departments and business. A special program in honor of the day was conducted by the Flower Mission Superintendent, Miss Mary Bayless. Song by Union, "Some Glad Day;" paper read, "The Story of Jennie Caseday," by Miss Mary Bayless; reading, "How I Won Happiness," by Mrs. Sadie Adams; reading, "The Voice of the Flowers," by Mrs. Will Barber; paper, "Sketch of the Life of Francis Bennett Callaway," by Mrs. Jenkins; solo, "Would that I Had Been With Him Then," by Mrs. Will Barber; reading of the State Annual Flower Mission report, Mrs. George Augustine. W. C. T. U. Flower Mission Superintendent gave seventy-six bouquets and seventy-nine text cards. The L. T. L. gave fifty bouquets. After the meeting bouquets were distributed at the jail, hospital and Old Ladies' Home. Mrs. Culla Vayhinger held a Mothers' Meeting at the Christian church the afternoon of the 11th inst., and a mass meeting at the court house at 7:30 that evening. Needless to say our Union had a refreshing and rousing good time.

M. E. Bayless.

Flower Mission Day was observed by the Crown Point W. C. T. U. Two hundred bouquets were taken to the County Farm, jail and to "shut-ins" of our city. At noon we partook of a basket dinner at the home of Mrs. J. P. Merrill, Superintendent of this department, and at 2:30 a Flower Mission service was held. Mrs. T. H. Ball read an interesting paper on the "Mission of Flowers," we all felt it was a day well spent and that many unfortunate and lonely ones had been cheered by the "Mission of Flowers." Mrs. F. L. Knight.

Eagletown W. C. T. U. observed Flower Mission Day on Friday, June 5, 1908. Devotional services by the President, Mary E. Tracy. The President gave a very encouraging talk. The children had recitations and songs. Two of the members had select readings. The children distributed bouquets of flowers, with appropriate Scripture texts and leaflets, to the aged and sick. One new member added to our list. Olive Hill.

A lecture was given by Mrs. Retta Jones, of Alexandria, at Eagletown, Friends church. Her subject was well chosen and was both interesting and instructive. At the close of the meeting a "free will" offering was received. One new member was added to our Union at this place.

Bath—One of the most enjoyable receptions took place at the beautiful home of Mrs. Joseph Shafer, in Springfield township, Thursday afternoon, given by the W. C. T. U. of Bath, in honor of the new members. At a previous meeting the society selected two captains, who choose members of the society to help them secure new members. One side used the blue ribbon as its emblem and the other the red. The side that secured the most members was to furnish the literary part of the program and the other side the refreshments. There were about fifty present at this meeting and fifteen new members were added to the Union. The side represented by the red ribbon won in the contest, and rendered an excellent program. Mrs. Kroft gave a very interesting talk on "Our Noble Women." The blue side did well in serving the lunch, which consisted of pea salad, cheese wafers, salted peanuts and coffee. But all good things come to an end, and so it came time when all took a reluctant departure, making adieux to hostesses with profuse assurances of a most enjoyable time.

Mrs. F. S. McCarty.

Mrs. Amanda R. Shedd, President of Marshall county is at "Bide-a-Wee" cottage at Winona Lake. Mrs. Shedd can furnish accommodations to a limited number of White Ribboners.

The Bedford W. C. T. U. institute was held May 5th and 6th. Meeting opened Tuesday afternoon led by Mrs. Brown, the Local President, who in a few well chosen words introduced Mrs. Rose Pearce leader. Mrs. Pearce's talks at the different sessions were very encouraging and helpful. Prof. Fagan of the public schools and Rev. Whitney, of the Baptist church, delivered excellent addresses at this session on "Irreverence in Children," and "Statutory Prohibition." A Silver Medal contest was held Tuesday evening, which was attended by a large crowd. Miss Ilene Mitchell was the successful contestant. The Wednesday morning session was devoted to business. At the afternoon meeting the mayor of the city and the ministers of the different churches spoke on subjects of vital interest to women. Wednesday evening Judge Artman, of Lebanon, delivered his famous prohibition address. The result of the institute was several new members, several subscriptions to the different papers, but best of all renewed vigor and inspiration among the old members.

Ray Union, in Steuben County, is having a membership contest. Our little village is waking up on temperance. So far we have gained over thirty-five members, and the "end is not yet come." A number of very successful oratorical contests have been held recently among the young people, also members of the L. T. L. We feel that much good is being done through this department. We hope to bring our membership from twenty-four to seventy-five if possible. You will hear from us later.

THE MESSAGE

Mooresville—Flower Mission Day, June 9th, was appropriately observed by our Local Union. A very interest meeting was held at 2 o'clock p. m. at the M. E. church. Mrs. A. H. DeLong, of Indianapolis, read a paper entitled: "Is Life Worth the Living?" All who heard this most excellent article were convinced of the value of life when lived from the ideal standpoint. With higher resolves, deeper purposes and holier resignation, we trust, the sisters went forth to scatter sunshine and flowers. Mrs. DeLong's husband, Rev. A. H. De Long, Superintendent of the Methodist Hospital at the city, added a few appropriate, soul-stirring remarks. A collection for the Flower Mission work was taken.

Sarah K. Marie.

The Franklin County W. C. T. U. Institute was held at Bath M. E. church May 27-28, and was one of the best ever held in the county. The President Mrs. Margaret Smith, was in charge. Mrs. Ella Kroft, of Fairfield, leader. The address of welcome by Mrs. Carrie Shafer, Local President, was helpful and proved she understands her work. Brief review of work showed that much good work had been done. This is largely due to the fact that we have a wide-awake County President.

A Silver Medal contest, composed of eight young ladies, was in charge of Superintendent Mrs. Smith. Miss Verla McCormack, of Bath, won the medal. We are proud to say the institute program was used and proved helpful to all. We had visitors from Brookville and College Corner Unions, who helped in the discussion. On Thursday the Union served a fine dinner. Mrs. Kroft was a splendid leader and gave very interesting talks. She is very enthusiastic in the work. Rev. Kroft was with us and gave an inspiring address. After Mrs. Smith read a paper on "Work and Regular Habits as Elements in Character Building." This was especially good. A paper on cigarettes prepared by a mother of three boys, stirred the mothers.

Elkhart Union—Anniversary services commemorating the thirtieth year of the organization of the Elkhart Woman's Christian Temperance Union were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wertz, 511 Middlebury street, Thursday, June 4. The house was prettily decorated with flags, mottoes and pictures of Lillian M. Stevens, the National President, and the immortal Frances E. Willard, with pink and white peonies arranged to good advantage. The afternoon session opened with the President, Mrs. Iva Wood Parker, in the chair. After the singing of the "Indiana Song" and a piano solo, Mrs. McCaskey, President of Goshen Union, led in the devotional service. Mrs. Sarah Burton pleased with a vocal solo. Mrs. Fred Pyle gave a very interesting paper on "Child Labor," with striking illustrations, showing its evil effects. Mrs. Ora Surls gave a reading, "My Sister Elizabeth," which was followed by a reading by Gladys Keppler. The question, "What is the Woman's Christian Temperance Union?" was discussed by minute talks by the members present. After the noontide prayer and adjournment, a three-course luncheon was served to ninety people. A social time was enjoyed until 1:30, when the program began with a piano selection by Miss Majorie Fuller. After the singing of the "Crusade Glory Song," Mrs. Sylvester Johnson read the Scripture lesson and Rev. C. S. Parker led in prayer. After a vocal solo by Mrs. Styers, Rev. Parker gave an address. He showed that evil exists today just as it did in Christ's earthly career, and that the cry, "Let us alone!" can be heard from all positions in sin. An able paper on the cigarette was presented by Mrs. Harry Zigler. Mrs. George Miller and Miss Ruth Mann both gave readings. Mrs. Milton Wertz introduced the subject of the Loyal Temperance Legion stating that our Union is very proud of the fact that the temperance army is being strengthened by the training of the younger forces. Four Legions are active in Elkhart city, with a membership of over 200. During a short intermission lemonade was served. Miss Jennie Schafer and Miss Rose Keene each pleased with vocal solos. Eight members were received into the Union and "Some Glad Day" was sung. Miss Myrtle Andrews rendered a piano selection after which Miss Ethel Mast closed the program with a reading, "What William Henry Did." All arose from their seats singing "Blest be the Tie That Binds." The house was filled to overflowing during the afternoon. Sixteen visitors were present from Goshen, and Mrs. Benjamin, from North Liberty, was present. Everybody went home well satisfied with the day's work, charmed with the magnificent program and the royal welcome of the hostess, trusting for the time when "the great evil" shall be banished from the continent.

Mrs. Mary Clark Brown, of Indianapolis, County and Local Superintendent of Contest Department, has moved to Alma, Michigan, where her husband is connected with the Alum Springs Hotel management. Indianapolis, Central and Marion county greatly regret the loss of this family, even though it should be for one year. Mrs. Brown spent two years at French Lick, Ind., where she organized and conducted an L. T. L. and trained a Senior League, held oratorical contests throughout Orange county, where there was not a temperance organization of any kind. This same splendid Christian woman will help with the temperance work wherever she may be. At the last meeting of Indianapolis Central Union Mrs. Brown attended her comrades expressed deepest regret at her going away, and in behalf of the Union the President, Mrs. Frances Boyer, presented to her a beautiful garnet set brooch. We commend Mrs. Brown to the Michigan W. C. T. U.

Connersville—A Gold Medal contest was given by the W. C. T. U. at the Central Christian church. The attendance was very large the auditorium being nearly filled. There were seven contestants, and each one did their part so well that it proved no easy matter for the judges to decide who should be the winner, but it was finally given to Miss May Merritt. The contest proved in all respects a great success.

Mrs. C. C. Rose, Press Correspondent.

Stuben County—Pleasant View W. C. T. U. observed Flower Mission Day at the home of Mrs. Jerome Sholleys. The Local Superintendent and Mrs. Fassnacht, the County Superintendent, both spoke interestingly of the Mission of Flowers. After adjournment eighty-five bouquets were made and distributed in the County Home to the appreciative inmates.

Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens and Miss Anna Gordon, National President and Vice-President-at-Large, spent two weeks in Colorado, making addresses in five of the principal cities. Denver, the convention city for 1908, was the objective point, and several important committee meetings and conferences relative to convention plans were held, in addition to the public addresses and social functions which claimed their time. It is definitely settled that the convention will be held in the fine new auditorium now in process of erection, and generous entertainment plans are under consideration. It is confidently expected that the convention will be the largest in the history of our organization, and the Colorado comrades mean that it shall be the most brilliant. The business men are lending cordial and generous financial support to all the plans, which include excursions to the several notable places in the vicinity of Denver, a mecca for thousands of tourists each year. Further announcements will be made as rapidly as the plans are perfected.

Allen County—One of the best Institutes not yet reported was held in Ft. Wayne, led by Mrs. Retta Jones, of Alexandria. Reports of work from different parts of the county were given, followed by a short parliamentary drill. The afternoon session was very enjoyable as well as profitable, good papers being given on the following subjects: "Work and Regular Habits as Elements in Character Building," "Effects of Popular Amusements Upon Habits of Character," "Home Influence to Counteract This," "The Church's Opportunity," "Is Irreverence Increasing Among Children?" "Effects of the Cigarette on the Growing Boy," "Suffrage." At the evening session Mrs. Jones gave an instructive talk to a good-sized audience. Tuesday afternoon a meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Dr. Euslen and at night at the St. Paul M. E. church. The Reverends Hobbs, Ingersol and Byers assisting with the service. Wednesday afternoon another meeting was greatly enjoyed at Bethany Presbyterian church, and at night at the Plymouth Congregational. Allen county surely needed just such a "stirring up" as was given during these meetings. Much good will doubtless be the result. Quite a few members were added to the W. C. T. U., which will assist in fighting the evils of the city.

Mrs. J. F. Kinsey, Press Superintendent.

Floyd County Institute met at Galena, Mrs. Rose Pearce leader. She made an address on Monday evening. The program was carried out as planned. Mrs. Hauswald, President of the Galena Local Union, made the welcome address, after which Mrs. Pearce gave a review of institute work being done by her. Recitation "Sign Board of the Rumseller," was given by a matron, Mrs. Gardiner. County President Mrs. Jones told the institute "What it Means to Me to be a Reader of the Union Signal." Mrs. Jones said the Union Signal was her tools, and if she had work she must have tools to work with. We find that the Union Signal is a great help in making up a program for our W. C. T. U. meetings. Mrs. Jones also talked on "Purity and Sabbath Observance." An interesting paper on "Character Building" was read by Mrs. Emma Engleman, of Georgetown. The subject of "Irreverence Among Children" was discussed by several members present. "How to Make Home Attractive for Our Children" was joined in by all of us mothers, and as most of our homes had been visited by the angel of death it made it a very touching subject to us. Our pastor, Rev. M. McKinney, handled the subject of "How Can the Church Best Enlist Its Membership in an Aggressive Warfare Against the Liquor Traffic?" Mr. Bert Williams gave a very interesting talk on the cigarette question. Mrs. R. K. Pritchett read a paper on "Enfranchisement of Women." Mrs. M. Featheringill told what prominent men favored woman's suffrage and we were told by Mr. Swift that we might expect equal suffrage in the near future. A fine work is being done in New Albany, Ind., by the W. C. T. U. women in jail and mission work. "Work to be Done Before the Coming State Convention" was discussed, and we agreed to do all we could to double our membership. We believe that if we exercise faith and pray earnestly we can accomplish (in God's name) what we have agreed to do. Recitation, "The Tail of a Serpent or Woman's Logic," by Mrs. Hauswald. The Gelena Union had just had their Matron's Silver Medal contest, so the recitations helped to make up the program. Mrs. R. K. Pritchett recited "Kindled Fires." Dinner was served at the home of the Local President, Mrs. Hauswald. Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Vayhinger, State President, dropped in on us and gave an excellent address at night, which was very helpful and very much enjoyed by all present.

The Parke County Institute was held at Colona, Mrs. Rose Pearce leader. Mrs. Pearce was accompanied by her husband who took part freely in the different discussions and with his expressions of wit and humor made his talks very interesting and helpful to the institute. At the noon hour dinner was served at the church, from where several dinners were sent to the sick of the neighborhood. In the afternoon some very interesting papers were read. One by Mrs. May Lindley, of Bloomingdale, on "Training for Character," another by C. X. Lewis, of Colona, "Is Irreverence Increasing Among Children?" In the discussion of this subject the thought was brought out that if irreverence is increasing among children, as it evidently is, it must also be on the increase among their elders. "Effect of Popular Amusements on Habit and Character" was given by S. B. Woodard, of Colona. Mrs. Pearce gave a short talk on "High License," and Mr. Pearce spoke on "The Church's Opportunity." A recitation by Mrs. Lizzie Cox was enjoyed by all. At the evening service an address was given by Mrs. Pearce, followed by a short address by Mr. Pearce. In their addresses truths were presented in a very pleasing and forceful way. We feel that the temperance cause in this place has had an uplift and we will all be profited by the holding of this institute.

Indianapolis—Northeast Union observed Flower Mission Day Sunday afternoon at the Marion County Poor Farm. They took fruit to one hundred and ninety odd inmates; also distribute flowers and literature. The ladies were welcomed in the chapel where they held a service and the Rev. Mrs. Tillie Norris delivered a sermon. Her text was Luke 2:10: "And the angels said unto them: Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all the people." The Superintendent spoke beautifully of the W. C. T. U. and of the wonderful work done through many departments of work, and gave a cordial invitation to come again.

Mrs. Cora E. Patton.

Seymour—Chaplain Edgar, Mrs. Stanley, L. J. Beauchamp, Judge Artman, W. D. Wade, Dr. Tracy and a number of other workers have been brought to Seymour by the Citizen's Temperance Committee in the effort to remove the saloons from Seymour. April 22nd W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. J. E. McKinney. Instead of a program there was a general discussion of the situation in the city and the effort to secure home protection against the saloons. April 23d members met with Mrs. M. C. Black to fold and direct literature to male voters in wards where remonstrances were being circulated, as requested by Citizen's Temperance Committee. May 28th W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Van Horn. There was a large attendance and an excellent program. Master James Black, (only two years old) sang "Rock of Ages" in a pleasing manner. A majority of the voters signed remonstrance cards in the second ward, covering nine saloons Commissioners granted license. One is open.

The Noblesville W. C. T. U. met Monday, June 8th, at the home of Mary E. Grosh, Flower Mission Superintendent, where a reception was given in honor of several new members. Mrs. Julia Pruitt, President of this Union, gave a very earnest welcome. Mrs. Sarah Christian gave the response in a very pleasing manner. Tuesday morning, the 9th, the Westfield ladies joined us while we visited the jail and poor farm, making the hearts of the inmates glad with our fragrant flowers and loving sympathy. In the afternoon we visited over thirty sick and "shut-ins," presenting each with flowers; some places we held brief services, with a song and prayer. Many were affected to weeping when they understood we were interested in their welfare. The day was spent in bringing a bit of sunshine into many a sad heart. We ourselves were made very happy and consider this one of the best days of our lives. We are already planning to make next year the best in our history.

IN MEMORIAM.

HANNAH ELLIS—Our dear Father, who doeth all things well, called Hannah Ellis home, after a noble life of seventy-two years. For many months she was called upon to bear much suffering, but most patiently endured it all to the end. She was a member of Fairmount Local W. C. T. U. for many years, and when health permitted was never absent. We shall miss her helpful, sweet presence, but know she is now set down with our Father, arrayed in linen clean and white; for fine linen is the righteousness of saints. Rev. 19:8. ANGELINE PEARSON Cor. Sec.

CARL HUFFMAN, an unusually bright, Christian Temperance boy, met death in White river. He was one of the four young freshmen who delighted all present at the W. C. T. U. by their music. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Huffman. We are bereaved with the parents, sisters and little brother in his early home-going.

TEMPERANCE WEEK AT WINONA ASSEMBLY.

Mrs. M. L. Gipe.

The Winona Temperance Conference, under the leadership of Dr. Geo. R. Stewart, of Tennessee, will not only be remembered by those privileged to attend it as a great temperance love feast, but will go down in history as one of the greatest battles ever waged against the legalized liquor traffic.

Many said that no American platform ever before presented, in one week, such an array of distinguished leaders and thinkers of the day. Their addresses were well worth one's traveling miles to hear. Among the most inspiring of these great orations were those delivered by Hon. Oliver W. Stewart, Hon. Charles Scanlan, Hon. H. W. Bain and Dr. Clinton N. Howard. Music was furnished by the Dailey Quartet. Not the least among the great things of the week was W. C. T. U. day. The attendance was large, the morning meeting being more largely attended than any during the week. Grant County came on the scene a thousand strong. Although the program as originally planned entirely failed, the morning session was most interesting and helpful. Mrs. Harriet Brand, who was to have spoken on Wednesday morning, had been called by the Father to higher service a week before, but she was by no means forgotten at this service. A short memorial was held for her, "Lead, Kindly Light" was sung, and Mrs. Stanley recited, in her own impressive manner, a very appropriate poem; then Mrs. Gipe led in prayer. Our State President, Mrs. Vayhinger, and the Editor of the Message, Mrs. McWhirter, were both expected to speak, but were unable to do so because of illness. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley was present and took up the program, speaking for each one, to the delight of the great audience.

In the afternoon a Grand Diamond Medal contest was held under the direction of the State Superintendent, Mrs. Julia Overman. After the contest the enthusiastic audience remained for an hour on that very warm afternoon to listen to an address made by Miss Belle Kearney, a national lecturer of great ability. No better speech was delivered on the Winona platform than this one.

If any criticism were to be made of W. C. T. U. day it was that there were so many good things that it was hard to remember them all. Thus again, an opportunity was given us, we embraced it, and much good seed was sown, which we believe will spring up and bear fruit to the honor and glory of "His Name."

A TRIBUTE TO THE INFLUENCE OF THE SABBATH.

Concerning the movement in France for a weekly rest day, the New York Mail says:

"It was a Frenchman who said that if God did not exist it would be necessary to invent him. It seems to be same way with the Sabbath. Having succeeded in virtually abolishing the day of rest, the French nation has found it necessary to get up a kind of an artificial Sabbath—not for religious, but for 'labor' reasons.

"One might suppose, to read the reports of riots in Paris and elsewhere in France against the opening of stores and offices on Sunday, that the proletariat had suddenly grown very strenuously religious and sabbatarian. But that is not the case. It is simply striking for one day's rest in the week. In many cases the day of rest is not Sunday, but some other day given in lieu of it; and the Sunday riots are merely a token of the resentment of the employees and their friends against being altogether cheated out of the day off.

"But whatever the motive of this new French day of rest, it is a tribute to the influence of the Jewish and Christian Sabbath. It is true that the Romans observed Sunday as a holiday before the Christian dispensation arrived, but the suspension of labor was never as complete as it was upon the Jewish Sabbath, and when the latter institution was taken over by the Day of the Sun, the Sabbath sentiment that Jewish Christianity imparted to it was what gave it permanence and vitality.

"The Sunday rest has been a vast blessing to the peoples who have observed it. It has imparted strength, and nourished the best sentiments that are in them. Even a secularized, ir-religious people can not get along without it. They are forced to come back to it, though they may repudiate the religious motive. If this is the case with people who have almost lost their Sunday, it is certainly the part of wisdom for a people who still possess the day of rest to preserve it."

MRS. HARRIET WRIGHT BRAND PROMOTED.

Mrs. Harriet W. Brand died, July 9, in the Evanston Hospital, after a long, severe illness, following an operation. Mrs. Brand had served for nearly four years as National Treasurer, and today W. C. T. U. women of the nation are mourning the loss of a fallen comrade.

During all the weary weeks of her last illness, letters and telegrams from the East to the West coast were received by the National Officers at Evanston expressing love and sympathy for Mrs. Brand, and an earnest hope for her recovery. Her room was a bower of flowers, and whenever she regained consciousness for a little while her eyes would brighten with love and appreciation of her friends, then she would murmur: "Tell them all I love them."

In Mrs. Brand's departure to her better home afar, not only the nation at large of temperance workers feels keenly a loss, but Indiana W. C. T. U. women especially suffer the loss of one of their most loved and efficient state officers. For some years previous to her election to the office of National Treasurer Mrs. Brand was actively engaged in state work for Indiana. She was unusually gifted as a musician and public speaker, as well as reader. So for several years her talents were spent in field work in Indiana. The last three years of her work in our state (1901-1904) she held the office of State Corresponding Secretary. In this capacity her ablest qualities—promptness, patience and systematization—were evinced. Her early training and experience in professional bookkeeping came into good play. The National Executive needed just such an accurate, painstaking member to fill the vacant treasurership in 1904, and Indiana proudly urged its valuable Corresponding Secretary on to the service of the National, where she could fill a larger need.

On Thursday afternoon, July 9, Mrs. Brand's body was taken to Rest Cottage, formerly the home of Miss Willard, and laid upon a couch in Miss Gordon's parlor, amidst beautiful floral offerings. She was dressed in her white lingerie gown and surrounded by her comrades at headquarters and others, a beautiful service was held. Mrs. Cornelia J. Jewett, Editor of the Union Signal, and Mrs. Susanna M. D. Fry spoke of Mrs. Brand as a co-laborer and friend. Miss Helen Hood offered prayer. Thus this company of friends paid a loving, tender tribute to one who had gone out forever from their midst.

Friday the remains were brought to Indianapolis to the home of Mr. Wright, Mrs. Brand's father. Saturday morning the funeral service was held in Central avenue M. E. church, conducted by Rev. Albert Hurlstone, D. D., pastor. There was no music. Dr. Hurlstone recited "Rock of Ages," and after making peculiarly beautiful and helpful remarks, closed by reciting "Lead, Kindly Light." He then introduced Miss Anna A. Gordon, Vice-President-at-Large of the National W. C. T. U., who paid an eloquent tribute to the life and character of Mrs. Brand. Mrs. Susanna M. D. Fry, National Corresponding Secretary, said: "We do not think today of death and the grave, but of victory and heaven." She told how Mrs. Brand was esteemed and loved at Rest Cottage, the National Headquarters. Mrs. absence of Mrs. Vayhinger, State President, Mrs. F. T. McWhirter on behalf of the Indiana W. C. T. U. and Ladies' Central Union, of which Mrs. Brand was a member, spoke of the sense of bereavement all felt in Mrs. Brand's death; of her splendid ability and the work she had done in Indiana as a field worker and state officer, and withal how she helped to forward the great cause for humanity.

The chancel of the church was beautifully decorated by the County Unions with potted palms, cut flowers and white ribbon. To the large center palm was attached a large bow of wide white satin ribbon. From behind this bow, seven yards to either side, was drooped a ribbon streamer which terminated in a small bow, which also was attached to a plant. The chancel rail was tastefully decorated in green and white by the Philomathean Literary Society, of which Mrs. Brand was a member. The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful in design. There were tributes representing the National W. C. T. U., the Young Women Workers at Headquarters, the editors and circulation managers of the Union Signal, the Board of Superintendents, the W. C. T. U. of Illinois, Miss Sewall, National Flower Mission Superintendent, and the Unions W's, Y., and L. T. L., of Evanston, besides the offerings of Indiana W. C. T. U. State, County and locals, the Philomathean Club, and many individuals. The honorary pall bearers were women dressed in white, in accord with Mrs. Brand's belief that a Christian's faith should not give vent to an expression of woe, so often seen in the gloomy mourning robes and veils.

The bearers were Mrs. Martha L. Gipe, President Marion County W. C. T. U.; Mrs. Frances Boyer, President Indianapolis Central Union; Mrs. S. D. Farrabee, President of the Philomathean Literary Club; Mrs. J. H. Scheerer, Mrs. Geo. T. Breunig and Mrs. W. N. Norris, all members of Indianapolis Central Union (except Mrs. Gipe) of which Mrs. Brand was a member.

Representatives were present from a number of Unions, including Miss Sears, the State Treasurer. Ever so many business men left their offices on this Saturday morning to attend the funeral. Miss Anna Gordon came all the way from Jamestown, Rhode Island, to pay this "tribute of love" (as she called it) to her co-laborer and our National Treasurer.

The interment was at Crown Hill cemetery.

If there come to me, of good or ill;
I know it is my Father's will;
And He so wise, so loving, true,
Will know what's best for me to do.
I surely ought to have the grace,
To wear a happy, smiling face;
And Speak the words of hopeful cheer—
To help along the burdened here.

—Mary E. Balch.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union is an organization of Christian women banded together for the protection of the home, the abolition of the liquor traffic and the triumph of Christ's Golden Rule in custom and in law. The requirements for membership are: Sign the total abstinence pledge, pay one dollar per year dues and wear the badge, a small bow of white ribbon.

Liquor thugs mortally wounded Rev. George Hays of Shelburne, Ind., in a pitched battle which was fought in that town last week. Anonymous threats to burn houses owned by citizens have been made as a result of an attempt to enforce the law against an Evansville Brewing company.

Indiana State W. C. T. U. Convention, October, 8-13, 1908

National W. C. T. U. Convention, Denver, Colorado, October 23-28, 1908.

Engage the best speakers available for temperance picnics and rallies.

Now is the time to secure speakers for annual County Conventions, to be held in September.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

A few more weeks and another year's work will have passed into history. You know my report to both State and National conventions depends wholly on your reports to me. Will you please be prompt in reporting to me. I have sent blanks to all Superintendents whose names I could secure. If any have been omitted, please apply to me. If all County Superintendents collect local reports and send me the summary, I will be so glad, or send me the local reports in full, and oblige your co-worker,

Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Hartford City.

NATIONAL W. C. T. U. CONVENTION AT DENVER.

One of the great conventions in the history of our organization will be held in Denver, Colo., October 23-28, 1908.

A national official train will be made up at Chicago. Our Indiana party will join this train in a special sleeper. The train will leave Chicago just after midnight of Monday, Oct. 19, in order to take advantage of the Home-seekers' rate of $32.15 for round trip from Chicago to Denver. The tickets will be good for twenty-one days and will allow diversified routes returning. The lines selected are: The Northwestern Railroad west of Chicago to Omaha, and Union Pacific to Denver. We shall expect a large visiting delegation to go with the elected delegates from Indiana to Denver. This very low rate will make it possible for many to attend a national convention and to take some young people with them. The attraction of the scenery of Colorado is also an inducement, since the liberal time of the tickets will afford opportunity for those who so desire to run up to Colorado Springs, Manitou and the Garden of the Gods.

INDIANA'S LAURELS.

In 1900 at the National W. C. T. U. Convention in Washington, D. C., Indiana won five Department Banners. This was a mighty victory for Indiana, whose numerical strength was less than New York (20,000), Pennsylvania (16,000), Ohio (11,000), Michigan (8,000), and Illinois (14,000). Indiana only had about 5,000 members at that time. How could she win so many banners? By the wonderful system of quarterly reports in blanket form from the Local Unions. To this system of reporting was due our great victory. Not only was the work done but it was reported. At one Local Union meeting each quarter all members reported the work they had done in any or all departments to the respective Local Superintendents, who recorded and summarized the report and send it on through the County to the State. All this apparent bother of little things—for instance, reporting one bouquet sent to the sick, or a few pages of literature distributed—seemed amply repaid at this harvest time at Washington, when the Indiana delegation witnessed the amazement of the representatives of other and larger states. Not a few eagerly inquired into Indiana's secret of success. When the simple plan was explained they seemed to be inspired to return to their states with new vigor, not only for work but for Reporting! Reporting! This year we should win several department banners at Denver. Much work has been done and if reported will bring to Indiana our well-earned laurels.

LOCAL TREASURERS, LISTEN!

Upon the collection of membership dues will our total membership for this year depend. Indiana needs women to help wage the battle for prohibition of the liquor business. As an organization our numerical strength is estimated by our paid membership. Treasurers, please take your list of unpaid membership to the next meeting of your Union and make an appeal for friends of those members to help you collect their dues. Some times a woman may live in an inconvenient place for you to reach her, but it may chance to be that some friend of her's, who is present at the meeting, can easily see her and collect her annual dues. If a member fails to pay her dues, be sure to secure the co-operation of the Union in getting a new member to take her place on the list.

Treasurers should always ask for donations for the treasury from men and women who talk about their interest in temperance and seldom give a cent.

TENTH NATIONAL PROHIBITION CONVENTION.

The greatest political convention ever held by the Prohibition party, and the most important political event of the year, occurred at Columbus, Ohio, on Wednesday and Thursday, July 15th and 16th. On the preceding night the Intercollegiate Oratorical Association held a contest in which six young men delivered original orations. The contestants were from California, Oregon, Texas, Iowa and two from our own state. Each of the six speakers displayed marked and exceptional power. The prize of $100 in gold was awarded to Mr. Charles S. Price of Texas. From this Association many strong leaders will be developed within the next few years. Even now many of the young men from the colleges are taking active part in prohibition work.

On Tuesday morning the great building in which the sessions of the convention were to convene began to be filled with an enthusiastic, happy representation, their friends and visitors. Memorial Hall is one of the largest in the middle west, seating about twice the number of people that our own Tomlinson Hall of Indianapolis will accommodate. This immense building was well filled at the several sessions.

The delegates numbered about twelve hundred and came from nearly every state in the Union. Alternates in large numbers swelled the great crowd of the foremost party prohibition leaders of America. The average age was much younger than at former conventions. The majority was under the age of forty, and this proved to be the source of tremendous enthusiasm as the convention proceeded in its notable work.

Robert H. Patton, of Illinois, as temporary chairman, delivered a telling speech, which appeared in full in such representative papers as the Chicago Record-Herald. The press reports of the entire convention were very full and with fairness and comment, which reflect the national interest manifested by the public.

Charles A. Scanlon, the permanent chairman, made a great address. Eugene W. Chafin, of Illinois, on Tuesday evening captured the immense audience of delegates and visitors with his powerful arguments for party prohibition and won for himself the unexpected nomination as presidential candidate over six other popular candidates. Upon the third ballot this matchless orator was chosen to lead in the coming national contest.

Three candidates for Vice-President were presented, one of whom was Hon. Charles F. Holler, of South Bend, Ind. The choice, however, fell to Aaron S. Watkins, of Ohio, formerly of Taylor University.

The convention responded to an appeal for campaign funds with the magnificent gift of $18,000 in subscriptions ranging from $3,000 to $5. There were two of $1,000 each; four of $500; five of $250, and a large number of $100. The joyousness of giving was in keeping with the spirit of the entire meeting.

Surely this marvelous and memorable assemblage will spread enthusiasm and bring victory throughout the nation. The platform declares for direct election of Senators, for graduated income and inheritance tax, for federal regulation of interstate corporations, for a permanent and non-partisan tariff commission, for a child labor law, for an adequate and equitable employers' liability act, for equal suffrage with higher standard of intelligence and education as qualifications, for uniformity in marriage and divorce laws, etc.

Commenting on the platform the Chicago Record Herald, in its issue of July 18th, says:

Such a platform as this will command admiration in many circles where there is little prohibition sentiment. It is unquestionably a significant political document, which reflects the constructive and progressive spirit of this wonderful epoch, an epoch of reform, of moral awakening, of a determined and successful struggle against injustice and abuse of privilege and power.

Studying parties and political movements, independent of all, it seems to me the persistency, the zeal, the courage, the dauntlessness of these fighters for principle entitles them to public recognition as the only purely unselfish actors in the national political arena. These people have no fleshpots to beckon them, no spoils to give them zeal. Whatever else it may be, this is distinctively and politically and exclusively the political party of unselfishness, of working for men and women and children, and for nothing else under the sun. And the manner of men and women they are you can read in their faces as they take their seats in the convention hall.

"We record our deliberate judgment that no candidate for any office which in any way may have to do with the liquor traffic, has a right to expect, nor ought he to receive, the support of Christian men so long as he stands committed to the liquor interests or refuses to put himself in an attitude of open hostility to the saloon."

This is the utterance of the last Methodist General Conference. Now is a time for consideration of Mr. Taft's and Mr. Bryan's attitude toward the liquor traffic.

Hon. William H. Taft.
(Staff Correspondence.)

Cincinnati, O.—The record of Hon. W. H. Taft, Republican candidate for President, is of startling interest to temperance Republican voters throughout the United States. He is known to be opposed to the prohibition issue, delivered campaign addresses against the Oklahoma prohibition constitution in 1907, is indorsed by Busch Jones and other big brewers, and the liquor press of the nation is quoting with approval his criticism of prohibition laws in "Four Aspects of Civic Duty."

He championed the canteen, and in 1906, as secretary of war, Mr. Taft wrote an official appeal to congress favoring a government appropriation of $30,000 to reimburse saloon keepers of San Francisco whose places of business during the great fire had been destroyed by soldiers in an attempt to save other property. This astonishing request was not granted by congress and was indignantly denounced by the religious press, which pointed out its unfairness and partiality when the similar losses sustained by scores of churches that demanded no compensation were considered.

He has never, so far as is known, spoken a friendly word or done a friendly act, public or otherwise, on behalf of the prohibition cause. He received strong support for the presidential nomination from George B. Cox, the notorious Republican saloon boss of Cincinnati and Ohio; from Hon. A. B. Cummins, the anti-prohibition governor, who has upheld the support of the once outlawed liquor power of Iowa ever since he stabbed her state prohibition law to death in 1892 with the infamous mulct compromise, and from many other liquor politicians of the party.

He is by his own testimony a total abstainer, fully aware of the peril in drink, but silent and deliberately inactive in the hour when his support would tell most powerfully for the reform.—American Press Association.

Hon. William J. Bryan.
(Staff Correspondence.)

Lincoln, Neb.—Liquor men of the United States need not worry over the possibility of the election of Hon. William J. Bryan as President of the United States. His record on this issue has just transpired in public interviews and letters and holds out no encouragement to the prohibition Democrat. Mr. Bryan is a total abstainer, but is on record as having voted and openly stumped the state against prohibition in Nebraska in 1889, where the liquor power of the nation concentrated its forces upon that state, padded the 1890 census returns of Omaha, Lincoln and other cities to enable them to cover up wholesale ballot box stuffing and hired thugs to assault prohibition speakers and intimidate voters and bought up the leading newspapers to achieve the most corrupt victory ever won by the booze trust.

Last April Lincoln, Neb., Mr. Bryan's home, went through a terrific battle for local prohibition which was lost by only 178 votes. Mr. Bryan's personal support might easily have changed the result, but he was not heard from during the canvass.

Before either old party convention was held Mr. Bryan said:

I think I am sufficiently informed to predict that the prohibition question will not be discussed in the platforms of either of the leading national parties.

TO BEDFORD.

Every Union in Indiana is entitled to send delegates to the State Convention. The President and one delegate-at-large from every Union, and one delegate for every twenty paid regular members. Members should be considering how much it will mean to attend this convention and to take a boy or girl with them. At Chautauquas rallies and picnics tell the temperance people about this state convention to be held at Bedford.

The Unions in the southern part of the state can greatly increase their usefulness by sending a full quota of delegates and by having the boys and girls and young folks attend.

The official returns of the Internal Revenue office of the United States Treasury Department as reported to the Associated Prohibition Press through the courtesy of Deputy Commissioner J. C. Wheeler, for January and February, 1908, show there have been a decrease of internal revenue collections from distilled and fermented liquors for the first sixty days of 1908. They have been close to $2,000,000 less than the aggregate of collections for the same sources for the first two months of 1907.

THE MESSAGE

SECRETARY'S LETTER.

Dear Comrades:

Only a few weeks now remain in which to complete our year's work and make our final reports. We have had a year of blessings and victories, and are all looking to the "harvest home" gathering at Bedford which will, no doubt, be a time of great rejoicing. We are all earnestly hoping for a large increase in membership. Hundreds of new women have been brought into our ranks this year, but if old members fail to pay dues this gain will not be apparent. Nothing would rejoice the liquor hosts more than to see a falling off in the membership of the W. C. T. U., but we must show them that the W. C. T. U. of Indiana is very much alive and rapidly growing. Will not every Local Union make a special effort to collect the dues of every old member this quarter, if they have not already paid for this year? If you could realize the importance of this at this time, I am sure it would be done before September 5.

Miss Annie Robbins is in our state and is doing fine work in some of the southern counties, so write me at once for dates.

Mrs. Mary Sibbitt will probably come into the state for work through September. Counties wishing her for convention work should write me at once.

Very few Unions have contributed to the organization fund this year. Will your Union not send $1.50 to our State Treasurer for this purpose, if you have not already done so?

Your Union is planning, of course, to send a full delegation to our State convention in Bedford. Every Local President should attend. We all need the inspiration of this great gathering to carry us through the difficulties and discouragements that come to all of us in our local work. Plan now to help with expenses so that your Union may have at least one representative. Several counties will make their gain of fifty and will take part in the jubilee. These counties should all have good delegations, with a song and rally cry. Let us make it a jubilee indeed.

We are all mourning the loss of our dear Mrs. Brand, who gave the best years of her life to our great organization. Her wise counsel will be greatly missed, but we still have the inspiration that comes from the memory of her loving service. Let us thank God for her life among us. Close up the ranks and press on to the victory for which she so faithfully labored.

Yours to serve, Mary E. Woodard.

PLAN OF WORK.

Department of Fair and Open Air Meetings.

As State Superintendent, I wish to urge the importance of having County as well as Local Superintendents, and will you kindly send names at once?

The time for our fair and out-door meetings will be here "ere" we are ready if we are not up and doing.

Let us begin NOW to plan for GREAT things, prepare banners, mottos, little bannerettes, with our leading watchwords on them as "Equal Suffrage," "No Tobacco," "Purity," "Total Abstinence," etc. Have a few rockers for tired women, have plenty of suitable literature for boys, girls, young men, young women, voters, mothers, etc. Give them out, not promiscuously, but stopping to ask them to read it at the noon hour or at home. Talk of the work to as many as possible. Have a book; ask women to register name and address for future reference.

Secure space for a booth at fairs, then put up your decorations, including pictures of our pioneer workers. The directors of the Fair Association should give you good space, as we are a County Association, and are entitled to it free from cost.

Please don't fail to push this department, as it is a large field, and we should enter as rapidly as possible.

Plan for out-door picnics with temperance programs. Always distribute suitable literature.

I am very anxious that our state have a splendid year, and to do this EVERY county MUST do something, then be sure to report the same.

Yours to win, Mrs. Lizzie Heath.
310 East Walnut St., Indianapolis, Ind.

"Give fools their gold and knaves their power,
Let fortune's bubbles rise and fall;
Who sows a field or trains a flower,
Or plants a tree, is more than all."

—Whittier.

The sublime truth of these words of Whittier is impressing itself upon the hearts of men more and more as the years go by and our cities grow larger and our forests and fields smaller. The Flower Mission department especially should stop to consider how noble a thing it is to "sow a field or tarin a flower."

Dear sisters, I have sent report blanks to every County Superintendent in the state. Not all of them have been returned. However, I trust that each Local Superintendent is preparing a splendid report for her County Superintendent, so she may soon return her blank to me filled out with a grand report. I feel assured that there has been a great deal of work done in this department which has not been reported. This failure to report very materially cripples the work. Each one of our workers should feel and be as conscientious in reporting Flower Mission work as in doing the work. Flower Mission work opens the door for aggressive temperance work. What is more beautiful than this "mission of love," which strives to portray the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. The time is short and let us work with renewed zeal, and let each Local Superintendent be prompt and send in her report by September 1st. Our State convention comes earlier this year.

Mrs. Viola R. Harvey,
State Superintendent, Mooresville, Ind.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION.

Dear Superintendents:

Now, in the month of August, just one month until the opening of the school year, is the very best time to make your plans for Scientific Temperance Instruction so that our work begins with the commencement of the school year. Do not neglect to do this, because it is so near the time for the State convention and you do not know whether or not you will be the superintendent for next year. Work just the same as if you always expected to be and this will give you a good report for the convention. My report for the year depends largely upon yours, and if we each do our part we can accomplish something; but if we wait to see about our reappointment much valuable time will be lost, and teachers and school boards will have their plans made for the year, hence our work neglected and left out. A new Superintendent can begin where you left off better than she can begin anew the work so late. I am preparing articles, by request, for two of the Indianapolis papers on our department. If any Superintendent would like the same for your home paper I will send a copy.

Just a word to County and Local Presidents: I am at this time receiving letters from ladies saying they have just been appointed for this department and asking for help. Can we hope to do much if our Superintendents are appointed so late?

Yours for service,
Mrs. Ethel E. Blair,
State Superintendent, North Liberty, Ind.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Dear Friends and Co-Workers:

It does, indeed, give me pleasure to send you this letter in behalf of one of the greatest questions that stares into the face of American citizenship today, that of the abolishing of the home-destroying, heart-breaking curse, the legalized American saloon. To do this we must put our shoulders to the wheel and push with all the strength God has given us. In this fight we have some excellent weapons to fight with. One of our best is The Crusader Monthly, our L. T. L. paper. In this paper is found help for every department of our work. It contains stories to interest and educate the children. Helps and Suggestions for us who are older. In The Crusader Monthly is found food for thought for both old and young. Not only does it help us in our department work but also it often helps us to obtain new members by first interesting them in the paper. When they read of our work they naturally become interested in it and join us. Now let us put our whole souls into the work and get the Crusader in at least 2,500 homes in our state. I am ready and willing to help you all I can, and won't you now please help me by sending me the names of all new subscribers or renewals you can get, and any items of interest that you want published. Many Legions try the contest plan, which works with excellent success. Won't you try it in your Legion and I know you will succeed in getting many subscribers. With best wishes for the success of our cause, I am,

Howard O. Barr,
State Agent and Reporter.

Miss Wintringer, our National Secretary, asks that Each Legion have a Crusader contest to begin on or before July 21, Miss Gordon's birthday, closing on L. T. L. Harvest Home, September 28, Miss Willard's birthday. The name of every Legion responding to this call will appear in our paper, if the Secretary will send a post card saying the Legion will enter into a contest. Let us make a strong campaign for our paper, and every Legion in Indiana do its best to bring up the subscription list for Indiana to 2,500, the number asked by our State Agent.

Our Joy Bells Mailing List was misplaced at the State convention. If any one has found it please return to Mrs. Mix.

Our State Treasurer received dues for 54 members for quarter ending December 15, none March 15th and for June 416, making 470 in all. Last year we paid for 1,056. Now we must not go backward, but forward; let us do our best to get dues from all our members; 11 cents undergraduates and 26 cents for graduates. This is the last quarter of the year; local dues must be in by September 15. After that date forward dues to the State Treasurer, Mr. Harry S. Walsh Bedford. Legions paying dues on all pledged members are entitled to a place on Honor Roll. The Willard-Gordon banner goes to the Legion paying the most dues. Legion Kokomo holds the banner this year. If our state pays $50 which means 1,000 members, we are entitled to a delegate in the National convention. Let every Legion make an extra effort for dues and report promptly. We want this our very best year.

Mrs. Ida M. Mix,
General Secretary.

FAIR AND OPEN AIR MEETINGS.

Dear Sisters and Co-Workers:

The time for action in this department is at hand, so if we would accomplish the good that we hope to, we must be up and doing. I trust that every organized county will not only do something in their own county, but will give some financial aid to the State Superintendent, so that the work may make a good showing at the State Fair. Surely this is a great field to reach the people.

You that have had experience in this work will especially understand the meaning of my asking contributions to enable me to make the very best of our opportunity. If each county would help a little it would mean much. County Presidents, please act on this matter so far as you feel it will be practical in your counties.

Any person wanting blanks for this department please send me a card that I may know where to send them, as I find so few Superintendents of this department. Early in the year I sent my plan of work to most of the Counties and I sincerely hope much has been done and will be reported. You see by the Message that the State is preparing premiums for all departments to be given to the county having the best reports. Thanking you in advance for your co-operation in this work, I am, sincerely yours for service,

Mrs. Lizzie Heath
State Superintendent Fair and Open Air Meetings,

FIELD NEWS

The Oxford Union observed Flower Mission Day June 5th at the home of Mrs. Rachael Talbot. An interesting program apropos to the day, consisting of papers, stories, a poem and a solo, was given by Mrs. Hallie Morris, Mrs. Steen, Mrs. May Graves, Mrs. Lillie Petree, Mrs. Ada Hawkins and Mrs. Lorra Steen. The Union sent twenty bouquets to the sick and decorated the graves of its departed members with flowers.

Mrs. Mae Wann, Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings for Benton County, held a very good meeting in the Presbyterian church June 19 at Oxford. After her address Mrs. Steen and Mrs. Guinn sang a duet. Then Mrs. Amanda Smith read a paper on the need of Mothers' Meetings. Mrs. Wann sang a solo and Mrs. Goodacre gave a short address.

Mrs. Petree, Benton County Superintendent of Christian Citizenship, held a patriotic service in the Christian church at Oxford, with the co-operation of the ministers of the various churches, as well as Mr. Hall, a former pastor, and Mrs. Goodacre. Many thanks are due to the Christian church choir for the music they rendered.

We organized a new Union at Earl Park June 5th with twenty-seven members. They now have forty-one paid members, which increase is gratifying to Benton County in its determination to secure a net gain of fifty members. Following are the names of the officers: Mrs. Minnie Barr, President; Mrs. Mae Yeager, Vice-President; Mrs. Mae Cooper, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Emma McMahan, Corresponding Secretary; Maud Seward, Treasurer.

Benton County has made all arrangements for their County Convention, to be held at Oxford, August 19-20. Mrs. Vayhinger will be present the first evening to deliver a lecture.

A "Husbands' Meeting," held by the Oxford W. C. T. U., at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hawkins, Tuesday evening, July 7th was one of the happiest events of the season, and was enjoyed by fifty of the members and invited guests. The Oxford ladies are noted for their ability to do things and their reputation did not suffer upon this occasion. The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock, Mrs. Benedict presiding. Excellent readings were given by Mrs. Wann and Mrs. Morse. The following toasts were responded to: "Our Husbands," by Mrs. Lillie Petree; "Our Wives," by H. W. Steen; "Our New Members," by Mrs. David Gillett. To this Mrs. Harry Goodacre responded in a most happy way. Refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, salad, pickles, ice cream, cake and coffee, were served. It was a very pleasant and profitable meeting, and too much cannot be said of the excellent ladies composing the Union and their efforts in the temperance work. All present felt especially indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins for their splendid hospitality. The husbands all join in a vote of thanks to the wives who so thoroughly planned this entertaining and profitable meeting. "One of the Husbands."

Mr. Steen. Seymour—Recently the large parlors of the M. E. parsonage were filled to overflowing by ladies to enjoy the medal contest and other good things of the W. C. T. U. program. The musical numbers were a delight to all. Solos by Misses Allen, Sawyer, Chapman and Huckelberry followed each recitation and were much enjoyed. The medal was won by Miss Helen Barnes, and was presented by Miss Katherine Jackson. The other contestants were given silver buttons as souvenirs. Miss Jackson's address was inspiring.

The Terre Haute W. C. T. U. observed Flower Mission Day by decorating a wagon with the Stars and Stripes and visiting the poor farm. Mr. Hedges, the Y. M. C. A. Secretary, accompanied us, and gave a very interesting talk in the chapel. The wards were visited and short services held, and each inmate was given bananas, oranges, a bouquet with Scripture text card attached and literature. The Jail and the Day nursery the Union Hospital, as well as Glenn and St. Ann's Orphans' Homes were also visited. The children were treated to oranges and candy. About seventy-five have signed the pledge and are keeping the little cards as one of their few possessions. The following articles were distributed: 24,193 pages of literature, 540 bouquets, 29 dozen oranges, 19 dozen bananas, 9 pounds candy 542 Scripture texts, 300 potted plants, 100 yards white ribbon, 2 boxes of dainties, $27.09 in money.

The Medical Use of Alcohol Will Soon be Out of Date.—Alcohol is a narcotic poison, of which the pernicious effects are to be seen on every hand. Its use is attended with dangers that attach to the prescription of no other substance in the pharmacopoeia; these dangers are not moral only, but physical, resulting from the action of alcohol on the tissues generally, but especially on those of the nerve centers. The use of alcohol as a medicament or alimentary substance for patients suffering from specific infective fevers will soon be relegated to the limbo that has already received vivisection, indiscriminate blistering and other equally barbarous and discredited treatments.—G. Sims Woodhead, M. D., F. R. S. E., Professor of Pathology University of Cambridge.

Bright.—The Fourth of July picnic given in Charles Megrew's grove near Bright was a great success in spite of the frequent showers during the day. At an early hour the parade, consisting of the band boys, horseback riders, various floats and numerous vehicles, wended its way to the grove, where the day was spent very enjoyably by the large crowd present. Decker's band from Lawrenceburg furnished the music. The military drill given by sixteen girls from Harrison was an interesting feature of the day, as was also the grand layout of dinners, the baseball games and the temperance speech by Rev. Beech of Greensburg. Several prizes were given.

Mrs. Sarah Bonham.

Allen County.—Saturday evening, June 13, a very successful Gold Medal contest was held in the Massillon Lutheran church. This is a beautiful country church, six miles southwest of Monroeville. The audience was large and the best attention was given to the speakers throughout. Three ministers were present. The class consisted of five young ladies. The music was prohibition songs from the "Battle Cry," by a quartet from Monroeville, Mr. Peckham, Mr. Barnhart, Mrs. Smith and Miss Ethel Barnhart. The medal was won by Miss Florence Bauserman. The contest was under the management of Mrs. Florence Barnhart County Contest Superintendent.

The Dupont W. C. T. U. gave a temperance, patriotic entertainment entitled "Flags of Freedom" at the Baptist church. About fifty persons took part and it was one of the most enthusiastic and best appreciated by the public of any meeting ever held by the W. C. T. U. The flags of the different nations carried by the children and members of the G. A. R., who marched and counter-marched, the red flag—the danger signal—carried by a messenger, together with the large United States flag, borne by the color bearer, were a scene not soon to be forgotten.—Dupont Press. Mrs. J. E. Crozier, County Superintendent.

College Corner W. C. T. U. observed Flower Mission Day on Thursday, June 11, at the home of Mrs. A. D. Harvey. A very interesting program was presented. Papers, including one with the story of Jennie Cassaday, were read. Refreshments were served. Scripture text was read in response to roll call; forty-three being present. Eighteen bouquets were sent to the sick and shut-ins; two sympathy cards and bouquets were sent to bereaved ones. The Union is working hard for the membership contest. With the help of the Lord we will do all we can.

Huntington County held the most enthusiastic Institute ever held in the county. Mrs. Kroft is a leader and a power. Fifteen new members were gained. A fine contest, both musical and oratorical, was held in the evening. Mrs. Stanley was with us at Markle, and also gave the afternoon address at Chambers Grove where the prohibition rally of Huntington county was held. Her speech was splendid, and the chairman has asked for her for next Fourth of July, both afternoon and evening. We had our franchise petitions and these will speak for themselves. A good collection was taken and in every way the meetings were a success. We are rid of all saloons but a few in the county seat, Huntington, and we believe these are going soon. All townships are dry. We hope to come to State convention with a good report, and as Jeremy Taylor says, we hope we, as a county, can say: "Temperance is season's girdle and passion's bridle, the strength of the soul and the foundation of virtue."

Mrs. Irene Gard, County President.

South Wabash Union met at the pleasant home at Mrs. Margaret Ross for its annual July picnic July 8th. Tables, beautifully decorated with flowers and vines and laden with delicious edibles, were spread on the shady lawn for thirty white ribboners and their friends. After a delightful picnic dinner had been enjoyed, the regular meeting of the Union was held. The devotional service was led by Mrs. Stauffner. Miss Flossie Tippy recited and Mrs. Cooper sang. Mrs. Ross gave some reminiscences of the life of Mary Hunt, whom she had known personally. Rev. Francis Jenkins and Mrs. Lizzie Ebbinghouse treated the crowd to ice cream and cake so all enjoyed another social hour at the prettily decorated tables.

A Gold Medal contest was given at Albany Park in connection with a prohibition rally July 4th. Mrs. Sampson, of Muncie, brought in the class of bright-faced boys and girls to contest for the medal. Each one spoke well. The medal was awarded to Dorothy Perdieu. The rally was in every respect a success. A goodly crowd of men, women and children were in attendance. The principal address was given by Rev. W. H. Allen, of the Jackson street Christian church, Muncie. In this address Mr. Allen presented truths in a pleasing and graceful way. A male quartet of home talent rendered several impressive songs. The W. C. T. U. women provided a lunch stand, which was well patronized. Bertha Mowry.

The Frankfort Union was successful in remonstrating against the saloons of Frankfort and covering the township also, and the saloons are closing as fast as their licenses expire. Next February we will have the county seat of old Clinton "dry," and we want to say to the Unions of Indiana we did not know where the money and workers were to come from when we undertook the work, but we had volunteers from all the churches to help us, and a part of the money was donated. Our women worked valiantly, and we are raising the remainder by our personal efforts. We recently finished a most successful membership contest, in which over forty new members were added to our Union. Many joined our ranks because they saw we were doing something. While we have been gaining, we have also suffered great losses in our ranks. The Master has seen fit to remove our President, Mrs. Hinds, to higher service and our Union has lost several of its most active and influential members by removals from the state. But our new members are taking up the work nobly, and we are still gaining members and expect to come up to our State convention at Bedford with one hundred and fifty members. Emma Saylor.

Orinoco Union, Bartholomew County, celebrated June 9th as Flower Mission Day at the home of Mrs. Mary Kelenberger. The meeting was under the management of Mrs. Jennie Glick, Superintendent of Flower Mission. A fine literary program was prepared and enjoyed. A number of flowers were donated; a bunch of pansies was pinned on each member and visitor. Children carried flowers to the sick and aged in the town, the jail and the orphans' home, the three newspapers that publish temperance news and the one commissioner we could reach, having recently won on the remonstrance against four of the saloons. The ladies attended during the legal fight. One of the papers published a column on that day for us that informed the reading public of the good work that was being done by Flower Mission work. Texts with white ribbon, are tied on all bouquets with compliments of Orinoco Union. Needless to say the flowers brought sunshine and light, and people's thoughts nearer to God, the giver of all good. B. Beam.

Blackford County gone dry, and great demonstration at Hartford City.—In the remonstrance fight here our County Commissioners decided in favor of the saloons. An appeal was taken. The second trial ended July 8th. It took Judge Sturgis about two minutes after hearing the evidence to decide in favor of the temperance appeal. On June 30th the long-delayed dedication of the water fountain that our W. C. T. U. had placed in the public square occurred. It was a gala day for our people, with the band, the children marching along bearing banners, led by the boys' drum corps. Some of the banners read: "Bread is Better Than Beer," "We Are Afraid of Saloons," "I Wish Mother Could Vote," "What Has the Saloon Done for You?" "Vote for Mother." One unique feature of the parade was a class of barefoot children with a banner, "When You Stop Selling Booze We Will Have Stockings and Shoes." All marched to the public square, where they were joined by the W. C. T. U. Four color bearers forming a square, with the President in the center, followed by a long line of White Ribboners, marched to the fountain. They sang America. Rev. Bray offered prayer after which Mrs. Bert Ritter, in a very appropriate speech, presented the fountain to the present and future generations. Then all marched from the fountain to the platform, which had previously been erected for the concluding services. The platform was gorgeously decorated with flags and bunting. Here the speakers were Messrs. Bonham, Pierce Hines, Reeves, Naftzger, the Local President and Mrs. S. M. Stahl. The speaking was interspersed with splendid music by two quartets. More than 1,000 people were present and strong sentiment was created for the temperance cause. Two saloon keepers announced through the papers that they "closed their saloons during the dedication in honor of the W. C. T. U." Poor fellows closed up, came over to hear their own funerals preached, and they heard it both in sermon and song. May God bless them, save them and put them out of their soul-destroying, home-wrecking, heart-breaking business and in a business where they may be a blessing instead of a curse to humanity.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl.

NATIONAL CONVENTION EXCURSIONS INTO THE ROCKIES.

Colorado women are anxious that visiting comrades to the National Convention shall enjoy as much as possible of magnificent mountain scenery in a limited time; at a minimum expense, and have arranged for two excursions from Denver.

The famous "Georgetown Loop and Gray's Peak" all-day trip can be taken October 29 or 30, fare $3.50. The rocky walled canon is only a forty minutes' ride from the city; through this the train travels into the heart of the Rockies, passing picturesque mining towns and crossing the world-famous loop. At Silver Plume, a different engine a mountain climber, is attached, and a zig-zag ascent of over 3,000 feet is made up the mountain side, ending in a region of snowbanks and flowers. At the top, 14,007 feet above sea level, one is surrounded by mountain peaks and the wonderful panorama of mountain and plain in the distance. The owner of the road which goes to the top never allows a Sunday train to go over it, prohibits liquors from his properties and is a tither.

An all-day excursion over the "Moffat Road" can be taken on either of two days, October 30th or 31st, fare $3.00. This road is also remarkable for engineering skill. Instead of going around insurmountable obstacles, it goes through many of them. It gives a wonderful view of a beautiful mountain park, glaciers and perpetual snow and circles "Yankee Doodle Lake" at an elevation of 10,800 feet. Lunch will be eaten on the Continental Divide, the backbone of the country, at an altitude of 11,600 feet.

Mrs. Adrianna Hungerford,
President Colorado W. C. T. U.

Barrels and Bottles, is a liquor paper published in Indianapolis. In the July issue it assures their trade that they need have no fear for their business if Taft or Bryan be elected. On two inside editorial pages, occupying exact positions facing each other, are portraits of Bryan and Taft. Under that of the former it reads: "Shall it be William? He declares prohibition not a national issue." Below the latter it reads: "Or would you prefer 'Bill'? He pronounces prohibition 'the rankest sort of folly.'" What will our good home-loving men of this country do in November? Will they elect one of these candidates? Why can not the needs of the home and the children be considered? Now is the time for our women everywhere to plead for the home to be considered and oppose the election of men who do not condemn the liquor business.

EFFECTS OF PROHIBITION IN KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE.

Statements have recently been made in far-off cities that Knoxville has been bankrupted by prohibition. An examination of the budgets for expenditures this year and last indicates that the members of the board of mayor and aldermen do not think that this city is bankrupt. Under the new budget the school fund has been increased from $65,000 to $103,000. The street fund has been increased from $25,000 to $30,000. The water fund has been increased $2,000, the light fund $1,500. The members of the police and fire departments have had their wages increased $5 per month and the chiefs $10 per month. per month. The appropriation for the board of public works has been increased from $800 to $3,600. The city will use $14,000 of its school appropriation to build additions to the school buildings. At this time, when many cities, which have not adopted prohibition, are cutting off men and reducing wages, it does not look like bankruptcy when Knoxville has the means with which to increase salaries.—Knoxville Sentinel.

Dr. A. B. Leonard, Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church said: "I hope that the convention may nominate the right man. The Prohibition Party cannot afford to go out of existence now. More than any other organization, it has brought about the present tidal wave of temperance reform that is sweeping the country."

Two years of prohibition in Greenville, S. C., show that in that city, with its thirteen cotton mills, employing more than 10,000 men, business has increased 50 per cent. with the merchants; murder, once common, is a rarity, while more factory people bought and built homes in the last two years than they had done before that time in ten years.

IN MEMORIAM.

ALBANY:—Death has called from us one of our oldest and most faithful W. C. T. U. members. After several weeks of intense suffering Malissa Crow passed into the life beyond. Not only the Union, but likewise the church mourns the loss of one who was always ready to help in every good work.

ALBANY UNION extends its sincerest sympathy to the parents of dear little Lola M. Barlow in their recent bereavement.

ALBANY:—The death angel came June 19th and claimed Mrs. Caroline Stafford. Her sweet presence, bright smile, loving words and wise counsel will be sadly missed by her family and all who knew her. The Union extends its sympathy especially to her daughter, Laura Powers.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Carmel has lost an earnest efficient member in the death of Drusilla Wilson. She was ninety-three years one month and six days old. She was a charter member of the W. C. T. U. in Kansas. She and her good husband were friends and entered heartily into the campaign for Prohibition for Kansas at that time, they traveled more than 2000 miles over that state in a buggy, speaking and working for Prohibition. She continued to be a member of the W. C. T. U., until the time of her death, and was actively engaged in temperance work so long as her strength permitted. The latter years of her life were spent chiefly in writing for the cause. We feel our loss but rejoice in the knowledge that she is reaping the reward of a long life spent in the service of God.

TOCSON UNION, mourns the death of Sarah Wasson recently called to her eternal home, at the age of 63 years. She was a patient sufferer for months. She will be missed by the W. C. T. U. members with whom she had worked so faithfully.

Our Heavenly Father has called to higher service Mrs. Kate Baker, of Red Key local W. C. T. U. after a life of loving, noble service. Her long and painful illness was borne with sweet christian patience. Often would she say, with love light in her eyes, "I wear the white ribbon for the sake of my boys." With the emblem of purity pinned on her breast and her casket bound about with white ribbon, we laid her to rest.

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Since the investigation recently by the Temperance Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, many strange facts have been brought to light. Some of these facts are scarcely comprehensible by those of us who believe that our government is truly representative. Can it be possible that our most powerful national legislator, namely, Speaker Cannon, can be an autocrat?

Let us examine the reports of his attitude and then draw our conclusions.

There are certain measures which Speaker Cannon opposes, hence, it is said, he recognizes no United States Representative on the floor of the House unless the said Representative has previously interviewed him and made known the purpose of the speech which he desires to make. In this manner Speaker Cannon has very thoroughly throttled the Interstate Liquor Shipment Bill, which has been pending in Congress for the past five years. Perhaps, even some W. C. T. U. women do not know that this "shipment bill" does not seek to impose prohibition on any locality—it simply provides that liquor shipped from one state to another shall immediately upon crossing the boundary become subject to the laws of the state into which it is consigned. Hence the bill in its last analysis is only a defensive measure for the integrity of the several states' laws individually. For this our Constitution stands—no state has the right to encroach upon the restrictions of another state—and to preserve the states' integrity our national laws are surely obligated by all tradition, precedent and by the Constitution itself.

To revert to Speaker Cannon's autocracy. According to the official address, issued to the 3,000,000 communicants of the Methodist Episcopal Church: "The Speaker of the House of Representatives absolutely controls its proceedings. He is opposed to this legislation. He has used the power of his office to hold it in the judiciary committee, appointed by him, on the alleged ground that it is unconstitutional." Could any policy be more contradictory to the letter and spirit of our Constitution than for one man, who holds his office by virtue of his representing (supposedly) the people, to so dominate the action of the national legislative body? In theory the function of his office is merely that of presiding over a House of National Representatives, whose freedom of speech and action is unimpaired. Of course the Speaker's power also includes the great privilege of appointing committees, but this right we do not begrudge a conscientious, just man, since it elevates his official capacity, even above that of presiding over the House. But when a man, such as Speaker Cannon, becomes so autocratic as to refuse to grant any representative the floor upon any subject, be it the liquor shipment bill or what not, which represents the pulse of the people, then we say in a loud voice: "It is time to remove such a man from office!"

Many people will co-operate with the Methodists in seeking to prevent Mr. Cannon from maintaining his high official position as Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States of America, in which capacity he has long since proven himself unjust and undemocratic to the interests of the people.

TEMPERANCE DAY BETHANY PARK AUG. 13.

The weather was fine and everything auspicious for a great day. Such it was in reality.

There was the greatest crowd ever known at Bethany. The W. C. T. U. Conference was presided over by the President, Mrs. Lizzie Heath.

The speakers of the day were Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Prof. Charles Scanlon and Judge Samuel J. Artman. The profoundest attention and consideration was given to the phases of the subjects presented by these speakers of ability and wide reputation.

WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO ABOUT IT?

The following is quoted from the LOUISIANA WHITE RIBBONER and says very aptly in the Southern blunt fashion what we Northerners could scarcely put so forcibly in twice the space.

"In an interview some time ago Mr. Bryan said that he did not believe in the principles of prohibition, that the question is not an issue and that he voted against prohibition in 1890.

This is disappointing to all who have banked upon his clean life, and abstinence from strong drink and tobacco, and seems to put him in the attitude of saying do as I do and not as I say. It is a great pity that an intellectual giant should exhibit this one weak spot, especially since he is the noble son of a white-ribbon mother, but if "Ma could vote," the only reason why she could be induced to vote for Bryan would be to keep Taft from being elected. We cannot think of a worse calamity that could befall this nation than that its Chief Executive should deny the Divinity of Christ. Let no Christian forget that Taft is a Unitarian; and every vote cast for him says with Peter: "I know not the man." Conscience and Right cry out, "Will you crucify your King?" and the voter for Taft replies, "We have no King but Mammon."

If Christians vote as they pray next November they will have to forsake the two old whiskey soaked parties and find a man who is not afraid to face the issue and has sense enough to recognize it as such."

THE PROHIBITION MOWER.

(Antoinette A. Hawley.

For thirty years the tried and true,
World-battered W. C. T. U.,
Has sown its seed with lavish hand
From end to end of this dear land.

It grew; no energy malign
Had power to kill its germ divine,
And old King Alcohol, in fright,
Beheld the fields, all harvest-white.

"Reap," cried the South; "Reap," cried the North,
And Prohibition sallied forth
To gather Oklahoma's sheaves
And pile them 'neath his bulging eaves.

He marched through Georgia with his host
And left it clean from coast to coast.
And Alabama saw with pride
A prohibition swath, state wide.

So strides the Mower forth; the plains
Of Texas bear his loaded wains,
While Carolina bids him come
To shout her temperance "Harvest Home."

All through the South they smile to hear
That Prohibition's drawing near;
And Mississippi at her gates
To herald his glad coming waits.

Oh! Sluggish West! Arouse! The foe
Lurks everywhere, his tares to sow,
And where there should be golden yield,
Behold! a black and barren field.

Come forth, oh, men and women true
And plow, and plant, and till anew,
Till every plain and sun-kissed height
Shall answer back with harvest white.

Two decisions affecting women have been given out by the United States Supreme Court. One is the prohibition of employes from forcing women to work more than ten hours a day. The other is that no man under the penalty of the law ($5,000) can import any alien woman or girl for immoral purposes. If this law is enforced, as it should be, it will be a telling blow against the infamous traffic in girls.—Granite State Outlook.

Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, in a recent letter to the National Woman Suffrage Association, said: "I have repeatedly, in public and in private, declared my belief in equal suffrage. Certainly I think there can be little room for argument that the women of the United States, with their broad culture and strong sympathies, are entitled to every suffrage that the men of the country now enjoy."

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Dear Sisters:

The time for the State Convention will soon be here and with it will come the closing of the books for the year 1907-8 in W. C. T. U. work. What we do must be done quickly. We have gained up to this time about 850 members over last year, but that is about 60 short of what we set out to accomplish. There remains about two weeks and in that time much can be accomplished if we set to work with a will to reach our aim, 1,500 gain in 1908.

The state has purchased some beautiful banners, real works of art, which will be given for excellence in work.

A banner will be given to the county making largest per cent. gain in membership; a banner will be given to the Union making the largest per cent. gain in membership; a banner will be given to the Union having the largest subscription list to the Union Signal in proportion to its membership.

We have also purchased beautiful pennants; one for each Department in the state, with the name of the Department upon it. These will be given by the State Superintendents to the Unions sending the best reports of work done in the several Departments.

Let each Union see how many pennants it can carry home. So get to work and send in reports—for all reports must be in the hands of State Superintendents by Sept. 15 in order to appear in the advance sheets of the annual report which will be printed.

Hold your County Conventions early, so that you may be ready for State Convention. Send your President (paying her expenses), one delegate-at-large and one delegate for each twenty paid-up members in your Union.

Yours for service, Culla J. Vayhinger.

AT CHICAGO.

Prof. Charles Scanlon, a secretary of the Permanent Committee on Temperance of the Presbyterian Church, made the official speech at Chicago notifying Hon. Eugene W. Chafin of his nomination for President of the United States on the Prohibition ticket. In stirring words he said, to quote in part:

"It is no empty honor which has been conferred upon you. Only a virtuous and an intelligent people can long remain free; only those who know and observe the distinction between liberty and license, between self-restraint and blind indulgence are either worthy or capable of self government. From the vantage ground of this nomination you will have larger opportunity to propagate these principles, and as you go to and fro over this broad land sowing such seed you will inevitably feel yourself enveloped in an atmosphere of moral grandeur which reduces all material magnificence to toys and renders temporary victory contemptible in comparison with the satisfaction of duty well done.

"You are not asked to lead a forlorn hope. The final issue of this struggle is not now nor ever has been in doubt. The principles advocated by the Prohibition party are as certain to prevail as time is to continue. Already they have been accepted by the churches and a large proportion of the people. They have been adopted by five states within a year and by hundreds of counties and townships. They are believed by a large majority of the people of the nation, and however many may vote against you, few will deny that the triumph of prohibition, for which you are the only presidential candidate who has the courage to contend, would bless this world as few events since the advent of the Son of God has blessed it.

"In the divorce records, as numerous as they are shameful, in crowded asylums and orphanages and almshouses and prisons; in municipal graft and political corruption; in timid pastors and tipping people; in the groans of fathers and the grief of mothers; in the pleading of wives and the woes of little children; in the calls of the church and the claims of patriotism, the Prohibitionist hears the Divine command to go forth in defense of the oppressed for the redemption of this nation.

"But again, some one asks, what have they done? They have unmasked the liquor traffic and made it a byword and a hissing throughout the world; they have taught every man, woman and child in the nation that one strong, simple word—PROHIBITION—on the lips of honest men is the death warrant for the most atrocious criminal that ever preyed upon the human race; without deal or dicker, without compromise or confusion and with unsullied garments they have moved through the political mire of nearly forty years 'as conspicuously beautiful as a star riding solitary through the night'; under a galling fire of ridicule from the opinionated opponents, up steep

SEPTEMBER, 1908.

Indiana State W. C. T. U. Convention, October, 8-13, 1908
National W. C. T. U. Convention, Denver, Colorado, October 23-28, 1908.

Engage the best speakers available for temperance picnics and rallies.

Now is the time to secure speakers for annual County Conventions, to be held in September.

State Superintendents' reports must be in the hands of the Secretary by Sept. 15th, in order that they may be printed for use at the convention. These reports must be made in figures. "Think," or "a goodly number," or "a great many," or "several" cannot be computed. Figures alone are adequate to make proper reports.

Prohibition in some form, is the vital subject today before the people of the United States. It is the one subject of interest everywhere and among all classes of people. Considering this fact, is it not strange that neither the Republican nor Democratic party recognizes the subject at all. Their presidential candidates, Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan, have not and will not mention this subject during their campaigns. There seems to be a strong undercurrent against this ignoring of the temperance issue, and an increasing sentiment in favor of a strong, bold stand for the prohibition party in order to secure the needed relief and to put men in office who would be favorable to and would enforce the laws.

TO DENVER.

Our Indiana people will join the National W. C. T. U. train en route for Denver at Chicago.

The train leaves Chicago Tuesday morning, Oct. 20th, shortly after midnight, and arrives in Denver at 7:30 Wednesday morning.

Those going from Indiana will buy local tickets to Chicago, and at the Northwestern Railway station in Chicago buy a homeseeker's ticket for $32.15 to Denver and return. The tickets are good over the Northwestern to Omaha, and from there over the Union Pacific. The tickets are good for twenty-one days (return limit Nov. 10) and allow diversified route returning.

Pullman rate, Chicago to Denver, is $6.00. For a berth, two people in a berth, each pays $3.00.

As every one will probably want to go to Colorado Springs or Pueblo, tickets (same rate) should be bought to one of these points beyond Denver.

Those desiring to go and to make sleeper reservations should write to Mrs. McWhirter and send the money. Reservations will be made in the order applied for.

If you are not quite familiar with the geography of the route and country surrounding Denver, Colorado Springs, etc., look up your map.

The Prohibition sentiment in Indiana is increasing rapidly. The thirty-three years of persistent educational work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is largely responsible for the momentum of the present time. It is great to contemplate the work of our Department Superintendents in county, state and nation—the tons of literature sent out and the wonderful educational force of our W. C. T. U. papers. The Union Signal rings clear for Prohibition and is the very greatest philanthropic journal today in the whole world. It is ably edited by one of our strong young women, Mrs. Cornelia T. Jewett. Notwithstanding we rejoice over the achievements of the past now is the time when every effort counts. The sentiment against the saloon is strong and the sentiment in favor of total abstinence is increasing. We must persistently keep up the agitation and education methods in order to get the benefit of this high-tide of interest and enthusiasm. Distribute leaflets, distribute papers and hold public meetings and oratorical contests. This plan has succeeded in the past, and right now is the time to push on these education methods. There has never been a time when the people were as receptive as now; when one public meeting would count for so much, or when fifteen or fifty cents' worth of good practical literature distributed would bring such returns to our cause. In recent issues of the Message excellent leaflets have been mentioned, with address and prices. Much can be done by a Union and much can be done by individuals. Help to increase the harvest by doing something definite now while the great wave of Prohibition is sweeping over this country.

MOTHER STEWART.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Stewart, or "Mother" Stewart, as she was better known, who was one of the most famous leaders of the White Ribbon movement and a participant in the Woman's Crusade of the seventies, died at her home in Hicksville, Ohio, Thursday, August 6th, in her 93rd year. Her life was a benediction of consecrated zeal for the cause she loved.

"Mother" Stewart was 92 years old. She devoted her life to the temperance cause. Mrs. Stewart established the first W. C. T. U. in Ohio at Osborn in 1873. In 1876 she visited England and organized the first W. C. T. U. in that country. Following the civil war she lectured extensively in the Southern states on behalf of the war sufferers.

STATE SUPERINTENDENTS.

Dear Sisters:

We are to help make up the program for the coming Convention. Remember your reports are to be in the hands of the State Corresponding Secretary by September 17th so that advance sheets may be printed. Remember you are to present to the county sending you the best report a beautiful pennant. These pennants have been provided by the State, and each Superintendent will be given one representing her Department, which, during the Convention, will be presented by her to the County Superintendent of her Department (or some one representing the county) who has sent to her the best report. This will be my last communication to you before Convention. As your Secretary I am very desirous that the session used by the Superintendents on program may be the very best of the Convention. I hope the County and Local Superintendents who read this will not forget how important it is for you to report to your respective Superintendent. A good report by your State Superintendent depends upon you doing your duty.

Faithfully yours, Gertrude Fulton,
Secretary Board of Superintendents.

COUNTY CONVENTIONS

Will be held all over Indiana during the month of September. For these conventions there will be good programs and excellent papers and speeches.

There is not a member of the W. C. T. U. in the state but can help to make her County Convention a success. Yes, even those who are "shut-ins" can help by talking about the convention to those who call. All can urge members and friends to attend. Some can arrange for a party to go. By having the program made early and published in full in the newspapers some will be interested. Items concerning the features of the convention published in the papers will attract attention. Announce and advertise the convention for weeks attractively and wisely, as lecture bureaus advertise their concerts, and the people will attend the convention and become interested.

DEAR STATE SUPERINTENDENTS.

At the mid-year executive meeting it was decided that State Superintendents shall conduct quizzes at State Convention instead of reading reports, as has been the custom heretofore. Each Superintendent will be given ten minutes for her quiz.

Advance sheets of our reports will be printed. Each Superintendent is requested to have her report in the hands of the Secretary, Mrs. Rose Pearce, Cayuga, by not later than Sept. 17th.

The State has this year purchased beautiful pennants, to be awarded by each State Superintendent to the Local Union sending in the best report of work done in her Department. We hope that this will have the desired effect of increased activity and interest in reporting.

Cordially yours, Kathryn W. Holler,
President Board State Superintendents.
749 Howard Ave., South Bend.

THE PRESS DEPARTMENT.

Dear Comrades One and All:

The time for bringing in the sheaves is near at hand, and although we have only a few days to work let us close the year so well that when our reports are sent in we will know that we all have done all we could. The world is judging our organization by the knowledge it has of our work, and its interest is in proportion to its knowledge. The White Ribboners themselves must give this information, and there is no better way to reach thousands of people than through the columns of the newspapers, for they are found in nearly every home in the land. It is gratifying to read the letters of the Superintendents as they tell in warmest terms of the great benefits their Unions have derived from the use of the press. I wish all Unions could be made to realize the need of pushing this Department.

Last March I communicated with every organized county, and sent my plan of work and a personal letter with my question blank, but only about half the counties have responded. I have now sent report blanks for the closing of the year's work, and I beg of you not to treat the matter lightly. I want every Superintendent, either County or Local, who has not received one of these blanks to write me immediately and I will forward blanks by return mail, so we will yet have the best report ever given in this Department.

The State has purchased a beautiful pennant, bearing the name of the Department, and this pennant will be presented to the Union making the best report of work done in the Press Department during the year. So, dear sisters, be sure to send a full report, and send it promptly.

Yours in loving service,

Mrs. Emma Saylor, State Supt.

52 Taylor St., Frankfort, Ind.

Anderson, Ind., August 15, 1908.

Dear Sisters:

As time, which beareth all things onward, brings us to the hour when our year's work must be completed, and as we bring and lay at the feet of our beloved President the ripened grain gathered in our field of labor may we see her approving smile and her cheering words, "she hath done what she could." Dear ones, if this is to be our happy experience we must bring forth worthy fruits. To this end I urge a complete account of the year's work. All Local Superintendents report to the County, and the County Superintendents send reports to the State. In my July letter I stated that I had sent literature and blanks to every County President, asking her to hand them to the Superintendent, if there were any, and if not I requested her to kindly appoint one. I have tried to reach every one, and I am hoping for a hearty and quick response from all. With love and Christian greetings to all White Ribboners, I am yours for service,

Mrs. Abbie Hobson,

State Superintendent Proportionate and Systematic Giving, Anderson, Ind.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

Dear Superintendents and County Presidents:

This is to remind you that just a few days over four weeks remain before the State Convention, and only about two weeks until my report must be in the hands of the State Recording Secretary. Have you kept a full account of work done and reported to me? If not, won't you gather up the fragments and send them on? Don't forget to report Fourth of July picnics and out-door meetings that belongs to our Department. Have your ministers preach a "Christian Citizenship" sermon in October. Study questions on report blank sent you. I will present a beautiful C. C. pennant, furnished by the State, to County Superintendent or President sending me the best report by Sept. 17th.

Faithfully yours,
Mrs. Gertrude Fulton, Supt.

FAIR AND OPEN AIR MEETINGS.

Dear Superintendents and County Presidents:

The time for action is here for this Department. I sincerely hope every organized county in our state will do something in this Department. There is no greater opportunity in the work of the W. C. T. U. to reach the public than through these out-door gatherings. I have sent out my leaflets with a plan of work to most of the counties and I trust all work done will be reported to me by September 15th. You have all been reading in the Message of the prize the State is preparing for the county that does and reports the best work done. I wish those who desire blanks for this work would send me a card as I find so few Superintendents. Will you not appoint a woman who will push this work?

Lovingly, Mrs. Lizzie Heath,
State Superintendent.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

Dear Sisters:

I am just waiting two hours for my train north in the home of our dear Clara Sears. Her reports cheer my heart. Let every Union do her best, and we'll have the jubilee in Bedford over our 1,500 gain. Now women, hustle, and victory is ours!

Our assembly work has been very gratifying. At Winona our Contest Department won laurels for the young people's work. At Columbus Convention our public schools had a county rally where every school in county was represented. At Bethany our dear big brother Charles Scanlon spoke on prohibition and made a strong plea for enfranchisement of women. I had fine audiences this week at Bethany.

I went to Westfield and Pleasant View the 14th. Dollie Stabler was there with her county banner. All ready for State Convention. Was delighted with their county gains.

I now go to Elkhart, 16; Waukarusa, 17; New Paris, 18; Island Park, 19; Richmond, 20; Auburn, 24; St. Joe, 25; Ft. Wayne, 26; Berne, 27.

Yours for victory,
Elizabeth T. Stanley.

TO BEDFORD.

Every Union in Indiana is entitled to send delegates to the State Convention. The President and one delegate-at-large from every Union, and one delegate for every twenty paid regular members. Members should be considering how much it will mean to attend this convention and to take a boy or girl with them. At Chautauquas rallies and picnics tell the temperance people about this state convention to be held at Bedford.

The Unions in the southern part of the state can greatly increase their usefulness by sending a full quota of delegates and by having the boys and girls and young folks attend.

and stony paths which could be tracked only by the feet of fearless faith, they have born aloft the banner of righteousness and planted it upon the ramparts of truth; they have stormed the citadel of antiquated science and dispelled the medical superstitions of centuries; they have won verdicts from the courts which the liquor interests would give millions to have reversed; they have expounded the word of God so that on this great issue the Church has harmonized its position with His revelation of Himself in His works of creation and in the life and teaching of His Son.

"These, Mr. Chafin, are the people and the principles you are commissioned to represent. If you command the support you deserve, you will have the praise, the sympathy, the assistance and the vote of as many as have votes, of the one hundred sixty thousand (160,000) ministers in the United States, of the one and one-half million (1,500,000) Sabbath school teachers, of the thirty million (30,000,000) church members, of the four hundred sixty thousand (460,000) public school teachers, and of all others who love virtue and hate vice, and will be the next president of the United States. If you do not get the support you will deserve it, and that is better than to get the office and not deserve it.

"Here is your commission, and here is your platform. Go forth in the name and in the power of truth and humanity and may God speed the right."

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Indiana Joy Bells. August, 1908.

My Dear Co-Workers:

As we near the close of the last quarter of the W. C. T. U. year, please get in your full report for the year. Let us be prompt. Quarter closes Sept. 15th. Send your reports to County Superintendent Sept. 16th, so she can forward reports to me, as my report must be in hands of printer Oct. 2d. If you have no County Superintendent, send report direct to me. Collect dues. There has been dues sent in to State Treasurer for 496 members. Remember, we must make it 2,000 to get our two national delegates in National W. C. T. U. Convention. Do your best for Crusader Monthly; bring up your Department work, and report all work done. Remember, every Legion paying $10 dues gets a delegate in State W. C. T. U. Convention, as well as the County Secretary whose county has six Legions or more. See Article 7, page 116 of Annual Report of W. C. T. U. Please see if you are entitled to a delegate; have them appointed. Lovingly yours for success,

Ida M. Mix.

Dear Legioners:

It is with pleasure that I take up the Legion work this year, and it ought to be a joy to every one. The Legion work is one of the grandest in which we can spend our time and energy. We have accomplished great things—are accomplishing great things, and will do still greater before our work is done. We don't want Indiana to fall behind her sister states, and, therefore, it is plain that we must work and work hard. One of the greatest difficulties is the scarcity of funds with which to work. Let us get busy and make this year our greatest by furnishing more money than ever before. Let every Legion make a donation to the State Treasury, and not only one but several donations. Collect all dues, both graduate and undergraduate. Give parties, contests, drills, socials and anything else you think of and give the proceeds to the state work. Hoping you will all respond quickly and generously, I remain,

Lovingly yours, Harry S. Walsh,

State Treasurer, 1117 Lincoln Ave., Bedford, Ind.

Dear Co-Workers:

As the Joy Bells reach most of the State Officers, Superintendents, Leaders and Legioners of the State L. T. L., I take advantage of them and write this letter urging all interest in this, and that the coming year may be the banner year for Indiana. Let us put the state we love on an equal basis with the stronger states of our nation. We can do it, if we use our perseverance and courage. I am sure Indiana Legioners do not lack these qualities. Pennsylvania and New York were only a little ahead of us in the number of graduates, Crusader Monthly subscriptions, donations to the different funds, and in the number of members. Let us make an earnest effort to have 200 graduates. Several Legions have made pledges already. Let me urge the others to do the same thing. Mr. Barr tells me we are making a steady gain in our subscriptions to Crusader Monthly over last year. Let's all put our shoulder to the wheel and boost the Crusader Monthly subscriptions to 2,000. Let every Superintendent push their Department work as much as possible, and make great gains in all our work this year. Let us all do our best and make the coming year the greatest and best we have ever had. In closing, I wish to say if I can help an officer or superintendent in any way, please do not hesitate to write me, and I will answer immediately. Wishing the best of success to all, and recalling our graduate motto, "We Work to Win," I remain ever interested,

Alfred Cowley,
State Vice-President.

Dear Co-Workers:

Another leaf has been turned in the book of time, and we are again asked to record on the clear, white pages the work of the year just before us. At the close of the year 1909 shall we look on these pages and see the gain in membership of the Loyal Temperance Legion? Shall we see that there has been more work done in our Departments? We dare not think that they could record anything else but success, when we have all pledged ourselves to do more than ever before. As your State Junior Superintendent for the coming year I again urge you to do more for the children. We do not find the saloon waiting until the child is grown to lay hands on it, but, oftentimes, snatches it from its mother's arms. And so must we, if we intend to raise up the on-coming generation to be strong men and women. The first years of the child are the imitative years, and if the child is brought into contact with the Legion then it will, in nearly every case, bear with it the stamp of the Loyal Temperance Legion through life. Keep each child busy at something; give him so many pages of literature to distribute, or so many bouquets to give out before the next meeting, and in this way make each one feel that they are a necessary member of the Legion. If at any time I can help you in any way, please let me know and I will be glad to write you. Trusting that God may bless you and help you, I remain your co-worker,

Rosa Alice Hainlen,

4206 S. Landis St., Marion.

Dear Legioners and Friends:

I am again coming to you with another letter in which I wish to praise you for your work and the way you have supported me, and also to encourage you to press on to victory. I received a letter from Miss Anna A. Gordon stating that by the count of July 15th we had made a gain of 192 names, or a total of 909 subscriptions to C. M. To me that is very good news. It means that we can work if we will. It means two or three thousand subscriptions for this year. It means Indiana can lead the list of all the states. It means a great many young people interested in the temperance cause, and many young lives saved from loss of health, character and happiness. Isn't that a reward, a great reward, for our labor? Let us work hard the rest of the year, and I know we will be proud of the results. Let us push the work now, especially while we have these club rates. One thing more: Of all the gain of 192 subscribers, I would have known of only forty of them but for Miss Gordon's letter. If you do not send the subscriptions to me to send in, please send me the list of names you get, as I wish to keep a record of all renewals or new subscribers during the year. Your friend and co-worker,

Howard O. Barr,

State Agent and Reporter for Crusader Monthly, 1623 North F. St., Elwood.

Greencastle, 1909—Let us begin to make this the largest and grandest convention we have ever had, with the greatest amount of work accomplished. All aboard for Greencastle, 1909.

Let each Legion work for one life member this year. Let each Legion have a delegate in W. C. T. U. Convention at Bedford, Oct. 8-13, 1908.

Kokomo W. C. T. U. had a tent at the Chautauqua held at Athletic Park, Kokomo. A part of these Joy Bells were gotten out in the tent. A picture was made while the work was being done. Post cards will be put out soon with this picture. Let all who wish them send in orders to Miss Harriett Stockton, Kokomo. Mr. Alfred Cowley, State Vice-President, and Miss Vina Bull, State Superintendent of Literature, were among our callers from out of the city during our stay in the tent.

Remember, each Legion paying dues for all pledged members are placed on Honor Roll. Dues must be in as soon as year closes, Sept. 15th. Then hurry up, graduates. Banner for most graduates in any one Legion. Elwood has it now. Then the banner for Legion paying largest amount of dues before year closes. All dues must be in on time. Year closes Sept. 15th. Send money to our State Treasurer Sept. 16th. Address Harry S. Walsh, 1117 Lincoln Ave., Bedford, Ind. Don't forget.

Send report of all work done; fill out blank sent to you. I will send it first of September; if you fail to get one, drop me a card and I will send at once, as we all want a full report this year for State Convention at Bedford. It will be printed in annual report, and we all want to see our Legion in that report.

It would be a great help to our Legioners to attend the W. C. T. U. State and National Convention. Can we not go?

General State Secretary.

An Open Letter From the National L. T. L. Secretary.

Note—Dear Faithful L. T. L. Secretary:—Will you please read the following letter at the next meeting of your L. T. L. and act upon it immediately? If you have not a graduating class call for volunteers. There is still time for any bright young person to begin and complete the study of the four numbers of Vol. 1 for graduation by Oct. 10. By doing this you will help us attain the 2,000 L. T. L. graduates for 1908, and perhaps enroll your state for the first time on the roster of Graduate States. If your Legion has not paid dues, will you not have the Secretary call the roll and ask the Legioners to at once respond to this call? If you have not held a Crusader Monthly Contest, will you not appoint captains at once, choose sides and start your Legioners out to win? Please remember that whatever you do must be done quickly. Much can be done at the Eleventh hour, and success or defeat is often dependant on the effort of these last days. Shall it be Forward!

A Greeting.

Dear Legioners:—Our L. T. L. Fleet is nearing the end of its 1908 cruise. When following the flagship, Prohibition, we set sail—the L. T. L. of every state a mighty ship, every Legion a transport or monitor, and each Legioner in the United States a glad volunteer—we sail under no secret orders. It was ours to accomplish every line of work outlined for 1908. Every ship was to sail under The Crusader Monthly flag and we were to make our banner known to 50,000 homes. Have you been color bearers, carrying The Crusader Monthly to victory in our campaign for 50,000 subscribers, or have you lowered our banner through loss of subscribers in your own Legion? Will you not at once start a Crusader Monthly contest, to close September 28th, secure an entry for our Crusader Monthly in every home, so it may plant our principles in the hearts of 50,000 boys and girls, and be unfurled in every school room in the land?

Every Legioner who pays dues helps coal the engines, and if our L. T. L. fleet is to maintain maximum speed throughout its course and enter port with its mission accomplished, there must be 50,000 stokers—50,000 dues-paying L. T. L. members. Is your Legion keeping up steam? Have you paid dues? If not, you have retarded the progress of the whole fleet. Surely you will not compel the L. T. L. to take a backward course, just because you were tardy or shirked your financial obligation! Up steam, pay dues at once, so that our L. T. L. may not tarry, not be tardy and over due!

On July 21st we began the invasion of Japan for Temperance. The $600 necessary to support an L. T. L. missionary in Japan was raised and the amount sent to our World's L. T. L. Superintendent as a gift in honor of her birthday, to the World's L. T. L.

Since our L. T. L. fleet can never steer its course wisely, we asked for 2,000 trained workers—2,000 L. T. L. graduates for 1908. Has your Legion responded to the call? It is not too late, if you do it now. We must "Labor all, Forward all" if we are to "Down King Alcohol." Our aim for 1908 will not be accomplished unless every state is represented on the L. T. L. Graduate Roster and in the National W. C. T. U. Treasurer's report through the payment of dues. Will you place your state on the winning side? Then Forward! We're here to win the victory.

Margaret Wentringer,
National L. T. L. Secretary.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

My Dear Co-Workers:

We are now nearing the close of the last quarter of the year, may I ask that you send in your reports so as to reach me not later than Sept. 15th, as my report must be in the hands of the State Secretary for printing Sept. 17th.

The State has furnished each State Superintendent with a beautiful pennant, bearing the name of her Department of work; this pennant is to be awarded to the Local Union sending in the best report. To the County Superintendent sending in best report I will give Mrs. Earle's hundred dollar prize story, "Aunt Ruth's Sunday." If you have not already received your report blank for the last quarter, you may know that I do not have your name on my list, and I would appreciate a request for the blank. For two years past we have won the national prize—we mean to do the same again this year. You can help by sending reports promptly.

Yours for Service,

Kathryn Wert Holler.

749 Howard Ave., South Bend.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

Dear Sisters:

This is the last opportunity I will have before Convention to appeal to you through the Message in behalf of our Department. Will you not respond? I have sent literature, plan of work and blanks to every Superintendent whose name and address I could get, and now won't you see that your reports get to me on time? Don't bring your reports to Convention, but send them to me.

Since we are to have our reports printed in advance sheets, it is absolutely necessary that they reach me on time, not one day later than the 20th of September. Send reports in figures.

The State has purchased a beautiful pennant, bearing the name of our Department, which will at the State Convention be given to the Superintendent who has held the most Mothers' Meetings and sends the best report.

Dear sisters, "let not your hands be weak, for your work shall be rewarded."

Yours in His name,

Hartford City.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl.

FIELD NEWS

Boswell W. C. T. U. is very much alive. We closed a membership contest July 18th, and a reception was held at Mrs. Ella Best's home July 21st. The victorious Reds furnished the program, which contained some of the most unique numbers ever presented to our Union. The defeated Blues served dainty and appetizing refreshments. Thirty-four new names were added to our roll.

Mrs. Luella C. Van Horn, Press Supt.

Mooresville—In the interest of the Evangelistic Department of our Local Union we gave a "Good Will" picnic on July 15th. It was an experiment, but succeeded so well we hope hereafter to make it an annual experience. Everybody was invited. A free dinner was served. Sermonettes, recitations, songs and sociability constituted our program. We felt greatly encouraged by the good feeling inspired.

Mrs. Lula Adams, Local Supt.

Sarah K. Mains, County Supt., Morgan Co.

Salem W. C. T. U. gave an ice cream supper July 11th for the benefit of the Hadley Home, which was a success. The weather was ideal and the attendance was large. The Union is few in number, but our influence is felt. We haven't a saloon in our town, Thank God, but we have done all we could to help others to raise remonstrances against licensed saloons, and they have succeeded in two instances. We forgot in our report of the Floyd County Institute to mention a very important paper read by our pastor's wife, Mrs. M. McKinney. "Faith" was the subject, and it was equal to one of her husband's able sermons. The good work is going on, and God speed the day when Indiana will be a dry state.

Mrs. R. L. Pritchett.

Bluffton W. C. T. U. having made a commendable gain in membership during the last two quarters, the President, Mrs. S. A. Goodin, planned a reception for the new members and their husbands, which was held in the M. E. church the evening of July 10th. The meeting was also a farewell to our much beloved sweet singer, Mrs. Welker, and her husband, Rev. Welker, who will soon go to their old-time state of Pennsylvania, where they have accepted a call to the pastorate of a church. Rev. and Mrs. Welker are gospel singers to whom it is an inspiration to listen and who have many times delighted Bluffton audiences with their beautiful songs. They have been very helpful to us in our special meetings, and especially in our Institute last spring, when they took full charge of the singing. We were indeed sorry to have them go from our midst. There was a good attendance at this reception, and the program was very much enjoyed by all. Mrs. Walmer and Mrs. Davidson were the reception committee; Rev. J. A. Barnes, pastor of the U. P. church, offered prayer; Mrs. D. T. Smith, a charter member, gave the welcome address; Miss Mary Kerwood and the grand-daughter of one of our members (a Miss whose name has escaped us) each delighted the audience with a piano solo, and Mrs. J. E. Reynolds gave a telling reading "The Comforter." Ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. E. A. Willis.

The Madison County Convention will be held in Elwood at the Main Street Christian church on Friday, September 4th. We are planning for a great meeting, and expect to have Mrs. Mary Sibbitts, of Kansas, in our county for a week, if possible.

Mrs. Hattie Coxen.

Greensburg—We meet every alternate Tuesday at the home of some one of our members, and usually have from twenty to thirty members in attendance, and often a number of guests. We have had a number of parlor meetings this year, the best one being held at our Orphans' Home, the matron of which is one of our good members. There were eighty members and guests in attendance; a fine program was rendered, after which delicate refreshments were served. Now members are gained from time to time, and more enthusiasm shown in the cause of temperance than ever before. Through the efforts of the Civic League remonstrance cards were passed and an effort made to close the saloons here, but failed to accomplish anything as yet; however, many of our voters have not lost hope, those who are in favor of the remonstrance will soon take up the work again. On July 27th we had with us Miss Annie Robbins, National Lecturer on Social Purity. She gave us a splendid address on that subject, speaking of her experience in the Philippines and the appalling conditions found there. A large number of women attended this meeting at the pleasant home of Mrs. L. D. Crooks. Miss Robbins is a speaker of much ability and we shall be glad to welcome her again. We have one more meeting, I believe, before our annual election of officers and delegates to the State Convention.

Fraternally yours, Mrs. Lillie B. McKim.

Danville—We are glad to report an increase of interest manifested by a thrilled increase in membership the past year. We now have thirty-three members. Our meetings are times of interesting discussion of topics on the year's program. We are especially interested in our reading rooms, at Big Four Railroad station, recently rebuilt. We have and are expecting to keep them furnished with first-class, up-to-date literature. Any reader of the Message who may have a surplus of clean, untorn magazines, papers or booklets on the living issues of the day, whose generosity would lead them to donate the same to our cause, would be thankfully welcomed. Flower Mission day was observed early in July. Twenty-five bouquets, with appropriate scripture text cards, were given to as many homes of the aged, shut-ins and sick people. At a recent meeting Mrs. Cotas, a crusader of the Hillsboro, Ohio, "crew," an enthusiastic member of our Union, proposed that all members, who could and would, earn by their efforts one dollar for the benefit of Hadley Industrial School, and at the next meeting bring it and tell how they earned the money. The report was amusing as well as interesting, and resulted in $10 being laid on the table for the benefit of the school. A warm interest is taken in the prosperity of the Hadley school, and our Union stands for the best equipment in management, efficient instructors, and a high moral character of all employees in the home and on the farm.

Sincerely yours,

Sarah M. Hadley.

Colored Union Organized by Rev. C. W. McColl—August 12, 1908, at 3 p. m., about fifty colored ladies met in the colored Baptist church, Richmond, Ind., in response to a call to come and hear of the "White Ribbon" cause. Sixteen signed the pledge, adopted the constitution, elected officers and started out under the banner—"The Woman's Christian Temperance Union No. 2, of Richmond, Ind." Mrs. M. A. McCurdy, 225 S. Tenth street, Richmond, was elected President. She has worked many years in the W. C. T. U. The pastor of the church spoke of his having been a Prohibitionist for many years, and pledged assistance to the new organization. When he was proposed for honorary membership a life-long member of the Bethel A. M. E. church rose and asked to be allowed to be the first to put a dollar into the treasury, and said it should be recorded as the minister's honorary membership fee. At 8 o'clock a mixed audience assembled in Bethel church, where I was booked to speak on "America's Up-to-Date Slavery," and made the speaking easy by their manifest interest, the pastor taking the lead in showing his deep interest.

C. W. McColl.

The Prohibition party is the only political party in this country that favors suffrage for women.

The Union Signal of a recent issue has a front page picture of six college girls in cap and gown wearing silver medals. This class of girls was in Port Gibson Female College, Fort Gibson, Miss., and on the first night of commencement contested for a gold medal, the contest being part of the commencement program.

The Boy Magazine will keep you in touch with the anti-cigarette movement. While its immediate purpose is for the ultimate abolishment of the manufacture and sale of cigarettes for boys, its larger ambition is for the building of boys into healthy, energetic American citizens. Price, 50c per annum. In clubs of four or more 25c per annum. Send 5c for sample copy. Room 1119 Woman's Temple, Chicago.

The W. C. T. U. has a mighty host of valiant workers. Perhaps no individual worker is more needed in the average Union than a Press Reporter. Scores and dozens of women work and accomplish great things, but their candle is under a bushel, because there is no medium of publishing the tidings that the light can shine.

The Success of your County Convention will depend largely upon your county officers who make the program and the Press Reporter, who is the medium through which the people know of the program.

Local and County Superintendents make your reports in figures and send them off early.

Always Late! Have you not seen the Local Union officer who always is late at the meeting, late with her report and late about everything she does. Such an one falls short of her opportunity and if she is a real Christian woman when she realizes her fault—for such it surely is—she will seek and gain grace to be on time at every meeting and with every report. Really it is inexcusable for a President or Secretary to be late to a meeting unless detained by disaster or death.

Are the Boys and Girls interested in the W. C. T. U. Yes, just in accordance with the definite information concerning the great organization that has been given them by their mothers or fathers. To give this information intelligently several things are necessary—The National Annual Leaflet and The Union Signal. The cost of these is small. The National Annual Leaflet is sent out from Rest Cottage, National W. C. T. U. headquarters, Evanston, Ill., for 75c per hundred or 2 cents for one leaflet. The Union Signal is our national official organ, issued weekly. Price $1.00 per year, from the above address.

For $1.02 any W. C. T. U. mother can secure the material from which she can gain knowledge of the aims and methods of the W. C. T. U., and the latest general information concerning the work being done by the W. C. T. U. in all the country.

Election of Officers is of greatest importance. In no other one thing is greater moral courage needed than to always vote for a woman because of the dictation of judgment. In another generation women will be less sentimental and will vote their convictions.

At the October Meeting of the Union it would be well to consider the placing of Miss Willard's picture in a high school or college hall or the offering of a prize for the best junior or senior essay on the subject, "The Relation of Total Abstinence to National Prosperity," or some other subject. By arranging to give a $15 or $25 prize the Union can accomplish much in making favorable sentiment toward our work. Offer the prize formally in writing, stating that it will be given the first week in May. School to select a judge, Union to select a judge and contestants to select a judge. The English teacher to have essays all in charge and give them unsigned to the judges in April. Secure the assembly hall and in May have these contestants read their essays before as big an audience as possible. Call it a high school or college contest. Advertise for weeks; get an army of boys and girls to sell tickets for admission; engage a band or other good music. When the evening comes be sure to have the high school principal, etc., sit on platform with W. C. T. U. President, who presides. After the reading of the essays, called by number, and the conclusion of the program, the money prize in gold should be presented to the winner by number, the absolute secrecy of the result of the judges' decision until that very minute being of greatest importance. October is the time to decide to offer the prize. Be sure that the door receipts will more than reimburse the treasury for the prize and expense, besides doing inestimable good.

Every citizen who stays at home on Sunday, forsaking the institution to live his individual life, hangs out a flag at his front door, inscribed, "The church is not worth while."—Dean Hodes.

W. C. T. U. AT ZIONSVILLE.

August 18th was a great day for our cause. In the morning the Loyal Temperance Legion had a half-hour program which was not only unique and interesting but instructive. This was followed by an able, convincing address by Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger. For an hour the splendid audience listened with intense interest. Many people were stirred to renewed activity for the home and children.

In the afternoon Mr. Shumacher, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, made a good address.

There was a gold medal contest in the evening, participated in by three young men and one young woman, Mrs. Bessie Hessong, the mother of three little children, who won the medal on the subject "What Is It To You?"

Judge Samuel J. Artman was a guest of the W. C. T. U. for the day and evinced great interest in the entire program. New Augusta Union was represented by fourteen members, who greatly enjoyed the day.

THE CRUSADER MONTHLY

Red Letter Day Subscription Offer.

In response to the call of Miss Margaret Wintinger, National L. T. L. Secretary, the Loyal Temperance Legions of the United States will engage in a Crusader Monthly subscription contest. This will begin July 21, Loyal Temperance Legion Day, and end on September 28, Children's Harvest Home Day. Each Legion taking part in this nation-wide contest is asked to report at once to The Crusader Monthly, Evanston, Illinois, that the name of the Legion may be given in the September Crusader. To assist in the contest and as a recognition of the birthdays of Frances E. Willard and of the World's Secretary of the L. T. L., Miss Anna A. Gordon, who is also the editor of the Crusader Monthly, we are authorized to announce a club rate of Five Subscriptions for $1.00.

The entire club must be sent at one time and any number more than five to be at the same rate. Renewals are received on the same terms as new subscriptions. This offer holds good until October 1, 1908. No individual premiums will be given on subscriptions sent at this club rate, but the subscriptions can count on both the State Library and S. T. I. premiums. Those who wish to work for individual premiums have the privilege of sending subscriptions at the regular price, 25 cents each per year, and claiming premiums.

If your Legion engages in the contest send name and address before August 15, that it may be listed in September Crusader Monthly.

Address the Crusader Monthly, Evanston, Ill.

IN MEMORIAM.

On July 25th, at the age of 61 years, Mrs. Mary Timberlake, one of Bremen's charter members passed to where there is no more sorrowing. We miss her, she was one who dared to stand for that which was right. She was a faithful christian and bore her pain very patiently. She died of cancer.

The railroad fare will be two cents per mile; no reduction on round trip tickets.

Fare from Indianapolis to Bedford is $2.28.

All Unions should send their full quota of delegates. When possible, their expenses should be paid by the Union. Delegates should go to the opening of the convention and remain until the adjournment.

County Presidents' expenses should be paid by the County. All County Presidents are expected to be present at the anti-executive meeting on October 8, at 2 p. m., and to remain until the adjournment of the post-executive meeting—if one is held.

APPEAL FOR STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION MADE BY OUR STATE PRESIDENT, MRS. CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

A stirring appeal for State-wide prohibition was made to the House Committee on Public Morals on Tuesday, September 22, by a delegation of W. C. T. U. workers, headed by Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, wife of the Rev. Monroe Vayhinger, president of Upland University. Mrs. Vayhinger is the State President of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Vayhinger declared the people of Indiana are ready for State-wide prohibition. "They are just as ready now," said she, "as they will be two years or five years or ten years hence."

"Women have an eternal hatred for the liquor traffic," the speaker continued. "I question whether any man can understand the hatred in the hearts of the women of Indiana for the liquor traffic. It is the women who suffer; it is the women who are thrust out into the laboring class because of it. We hate the liquor traffic from the bottom of our hearts. Though you may not give us State-wide prohibition at this session, no matter what law you enact, we will use it as a weapon against this curse, the liquor traffic. We represent a loyal constituency. We have been loyal to the laws that have been enacted in the past and we will be loyal to any law you may pass for the prohibition of the liquor traffic."

"I am confident that Indiana legislators are not going to allow Indiana to be the dumping ground for the saloons of other states."

Mrs. Vayhinger closed with a plea for a favorable report on the joint resolution providing for a constitutional amendment election for State-wide prohibition. She spoke for the State organization of the W. C. T. U., which she said embraces 7,000 members.

"I want to say to the representatives of the ballotless constituency," said Representative Burton Green of Miami County, Democrat, who is a member of the committee, "that some progress is being made with the matter of clothing you with the right of suffrage. At the last session I introduced a woman's suffrage bill and it was advanced as far as second reading."

Our State Superintendents of Departments and County Presidents who have "newspaper cuts" of themselves are requested to bring them to Bedford. Mrs. McWhirter will take charge of them and assist Mrs. Hogan, the Bedford Press Superintendent in advertising our convention through the local papers. Do not forget or neglect to bring your cuts and thus help that much.

Mrs. J. R. Mathes, 1506 W. Thirteenth street, Bedford, is the chairman of the Entertainment Committee for the State Convention.

DELEGATES TO BEDFORD.

Trains leave Indianapolis for Bedford as follows: Fare $1.62.

Felix T. McWhirter and B. F. Watson, of Indianapolis, were given a hearing before the Senate Committee on Public Morals having in charge the temperance bills and resolutions. Strong arguments were made for State-wide prohibition, urging that an option should not be granted by the State for liquor making and selling.

HOW MY BOY WENT DOWN.

It was not on the field of battle,
It was not with a ship at sea,
But a fate far worse than either
That stole him away from me.
'Twas the death in the tempting winecup
That the reason and senses drown;
He drank the alluring poison,
And thus my boy went down.

Down from the heights of manhood
To the depths of disgrace and sin.
Down to a worthless being,
From the hope of what might have been.
For the brand of a beast besotted
He bartered his manhood's crown;
Through the gate of a sinful pleasure
My poor, weak boy went down.

'Tis only the same old story
That mothers so often tell,
With accent of infinite sadness,
Like the tones of a funeral bell;
But I never thought, once, when I heard it,
I should learn all its meaning myself,
I thought he'd be true to his mother,
I thought he'd be true to himself.

But alas! for my hopes, all delusion;
Alas for his youthful pride!
Alas! who are safe when danger
Is open on every side?
Oh, can nothing destroy this great evil?
No bar in its pathway be thrown,
To save from the terrible maelstrom
The thousands of boys going down.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION COMING.

(From Hon. Charles R. Jones.)

During the past four years the amount of prohibition territory has been doubled and 20,000,000 people added to those living in prohibition cities, counties and states, making an aggregate of over 40,000,000 now by their own choice in saloon-free districts.

The figures below show that nearly two-thirds of the territory and nearly one-half of the people are under prohibition protection:

17,000,000 people in the South under prohibition in 1904.

25,000,000 people in the South under prohibition in 1908.

There are today 250 prohibition cities in the United States having a population of over 5,000 each, with a total population of nearly three million and a half.

In 1904 there were scarcely 100 prohibition cities of 5,000 or over; there are now 90 prohibition cities of 10,000 or over.

The Prohibition party is organized and at work in practically every state of the Union.

In 1904 the liquor trade, through its National Protective Bureau, announced it had circulated within twelve months over 4,000,000 specially prepared leaflets attacking the prohibition argument. Since that time, at a low estimate, 20,000,000 of these leaflets have been distributed broadcast and in the most carefully selected fashion.

In 1904 the National Liquor League of the United States was organized at Cincinnati, January 7th and 8th, to put the "lid" on the apparent beginning of a prohibition renaissance. Four years of the "National Liquor League of the United States" has resulted in 20,000,900 people being added to the prohibition population of the country; 150 new prohibition cities; 5 new prohibition states; hundreds of new prohibition counties and thousands of new prohibition towns and villages in all the rest of the country.

One of the most striking contrasts between 1904 and 1908 is seen in the transformation which has been wrought in the attitude of the daily and secular press towards the prohibition question. Since 1904 leading daily papers in all parts of the country have begun to exclude liquor advertisements from their columns.

The daily press of today is giving ten times more attention to the prohibition issue than in 1904.

(Associated Prohibition Press.)

We are told that there are other issues besides the saloon; so there are, and so there always will be. Must we, therefore, submit eternally to this curse to settle them while the saloon continues to unsettle us?

The Review of Reviews, for September, gives its readers a detailed and graphic glimpse of the National Prohibition party campaign, as seen by President Samuel Dickie of Albion, Michigan.

President Samuel Dickie of Albion, Michigan. Among the leading articles on the prohibition question in current publications during the past few weeks may be mentioned "Woman's Part in the Prohibition Movement," in the September Delinquent; "Liquor's Fight Against Prohibition," in the August Broadway Magazine; a bright and friendly sketch of Mr. Chafin on the "Who's Who" page of the Saturday Evening Post, August 22; specially fair write-ups of the Prohibition presidential candidate and agitation in the New York World, August 23; St. Louis Post-Dispatch, August 23, and Chicago Daily Journal, August 28.

The Concerted Attack upon Speaker Joseph G. Cannon of the National House of Representatives has just been launched by the Methodist church. Eighteen of the bishops have united in an appeal for the defeat of Mr. Cannon at the coming election. The Northwestern Christian Advocate will be the chief organ of this campaign. In a reply to the first broadside of this attack, Speaker Cannon, at Danville, September 10th, used up a number of his choicest adjectives, and among other things said: "These bishops go off half-cocked. Their talk on my attitude toward the rum question and about my czar-like power is nonsense. It is like their talk about Smoot."

LAW FOR STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION CONVENTION RESOLUTIONS AS FOLLOWS:

The W. C. T. U. of Marion County, in convention assembled, rejoices in the quickened public conscience, which recognizes the enormity of the curse and wrong of the liquor traffic. High license has been abandoned by its political friends and advocates and even liquor dealers are not urging this sin upon the people as a remedy. We hold that the liquor traffic is an unmitigated evil and that the only attitude of Christian citizenship is uncompromising hostility which concedes no quarter to this enemy of the home.

Local option implies under certain conditions the legal right of the traffic to exist, and, therefore, we cannot do less than urge the present legislature to enact state-wide prohibition, and we record our conviction that a moral wrong should have no option to continue.

County and Local Union banners will add greatly to the convention church decoration. Take yours with you to Bedford.

Texas, in primary election, declared for the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment for state-wide prohibition.

National W. C. T. U. Convention Denver, Colorado, October 23-28.

State Convention of the Indiana W. C. T. U. at Bedford, October 9-13.

Delegates to Bedford should go in time for opening of Convention.

Delegates who serve their constituency will remain until Convention closes.

Department Superintendents who have carefully kept record books found it easy to report the work done.

County and Local Union banners will add greatly to the convention church decoration. Take yours with you to Bedford.

Our work has not been in vain. We have held high the standard. Wrong cannot be legalized without sin. We have continuously urged State-wide prohibition as the only logical, righteous and final settlement of the liquor question. Our plea has been heard. Results are rapidly rewarding years of untiring and unswerving energy. Victory is approaching. Let us stand by our reasonable and righteous demands.

Press Reporters, please do not send your reports for The Message to the business manager. She has enough of her own work to do without any extra.

All material intended for publication in The Message should be sent to the editor. If it is sent to the business manager she remails it to the editor; thus it takes her time and extra postage.

In sending in reports of meetings and names of officers, be careful to write the full names of the officers every time. Never just say, Mrs. Smith or Mrs. Brown. If you are giving the county officers' names the full name and address should be given every time.

The Press Reporter of every Union is asked to send a report to The Message of the best work done during the year by the Union.

The special session of the legislature may act favorably on constitutional prohibition. A bill has been introduced by a Democratic member. Senator Carl Wood of Jackson County, one of the Democratic leaders of the upper branch, says that if the State-wide prohibition resolution reaches the Senate he will vote for it. He said: "I am willing to put it up to the people of Indiana to say whether or not saloons shall be wiped out of existence in this state. I will not vote for county local option because I believe it is a proposition in the interest of the saloon keepers in the larger cities and against saloon keepers and the owners of saloon property in the smaller towns, but I will vote to let the people decide whether they want State-wide prohibition and I will gladly introduce any petitions or memorials urging such action." While a good many petitions for State-wide prohibition are reaching the legislature, it is not likely that after "the Democratic bluff" has been "called" Mr. Pierson's resolution will receive any further attention, although there are influential members of both branches who favor both the passage of a county local option law and a resolution setting the machinery for a constitutional amendment in motion.—Indianapolis Star.

NATIONAL W. C. T. U. AT DENVER.

The National W. C. T. U. Convention will be held at Denver, October 23-28, 1908.

A White Ribbon special train will leave Chicago shortly after midnight on Tuesday morning, October 20th. Our Indiana people going will buy regular local tickets to Chicago. From Chicago we get the Homeseekers rate of $32.15 round trip to Denver, Colorado Springs or Pueblo.

The Homeseekers' tickets are good for twenty-one days, making return limit November 10th, and allows diversified route returning. The route decided upon is the Northwestern Railroad west of Chicago to Omaha, and Union Pacific to Denver, Colorado and Pueblo.

The Pullman standard rate is $6.00 per berth from Chicago. Two people can occupy a berth.

There will also be tourist sleepers on this train, the rate is $3.00 per berth; two people can occupy a berth. For sleeper reservations money should accompany application.

For further information apply to Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College avenue, Indianapolis.

BEDFORD HO!

The State Convention to be held at Bedford October 9-13, promises to be a notable event in the history of Indiana W. C. T. U. Our comrades who have so kindly invited us to partake of their hospitality have been planning and working all summer to make our stay with them both pleasant and profitable. Let us show our appreciation of their efforts by sending delegates from every Union in the State, who may carry back to their comrades something of the spirit and inspiration of the convention, that a new impetus may be given our work for the coming year.

Some of the Good Things.

The program for the convention promises a number of interesting events. On Friday night the welcomes will be given, and a debate on the question: "Resolved, That the elective franchise should be extended to women." Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley and Mrs. Ella Kroft will take the affirmative; Miss Mary Woodard and Mrs. Retta Jones the negative.

Saturday night a Diamond Medal Contest will be held under the management of Mrs. Julia Overman. The fact that Mrs. Overman has charge of this feature is a guarantee of its success.

On Sunday afternoon a mass meeting will be held in the convention church and an address given by Dr. E. L. Eaton, pastor of the Emanuel M. E. church of Evanston, Ill.

On Monday night the State banners will be presented, and a jubilee held by counties that have made a gain of fifty or over in membership. We are hoping for large delegations from these counties, and a grand, good time is expected.

Good music is being prepared for all these meetings, and many other interesting features that must be seen and heard to be appreciated. You are going, of course.

Delegates.

Every Union is entitled to send the President, one delegate-at-large and one delegate for every twenty paid up members. Lodging and breakfast will be furnished free. If the names of your delegates have not been sent to the Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, send them at once to Mrs. J. R. Mathes, Thirteenth street, Bedford, Ind., that they may be assigned their places of entertainment.

The "Program for Local Unions" will be ready for delivery at State Convention. If Unions will decide how many they want, the delegates may secure the supply.

Let every member of the W. C. T. U. pray that our convention may be a great uplift to our work in the State, and that strength and courage may be given to all of us to push the battle against king alcohol as never before.

Temperance Literature is a great factor in the education of public sentiment.

Miss Addie A. Austin, of Chicago, will be in charge of a literary table again this year at our State Convention.

Delegates will, no doubt, be glad of this opportunity to become familiar with the literature and buy such as will be helpful to them.

See Miss Austin as soon as you get to Bedford. Unions desiring to buy a picture of Miss Willard or Mrs. Stevens to present to a school or church, can send orders for same to Miss Austin by their delegates.

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC AND FOREIGN MIS- SIONS.

The Permanent Committee on Temperance of the Presbyterian church publishes a leaflet by Mrs. H. O. Hilderbrand, in which she says:

"The united and unvarying testimony of the missionaries, both in our own church, and all the churches, at home and abroad, is that the greatest obstacle to the progress of missionary work today is the liquor exported from Christian lands. Every missionary force that goes abroad to evangelize the world finds itself flanked right and left by the dreadful liquor curse. The makers and venders of rum are entering, for remorseless greed and gain, the very doors which our Foreign Missionary Boards have opened; and it is an infinite reproach to us who dwell in Christian lands that we permit the shipment of liquor to these fields; so that the chief evil with which our missionaries now have to contend is not the heathenism and barbarism of pagan lands, but the greater curse of strong drink. That this representation is not too strong, nay, not half strong enough, will be evident from the following extracts, which are but a tithe of what could be given:

STATE CONVENTION ITEMS.

At Bedford the Anti-Executive meeting, on October 8, at 2 p. m., is very important. Members of this committee include the Board of Trustees, Secretary of the W. C. T. U. Branch, Secretary of the L. T. L. Branch, Editor of the State paper, President and Secretary of the Board of Superintendents and the President of each County Union.

To Feel Well—Delegates should not over-exert themselves before leaving home. Act calmly, dress comfortably, eat moderately and drink water sparingly. Attend the convention if possible at night, but after retiring refrain from talking to room-mate until late. A walk in the morning and at noon will be helpful. Few people who lead an active life can sit all day long for several days in a convention and not feel the effects, unless they take walks and eat moderately.

Every Delegate owes it to her constituency to be present on Friday morning at the convention when it is called to order and to remain until the adjournment.

The length of the convention very largely depends upon how much time must be consumed in discussion of subjects by those who were either absent from their delegations or were inattentive to what was reported or to subjects presented.

Whispering in convention is seldom absolutely necessary. In so large a convention as ours it takes very little noise in each delegation to greatly hinder the progress of the day's work.

Tablets and Pencils are a necessity. Every delegate should be well supplied with these. Yes, and a pencil knife, too.

In the homes we always count on our delegates winning friends for our cause. Our White Ribbon women are sweet-spirited and winsome. Few other women can be as interesting guests in the average home for several days. Because our White Ribboners are informed upon and interested in the live topics of the day, and for the most part they live by the Golden Rule.

While at Bedford shall we try to secure new members for the Local Union? Would it be too much to ask each County delegation to get two new members and their dues. Membership pledge cards for this purpose can be secured of Miss Mary Woodard, State Corresponding Secretary at the Convention Church.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

INDIANA JOY BELLS.

September, 1908.

Dear Co-Workers:

The time has come to send in your last report for this year. Let us get all our dues collected by the 15th; remember undergraduates is 11 cents and graduates 26 cents; this to be sent to our State Treasurer, Mr. Harry S. Walsh, 1117 Lincoln avenue, Bedford, right away after September 15th. All Legions paying dues for every pledged member is enrolled on honor roll. Let as many Legions as possible have a delegate in State W.'s convention. See Mrs. Vayhinger's call in September Message, column 1, page 1, for conditions. Do your best for dues this quarter.

I enclose report blanks. Please fill out and return to me as soon as you can after September 15th. Now, do not hesitate if your report is not as large as it should be; all the little reports help to make a big one for the State, and your delegate to the State Convention will want her Union, Local and County, represented in each report. Extra work done in your Legion, not included in the list of questions, please report on back of blank.

I am very sorry to report that Indiana lost 21 subscribers by our Crusader count for August 15th; this brings our list down to 888. Thirty-three subscriptions ran out and only 12 put on. I hope the special effort that is being put forth by a number of our Legions will quickly overcome this loss and our State will make a big gain by September 15th.

In making your donations this quarter, remember the State Treasury, the Anna A. Gordon Japan Fund, the Hadley Home. Every little helps. The Anna A. Gordon Fund on July 21 had $514 of the $600 the National Secretary had planned to raise by Denver Convention. Let Indiana Legioners send a part of this deficit.

All Legioners who are thinking of attending the National Convention at Denver, please send me your names as soon as you read this, so if you desire entertainment with the L. T. L. party arrangements can be made for you. "All L. T. L. leaders or workers, State, County or Local, all Senior Legioners and all who may attend the convention as delegates are eligible."—Margaret Wintringer, in circular letter of August, 1908.

"Contributions to the L. T. L. pledge for the National W. C. T. U. Emergency Fund should be sent through the State L. T. L. General Secretary to Miss Wintringer."

If you have special subjects you wish discussed in our L. T. L. conferences at State Convention at Bedford, please send them to me by the 20th of September.

Remember our department work; take up as many as you can in your Legion; keep account of all work done, so that when State Superintendents call for them you can answer promptly. Our State Superintendent writes: "It inspires me whenever I think of those little boys who were given to us at our State Convention. Are we going to work and rid Indiana of those vile dens which are set to entrap them as soon as their feet begin to tread the streets alone? They were given to us to care for; we are pledged to protect them. Are we going to do it? That means much to me, and I pray that we will do all in our power to destroy their greatest enemy."

Read the splendid report of our State Convention in Crusader Monthly, written by Miss Vandament this month. The picture we had taken will not appear, as it was broken so it could not be used when Miss Gordon received it. Let each State office and Superintendent send their picture to me so we can have cuts made to use in our work at various times. Send items to Mr. Bar, of Elwood, for Crusader Monthly.

Get as much done by the 15th of September in all lines of work for your report, then send to me at once after 15th.

Have you classes studying for diplomas? Urge as many as can to complete the course by October 1, and their diplomas will be presented at Bedford Convention. Mrs. C. J. Vayhinger is the only one who has sent in her paper as yet as completing the course, but I expect a number before convention. Order your diplomas so they can be made out before I start for the convention; also order Junior or Post-Graduate certificates. Be sure when sending in reports, that names of all who have won certificates or diplomas during the year are placed on back of your report, so they can be recorded correctly in W. C. T. U. annual report.

Remember to observe the "Children's Harvest Home Day" as planned by our World and National leaders, as sent you by The Crusader Monthly September 28th.

I would be glad to receive a letter from State Officers and Superintendents, County Officers and Superintendents, Local Officers and Superintendents, or any Legioner that has any for the good of our cause at any time. Yours for best report ever,
Ida M. Mix.

Dear Co-Workers:

I am for Chafin; against any dormant Legion fields of Indiana. Let's imitate our great Prohibition leader and deserve to win—to win Legions in every corner of Indiana to win voters and agitators through these, and deserve our part of the victory, when the Prohibition party wins four years hence. Now, with your co-operation I hope to organize any possible or non-possible Legion territory in our State. There are many vicinities half awake to organization; others that need more spur, and some where Legion work is really unknown. Had I more of worldly goods I would say not a word in preliminary, but my pedal extremities refuse to invade territory farther than two or three miles; the railroads are cruel in their inexorable refusals to issue passes, and I must ask you to furnish my means of locomotion to your town, and then I will do my part—help you establish new or strengthen old Legion ground. A place to lay my head (if I must needs stay over night) and the "daily bread" are my terms complete. We have stronger aids to our cause than ever before, but there are some "minute men" in the liquor forces. Ask the mother Union to help with these necessities or trust to a portion of collection if you have a church meeting. Can any one suggest a plan to raise $50 or $100 for organization funds, that we may canvass Indiana complete? I am at your service "on the firing line."

Marie B. Leck,

2415 Park avenue, Indianapolis.

P. S.—Lay the matter before your County President, or W. C. T. U. President. Let them consider it at the coming County Convention or in executive, if needs be. Won't you help me obtain ten new Legions before W. C. T. U. State Convention.

Marie B. Leck,

State L. T. L. Organizer.

We need an organizer in every County in our State during the coming year. Let us all help to save the boys and girls of Indiana by plans in our fall conventions to write for Miss Leck to come or send us a Legion worker. All she or our State Officers ask is expense and entertainment. Surely every County W. C. T. U. could do this much, or where there is no County organization a Local Union could do it. Dear sisters, try it and see if the results will not bring an increase to you in many ways, at small cost.

A beautiful pennant has been furnished our branch of the work by the State W. C. T. U. to be given to the Legion sending the best report of work done. Now let us be prompt with these reports and encourage our workers at home by carrying some of the banners or the pennant home with us from Bedford Convention.

Bring as many young people with you as possible to State Convention. They can get an inspiration from the conferences and the different sessions of the convention that will help them to see the needs of Legion and W. C. T. U. work that they will never get in home Legion or Union. Let us all make an extra effort for the saving of the boys and girls of Indiana during this next year.
State General Secretary.

Danville Union has taken on renewed activity.

YOUR AFTER-SELF.

In an address to young men, President Jordan, of Stanford University, said:

"Your first duty in life is toward your after-self. So live that your after-self—the man you ought to be—may in his time be possible and actual. Far away in the twenties, the thirties, of the twentieth century, he is awaiting his turn. His body, his brain, his soul, are in your hands. He cannot help himself. What will you leave for him? Will it be a brain unspoiled by lust or dissipation, a mind trained to think and act, a nervous system true as a dial in its response to the truth about you? Or will you turn over to him a brain distorted, a mind diseased, a spinal cord grown through with the devil grass of that vile harvest we call wild oats? Will you let him come, taking your place, gaining through your experiences, hallowed through your joys, building on them his own, or will you fling his hope away, decreeing, wanton-like, that the man you might have been shall never be?"

Mrs. Jennie Ridgeway, our grief-stricken sister, is pushing on the work of prohibition and the W. C. T. U. in Miami County. Although her husband, who was also comrade and co-laborer, has been called home to Heaven, she is not letting any of their plans for the cause fail.

FIELD NEWS

The Marion County W. C. T. U. met in annual convention September 16 and 17, in the Third Christian church. The convention was called to order by the County President, Mrs. Martha L. Gipe. The morning was spent in the usual routine business. The address of the President was full of strong, earnest pleas for State-wide prohibition. Mrs. Gipe feels that this step of progress is as easily taken now as it will be after county local option is tried. After faithfully serving the county as President eight years of the best part of her life, Mrs. Gipe desired to be relieved from active work for a time. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Mary Kinser, Brightwood; Vice-President, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Nettie Cohea; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Nina Bingham;

RECORDING SECRETARY, INDIANA W. C. T. U.

Treasurer, Mrs. Lizzie Heath, all of Indianapolis. Miss Jeannette Gipe was chosen L. T. L. Secretary. At the evening session a Gold Medal contest was held, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Clark Brown, County Superintendent of Contest Work. Miss Nell Jackson of 1560 E. Market street, won the gold medal. The other contestants were Roy Jay, Wilmer Ingling, Helen Overman and Bessie Fullen. Thursday morning a memorial service was held. Mrs. S. D. Farrabee paid tribute to the memory of Mrs. Harriet Brand and Mrs. Mary E. Sims spoke touchingly of Mrs. Drucilla Wilson, who laid down the work the 9th of June at the age of 93. Miss Eloise Palmer sang "Lead Kindly Light." Mrs. Cora Patton read the list of names of the deceased members. The reports of the Superintendents of Departments showed progress along all lines. The Superintendents felt that much work had been done which was not reported. The following resolutions were passed: "The W. C. T. U. of Marion County, in convention assembled, rejoices in the quickened public conscience, which recognizes the enormity of the curse and wrong of the liquor traffic.

"Whereas, we hold that the liquor traffic is an unmitigated evil and that the only attitude of Christian citizenship is uncompromizing hostility, which concedes no quarter to this enemy of the home, and

Whereas, Local option implies the legal right of the traffic to exist, therefore,

Resolved, We can not do less than urge the present legislature to enact state-wide prohibition.

Whereas, The pure food and other laws on health and sanitary conditions do not fully protect us against the sources and spread of contagious diseases, be it

Resolved, That the County W. C. T. U. request the County Medical Association to provide a course of lectures in the public schools giving simple and practical instructions for guarding against the inception and spread of all infectious diseases."

A vote of thanks was tendered the church board for the use of the church. Owing to illness the Rev. Harry T. Hill was unable to take his part on the program. Mrs. Gipe made the closing prayer of this 22d annual convention of Marion County W. C. T. U. workers.

Ella D. Oakes, Press Supt.

The Decatur County W. C. T. U. met in county convention at Greensburg September 10th. Fourteen members of the Sardinia W. C. T. U. were present and two from the Union at Westport. The following officers were elected: Mary Gray, President; Mrs. Nettie Parker, Vice-President; Mrs. Ella B. Wright, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Cora McDowell, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Laura Kirby, Treasurer. We had with us our dear Mrs. Stanley, and we all enjoyed her very much—her presence is an inspiration. The Greensburg Union entertained the visiting White Ribboners royally. The night meeting was well attended, and Mrs. Stanley spoke in her usual pleasing manner.

Billboard Crusade On—Washington Authorities Would End "Blood and Thunder" Posters—Washington, September 17.—A new crusade against billboards and posters is to be undertaken by the police of Washington. For several years the police have maintained a censorship which has resulted in the suppression of many of the objectionable features common to this sort of advertising, but it has been found impossible to regulate it as completely as desired. Therefore, the superintendent of police will ask a law under which he may regulate the sensational, misleading and exciting object lessons portraying the performance of some "blood and thunder" show that deface billboards and add no substantial patronage to the houses that employ them. He also contends that portraits should not be included in the category with burglaries, killings, train wrecks and the attempted portrayal of sensational and emotional beauty shows. In addition to these moral questions involved, the authorities at the national capital are considering the desirability of billboards from the aesthetic standpoint and some radical reform may result. (The billboard agitation will bring good results only. A national law restricting this nuisance certainly is needed.—Editor.)

THE MESSAGE.

Sardinia W. C. T. U. was organized April 14, 1908, with 10 members. We now (September 22d) have 22 paid up members and several others are coming in. In the few months since our organization we have cleared $18.00 at a supper and have given $5.00 in charity. Have had 10 regular meetings and two called meetings. Our delegate to the State Convention is Mrs. Lillian Graham Deniston. We will be glad to have this report printed in The Message.

Yours lovingly,

Cora McDowell, Cor. Sec. Local Union.

Arba, Ind., Sept. 14, 1908.—Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, Sister in Christ.—Mrs. Elizabeth P. Stanley, of Liberty, Ind., gave an address at our place and organized a Union with twenty active and six honorary members. The departments of work taken up by the Union are: Medal Contest, Health and Heredity and Social Purity, Sunday School. Have had one public meeting addressed by Mrs. S. N. Stahl, of Hartford City. Our Union is small but the members are active and earnest in the temperance cause. Mrs. Ella Hartley and Miss Mary Woodard, of Fountain City, were with us at our May meeting and gave us words of encouragement in regard to our line of work, which I pray God may prosper all over our land.

Alice Haisley, Fountain City, R. R.

Winona Lake, Ind.—A number of women interested in W. C. T. U. work and desiring to promote its growth and see its principles prevail at this most conspicuous place, met under the trees in front of the auditorium for the purpose of organizing an Assembly Union composed of our women that came from different states, with a view of a permanent organization at Winona. A committee was appointed composed of Mrs. A. D. Fitch, of Troy, O. President; Miss T. Alice Pinkerman, of Delaware, O., Vice-President, and Mrs. A. R. Shedd, of Argos, Ind., Secretary and Treasurer, to present a petition signed by thirty-three charter members to the officers of the Winona Assembly against the sale of tobacco, coca cola and all soft drinks on the Winona Assembly grounds. Charter Members—Mrs. Margaret Brownlee, Cargo, Mich.; Mrs. Sophina Simon, Goshen, Ind.; Mrs. Wild Cosby, Goshen, Ind.; Mrs. Alonzo Powell, The Ballard, Indianapolis, Ind.; Miss Frances Todd, South Whitley, Ind.; Miss Jennie Willson, South Whitley, Ind.; Mrs. Mary A. Mrs. Stanley's Note Book—Dear Sisters: Since my last, I have attended County Conventions at Auburn, had a mass meeting at St. Joe, addressed Teachers' County Institute at Ft. Wayne, and conventions of Union, Decatur and Jefferson Counties. I now go to Bellefontaine, O., for four days, attend Grant County and Whitley County Conventions, and hope to meet you at Bedford with the best reports we have ever had. Write every State Superintendent of a department, and tell her what you have done in her department, and the surprise will rejoice our hearts. Yours for victory in 1909.

Elizabeth T. Stanley.

Dearborn County W. C. T. U. gave a reception for the teachers of the County Thursday evening of Institute week in the German M. E. church in Lawrenceburg. Quite a number of teachers responded who seemed to be interested in the Scientific Temperance program given. The church was beautifully decorated with cut flowers, mottoes, posters, etc. After the program, delicious refreshments were served by the Local Union. Several subscriptions for the Crusader Monthly were taken, and one teacher said very earnestly that she would hereafter pay more attention to this subject than she had ever done before. Those present seemed pleased, and we believe interest was aroused that will bear fruit.

Mrs. A. E. Rynerson, Co. Pres.

Bloomington—The business meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home Wednesday of Mrs. Burgeon with a large attendance. Officers were elected for the year: President, Mrs. Henry Russell; Vice-President, Mrs. J. B. Ridge; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Henry Dodds; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. T. B. Boyle; Treasurer, Mrs. Lelia Curry; Superintendents of Department Work: Jail Work, Mrs. Alice Marlin; Literature, Mrs. Jennie Bright; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. L. M. Beck; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. T. B. Boyle; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Wm. Telfer; Medal Contest, Mrs. R. C. Weinland; Mothers' Meeting, Mrs. O. N. Siebenthal; Press, Mrs. Ida von Behren; Flower Mission, Mrs. Campbell, with the assistance of Superintendent east, Mrs. Lon Rogers southwest, Mrs. Ott Fowler; northeast, Mrs. A. W. Pryor; northwest, Mrs. Nora Cathcart.

The Willis Union of Mt. Zion held its election of officers the 8th inst. and made an "all around" change, shaking well the sack and trusting that the best may have come to the top. The reports of various Officers and Superintendents were read, and the one of the Treasurer was especially pleasing for a Union so few in number (16 active and 8 honorary members). She reported total receipts since January 7, 1908 (date of organization) of $83.85; with total disbursements of $60.19; leaving a balance cash on hand of $23.66. May the good work go on. Delegates were selected to represent our Union at Bedford. Next meeting September 23.

Mrs. M. E. Miller,

Cor. Sec. and Press Supt.

The Montpelier W. C. T. U. held the annual meeting at the Methodist church and elected officers as follows: President, Mrs. Klarella Weston; Vice-President, Mrs. A. H. Smith; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Chas. S. Miller; Recording Secretary, Mrs. John Iskenburg; Treasurer, Mrs. Gertie Morrical; Superintendents for the various departments were: Press, Mrs. Charles S. Miller; Medal Contest, Mrs. Samuel Wearley; Sabbath School, Miss L. L. West; Mothers' Meeting, Mrs. G. R. Davids; Flower Mission; Mrs. Mary Garrett; Social Purity, Mrs. Neatherhead; Literature, Mrs. Mat Lemmons; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Shannon; Mercy, Mrs. W. C. Patterson. The meeting was largely attended and was enthusiastic in arguments for drilling a well to be located on the public square of the city. The ladies have been working hard for this enterprise, which will be a great help to the surrounding country and city. As there are a number who say they can't get a good drink unless they go to the saloon to get it, so we mean to have a good water well on the public square to furnish good, pure drinking water to all. The contractor commenced drilling September 11th and was to have the work completed in a week or ten days.

Mrs. Charles S. Miller.

Bluffton—We had our beloved State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings to help us observe "Mother's Day." In the afternoon she gave a very interesting talk to a goodly number of ladies in a parlor meeting at the home of our efficient Local President, Mrs. S. A. Goodin. After the meeting the lovers of melon were treated to a very generous helping of watermelon. In the evening Mrs. Stahl gave a splendid address in Epworth Chapel. We very much regretted we did not have crowded houses to hear this gifted woman on this very important subject. It is not necessary to take time nor space to speak of these talks in detail to you who are so well acquainted with her ability as a W. C. T. U. speaker. God multiply the numbers of consecrated Christian workers in the W. C. T. U. work.

Mrs. A. E. Willis, Press Reporter.

Benton County—The Annual Convention was held at Oxford, Ind., August 19 and 20. The County has four Unions—Oxford, Boswell, Earl Park and Otterbin. All Unions were well represented with good reports. Benton is going to the State Convention with 175 members. The three months old Union at Earl Park is going to Bedford with 50 members and four delegates. The newly elected officers are: County President, Mrs. Amanda Smith; Vice-President, Mrs. Minnie Barr; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Nellie Stevenson; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lillie Petree; Treasurer, Mrs. Estella Smith.

Mrs. Mae Cooper, Earl Park Ind., Press Reporter.

Seymour Union held annual meeting with Mrs. Frank Teckemeyer. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. W. F. Pfaffenberger; Vice-President, Mrs. R. R. Short; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. E. McKinney; Recording Secretary, Mrs. F. Teckemeyer; Treasurer, Mrs. Wylie; Superintendents: Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. F. W. Hadley; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. M. Miss Elva Chance.

Ray—A pleasant social event was a reception given the new members of the W. C. T. U. at the home of Wendell McNaughton and wife in Ray Saturday afternoon, August 15th. The result of the membership contest was nine for the Red side and fourteen for the Blue. The Reds furnished the supper and the Blues the program. The Reds carried out their color scheme to the letter, the house being artistically decorated with white bunting and red butterflies, made of crepe paper, and red and white flowers. All the members on the Red side wore red butterflies in their hair and the serving committee wore red aprons. The President of the Union, Mrs. Mary McTaggart, was the captain on this side, wore a red necktie and at intervals was completely decorated with red butterflies. Supper was served in two courses—first two kinds of sandwiches tied with red ribbon, beet salad, stuffed olives and coffee; second, white cake with red icing, cookies with red filling and strawberry sherbet. The program, in charge of Mrs. Elnora McNaughton, the captain on the Blue side, was heartily enjoyed by all. The first number was a piano solo by Miss Ruth McNaughton. A welcome to the new members by Mrs. Theo. McNaughton. Response by Miss Rena Paul. Vocal solo, Ruth McNaughton; address, "Co-operation," by Mrs. Sophina McLouth; piano duet, Mrs. Elnora McNaughton and Miss Ruth McNaughton; recitation, "Convict Joe," by Mrs. Lillian Van Allen, of Jackson, Mich.; closing song, "Blest be the Tie That Binds." During the supper hour music by Miss Ruth McNaughton and a toast by Mrs. Lida Duquid were pleasing features. A guessing game was introduced in which Mrs. Geghan, of Toledo, gave the society one dollar, and a motion was carried to accept her as a member of the society.

Whiteland W. C. T. U. gave a picnic in Powell's grove August 25th. An interesting program was rendered. The forenoon was given to songs and recitations by the children. In the afternoon there was a parade by children with banners and floats, headed by Greenwood Juvenile Military band. A male quartet of home talent rendered several impressive songs. We had the honor of having with us our State President, Mrs. Vayhinger, who delivered a stirring address. Several new members were added to the Union. Our Union is very much alive, and we are planning great things for next year.

Mrs. Belle Yaste, Local President.

Delaware County, in convention assembled at Muncie, passed a resolution asking Governor Hanly to push for passage a bill before the present legislature calling for the state-wide prohibition of the liquor traffic. The State and not the county, township or ward is the natural unit, the women declare. In the legislature, Representative Pierson, Democrat, introduced a bill for state-wide prohibition after December 31; also a resolution toward making prohibition a part of the constitution.

IN MEMORIAM.

ALEXANDRIA, IND.—Henrietta Marley, wife of Joseph Marley, after an illness of 4 years patiently borne, was promoted from this earth to dwell in the Holy City of God. Henrietta from this earth to dwell in the Holy City of God. On the 16th of March 1876 she was married to Joseph Marley. To this union was born three sons, in the year 1892 the oldest and youngest sons preceded their mother to the better land. In her early life she was converted in the M. E. Church. In 1894 she was baptized and joined the First Baptist Church. In public her words of testimony were few, but her christain actions and kind deeds spoke louder than words. She has been a faithful member of the W. C. T. U. ever since its organization acting as local Treas. for many years. The W. C. T. U. has lost a willing worker, the Church a loyal member, the Neighbor a true friend.

Mrs. Marley was a woman of many virtues, and she will be greatly missed. At first it was a struggle for her to give up the pleasures of home and loved ones, but the last four weeks she longed and prayed for the change to come soon, and if God willed, she would like the date of her birth to be the date of her departure. She lived but one day after, making her 48 years and 1 day old. Thus resigned she sweetly fell asleep in Jesus Aug. 18th, 1908.

MUNCIE, IND.—Mrs. Fred Lachaw, aged 24, a beloved member of Normal City Union, Muncie, Ind., passed away. She was a faithful worker and was loved by all who knew her.

CONVENTION REPORT.

BEDFORD.

The Thirty-fifth Annual Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana was held in the First Christian Church, at Bedford, October 9 to 13.

The church is beautiful in architectural design built of Bedford stone. The interior is commodious, and well adapted for the accommodation of a convention.

The decorations were of unusual interest and significance. Upon the auditorium walls were hung Department, County and Local Union banners, made of satin or velvet, in various colors; many lettered in gold and having a finish of gold fringe. Besides these elegant banners, there were pennants for all the departments; the pennants were of regulation size of college pennants and made of felt in bright colors. American flags were, also, artistically used.

The platform was decorated with large potted palms.

All around the chancel were placards of Unions, no two alike, but each one announced victory; perhaps it was a large gain in membership or a certain number of saloons closed, or so many townships dry.

The weather was fine, the attendance very large, and unusual interest and enthusiasm prevailed throughout the entire convention.

There were about four hundred and fifty voting and visiting delegates; three hundred and seventy-four voting delegates.

In response to roll call of County Presidents at the opening of the convention, each President reported greatest work accomplished in her county during the year. Intense interest was manifested as those from the hard temperance battle fields reported victories won.

President Vayhinger's address was eloquent and inspiring; during its delivery she was many times interrupted by applause. There was prolonged applause at the announcement of 1,522 gain in membership this year. This is the net gain in paid membership, total membership now being 7,123.

The Corresponding Secretary, Miss Woodard, gave a very comprehensive report of the work done, showing that there had been increased activity in the Unions everywhere.

The Treasurer, Miss Sears, reported the greatest amount of money ever received by our state for any one year. Her report was of interest to every member of the convention, for it showed the status of all Local Unions.

Mrs. Ida Mix's, State L. T. L. Secretary, report showed much advancement made in temperance work among the boys and girls of our state.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, our State Lecturer, reported having given one-third of her time to the field. In her own impressive way she told of some of the victories and defeats for our cause.

The Department reports were most encouraging. Never in the history of our work has such great interest prevailed.

The State Organizers did not bring in reports of many new Unions organized, but of a building up of old Unions.

The evening meetings were largely attended, the seating capacity of the church being inadequate.

Friday evening the convention was welcomed on behalf of the W. C. T. U. by Mrs. W. A. Brown, President of Bedford Union, and on behalf of the city by Mayor John Stipp. Greeting from the churches, Rev. Wilson Whitney. Response to welcome, Mrs. Rose Pearce.

Then followed a debate on the subject: "Resolved, That the Elective Franchise Should be Extended to Women."

Affirmative—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Mrs. Ella Kroft.

Negative—Miss Mary Woodard, Mrs. Retta Jones.

Seldom has an audience been more enthusiastic in its admiration and praise of speakers. The debate was a great success.

On Saturday evening a Diamond Medal Contest was held by Mrs. Julia Overman, State Superintendent.

The contestants were: H. H. Hocker, Westfield, "Wanted, Christian Patriots;" Miss Beulah Conn, Danville, "The Parting of the Ways;" Mrs. W. G. Batt, Bedford, "A Consecrated Citizenship;" Miss Grace Clarkson, Columbus, "Patriotism;" Wilbur Brewer, Whiteland, "The Sign of the Dollar;" Miss Grace Maddox, Montpelier, "Swore Off;" Miss Ruth Miller, Liberty, "The Street of Death." The church was crowded to its capacity and the lecture room was filled. Admission, twenty-five cents. The judges were Miss Clara Sears, Anderson; Mrs. Lida Outland, Upland, and Mr. Felix T. McWhirter, Indianapolis. The medal was awarded to Mrs. Batt, of Bedford.

On Sunday, in most of the churches, the W. C. T. U. women spoke, both morning and evening; everywhere they were greeted by large audiences and given most respectful hearing.

A great mass meeting was held on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, addressed by Dr. E. L. Eaton, pastor of Emanuel Methodist church, of Evanston, Ill.

At the close of Dr. Eaton's remarkable address, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley made an appeal for funds with which to carry on a campaign for state-wide prohibition for Indiana. She asked if there was some one in the audience who would give one hundred dollars. Mr. John A. Rowe, of Bedford, responded by saying that he would give one hundred dollars for his wife, who is the President of Lawrence County. That was the only one hundred dollars subscribed, fifty dollars being the next highest, but in a very short time there was given in cash and pledges $2,054.58. Words fail to describe the scene following Mrs. Stanley's appeal. Amid laughter and tears, pledges were made so rapidly that it was almost impossible for Miss Clara Sears and Miss Laura Cammack to get the names and addresses. All this indicates the loyalty, earnestness, faith and determination of the women to work on until the liquor traffic is outlawed and prohibition becomes a part of our constitution.

Monday evening was "jubilee" by counties making a gain in membership of fifty or more. The entire delegations marched upon the platform, gave their "rally" or sang a song after the County President told of the best things done in her county. There was a great crowd and excellent music.

The business of the convention was conducted rapidly so that it was not necessary to hold a forenoon meeting on Tuesday, 13th, but with the business all finished the convention adjourned on Monday night.

This year greater rapidity was made possible because of the intelligent interest and enthusiasm of the delegates concerning the needs of the work. In discussions there was little time wasted by unnecessary questions and talk that was foreign to the matter in hand.

The delegates, for the most part, came for the opening and remained until adjournment. All were pleased with the early closing of the convention. Everything possible was done by the Bedford people to help make the convention a success. Their cordial hospitality and their unselfish kindness made the delegates feel very much at home.

CONVENTION NOTES.

The Department Superintendents reported much work done; the increased interest seemed to be general all over the state.

Dearborn County won the Institute banner.

Scientific Temperance pennant went to Madison Union.

Medical Temperance pennant was won by Marion County.

Physical Culture pennant awarded to Floyd County.

Parliamentary Law pennant won by Howard County.

Hamilton County won the Press pennant.

Soldiers' and Sailors' pennant went to Floyd County.

National Sabbath Observance prize was won by our Mrs. Kathryn Wert-Holler, State and Assistant National Superintendent of the department.

Mrs. Edna Smith served as Assistant Secretary of the convention.

Mrs. Ritter, of Hartford City, served as Time Keeper.

Blackford County had the largest per cent. of gain in membership.

Fort Wayne had the largest per cent. of local gain.

Mrs. C. S. Braxton, of Phoenix, Arizona, former loved President of Bedford Union and Lawrence County, was present, and brought greetings from Arizona W. C. T. U.

The Bedford ministers were cordially interested in the convention.

Rev. Melvin Putnam, pastor of the convention church, was present much of the time.

Rev. J. F. O'Haver, of the M. E. church, was in attendance, as was, also, Rev. Wilson Whitney, of the Baptist church.

Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson was greatly missed from the convention, it being the first time she had not been present at an Indiana convention since her election as Recording Secretary at Richmond in 1893. She served in that capacity until 1907, continuously serving also as State Lecturer and Organizer.

The Executive Committee meetings and the conferences were held in the splendid new Methodist church, in the same square.

The announcement by wire of the death of Prof. J. F. Kinsey, of Ft. Wayne, was received with great regret. He was always our loyal supporter and friend. Mrs. Kinsey served our cause in various capacities, being President of Allen County as long as Prof. Kinsey's health would permit.

Mrs. Elizabeth Haughton was detained at home on account of the illness of her husband.

Mrs. Rogers, age 91 years, was present as a delegate; was introduced, and spoke of her love and loyalty.

Rev. Jas. R. Jones, of Paoli, was present as a fraternal delegate from Western Yearly Meeting.

Mr. Raeburn, age 82 years, was present and spoke for prohibition.

Mrs. G. T. Breunig was appointed to secure subscriptions to the Union Signal.

Miss Marie Leck and Miss Harriet Stockton, of Kokomo, took subscriptions for the Crusader Monthly.

Mr. C. D. Boyd, representative of the Missouri Pacific R. R., brought greetings from the Indianapolis North Park Christian Sunday School of which he is Superintendent.

Mr. F. T. McWhirter, of Indianapolis, was introduced and spoke of the great need of concerted effort for state-wide prohibition.

Rev. H. H. Hocker, of Westfield, was presented to the convention and spoke briefly.

Mrs. Kroft's quiz was interesting. One question and answer was: What uses tobacco? Answer: The Rocky Mountain goat, the big green tobacco worm and man.

The drills given by Mrs. Emma Thomas, State Superintendent of Physical Culture, were fine. Several more would have been appreciated.

Frances Willard Carter, seven months old, was presented. The President tied the white ribbon on her right arm and said: "I believe by the time she has reached womanhood she will have the right use of this arm to cast a ballot for her own protection."

Mrs. Lena Beck, of Bloomington, former State President, was present and served as chairman of the telegram committee.

The Crusade Glory song was sung; led by Mrs. Gertrude Fulton.

The recent untimely death of Mr. James Mix, eldest son of Mrs. Ida Mix, caused a sadness over the L. T. L. workers and others of the convention.

Mrs. Lizzie Hahn, Superintendent of Hadley School, made report; also, Mrs. Outland, Superintendent of the farm. Both reports indicated good conditions. Mrs. Hahn reported that there were eleven girls in the school.

The Memorial Service was conducted by Mrs. S. M. Stahl. In closing Mrs. Stanley recited the poem, "They Are Not Dead, But Just Away."

Mrs. M. A. McCurdy, of Richmond, a very intelligent, well-educated colored woman, was introduced and pleaded for her people saying that the women of her race were standing ready for organization, and asked the State W. C. T. U. to give them an organization of their own.

Miss Addie Austin, representing Miss Ruby Gilbert's literature house of Chicago, was present and was made a member of the convention.

A life-sized framed picture of Miss Frances E. Willard was presented by the convention to the Bedford high school.

On Monday, after the great collection was taken on Sunday afternoon, a little girl came to Mrs. Stanley and gave her three dollars for the fund. Said she had saved it to buy skates, but she wanted to give it to help close saloons. Mrs. Stanley learned that she was the child of a poor drunkard and her mother was dead, so she told her to keep her money to buy her skates, that the fund did not need her skate money.

Mr. and Mrs. Holcomb will ever be remembered by hundreds of delegates. Their white-ribbon bedecked and W. C. T. U. placarded automobile was in constant service.

Mrs. J. R. Mathes, chairman of the entertainment committee, received 571 names sent in for entertainment, many of whom did not come; but places would have been provided if they had come.

The local committees worked constantly and faithfully. Everything possible was done for the comfort of the delegates.

IMPORTANT.

PLAN OF WORK FOR 1908-1909.

Membership.

It is our aim to raise our membership this year to 10,000. Let a campaign for membership be begun at once, and continued throughout the year.

Public Meetings.

We urge that a greater number of public meetings be held in the interest of state-wide prohibition. Every Union in the state should hold at least one public meeting during each quarter, using local talent as well as employing public speakers.

We earnestly recommend that Local Unions prepare interesting programs or medal contests, to be given in unorganized neighborhoods or towns, and at the meetings distribute literature and prepare the way for organization.

Contests.

We recommend that Unions arrange at once for essay contests in our high schools, to be governed by the rules in the plan of work sent out by our National Superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction.

Receptions.

We recommend each Local Union to give a reception in honor of their teachers, and, if possible, to secure their subscriptions to the Crusader Monthly.

Local Option Campaigns.

We urge our Local Unions to co-operate with other organizations in an effort to drive saloons from our state by means of our Remonstrance and Local Option laws, meanwhile agitation and educating for state-wide prohibition.

Honorary Members.

We recommend that Local Unions seek to secure such number of honorary members as shall equal one-half the number of regular members.

Organization.

Each Local Union is earnestly requested to send $1.50 to the State Treasurer as an organization fund. All poorly organized counties should begin at once to bring their organization up to the standard of at least six unions, with not fewer than ten paid members in each union, with a county organization.

FROM THE REPORT OF THE CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.

In attempting to make a report of the year's work, the thought of how little can be represented on paper forces itself upon us. We can easily give the number of Unions in the state, and the number of members, but we have no standard by which to measure their influence, or tell how many lives have received an uplift because of the things that have been said and done by these organizations. We can keep account of the number of pages of literature we distribute, but we have no system by which to estimate the effect of the printed page or know to how many minds it has given the arrest of thought so much needed in this busy, bustling age.

Who can tell how many children have received impressions the past year from our Sunday School temperance lessons or in our L. T. L.'s that will guide them through life? Who knows how many boys have been kept in the hour of temptation by the memory of the little bow of white worn by his mother and the principles it represents.

No one can tell how many feet our work has saved from the pitfalls prepared for them, because it is impossible to trace out those unseen forces that make for righteousness.

For thirty-five years the faithful women of our organization have gone up and down the land sowing temperance truth by voice and pen. In spite of prejudice, indifference, and even open opposition, they have steadily kept up the agitation of this great question until their seed-sowing is now ripening into a harvest. To those of us who are familiar with what has been done by our organization, the present manifestation of temperance sentiment is no surprise. It is merely the fulfillment of the promise, "He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing."

Never in the progress of our reform have we made history so rapidly as in the months that have passed since our last state convention. Then we rejoiced that Georgia and Oklahoma had set up the white banner of prohibition. Since then Alabama, Mississippi and North Carolina have wheeled into the prohibition line, and Arkansas is rapidly advancing in the same direction. In fact, the indications are that we are soon to have a new "solid South"—solid for prohibition. In our own beloved state the work of remonstrance has gone steadily forward until 810 of the 1,016 townships of the state have driven out the saloon. Through the strategic movement of our Governor in calling a special session of the legislature, and the tremendous pressure brought to bear from over the state, a county local option measure has become law in our commonwealth. This will, perhaps be a little more effective weapon with which to fight the traffic than is the remonstrance law; but this law does not touch the breweries and distilleries, and so long as we allow their foul smoke to darken our skies, just so long will we have the curse of drunkenness upon us as a people.

While we, as an organization and as individuals, should do all in our power to make this law effective in driving out the saloons, we must not for one moment cease our agitation for state-wide, yes, nation-wide, prohibition.

Unusual activity and enthusiasm have characterized the work of our organization throughout the year. It was a part of our plan to make a gain of fifty or more in a large number of counties, and an earnest effort has been made to carry out the plan.

Much department work has been accomplished, as the work of our Superintendents will show; but their reports, as well as mine, will give only a fraction of the work that has been accomplished, because so much has not been reported. Twenty-one counties have been heard from each quarter, while fifty-one have reported one or more quarters. Thirty-two Local Unions have not reported at all.

We began the year with 260 Unions in 70 counties. During the year Unions have been organized in four new counties; Adams, Crawford, Rush and Warren. Other Unions have been organized as follows: Benton, 1; Blackford, 2; De Kalb, 1; Decatur, 1; Fayette, 3; Hamilton, 3; Huntington, 1; Johnson, 1; Jay, 1; Jefferson, 4; Miami, 1; Lawrence, 1; Marion, 3; Parke, 1; Posey, 1; Randolph, 2; Tippecanoe, 1; Vermillion, 2; Wayne, 2; Wells, 1; Warren, 1, and Vanderburg, 1.

Six national workers were employed in our state during the year as follows: Mrs. Mary Weaver, of New York; Mrs. Maude Greene, of Texas; Mrs. Mary Sibbitt, of Kansas; Miss Rebecca Trego, of Ohio; Miss Ella Brownell, of Pennsylvania, and Miss Annie Robbins, of Minnesota. All of whom did good work.

The report shows that $538.89 was spent for literature; 2,355 regular meetings and 220 mass meetings held, and 357 lectures given; 471 Union Signals are taken; 3,906 signatures to the pledge have been secured, and 693 honorary members.

YOUNG WOMAN'S BRANCH.

Dear County Presidents:

Is there a "Y." or Young Woman's Society, in your county, or is there a place where you think one could be organized?

Please write me of the conditions in your county, so that I may know how to proceed. I must have your prayers and co-operation to accomplish anything in this department of our work. With God's help, I will do what I can to try to accomplish some good, but you can help me, and I believe that you will. If any woman who reads this, knows of an opening for a young woman's branch of our work, please write to me of it. There are hundreds of girls in Indiana who should be workers in a "Y." and how are we to reach and win them?

Sincerely yours,
Laura G. Cammack,
Secretary Y Branch.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Dear Sisters:

Many of you have just returned from the State convention, tired, but full of enthusiasm. Some of you, perhaps, made a pledge for the state-wide prohibition fund not knowing how you were to raise it. Now is your opportunity to get into the churches on Universal Temperance Sunday, the last Sunday in November, and take collections for the W. C. T. U. Go before the Ministerial Association at its first meeting, asking for this privilege. Send a representative woman from each Union to this meeting. Let it be understood that this is a concerted state-wide movement. Fill the pulpits with your own women, if you can secure those who can do so acceptably, if not ask the pastor to preach the sermon and give us a collection at close of the service. Have recitations by those who have won medals, chart talks from our scientific temperance chart or a five minutes' talk from our L. T. L. manuals at the Sunday School and Young People's meetings. Get a little note book and keep accurate account of work done and collections taken. Please send me the names of Superintendents and I will send plan of work.

Yours for service,

CONVENTION REPORTS

Lunches and suppers were served by Mr. Miller in two store rooms fitted up for the purpose; 400 persons could be seated and served at once. It was at a convenient distance from the church; the walk in the fresh air was just what the delegates needed. The plan was good, for so many delegates could not easily have been served at the restaurants.

Mr. Wm. A. Webb, a dry goods merchant, advertised a welcome for the W. C. T. U. and decorated appropriately. Other merchants also decorated in honor of the W. C. T. U. Many, indeed, were the words of appreciation spoken concerning the W. C. T. U. by Bedford people who had not been interested heretofore.

One drayman, a German, refused to take pay for carrying a trunk to the depot for one of the delegates, saying: "I am glad to do it for one of them white ribbon women."

Many members were secured for the Bedford Union. That is as it should be. From the time of the arrival of the delegates, who were met by Mrs. J. A. Rowe at the trains, until all had registered at the church and been properly located in some hospitable Bedford home, everything that thoughtful white ribboners could do was done by Mrs. W. A. Brown, general chairman, and each and every one of the members of the local committees.

President Vayhinger's address should be read in every Union. Copies of it given to ministers and teachers will be helpful to our cause. The address is published in full in the Annual Report of the Bedford convention. Single copies, 15 cents. Send to the State Corresponding Secretary, Miss Mary Woodward. Do not delay.

The National convention at Denver, perhaps the very greatest ever held, should be reported in every community by the representing delegate. Arrange a public meeting, with good music; have a recitation to follow the report; secure new members; get a collection for our work, and subscribers to the Union Signal. Now is the time to take pledges for funds for the W. C. T. U. for the year 1909. Unions can raise one hundred and two hundred dollars in this way for their local and county prohibition work.

President Vayhinger's recommendation that the railroad expenses of the national delegates be paid to the national convention from the county treasuries in a sum equal to ten cents per member, was almost unanimously adopted.

The convention picture taken at Bedford on the last evening of the convention is excellent. Only the delegates at the station on Tuesday morning had opportunity to buy. No doubt many will want copies. The faces are distinct, and the pictures unusually good. They are large, 14x17 inches, on card 17x22 inches; price, expressage paid, seventy-five cents. Address Thomas Jackson, Bedford, Ind.

Every Local and County officer and Department Superintendent must read the Annual Report of our state work in order to be equipped for intelligent W. C. T. U. work. The report contains the proceedings of the Bedford convention, the President's address, the Corresponding Secretary's report, the year's report of each State Superintendent of a department. The Local, County and State constitution is an important feature and should be familiar to every worker.

Besides all of this information, the report contains the county directories. To publish these report books much money is spent by the state in order to get in compact form the necessary information for the membership. The actual cost of each report is nearly thirty cents. They are sold to Unions for ten cents, if the Union pays postage or expressage; single copies fifteen cents. Send order immediately to Miss Mary Woodward, Fountain City, Ind.

TO MUNCIE, OCTOBER, 1909.

Mrs. Ella Bond, of Muncie, brought invitations for the next convention from Muncie and Delaware County W. C. T. U., from the Ministerial Association, and from his honor, the mayor of Muncie. The invitations were accepted with enthusiasm.

The General Officers of the state are members of the National convention by virtue of office.

College towns should be flooded with temperance literature and speeches. Excellent leaflets for distribution among students can be secured from our National Superintendent of Scientific Temperance Education, Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, 2913 Brown street, Milwaukee, Wis. Mrs. Martha M. Allen, 20 Cayuga street, Homer, New York, has many leaflets on alcohol in medicine that are interesting and instructive. The W. C. T. U. must distribute literature if it comes up to its opportunity. Two dollars buy many leaflets that if wisely handed out may bring fine results.

The bitterest tears shed over graves are for words left unsaid and deeds left undone. "She never knew how I loved her." "He never knew what he was to me." "I always meant to make more of our friendship." Such words are the poisoned arrows which cruel death shoots backward at us from the sepulcher.

FIELD NEWS

Tippecanoe County held its Annual County Convention and Normal Institute on September 18, at Columbia Park, Lafayette. There was a good attendance all day, and good reports were given by officers and superintendents present. The election resulted as follows: For President, Mrs. Isabelle Budge; Vice-President, Miss Eliza Baker; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. O. Meacham; Recording Secretary, Mrs. John H. Marquis; Treasurer, Mrs. Jennie Conn.

The Guilford W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. A. Leffingwell October 14th. After the regular business of the Union the election of officers followed. For President, Mrs. Jennie Ward; Vice-President, Miss Alta Hansell; Secretary, Mrs. Abbie Ewbank; Treasurer, Mrs. Eva Ward. One new paid member was gained at this meeting, with more to follow.

The Porter County Convention, W. C. T. U., was held in Hebron, Ind., September 23, 1908, with good attendance, and was full of interest throughout. The morning session was opened by County President Mrs. Clarke; devotional consisted of Scripture lesson and sentence prayers; encouraging remarks were made by local ministers, Bro. Paxton, of the M. E. church, and Bro. Brown, of the Christian church, closing with the benediction by Bro. Paxton, after which all adjourned to the church parlors where a sumptuous dinner was served. Afternoon session was called at 1:30. 23rd psalm was sung and 146th psalm read; vocal solo by a Hebron lady; address of welcome by Mrs. Buchanan, of Hebron; response by Mrs. Hall; reports on department work were given; committees appointed; followed by election of officers: President, Mrs. Hall, of Valparaiso; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Rice, of Hebron; Recording Secretary, Mrs. White, of Valparaiso; Treasurer, Mrs. Davis, of Hebron. All Department Superintendents were retained by acclamation. Several interesting papers were read, and calls were made for subscribers to Union Signal and Crusader Monthly. All seemed greatly encouraged with the year's work; several of the towns have put out the saloons, and more will be out as soon as their license expire, thereby helping to place Indiana in the prohibition list.

Mrs. White, Secretary.

The Floyd County Convention met in New Albany September 11th, in the W. C. T. U. hall, on West Market street, and was presided over by the County President, Mrs. Annie Jones, who gave a review of the organizing of the Temperance Unions in Floyd County. Reports from Galena Union showed that they were not idle. I want to say here that the Message made a mistake in the last number in saying the Salem Union gave an ice cream supper for the Hadley Home. Its hard to work up a supper and then some one else get the credit. Galena Union gave the supper and sent the Hadley Home the profits, which were $10. Report from New Albany Union showed that a great deal of work was being done in jail and mission work, also open air meetings, led by Mrs. Reinberger. All the superintendents brought up good reports and were re-elected. Also, all the old officers were re-elected: County President, Mrs. A. Jones; Recording Secretary, P. K. Pritchett; Treasurer, Mrs. Woelfling; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Emma Engleman. In the afternoon six matrons recited; among the number was a gray-haired grandmother who wore a silver medal that she captured last spring. Also had a Silver Medal Contest at night. The ladies of the New Albany Union served a bountiful dinner and supper, which was enjoyed by all. May God's blessing rest on all we do.

The Dearborn County W. C. T. U. met in Convention at Wrights Corner September 25th, in the M. E. church, presided over by the County President, Mrs. A. E. Rynerson. Delegates from Bright, Guilford, Lawrenceburg and Moores Hill were in attendance, and reported good work done in the county. The County L. T. L. Secretary, Mrs. Jennie Ward, reported 123 L. T. L. members, and enough dues paid to entitle them to a delegate in the State W. C. T. U. Convention at Bedford. Rev. A. Leffingwell, M. P. pastor of Guilford, and his wife were present. Bro. Leffingwell gave a splendid address at 3 o'clock, and his wife became a white ribboner at the close of the convention. They are staunch prohibitionists and will be a great help to the W. C. T. U. The following are the officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Maggie Gibson, Lawrenceburg, R. R. 1.; Vice-President, Mrs. A. E. Rynerson, Moores Hill; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Jennie Ward, Guilford, R. R. 1.; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Vella Ake, Moores Hill; Treasurer, Mrs. Della Williams, Moores Hill, R. R. 1.

An Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Oratorical Contest is held in Indiana annually, with a prize of $50. Representatives from Indiana colleges being selected at local contests. The following item is from the De Pauw Daily, Greencastle, Ind.: "J. Raymond Schmidt, president of the Prohibition Association, was at Indianapolis recently calling on a number of prominent men in regard to a prize for the coming temperance oratorical contest. Hon. W. J. Beckett, of Indianapolis, an alumnus of DePauw, consented to give a cash prize of $25.00 to the winner of the local prohibition contest. These contests have already been of much general interest, and the Beckett prize is expected to make the competition keener and larger. The contest will occur about the third week in January, and any underclassman is eligible. The field of subjects is large, any theme is permissible provided it treats of some phase of the liquor problem. Already a number of young men have expressed their intentions of entering this contest, and this year's oratorical is expected to be the best ever held."

The Roll Purity Union met at the Roll M. E. church and elected officers as follows: President, Mrs. Elizabeth Likely; Vice-President, Mrs. Sarah Harrold; Recording Secretary, Miss Mabel Ely; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lena Palmer; Treasurer, Mrs. Mary Dunlap. Superintendents: Mrs. Mollie Alexander, Sabbath Observance; Press, Miss Jessie Smith; Contest, Miss Clara Byall; Flower Mission, Mrs. Sarah Adams; Evangelistic, Mrs. Mary Dunlap; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Sarah Harrold; Mercy, Mrs. R. Little. After adjournment Mrs. Harrold served fruit.

Miss Jessie Smith, Press Reporter.

The Franklin County Woman's Christian Temperance Union Annual Convention was held in Brookville M. E. church September 15. The President, Mrs. Margaret M. Smith was in charge. Mrs. Kroft delivered a very interesting address, showing the relation between the missionary societies and the W. C. T. U., and how beautifully their work blended together. Her address was greatly enjoyed by all. The women of the Woman's Home Missionary Society were present. The reports of Treasurer and Secretary showed good work done during the year, fourteen new members and two honoraries. The Literature Superintendent has scattered literature over the county. Officers elected: President, Mrs. Margaret M. Smith; Vice-President, Phoebe Bracher; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Vawter; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lou B. Moore; Treasurer, Mrs. Florence Miller.

The Earl Park W. C. T. U. was organized June 5, 1908, with twenty-seven members. So rapid has been its growth that there are now sixty-one regular members and eight honorary members. It was decided to entertain the new members, husbands and children of the members at a supper September 11, 1908. The use of the opera hall for the evening and also for all the regular meetings was kindly donated by Mr. G. F. Lockwood, one of the honorary members. Under the skillful hands of the decorating committee, the hall blossomed into a bower of beauty, with graceful festoons of the national colors, and with palms and ferns. The letters "W. C. T. U." appeared over the stage and on all the tables. About 140 persons sat down to a good supper consisting of chicken, beef loaf, rolls, jelly, salad, pickles, cake, brick ice cream and coffee. After doing full justice to the supper, a short musical program was rendered by the W. C. T. U. quartet and several other musicians. At a late hour the happy crowd dispersed, congratulating the President and her efficient committees on the complete success of the initial "husbands' night," which will be an annual affair. At the regular meeting for the election of officers, the officers of the first organization were re-elected as follows: President, Mrs. Minnie Barr; Vice-President, Mrs. Mae Yeager; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mae Cooper; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Erma McMahan; Treasurer, Mrs. Maude Seward; Mrs. Nina Lowe was elected delegate to the State Convention at Bedford. The Earl Park Union is very much in earnest in its work and hopes to see several practical results of its efforts in the near future. The work of the departments is taken up and put each in the hands of an energetic superintendent.

Mrs. Emma McMahan, County Press Supt.

Wells County W. C. T. U. met in Annual Convention at Tocsin September 16th. The delegates were met at Kingland with rigs, driven by the L. T. L. boys and girls of that Union, and at the church welcomed by the loyal white ribboners of Tocsin. The convention was called to order by the County President. The morning session was taken up by the business of the convention, which was very gratifying and full of interest, not only because of the meeting and greeting of our sisters again, but because of the good work and reports of gain in the county during the past year. After a real spiritual noontide prayer service, conducted by Mrs. Dr. Goodwin, dinner was served by the ladies of Tocsin. Immediately after the devotionals, by motion, the election of officers took place. This being done that we might accommodate the daily papers at Bluffton, who were anxious for at least a part of our report that day. Memorial services were held; Mrs. Lizzie Johnson paid tribute to the memory of Mrs. Wasson, Tocsin Union, and Mrs. Molly McBride spoke with feeling of Mrs. Thomas, Bluffton Union. With Miss Garnet Kleinknight presiding at the organ and the sweet singing by Mr. and Miss Archbald throughout the day and evening, as well as others, the time was enjoyed by everybody present. Other business then closed the afternoon's work. The following officers were elected: Mrs. A. E. Willis, President; Mrs. Chas. Hacker, Vice-President; Mrs. Elizabeth Ellingham, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. D. T. Smith, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Nolting, Treasurer. In the evening the L. T. L.'s had charge of the opening services, which was a credit, indeed, to the Union at Tocsin and the Superintendent of this department. Rev. Muikin, Rev. Ely and Rev. Martin gave splendid addresses. The convention was in every way a grand success, and much credit is due to the untiring and loving efforts of our dear County

President. Superintendents of Departments thought much work had been done that was not reported, and urged another year that better reporting might be done. We are looking forward to a splendid year's work. After singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," Rev. Martin dismissed with benediction.

Mrs. Chas. Hacker, Press Reporter.

Indianapolis—Frances Willard Union was entertained October 13th by Mrs. Victor, 1502 Missouri street. Interesting reports were read by four delegates that were freshly returned from Bedford. Mrs. Stahl, from Hartford City, was present and gave a talk that emphasized her determination to fight king alcohol to the bitter end. She warned mothers to more carefully watch over children when they are old enough to go out into the world; especially the boy, for it is impossible for him always to remain under home guard. She told about visiting five beardless youths in jail. She said to them: "Sometimes drink brings people here." "That is what brought us all here," answered one of them. She told about a man that reached the penitentiary through a "teaspoonful of brandy." His father used to take him on his knee and feed him the dregs of brandy and sugar from the bottom of his glass. Mrs. Stahl also cautioned against feeding infants on whisky. One mother arose to remark that she had seven sons and had never used whisky during their infancy. Mrs. Stahl also spoke of their early struggle in her city, when a crusade of forty women were defeated in their efforts to prevent a license being secured. However, since then four saloons there and in that vicinity have been driven out. Mrs. Bond, from Muncie, also spoke encouraging, helpful words. The hostess served her company with cream, cake and grapes.

The Willis Union of Mt. Zion, Ind., at its regular meeting, October 21, 1908, listened very attentively for almost one hour to "Echoes from the State Convention at Bedford," by Mrs. M. E. Miller, delegate. During the winter months we will meet with our co-workers at their homes instead of at the church, thinking the change beneficial all around. Refreshments will be served at these meetings and possibly we can come within better touch, one with another, by the home meetings, hence hoping to take on renewed activity. A Silver Medal Contest, under the auspices of the new Medal Contest Superintendent, Mrs. M. E. Miller, is scheduled for Friday evening, October 30, 1908. The Superintendent remarked she felt she must have one contest before election, it might have some bearing.

Mrs. M. E. Miller,
Cor. Secy. and Press Supt.

Denver as a convention city has many attractions.

When one reaches a mile high altitude, they can afford to forget the small things that easily irritate, and become more deeply interested in the things that make for peace and righteousness, and better moral and material conditions.

Our people have not all attained to that happy state, but we are making progress, and we trust that the convention and the influences it will set in motion, will be helpful to us as a city.

Denver is well named the "Queen City of the Plains." This is the mecca to which all the inhabitants of the state expect sometime to make a pilgrimage.

Into her lap are poured the silver and gold, and other precious metals in which Colorado abounds.

Denver is a city of brick, with large and substantial business houses, and many attractive homes whose beauty is enhanced by large and well-kept lawns.

One of the first buildings that will interest you will be the new auditorium in which the convention will meet—its seating capacity will be from ten to twelve thousand, and its acoustic properties are excellent. The tramway cars will land you very near the entrance.

There are over 100 passenger cars leaving and arriving every 24 hours. So if you get started you will be sure of reaching here some time.

Our graded schools, of which there are sixty, are well conducted and have an able body of teachers. We have an excellent manual training school; the Denver and Westminster Universities are located here, and we are within a half-hour's ride of the School of Mines, located in Golden.

Denver has fourteen parks, some of them in the making process, and a fine system of boulevards. City park has an electric fountain and many attractions.

A United States mint is located here which you will be interested in visiting.

There are 2,000 automobiles in the city. Some of them will be at your service.

We have 192 churches, and on Convention Sunday we expect that the women from different sections of the country will occupy the majority of them.

Our newspapers, magazines, press and writers clubs, have shared in awakening a new public spirit.

Lizzie M. Mason,
Press Superintendent Colorado W. C. T. U.

IN MEMORIAM.

THE MESSAGE.

VOL. XIV. No. 1.

ANDERSON, IND., DECEMBER, 1908.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

NATIONAL CONVENTION NOTES.

(By Mrs. Frances Boyer, a Delegate.)

At roll call every State and Territory responded, except Alaska. All National officers were present except Mrs. Hattie Brand, who now answers to the roll call above. Tender, loving words were spoken of her by President Stevens.

Thirty States reported a net gain of one hundred or more members. Fifteen States made a gain of five hundred members.

Pennsylvania made a net gain of 2,864. There were a-field in Pennsylvania 147 National Lecturers, Organizers and other speakers. The tSate has ten State Organizers.

The National total net membership gain was 20,455.

In Ohio there is one county where every fifth woman is a paid member of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Susanna M. D. Fry, who has served as National Corresponding Secretary for ten years, refused re-election, and Mrs. Frances P. Parks, former President of West Virginia, was elected as her successor. The convention presented Mrs. Fry with a diamond ring, and the Board of Organizers gave her a handsome clock.

Mrs. E. P. Hutchinson, President of Kansas, was elected National Treasurer.

Judge Ben Lindsay, of Juvenile Court fame, was on the program. He is deservedly popular in his home city. He said there were 1,000,000 boys and girls every year in the Juvenile Court.

Mrs. A. A. Hawley, author of "The Crusade Glory Song," made a beautiful "welcome" address to the convention.

Indiana has 663 Union Signal subscribers, while New York has 2,323. Many States and many individuals pledged money to the Crusader Monthly and the Union Signal. Indiana pledged $20.00 to the Union Signal, and $10.00 to the Crusader Monthly.

Ohio Unions spent $6,000 for literature.

Mrs. Jennie M. Kemp, circulation manager of the Union Signal, was assisted in the Union Signal booth during the convention by three young ladies. One of them was Miss Bessie Eckman, of Indiana. After December 1st, last year, Miss Eckman sent 97 subscriptions to the Union Signal. She is Marion County's agent, and Marion County doubled its subscription this year to the Union Signal.

The Sunday School department has given out 1,350,000 temperance leaflets.

The Department of Scientific Temperance Instruction has accomplished much this year. Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, National Superintendent, has responded to many calls for lecture and institute work. She gave three lectures to 2,500 teachers.

Mrs. Kathryn Lute Stevenson, President of Massachusetts, and Miss Ruth Davis, of Wisconsin, will soon sail for the Orient, under commission from the World's W. C. T. U. Mrs. Stevenson to advance our work in educational institutions in the countries of the world; Miss Davis goes to Japan.

If all Christians in this country tithed their income, there would be $2,000,000 for the Lord's treasury.

Illinois pledged 1,000 subscriptions to the Crusader Monthly.

One thousand boys and girls marched through the streets of Denver on Saturday night to the convention hall. There were great crowds on the streets; for a time street car traffic was stopped. Some people were moved to tears as they watched the children and read the banners and heard their yells. Above the roar of the street and the music of the bands could be heard the eager young voices shouting as they passed the saloons, "When We Vote Saloons Will Go!" The marching of these children into the convention hall and the Loyal Temperance Legion exercises, which followed, were of intensest interest. In closing the Legioners gave their national salute: "My head, my heart and this right hand, for God and Home and Native Land." Motto: "Tremble, King Alcohol, We Shall Grow Up!" Together all repeated: "A flag over every school house, but (with a stamp of the foot) no flag over any saloon." Marching off the platform they sang, "Saloons Must Go."

At intervals of recess the delegations sang state songs; sometimes all sang a chorus, "The Nation's Going Dry," to the tune of "Bringing in the Sheaves."

On Sunday our White Ribboners occupied the pulpits of the city. One hundred and sixty-five active W. C. T. U. members were secured that day in the churches.

Miss Anna A. Gordon, National Vice-President-at-Large and World's Secretary of the Loyal Temperance eLgion, is a versatile, persistent and indefatigable worker and a lover of children. She is the best loved woman by the children in the world today. She writes the temperance songs for the English-speaking children of the world.

Hon. Seaborn Wright, of Georgia, made an able address to an immense audience in the evening. He has for years been a strong prohibition worker in his state; a brilliant man, and a Democrat in politics. Prohibition in Georgia was won through the splendid efforts of Mr. Wright and Mrs. Amour, President of the W. C. T. U.

President Stevens is a queenly woman, presiding with dignity and ability; loved and tenderly regarded by thousands of admiring women, who recognize in her unusual strength of character, fidelity of purpose, and unselfish devotion to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

INDIANA SHIBOLETH AND YELL.

State-Wide Prohibition!
The Young People A-Field!
10,000 Women 1909!

Who are, who are, who are we?
Hoosiers, Hoosiers, don't you see!
License High! License Low!
Local Option! No! No!! No!!
Prohibition 1909! That's us, Indiana!

SOMETHING FOR THE LOCALS.

Let eight girls, dressed in white, represent the eight prohibition states. Let girls represent all local option states, and wear gray circular capes over white dresses, the length of the cape being in proportion to the amount of local option territory. States without local option or prohibition are to be represented by girls wearing long black capes over white dresses. Each girl wears a crown bearing the name of the state represented. The states in black enter first, advance to the front of the platform and sing, "Where There's Drink, There's Danger," then fall back and the local option states take their places and sing, "There's a Shadow on the Home." Enter the eight prohibition states who come to the center of the stage carrying a large flag, and singing, "We're Coming to the Rescue." The gray and black states circle around the prohibition states, and during the song drop their capes, first the local option states in the order of their prohibition territory, then the black states, until all appear in white. The boys of the L. T. L. then march in singing, "The Coming Voters," and together give the National Junior motto, "Tremble, King Alcohol! We Shall Grow Up." As they join the circle all unfurl small flags, which they have kept concealed, and boys and girls together sing, "We're Out for Prohibition."—White Ribbon Ensign.

HOW TO MAKE A GOOD LOCAL PRESIDENT.

My text is Joshua 3:7, "And the Lord said unto Joshua, this day will I begin to magnify thee in the sight of all Isreal, and they shall know that as I was with Moses, so will I be with thee."

When we study God's business methods, how simple, direct and complete we find them. Isreal's great leader was gone. God picked out the best man in the congregation to succeed him, and then wisely proceeded to magnify Joshua in the minds of the people to inspire them with confidence in him, and the battle was half won.

God might have said, "Joshua is a good man, but he is not the statesman Moses was. He means well, but he can't preside over the congregation like his predecessor. He loves me and wants to learn, but he never saw the burning bush. He is loyal to you, but he hasn't the prestige among the nations which Moses held."

You can easily see that Joshua's usefulness would have been zero with all these "buts." No one knew better than God Himself that the mold was broken in which Moses was cast. That as a leader, statesman, law-giver, his equal has not lived, but the work of the world must not stand still, and He "magnified Joshua."

Though Joshua did not give the law, he still had gifts. He had discernment to know the weakness of Canaan as well as its strength. He had decision of character to stand for his conviction against the overwhelming testimony of the ten spies. He had continuity of purpose to remain faithful for thirty-eight years in the wilderness, and the Lord magnified his virtues, knowing well that the miserable Israelites could be trusted to keep him more than sufficiently humble by magnifying his flaws.

Here is a lesson for the Local Union. According to their best judgment the majority voted for the best woman. Imitate God—Magnify her before all the people.

She is not a Miss Willard. She may have limitations, but she is in the place; both she and the Union love the work, want it to prosper, sacrifice for it, and rejoice in its prosperity. Shall any one hinder by belittling the leader? Magnify her in the eyes of the Union and in the community.

Will you say instead, "We didn't do so back home!" "In York State we had a houseful every Meeting!" "Why can't she make things go like Mrs. Blank did ten years ago?" "We use to work it this way!"

To all such grumblers let us say, "Do it now." "If you are not like the Irishman's potato, show us how efficient you are by doing something now."

Take up the good qualities of your leader, and lend a hand at the right time and in the right place, and she will grow to astonish you.

We have invested our time, our money, our interest, prayers, and oft our tears in the W. C. T. U. Let us say to the woman who directs: "We do not pay you any salary but love, loyalty and service, but draw on me for these whenever the cause need me."

If there be a criticism needed go lovingly to her and with your record for magnifying virtue, will she not hear?

Imitate God. Magnify your leader in the eyes of all the people.—Mary L. Page, in "The Union Worker."

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Our Indiana party joined the National train at Chicago, and started West at mid-night, October 20th. The White Ribbon special bore more than one hundred and fifty White Ribboners, and a happy and congenial company they formed. Little groups, with representatives from Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Massachusetts, West Virginia, etc., formed and discussed plans of work, hopes, discouragements and successes. State lines were forgotten except as we glanced at the little badge bearing name of state worn by each woman. We remembered that we were sisters, banded in a holy warfare for the protection of children against the twin evils intemperance and impurity. Such feeling of kenship is formed by no other tie in the great universe.

We were met at the station in Denver by a brass band composed of boys, and another composed of girls. The arrangements were so perfect that places of entertainment were found without the usual difficulties so disagreeable to hostess and visitor alike.

Indiana was most fortunate in her seating, being only a few seats from the platform, and directly in front of it. While other delegates were straining every nerve to hear, we sat quietly and heard with little or no effort. The auditorium is a choice place for such a gathering, and the audiences at nights filled it. The editorial banquet was a sumptuous affair, held in the Brown Palace, the most elegant hotel in Denver. Our thoughtful editor of The Message had planned for your President to be there and occupy her chair at the table, in her absence. (A kindness much appreciated.) The palm room of the hotel was a bower of beauty, with its festoons of smilax, its palms and carnations. The toasts were given by editors from different states of the Union, and were full of both wit and wisdom.

Every meeting of the convention was full of enthusiasm and encouragement for the future. Indiana's delegation was made up of representative women and one man, Mr. Jay, of Grant County, all energetic workers in Local and County Unions. Indiana was on the program on Jubilee night, and gave a very fine demonstration. Each delegate was presented to the audience by the President, who told, in one sentence, the most important work of the Union or County from which she came.

I trust every woman will read the report of the convention given in The Union Signal.

EATON W. C. T. U. GROWING.

Organization Means to Report Big Membership at Muncie Convention.

Mrs. Lou O. Fisher, of Eaton, has returned from the State Convention of the W. C. T. U., at Bedford, last Wednesday, and on Sunday a mass meeting was held at the Eaton M. E. church, at which she gave a report of the convention. She succeeded in carrying her audience with her until the great State session seemed to be a reality to them. At the close she made a stirring appeal for new members, and thirty responded. The war-cry for the Eaton Union this year is one hundred active and fifty associate members. The Eaton Union has set its mark to come to the great State Convention at Muncie next October one hundred strong. Good!—From local press.

Every officer should have the Indiana Annual Report to use daily for reference and information. No well-informed State, County or Local officer can do without it. Price 15 cents single copy. Send to Miss Clara Sears, Anderson, Ind.

Local President, please see that Press Superintendents are appointed for service in your Union. A Press Superintendent should read other reports of Unions and try to write as well or better than other Superintendents. Send postal card reports and items to The Message editor.

Petitions for state-wide prohibition have been sent out, with an earnest letter to every Union, by our State President, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger. Every individual women who can secure one or two names to a petition should do so at the earliest convenience. During this pleasant weather is the time to work. What have you done? What will you do?

All Christmas Shopping should be done early. Woman's inhumanity and selfishness is demonstrated during holiday shopping as at no other time of the year. Sensitive women who refuse to wear natural bird wings and breasts on their hats because of their sympathy for the feathered tribe, will be in the crowd of shoppers that make it necessary for over-worked women clerks to stand behind the counters in our large city stores from eight o'clock in the morning until ten o'clock at night for three weeks before Christmas, having only short respite for lunches. It is time for Christians to lend their influence for a saner, holier Christmas. Women spend money recklessly for needless, useless things, and "work so hard getting ready for Christmas." Christian women have a higher, holier duty toward their homes and loved ones than to thus spend their time and substance. The influence of the life and teachings of Jesus Christ has emancipated women from the darkness of superstition and heathenism. Only where the light of the Gospel of Christ has shown is woman more than a chattel or a slave. In celebration of this Christ day, this joyous day, every mother and home-keeper, with the blessed heritage of life in a Christian land, should emphasize the significance of the day—teach the little people and the young people the real reason for gladness and joy. In order to do this well, time for meditation and thought is needed. The wife who spends money extravagantly for Christmas and causes the husband anxiety and perhaps financial stinting for weeks or months afterward, is unwise and untrue to her trust.

State-Wide Prohibition—In order to secure for Indiana state-wide prohibition by constitutional amendment, a resolution to that effect must pass in the Legislature, be submitted to a vote of the people of the State, and then confirmed by the next legislature. Prohibition in the constitution is what we want, and what all really sincere temperance people are demanding. In order to secure it we must begin; for at least it will take more than two years to secure it. If it passes the legislature this winter, then it will be voted upon, no doubt with success, and come before the next legislature. The Indiana W. C. T. U. decided to work for such a change in constitution. When successful the manufacture and sale of liquors will be prohibited within the borders of our state. This course is worth working for, and constitutional prohibition is the only final practicable way to settle the temperance question right. We have no doubt that three-fourths of the women and voters of Indiana today favor this method, and will sign a petition when opportunity is offered.

Collection envelopes, such as used by the churches, are inexpensive, and would increase the receipts of the Local Unions if used at all public meetings.

For Universal Temperance Sunday Marion County W. C. T. U. asked the ministers of the county to preach temperance sermons and to give a collection to the W. C. T. U. for state-wide prohibition.

For use in the churches the W. C. T. U. collection envelopes were used in the pews. The envelopes printed cost 85 cents per thousand. To all W. C. T. U. people it means much to know who are our friends. By means of these envelopes we get the names and addresses of those who give and those who make a pledge. Ever so small an amount is to be appreciated.

Every Union should have three or five thousand envelopes on hand for use in all public meetings.

FOR INDIANA.

Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, State President, and Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, State Vice-President-at-Large, should be kept in the field from now until May 1st.

If our Unions will plan for doubling their membership, now is the time to begin. In order to interest the people public meetings must be held.

In every public meeting membership cards or envelopes should be given by young ladies, at the door, to those who enter; at the close of the program a plea should be made for members, active and honorary.

We must agitate the subject of submitting to a vote of the people a resolution for constitutional prohibition.

Public Meetings! One a month wherever possible during the winter months. Secure an able speaker for Sunday service; announce and announce and invite until there will be a full house.

Never fail to have collection envelopes for use. In this way our friends will have opportunity to make a cash contribution or a pledge for our work.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Dear Sisters:

I have just sent out letters to Local Presidents, and 5,600 petitions for women and children asking for state-wide prohibition. I hope this may have your early attention.

I have had prepared "Indiana's Crusade Pledge," and am preparing to send them out to Local Presidents, enough to give one to each member. Watch the mail for them, and begin work at once, that we may make a gain of 750 this first quarter.

I want to ask each woman sending in a list of subscribers to The Crusader Monthly, to send it through Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo, Ind. The one sending in 350 subscriptions in the year receives a beautiful little gold watch. No one woman will send in that many unless we send through her, and as a token of our appreciation of the work of Mrs. Mix in the L. T. L., I ask this favor of you. Please grant it.

I hope the State Superintendents will have their plans of work, including the conditions for winning the pennants, ready for the printer early, that they may be placed in the hands of the Local Superintendents.

Will you not, my dear sisters, read over my address and try the suggestion offered concerning Local and County Superintendents and see if it will not bring better reports?

Which Union will be the first to adopt the Mission Station plan as proposed in the address? We will print them in The Message in the order in which they come to me. Who will be first to undertake to organize a Union in missionary territory? Speak out by card or letter.

Lets get to work early. Yours for service,
CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

IN OLD KENTUCKY.

Behold Kentucky, the traditional cradle of all good whisky! In less than two years the liquor traffic has been practically obliterated, and yet this state has $160,000,000 invested in distilleries. Only four counties are wholly wet at this writing, and the Jailers' State Association has petitioned the Legislature for regular salaries, because under prohibition conditions, the empty jails do not bring them fees enough to live on.—Carrington A. Phelps, in Broadway Magazine.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION.

Dear Superintendents and Presidents County and Local Unions—Nothing would please me more than to know that every County and Local Union in the State will this year have a Superintendent of this department. I will send out samples and plans as soon as I get the Superintendents' names.

Last year, in the United States, there were written by school children 800,000 essays on the subjects suggested by this department. Our state did not do her share of this work. Shall we not try harder this year? The subjects and conditions have been changed somewhat for this year, and are as follows:

Rules Governing Contests:

The College—This contest will be open to students in the four college classes. The essays shall be judged wholly on their subject matter; that is, clearness of thought, accuracy of statement, and originality of presentation of subject.

Subject—"The Relation of Individual Total Abstinence to the Prosperity of the Nation." National prize, $100; maximum words, 3,000; minimum, 2,000.

High School—This contest shall be open to all students in the high school. The essays shall be judged three-fourths on subject matter, and one-fourth on style and grammatical excellence. The maximum number of words shall be fifteen hundred; minimum, one thousand. Subject: "The Value of Total Abstinence to a Life." National prize, $50.

For Grades—This contest shall be open to all pupils in the grade schools. The essays shall be judged one-half on subject matter, one-fourth on style and grammatical excellence, and one-fourth on appearance of paper, which shall include penmanship and spelling. The maximum number of words shall be one thousand, and the minimum five hundred. Long quotations must be avoided and simplicity of statement and originality of thought emphasized. Subject: "What is the Harm in a Glass of Wine, Beer or Cider?" National prize $35.

Each Local, County and State shall fix its own prize. If the Local cannot offer a prize, the prize essay may be entered for the County or even the State prize. The National prize goes to the department of Scientific Temperance of the State winning it.

There has been no prize fixed for our State as yet. If there is to be one, it will be announced later. The prize County essay should be in the hands of the State Superintendent by June 15th.

Now a word for The Crusader Monthly. Last year our number of subscribers was to have been 1,000. Only 288 were reported to your State Superintendent, and about half of them too late to get into the printed report. I know we will set our standard high and counteract our shortage of last year.

Yours for service,

MRS. ETHEL E. BAIR,
State Superintendent, North Liberty.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Dear Superintendents:

To us is given the task of arousing an interest in the department of Sabbath Observance in all of the Unions in the State.

Let each County Superintendent equip herself with information and literature pertaining to this important work; visit each Local Union in her County and present the great need of a better observance of the Sabbath, and urge more hearty co-operation of the members in this special line of work. Have an earnest, faithful, energetic woman for each Local Union, who will use all of her influence to arouse public sentiment in favor of Sabbath Observance in her community, and who will devise ways and means to agitate and educate along the lines of this department.

Every woman in the State who loves our Sabbath can have a share in preserving it. Now is the time to sow the seed of Sabbath literature. Ten cents will buy two hundred pages; surely you could not have a better investment. If you wish to plan a public meeting, send for our Sabbath songs in leaflet form, Responsive Readings and pledge cards, all at ten cents per hundred.

We will furnish you, for the asking, with a copy of our State Sabbath law, Responsive Reading, catalogue of literature, pledge cards and samples of leaflets.

Some times Superintendents write that results are discouraging and the Sabbath is desecrated as before.

Dear Sisters, your progress may be slow and results seemly meager, but we must not grow faint-hearted. Let us remember how the little brook persistently winds its way toward the river, and the river to the ocean, both, in time, reaching their final destination. We are bound to win if we keep persistently at it, for we have God's promise that we shall reap if we faint not.

THE MESSAGE

Yours for great victories in 1908 and 1909,
KATHRYN WERT HOLLER.
South Bend.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS.

You all well remember the efforts that were put forth by our State organization in securing the Pure Food Law, and the wonderfully good results we have reaped from the enactment of this law.

Now the State Board of Health has asked our assistance in securing other laws equally as important.

First, the one known as the Housing Bill. It asks that the State Board of Health be empowered to decide on the sanitary conditions of buildings.

Second, that all persons appointed in sanitary work pass an examination for fitness. This applies to either sex.

Third, as the law now stands, four years is the limit for an appointment, but often changes are made every year.

The Board desires that the Legislature make it imperative for each appointment to continue the entire time, according to the law.

While we are all grateful and proud that Prof. C. H. Wiley, United States Chemist, has publicly stated that the W. C. T. U. was standing back of him in his fight for the National Pure Food law, he would probably have given up before success crowned his efforts. May we not again prove ourselves as useful and loyal for the public welfare by urging our respective representatives to cooperate with the State Board of Health during the coming Legislature.

MRS. MARY A. MOODY,
219 E. Tenth St., Indianapolis. State Supt.

"10,000 MEMBERS IN 1909."

Order your State Minutes of Miss Clara Sears, Anderson, instead of Miss Woodard, as was stated in last Message. Price, fifteen cents per copy if carriage is prepaid, or ten cents per copy where several copies are ordered together and expressage not prepaid.

Six new Unions have been organized since State Convention. A colored Union in Bedford, organized by members of Bedford Union and Mrs. McCurdy, our new colored Organizer; New Haven, in Allen County, organized by Mrs. Stanley, and four new Unions in Pulaski County, organized by Mrs. Potter and Mrs. Stahl. This is a fine beginning for the fifty new Unions that we must have by Sept. 15, 1909. If every County President will organize one in her County, we will soon have the fifty. Remember our rally cry: "10,000 Members in 1909."

Fountain City Union gave a reception in honor of the teachers of New Garden Township, on Friday evening, November 13th. The husbands of the members and a few other guests were invited. The reception was given in their hall, which was prettily decorated with our national colors and growing plants. Some amusing games occupied the early part of the evening, then Mrs. Ella Hartley read an interesting paper on "The Beginnings of Scientific Temperance Instruction;" Miss Mary Woodard talked on "The Present Status of Scientific Temperance Instruction," and Prof. O. L. Voris, Superintendent of our schools, gave some of his observations with reference to the "Effects of Tobacco on the Growing Boy." The attention of the teachers was called to the "Helps for S. T. I." given each month in The Crusader Monthly, and a copy of the monthly, with the S. T. I., tied with a white ribbon, was presented to each teacher. Coffee and two kinds of cake formed the refreshments. All present voted the occasion a very enjoyable one.

BEER.

Whisky makes men crazy, cider makes them ugly, but beer seems to make men stolid and callous and cold-blooded. The haunts of anarchists are lager beer saloons, and the leaders in anarchy are beer sellers and beer drinkers. A whisky drinker will commit murder only under the direct excitement of liquor; a beer drinker is capable of doing it in cold blood. Long observation has assured us that a large proportion of murders, deliberately planned and executed without passion or malice, with no other motive than the acquisition of property or money, often of trifling value, are perpetrated by beer drinkers.

We believe further that the hereditary evils of beer drinking exceed those proceeding from ardent spirits; first, because the habit is constant and without paroxysmal interruptions, which admit of some recuperation; secondly, because beer drinking is practiced by both sexes more generally than the spirit drinking; and thirdly, because the animalizing tendency of the habit is more uniformly developed, thus authorizing the presumption that the vicious results are more generally transmitted. —The Pacific Medical Journal.

INITIATION SERVICE.

President reads the pledge.

I hereby solemnly promise, God helping me, to abstain from all distilled, fermented and malt liquors, wine, beer and cider included, and to employ all proper means to discourage the use of and traffic in the same.

Do you each and all subscribe to this pledge?

Initiates—We do.

Second obligation:

President—believing the triumph of our principles would promote the purity and peace of our homes and hasten the coming of Christ's kingdom, we hold our obligations to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union as solemnly binding upon us, and promise to faithfully sustain the work and pray for its success.

Dou you promise?

Initiates—We do.

President—By the payment of one dollar dues to our treasury, I do declare you each a member of — W. C. T. U.

On behalf of our Union I am pleased to welcome you into our ranks and congratulate you upon this privilege with all of its pleasures and duties.

You have identified yourselves with the largest organized body of women in the world and have thus multiplied your influence and effect in temperance work a thousand fold.

In our forty-one departments you will find opportunity for work in every branch of Christian service.

Our protest against the legalized rum traffic is typified in this white ribbon which I now fasten above your heart, beseeching you to wear it faithfully as a symbol to your loyalty to humanity and God.

And now, in the name of the Master, whom we serve let us all, old members and new, be diligent in our efforts for the protection of the home, the abolition of the liquor traffic and the triumph of Christ's Golden Rule in custom and in law.

Because He died to save me from all sin,
Because he waits until souls are gathered in,
This pledge I take for Jesus' sake.
Because men love to wander far away,
Because his darkness chooses night to day,
This pledge I take for my brother's sake.
Because all flesh is weak, temptation strong,
Because all right should be against all wrong,
This pledge I take for my own sake.

—Mrs. Ella Murphey.

FIELD NEWS

Guilford—The W. C. T. U. held a pleasant and profitable meeting at the home of Mrs. Chas. I. Darling, Nov. 11th. The following Superintendents were appointed: Mrs. Alta Hansell, Medical Temperance; Mrs. Sarah Leffingwell, Franchise; Mrs. Eva Ward, Sunday School; Mrs. Jennie Ward, Mercy and Help; Mrs. Louisa E. Darling, Press. The membership of the society is small, and is making special effort to secure an increase. The present members are loyal and true White Ribboners. Mrs. Jennie Ward, the President, has suffered the loss of her mother, who died very suddenly in Indianapolis Oct. 30th.

Blackford County—Mrs. S. M. Stahl, W. C. T. U. President of Blackford County, also of the Hartford City Local Union, was pleasantly surprised the evening she returned from the National Convention, by a number of her friends, who called upon her, bringing fruits and candies to add to the evening's entertainment. The Presbyterian orchestra furnished splendid music for the occasion. While our President, Mrs. Stahl, was away, we wanted to be busy and very good, so about 200 women of the county went to Bluffton in special cars to ask for votes for a temperance man, as we believed, for Prosecuting Attorney. Speeches were made and songs sung. The ladies wore badges and marched to the city hall. The local papers said many mean things about us, but God sees the heart, and He knows we meant well. For one afternoon and evening we had Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley with us. She spoke to the schools and gave a splendid address in the evening. Then, too, we moved from the basement of the city library to an upper and much nicer room, being well lighted and heated and looking very home-like.

Mooreville Union held a mass meeting at the M. E. church on Sunday evening Nov. 1. Echoes of the Bedford Convention were heard; excellent papers were read by Mrs. Viola Harvey, our State Superintendent of Flower Mission Work; Mrs. I. N. Thompson, our County Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings. Different ministers assisted in the services; friends of the cause, who are not members of the Union, joined cordially in the exercises, and a general good time was the result. One of the leading features of the occasion was a recitation by little Miss Margaret Tut, who is said to be the youngest member of the W. C. T. U. in Indiana. Her talent in oratory is marvelous.

Sarah C. K. Marine.

Fairview Union—About 52 friends met at the home of Mrs. Emma Zimmerman, last Tuesday evening, Nov. 10th, and gave her a very pleasant surprise. Mrs. Zimmerman is to leave in a short time for Oklahoma, where she will make her future home. The W. C. T. U. ladies of Fairview presented her and her daughter Lillian with the W. C. T. U. pins. The President, Mrs. Eliza Bugh, presented the pins and gave a very encouraging talk. We regret to lose their help in our Union. An elegant buffet supper was served, and all left wishing her success.

Miss Mabel Beard, Press Reportre.

Ft. Wayne—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union secured through our Sunday School Association Board the privilege of bringing Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley before their Association, and she spoke to a very appreciative audience. On the following day she addressed the Union of our city. She also made an address before the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church, which was listened to with great interest, after which we secured nine new members for our Union. In the evening she, with quite a number from our Union in Ft. Wayne, went to New Haven, and there she addressed an audience in the Methodist church of that place, and was successful in organizing a Union there. The Ft. Wayne ladies are out for victory.

Mrs. Hunter, Press Reporter.

Floyd County—Reports show a growth in membership and an increased activity and interest along many lines. This Union is the happy possessor of several of the State pennants, and is striving to retain these and add others to their number at the next convention. A small County, small Union and small President, but look out for us just the same, for we're coming.

Mrs. Adda Lobach, Press Supt.

The Allen County convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held near Monroeville all day and evening. The election of officers resulted in the election of Mrs. C. S. Ridenour, of Ft. Wayne, to succeed Mrs. Emily McIntosh, of Hoagland, the greatly loved and efficient retiring President; Mrs. C. W. Bussard, of Ft. Wayne, Vice-President; Mrs. M. A. Smith, of Monroeville, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Vogle, of Monroeville, Recording Secretary, and Mrs. Emily McIntosh, Treasurer. A medal contest was held in the evening under the direction of Mrs. Barnhart. The medal was won by Miss Luella Youse, of Monroeville.

Montpelier—The water well recently drilled on the corner of Main and High streets, through the efforts of the W. C. T. U., was dedicated with appropriate and beautiful ceremonies. Large numbers of people from Montpelier and surrounding towns and country were in attendance. The services were held in the band stand, which had been erected on the court house square near the well, and profusely decorated with American flags and bunting. Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, of Upland, State President of the W. C. T. U., was the principal speaker in the afternoon. On the platform with her was Mrs. Weston, President of the Local Union; Mesdames Goodin, Black and Likely, Presidents of the Bluffton, Keystone and Roll Unions respectively, and the singers. Mrs. Vayhinger was introduced by Mrs. Weston. She spoke of the progress in temperance work during the past fifty years. Notwithstanding that it is difficult to speak in the open air, she held the close attention of her audience from start to finish, and was loudly applauded at intervals. At the close of her address the new well was presented to the city and received by Mr. A. P. Smith, representing the Town Council. Rev. G. H. Myers responded in behalf of Mr. Smith in a few fitting remarks. Rev. Kennaman, the U. B. minister, pronounced the benediction.

Montpelier—Mrs. Myrtle Shull is Superintendent of the Departments of Evangelistic and Sabbath Observance.

North Liberty Union held a reception for the teachers of the town and township, at the home of Prof. and Mrs. J. H. Bair, Friday evening, October 23rd. A program on Scientific Temperance was carried out, and two contests, one on temperance names and one on the names of flowers, concluded the program. Ministers of three denominations were present and added much to the pleasure and program for the evening. At the close of the program light refreshments were served by the ladies of the Union. The guests, on leaving, expressed themselves as having spent a profitable as well as pleasant evening.

Rockport W. C. T. U.—Dear Message: May we enter your circle? But I fear we have been so negligent in making our reports to you, you will scarcely care to recognize us. We live "in the pocket," thirty-three White Ribboners strong. For some years we were handicapped by our small numbers and the unpopularity of the work; but the temperance cause has grown to such magnitude we must add our note of rejoicing to the great chorus of victory heard on every side. Our best work will tell more in the future—the L. T. L. For three years we have had a strong band of intrepid little standard bearers, who have already made themselves felt in this community. We have made most of the departments of Flower Mission and Literature, both in the L. T. L. and W. C. T. U. Yesterday (the 10th inst.) we held our meeting two miles out in the country, with Mrs. James Haines. She is an enthusiastic member and sees to it that we have a good time when we meet with her. Mrs. Margaret Haines, having just returned from the National Convention at Denver, gave a rehearsal of the doings of this wonderful body, much to our encouragement and inspiration. Several copies of the State Convention Minutes were ordered. We have determined our better work, more systematic work. We are praying that very soon our county may be one of the many "dry" counties. Sincerely, Zona J. Hackleman, Press Supt.

Owen County—Superintendents appointed: Mrs. Jas. Layman, Spencer, Superintendent of Flower Mission Work; Mrs. Grimsley, Gosport, Superintendent of Sabbath Observance; Mrs. Minnie Eastes, Spencer, R.R., Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings and Pure Literature, and Mrs. Florence Lawson, Spencer, Superintendent of Medical Temperance.

South Bend—Pleasant View entertained about fifty ladies at a Mothers' Meeting and Thimble October 28th, at the home of Mrs. Ralph Smith. Two original papers were read, one by Mrs. M.

Miller on "Mothers' Influence," and one by Mrs. A. Otis on "Children's Amusements." Mrs. J. Dillon sang sweetly a lulu by; Mr. and Mrs. Dalrymple each gave readings; Miss Plant closed the program with an instrumental solo. Refreshments were served and a very pleasant time enjoyed by those present, while the Union has the promise of five new members at the next regular meeting.

Ida M. Smith, Press Supt.

The Owen County W. C. T. U. met in convention with the Carp Union at Wesley Chapel. A goodly number were present from the Spencer and Gosport Unions. Mrs. Mollie Jones was selected President; Mrs. Alma McClaren, Vice-President; Mrs. Nellie Wampler, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Florence Alverson, Treasurer, and Mrs. Nettie A. Stone, Corresponding Secretary. Those present brought their lunch, and a very pleasant and helpful hour was spent at noon. Papers on "Flower Mission Work," "Sabbath Observance," "Mothers' Meetings," "Pure Literature," and "Medical Temperance" were read and discussed. A recitation and some good music were also given.

Ray—The result of the membership contest in the L. T. L. was in favor of the Blue side. The reception was given by the Superintendent, Mrs. Ella McNaughton, and the members on the Red side, at Mrs. McNaughton's home, on Saturday, Nov. 7th, from 2 to 5 p. m. The red color scheme was very prominent; the decorations were white bunting and red butterflies. The little folks on the receiving side looked very pretty in their red neckties, and dainty butterflies. Master Vern Howard, captain on this side, was completely decked with the airy creatures, which were cut from red crepe paper. Mrs. McTaggart, President of the W. C. T. U., and Mesdames Howard and McNeil, teachers in the L. T. L., were guests of honor at the reception. Mrs. McNaughton is a charming hostess and entertained her guests in a happy manner until the hour arrived for the literary program, which was very fine, consisting of music, select readings, recitations and addresses of welcome by members of the Blue side. Vern Howard responded to the address of welcome which was given by Miss Mable Naiton, captain on the Blue side. We would like to make particular mention of every number on the program, but we will speak of all in terms of highest praise. Three boys came forward of their own free will and said they wanted to sign the pledge. This filled the Superintendent's heart with joy and hearty cheers went up from the company. The hostess served a one-course luncheon in which the color scheme predominated. A guessing game was introduced by Mesdames McTaggart and Howard in which Marie Norton won the prize, which was a little red Japanese plate full of chocolate candy. We expect you will hear from these boys and girls for their motto is: "Tremble, King Alcohol, for We Shall Grow Up!" Will add that we certainly have a very active L. T. L., and we expect to accomplish great work under the leadership of Mrs. Ella McNaughton, for she seems to have the cause deeply at heart.

Mrs. Lida Duquid, Cor. Sec.

College Corner, on the State Line—The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Ferd Smith. It being the close of the contest for getting new members the Ohio side had twelve and the Indiana side had eleven. Accordingly, the Indiana side gave an entertainment. The meeting opened by singing 163; Scripture lesson read by the President, Mrs. Anna Buck; prayer by Mrs. Applegate; roll called, and each one responded with a temperance text. New members were then initiated, each one taking the pledge. A welcome was read by the Evangelistic Superintendent, Mrs. Cunningham; one from Mrs. Lilia Laird, read by Miss Lotie Buck. Then came the report from the State Convention, which was held at Bedford, Ind., the delegates being Mrs. Dan Black and Mrs. Peter Drake. A finer report was never heard. It made us feel like singing "Hallelujah, Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow!" Refreshments were served. Forty-six members were present. Two new members were added to the list, making twenty-nine new members in the last year. Mrs. Stacks, Press Supt.

Upland.—Eunice Wilson Union met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Glasgow, Nov. 5th, in a parlor meeting. Mrs. Vayhinger was present and talked on the "Origin of the W. C. T. U.," also told some very interesting things about the State Convention. Mrs. Bloomer and Miss Nora Linder gave a report of the State Convention. The ladies' quartet from Taylor University sang two selections, which were much enjoyed. At the close of the program dainty refreshments were served. June Williams, Press Supt.

The Brightwood W. C. T. U. held a public meeting in the Baptist church on Saturday evening Nov. 7th. Mrs. Boyer, Marion County's delegate to the National W. C. T. U. Convention at Denver gave a very interesting report of that convention. We also had recitations, and special music by local talent. A free-will offering was taken, which was very good considering the size of the audience and time we had to arrange for the meeting. We having arranged for the meeting after our regular meeting on Thursday before. Our members felt that many good impressions were made that will result materially for our Union.

Laporte Union held a very interesting meeting at which the delegate gave an excellent report of the State Convention, for which a vote of thanks was given her. The County was also re-organized with the following officers: President, Mrs. C. J. Brown; Vice-President, Mrs. Seth Pease; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Augusta Kregle; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Oscar Parcell; Treasurer, Mrs. James Foster. This Union will serve a 15c luncheon Nov. 14th to replenish their treasury.

Mrs. Seth Pease, Press Reporter.

Indianapolis—Frances Willard W. C. T. U. had a meeting of the officers at the home of Mrs. Frances Williams on Nov. 5th. Arrangements were made and committees appointed to see about future meetings to be held in churches. In such cases, if half the proceeds are given to the Union, the minister becomes an honorary member of it. About a year ago two captains were chosen to do extra work in securing new members. Mrs. A. K. Geyer represented the Red, and Mrs. H. E. Hathaway the Blue. Red won in point of numbers; now Blue is obliged to furnish a free supper to the victorious side, of which more anon. This Union now has 52 members besides 10 honorary members. In response to roll call the members repeated a verse of Scripture, the verse containing a certain word previously agreed upon. It was decided that The Crusader Monthly should be sent into deserving families. Various schemes were discussed as how to raise money with which to carry on the work. Mrs. Noe, of this city, a visitor, spoke of the early hard times of temperance; she had promised the Lord to do what she could, little thinking that it would bring her into public life. She spoke of her terror the first time she was called upon to lead audibly in prayer. So many unkind things were at that time said about women in this most unpopular work that they agreed to repeat nothing to each other except "kind words." These dark days and the many sad scenes that she encountered in her prison work taught her the real meaning of charitableness.

Elkhart—The first regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. year was held at the home of Mrs. T. J. Howard, station 19, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Hall conducted the devotionals. During the business session the members decided to send The Crusader Monthly for one year to each of the ten principals of the schools in the city. The first paper received was the October number. In response to petitions sent to our legislators, the following communication was read from Representative A. S. Zook: "Ladies: Yours received. You may rest assured that I will follow your instructions, and what I say can be depended upon." The following Superintendents of different departments were appointed: Medical Temperance, Mrs. (Dr.) Work; Sunday School Work, Mrs. Mary Mast; Scientific Temperance Instruction, Mrs. Ethel Church; Parliamentary Usage, Mrs. B. C. Rowley; Medal Contests, Mrs. Milton Wertz; Temperance Literature, Mrs. J. Salsig; Press, Mrs. Iva Wood Parker; Moral Education, Mrs. Elva Zimmer; Purity in Literature and Art, Mrs. Fred Pyle; Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. Rose Oliver; Law and Statistics, Miss Mary Daly; Evangelistic, Mrs. H. Zigler; Systematic Giving, Mrs. S. E. Johnson; Mercy, Mrs. Shaw; Jail and Prison, Mrs. T. M. Baker; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. J. Richards; Flower Mission Mrs. Thornton; Franchise, Mrs. Lewis Munson; Christian Citizenship, Miss Margaret Wilson. The most important part of the program was the talk given by Mrs. Martin, who came from Indianapolis, where she has been engaged as a missionary and slum worker. She told of her many experiences in the work on Court street, where there are 400 fallen girls on the one street. Five weeks ago she came to take charge of Rest Cottage, the rescue home of Elkhart. Rescue work is a department of the W. C. T. U. work, and those present received information in regard to it, and inspiration to do more in that line than ever before.

Blackford County Convention was held at Millgrove. Mrs. Ella Kroft, speaker for the convention, made an excellent address. Wednesday morning the devotional was led by Mrs. Florella Weston, of Montpelier, followed by a Temperance Love Feast, led by Mrs. Lizzie Lizely, of Roll. The address of welcome was by the Local President of Millgrove. Mrs. Eliza Bugh, Fairview, responded. The County President and Local Presidents made splendid reports for the year's work, which showed a great amount of good done. Mrs. Kroft's address on "Social Evils of the Day" was full of truth and proved to all that the social evils stand in the way of progress in the temperance work. Miss Forest Anderson gave a talk on "Our Sabbath Observance Pledge." As a result of her talk, Blackford County will send a plea through the State to the National Convention to make the pledge less strict in order that all may keep it conscientiously. The County officers gave some very good reports, and then the following officers were elected for the year: President, Mrs. Stahl, Hartford City; Vice-President at Large, Mrs. Lizzie Likely, Roll; Vice-President, Mrs. Bessie Robbins, Millgrove; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Eliza Bugh, Fairview; Treasurer, Mrs. John Slater, Hartford City; Corresponding Secretary L. T. L., Mrs. Wearly, Montpelier;. Mrs. Kroft installed the new officers. Rev. Bergman, of Millgrove, so well known here, gave a very able talk on "Our Present Outlook for Victory." A Matron's Silver Medal contest was conducted by Mrs. Bert Ritter, of Hartford City, County Superintendent of Contest Work. Seven ladies were in the class; the judges deciding in favor of Mrs. Shull, who delivered her selection in a very creditable manner.

The Gibson County Convention was held at Francisco, in the M. E. church, Sept. 10th, and was called to order at 10 a. m. by our wide-awake County President, Mrs. Lizzie Pfohl. After the devotional, led by Mrs. Lena Mans, the annual report of the officers and department superintendents were heard. A paper on "Medal Contest Work," was read by Mrs. Cuba Martin. The noon-tide prayer, offered by Mrs. Lizzie Medcalf, closed the morning session. After adjournment a luncheon was served in the church by the Local Union. In the afternoon Rev. Montgomery led in the devotional service. Some very interesting papers were read, one by Mrs. Sadie McGregor on "Equal Suffrage;" another by Mrs. Mary Tichenor, "Would You Go Down in Dirt to Keep Out the Saloon?" Dr. Lester, a prominent physician, gave an instructive talk on "Effect of Alcohol on the Body and Mind." After a reading by our Superintendent of Medal Contest, Mrs. J. S. Critchfield, we heard a most excellent address by Mrs. S. J. Simpson on "The Work and Workers." The following officers were elected: Mrs. Lizzie Pfohl, County President; Mrs. M. C. Stormont, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Cuba Marton, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Mary Birchfield, Treasurer. The attendance was the largest and more interest was shown than at any previous convention, and our White Ribboners returned home with glad hearts, feeling that "this day was one well spent."

Katherine Youngman, Count Press Supt.

South Bend—A general meeting of all Unions in the city was held to hear the reports of the delegates returned from State Convention, at the home of Mrs. C. Fassnacht, the County President. Mrs. Nash, of Colfax, gave the good points and suggestions in the L. T. L. work, in which she is much interested. Mrs. Orner, of Frances Willard Union, spoke principally of the encouraging work done among colored women. Mrs. Eldred, Mrs. Holler and Mrs. Fassnacht reviewed all the other good points and urged the Superintendents, both Local and County, to consider the necessity of sending full reports to the State. The meeting was very well attended, and was interspersed with songs, and a solo by Mrs. Clyde Locke, and an original poem by Mrs. Reynolds. The good points were then discussed over a cup of tea, after which the ladies departed with nearly as great enthusiasm as if they had all been to the convention.

Mrs. Ida M. Smith, 1505 Michigan Ave.

Tippecanoe County—Executive met in regular session Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. W. H. Stinespring, State St., where business of importance was transacted, with the new County President, Mrs. Isabel Budge, presiding. The County officers agreed to stand by her in her pledge, made at the State Convention, of fifty dollars for the forwarding of the cause and state-wide prohibition. We are also working to secure an organizer for L. T. L. work. Each one felt that it was good for her to be there, and left with renewed enthusiasm for the work of the coming year. Mrs. Lillian Hall, Co. Press Supt.

Los Angeles (Cal.), County W. C. T. U. has a recently published history from 1884-1908. The origin and growth of the work is of great interest. The Treasurer's report from 1889-1908 showed $18,980 receipts, which does not include any of the money raised by Local Unions for local work. The department work has been very great. Many National department workers have been called to service in the county. Scores of the nation's ablest Prohibition and W. C. T. U. speakers have been employed to speak for the Unions of the County. The history, with its splendid record and with pictured faces of the dear workers who labored so persistently in the eighties and nineties, is most interesting.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. RUTH A. STRONG, of Indianapolis, was called to her heavenly home on October 26th. She was the mother of Mrs. Jennie Ward, one of Dearborn county's faithful White Ribboners. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family of this mother in Israel.

THE MESSAGE.

Miss Myrtle Kyger

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. XIV. No. 2.

ANDERSON, IND., JANUARY, 1909.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

Petition Form.

To the Members of the Legislature of Indiana:

We, the undersigned (voters) (women) of Indiana, respectfully pray you for the passage of a resolution favoring an amendment to the constitution of Indiana prohibiting the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors as a beverage.

PETITIONS

Thousands of copies of petition heads have been sent out to local presidents—petitions for signatures of men, separate petitions each for women and for children.

Every person and child can get signatures, and thousands will work at it with a vim if asked.

If you do not have sufficient copies of petition heads have them made immediately. By January 6th we should have 100,000 voters' names, 100,000 women's names and 200,000 children's names sent in to the State President, Culla J. Vayhinger, Upland, Ind.

How many will work?

Now is the time for every person who really wants to help to go to work.

This resolution means that the question of the change in the constitution of our State prohibiting the manufacture and sale of liquors shall be submitted to the vote of the people. It does not mean any more. It is not asking this Legislature to change the constitution, simply to submit the question of the change to the decision of the people of the State.

WHAT IS THE PRICE?

What is the price of the boy who stands

Noble and fair as a god of old,
Reaching to life his innocent hands,
Dreaming the dream that lips never told?

What is his price, kind father, say?

What is his price, fond mother, I pray?

But the rumseller says, "To make him my prey,
I bid one thousand dollars."

What is the price of the daughter who leans

On the arm which supports her, noble and fair,
A being of beauty, one of earth's queens,
Pure as a lily, glorious and rare,

What is her price? Oh, ask of thy heart,

Parents who love her, whoever thou art!

But the rumseller says, "For her in my mart,
I bid one thousand dollars." —Selected.

Hon. Seaborn Wright, of Georgia, has been engaged by our W. C. T. U. Legislative Committee to deliver one of his matchless addresses in Indianapolis on January 15th, at a great mass meeting. Mr. Wright is a brilliant orator and a mighty power for prohibition in his own state. He is the one man of Georgia who, more than any other, helped to secure state-wide prohibition. Temperance people, come and hear him. Decide now to spend January 15th in Indianapolis, and to hear Hon. Seaborn Wright in one of his matchless addresses. The Legislature will be invited to hear him. Come!

WOMEN OF MARION

Are to be Organized for Purpose of Demanding Suffrage.

Marion women, who are interested in the question of woman's suffrage, are just now in a movement to bring the matter before the General Assembly next month, have agitated the organization in Marion of a Woman's Suffrage society for the promotion of equal suffrage. This is in keeping with a movement spreading over the state and resulting in the organization of many such societies and bringing the forces of woman's suffrage into a closer and stronger combination than ever in the past.

The culmination of the present movement of agitation and organization will be the furthering of the movement planned to petition the General Assembly to pass a law giving women the right to vote. It is proposed to hand a little budget to the Legislators and Senators of the State containing names of half a million Hoosier women who want to cast their vote just like their husbands, brothers, fathers and sons.

All Indiana High School students are interested in the State Legislature. Classes from many schools visit the Legislature, chaperoned by teachers. This year it would be interesting to the students, and also help our cause, if they would be in attendance at the Legislature while our Resolution is pending.

Why can not such an arrangement be made?

We hope that hundreds, yes, thousands of the temperance people will spend a day in the Legislature. The influence of such presence cannot be overestimated. Those within sixty miles of Indianapolis can come and spend the day. Others can come and secure board at very reasonable rates and stay over night. The Linden Hotel, on North Illinois street, is about three squares from the State House. Comfortable rooms at 75 cents and $1.00 per day.

Temperance men and temperance women, please arrange to visit the Legislature. Come in a party of ten, if possible; if not, come anyhow.

Everywhere hold mass meetings during the first half of January. Get good speakers, announce and advertise. Get the school children to sing in great choruses—hundreds of children. Have them meet at a certain place and march through the streets to the place of the meeting. They can all sing "Onward Christian Soldier!" Teach them to sing "Under the Star Spangled Banner," the "Crusade Glory Song," and "Saloons Must Go!"

At the close of the address, get a vote of the audience against the repeal of the Local Option law and favoring the passage of the Resolution for constitutional amendment for prohibition.

Some Unions can arrange such meetings in several different places.

Many such meetings should be held in every county.

To make the public meeting a success, secure the co-operation of all the friendly organizations. Usually a "hurry-up" mass meeting if arranged by representatives of many societies is a success.

Legislative success will depend upon the circulating of the petitions, and the holding of public meetings.

Defer all other work until after this work of such great importance is done.

Every earnest temperance woman and man should now determine to get one hundred names on a petition. Begin without delay!

PURITY.

Dear Sisters:

Many letters have been received asking for literature on Proportionate and Systematic Giving. My work has been changed so that now I am Superintendent of Purity. Mrs. Ella Heartly, of Fountain City, was given the department of Proportionate and Systematic Giving. I have written to the National Superintendent of Purity for Plan of Work. When it is received I shall be able to inform each county. I hope Superintendents will be appointed in each county that efficient work may be done along the all-important line of purity. Please remember that it is only the pure in heart that shall see God. The W. C. T. U. of Anderson is increasing in interest; some new members. Petitions being signed for state-wide prohibition.

A reception was given in honor of our retiring President, Mrs. W. Leib. Words of appreciation and thankfulness for the foundation that has been laid in the work of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Rev. Grafton, wife of the Christian minister, portrayed most fittingly the responsibility of motherhood. Refreshments were served and the social hour was most pleasantly spent. Our beloved State President will address the Men's League (this will be an open meeting) January 3rd. January 4th a parlor meeting in the parlors of the Christian church. We are expecting a wonderful uplift which the inspiration of her queenly presence will give.

Very Truly, Mrs. Tilman Hobson,
State Supt., also County, of Purity.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

Dear Superintendents:

Before you read this notice in January's Message, I hope to have in your possession my Plan of Work for this year, which has been received from the State President, and I hope to send them forth very soon on their mission, hoping the message they contain may be an inspiration to you. I am sorry to note only sixteen counties have Superintendents of this department for this year, when it is so important that this work be carried on in Indiana as never before. I especially wish to impress upon County and Local Presidents to either appoint Superintendents of this department or at least see that the work is done. The following quotations from a department leaflet by Lucia Faxon Addison have helped me. I pass it on:

Christian Citizenship is the "star of hope" which is leading the way to the manger where the new civic conscience is to be born; ye must be born again, is true of a nation as it is true of an individual.

Christian Citizenship—"The work outlined in this department would bring the two words of its title into living relations, and so mould Christian public sentiment that town, city, county, state and nation may know and practice righteousness that exalteth a nation."

"Christian Citizenship is more than reform; it is regeneration. It pertains not merely to politics, but to everything which has to do with man's relation to his fellows, his government, and his God. Sociology, civics, economics, and all moral reforms are but departments of thought and works."

"Every citizen should regard a social sin, though sanctified by law, so far his own as to feel that renouncing it for righteousness to the extent of his voice, vote and entire life, is a part of his own regeneration. Christian Citizenship does not mean the joining of church and state, but rather the union of the church to save the state."

"Then all hail every effort toward an operative Christian Citizenship; every effort toward building up a patriotism founded on the solid rock of Christ. All hail the day when Christian America no longer keeps silent, but shall cry aloud and spare not. Then poverty, disease and crime shall be no longer rampant. All hail the day when all government—civic, social, industrial—shall be obedient to the voice and bidding of Jesus Christ. All hail the day when Christians shall unite in one grand, aggressive, harmonious action toward replacing political corruption by political righteousness."

Yours for success,

Dear Editor Message:

The Local Programs, given in State Minutes, seem to be working splendidly. I have sent out nearly half a hundred parcels of literature for the Peace Meetings—Indiana in December—and I believe they will all be good meetings.

We need to be aroused, too, if the next Congress is to be confronted with the proposition to turn us into a military nation by the establishment of an organized militia. Let women study the question.

May I say, through The Message, to those who have asked the price of literature sent out, that every parcel sent has cost at least six cents, and if those who have not prepaid will send that sum, it will be O. K. several sent with the order, but this will make all right. With thanks for all your kindness.

Yours,

H. LAVINIA BAILY,
State Supt. Peace and Arbitration, Richmond, Ind.

Get Signatures to petitions. One hundred thousand voters' names and addresses! This will, no doubt, secure the passage of a resolution by this Legislature granting the people of Indiana the privilege of deciding if they do or do not want state-wide prohibition by constitutional amendment.

JANUARY, 1909.

Visit the Legislature.. Time will be well spent in an effort to get information concerning Legislative methods in Indiana.

Our Sabbath Laws in Indiana must not be weakened. Much literature is being circulated by certain enemies of a rest day law. Christians must not be idle, but aggressively at work for the Sabbath day.

Why do our taxpayers not require auditors for all county funds? Why is there not a uniform method of bookkeeping in the counties of the State? In Indiana there should be real, practical auditing done wherever public funds are handled. Honest treasurers desire the people to know how their money is spent. A uniform method of bookkeeping for county offices in the State would enable a comparison of expenditures, etc., that would be interesting. The collecting of taxes from corporations and from all persons alike would make a great increase in revenues in some counties. The collection of delinquent taxes should be urged.. In the State of Georgia reform in the collection of taxes has greatly increased the revenue, so that the school fund has been more than two hundred thousand dollars in excess of last year, notwithstanding the decrease in school income from the saloon licenses after prohibition went into effect.

PUSH LOCAL OPTION.

We recognize the ultimate inefficiency of any plan for the overthrow of the liquor traffic short of state-wide, nation-wide prohibition. We all believe that an evil thing should not have a plan or option by which it may be established under protection of law for two years, for one year, or for a single day.

That a giant of power and mighty resources should grow up among us and demand right to live and feed upon human weakness, drink women's tears, and laugh at the pleading prayers of helpless children, is a shame which should arouse all the manhood and Christian chivalry of a brave people to a determined fight and victory over this cannibal.

Politicians fear him. Only the people in their wrath can compel the cowards to the front. Again, demands will be made for repeal of such a mean thing as local option, because, forsooth, it has in it a little trouble and of sentiment crystallization against the liquor traffic.

Nothing but heroic work for local option can press the issue of state-wide prohibition. We must work for state-wide prohibition by using the means at hand. The public is generous to reward honest industry. Let us press the local option fight, and show the blind politician that the people will not tolerate any backward step.

Mrs. M. A. McCurdy, of 225 South Tenth Street, Richmond, is our able new State Organizer for colored people. Mrs. McCurdy is a woman of experience and information, having served as State Corresponding Secretary for the Georgia W. C. T. U. No. 2, a strong organization of colored women.

With experience, enthusiasm and splendid ability, she now is a factor in our State Organization. At Bedford Mrs. McCurdy organized a W. C. T. U. after the close of our State Convention.

Mrs. Eva Larter is the President, with Mrs. Solomon Wayne as Secretary. In honor of the Organizer, the new Union is called The Bedford McCurdy. County Presidents should arrange for work for this good organizer. Mrs. McCurdy has calls for organization to many important places in our State. Everywhere our W. C. T. U. people will give her a welcome and cordial support, and if permitted to address the colored people she will organize a Union. This is important!

FLOWER MISSIONS.

Dear Superintendents, both County and Local—As we have, I trust are this, all been advised of the good news from our National Convention, that of Indiana having taken both first and second prizes for having the best Flower Mission report. This was certainly grand and glorious news to all. And let us count this a divine blessing to all in this our beloved Flower Mission Department.

And, dear sisters, may this reward we have received from our National Superintendent be an inspiration to all White Ribbon Sisters to lend a hand in this noble work for the Master. Let us remember that work done last year will not answer for this year. Our mission is indeed one of mercy and love. There are thousands of aching hearts and ruined homes; ruined, many of them, by the curse of rum. Let us not falter; be not weary in well-doing; but go forth with a helping hand ever ready to sow seeds of hope in the gardens of despondency, and send rays of sunshine to warm the chilly blasts of sickness and sorrow, and bring forth blossoms of joy and gladness. This is surely a noble mission; one which exemplifies the life of its lovely planner, Miss Jennie Casseday. "O, the good we all may do while the days are going by, and we can all share in the glory of Doing."

If there are any who have not received the Plan of Work, send me a postal and I will send one by return mail. Remember our two prizes consist of literature and text cards, and any Local or County Superintendent can have copies if you will write me what you want. I also have report blanks ready for this year's work. Remember, every flower or gift should always have the text card and white ribbon attached. Let every Local Superintendent strive to have a special floral fund; hold a contest for this purpose, and in this way you can accomplish much good in helping to create temperance sentiment. I ask each County and Local Superintendent to write me, if only a postal, with your name and address.

Wishing one and all a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year, I am

Lovingly yours,

MATRONS SILVER MEDAL CONTEST AT SHELTON.

Thursday evening, November 5th, about fifty of the Ossian people took the car for Sheldon to be present at the Silver Medal contest given at that place by the Ossian W. C. T. U.

The contestants were Mesdames Lulu Hoopen-gardner, Lillian Bash, J. V. Allen, Pearl Rector and Carrie Martin. The contest was a close one, and each contestant is worthy of special mention. Mrs. Pearl Rector received the medal.

Mrs. George Glass and the Misses Inez Gorrell, Gee Milliken, Orpha Bailey, Eva Kline, Opal Quackenbush and Ilo Elzey accompanied the party and furnished excellent music, which was much appreciated by all present.

Miss Myrtle Martin entertained the audience while the judges were busy, with several of her excellent recitations. Miss Martin is an artist in this line and never fails to please those who hear her.

The contest was held in the M. E. church, and no admission fee was charged. A good collection was received at the close of the meeting.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

Dear Sisters:

Once more let me ask you when making dates for me to please state time and place desired, giving one or more dates which you can use, for often when I write and offer certain dates they are taken by next mail; and besides I could save much railroad fare for you if I might plan several dates together.

I have had thirty-four good audiences since convention; secured sixty-six new members; organized one new Union, and everywhere find people anxious to help our state-wide prohibition plan. In circulating the children's petition, I find the teachers do valient service, and let us be satisfied with nothing short of 100,000 names on our petitions when our General Assembly convenes. This means a holiday hustle—gest busy today.

Yours for state-wide prohibition in 1909,

ELIZABETH T. STANLEY.

At the meeting of the Mississippi Valley Medical Association an interesting paper of the final session was that of Dr. T. D. Crothers, Superintendent of the Walnut Lodge Hospital, Hartford, Conn. The doctor contended that inebriety was a far more fatal disease than consumption, and was more general. The so-called moderate use of spirits by diminishing the vitality and lowering the resisting power of nature, he said, was an active cause of consumption and typhoid fever and was accountable for 80 per cent. of all cases of pneumonia. In fact there was no disease known, and no surgical operation performed, that was not influenced and made worse by spirits. The whole alcoholic problem he continued, was a physical one, the result of disease controlled by laws which move with the same exactness and certainty as any other operation in nature. He said the present efforts of laymen and societies to correct and prevent this evil as a moral one was a sad reflection on the stupidity of the medical profession.

W. C. T. U. NORMAL INSTITUTES.

Dear County Presidents:

When this letter comes to you, we shall have left behind us 1908, with all its joys and sorrows, its victories and defeats, and shall have entered the portals of 1909, which comes to us full of opportunities for aggressive work. Lovingly and sincerely do I wish each and all of you a very "Happy New Year," and pray that God's richest blessings may crown your efforts for His cause. Through the month of December I have looked for your letters locating your spring institutes, but only a very few have reached me. Please read carefully "Indiana's Plan," on page 84 of the new Minutes, and which you can procure from our State Treasurer, Miss Clara Sears. Here you will find full directions regarding leaders, finance and other matters you need to learn about. Please let me hear from you at once where you will hold your Institute. As the schedule must be published in February Message, dear Sisters, may I not ask you each and all to heartily co-operate with me in this work, that we may make the Institute season of 1909 the greatest Indiana has ever known. With an increase of 1,522 members since last spring, we ought to hold at least 60 Institutes, and make them a mighty factor in winning the 3,000 new members we are working for this year. Those of you who were present at the Bedford Convention will remember our dear State President urged greater activity and earnestness in department work, and, in my judgment, there is no time or place which gives to the County President such opportunities for development along this line as does the Institute, where she comes face to face and heart to heart with the most earnest workers in her county. Again, I would like to remind you of the great mission which this department has in reaching the masses, and this year when we are working for state-wide prohibition, for a membership in Indiana of 10,000, and for the organization of our young people, we must reach those who have not thought much of the principles for which we stand; those who are indifferent toward them; yes, and those who stand opposed to us. This year will you all please accept dates and leaders as scheduled as far as you possibly can, that time, strength and money may be saved in the work?

Make plans for an Institute of one and one-half days, including two night meetings, holding medal contest on one night with small admission fee to defray expense of Institute.

2. Appoint County Superintendent of Institutes to work with County President in making plans.

3. Send notices throughout the county to the pastors of churches and superintendents of Sunday schools, inviting the people to attend and take part. Send copies of programs with notice.

4. If possible, serve lunch at church on first day of Institute, inviting ministers and their wives, school superintendents and wives, doctors and wives, all school teachers, and others whom you wish to interest, to be guests of the Union, and make the hour social in the best sense.

5. Remember that where the Institute is held on Monday and Tuesday, Wednesday may be used in your county in any way which will best help the work. Bear in mind, in making plans for this day, that the Leader must be at the next point on Thursday morning by 10 o'clock.

6. Where Institute is held on Thursday and Friday, the Leader is to be used for Sabbath services. Where it is not possible to pay her the $3.00 for one or $5.00 for two services, a free-will offering to be taken for the Institute fund. These Sabbath services are important, sisters. Make the most of them.

7. In counties where it is not possible to hold an Institute, make plans for the Leader of your section to visit your county on the dates scheduled, making dates for her at different points for lectures or organizing as may best serve you.

Let me hear from you at once, stating where you will hold your Institute; or if this is not possible, write me that you will be on the schedule for 1909 and thus do your part toward making the sixty Institutes we must hold. Write me for any information or help and I shall be glad to give it if I can.

Lovingly yours,

Rose Pearce, State Supt. Institutes.

Cayuga, Indiana.

DEPARTMENT OF PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

Dear Co-Workers:

During the first few days of December I mailed to every Local Superintendent in the State copies of the Plan of Work for this department, also samples of four different kinds of literature on this subject, and to all County Presidents a double portion. I mailed to Presidents because I had no way of knowing who the Local Superintendents were, and I was very anxious to reach each Union, hoping that though this department was neglected throughout the county, that some Local Union would feel inclined to work in this important department; thus giving some report from each county.

I sincerely hope that if there is no Superintendent of this department in your Union that each President will see the importance of the work and that a Superintendent will be appointed, and that the President will make use of the monthly report blank until some one else is appointed for the place.

I want to again call your attention to the importance of reporting. No difference how small the report is, be sure to send it.

I will be glad to hear from each Union during the next few weeks, telling me that you are pushing this work in your place. It would make me feel that through the year much would be accomplished. Let us all work together with confidence that we will be able to do much—when so much needs to be done.

Yours for success,

ELNORA G. MCNAUGHTON,

State Supt., Box 94, Ray, Ind.

THE MESSAGE

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE.

Dear Superintendents:

I am very much pleased to hear that so many are planning for teachers' receptions and prize essay contests. Before this reaches you, you will have received my Plan of Work and samples of literature. I am very sorry to be some later than last year, but the delay is on account of our National Superintendent's long absence from her home, which made it quite impossible to get my literature from her. But I hope and am quite sure you have not been idle while waiting.

Among my samples I am sending a Teachers' Total Abstinence card, which is a new feature of our department, and I feel sure it is a good one, and I hope you will work earnestly with it. The greatest number of signers to this pledge will be one of the conditions on which the pennant will be awarded this year. They may be had of Mrs. Edith Smith-Davis, 561 33rd Street, Milwaukee, Wis. The sale price is twenty cents per hundred, but she informs me that if Unions are not able to pay for them she will furnish them free to those who will use them. So there is nothing to prevent us from having them. These are to be signed and returned to me, and I will return them to her.

Yours for Success,

ETHEL E. BAIR,
State Supt., North Liberty.

FAIRS AND OPEN AIR MEETINGS.

To County Presidents:

It is quite difficult for me in a different locality, to make definite plans for your work in Fair and Open Air meetings. I was more thoroughly convinced of this fact after having received reports from last year's work. I had some good reports from localities working their own plans.

Therefore, I trust if you have not Superintendents of this department, you will appoint some good, energetic woman at once that plans may be made and everything ready so much can be done "ere" the year has closed.

This is an excellent field for reaching the people, and I hope that we will all make good our opportunities. Begin now to prepare for the summer's work.

I am planning to have a tent with sufficient room to hold department meetings afternoons; also to have some good speakers with us during our State Fair. Always distribute good literature along our lines of work.

Last year counties having no fairs, sent good reports of open air meetings, especially (I remember just now) Floyd county.

I would be delighted to have any Superintendent of Press write in regard to the work. If I can help you in any way I will gladly do so. I beg of you to help me do the work, that we may have something to report when we come to our convention next fall.

Lovingly yours, for services,

MRS. LIZZIE HEATH,
State Supt. of Fair and Open Air Meetings.
310 E. Walnut Street, Indianapolis.

PEACE AND ARBITRATION.

Comrades of Peace:

It is cheering to have requests for literature preparatory to peace day meetings, coming in, and I hope many successful meetings will be held between this time and New Year's Day of 1909. Please report them, and I will try to report the reports to you through The Message. Now as to the financial side of this: The literature needed is most worthy, at very moderate rates, from six to 8 or 10 cents, and wrapping and postage also cost. Some have written: "Tell me the price and I will remit." To simplify, suppose those who send, enclose ten cents, which pays "cost and carriage" on "Grotius" and "The Christ of the Andes," with two or three programs or leaflets added, and saves time and postage on exchange of letters about the price. This is suggested for economy of resources.

We have a few varieties of good leaflets on hand; expect soon to have others printed. Circulate all you can. Keep wall-pockets supplied where they are allowed. Especially get subscribers to the Message of Peace; inexpensive and up-to-date. There should be at least one copy in every Local Union, and every County Superintendent should have a copy. Only twenty-five cents a year.

Now I suggest an additional topic for meetings and for study this year: "Esperanto; its History, and Value as an Aid to Peace."

Yours for a peaceful year,

H. LAVINIA BAILY, Superintendent.

FIELD NEWS

The people of Bedford wish to say to the delegates who attended the State Convention, that the pleasure and influence of their presence in our city and in our homes can never be expressed in words. Our Local Union was greatly benefitted; old members are working with renewed enthusiasm, and many new ones have been added to our roll. From all sides is heard praise and admiration for the noble band of women who are working so unselfishly for the uplifting of our state and country.

New Albany Union is in good condition, and at the King's business. We have held a Matrons' and a Fathers' contest this year and others forthcoming. We are about to open a "county store," the proceeds to help pay off the debt on our headquarters. Will some one please pass the basket?

Mrs. Adda Lobach, Press Supt.

The Gosport W. C. T. U. gave a reception at the Baptist church Thursday evening, Nov. 12, in honor of our teachers and Board of Trustees. An excellent program was given, consisting of a paper, readings and music. We believe those present went away with a stronger conviction that the W. C. T. U. will live and battle as long as there is impurity and intemperance to fight. Also, the W. C. T. U. of Gosport met at the school building Wednesday afternoon, November 25th, and presented to the High School a beautiful picture of our beloved Frances E. Willard. Short but appropriate exercises were given.

Lula S. Wampler, Secretary.

The Mooresville and Brooklyn W. C. T. U. have been uniting in their work, and both feel encouraged. A very successful meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Mark Adams, November 24th, in Mooresville, and a fine program was rendered, after which refreshments were served.

Bessie M. Chapman.

Indianapolis North East Union held its quarterly business meeting with a good attendance. Splendid reports were heard from Sunday School work, Medal Contest, Literature and Sabbath Observance. This Union has made a beautiful new quilt, which is full of names, and among them are those of the County officers the first year Mrs. Martha Gipe was County President. Also, several of the State officers' names. The quilt will be presented next Wednesday afternoon, December 30th, at the home of the President, Mrs. Cora Patton, 534 E. Michigan St. The meeting will be a reception for our ministers. A special program is being arranged for the meeting. This Union held a public evening meeting in the Christian church, corner 17th St. and Martindale Ave. Mrs. Frances Boyer gave her report from the National Convention, which was very good and greatly enjoyed by every one. "The Invincibles" sang a number of cheering temperance songs. Mrs. Felix T. McWhirter sponged on "Why Every Woman Should Belong to the W. C. T. U." Mr. Will Thatcher sang will feeling and responded to an encore. Mr. Stoddard, Mr. F. T. McWhirter and Rev. Brown, pastor of the church, all spoke briefly on the need of action among temperance people. The meeting did much good for the North East Union, created public sentiment, and we are cordially invited back to this pretty church in the early part of year for another meeting. A Silver Medal contest was recently held by this Union, in charge of Mrs. Cora Harper. The County President, Mrs. Kinser, won the medal.

The Brightwood W. C. T. U. entertained with a Fathers' and Mothers' meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mulholland, Station St., on Thursday evening, the three ministers and their families being special guests. The rooms were tastefully decorated, emblematic of the W. C. T. U. and appropriate to the Christmas season. A choice program was rendered, including piano selection, Lois Ruth; reading, Reba Mulholland; piano duet, Reba Mulholland and Cecil Reed; dialogue, Mr. and Mrs. Ruth, Mrs. Kinser, Mrs. Mulholland, Mrs. Saylor, Mrs. Rash and LaRoy Engle; reading, Mrs. Grace Engle; piano selection, Lois Ruth; reading, Mrs. Nellie Brown; reading, Mr. Ruth; reading, Cecil Reed; piano selection, Reba Mulholland. After the program refreshments were served. The meeting was quite a demonstration of the strength and activity of the Local Union, about seventy-five persons being present. The evening closed with remarks by Rev. Bolster and Rev. Grannis. The Union has rented a room and have it furnished, where all meetings are held. A Junior and Senior L. T. L. each meet each week; they have a membership of sixty or more. There were held last quarter three public meetings, with good speakers; one silver medal contest; four new members added, and much activity on the part of all.

Mrs. Kinser.

The Sycamore W. C. T. U. gave a reception for the teachers and the trustees of Jackson township, Friday, December 11, 1908. The reception was held at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Allen, one mile south of Sycamore.

Eight of the nine teachers of the township, also the trustee, were present and enjoyed the hospitality of our W. C. T. U. A short literary program was rendered, after which a social hour was enjoyed, during which time refreshments were served. The interest in our work is growing, and we expect to add several new names to our list soon. A pleasant surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Windsor, of Sycamore, Tuesday evening, December 8th, by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. and their families. It was in the nature of a farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Windsor, who leave the early part of the month to spend the remainder of the winter in California. Refreshments of fruit and candy were served, and all departed at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Windsor a happy journey and safe return.

Elsie Moss, Press Reporter.

Albany W. C. T. U. held a pleasant and profitable meeting at the home of Mrs. Dr. Powers, Friday afternoon, December 11th. Mrs. S. M. Stahl, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, also our delegate to the National Convention at Denver, Colo., was present and addressed the Union on the subject of her work. It was a heart to heart talk with the ladies, and much good is expected therefrom. An evening meeting was held in the Christian church at 7:30 o'clock, at which time

Mrs. Stahl gave an excellent report of the National Convention, recently held in Denver. After a beautiful description of the convention place, Mrs. Stahl, in her interesting way, told something of each session held, from beginning to close of the most wonderful convention ever held in the United States. At the close of her report, Mrs. Stahl made an earnest appeal for new members, only three responding, due to special services being held in the M. E. church and small attendance at our meeting.

The Waterloo W. C. T. U. closed a three weeks' membership contest and gave a reception for seventeen new members at the home of Mrs. Sabina Beidler, on the evening of December 14th. Light refreshments were served and an interesting program carried out, including songs from the W. C. T. U. Song Card, a welcome address by Rev. Biven, instrumental solo by Sabina Beidler, and a recitation by Mrs. A. L. Moudy. We have increased our membership from 22 to 39; more than our portion to make the 10,000 mark for 1909.

Mrs. A. L. Moudy, Secretary.

Wabash—Mrs. Ridgeway, our alternate delegate to the National Convention, came to the South Wabash Union last Monday afternoon and gave us her report. It was well received and we rejoice in so much that is good and encouraging.

Mary E. King.

Laporte Union—All were well pleased with the luncheon served by the ladies on November 14th. It was a success both socially and financially. The members are thinking of having a supper in the near future. They have been solicited by their friends to do so. November 11th was house-cleaning time. Seven of the ladies met and gave the W. C. T. U. rooms a thorough cleaning.

Mrs. Seth Pease, Press Supt.

Meridian W. C. T. U. met Wednesday afternoon December 9th, at the home of Mrs. Gipe. The meeting was largely attended and ten new members gained. Much enthusiasm and interest was manifested. Mrs. Alice Graydon, of the Juvenile Court, presented the work and needs of the court. It is hoped that from the membership of the Union some will feel the needs and respond as a probation officer. Though there are 300 volunteer probation officers, more are needed. The work is one of interest to all with a love in their heart for unfortunate children. One is made better with a close association with these boys and girls, who are less fortunate in their surroundings. In most cases all offenders can trace their trouble to drink, directly or indirectly. The programs for the ensuing year were distributed and were greatly appreciated, as more and better work is planned for this year. Two meetings a month are provided for. One of these meetings, the first Wednesday of each month, as a guest day at the home of a member, and the third Wednesday in the Central Avenue M. E. church. All cordially invited. The hostess and committee served dainty refreshments after which the meeting adjourned. January 6th meeting at the home of Mrs. Julia Morgan, 2029 Broadway.

The Gas City W. C. T. U. has 38 active and ten honorary members. A short time before the election we held a mass meeting at the Christian church, which was well attended. Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson gave the address, and the County President, Mrs. Shugart, assisted on the program. The quartet sang some appropriate songs. Fourteen new members were added to the Union, six active and eight honorary. On election day three women went early in the morning to watch the saloons, and finding one open, the owner was arrested. The rest soon learned the situation and closed up, reporting that there were fifty women out. Some of the members have held two meetings recently at the County Infirmary, and one at the jail. Some of the prisoners at the jail were moved to tears when the quartet sang "No One Knows But Mother." The Union meetings are held twice a month in alphabetical rotation at the homes of the members. One of our former honorary members, Prof. Homer G. Biddlecome, now of Oskaloosa, Iowa, has been elected State President of the Intercollegiate Association of the Young Men's Prohibition League of Iowa. Our Union entertained the Grant County Institute last spring, which was the largest ever held in the county.

South Wabash W. C. T. U.—Our Union has suffered an irreparable loss in the going of our beloved President, Mrs. Mary Renger, to her heavenly home. She was indeed a friend to everybody, ministering to the physical and spiritual needs. The entire community mourns her loss. Our Father has promised to supply all our needs, and I think the article on Presidents in the last Message will help us. Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to the sorely bereaved husband, and son and wife. Our dear Mrs. Margaret Ross, always so faithful at our meetings, left last week to spend the winter in Texas. We hope for her return in the spring.

Yours with love,

Mary E. King.

Anniversary Exercises—The Angola W. C. T. U. observed its twenty-fifth anniversary on Thursday, December 5th, at the M. E. church. The attendance was such as to assure us that interest in temperance was on the increase. From Ray, Fremont and Pleasant Lake Unions our friends came in considerable numbers. We thank them for the pleasure and encouragement their presence gave us. The music was in the hands of Mrs. E. C. Green and Miss Bakestraw. Miss Bratton and Miss Hauselman sang "Rock of Ages," Mrs. Marion Hetzler led the audience in singing the temperance version of the "Glory Song," the audience joining in the chorus; the Crusade Psalm was read by the President, Mrs. Ardella Gibson, and prayer was offered by Mrs. C. E. Woodhull; The Crusade Hymn was sang by the audience; the "Story of the Crusade," by Mrs. L. M. Sniff; "The History of Angola Union," by Mrs. W. W. Wyrick; "Our Promoted Members," by Mrs. Villa Lewis, and a chorus of 100 children, under the management of Mrs. W. O. Bailey, closed the program. At the request of the ministers present, Rev. M. S. Marble expressed their appreciation of the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. At night Hon. Oliver W. Stewart addressed a large and interested audience at the opera house. At the close $12.00 were subscribed to a fund to carry on the fight against the liquor business. The last saloon in Steuben county closed at 11 o'clock that night. May the Lord give us strength and courage to keep them out.

The Keystone Union met at the home of the President, Mrs. Black. A very enthusiastic meeting was held and plans discussed for increasing the membership, with a full determination to do more and better work this year than last. The Union was divided and a contest for members began; both Unions to report at the annual meeting in December. The officers for this year are: President, Mrs. Sabina Black; Vice-President, Mrs. Mary Baker; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ella Bennett; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Lena Lincoln; Treasurer, Mrs. Amy Poulson.

Johanna S. Marsh, Press Supt.

Bright—On World's Temperance Sunday, November 29th, our Local Union held a public service in the M. E. church, Mrs. Gibson, County President, presiding. We were most fortunate in securing Mrs. Gertrude Fulton, of Portland, Ind., to address us. Her presence was an inspiration, and her talk was interesting and instructive, and held the audience spellbound for more than an hour. Little Gladys Gibson gave a recitation, "Her Dream"; Charles Heiskell recited "The South is Going Dry"; The Senior L. T. L. sang several appropriate songs; a free will offering was taken. These public meetings help to build up the cause of temperance, and thus to bind together in closer and stronger bonds the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Hattie Jackson.

The Orinoco Union, Bartholomew County, is a busy bee, so busy we have not had time to send in our usual message. Since the election we have held two regular monthly meetings, one public meeting, two contests, one silver, one gold; had a ten-cent luncheon and program December 10th; had another gold medal contest December 11th; have been called on to hold a contest at some place December 18th; have a Mothers' meeting billed for December 20th, when our State Vice-President will be with us. We held such an enthusiastic contest at one place that we have been asked to return. We secured every legal voter on our local option petition, and every man, woman and child on our petitions. Our newspapers are still with us, publish our columns and give good reports of our meetings, thus bringing our work before the public. We are the first temperance organization to take up local option work, and we have faith that it will be a success. We work on the promise "If God be for us, who can be against us?"

Bridella Beam, Press Supt.

Westfield—Our membership now is sixty-five. We are fully organized, with efficient President, and Superintendents of Departments. We expect to do better work this year than ever before. Our delegates attended the State Convention and on their return gave an echo meeting at the home of Rev. Hocker, which was well attended. About one-fourth of our members take the Union Signal, and all read the Message. We are doing our best to help raise the state membership to 10,000. A new member is usually added to our list at each meeting. We will carry out the State Plan of Work as near as possible. We have our petitions in circulation for women and children; individually we will encourage the local option efforts to gain a dry county. Our next County Convention will be at Atlanta, to which Westfield will send a large delegation.

Yours for the work,

Ella Briles, Press Supt.

The Cold Springs Woman's Christian Temperance Union spent the day at the home of Mrs. Margaret Cartwright. The program was very interesting and all present enjoyed a good time. The next meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Flora Walker, Tuesday, December 3rd. Mrs. Maggie Gibson, County President, was present and gave a very interesting report of the State Convention; Mrs. Mabel Thoroman sang, as a solo, "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me!" Each one felt that it was good for her to be there and left with renewed enthusiasm for the work of the coming year.

Mrs. Bennie M. Evans, Press Supt.

Bath W. C. T. U. held a public meeting in Bath M. E. church Sunday evening, October 25th. The meeting was opened by President Mrs. Daisy Dare. Mrs. Lida Farr, Evangelistic Superintendent, took charge of the meeting; Mrs. Allie Burdsall gave a reading; Mrs. Dan Harbine a solo; a poem entitled "A Stray Sunbeam" was read by Mrs. Mary McCarty; reports of the State Convention held at Bedford, were read by Mrs. Laura Myers and Mrs. Mary Bourne, and were excellent; Mrs. Margaret Smith and Mrs. Crawley then sang a duet. This was a very interesting and enjoyable meeting.

Mrs. McCarty.

Eaton—On November 15th about forty of the Eaton W. C. T. U. members and their friends went to Shideler and held a meeting. A good program had been prepared in which a number of children recited selection committed in contest work. At the close Mrs. Lou O. Fisher explained the organization work, scope and aim of the W. C. T. U., and called for members to organize a Local Union. Twelve active and three honorary members responded. On Wednesday of the week following Mesdames Orr, Carmichael and Fisher went and organized a Union, with Mrs. Emma Groves President, and Miss Hattie Lewellen Corresponding Secretary.

Spencer, Ind.—Our Matrons' contest was held December 5th; six matrons took part, some of whom were mothers. It was said to have been the best we have ever had in Spencer; the different churches furnished the music, except the last piece, our national hymn, "Under the Star Spangled Banner." We had one hundred copies scattered through the audience and all sang heartily. All the contestants did well; they gave the men something to study about, to say the least of it. Mrs. Maude Hill, of Carp Union, won the medal. Our county organized another Union December 6th among the colored people of Spencer, Ind. They want Mrs. McCurdy to come to them as soon as possible.

Mrs. Florence Lawson, Corresponding Secretary Spencer Co. W. C. T. U.

Mrs. George Augustin gave the Madison Union a report of the National Convention on Sunday afternoon, November 22nd, in Trinity church. Her description was so vivid that we really felt we had attended the great convention. Madison Union also entertained the city school teachers November 30th with a "White Ribbon Social," at the Vine Street Baptist church, from 4 to 6 p. m. Program was as follows: Invocation, Rev. Hanger; welcome, Mrs. Augustine; response, Rev. Jessup; trio, "The Magic Flute," Mesdames Denny, Scott tSanton; "How the Teacher Can Help the W. C. T. U.," Mrs. Keeney; reading, "The Madonna," Mrs. Benson; "Our National Interest," Miss Dietz. After the program, the young ladies of the W. C. T. U. served a dainty supper.

Mrs. G. E. Denny.

MRS. GEO. W. AUGUSTINE,

President of Jefferson County, who has done so much to bring Jefferson County up to the standard in that she was able to carry off the pennants in three departments this year. She was a delegate to the National Convention at Denver, Col.

In Jay County, Indiana, 3,005 women pay taxes. If it is an average county, over 280,000 taxpayers in the state have no representation and no voice whatever in the management of public funds, to which they are compelled to contribute. It would be interesting to know how many paupers, idlers, drunkards, floaters and repeaters have a voice in the disposal of public funds by way of the ballot. No! Taxation without representation has been a battle cry of this nation, but old-time righteousness and justice has been almost obliterated at the present time.

Gertrude Q. Campbell.

The Eaton Union is the first one to adopt and work the Mission Station Plan. On November 15th the members of Eaton went to Shideler and organized a Union of twelve active and three honorary members. They went to work immediately and are sure, with such a mother as the Eaton Union, will grow rapidly, and we shall hear from them often. Mrs. Lou Fisher attended the State Convention, went home, held a public meeting, at which she gave her report, took in thirty new members, and they have taken in eight more since that, and are now in a membership contest. They held a reception for their new members and school teachers, and presented a picture of Miss Willard to the high school. Hurrah, for Eaton! Go thou and do likewise.

C. J. Vayhinger.

The Willis Union, of Mt. Zion, Wells County, met in regular session on the afternoon of December 16th. Few were in attendance, yet a friendly spirit prevailed. The Indiana Crusade Pledges were distributed, on which each member pledges themselves, 1st, to wear the white ribbon faithfully; 2nd, to pray at noontide for state-wide prohibition, and 3rd, to secure one new member, collecting her dues, in this present quarter. May the good work go on. Saturday night, January 2nd, 1909, we will hear our beloved County President, Mrs. E. A. Willis, on "Echoes from the National Convention at Denver, Col." Every one should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear this gifted lady. She may tell you something that will do you good. Remember the date and place—January 2, 1909, U. B. church, Mt. Zion, Ind. Let us give her a rousing good audience.

Mrs. M. E. Miller, Press Supt.

Columbus Meeting—At the home of Mrs. Alice Redman Tuesday afternoon was very enthusiastic. As this was the meeting for the report of the delegates to the State Convention, there was a larger number than usual in attendance, and also a number of visitors were present. Among them was Mrs. Grace Spencer, of Washington, D. C., a former resident of this place and a member of the Union. Mrs. Will Stevens favored the Union with two beautiful solos. Mrs. James Collier led the devotions, after which Mrs. Redman gave quite a lengthy report of the State Convention. The meeting was then very delightfully entertained by a solo, "Sweet Gallilee," by Edgar Kellenbarger. Mrs. Buxton gave a short talk on "Our State Plan of Work," and finished by reciting a poem, the subject of which was "The Twin Ballots." Mrs. Seneca Snyder had charge of the music at the meeting.

Dear Editor: You shall not forget little Floyd county this year. I think our President will find Galena the first Union in Missionary field, for they drove to Greenfield to have their meeting. Georgetown Union is growing; new President is rushing petitions; also, Galena and New Albany. This quarter a Mothers' Congress, Matron Contest tonight, a Fathers' Contest, with three others on hand. We are endeavoring to lift debt off headquarters and pushing all department work. Happy Christmas to our editor and family. May Jesus get the best out of us He can for His glory.

Mrs. Dr. Jones, County President.

An enthusiastic worker, Mrs. Louie Kightlinger, one year ago a resident of Greentown, and whose services in that place helped banish all saloons and build the Union to a membership of nearly seventy, now writes from Elwood that the work is flourishing there. At the three public meetings addressed by Mrs. Vayhinger, Mrs. Sibbits and Mrs. Stanley, new members were gained. On Temperance Sunday fifteen persons signed the total abstinence pledge. A reception was held for the new members in the League room of the M. E. church. Mrs. Somerwalt, the pastor's wife, read a paper on "Child Labor;" Miss Barclas also read a paper on "A Teacher in the Public School," emphasizing Scientific Temperance Instruction. The County President, Mrs. Jones, gave a short talk and the young people took an enthusiastic part in both the program and serving refreshments. For the benefit of those who could not attend this reception, a meeting was held in the evening at the home of Mrs. Callister. Other meetings are being arranged. The temperance wave is rolling. The saloons must go.

Bessie M. Chapman writes: I have finished reading Mrs. Sarah K. Marines book, "Who Was It?" a temperance story, that came from the press recently. It is good and should be in the hands of every W. C. T. U. woman in the state. Mrs. Marines is Press Superintendent of Mooresville Union, Morgan county.

To State W. C. T. U. Convention placards were sent in by Local Unions. These were used in decorating. Some read as follows: Benton County, members gained, 122; Bedford, gain 33, saloons closed, 7; Allen County, gain 120, honorary 65, townships dry 14; Morgan County, gain 22 members, saloons closed 14; Union County, gain 37, saloons closed 8; Marshall County, gain 25, townships dry 4; Bloomington, dry since 1907, total membership 57; Jefferson, 101 new members, 4 new Unions, 5 saloons closed.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. NANCY CAROLINE METTS, wife of Dr. John I. Metts, and mother of our well loved W. C. T. U. sister, Mrs. Josephine Metts Walmer, passed to her reward October 19, 1908, after a very painful, lingering illness of over three years' duration.

During all her long and weary months of suffering she maintained her usual kind, quiet and motherly disposition, ever ready to put aside her own sufferings to listen to and comfort the suffering of others.

Much might be said of the influence of Mrs. Metts in this community. Suffice it to say that hers was a beautiful Christian character which to know was to love and honor. She never touched a life that she did not make whiter and better. She will be sadly missed in the home and the community at large.

The funeral services were held from the residence, the Rev. C. E. Combrink of the Presbyterian church officiating. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley was present and spoke words of consolation to the bereaved and heartbroken friends. The W. C. T. U. of which she had long been an enthusiastic member, attended in a body, thus expressing in a measure their high regard for the dear one that had just gone away. The Eastern Star order was also present in a body.

MRS. SADIE HILDEBRAND, of Elizabeth, Ind., was called to her Heavenly home Nov. 27. She was the president of the W. C. T. U. organized at Elizabeth about twelve years ago by our beloved sister, Hattie Brand. Her heart and soul was in the work. She was active in all good work. She helped circulate several remonstrances. She was a consistent Christian, loved by all who knew her. She is gone but not forgotten.

MRS. MATTIE FLANAGAN,
Vice-President of the New Albany Union.

MISS JESSIE WRIGHT, of Earl Park Union, died during a surgical operation. Death so sudden of one of such energy and power for God's Kingdom is a serious loss to the community in which she lived and to the W. C. T. U. of which she was a member. This is the first death in the Earl Park W. C. T. U. Miss Wright was an earnest worker and her death is a loss that can not be measured in words.

MRS. ELIZA A. LEITER, of Rochester W. C. T. U., wife of Wm. Leiter, passed to her reward Sept. 3, 1908, aged 67 years. She said she was never lonely through her long illness, for "Jesus is always with me." Sister Leiter leaves a husband, four sons and three daughters.

MRS. SUSAN H. CALVERT, of Rochester W. C. T. U., wife of Rev. R. H. Calvert, deceased, departed this life Oct. 29, 1908, aged 84 years, after a short illness incident to old age. She leaves two sons and two daughters, the husband and seven children having gone on before. Her Heavenly attractions were the greater and she was glad to go.

ANDERSON, IND., FEBRUARY, 1909.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

THIRTY COUNTIES ON DRY LIST.

Hamilton, Decatur, Tipton and Putnam Join Pike Lawrence and Wabash.

Sweeping victories in the first four counties on January 26th.

When the news reached the county seats, W. C. T. U. workers joined with the rejoicing hosts of men, women and children in celebration. Fire works, bonfires, the ringing of bells and drum corps were used. The protracted meetings were dismissed, pastors and people joined the throng of people in the business district. Gospel services were held in front of saloons. Women were active in the work and in many places children took a prominent part. At Greensburg the children wore tags bearing the appeal, "Vote, Yes For Me." At Greencastle, men, women and children wore white badges with the word "Dry" printed on in black letters.

IMPORTANT.

One real issue in the last campaign between the Democrats and Republicans was "the Township and Ward Option" and "County Option."

Now there is a strong sentiment among the Democrats to let the county option law remain as passed in the special session.

In the meantime there is a diversity of opinion among members of both houses as to the present status of affairs concerning amendments to the constitution.

This being the case, a bill for a straight prohibitory law should be introduced in both houses while waiting for a clear way for a Resolution for an amendment for state-wide prohibition.

Every day members of the legislature remark concerning subjects, "I have not heard from my constituency on that matter."

Now, we certainly should and will write them every one, friends and foes, asking them to consider the pleadings of the women for the protection of their homes against the saloon by prohibiting liquor selling in Indiana.

SHALL INDIANA HAVE SUNDAY BASEBALL?

Will Men Be Placed on Indiana Woman's Prison Board.

Ask good men and good women to take the trouble to write letters to members of the House and Senate urging them to help defeat the Sunday base ball bill and the repeal of County Option, and to vote for State-Wide Prohibition. Special effort should be made to influence the committee on Reformatory institutions to kill the bill of Representative Faulkner of Michigan City, in which he seeks to have the board of trustees of the Indiana Woman's Prison and the Indiana Girls' School (Reformatory) to consist of men and women instead of being entirely of women as it has been for years.

It is a woman's prison and a girls' institution why should it not remain in the hands of women trustees. In fact every fair minded person will agree to that.

State institutions, including hospitals for the insane, educational, charitable and penal, where both sexes are admitted, should be in the hands of boards composed of men and women, and in institutions for men, such as the penitentiary at Michigan City and reformatory at Jeffersonville and Plainfield, should be in the hands of men.

Every woman who reads these lines can help greatly by spending two hours writing letters herself and a little time getting voters to write letters to legislators especially members of committees in charge of certain bills.

The House committee on Reformatory Institutions:

Robert Tomlinson, Dem., Fairland, Shelby county.

S. Askren, Dem., DePauw, Harrison county.

Andrew Behymer, Dem., Elwood, Madison county.

F. I. Galbraith, Dem., Sunman, Ripley county.

John H. Hill, Dem., Clifford, Bartholomew county.

James B. Merriman, Dem., Bluffton, Wells county.

Edward W. Wickey, Rep., East Chicago, Lake county.

W. S. Ratliff, Rep., Richmond, Wayne county.

Alonzo M. Gardner, Rep., Richmond, Fayette and Wayne counties.

Address any one of these members, House of Representatives, State House, Indianapolis.

GREAT WORK AT GREENCASTLE.

Putnam County Local Option Committee Asked to Make Compact With County Liquor Committee

County Option carried in Putnam county by 1,551 majority.

The liquor men had asked the temperance county committee to enter into a compact with them agreeing not to use liquor, cigars, money or carriages and not to exert any undue influence on election day—with a forfeiture of two hundred dollars for non-compliance. The temperance committee made the compact.

Greencastle has seven saloons and was Republican. The county dry and Democratic.

The election was set for Tuesday, January 26th. Only one W. C. T. Union in Putnam county and that one at Greencastle under the strong leadership of Miss Minnetta Taylor, Mrs. J. P. D. John and Mrs. Mary G. Webb stirred the conservatism of the community.

This union secured the co-operation of DePauw University Faculty and Students, Superintendent Woody of the schools and many teachers, the ministers, white and colored, Sunday school superintendents and everybody interested in getting rid of saloons.

Their work began on Saturday morning after a meeting on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. J. P. D. John with Mrs. McWhirter as speaker. The election was on the following Tuesday.

White badges with "Dry" on were printed by the thousands and distributed by the Loyal Temperance Legion. On Saturday afternoon 1,500 badges were pinned on the people who had come "to town" and others. Early on Sunday morning from 500 to 800 were taken to each church and enthusiastically donned by pastors, Sunday school superintendents, teachers, grown-up people and little people with extra badges to take home for others.

Arrangements were made for school children to be driven in hay wagons over town early on Tuesday morning wearing their "Dry" badges and carrying banners and flags and singing songs; the use of wagons for the purpose were donated. High school students were organized.

The county temperance committee of men came to the W. C. T. U. on Monday evening and urged them to call off all demonstration of the children and young people for the next day (Election Day). The vote was considered close and the liquor men had said that this would be breaking the contract to allow the women to proceed and threatening what they would do. Rather than take the entire blame for County Option defeat in Greencastle if such should be, these ballotless women announced to the children the next morning that there would be no hay wagon rides or other demonstration.

The disappointment of the children no doubt, increased the interest and helped to win the victory in Greencastle which was less than 175 majority, one ward voting wet by 17.

The university faculty and students co-operated every way possible, an immense white "Dry" flag was made by the students and run up on the college flag staff. The students did splendid personal work and committees were at the polls.

READ THIS.

Micael J. Fanning has been secured for work in our state in February and March, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Mr. Fanning, the "Irish Orator," is too well known in our state to need introduction. He is one of our most successful workers and speakers.

His terms are entertainment and an offering for the work. For dates write at once to your state corresponding secretary, Miss Mary E. Woodward, Fountain City. County presidents should secure dates for unorganized places as he will work to secure names for an organization. Write at once the number of dates you will want for your county.

LEGISLATIVE

Following many days of effort to get both branches of the Indiana legislature fully organized came the important event of the election of a United States senator on January 20th. This election resulted in the choice of Hon. Benjamin F. Shively of South Bend, to succeed Hon. James A. Hemenway.

A Housing bill has been introduced in the House and Senate at the instigation of the Indianapolis Commercial club and the charity organization.

This action grew out of a movement that was started for the purpose of investigating the housing conditions among the poorer classes of the cities and of taking some action to improve undesirable conditions. A large amount of information was gathered with reference to overcrowded conditions in tenement houses and apartments, and with reference to dark and unventilated and insanitary dwellings.

Simultaneously with this movement one was started in other parts of the state in the same direction, notably at Evansville, under the direction of Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon. Through her efforts, it is said, the conditions throughout the state have been investigated and a bill has been drafted. The bill has been referred to the House and Senate committees on public health.

Mrs. Bacon addressed the joint session of the Houses on this subject with credit to herself and the cause represented.

A bill to repeal the county option law is now in the hands of the Public Morals committee of the House of Representatives. The following is the list of the members of this committee: W. S.

Racey, Vincennes, representing Knox, Gibson, and Vanderburg counties; David B. Hostetter, Roachdale, Putnam county; Gilbert A. Elliott, South Bend, St. Joseph county; John B. Faulkner, Michigan City, Laporte county; Joseph Moss, Linton, Green county; E. W. McKennan, Garrett, DeKalb county; John G. Harris, Bloomington, Monroe and Brown counties; William Jay, Rushville, Rush county; J. G. Maddox, Hartford City, Blackford and Grant counties.

There is an effort by the temperance people to keep this committee from reporting on this bill until the real working of the county option law can be tested in the elections pending at an early date.

If the members of this committee each receive hundreds of letters from temperance men in their counties urging them not to report favorably on this bill it may stop further action altogether on the subject. No such bill has yet been introduced in the Senate.

Many bills relating to the regulation of liquor selling have been introduced. A resolution for an amendment to the constitution for state-wide prohibition has not yet been introduced.

So much uncertainty concerning the repeal of county option and there being danger of a party vote demanded that as yet there is no action.

The Senate has a Republican majority and the House of Representatives has a Democratic majority.

The County Option law was passed at the special session as a Republican measure with the help of a few Republicans in the Senate it could be repealed if brought to a strict party vote in both houses.

The Sunday Base Ball bill was presented in the House amid cheers by its author, Representative Thomas W. Brolley of North Vernon, from Jennings and Scott counties. This bill has been reported favorably by the committee and is likely to be before the House at almost any time. Every church in the state should make either a written or spoken protest against the passage of such a law. Personal interviews with the members of the House will accomplish much. There is no time for delay. The W. C. T. U. should work for the defeat of this measure by protests from all churches and christian organizations and by letters from women and men.

Thousands of good women are weary of the constant efforts required to urge their representatives in state and national affairs to vote for the welfare of the home and society. Still we must keep on doing these unpleasant things and obligating ourselves to perform such unnecessary tasks until this generation of boys shall come into manhood, then we may expect that women will enter the councils of the church and the state.

Today in Indiana woman is amenable to all the laws for crime etc., and must pay exactly the same tax rate as man but does not have a voice in matters of government under which she and her children live. This will be changed eventually but at present the best we can do is to work by petition and protest.—Continue to secure signatures to petitions for state-wide prohibition and send them in.

POLICE MATRONS.

Senator Wood introduced a bill providing that city councils in all cities with a population of 18,000 or more shall appoint police matrons, the salary to be fixed by the council. This amends the present law which makes the appointment of police matrons in such cities optional with the council. Primarily Senator Wood wishes to have a police matron appointed at Lafayette, but he says several other cities should have matrons. It is his idea that female prisoners should be taken care of by women. Usually he says there is some aversion among the members of a police force to having women connected with the department. He believes, though, that a woman as matron, would have a beneficial influence on young girls who are arrested.—Exchange.

The following petition expresses the sentiment of good people all over Indiana and hundreds of such requests should be made immediately.

PETITION TO THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE STATE OF INDIANA.

We, the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Allen County, of the State of Indiana, hereby petition your honorable body to pass a law compelling the city councils in all cities with a population of 10,000 or more to appoint police matrons, the salary to be fixed by the councils.

DEPARTMENT OF MEDICAL TEMPERANCE.

My Dear Co-Workers:

In this day and age of the world, when "the Nation is going dry," Indiana in particular, when we are voting the Black Demon Alcohol out of every corner of our State, we must be on the lookout, for he will, most assuredly bob up again, in some form or other. As "patent medicine" has long been one of his strong-holds, he will most likely conceive some attractive new name, and catch some of our unsuspecting "White Ribboners." We must be "wise as serpents" concerning these "frauds."

"To be forewarned is to be forearmed," and so dear county and local superintendent of Medical Temperance, I urge you to do all you can in your department. I have written a personal letter and sent literature to every county superintendent, or county president in the State asking them to supply all the unions in their county with literature. I want to urge every Union to supply their local physicians with literature. Send 5c to Mrs. M. M. Allen, Marcellus, N. Y. for a Physician's Package, and then please report to me what you have done. We can win the Banner if we supply every physician in the State with literature.

I have a number of copies of "The Great American Friend" which I would be glad to send you if you will send 4c to pay postage.

Yours for the Cause of Medical Temperance,
MRS. G. E. DENNY,
Madison, Ind.

YOUNG WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.

Dear County and Local Presidents:

I feel sure that we are all anxious that this be one of the best years in the history of our work, and I trust that we shall not only enter every open door, but strive to open many others which have heretofore been closed against us and our blessed cause.

For one, I am very anxious that many young women will become interested in Temperance work and be identified with us in the Young Woman's branch.

The opportunities for doing good and reaching out for others are legion. Many young people there are in our State today, who would be a power in accomplishing great things along the lines of our different departments of work, once we could get them interested and into our Y. branches. So many young women fail to realize how far reaching is their influence for good or evil and how great are their possibilities for doing good and leading others into paths of right living. If we could all realize what wonderful opportunities are ours as we stand upon the threshold of the new year. This is truly woman's age, a marvelous age. The whole universe is to be ours, providing we are strong enough to put self under our feet, providing we are brave enough to be true to the conviction of our highest womanhood. To do right, no matter how apparently overwhelming the opposing tide may be.

The possibilities of our lives are to be measured only by our unconscious influence.

Dear Young Women of Indiana, we need this work of the Y. W. C. T. U. for our own development and growth, we need to know more of the work of the world that we ourselves may be broadened, have more public spirit, be more patriotic. We need you, dear girls, the work in calling for you, you need to be in training for the broader work of the W. C. T. U.

Sisters of the W. C. T. U., will you not look around you, and do all in your power to enlist the young women, believing that as the nation will demand so much of the womanhood of tomorrow, you can in no way better aid the cause you love?

May God richly bless the few Y-Girls in Indiana, and may we not be contented until the number is greatly increased. We will see the increase if we work and pray. As I am not able to write to each county and local president, separately, I trust that you will each read this as a personal letter and appeal, and see that an earnest effort is made for organizing a Y-Branch in your town. The time is passing rapidly, do not delay, but be active in God's work.

I have Y. leaflets and pledge cards which I will gladly send to anyone asking for them, free, and the Y Year Books at 5c per copy. Please write for them, they will be very helpful.

Yours for the Young Women,
MISS LAURA G. CAMMACK,
State Secretary, Converse, Indiana.

TEMPERANCE LITERATURE.

The Plan of Work for this department has been sent to all county superintendents whose addresses were secured and to the presidents of counties where county superintendents' addresses were not known. If any one has failed to receive these, please drop me a card immediately.

The department of literature is one of the most important. It includes all of the other departments, setting forth the aim and object of the work attempted.

Much depends on the superintendent of literature. She should be well informed, be familiar with the literature of every different department of our work. The more intelligent each worker the greater her value. One cannot be all she ought to be in this work unless she reads the Union Signal as well as the state paper. It is my great desire that every union in the state of Indiana bring its subscription list to the Union Signal up to one-fourth its membership. How many are going to put forth their very best efforts to accomplish this? It can be done. Send to The Union Signal, Evansville, Ill., for sample copies.

The special mid-winter offer closes March 1, 1909. You yet have time to grasp the opportunity and secure your own paper free for one year. By sending a club of five subscriptions to the Union Signal, you secure a premium copy. At least three of the club are expected to be new subscriptions. The whole club, must be sent, with money, at one time, and premium copy asked for in same letter.

MRS. NETTIE D. WARE,
Superintendent of Literature,
Fairmount, Indiana.

MEDAL CONTEST DEPARTMENT

As we stand upon the threshold of this glad new year; as we meditate upon the past, and look into the future, freighted with privileges and responsibilities, may we not be glad to see the great service we may render the young people, and aid our glorious cause, and thus hasten the coming of the glad day when our land shall be free from the blighting influence of the saloon—by engaging in the Medal Contest Work.

Allow me to reiterate what I have said so many times—no one can possibly estimate the real educational value of having young people engage in a series of medal contests.

We speak from positive information, when we say, that during the past eighteen years that we have been interested in contest work, that thousands of boys and girls, who began in contests in early days, are today prominent workers for prohibition and reform movements. Many are teachers, preachers and platform orators. Dear sisters, go to work at once to organize a contest class. Aside from the good done for rising generations, your own life will be broadened, and sweetened here and Heaven will be enriched by your efforts. Yours for service for the young.

JULIA OVERMAN, Superintendent.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW.

As this is the time of year when we are all turning over new leaves, and making new resolutions, I hope every union in the state will turn a leaf in the interest of Parliamentary Usage.

This department is unlike most other departments, in that it can not bring forth a new plan of work every year. Our parliamentary laws, were handed down to us from Parliament, they are fixed, the all important thing for each union to do, is to study these laws.

Every union should have a superintendent; if this seems impracticable, then the president should do the work of the superintendent reporting same to county superintendent, and in case there is no county superintendent, report to state superintendent.

The question has been asked: "Which do you consider the best, Roberts' Rules of Order, or Mrs. Benjamin's Studies?" I would answer by saying they are in harmony with each other, but as Mrs. Benjamin's Studies are simplified and thus more easily understood and are also specially adapted to our use, I would recommend them for general use by the union, but as we say we are governed by Roberts' Rules, I would recommend that each union own a copy for reference when questions come up, and can not be settled by the "Studies."

This reference book should be placed with the superintendent of parliamentary usage, and when there is no superintendent the president should take charge of it, if we do our own studying, we will not have to trouble our national superintendent with foolish questions, such as appear in her parliamentary quiz column, in Union Signal.

The National has an honor roll, any state can be placed on this roll, by purchasing fifty, one hundred, or two hundred copies of Mrs. Benjamin's Studies. Indiana was on last year, for having ordered fifty copies, let us not do less this year, and more, if possible. The Studies can be purchased, either in single copies, at twenty cents per copy, or at fifty cents a set. A set consists of three books. No. 1, Voting, Elections—Duties of Officers. No. 2, Motions—Privileged, Secondary Incidental. No. 3, Rank of Motions.

Unions wishing to order by the dozen, can get them for $1.80, but remember, in order to be on the honor roll, the fifty copies must be ordered at one time by the state superintendent of unions, and individuals, therefore, who desire these helps, will please send orders, accompanied by money order, to your state superintendent, as soon as possible. I would also recommend the use of the Responsive Readings in union meetings, they are very helpful and can be purchased at sixty cents per hundred.

Parliamentary Law cards can be secured at sixty cents a dozen.

Send all orders through your state superintendent, in order that we may have a full report at close of the year. I would recommend that each union have a parliamentary drill, once a quarter, if this can not be done, have at least two during the year. In making your program for the year plan for three drills.

If more attention is given to parliamentary usage, we will have less talk and more work.

How often we hear it said, "We talked a good deal about a certain thing, but we did not come to any definite conclusion. Parliamentary usage makes you come to a definite conclusion on all subjects under discussion."

Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year, I am your "To do all things in a decent and orderly manner,"

MARTHA L. GIPE,

State Superintendent.

DEPARTMENT PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

Dear Sisters:

In December I sent each local president in the state my plan of work with samples of literature which I expected them to hand to their local superintendent of this department, if there was one. But nearly every day letters come to me from local superintendents asking for the plan of work, and also letters and cards from local presidents telling me who their local superintendents are and asking me to send literature and plans of work to them. So far, I have complied with these requests, but cannot promise to keep up this plan as the literature which I bought is nearly exhausted and I do not think it necessary. I thought this was given all the explanation that was needed in the January Message, but I fear that some failed to read. I have already expended twice the amount provided by state fund and as the women write me so often and want answers, if you just remember to enclose a stamp, or stamped envelope, it will help a great deal to lessen the expenses of this department. However, do not be afraid to write me at any time, even if you do not feel that you care to pay return postage. I am greatly pleased to know so many unions are taking up the work. I have heard from several new counties already and I'm sure many more will follow. A few have ordered copies of the state law and many more ought to do so without fail. Let us try and get the work of this department well started before the end of this quarter. Several have written asking how to get other members of the union interested and how to really let them know of the importance of this department. I wish to suggest to local presidents that the superintendent of this department be given a place on the program at some regular meeting, when she may explain about her department and thus get the others to co-operate with her.

Trusting that all will unite in helping us in our work, and that I may hear from you each and all, I am yours for service,

ELNORA G. McNAUGHTON,
Ray, Ind., Box 94, Steuben Co.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

Important Suggestions to Superintendents.

If you are a county superintendent, write to each local president asking that a wide-awake, interested woman be appointed local superintendent of this department.

Request of the county president that this topic be given prominent place at all county conventions.

Provide yourself with all the department leaflets, studying the question well, yourself. Write frequently to your local helpers, visiting each union once or twice during the twelve months, in the interest of the department. Urge co-operation in all the plans presented by the state superintendent. Help me win one of the beautiful Frances E. Willard Memorial Banners, presented by the National department to the two states making the most progress in this particular department, during the year. Remember that the number of active local superintendents, and total number of pages of literature used to create sentiment, will count. Advise local unions to consider.

WHAT A LOCAL SUPERINTENDENT CAN DO.

1. Take steps immediately to hold a Special Physical Education Meeting. Select most favorable time and place. Advertise well. Written invitations will secure attendance. Ask each one receiving invitation, to bring a friend with her.

2. Select women with some influence in the community who can read the papers with spirit, provided they have good voice.

3. Have good music.

RAILROAD DEPARTMENT.

Dear Superintendents:

While there are but a small number of county superintendents of this department at present, I am very sure there will be many more in the near future. Each county not showing a superintendent, I have asked the county president to try to secure one, and have received several favorable replies.

Hope each of you have received my communication, and also the literature sent under separate cover. The railroad department is a large field for work and I hope much good may be done throughout the state this year. Very truly,

MORAL EDUCATION.

Dear Sisters:

From the annual report I have the name and address of thirty-five county superintendents, some new, some old, to all I have sent my plan of work, with enough literature to form the foundation for many meetings and they are so much needed. Ours is the department for prevention as well as cure. Many mothers have said to me: "O, if I only had known these things earlier in life." Now that you do know, help some young girl or mother to know.

Dear County Superintendents, won't you try to have a local superintendent in every union in your county. A live working superintendent. Keep in touch with your locals and see that they keep a record of all work done and report to you. I will send a limited number of report blanks, but will send more later on. According to the directory in annual report, DeKalb, Gibson, Rush, Spencer, Knox and Wells counties have no superintendent for this department. This I regret so much, for everywhere we have the mothers and babies, that might be helped so much by the instruction given by our department. I trust these counties will soon appoint superintendents and send their names to me. I will be very glad to send them some helps. I will expect a report from every county that I have sent supplies to. Please do not disappoint me. I know I am late in getting anything to you, but I wrote to the National superintendent long ago for her plans that I might formulate mine in harmony with hers, but as yet not a word from her. Her appropriation is sufficient to send to every state thousands of pages of literature. Write to her for free literature, address, Mrs. Helen Bullock, 305 E. Church street, Elmira, N. Y. I desire to help you in any way I can. Yours for service,

MRS. S. M. STAHL,

State Superintendent of Moral Education and

Dear County Presidents:

A number of you have responded to my request made in January Message and have located your institute, and I take this opportunity of thanking you. I am looking for letters from every one of you and so will thank, in advance, those from whom I have not yet heard. Up to the present time, this year promises to be the best we have had in the institute department since I have been state superintendent.

There are yet a few things I want to ask of you that will make the work more profitable, much easier and more successful in every way.

Doubtless each county would like to choose their leader, but this is not possible if we cover the ground, so I am going to ask every one to accept dates (where it is possible) and leader scheduled, and to welcome the workers with warm hearts, helpful hands and earnest prayers.

If you do this I am sure that they will be made a blessing to you all. Remember that an institute is a "School of Methods" and the purpose in holding it is: First. To gain a better knowledge of the work and how to do it. Second. To develop local talent of which there is so much lying dormant. Third. To solicit new members and enlarge our subscription list to the Union Signal and Crusader Monthly. Fourth. To interest people who do not appear interested by getting into personal touch with them. Fifth. To reach the masses of the people. The leader is the instructor in all the day meetings and can also speak at the night meeting if desired. I would, however, suggest that this year an effort be made to have two or three speakers at the night meetings. Let the institute leader have some of the time, but use some of your local temperance men and your prohibition ministers. Have some good music, solos and recitations.

Do not omit the contest. It is a wonderful educator and also helps out on the finances. After the institute try and make plans to have Mrs. Vayhinger or Mrs. Stanley visit you and thus keep burning the fire which I trust will be kindled during the institute.

Oh, there are so many things I would like to ask you to do, for I do so desire that this year, when we are striving to bring up our membership to 10,000 and during which there will be such battles to be fought, that our institutes may be the means of strengthening our women both in knowledge and numbers. Dear sisters, I am depending on you to do your very best and I believe you will not fail me.

Remember, to be very particular in filling out the report blanks, as it is on these I must depend when awarding the beautiful institute pennant which last year went to Dearborn county.

In March Message will appear a list of the weaker counties in which we hope to do some work this year. Write me for information or help. Lovingly yours,

ROSE PEARCE.

INDIANA JOY BELLS, JANUARY, 1909.

My Dear Legioners:

1909 is here. A fresh spotless, New Year! What shall we do with it? Are you ashamed of last year's record? Did you ever feel you wanted to begin all over anew, "forgetting those things which are behind" the failures; discouragements, and all that was disagreeable, and with a new zeal and determination try again? Well the time has come for this very thing. Our nation is in a mighty battle, we are the soldiers and every lagging step of ours hinders the victory, "To the Front," is our command this year. May every Legioner respond promptly, eagerly to every call. In a letter from our National Secretary recently, I received great inspiration from a verse which she quoted from that beautiful poem, "Seed Sowing," allow me to repeat it and may it sink into every heart that reads it:

THE MESSAGE.

"Take to yourselves the lesson of Infinite labor and pain,

Giving your lives and your fortunes, hoping for nothing again;

Count not the fruitless efforts that only the Father knows,

Nor think of the loss with grumbling, if only one seed grows."

You will all rejoice to know that Indiana made a gain of 82 subscriptions to the Crusader Monthly during November. Our list is now 950, this is good but let's make it better. Why not bring our list up to 2,000 this year, as soon as you get this, why not plan to take a half-day and see how many subscribers you can get, this is the first call. How many will respond? The second important call is for graduates, what are you doing towards the 150 graduates which is our goal for this year? We must have them, we will, I am sure, if we all put our shoulder to the wheel and push. Are you a graduate? Are all the young persons over whom you have influence graduates? If not try to get them into a class at once, an hour a week together will soon complete the course. At our next state convention to be held in Greencastle we want every graduate who possibly can attend to be in the graduate march and to sit on the platform on graduate evening. We are planning for a wonderful convention and only those who are graduates can vote. Thirdly, the call is sounding for dues, without them, we are crippled, with them we can do wonders, so see that the dues of every one whose name is on your Legion roll is kept paid up. Send same to Harry S. Walsh, Bedford, Indiana. Let us bring Indiana to the very front rank this year and show Mother National what the old Hoosier state can do; "On to Victory!" Loyally, DeEtte Walker.

The following new county secretaries of L. T. L. branch reported:

Elkhart—Mrs. Mattie Kingman of Goshen.
Marion—Miss Jeanette Gike, 1113 N. Alabama St., Indianapolis.

Stauben—Mrs. Ella McNaughton, Ray.
Huntington—Mrs. Wilmetta E. Roush, Warren.
Spencer—Mrs. Alice Roberts, Rockport.
Pulaski—Mrs. Sarah Gillinger, Star City.
Wells—Mrs. Minnie Klernight, Tocsin.
New local secretaries of Legions:
Wells—Mrs. Ella Benneett, R. R. 1, Keystone.
Posey—Mrs. Isaiah Fletchall, Poseyville.
Noble—Mrs. C. A. Gardner, Kendallville.
Morgan—Mrs. Flora E. Monical, Brooklyn.
Hamilton—Mrs. Ella Pierce, Atlanta.
Grant—Mrs. S. G. Anderson, 3411 S. Washington St., Marion.

Blackford—Miss Merl Williamson, Hartford City.

Jefferson—Mrs. Robert Wood, R. R. 2, Madison.
In a new legion at Francisville, name of leader not given. Was organized by Mrs. Ellen Pattis Allen. Mrs. Deuny writes that the F. E. Willard legion of Madison had a Christmas party at their parlors, December 24, after a short program, introduction of Santa Claus, the Legioners followed him to the children's home, and each child there was presented with a Wonder Bag filled with dolls, books, toys and candy. These wonder bags were made by the legion boys and girls, and they all felt repaid, when they saw the faces of the orphan children light up with joy.

The Ida M. Mix legion of Kokomo furnished the music for the W. C. T. U. the evening the report was given of the National convention, helped with the jail and county infirmary meeting at Christmas times. This legion is doing splendid work along all lines of our department work under the splendid leadership of our dear Mrs. Pedigo. To the F. E. Willard legion Elwood we extend loving sympathy in the loss of one of their devoted, earnest members, Mr. Charles Mastern, who in stepping from one track to escape a freight train, stepped on another to be instantly killed by another train, he was a leader in both the church and temperance work, and will be greatly missed.

Your state secretary attended the memorial service held in the library at Elwood, the club room being well filled with young men and women. Nineteen young men legioners were present, and six more joined that afternoon, as well as one young lady. This legion is also doing excellent work under the superintendency of our beloved State Vice President Mr. Cowley and Miss Pearl Mathews.

Mrs. Ethel E. Bair writes from North Liberty that their legion is doing good work. They now have three teachers. She is studying for a diploma. I wish all L. T. L. leaders would do likewise. Eighty-eight legioners paid dues last quarter, from eight legions. Only six returned the blanks. I sent out over one hundred. Will you superintendents and leaders please send them in at once, telling what you have done in your legion the past quarter. Read carefully our president's letter in this issue and do all you can in the three special calls she gives us. Let us do our best to encourage and help her in her plans. She is devoted to the work, loves it and wants to see "things moving." Just as we all do, so let us do our best for Crusader Monthly. Dues and Graduates the remainder of this year. Our legion year closes the fifteenth of June. Plan largely for delegates to state convention, give some kind of entertainment, social, contest or market to raise money to send them. I believe you will answer to all these plans of our dear president, then help the state superintendents of our various departments by keeping an account of all work done and sending it in on time, a list of departments and name with address of each superintendent was sent out in July issue. We have taken up thirteen. They are: Work among colored people; anti-gambling; anti-narcotics; press; flower mission; medal contests; Sabbath observance; systematic giving literature; mercy; junior L. T. L.; parliamentary usage and physical culture. Now, if a legion can not do work in all these departments, they can in some of them, so select the ones you can do work in and if you do not know who the superintendent is, just drop me a postal telling what you wish to know and I will forward it to the superintendent and it will not be long until you will get an answer from the one who will help you as we do have earnest devoted leaders at the head of these departments who want to see their work go on. And this is our very best year in department work, the largest graduates class, 2,000 subscribers to Crusader Monthly, 150 graduates, all present at our state convention to be held at Greencastle this summer, together with all who have graduated in former years, as well as all earnest seniors, and all with dues paid into our state treasurer, at close of year, June 15, 1909, then we can have a fine convention and be able to get our annual report printed. Lovingly to help.

FIELD NEWS

Muncie—An effort was made to double the membership of the Normal City Union and we more than succeeded, under the sweet influence and well-conducted plans of our dear President, Mrs. Bond (of whom we all feel it is an honor to work for). A contest was decided on; sides were chosen by captains; Mrs. Clara Birt leading the blue ribboners, Mrs. Gay Calvert the red ribboners. The contest was open for four weeks, during which time both sides worked diligently, each side eager to have the honor of gaining the most members. Thirty-two active members were enrolled, the blue ribboners have eighteen; the white ribboners gained fourteen. We were highly elated over the success of the contest, and in honor of the event held a reception for the new members, in which we also entertained our husbands and families. A short program was rendered, after which an oyster supper was served.

Mrs. Gay Calvert, Press Supt.

The Hartford City W. C. T. U. met January 12, Mrs. Stahl residing. After the devotions, Mrs. Anna Moore read a paper on "A Mother's Influence;" Mrs. Johns gave a short parliamentary drill. This was followed by a talk on Woman's Suffrage by Mrs. Moffett. She said in part: "There are about 300,000 women in Indiana who pay taxes and are not represented in the halls of legislature. One half the people of the state are deprived of the ballot because they are women."

"President Roosevelt in his address to congress did not advocate women's suffrage but he did recommend that the salary of the president be increased to $100,000 per year and four new battle ships to cost $10,000,000 each and that the salaries of the judges be doubled.

"Taxation without representation was tyranny in 1775-76. What are we as unfranchised citizens to think of it now? The deluded idea that women will be unwomanly and neglect her home is, if she uses the ballot, proven false by the hundred who march to the poles on election days in states and countries where women vote."

Petitions will be sent to congress asking for woman's suffrage.

Elkhart—The month of December will go down in the history of Elkhart Central Union as a most interesting period. This month is marked by four special meetings.

Pulaski County's Gain—Mrs. Ellen L. Potter, President of Pulaski county, was married to M. Erasmus Allen on November 15th at Ehornhope. They had been youthful lovers, but were separated for years, Mr. Allen living in Kansas. Each had married and been bereaved by death. In maturer years again they plighted their troth, and now are happily united in marriage. The Message extends cordial congratulations.

The Ossian W. C. T. U. held its second Matrons' Silver Medal contest Thursday evening, December 3rd, at the Presbyterian church. There was a well-filled house, and each number on the program was interesting and delivered in a pleasing manner. The contestants were Mesdames Carrie Martin, Lulu Hoopengardner, Laura Gorrell, J. V. Allen and Lillian Bash. Mrs. Bash won the medal. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Misses Orpha Bailey, Eva Kline, Ilo Elzey, Opal Quackenbush, Inez Gorrell and Mrs. George Glass. Mrs. Hagler gave a very interesting report from the State W. C. T. U. Convention at Bedford. There is in Indiana at the present time seven thousand members of this great organization. We hope for ten thousand before the next State Convention, which shall be held at Muncie in 1909. Mrs. Pearl Rector gave a very amusing reading, which received the hearty applause which it deserved. A liberal collection was taken after which Rev. Rhodes pronounced the benediction.

Dearborn County, Bright Union—We had Mrs. Gertrude Fulton with us on World's Temperance Sunday; she gave a very interesting talk in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, and in the evening a mass meeting was held in the M. E. church. The Senior L. T. L. sang several rousing temperance songs and Charles Heiskel recited "The South is Going Dry." The Junior L. T. L. sang one song, and little Glays Gibson, daughter of our County W. C. T. U. President, delighted the audience with a recitation. But the best of all was Mrs. Fulton's splendid address on the work of the W. C. T. U., with especial emphasis on the department of Christian Citizenship. Every one was delighted with Mrs. Fulton, and we hope to have her back to Bright some time.

Laporte Union—Again Laporte has been victorious. Last July the manager of the five-cent theater was going to present to the city council a petition asking permission to give shows on Sunday evening. The W. C. T. U. also prepared a petition in opposition to the act. On learning this the man did not present his so there was no need of action either way. On December 30th, the manager of the Hall's theater without consulting any one advertised a show for Sunday evening, January 3rd. This again aroused the good people. Pastors and laymen said this shall not be. The warning was given but was not heeded. Sabbath eve the curtain went up. No sooner up than down. The managers were arrested and taken to the office of Justice Grover where they were given a hearing. During their stay the head man announced to the house that the curtain did not work and needed fixing but would soon be repaired and all would be lovely. Meanwhile the orchestra entertained the small audience with choice music. The managers gave bond "the time for their trial having been named" and returned to the hall and gave their show. This was very embarrassing to all concerned. Later they promised to do different and that they would undertake no more Sunday shows. So the trial was recalled. The members of this union and other good people feel that their prayers and efforts have not been in vain and will pray and work on.

Indianapolis Frances Willard—On the afternoon of January 12, union met at the home of Mrs. A. R. Grey, 2610 College avenue. Rev. Crist of the Moravian church, an honorary member, gave an instructive parliamentary drill. At roll call, each member repeated a verse of Scripture. Next month each verse is to contain the word "Charity."

Mrs. Maggie Gibson, of Bright, County President, attended the regular meeting of the Cold-springs Union, December 1st, and gave a report of the State Convention, and also explained the Plan of the County Work for this year. Almost every member was present and several visitors. This Union is small in numbers, but loyal and true to the cause.

Mrs. Kemp gave a good report of the meeting of the local council of women. A dollar for general expenses was sent by a friend. Mrs. Frances Williams, also contributed a dollar for same. Mrs. Mary McDermid spoke on press work. She urged the need of keeping our work before the public by press reports, that it may understand that we are here to say and that a discerning public may know that we do not spend our time in idle gossip. She also deplored the fact that so many of our temperance sermons, lectures and meetings do not reach the persons that so badly need them. A letter from Mrs. Waldren of Riverside, was read to the union, telling of persecution to her family by the saloon element, the result of her activity against the liquor business. A letter of sympathy was sent to her and a special meeting appointed for her home.

Mrs. McDermid

College Corner—Mrs. Gertrude Fulton of Portland, delegate to the National W. C. T. U. convention at Denver, Col., made a fine report of the convention at an afternoon meeting held in the Methodist church.

Hamilton W. C. T. U. met at the pleasant home of Mrs. Robert Renner, Tuesday afternoon, January 12th. Our beloved county president, Mrs. Edna Smith of Ray was present and gave a very interesting and inspiring report of the National convention at Denver, where she was the honored delegate from this district. The report was indeed an incentive to the white ribboners who heard it to work with renewed energy in our noble cause and was, therefore, highly appreciated and a unanimous vote of thanks was given Mrs. Smith, after which a delightful supper was served by the ladies of the union.

The Cold Springs W. C. T. U. held a Mother's meeting at the home of Mrs. Sarah Evans. A choice and interesting program was rendered, including music, select reading, "A Discouraged Mother," Mrs. Della Williams; "Lottie's Message," Mrs. Mary Burroughs; select reading, "The Christian Home," Mrs. Sarah Evans.

Thornton W. C. T. U. received two new members the first quarter with the promise of more. The officers for the year are: President, Mrs. Ann McLaughlin; vice president, Mrs. Mary Jenkins; recording secretary, Mrs. Estella Stubbs; corresponding secretary, Mattie C. Peery; treasurer, Mrs. John Templeton.

HOW THE GOVERNMENT AIDS THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

(Mrs. Gertrude Q. Campbell.)

Dr. Woodrow Wilson, President of Princeton University, said in a recent address: "The tariff, after all, is central to half the questions which now perplex us in regard to the reform of our economic structure, and processes," and added, "The power of the Government to tax ought never to be used to confer privileges upon individuals or groups of individuals."

This power, however, has been conferred to the detriment of the people, and the motives have been glossed over, and made political issues, until comparatively few comprehend the power with which the people of the United States today are struggling. Many do not understand the workings of a protective tariff, and the privileges of money getting, it confers on those who are protected. Especially is this true of temperance workers, and that we may have some knowledge of the power with which the people of the United States today are struggling. Many do not understand the workings of a protective tariff, and the privileges of money getting, it confers on those who are protected. Especially is this true of temperance workers, and that we may have some knowledge of power behind the liquor traffic take whisky and spirits, protected $2.25 per gallon. This means that the retailer must buy it of the manufacturer at an advance of $2.25 over the cost of production, or, if he buys it outside the United States, he must pay a fine of $2.25 to the Government for the privilege of bringing it in. It being easier, he pays the manufacturer the $2.25 advance, and the manufacturer hands $1.10, called "internal revenue," to the Government and puts the remaining dollar in his pocket as profit. This on an article that costs about fifteen cents. The people are taxed by the Government to support an army of gaugers, detectives and revenue officers, to make sure that the $1.10 is collected, and no one manufacturer distills liquors who does not pay. The retailer gets in his work, the people bear the burden of crime, debauchery, agony, insanity, degeneracy and pauperism. If this privilege conferred by the Government power to tax were taken from the manufacturers of intoxicants (do not forget that word means poisons) there would not be so much money behind the liquor interests to defeat the will of the people, buy its representatives to the law-making bodies of the state and nation, and spread its slimy wreck and corpse-strewn trail over the body politic and social.

Prof. Walter Rauschenbusch, of Rochester, N. Y., in an address delivered before he vangelical-Social Congress at Dessau, Germany, in regard to America's drink problem, said: "Our fight in America is now with the great capitalists who battle for their interests, with a power that injures the people, in order to obtain dividends* * * You do not yet know in Germany of the artifice, the cunning, the criminal force which these money interests display in America."

REPORT OF LOCAL OPTION ELECTIONS.

(From Daily Newspapers.)

Tuesday, February 23, 1909—Elections were held in five counties as follows: Grant, Howard, Newton, Adams and Daviess. All Dry.

Five counties in Indiana, two of them large and with populous cities, voted yesterday to oust the saloons. The size of the majorities was surprising.

At 2 o'clock this morning it was evident the "dry's" majority in Grant county would exceed two thousand. Out of eighty-five precincts, eighty-three had been heard from and the "dry" majority at that time reached 1,993. The two unheard from precincts are in the country and will probably increase the majority.

Center township in which Marion is located, voted "wet" by only 18 majority. This included the Soldiers' Home vote which gave the "wets" two hundred majority. The city of Marion may be said to have voted "dry."

The election in Grant county went off quietly, and a fairly full vote was cast.

Voters of the country and in the small towns were aroused at daylight by a discharge of firearms and the ringing of church bells. Neeley Ratliff, a farmer in Franklin township, caused excitement at 5 o'clock in the morning by ringing a large dinner bell. His neighbors supposed that he was sounding an alarm of fire or burglary, and many of them arose and hurried to his home, only to find that he was a local option enthusiast.

Most of the eighty-five precincts reported that three-fourths of the vote had been polled at noon. The liquor men used automobiles and rigs in getting out their vote and were very aggressive. The "drys" had to use private rigs, the "wets" having slipped up on them and secured most of the livery vehicles in advance.

Women were active in outside precincts in getting out the vote of the "drys." A number of women remained at the polls at Gas City most of the day, imploring the men to "Vote for me." Women also worked at the Soldiers' Home. At Roseburg the W. C. T. U. women served free lunch to all the voters.

Howard County by 1,800.

The majority for the "drys" in Howard county will reach 1,800. The city of Kokomo, however, went "wet" by 212. Every other township in the county went "dry."

"Drys" Carried Adams.

Adams county, the northernmost county of this congressional district, went dry by about 600. The town of Decatur, the county-seat, went dry by 100. The temperance forces carried every township in the county, though Adams county in elections is 1,200 Democratic.

Newton County Also.

In Newton county in the north part of the state the "drys" majority reached 250.

And Then Daviess.

In Daviess county of which Washington is the county seat, the "wets" were put to the bad frightfully. The "drys" carried every township in the county and twenty-six out of the thirty-four precincts. The "dry" majority was 1,357.

February 24, 1909—Morgan county voted dry having a majority of about 1,055 in that county.

Thursday, February 25, 1909—Fountain, Hendricks, Fayette, and Carroll counties will hold elections. Friday, Gibson. Saturday, Rush county.

RUM AND DRUGS RUINING THE WOMEN OF AMERICA

Result Is Increase of Degenerate Children, Says Woman Head of Training School for Girls.

(Chicago Correspondent in Exchange.)

That American women of the large cities, through the use of drugs and intoxicants, are causing an increase of degeneracy in children was the warning delivered by Mrs. Ophelia Amigh, head of the State Training School for Girls at Geneva, Ill., in an address to the West End Women's club.

"America for years has furnished conditions peculiarly favorable to degeneracy," declared Mrs. Amigh. "The strenuous life of the average American citizen has many aspects bearing on degeneracy in general, and vice and crime in particular. Lust for wealth, desire for social supremacy, ambition for fame, love of display, late hours, lack of rest—especially by women—all these factors combine to cause a distinctly American disease.

"The American women of the fashionable set lives in a whirl of unhealthful stress and excitement. She sleeps too little and keeps her nerves constantly on the qui vive. She tipsles and drugs for headaches and insomnia, due to her unhygienic mode of life. She is often a degenerate and the mother of a degenerate, if indeed she be a mother at all.

"This drinking among women is getting to be more common than we are willing to believe, and it is one of the greatest dangers with which we are confronted today.

"The hurry and fret of American life are turning out degenerates at a rate that will one day stagger the world.

"Ignorance and bad parentage are doing the work in many instances, and girls comparatively good are led off by bad men and worse women.

"Children who have been well born and should have been well reared find their way into the schools for delinquents, the jails, penitentiaries and insane hospitals. The heredity of many of these children is appalling and their environment does the rest.

"We have received more than 1,400 girls into our school, and with few exceptions they have been children of alcohol inheritance. Are they to be blamed for the circumstances surrounding their young lives? Not at all.

"The number of moral imbeciles that come to us is simply appalling, and you have object lessons enough right here in Chicago, New York and other cities. Degenerate theatricals have much to do with it."

COUNTY OPTION.

The only possible chance to save the county option law is to influence the senators now to refuse to vote for its repeal. By a big majority the senate passed the Sunday base ball bill, the same men will vote to repeal county option unless they hear from home. Every woman who reads these lines can help to save the county option law viz: By getting telegrams and telephone messages sent to senators. The W. C. T. U. will, no doubt, everywhere pay for sending telegrams—write the telegrams, and get prominent men to sign them, then see that they are sent immediately. Suggestive telegrams, addressed, Senator _____, State House, Indianapolis, Ind.

"Great Interest here in county option law. Don't vote repeal."

"For the sake of our homes, town, county, vote against the repeal county option."

"Disastrous now to vote for repeal of county option."

Telegrams signed by two or three prominent men will have influence. Send telegrams from organizations signed by the officers.

Women will you help now? Will you each one do all that you can just as soon as these lines are read? County option is the best law we have and we must not let it be repealed when work and three or four dollars from each union will prevent repeal. Prohibition state-wide, is what we want and what we will get eventually, in the meantime, we must hold on to this county option.

In the state where counties are voting dry, it is hard for our good people to realize the mighty work being done here at the capitol by the liquor interests. Never has there been such a powerful moneyed lobby, such determination and effective work right in the face of the counties voting out the saloon at such a rapid rate.

Except for the canvass of the state by the W. C. T. U. with petitions for state-wide prohibition, arousing public sentiment, and later the letters, telegrams and personal appeals made to legislators the county option law would have been repealed early in the session of the legislature. By the hardest work we have caused delay in repeal, now is the crisis and only heroic persistent work and the expenditure of money for telegrams, telephone messages and special delivery letters will prevent repeal.

Few telegrams of ten words from any part of Indiana will cost more than thirty-five or forty cents, nearer the rate is twenty-five cents.

Many good men will help if you will "put on your bonnet" and go right out and tell them the conditions and ask them to help with their time and influence. The only influence that counts now against repeal of county option is "hearing from home." No legislator can afford to disregard requests made by his constituency, hence the necessity of making these requests and not taking too much for granted.

If you were at the capitol now and knew of the power of the liquor lobby you would, I am sure, help in this time of greatest need. Your estimate of what you can do may seem of little consequence but remember when Napoleon moved southward from his disastrous march on Moscow, a single snowflake dropped silently down through the air—white, noiseless, weightless, alone, it might not have bent even the plume-tip that quivered on the soldier's helmet. The eye that saw it fall might not have been moved to repeat the glance, but there came another and still another. They fell by thousands, and tens of thousands, till emperor and common soldier alike knew their fate was sealed. They blocked the path of the infantry, of the horsemen; they made the wheels of the artillery to drive heavily until beneath those snowflakes, so insignificant in themselves, the once conquering legions sank, like Pharaoh's host in the waves of returning seas.

We must not fail to realize the importance of little efforts, how in their aggregate they are powerful. By these individual efforts we will secure legislation for the better protection of our homes and gain the victory over the liquor hosts. Anxiously

LUELLA F. McWHIRTER,
State Superintendent Legislation.

Mrs. Rose Pierce urgently requests that all mail sent to her, be addressed to Cayuga, her correct address. A mistake in the February Message giving her address, Lafayette, has caused much inconvenience.

Mrs. Isabelle Rice, claiming to be from New York appeared in Grant county speaking in the interests of the "wets" at different places. She claimed to have indorsement from the Union Signal. I telegraphed to the editor to find if this were true and received the following reply:

Evanston, Ill., February 22, 1909.

Dear Mrs. Vayhinger:

I enclose clipping from the U. S. which tells all we know of Mrs. Isabelle Rice. I have been at headquarters twelve years and never heard of her until she appeared last year in South Carolina.

Printed in Union Signal, May 21, 1908.

A DELUDED WOMAN.

A Mrs. Isabelle Rice, who claims to be an evangelist from New York, is holding street meetings in the cities of North Carolina, in the interests of the antiprohibitionists. Among other testimonials to her efficiency and good character, Mrs. Rice claims to have the indorsement of the Union Signal. Needless to say, no such indorsement has ever been given within the memory of the oldest member of the Union Signal staff, and Mrs. Rice was never head of any official at W. C. T. U. headquarters until she appeared in the South as the champion of the liquor interests. According to newspaper reports, her efforts seem to have the opposite effect from that intended and desired, as "many turned away in disgust at the sight of a woman taking the stump against temperance. Several who had intended to vote "wet" went away declaring that they will now vote "dry."

It is a well established fact that no matter how low a man may sink in the moral scale, he never loses his ideal for woman. And the woman who throws her influence on the wrong side of a moral question invariably forfeits the esteem of those whose interests she seeks to promote. Happily, there are but few women who can be induced to publicly espouse a cause that stands for the degradation of womanhood, even though the material compensation offered is great. And these few are objects of disgust and commiseration on the part of friend and foe alike.—U. S., May 21, 1908.

I hope all the women will bear this in mind and when she comes to your county let this be known.

Yours,
CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

GOOD OFFICERS.

First. To be a good corresponding secretary is to attend each meeting of the union as far as possible, note all business transacted, report to state and county secretaries all newly elected officers immediately after election, write all letters of business, sympathy, congratulations etc., answer all letters promptly. Report the news from the field in her own union meetings.

Second. To be a good recording secretary, study the duty of recording secretary from state minutes, Sec. 4; keep an accurate account of the proceedings of the meetings, which, when approved, shall be copied in a permanent record book. The duties of a recording secretary are numerous. The recording of the minutes of previous meetings also executive meetings, calling the roll, recording all business transacted, all resolutions adopted, all motions made, with names of those making them, all motions lost unless otherwise ruled, keep a record of the program as fully as the union desires, names of those taking part, the principal point of addresses and discussions, no bills should be paid except on order drawn by the recording secretary and signed by the president. Notify committees and superintendents of their appointments also the members of special meetings, when so requested.

Third. A good treasurer must be untiring in her efforts until paid is written opposite the names of every member of the union. This may necessitate a visit, a personal reminder to many of the members. To make plans to raise money and gain new members as well being prompt in sending reports to county treasurer at the end of each quarter are excellent qualities of this particular office. To live up to what the constitution requires not only make good, but model officers.

Richmond, Ind., Feb. 17, 1909.

Dear Editor Message—

We did what we could in the way of writing letters to Legislators as suggested; and have received from our County Representative assurance that there will be no change at this time in the way of appointing the Board of the Women's Prison Girls' School etc.

The women of Indiana are certainly indebted to their superintendent of legislation and petition for promptness in looking up the things to be done and clearness in directing how to do them. "I know the W. C. T. U. of Indiana wants to say 'Amen.'"

Peace and Arbitration.

Also kindly let me say this word to all those who wish to do something for peace this year. 1. Read what you see in the daily and weekly press, so as to keep posted as to things of today in regard to preparation for war and movements that make for peace. 2. Speak of these things among your friends and so arouse more interest in the work. 3. Do your best to have the 18th of May (Hague Day) commemorated in your public schools and hold a social Peace Meeting in the evening, inviting men and women guests. 4. Get subscribers to the Messenger of Peace, take it yourself; get every local union to take a copy, and when you have nothing to report at your monthly business meeting, read an article from The Messenger of Peace. New York unions distribute about 300 copies of this paper and in no other way that I know of can 25 cents do so much for the cause. I wish I could say that the paper is taken in every union in the state of Indiana. Get subscribers at your county institutes. Your for earnest work, H. Lavinia Bailly, superintendent.

February 8th, the Anderson Y. W. C. T. U. held their regular meeting combined with social features at the home of their president, Miss Sears, assisted by Misses Adaline and Nellie Bell Van Loon. The "Y. Year Books" programs were filled, and games and dainty refreshments closed one of the most enjoyable evenings. The Anderson Y's are growing in influence and numbers.

Money Raising Calendars.

The calendar plan of raising money has been found very successful in different church societies. Why not try it in the W. C. T. U.?

Twelve women are chosen for the months, each of these women chose four other women as weeks, each of these (women) weeks find for themselves seven (women) days.

All the months, weeks, and days save a penny a day, and at the end of each month a calendar meeting is held to which all money is sent or brought. Men and children can take part in the calendar. Where the community is small a six months' calendar can be made successful.

January 3rd, our dear state president was greeted with a large and enthusiastic audience at the M. E. church. The number only exceeded when ex-Governor Hanly was here. Very many were the words of appreciation, and we trust that the slumbering conscience was awakened to see the need of the hour. January 4th, she addressed a mothers' meeting, placing clearly the responsibility of motherhood and the need of early training.

Frances Willard Memorial service was fittingly observed. Our beloved county president giving the human side of her life. Three other papers were given by members of the union. February 24th the union met at the home of Mrs. Dr. A. H. Sears, after a business session, Mrs. Leib, our retired president, gave a report of the temperance work in Florida. She spoke of the enthusiasm in the South land and how proudly they wear the bow of white ribbon. Refreshments were served and all felt repaid. Your for service, Mrs. Tilman Hobson.

FRANCES WILLARD MEMORIAL.

Under the auspices of Central W. C. T. U. of Lafayette, Indiana, a very impressive public memorial service was held in St. Paul's M. E. church on Sunday afternoon, February 21.

Invitations to the various local unions, and to the public in general had been extended through the columns of the local papers, with the result that a large audience was present.

A noticeable feature being the large percentage of men present. The weather was ideal and the excellent program was well rendered.

The musical features were a vocal solo, "Lead, Kindly Light," by Miss Edna Battreall. Vocal solo, "Is It Very Far to Heaven," by Little Ruth Harrison, eight years of age, and a cornet solo by Paul Smith. The Scripture lesson read by Rev. L. S. Smith. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Henry Budge, county president of Tippecanoe county.

Familiar hymns were sung by the audience. Rev. Lewis S. Smith, pastor of St. Paul's church gave the memorial address in a concise manner, briefly touching upon the principal events in the life of Frances Willard and paying a touching tribute to her memory.

He was followed by Rev. Demetrius Tillotson of Trinity church, this city, who gave a very logical address on "The Present Status of the Temperance Question in Indiana." This was delivered in his usual forceful and convincing manner.

The offering was a generous one. The event a complete success and Central Union feels that this was indeed a red letter day. Mrs. W. E. BUNNY, Local Press Superintendent.

Mrs. Sarah Shugart Edgarson, state superintendent of jail and prison work, Jonesboro, Indiana, is spending a few months in Texas and writes from the Star state many things worthy of mention. First, she commends all workers to be in such close touch to God that our friends may know we have faith in God and are complying with His word. Eccl. 11-6. And as is characteristic of our white ribboners that in what ever state or clime they are at work in the cause we represent. She states having attended a Friends meeting and secured 53 members for the W. C. T. U. and in another meeting eleven more.

In the state where roses are blooming and where ripe strawberries and oranges are abundant, our sister says she is having a good time, but does not forget her special department and is praying for the workers.

AN OPEN LETTER TO TEACHERS.

A teacher in the public schools has a wonderful opportunity to mould the character of the children and young people. Teachers believe in temperance and teach it scientifically, not simply because it is the law, but because they want to help the child, and are desirous of having their influence tell for good.

I am writing to you because I believe you can be interested in the Medal Contest work, a department of the state and national Woman's Christian Temperance Union. You have bright, active boys and girls under your charge, who will be delighted to take part in these contests. You may have the material for a future orator in your school, but this talent will lie dormant unless it is given a chance to develop. Will you give them this opportunity?

Teachers who have taken up the work, say that they have found it very beneficial. It strengthens the memory, overcomes timidity, improves the public appearance, gives poise and grace to the bearing, and as one must thoroughly understand a subject before he can properly declaim it, his reasoning powers are brought into play, and the whole mentality is strengthened. But, aside from all this, in the selections prepared for this particular purpose, he is gradually growing to hate the saloon and its evil influences.

We receive many testimonials from teachers who have given this work a trial. We quote the following from a state superintendent of education:

"I desire to heartily endorse the plan of Medal Contests, which has been established by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. I cannot see how the plan could possibly be a detriment to school work, but can see where great good could come, not only to the pupils in the public schools and those taking part in these contests, but in cultivating a sentiment in favor of temperance."

We want a campaign of contests in the schools of your county. Hold a silver medal contest in your school, and then have six schools which have held these go together and hold a gold. This is only one plan. The contests may be held in the different grades of your own school, holding a series in each grade. You will be surprised at the enthusiasm this work creates.

Send to the address below for illustrated catalogue containing cuts and prices of medals, plans of work, etc.

Will you help us in this educational work?

Yours sincerely,
MRS. JULIA OVERMAN,
State Sup't, Marion, Ind.

FLOWER MISSIONS.

"Flowers Are God's Own Messengers."

Dear Flower Mission Comrades, while we all rejoice over the work of 1908, we must not "rest upon our oars," but rather let this be an incentive to greater work in the future. We must not only hold our own, but endeavor as much as possible to increase this blessed work every year. Last year's work gives us a glimpse of the possibilities of the Flower Mission department. From our National report we learn that 15,055,466 bouquets were distributed in 1908 more than half million increase in one year. Our National Superintendent, Miss Sewall, tells us such a thing has never been known in the history of the Flower Mission department. She also tells us we have fallen behind last year's figures in growing plants, jellies, garments, Flower Mission Meetings, and amount of money expended. Let us keep this fact in mind and I am sure we will all do our best to increase the work along these lines. A prize of two dollars and a half (gold piece) will be given to the Loyal Temperance Legion distributing the largest number of bouquets. This is the national prize, and Indiana Y. T. L. with God as their leader and with our beloved state Superintendent, Mrs. Ida Mix, to pilot them, can win this prize, We must.

Please note carefully the following recommendations:

Two million bouquets for 1909!

(An increase in the use of text cards. That every local union hold at least one Flower Mission meeting during the year. That every local union plant a tree in some public place on Arbor Day! That you watch for an opportunity to establish city Flower Mission in one of our large cities.

A wider distribution of Flower Mission literature.

"The joy of life is doing good according to a plan," and we not only accomplish more, but do it in a better way, when we are systematic in our work, and it need lose none of its sweetness because it is recorded in a note book. So let each of us keep an itemized account of all our work and report to local superintendent and she will report to county superintendent.

With deep gratitude to all Flower Mission workers for your hearty co-operation,

Your loving comrade,

VIOLA R. HARVEY,
State Superintendent.

SUNDAY BASEBALL BILL IS PASSED SENATE ADOPTS THE HOUSE MEASURE

Now Goes to the Governor—Opponents of the Bill
Complain of Gag Rule—Cheer Over Results Is Suppressed.

The Indiana Legislature went on record today as favoring Sunday base ball, when the Senate passed Representative Brolley's Sunday baseball bill by a vote of 30 to 18. The House had already passed the bill, and it now goes to the governor.

Enemies of the measure, by clever manipulation of parliamentary rules, were not allowed to debate on the merits of the bill. The Senate corridors and galleries were crowded during the discussion of the baseball bill and were orderly during the entire time of consideration.

Only one wild warwhoop was sent up by an overzealous baseball supporter after the bill passed, and he was promptly escorted from the Senate chamber by Lieutenant-Governor Hall. General indignation reigned among the opponents of the measure, "Gag-rule" being charged.

The bill was called up by Senator Bland, through an arrangement made with Senator Durre. The main opposition to the bill, as little as it was, was led by Senators Mattingly, Pearson and Kirkman. Stotsenburg, Kistler, Durre and Kane led the fight for the Sunday baseballists.

LEGISLATION CONCERNING WOMEN.

A bill has been introduced in both houses providing for the appointment of women on the managing boards for state institutions where women and children are inmates. This should become a law.

Please consider what it means! Have letters sent to the members of committees having the bills in charge. This appeal for letters to be sent is of utmost importance if you desire that women should serve with men in the management of state institutions in which are included women and children.

Personal letters and letters from women's societies besides letters from men will have much influence. Women taxpayers will certainly write to their legislators.

Men say the women are not seeking additional privileges, if they wanted them they would say so. Possibly if our more than 7000 W. C. T. U. women in Indiana each wrote to her legislator one letter concerning this matter and one letter against repeal of county option and each woman influenced one man to do the same, it might cause some legislators to change their opinions and induce them to help clean up old Indiana.

LUELLA F. McWHIRTER,
Superintendent Legislation.

Committees having in charge the bills concerning women on state boards:

Senate Committee—Senators H. L. Hanna, J. J. Higgins, Wm. Gonnerman, Geo. E. Hanna, S. A. Powers, C. K. McCullough, S. D. Clark.

House Committee—Representatives Robert Tomlinson, S. Askren, A. J. Behymer, F. I. Galbraith, J. H. Hill, J. B. Merriman, E. W. Wickey, W. S. Ratcliff, A. M. Gardner.

FIELD NEWS.

The Madison, Jefferson County, Union, held their regular monthly business meeting and a very impressive Francis Willard memorial meeting at the L. T. L. parlor the afternoon of Feb. 9th. Mrs. Hanger, the newly elected president being absent, Mrs. G. E. Denny, our beloved x-president and now vice, presided. After the devotional the unusual regular business form was carried out and business transacted. The following announcements were made: Mrs. Denny saying that arrangements were being made to have the Franklin Glee Club come to Madison in the near future.

Mrs. Geo. Augustine, Jefferson county's hustling president, presented a petition, asking the legislature to retain women on the board of trustees at the Woman's Reformatory at Indianapolis. The petition having been sent by Mrs. Louella McWhirter, the state superintendent of legislation, was readily signed by many.

The memorial program was beautifully and fittingly begun with a piano solo by Miss Hellen Lodge, "The Brook." Reading, "Miss Willard's Call to the Temperance Platform," by Mrs. Oliver Holwager; Vocal solo, "God Gives Us Home," very sweetly sung by Mrs. Fredenburg. Reading, "The Greatest of American Heroines," by Mrs. Jenny Simpson, "Memorial sentences of Miss Willard's Sayings," were voluntarily given by members. Closing with the "Mispah" the meeting adjourned. Mary E. Bayless.

The Deer Creek W. C. T. U. has many times been tried and not found wanting. Tuesday morning, Feb. 9th, the eighteenth anniversary, greeted us with high wind and rain. But the white ribboners know no such word as fail. There was no exception to the rule on this occasion. Long before the noon hour, more than half the space in the West Branch church was taken and at the beginning of the afternoon session the church was crowded to the limit. The principal subjects were "The Girlhood of Frances E. Willard," by Miss Ella Brewer; "Why Do Boys Go Wrong?" by Mrs. Nellie B. Kelley; "The Effect of the Use of Cigarettes. On the Growing Boy," by Mrs. Cammack Gibson; "The Child Labor Question," by Marcus M. Thomas, each were in turn discussed with credit. Also much enthusiasm, for the pending local option in Grant county to be determined at a called election on the 23rd. All in all a grand good day was the verdict. And with the two new members, Mrs. Mary Drukenmiller and Miss Alice Drunkenmiller, added to our working force, we will continue to aim high, with our artillery pointed squarely at the enemy of the home—the licensed saloon. Mrs. Sue Ratcliff.

MRS. EMILY M'INTOSH,
State Supt Work Among Colored People

The Keystone Union held a very enthusiastic meeting at the home of Mrs. Black, January 22. A good program was rendered, and all felt encouraged. The membership contest report showed seventeen new members. Thirteen active, four honorary. Three babes were received and the white ribbon tied on their wrists. Mrs. E. A. Willis, county president, was present and gave some illustrations of the departments as they appeared at the National convention, with many words of encouragement, which were appreciated by all. Today, Feb. 4th, the last saloon in Wells county closes its doors. We praise God, but realize the fight has only begun.

(Mrs.) Johanna S. Marsh.

The Seymour W. C. T. U. held an interesting meeting. Important business was followed by terse temperance quotations, good music and excellent papers. Two new members. A large attendance. A membership contest to be celebrated in March.

The Boonville W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Robert Wilkerson, Jan. 26. Large number present. Mrs. N. C. Readower of Evansville, delegate to the National convention with us. She gave fine report, which was very much appreciated by those present. Local unions would do well to have her visit them. (Mrs.) Jennie Kaegle, Co. Pres.

Hamilton County white ribboners have met since the State convention. Delegates from seven unions were present. The least per cent of the members of the unions represented was 5 per cent and the largest, was 66 per cent. The banner for attendance was awarded to Atlanta union. The business of the forenoon was promptly carried on. The county voted to stand by the pledge of $25.00 given at the State convention by the county president for State Wide Prohibition. They also decided to compile a song book for the county. Our delegate to the National gave a very good report giving us a new inspiration in the work.

The Superintendent of Schools of Huntington county, Ind., Mr. Ira B. Potts, has sent out to the eighth grade teachers of his county a circular letter announcing and recommending the W. C. T. U. prize essay contest. All eight grade pupils may compete, the subject chosen being, "What is the Harm in a Glass of Beer." A first prize of ten dollars in gold and a second prize of five dollars is offered by the W. C. T. U. The letter gives concise rules and directions for the contest, and announces that merchants of Huntington have offered third, fourth and fifth prizes. Further, every pupil whose essay is graded 92 per cent or higher will be allowed an additional 10 per cent in his grade in the grammar examinations. As our National superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction remarks, "When we get all the county superintendents of schools doing this sort of thing we shall be ready to take the fort!"

Every W. C. T. U. should send to Mr. Potts for a copy of the above letter of instructions to his teachers. Enclose postage for reply. By personal request other county superintendents will co-operate thus with the W. C. T. U.—(Editor.)

Redkey union gave a public meeting in the Christian Church. Mrs. Gertrude Fulton of Portland, state superintendent of Christian citizenship and delegate to the late National convention at Denver, was the speaker. She opened her address with the W. C. T. U. as topic, gave a brief account of its great growth, increasing popularity and world-wide mission. She then took up local conditions and needs, urging the necessity of true Christian citizenship in politics, business and every day life. Mrs. Fulton is a good speaker and by her earnestness and sincerity is bound to hold the attention of her audience, and her presentation of facts, mingled with little touches of pathos and humor, keep up a strong interest to the end of the discourse. Her address made a good impression and will advance the work at this place. The regular meeting of the union was held on the 23rd and plans made to increase the interest in temperance instruction in the public schools. The local union has supplied the teachers at this place up to the fifth grade with subscriptions to the Crusador Monthly, and the county president, Mrs. Hannah Andrews, is considering plans to distribute copies of the law to the teachers of the county. A new superintendent of purity in literature and art, Mrs. Ella Roberts, was elected to take the place of Mrs. Trimble who has changed her residence. It is planned to present the leaflet containing the Indiana law on this department to all business men handling books, postcards and novelties. The need of good wide awake superintendents in this department is more important than is generally admitted. There should also be some means devised to counteract the influence of the "penny dreadful" novel and the "fetching funny sheet" of certain Sunday newspapers which are undermining the morals of many children.

Deputy Union holds semi-monthly meetings regularly. Since the return of our delegates, Mrs. Emma Taff and Mrs. Vella Hughes from the state convention there has been more enthusiasm manifested. We feel quite proud of our county's advance during 1908, and we are expecting a reception by the Reds ere long, as a result of the contest for membership. Under the successful management of our president, Mrs. Dona Gudgel, a medal contest was held at Deputy, Saturday, January 9th. Miss Mary McClelland winning the medal. The union was assisted by the Deputy quartet and solos were sung by Misses Cordella Whitsitt and Lucile Cogswell. Later, Miss Whitsitt gave the recitation with which she won a gold medal recently. Mrs. M. Harod, Mrs. J. Nay and Dr. S. W. Alvis were the judges who had difficulty in deciding as all the contestants did well. The contestants were Miss Ethel Zettmeyer of Paris Crossing; Misses Mary and Aletha McClelland, Miss Myrl Hord of Deputy and Master C. Everhart of Scott county.

Mrs. Sadie Robertson, Cor. Sec.

The Elizabeth Stanley Union of Owen county held a public meeting at Mill Creek chapel on December 31, 1908. An interesting program of music and recitations was given. There was a large crowd present and the union gained two new members.

Bargersville—The annual open meeting of the Bargersville union was held January 2, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kerlin. About sixty-five were present. A program consisting of music, recitations and papers was rendered. The paper upon "Modern Newspapers," was well received, particularly the points condemning yellow journalism and Sunday newspapers with glaring headlines of murder and crimes, and also liquor advertisements. "The Neglected Factor in Our Public Education—Love for Fellow-man," was the theme of a well prepared paper. Light refreshments were added to the social features of the evening. The February meeting will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. D. W. Rapp, Bargersville.

Mrs. Lizzie Pate, Rec. Sec.

THE MESSAGE.

The "Correspondence School of Gospel and Scientific Eugenics," (Race Improvement). This school is endorsed by Professors and Instructors in Schools and Universities; by Doctors, Ministers, Purity Workers, State W. C. T. U. Pres. etc., etc.. Dr. David Starr Jordan, Pres. Stanford University; Luther Burbank, one of the World's greatest scientists; Dr. Winfield Scott Hall, of Northwestern University; Prof. N. N. Riddell, one of America's leading lecturers, and others of equal note, have donated of their literary works to our School Library, thereby expressing their belief that such a School is Needed!

The object of the "Correspondence School" is to reduce sickness, intemperance, immoralities, degeneracy and unhappy homes and inharmonious marriages to a minimum, through the sacred and scientific teachings of the laws of Life, Heredity, Ethical Marriage, Scientific Parenthood, and the "Right of the child to be well born!"

For further information, write the General Secretary, Mrs. Mary E. Teats, 3517 Grand Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

Taxes Paid by Women—In regard to taxes of women, all information can be gotten from the county books. The Suffrage Supt. here got her list from the auditor's office. Hired a clerk in the office to write it out. The amounts of tax can be obtained from the treasurer's books. In counties containing large cities the work, of course, would be much heavier. I believe names and amounts can both be secured at the treasurers' offices, and any trustworthy person can be hired to get them, if the unions do not care to do the work themselves.

Hoping this may be satisfactory, and help our cause, I am yours cordially, (Mrs.) Gertrude Q. Campbell.

Poseyville Woman's Christian Temperance Union held a Frances E. Willard memorial service Thursday, Feb. 4th, at the home of Mrs. Anna Copeland, with a good attendance. There was a song by three little boys, Masters Paul, Charles Roren and Frederick Hawkins, Paper, Miss Willard's Girlhood, by Mrs. Alice Montgomery; Vocal solo by Mrs. Minerva Cale; Paper, "What Miss Willard Did For Women," Mrs. T. J. Williams; vocal duet, Mesdames Roren and Copeland; paper "What Miss Willard Did to Unite the North and the South," Mrs. Emma Fletchall. Responses to roll call were quotations from Miss Willard's writings. A silver offering was taken, of which $2.00 was sent to the National Memorial Fund.

The Redkey W. C. T. U. gave a reception to the teachers and school board at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orlistas Jay, on Feb. 4th. Miss Clara Sears, of Anderson, State Treasurer of the W. C. T. U., was present and delivered the address, which was well received. Miss Nilah Jay sang a beautiful solo, "O, Eyes That Are Weary," and after the program, refreshments were served and a very pleasant social hour enjoyed. On the next day, Mrs. Hannah Andrews, county president, and Mrs. Margaret Williamson, accompanied Miss Sears to Dunkirk where arrangements were made for Miss Sears to return in a few days and thoroughly organize a strong working union at that place.

Linn Grove—A large audience greeted Dr. M. J. Fanning, the Irish orator, at the evangelical church; in spite of the inclement weather the house was full. The church was decorated with white ribbons and the American flag was draped over the pulpit. The president, Miss Lenore Hoffman, presided. Dr. Fanning made an eloquent address full of power and of humor. It carried conviction with it. He dwelt upon the question, "Who Pays the Revenue?" He showed that it was the wives and children of the drinking men. Under the prohibitory law the increased demands for the commodities of life would make an increased demand for labor thereby wages would increase as business increased. There was excellent music by the Springer quartette (four sisters), the catechism class and Miss Zoa French sang the "White, White Ribbon." There was an offering of $28.43 in cash and subscriptions.

Mrs. Henry French.

Allen County—Dr. M. J. Fanning, under the direction of our county W. C. T. U., visited out county the 7th and 8th of this month. Sunday, Feb. 7th, he spoke three times in Ft. Wayne. Monday the eighth, coming to Monroeville, and speaking to an immense audience in the M. E. church in evening. His address was pleasing, logical and convincing. An offering of $11.55 for the State W. C. T. U. was taken also at close of meeting. Legislature petition work was done.

(Mrs.) Florence W. Barnhart.

Brightwood Union, at Indianapolis, surprised the family of one of its members, Mrs. M. O. Routh, on Foundry street, Feb. 9th. The evening was spent in a social way and refreshments served. Mrs. Routh was presented with a copy of Longfellow's poems. This family will leave for South Dakota the first of March, for future residence. The Union wishes them success, and hopes they will be very useful to our cause in that part of our country. Our Union is increasing in interest. We have entered a contest for membership and new members are being gained.

Mrs. Edgar Brown, Press Reporter.

Indianapolis Meridian W. C. T. U. held its regular meeting with Mrs. Margaret Welling, 2114 Penn. ave. The address of the afternoon was ably given by Mr. B. F. Watson. He presented the subject of the "nude pictures" in public places. These very objectionable pictures not only in saloons, but cafes, are very harmful to the frequenters of these places. The little newsboy, the bootblack and many others under the age of 18 or 20, are influenced. These pictures are not placed in these places for art's sake or to inspire one to right thinking, but to stimulate evil habits and impure thoughts. A boy or man cannot frequent such places and see these pictures and come out even as good as when he entered.

These pictures are used in advertising, on calendars and postals. Such illustrations are carried to excess, and leave their work behind and their use should be suppressed. Mr. Watson brought with him a number of pictures and several clippings to clinch his many good points and arguments opposing the display of those pictures. It is hoped to interest the many Brotherhoods of the various churches in this work and that something will, in the near future, be done to abolish or at least modify this condition of things.

A protest goes out from this union through the county organization, against the Sunday Theater. Though in the name of charity, the desecration of the Sabbath is greatly deplored, and is merely an opening wedge to the European Sunday.

It is hoped the Matron, Mrs. Anna Logan, at the Terminal Station may be continued as the needs are very apparent. A committee was appointed to confer with the officials pertaining to this matter.

Mr. Chester Thompson gave a cornet solo. Miss Ida Moore and Mrs. H. G. Hawekotte, of the Humane Society, were introduced. The latter telling of some of the work and aims of the Society. Our county president, Mrs. Kinser, was with us, and said among other things, "You are all captains surely, in securing so many new members." 15 new members since the December meeting.

Pleasing refreshments were served by committee in charge. This committee constitutes the visiting committee, as well. A new committee is provided for each meeting. It is hoped many new members will be the result of this plan.

The next guest meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, 1917 Highland Place, March 3rd. All cordially invited.

Bedford, Ind.—Our local union is greatly rejoicing over our recent victory for local option. Our county going dry by almost 1,500 majority. Some body has been doing temperance work. We wish all the other counties of the state would do likewise. Our union has been very busy since the state convention. At present we are at work furnishing a room in our new City hospital, which shall be called W. C. T. U. room. We hope to do much good from this room with our literature, and shall pray that hearts shall be made happier and better that are sheltered in and ministered unto by the loving efforts that we have put into this room. Our last meeting was very enthusiastic. A splendid program was given. The subject being "Great Mothers." I think each one present felt that the inspiration of the hour was for holier and better living upon the part of the motherhood of the present century.

The Boonville W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. W. Z. Bennett. It was decided to send $1.50 to the state treasurer for organization fund. The plan of work for 1908 and 1909 was discussed and each member seemed willing to do her part. The Indiana Crusade pledges were signed by all present and those who were not present will be given an opportunity at an early date. The genial hostess served a two course luncheon.

Mrs. Robert Wilkinson.

Auburn. A very delightful and profitable meeting was held Wednesday evening, January 13th, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Freeland, when the Woman's Christian Temperance Union entertained. This was gentleman's guest day, and there were one hundred and twenty-five present to enjoy the splendid hospitality, for which the W. C. T. U. has become noted. An excellent program was rendered, consisting of several numbers by the Union quartet; a solo by Mrs. Jessie Rider Nelson of Des Moines, Iowa, and a reading by Mr. Charles Thomas. The ministers present, comprising Rev. Freeland, Rev. Slater, Rev. Elliott and the Rev. Dr. Luccock of Chicago, each gave a brief, though excellent talk, filled with sentiments helpful and elevating. County Superintendent Coe was present also, and gave a most practical and interesting talk, comprising many excellent illustrations, which have come under his personal observation. At the conclusion of the program a social hour followed and light refreshments were served in the dining room by six of the younger members of the union, who were attired in white in keeping with the flowers and house decorations which were all in white, the union's emblem. Several new members were added, and all present were inspired and strengthened for future duties, after an evening of pleasure and profit.

Jennie L. Shutt, Press Supt.

MONTPELIER W. C. T. U. met in their room at the City library, January 8th, with a good attendance and much interest. Four new members were added to the union. Every one started out with the resolution to work for the 10,000 W. C. T. U. members in Indiana in 1909. Mrs. Stanley's visit greatly benefited the union. She spent two days and two evenings here. She gave a good lecture on Monday evening and on Tuesday evening gave "At the Mercy of the State." There was a good attendance. Mrs. Stanley was invited to speak to the schools but had to leave Montpelier Wednesday morning. Mr. Stanley accompanied her to our city. We had Mrs. S. M. Stahl of Hartford City, January 8th, to give the report of the National convention. She spoke in the evening at the Church of Christ to a well filled house. Her report of the convention was splendid. When we hear of the great things that are being accomplished over the nation, it helps us greatly.

Mrs. Charles S. Miller, Cor. Sec.

The Sardinia W. C. T. U. held a reception at the home of Mrs. Cora McDowel. There were nineteen members present, notwithstanding the stormy weather. The literary and musical entertainment was given by Mesdames Freeman, McDowel, Claypool, Cornelius, Denniston, Hubbard, Gaston and Ryan. Dainty refreshments were served by the Reds and all had a most delightful time.

E. Rose Meredith, Press Recorder.

Local Option Election Day in Hamilton county, the W. C. T. U. of Eagletown served dinner to the election board. W. C. T. U. members brought baskets filled and the dinner was prepared at the home of Mary Tracy, about thirty, counting the members of W. C. T. U. partook of the good dinner.

County Institutes will be successful just in proportion to the interest taken by the members of the local unions. To advertise the institutes well depends upon the individuals efforts of the membership. The county presidents must have co-operation of the local unions. The best speakers, the best musicians and readers are none too good for this great W. C. T. U. work. It is far more complimentary to the person desired for the program to be invited several weeks in advance. In some places the Sunday schools will assist in decorations and in the music.

Mass Temperance meetings should now be held on Sundays, arousing interest and securing funds for carrying on the work of law enforcement. Much money and much effort will be needed to keep out "blind tigers," and to urge vigilance on the part of city and county officials. Get the merchants and bankers to make statements concerning their business one month a year ago with saloons and the same month this year without saloons. Such comparisons will be of great interest.

Our Promoted Comrades

Princeton union has lost by death Mrs. Margaret Turner, a charter member, aged seventy-eight years, at the time of her death. She was a woman of strong convictions and fearless in proclaiming them. Her influence through a long life was given to the temperance cause. Though an invalid for thirty years her interest never flagged, and her advice was always helpful. The funeral service was held at her residence Jan. 22nd. The W. C. T. U. attended in a body.

Bloomington—In the death of Mrs. J. H. Loudon the union sustains a great loss.

She was a charter member and faithful to the last, going through the snow to the meeting of last week. When some who entered the work with her became discouraged and withdrew she, true her convictions, never wavered, but in her modest way added the most loyal support, the Union Signal, our national organ, ever had, she was active in raising funds for the building and maintenance of Hadley Industrial School for young girls (owned and operated by the State W. C. T. U. always helping to educate along temperance lines, was our treasurer for many years and at last promoting the movement for a W. C. T. U. drinking fountain for man and beast on the public square. So interested in the fountain she was appointed to do the corresponding and get cuts and prices. The last time the writer visited her, the earnest interest, almost enthusiasm, shone from her countenance as she showed the pictures of fountains which it seemed possible for this Union to buy.

Always conservative, her judgment safe and charitable, loved by every member her vacant place brings deep grief to her co-workers. Yet we rejoice that she lived to see the great substantial temperance wave sweeping over the world.

She leaves with us a rich legacy of good works and noble principles.

Lafayette, Ind.—We wish to announce through the Message, the sad and sudden taking away of George Conn, aged 14 years, and youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Conn, who was stricken on Monday with that dread disease, appendicitis.

He succumbed to an operation which proved successful, but it was found that peritonitis had also developed in its worst form. He was very brave and hopeful all during his illness but answered to the summons from above the Sunday morning following.

He was a very bright and intelligent boy, greatly admired by all who knew him, especially his classmates of Washington school and of Trinity M. E. Sunday school of which he was a member.

Mrs. Conn was our faithful president of Central W. C. T. U. for three years and she and the family have the deepest sympathy of each of its members as well as the entire community in their sad bereavement.—Corresponding Secretary.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

CURSE OF ALCOHOL FAR WORSE THAN TUBERCULOSIS.

Drs. MacNichol and Hughes Sound Warning as to Alcohol's Menace to Childhood.

The wealth of scientific data and investigation regarding the alcoholic problem presented at the National Scientific and Medical conference at Washington, March 17-18, deserves the conscientious study of every mind interested in the Great Reform.

The scope of the papers presented and the overwhelming evidence adduced to show the continual menace of the alcoholic poisons in every phase of public and private sanitation and hygiene, afford a glimpse of all the latest thought in this field of scientific research.

Alcohol and the Public Health.

Dr. George W. Webster of Chicago, president of the Illinois State Board of Health, presented one of the most suggestive papers of the whole session on the subject of "Alcohol and Public Health," in which he emphasized ten special important fundamental facts regarding the alcoholic question which in his judgment should base all thought and agitation on the question:

"The alcoholic problem is more important than tuberculosis because it costs more lives and money. It costs the United States in direct money loss over two billion dollars.

"It causes directly and indirectly at least 10 per cent. of all deaths in the United States.

"It predisposes to infection, destroys acquired immunity, prevents the occurrence of artificial immunity, lowers vitality and increases mortality in all diseases and in surgical operations.

"It lessens the power of individuals to resist the injurious influences of extreme heat and cold.

"It causes deterioration of the quality of mental work.

"It diminishes the power to withstand fatigue and lessens the efficiency of the individual.

"It should always be classified as a poison and never as a food or stimulant.

"It is a public health and sanitary question and not a moral one, but should be treated the same as fevers, smallpox and malaria and by scientific men alone.

"The alcoholic problem is a medical one and can only be solved when studied from a scientific point of view."

Alcohol the Ally of Consumption.

Dr. H. J. Achard of Asheville, N. C., specialist on tuberculosis, in his study of the "Influence of Alcoholism on Pulmonary Tuberculosis" affirmed that former theories which regarded alcohol as a specific remedy in consumption were false; that both directly and indirectly alcohol increased the fatality and diminishes the power of resistance.

Continuing, Dr. Achard said:

"A comparison of mortality statistics of consumption treated with alcohol and those treated without it, showed that over 60 per cent. of the former died while only 20 per cent. of the latter.

"The fatality was three times greater. Modern science has shown the reason for this. Numerous authors in both this country and Europe had pointed out the fact that tuberculosis appearing in a moderate or excessive drinker was fatal as a rule.

The man with weak lungs who takes alcohol in any form is favoring its growth and development, and no other drug is so dangerous in its injurious effects, particularly on the lungs."

W. P. Spratling, M. D., of Baltimore, Md., professor of Psychology at the John Hopkins university, in his study on "Alcohol and Epilepsy" declared that from 20 to 50 per cent. of all epileptics are traceable to the use of alcohol, and from 70 to 80 per cent. of all alcoholics have epileptic symptoms in some form or other, and alcohol causes many forms of epilepsy that are not yet known, particularly in crime and strange fits of insane acts and conduct."

Alcohol the Enemy of Childhood.

Dr. T. A. MacNichol of New York City, surgeon of the Red Cross hospital, in a paper on "The Influence of Alcohol on School Children" declared that recent studies of the causes of deficiency and incompetency of children in the public schools, reveals the startling fact that much of this is traceable to beer and spirits given the children, and to the alcoholic drinking parents.

"Studies of children in all the large schools who appear feeble minded and are called 'Dullards' because of their inability to learn, showed that alcohol is one of the most prominent causes as much so as poverty, ill-health and other conditions.

"Children who are given beer by their parents as concentrated food are always below the average, and children whose parents use spirits constantly are largely of the degenerate class. Such children are deficient in health, suffer from the bad hygienic surroundings of schools and have low vitality.

"These children are difficult to manage, and cannot be taught with the same facility. These are statistical facts and not theories. Alcohol is the

By observing the above figures, it will be noted that the thirty-five counties which have voted dry have given a majority of over 50,000 against liquor.

Applying the same average to the 22 counties dry under remonstrance this majority would be not less than 75,000. It is safe to predict upon the basis of the 57 counties, allowing for all possible defeats that this state will poll more than 100,000 majority against the saloon.

Parliamentary Drills are needed in almost every union because new members should have the information. Good presiding officers are more numerous in the W. C. T. U. than in any other woman's organization.

County Option elections are being held rapidly Everywhere our temperance people are having to reckon with the avarice of the liquor men.

In Wayne county it has been said, that a small army of "agents" representing all kinds of saleable articles were canvassing over the county previous to the election. Time was taken to tell a pathetic story about getting out of work in Ohio or elsewhere because the saloons were voted out and business was dull and they were thrown out of work. If a woman she had to canvass because her husband was out of work etc.

Others who were well informed men, went among the intelligent farmers as agents for machinery, etc., and incidentally told them stories of the disaster that comes to business when saloons close, increased taxes etc. Such methods and the sending out of tons of literature by the liquor men besides their influence on the newspapers is very expensive but every effort is being made to save their business—in an effort to do this, persistent, energetic work is being done in every community where the elections are pending. Even some good men who should know better make statements about the need of revenue from saloon licenses to support the county or city schools etc.

In compliance with the plans of the National L. T. L. Conferences, the new Press Bureau, in charge of Mr. Lowell, will furnish at cost prices, latest facts on alcohol and prohibition,—"Temperance cheer-ups," campaign-helps, etc. First class copy, ready for the printer. LORD'S DAY WEEK.

April 18th to April 25th, 1909.

The Christian peoples throughout the world, with great unanimity, observe Lord's Day week—the week beginning with the first Lord's Day after Easter—as a special season for private prayer and public intercession, private meditations and public address, in behalf of the preservation of the Lord's Day in its integrity, and securing for all people the right to enjoy its privileges and advantages.

The importance of such a week of prayer is apparent to every lover of humanity. The individual receives benefit from this institution in every part of his being—physical, intellectual, moral, and spiritual; the family profits in the strengthening of the ties of kinship, the developing of the moral character and the fostering of religious influences; the Church gains in every way, for, as has been so truly said by Voltaire, "If the Lord's Day were abolished, the Church would be in immediate danger of convulsion and ruin;" and to the nation the Lord's Day is necessary that it may enjoy industrial, commercial, economic and political prosperity.

What a host of foes the Lord's Day has in this new century. There is the Sunday saloon, the Sunday newspaper, the Sunday excursion, the Sunday theater, the Sunday ball and other games, the Sunday dinner and social function, the Sunday concert and vaudeville, the Sunday travel for convenience or to save time, and not of necessity, the reading of secular books, the doing of secular business, the unnecessary operation of factories, mills and mines, the forwarding of freight, and the many other ways in which it is attempted to change the holy day to a holiday, or the rest day to a work day.

But the horizon is not all black. There are rifts in the clouds which assure us that God is with his people, and His Day will be preserved. Many nations have enacted advanced legislation; and in many lands there have been organized National Lord's Day Alliances, as well as other Lord's Day defence organizations; the Church of God has kept apace with the rising tide for the preservation of the Lord's Day, and in sermon and address, prayer service and individual effort, has sought to lend all possible aid to the endeavor to defend the Day of the Lord against the schemes and plans of wicked men.

In issuing this call, we would earnestly suggest:

1. That pastors preach sermons on either 18th or 25th of April, pressing the claims of the Lord's Day on the people, urging consistent, persevering prayer, enthusiastic endeavor, and generous giving in the interests of a better observance of the Lord's Day.

2. That prayer meetings, Young Peoples societies, Sunday schools, Women's Christian Temperance Unions and other church organizations devote a meeting during the week to the subject.

We have now National Lord's Day Alliances in the United States, Canada and Newfoundland, England, Scotland and Japan. These all work along educational, legislative, and moral suasion lines for the preservation and better observance of the Lord's Day.

We respectfully invite the press and pulpit every where to give circulation to this call and these suggestions and to co-operate humbly and prayerfully for the preservation in all its sanctity of the Lord's Day, signed

T. T. MUTCHLER, M. D.

President of the International Federation of Sunday Rest Associations of America.

Local Option is local prohibition—While we are glad for this we know that in reality Christian men and women are not and never will be satisfied with any option to do wrong. To make a criminal or to degrade and debauch a human being is a crime—this the saloon does. Therefore before God it must be a crime to permit saloons—Local Option permits the people to decide to have saloons if they so desire.

The W. C. T. U. stands for the principles of the prohibition of all crime without an Option.

Everywhere our women are helping in the Local Option work trying to rid Indiana of saloons—We have always worked every temperance law enacted.

State prohibition we are expecting to enjoy—State Prohibition prevents the operating of breweries and distilleries as well as saloons, and prevents the drinking on dining cars passing through the state.

Tax Lists are interesting, especially since the subject of county finance is now so much talked of by the liquor men—Their effort is to show how indispensable their license fees are to our county needs. A committee of good men would get some interesting facts from some county tax lists, some names they would fail to find at all. Usually the men who pay much tax are men who are good financiers, these men know of the awful expense entailed by the liquor saloons.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

Dear Sisters:—I am glad that we have lived to see the day when the chief topic of conversation everywhere is the liquor scourge and how to destroy it.

The voters of the state now stand where most of us stood twenty years ago, but they are beginning to "see men as trees walking." So dense has been the blindness that they really did not realize before that they could control the curse alone with ballots—Victory is in the air—everywhere except Wayne County.

But poor old Wayne stands alone,
As wet as she can be!

Her women and her children prayed
To set her people free!

But voters said: "The town would die,
And business men would fail,
And tigers blind would roam the streets,
If Temperance should prevail."

And some good men remained at home,
And others voted wet—
And poor old Richmond simply failed,
And has her death-traps yet.

But our forces yet are in the field
Resolved to win the fight,
And when Wayne County votes again,
We'll paint the map all white.

I rejoice in the widening area of absolute prohibition in our fair land, and the defeat in Wayne county only emphasizes the necessity for state wide prohibition. Really I want to say for the honor of Wayne county that the majority did not rule in that farce called an election—our forces would not copy the vile tricks of the Wets. That Wayne county could vote tomorrow I feel sure that the result would gladden our hearts. I spent a few days in the counties of Delaware, Blackford, Fayette and Jay since my last letter, and found our women everywhere pushing organization and election work.

In Jay county we organized a new union with twenty-three members. Mrs. Nettie Storenhouse, the treasurer of Jay county, joined us and helped to line up the women. I got fifty-seven women in one week in Jay county.

I go next week to Benton county. Yours for victory,
ELIZABETH T. STANLEY.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE ANNUAL WEEK OF PRAYER—APRIL 18th TO 25th, 1909.

A large supply of Call to Prayer leaflets have been printed by our National Superintendent. We trust the women of our state will give them a wide circulation. Price of leaflets 10 cents per 100. Order from Mrs. V. F. Cox, Vienna, N. J.

Yours for a better observance of the Sabbath,
KATHRYN WERT HOLLER,
South Bend. State Superintendent.

LEGISLATIVE.

Governor Marshall vetoed one Sunday baseball bill, refused to sign the other, but did not veto it, so it becomes a law.

On account of pending amendment (found) our state-wide prohibition resolution was not introduced.

County Local Option, "County Prohibition" was saved because the legislators "heard from home." Saved! Yes, by the quick response and timely efforts of the W. C. T. U. of Indiana—viz:

By agitation resulting from circulating petitions for state-wide prohibition.

By getting visitors to attend the legislature.

By getting letters, telephone messages, and telegrams sent to members of legislature urging state-wide prohibition and protesting against high license and against repeal of County Option.

Most of the nearly three hundred local unions in Indiana did what they could. County Option was saved by Three Votes.

Think of that! Every week a county or counties voting dry, still these men were bent on repealing County Option.

This was the result of the tremendous liquor lobby backed by excellent organization and almost unlimited money power.

The W. C. T. U. was the only organization that used its united, persistent influence for state-wide prohibition, and against high license and against repeal of the County Option law.

During the entire time of the legislature our W. C. T. U. members and friends were in attendance, the presence of many of these people had an influence unknown to themselves.

The House of Representatives had a Democratic majority and the Senate a Republican majority. The County Option law was passed by a Republican legislative session last summer, it was current talk that the Democrats would make the repeal of the law their first work in the House. A bill to this effect with several objectionable features was introduced, but there was too much unfavorable sentiment to even get it out of the committee for weeks. Some of our good men refused to be lined up with the plan to repeal the law and substitute ward and township for the county unit.

The contest waged for weeks then according to the daily press prominent men in state politics and certain men interested in breweries came to the capitol and applied strongest lash to whip members of the house into line, in this they failed, although toward the last of the session the House repealed the County Option law without the aid of the men who stood unitedly from the first for giving County Option a trial.

In the senate were men interested in the liquor business and others, regardless of party affiliation, determined to repeal County Option.

The flood of letters and telegrams sent on the days just previous to and on the Tuesday when the vote was taken in the Senate together with the personal visits of special committees and individuals from all over the state, saved County Option.

This was a great victory when the mighty pressure for repeal is considered. The president of the Senate and the Senate force were counted for repeal, in any deliberative body that would mean much influence. Parliamentary tactics were used, at most unexpected times, efforts were made to bring the matter to a vote especially when the temperance men were out. At the last, when on Tuesday the bill was made a special order for a certain hour that afternoon and a motion to adjourn for noon had been made, the Senate was being cleared, an effort was made by the "Repealers" to have the vote on Repeal of Local Option taken right then. Hurriedly the temperance men returned and such snap judgment was prevented.

One senator who was considered for repeal, received from voters through the influence of the W. C. T. U. in the important city in his counties, fifteen telegrams on that Tuesday before the vote was taken. He voted against repeal.

The presence of the splendid men and women who crowded the House and Senate chambers many times as well as on that Tuesday had an influence that cannot be estimated. The very presence of one godly man or woman helps and when there are great numbers of them the influence is indeed great.

The personnel of the Indiana legislature will change. Many of these men who were prominent for their advocacy of wrong this session will never again receive positions of power and influence by the votes of their people.

Right minded, good temperance men will be largely in the majority in our next Indiana legislature.

EXTRACTS FROM A FEW LETTERS

Received by Mrs. McWhirter, Supt. of Legislation, During the Last Weeks of the Legislature.

Dear Mrs. McWhirter:

Have written nine letters, will write another in behalf of our county organization and send that it is at the State Capitol tomorrow. We feel secure in regard to our representative. He will vote right.—

In response to your letter telling the need of our legislators "hearing from home," some said they would write letters if they knew what to say. Mr. — and myself each wrote suggestive letters. Mr. — wrote to Representative —, also —. As county corresponding secretary, I wrote a letter to every man whose name either you or Mrs. Vayhinger sent (16). At our W. C. T. U. meeting we decided to have three dozen letters typewritten, see them signed by men, addressed, and posted. Nearly all of those were sent. Twenty-five were mailed at once by my husband.

In response to your letter received yesterday, we sent this forenoon, nine telegrams bearing the signatures of twenty-eight voters, asking Senator — to oppose the repeal of County Option law. A part of the money for sending these messages was donated by the men; leaving only $1.54 to be paid by our union. Messages were sent by the following organizations: M. E. Sunday school; Epworth League; Christian Endeavor; and W. C. T. U. There were also several personal letters written.

Your letter came at noon of the Twelfth. As soon as was possible I called the ministers of the town together for advisement. Then got one of our W. C. T. U. women to go with me and soon we had about nineteen men and women promise to write to the senate committee. There were others who rather promised to write but their promise had such a doubtful ring, we did not count them. We have received answers from several members of the committee assuring us they would vote against the repeal of the County Option law.

Yours of yesterday came to me this afternoon. We have sent to Senator —, Representative — almost 250 letters during the past ten days. The enclosed is a copy of the letters. Do you want us to do anything farther? We cannot get men to write letters but we can get them to sign letters already written. If you want — county to send letters in addition to what we have already done, send a copy of the letters you want written and we will send them out at once.

Received your request today. There were about fifteen telegrams sent to Senator — this morning and one this afternoon. We think that Senator — will favor "Repeal of County Option, though we have done what we could to try to keep him from it, but it seems that both he and Representative — have gone directly against the wishes of the good citizens both in regard to the Sunday Baseball and County Option. Many letters have been sent to them from this county.

Mrs. Nettie V. Traum of Richmond, Writes:

Oh, what a valiant fight was made by the women of Wayne county in the cause of temperance in our recent election!

We organized ourselves into "The Woman's Local Option League." We canvassed the city of Richmond thoroughly, left good convincing literature in every home, had the school children to march and carry banners, and on election day, from four to ten women were stationed at each voting place, and there they handed to each voter (who did not knock it out of their hands or in some other rude way refuse) a card bearing these words: "Please vote 'Dry' for the sake of Home, Mother, Wife and Children." We all wore a badge in the form of a long white ribbon streamer. We were crushed when the returns came in. But God lives and rules. We will yet be victorious. But, oh, to think of this beautiful, peaceful Quaker city not having one dry ward in it!

It is appalling and we cannot understand it.

HON. MICHAEL J. FANNING.

The brilliant Irish orator has done great work in Indiana. During the last week in March he has been in Marion county. At Broad Ripple, Lawrence and Mapleton, he had great audiences. At Lawrence he spoke to two audiences in the same evening, at both the Baptist and Methodist churches alternating with Hon. F. T. McWhirter. There were present in both audiences many young men from the army post at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Mr. Fanning took an excellent collection at the Baptist church and a good collection at the Methodist church. He is a fine representative to be sent out by the W. C. T. U. He wins friends for us and our cause and he gets excellent collections. His present engagements cease in Indiana during the first week in April. Kentucky then claims him for months, but it may be that Indiana can get him back in June. Everywhere he is needed. Write to Miss Mary Woodard, Fountain City and engage him if possible. He will get big audiences on the second night in the same community and will secure many new members.

INSTITUTES.

In every institute definite attention should be given to the consideration of Indiana Liquor Laws. Especially should the temperance women be informed as to how to get evidence and conviction against the unlawful selling of liquor in drug stores or other places. Bootlegging can be stopped and it must be stopped. A committee of W. C. T. U. women and ministers should arrange with two or more good lawyers to come before the committee and explain methods of procedure.

W. C. T. U. women can secure the co-operation of good men always and it is their privilege and duty to do this.

To Make a Prohibition or White Map of Indiana.

Get a large state map, one that has been used as an advertisement for years will suffice. Begin with Wabash county, cut a piece of white, plain writing paper the shape of the county, but a tiny bit smaller, paste it over Wabash county on the map, allowing space for colored county lines to show on the map. On the white covering write the name of the county plainly and its "dry" majority. Continue in this way until all of the counties that have voted dry are covered.

When finished the color county lines only will show between some of the white counties.

For all the counties "dry" by remonstrance cut white covers much smaller, these make the distinction—as they are voted "dry" cover each county with white and get its majority vote.

Cover wet counties with black paper.

The white map will be of great interest in all audiences, high schools and school rooms, factories (etc., everywhere shown. The list of "dry" counties in this issue of the Message can be used now and as other counties are voted dry they should be promptly added, thus keeping the map correct and up-to-date.

In houses where such maps are made there will be great interest taken in this wonderful county option work.

OUT FOR 1,000 WOMEN.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 11, 1909.

Dear Sister:—

In obedience to a call made by Mrs. Julia Shugart of Grant county to come over and help in the Local Option Fight. I arrived in Marion February 20th, and was made very comfortable in the home of Rev. Peters. I began active work on the morrow among my people. While in that city, I spoke seven times, three times to women only and four to mixed audience, upon the subject: "Shall Rum Rule?" and believe the argument helped some to bring victory for the cause we love.

Found the W. C. T. U. (colored) not very active. Stirred them up a little, then hid myself (February 25th), to this city where I spoke in Wayman chapel at night, but did no organizing because of absence of those desired to fill position.

February 27th, I arrived in New Albany, Ind. subject to a call made by Mrs. J. H. Jones, county president of that city.

February 28th, at 3 p. m., held mass meeting for women in Bethel A. M. E. church. Addressed them on the "Principles, Aims and Methods Used by the W. C. T. U. to carry forward the cause for 'God, Home and Every Land.'" Secured twenty-eight pledges. Organized a W. C. T. U. with Mrs. Mary Baker, president, address, 315 East Fifth street, New Albany.

Thirty-five members of the New Albany W. C. T. U. were present and joined in the hallelujah time and as we sang "The Old Time Religion is Good Enough For Me." Mrs. Jones and her members doffed their white ribbon bows and pinned them on the colored sisters. The presence of the Lord was felt by all present numbering 126. At 7:30 addressed a large audience on the subject: "Shall the Throne of Iniquity or the Liquor Traffic Have Fellowship with Righteousness," see Ps., 94. Secured ten more pledges, including three honorary members, making in all thirty-eight pledged members for the Baker W. C. T. U. of New Albany, Ind.

March 2nd, at 4 p. m., in the Baptist church (colored), I spoke to 124 children on L. T. L. work. Secured, through the assistance of Miss G. Taylor, Miss Richardson and Miss Mackafee (colored), school teachers, Mrs. Dr. Jones and Mrs. Flanagan (white ladies), eighty-four pledges. Organized a L. T. L. with Miss Mammie Richardson secretary, address Albany street, New Albany, Ind.

March 3rd, I addressed 400 school children in Jeffersonville. Found that ninety-five per cent. knew much about drinking beer, etc. Did not have time to do Legion work. That matter will be attended to by Mrs. Jones and others in the near future (D. V.) at 7:30 p. m. in same city. I spoke to a nice audience in the A. M. E. church on the subject used in New Albany. Secured twenty-six pledges, two honorary members, organized a W. C. T. U. with Mrs. Laura Marshall, president, address 622 Ohio street, Jeffersonville, Ind.

March 4th, arrived in Columbus, Ind., made house to house visits, addressed a literary society at 8 p. m. in Baptist church.

March 5th, held mass meeting at 3 p. m. in same church. Secured eleven pledges also three honorary members. Organized a W. C. T. U. with Myrtle Toles, president, address 1429 Union street, Columbus, Ind.

Mrs. A. D. Redman, Mrs. Jordon and Mrs. S. W. Buxton (white), rendered valuable service. At 4 p. m. I organized an L. T. L. with fifteen pledged members. Miss P. L. Durette, secretary, address, care Mrs. Myrtle Toles, 1429 Union street, Columbus, Ind.

March 6th, arrived in Indianapolis, secured the necessary rest, then on the morrow, March 7, at 7:30 p. m. addressed at least 250 persons assembled in Allen chapel on the subject: "Shall the Throne of Iniquity or the Liquor Traffic Have Fellowship with Righteousness?" Closing with: "What is it and how it began, why is it and how it works," having reference to the W. C. T. U. Secured seventy-six pledges including six honorary members, with Mrs. Rev. George Sampson, president, address 2345 Hillside avenue, Indianapolis, Ind.

Yours for the promotion of the cause, for God, Home and Every Land,

MRS. M. A. M'CURDY.

State Organizer of W. C. T. U. Among Colored People.

CIGARETTE LAW REPEALED.

Good men and women have said that it took much time, effort and expense to persuade some of our paid legislators to do half way right when the great moneyed trusts were concerned.

The American Tobacco Company is second only in political and money power to the Liquor Traffic. Cigarette Baker is now to be permitted to return to the United States since the death of the Representative Baker who was a witness against him.

Salaries of state officials are certainly high and being made higher. When will our taxpayers select good honest common sense men to represent them in the legislature?

SUNDAY BASEBALL BILL

Was passed to please a great money making organization. Great ado made about the working man wanting it. Not so, no lobby for it at all from that class, on the other hand it was championed by the sporting element.

Shame! The decent earnest citizens are thus treated by men in the legislature who misrepresent them. That game has no more legal right to use Sunday than all other kinds of business that is supported by patronage of the people.

License Money Needed to Keep up the County!

Where does the saloon man get his money? Does he get it over his bar in your county? If he does that he is getting it from your citizens! For that money, what does he give in return?

Look at the fruits of his business, you'll find them in the jail, at the County farm, see them in the Criminal Courts, loitering on Sunday, spending their evenings away from home etc. Some have been sent to the Insane Hospital and some to the Penitentiaries and Reformatories.

From these and others the saloon keeper gets his money with which to pay his license fee. For every dollar the liquor traffic pays into your county treasury for license, many dollars are paid out of that same treasury for expenses of the Jail, County Poor Farm, the Courts, Trials of Criminals and a retinue of officers to enforce the laws—Think of such business plans!

Get the amount of county expenses attributable to the results of the saloon—such a subject considered in Institutes and Young People's meetings will be very educational.

That the Brewers and the Liquor Interests of the United States won a great victory in the re-election of Speaker Cannon, is asserted in special dispatches from Washington to the daily press, March 16. The Chicago Tribune declares it is "absolutely certain" that the brewery and liquor interests of the country were responsible for this latest triumph of "Uncle Joe." "To these influences, Joseph G. Cannon can return his thanks for the rescue of himself and his forces from complete and utter rout at the hands of the insurgents and Democrats. Through Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany chieftain of New York, the brewers issued their commands.....It was apparent that the liquor interests in the country over were bringing lots of influence to bear. Persons who are in close touch with the liquor representation here say there is more complacency and steady breathing in that camp now than has been witnessed for many a day. The appointment of House Committees by the Committee on Committees which was the aim of the insurgent, undoubtedly would have resulted in the Hepburn-Dolliver Bill or the Littlefield Bill eventually being brought on the floor of the House, with good prospects of passage."

Disinterested testimony of this sort proving that the most notorious bosses of the Democratic and Republican parties thus join forces at the dictation of the drink traffic, is another bomb shell in the camp of those indifferent to the necessity for straight Prohibition Party agitation.

Tens of thousands of petitions have asked for the passage of the Hepburn-Dolliver and Littlefield Temperance bills, but they are not even permitted to be brought before the House.

FACTS FROM CHICAGO.

A personal investigation on the part of Mr. William A. Brubaker of Chicago developed some startling revelations in regard to personal property assessments in the city. Out of the 70 alderman, 27 per cent. of the City Fathers pay not a cent of personal taxes, 6 pay on less than $500; 12 on $500; 9 others on less than $1,000 and 6 pay on $1,000 or over. One city official, drawing a salary of $12,000 a year (the city treasurer) another drawing an $8,000 salary from the city (Health Commissioner) and two drawing $6,000 salaries each (City Collector and City Attorney) are not assessed a penny on the official tax list. Chief of Police Shippey, drawing a salary of $8,000 a year, pays $7.50 city, county and school taxes.

In addition to these facts, Mr. Brubaker found upon investigation that out of 58 householders, in the block in which he himself lives, only four, including himself, are assessed on the tax list. Another singular item brought to light is the fact that the capital stock of breweries, distilleries, newspapers, packing houses, and other factories, are exempt from taxation under the workings of a law slipped through the Illinois Legislature four years ago.

DRINK'S "INTERNAL REVENUE" PAID BY THE PEOPLE.

The Flashlight Turned on King Alcohol's Boasted "Support" of United States Government—Liquor Traffic Pays Back to Uncle Sam $1 for Every $10.97 Extorted From the Citizens.

$199,066,423 internal revenue paid by liquor traffic ($25.40 per capita.)

$2,183,942,639 cash paid into till of liquor traffic by people in 1908.

"What would Uncle Sam do without our help?" the liquor men cry in defiant glee.

This old bluff has worked so many years that the scribes of drink have failed to note the present danger.

Times have changed and today millions of thinking citizens of America who once paid no attention one way or another to the boast are likely to suddenly rattle, "Where did you get it? You claim to have paid Uncle Sam $200,000,000, in twelve months, but where did you pick it up, and how much more did you keep for yourself last year?"

The real facts come to light, which show that for every $1 you ostentatiously handed over to the National government you took about $11 out of the pockets of the people for your poison wares. As a matter of fact, the people paid every cent of it and more than ten times as much besides to this self-glorifying liquor trust.

The official figures of the United States reveal the other side of this long-suffered fairy tale of the drink-makers. Based upon these official reports for 1908, the consumption of alcoholic liquors in the United States for the last fiscal year ending June 30, 1908 was 1,958,054,041 gallons.

Diluted to retail proportions and estimated as regards retail prices according to the highest authorities of the trade, the result shows that not less than $2,183,942,639 was paid over the bar and otherwise to drink-maker and seller by the people of America during the last fiscal twelve month. In other words, while the drink traffic claims to have paid Uncle Sam in that length of time not quite $2.29 per capita, they in reality took out of the pockets of the people in the same year an average of not less than $25.40 for every man, woman and child in America!

Here is the astounding fact which explodes the drink scribe's bluff. With the liquor traffic abolished the 15,500,000 voting citizens of the United States could pay very cent of this $200,000,000 at the rate of less than 25 cents a week and at the end of the year find themselves lives with an aggregate of more than $2,000,000,000 in their pockets that otherwise would have gone into the till of the saloon keeper, the distiller and the brewer.

ONE WAY TO STOP THE DEFICIT.

While statesmen and politicians are searching the universe for ways and means of meeting the prospectively growing deficit in Uncle Sam's treasury and attempting to bluff the Prohibition sentiment of the country with an excited defense of the liquor traffic as the "bulwark" of the Federal government, the question of conscientious economy in current expenditures seems suddenly in need of recognition. Upon this point Lurana W. Sheldon contributes this apt suggestion in the New York Times.

"Just now it seems to be decided that the canal shall have new locks—Correspondence Column.

"New locks are needed! Heed the cry! The big canal is soaring high!

Two hundred million more is rough, But now it seems that's not enough.

New locks are needed! Heed the cry! The Treasury is running dry.

New locks are needed—three or four, Upon the U. S. Treasury door."

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

About 2000 of Ohio's temperance workers gathered recently in Columbus for a conference on law enforcement. The meeting was most timely. In 57 counties in Ohio a majority of the voters have declared against the sale of liquor and yet the brewers and distillers are trying their utmost to break down the law by flooding these dry counties with their advertisements and by sending their agents to open "blind tigers" and speakeasies, to sell in defiance of the people's will. If the enthusiasm and energy manifested at this conference is a criterion, the people of Ohio do not intend to be robbed of the fruits of victory by the liquor forces. The judges, mayors, prosecuting attorneys and city solicitors who took part in the program gave plain warning to the would-be violators of law that their wrongdoing must cease. Hon. Seaborn Wright, the eloquent prohibition orator from Georgia, opened the session with a strong, logical and very convincing argument against "Capitalizing vice" by permitting the open saloon for revenue.—Ohio Message.

PREVENTING REPEAL COUNTY OPTION.

This has been a terrific fight. The W. C. T. U. against the organized liquor power of the middle states, and we have won with a majority of three votes. Think of that! Think of our band of women numbering about eight thousand in all Indiana, against the mightiest moneyed power in the Mississippi valley, yet we won! How was it done? It was done by the prompt, intelligent and effective work of our nearly three hundred local unions of the state giving time, energy and money. As your superintendent of legislation I was powerless to do anything more than to tell you of the condition of affairs at the Capitol and to suggest such lines of action as to me seemed practical. With the best mother hood of any state, we went out to seek the power that would prevent the liquor men from ruling the state, and succeeded.—Luella McWhirter.

SONG—"OUT FOR PROHIBITION."

(Tune: "Dixie.")

Quit your ease, forget your sorrow,
Give today and save tomorrow,
Come out, come out, come out for Prohibition!
Waste no more of wheat and barley,
Down with compromise and parley,
Come out, come out, come out for Prohibition!

Chorus.

We're out for Prohibition! Hurrah! Hurrah!
We're out for Prohibition! Yes, we're out for Prohibition!
Hurrah! Hurrah! We're out for Prohibition!
Hurrah! Hurrah! We're out for Prohibition!

Traitor's money take no longer,
License makes the evil stronger,
Come out, come out, come out for Prohibition!
Don't you know from the beginning
There's one way to deal with sinning?
Come out, come out, come out for Prohibition!
Chorus.

DOES PROHIBIT.

A brewer in Ohio, as reported by the American Issue, says, "I am convinced that prohibition does prohibit, regardless of what the circulars say which we send into counties in which contests have been made and are being made. A large part of the drinking is done by men who drop into a saloon with a friend. It is a social custom, nothing more. With the saloon gone the custom is discontinued. Many men who take a glass of beer or a nip of whiskey will not walk around the corner for it; most certainly they will not hunt a blind-tiger; besides they will not countenance that which public sentiment and a majority of the voters condemn. Our business has been hit hard. Our common stock is down to five. If I had in cash the money I have invested in the business I would put it where it would yield better returns in a line not condemned by the public. I am frank to say I have had enough of it."—Ohio Message.

Governor Glenn of North Carolina, says, "After 30 years of experience as a prosecuting officer in the courts, I am firmly of the opinion that 60 per cent of crime is due to strong drink and that 95 per cent is indirectly caused by it."

Governor Burke, North Dakota, "We have had prohibition in North Dakota so long that in some counties there are no jails. There is not much crime in the state."

The Supreme Court of Illinois has just declared that the Sunday closing law is in full force and effect in Chicago.

INDIANA'S SONG.

(Tune: "Anna Laurie.")

Indiana's heard the bugle,
O, army tried and true,
She is marching, she is coming,
To pledge her faith anew,
To pledge her vows anew;
To win or die with you!
You may count on Indiana,
Till the stars fade from the blue.

Where your snowy flag is floating,
And white stars dot the way,
You may count on Indiana,
In th' thickest of the fray;
In th' thickest of the fray;
Her women lead the way,
Where your emblems white are gleaming,
The "W's" lead the fray.

You can count on Indiana!
Her children are a-field!
Yes, the "L. T. L.'s" are coming;
Their clarion call has pealed;
Their clarion call has pealed;
Not one brigade will yield.
Oh, the "L. T. L.'s" are coming;
The children are a-field.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE W. C. T. U. ESSAY CONTESTANTS.

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 18, 1909.

Dear Pupil:—

Your essay has been received and will be carefully graded. The contest was closed February 15, with 157 essays having been sent to Mrs. Newcomb, a much larger number than was expected. The members of the W. C. T. U. organization feel very grateful to the pupils and teachers for their generous co-operation in this important matter.

No announcement of awards or prizes will be made in any way until the afternoon of Saturday, February 27, at which time a big meeting will be held, beginning promptly at 2 p. m., at the assembly room on the second floor of the court house. Mrs. Culla Vayhinger, state president of the W. C. T. U., who is known as an eloquent lecturer, will speak. The two best essays will be read, splendid music will be rendered, and at the close the prize winners will be announced. A general admission fee of 10 cents will be charged. Every Essay Contestant will be admitted free. A committee of W. C. T. U. ladies will be at the door of the assembly room from 10 to 12 in the forenoon and from 1 to 2 in the afternoon. Call on these ladies and get acquainted. They will be glad to furnish you a free ticket. Plan now to attend this great mass meeting. Be sure to urge your parents to come. An entertaining and instructive meeting is anticipated.

More Prizes Added.

Since the contest has closed five more firms of this city have generously offered prizes. The complete list is as follows:

No. 1, $10.00; No. 2, $5.00; No. 3, fountain pen, given by Messrs. H. Aston & Bechstein; No. 4, a league base ball and bat or a brass jewel case, by the Barnhart Book and Music store; No. 5, a pair of gloves or an umbrella by F. Dick's Son & Co. New prizes are: No. 6, a fine bottle of perfume, Justin Lovett, druggist; No. 7, a beautiful box of stationery by Jesse Hardman; No. 8, a photograph, by the Tobias studio, of this contestant; No. 9, a pen knife or scissors by S. S. Nave, South Side merchant, and No. 10, a silver cup given by O. Grafton, jeweler.

It will be hard for the judges to decide as to which are really the best essays when so many are to be graded, but they will try hard to give an honest and fair decision. Please do not be envious or so very sad if you do not win, but remember that the best thing that could come to you in this contest is not a prize but the increased knowledge of an important subject and the splendid training in composition work. All pupils who are required to write for diplomas and who succeed in writing a "merit essay" will have 10 per cent. added to their grammar grades. These examinations are held the third Saturdays of March, April and May.

Under no circumstances will any essays be returned, so please do not ask for them. Hoping that every contestant may be present at the great meeting, February 27, and wishing you continued success in your work, I beg to remain

Very sincerely yours,

IRA B. POTTS.

THE TEMPERANCE SONGSTER.

It contains "The White Ribbon Star Spangled Banner," "Out for Prohibition" and other favorites—any one of them worth the price of the book. Price: 35 cents per copy; $3.60 per dozen by express, not prepaid. Sold by Miss Ruby I. Gilbert, 131 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The Only Organized Effort in Indiana to save county option was that of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. I would like for you to repeat that statement. We have urged others to help us and to work according to their own plans. No other organization as such helped to prevent the repeal of county option. By this I mean a state organization. The church is scattered over the state in many instances did help, but when the final triumphs come, the Laurel Wreath will be placed on the W. C. T. U. These women did not work for price, but they worked for love of human nature. This love of home and children is honored by God and the victory will come.

RED LETTER DAYS.

For the reason that many social meetings are held in parlors, in church parlors, in halls, in school houses, in sitting room, in kitchen, in cabin, or wherever woman reigns as queen, from which no report has been received, as our women thought they could not properly be termed Parlor Meetings. Receptions have been held, members gained thereby, and no account kept of them, as there were no exercises of an educational character. We hope by name "Red Letter" to include whatever exists of a social nature, which is conducted by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. There are many Red Letter days that can be observed which would bring the Union into favor. Mothers' meetings may receive particular attention on January 3, the birthday of a great mother, Madam Willard. February 10-17, Membership week, when special effort should be made to win members. February 17, Frances Willard's heavenly birthday. March 1, Mrs. L. M. N. Steven's birthday, Union Signal subscription day. March 20, Neal Dow's birthday, when the bells of prohibition can ring; June 9, the birthday of Jennie Casseday, when jails, prisons, almshouses, hospitals and the sick are visited; July 4, when we educate the people in scientific temperance; July 21, Miss Anna A. Gordon's birthday, Loyal Temperance Legion day; Fresh Air Mission day, August 3, the birthday of Lady Henry Somerset, when extracts could be read of her work in the Duxhurst Home; Children's Harvest Home and Membership Crusade day; September 28, the birthday of our promoted Chieftain, who led us onward and upward for many years. Surely on this day, above all others, we could—from her writings—cull many precious gems that would enrich other lives, and probably create a desire to unite their efforts with ours in subduing evil. Peace Day, third Sunday in December, should not be forgotten in the promotion of "peace on earth." Crusade Day,

December 23, will ever remind us of the brave souls who went forward in the name and strength of the Glorious Leader, and who builded better than they realized.—Lily W. Petre.

SOW YOUR STATE KNEE DEEP.

With the literature that helped make fifty-seven counties in Ohio Dry in four months. Suitable for any local option work. Packages especially arranged for woman's house-to-house campaign work—with Ohio's plans for women's co-operation with local option committees. Each package contains fifty leaflets each of eleven different kinds of literature which answer all the arguments of the enemy, also five each of three kinds of picture posters. These are securely wrapped in a neat bundle ready to distribute to street chairmen. Price $1.00 per package, postage 15 cents. Express paid on $5.00 orders to one address at one time. Ohio Temperance Publishing House, 136 E. Gay St. Columbus, Ohio.

W. C. T. U. speakers and scores of temperance men should be kept at work in the counties where elections are to be held. Where the counties have rolled up the biggest majorities for "dry". Meetings were held in every school house in the township and series of meetings were held in the towns and cities. The "salt of the earth" live in our country and in the towns—their united influence is needed to overcome the floating non-tax paying saloon sympathizers and the politicians who owe allegiance to the liquor traffic in our cities. The bigger the county majority now for "dry" the less trouble the saloon men will give that county two years hence.

Our Legislators who worked for temperance this winter should be invited to work in Local Option campaigns—These men are known and some of them are excellent speakers.

The Educational influence of great temperance meetings and enthusiasm for county prohibition will be very great on the children and young people. Everywhere great effort should be made to get the young people to assist in the meetings and in the work. Wise men and women will see that the children and young people have a large part in all the work and jollification.

The Seventeen Year old boys of today will be voters at our next election. Think what that means!

Distribute Literature at every meeting of any kind held in your community from now until summer time. The boys and girls will enjoy helping.

Every union should spend on an average of two dollars and fifty cents for temperance and purity literature every quarter. If so there will be a substantial interest aroused in the community that will culminate after while in wonderful blessings to the community. Wisely distributed leaflets bring great returns. Our interest in a subject is according to information.

"Dear friend: The W. C. T. U.
Extends white ribbon greetings true,
And asks a contribution
To help us free our native land,
Our state, our queenly city grand,
From Rum, and its pollution.

You've heard of prohibition,
And all about "the Wave,"
But what you didn't hear about
Is what the people gave.

To publish telling leaflets,
And hire speakers too,
Because they had to have "spot cash"
That sort of thing to do.

No victory for righteousness.
Or prohibition laws
Is won without a sacrifice
Of something for the cause.

And so because the fight is on,
We come to you to plead
For just a little silver gift
To serve our mighty need.

Now if these tiny envelopes
Should gather dollars in Whose every dime was freighted
With prayers that we might win;

Why, brave young Colorado
Would rise up in her might,
And drive the liquor business
Forever out of sight.

So in the coming triumph
You'll surely want a share;
And that is why I 'pass the hat'
For all you have to spare."

—A. A. Hawley.

Benton County unions are lending valuable assistance to the temperance forces in the local option campaign. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley spoke to crowded houses at several towns in the county. The Earl Park union lost one of its most energetic workers in the department for Enid, Okla., of Mrs. Mae Cooper who has been recording secretary since the organization of the union. The first wedding in the membership was that of Miss Mabel Allen to Byron Cobleigh, March 3, 1909. They will live in Greencastle, Indiana.—Mrs. Erma McMahan.

largest factor in the causation of feeble minded imbecile children as seen in public schools.

"Such children should be taught in separate departments as they are unfit to a large degree to follow the studies carried on in ordinary schools."

Dr. C. H. Hughes, editor of Journal Alienist and Neurologist, in a paper on "The Neuropathic Entailments Following the Use of Alcohol" declared that alcohol scars and taints race stock with as much certainty as does syphilis or tuberculosis, and continues:

"Heredity is not a theory, but a fact which can be seen with great distinctness. How the race is injured, and what defects are transmitted are not always clear, because the facts are not all studied, but the alcoholic is certainly crippling his descendants, diminishing their degenerations that are transmitted in different forms and conditions."

Professor H. W. Wiley of Washington, D. C., government chemist in the Agricultural department, in a paper on "Alcohol a Poison in the Adulteration of Foods and Drinks" declared that no other substance has so deceptive and dangerous an influence, especially in proprietary drugs which are sold as tonics.

"Their good effects, quieting the system, are attributed to the tonic actions of the drugs. In reality this action is narcotic and depressant covering up and concealing the damage, at the same time provoking a craze and demand for its continuation in the future.

"Alcohol as a preservative and narcotic in the so-called tonic and stimulant is dangerous because of the unknown effects which are sure to follow. Many drugs on the market owe their popularity entirely to the alcohol they contain, and this is of the poorest and most dangerous form."

"The modern laboratory research and clinical experience denied the tonic and stimulant value of alcohol.

"Alcohol like every other drug in common use, is found by science to be useless, except as a narcotic.

"Alcohol as a beverage is a relic of barbarous times," declared Dr. B. C. Keister of Roanoke, Virginia, superintendent of the Home sanitarium.

The net result of the International Opium Conference at Shanghai, seems to have been that the delegates of the twelve nations represented have convinced themselves of China's absolute sincerity in attempting to banish opium. Little progress was made towards influencing the British government to aid in the war against this oriental curse, except so far as new data has been secured for further agitation on this phase of the world-wide battle against opium poison.

The Washington legislature adjourned Thursday March 11, after refusing to enact into law the proposed county option bill and following the indefinite postponement of even a compromise measure providing for local prohibition by towns and cities. The legislature did, however, pass a law prohibiting race track gambling, book-making and pool selling, and making it a felony; and another providing for the submission to the voters of the next general election of the constitutional amendment extending the suffrage to women.

SOCIAL MEETINGS AND RED LETTER DAYS.

Dear Sister:—

I have purposely waited till the middle of the year before rendering my letter to the Message, as I know all the unions are working along the lines of Social Meetings and Red Letter Days, and only need to be urged to report.

Last September I sent a personal letter and literature to every county superintendent mentioned in the state directory in state minutes together with blank report.

I was much disappointed at so few responding with reports, but at the state convention the sisters from all over the state were so kind, and seemed so interested, that I hope to have a much better report next year.

The National Superintendent, Mrs. Mary D. Tomlinson, 212 East Seventh street, Plainfield, N. J., sends me the same Plan of Work I sent you last year, but if any superintendent has not received it, or has misplaced the literature I sent, write me and I will send more, or write to Mrs. Tomlinson who has so much larger appropriations than mine that she can send you many things free, then at the end of the year report all work done to me.

I hope every union in the state observed Frances Willard's Heavenly Birthday and sent $2.00 to the Memorial fund. Think what that would mean to the work, about $600 to use in missionary effort.

I have been much gratified at the number of letters I have received this year asking about the department, or telling me what they are doing and are planning to do this year. I will answer all as promptly as I can, but, dear sisters, remember my appropriation is not very large, and I can hardly afford to write many times a year to the same person unless postage is enclosed.

Last year my appropriation was $5.00 and I expended $8.00, but I do not regret it if anything was gained for the great cause.

I will close with a passage quoted from Mrs. Tomlinson's leaflet: "Why Change Our Name From Parlor Meeting to Social Meeting and Red Letter Days."

Lovingly yours,

MRS. LILY W. PETRE,
Superintendent Social Meetings and Red Letter Days, Indiana W. C. T. U.
Oxford, Indiana.

INDIANA JOY BELLS, MARCH, 1909.

Dear Co-Workers:—

Just one quarter remains of the L. T. L. year, we are striving to have this the most successful year in the history of our work, keep a complete record of all work done, and report.

Greencastle Legioners are making extra preparations for our coming. One dear girl said, "We want 200 delegates, now you see, just think of that, Oh let each legion get ready to send all your graduates and others who are interested, but remember only graduates, who have their dues paid are entitled to vote, we want all who will receive diplomas this year to be present for the graduates march, Elwood Legioners are working for a class of 50. They are hustlers. The boys and girls have a contest to see which has the greatest number present and the largest collection at each meeting. They are just about even, girls winning the most of the time in numbers, the boys in the collections, letters from a number of our leaders show that excellent work is going on, no wonder that such victories are being won in the different counties of our state. Seventeen counties have reported legion work so far this year. You will receive blanks with this issue of our circular letter. Please fill them out and return to me by the 20th. If one superintendent or leader fails to get one, just let me know, and I will send you one, as we want all work done this year reported.

Yours for success,

IDA M. MIX,
State L. T. L. Secretary.

Kokomo, Indiana.

Representative Switzer was quoted by an Indianapolis paper as follows:

"As long as I wish to live in the community where I now live I shall vote for county option," said Mr. Switzer of Benton and Warren. "I certainly would have to move if I should vote against it. I believe it is to the interest of both parties to retain the law. The W. C. T. U. and other temperance organizations have been training the young voters, and in the future the first voters are going to stand by the party that represents moral views."

Social Hygiene Considered.

Dr. C. S. Woods, professor of chemistry in the Indiana Medical college, spoke on "The Social Evil." He referred to the necessity of establishing a well developed course in social hygiene in the high schools and colleges. The teaching of social hygiene he held to be the only method by which it can be hoped to save the young of both sexes from the ravages of evil and disease. He said he hoped that an appropriation may be made by the state legislature for the dissemination of literature for both sexes on social hygiene.

FIELD NEWS

Anderson W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Hannibal Winter, March 10th. Mrs. Winter in charge, her department being "narcotics." Mrs. Stevens's birthday was also observed. Mrs. Winters read an interesting paper on the effects of cigarettes on the growing boy. She also made a protest against using the pictures of Washington and Lincoln as advertisements of brands of tobacco and liquors. Readings by Mrs. T. S. Roseberry and Mrs. Hardman were appreciated. There was a good attendance. Two new members added to the union. Refreshments were served.

The Socialist Party in its platform for 1908 declared for "Unrestricted and equal suffrage for men and women," and said further, "We pledge ourselves to engage in an active campaign in that direction."

A Tree to be planted on Arbor Day in some public place by every W. C. T. U. in Indiana. So says our Flower Mission superintendent. Every union can do this, and every Loyal Temperance Legion can plant a tree on Arbor Day.

Terre Haute Union makes the following report of their work for the quarter ending March 15th: Literature distributed, 14,542 pages; social calls, 104; calls on sick, 120; text cards given, 80; dainties given, 129; bundles of clothing, 7; flowers, 105; dinners furnished, 8; 1 basket of fruit, 1 dozen oranges, 2 dozen bananas, 2 cans and 1 glass of jelly given, and two letters of sympathy written.

The subject discussed was, "Rights and Wrongs of Childhood." A goodly number was present and the following were readings: "Child's Perceptions," "Child's Rights," "Humiliation," and "Is It Nothing to You." Mrs. Florida Stewart gave a reading, "One Glass too Much."—M. E. B., Press Supt.

The Bright W. C. T. U. held a Frances E. Willard memorial service and mothers' meeting combined on February 17 with Mrs. Alfred Grubbs on Mount Pleasant. There was a good attendance, although the roads were very bad. After an impressive devotional service, there was a responsive reading on the life of Miss Willard; a paper, "Training Children," by Mrs. Hattie Jackson; a solo, "Father, Dear Father Come Home," by Mrs. Mary Bonham; paper, "Child Thought," written by Miss Janie Morgan, read by Mrs. Emma Siefferman. Mrs. Ethel Morgan spoke of "The Cradle Roll," which with other business was discussed and a collection was taken. $2.00 was sent to the National Memorial fund—Mrs. Sallie Bonham.

NOTICE.

After April 30 and until further notice my address will be Niles, Michigan, R. R. No. 2.

MRS. ETHEL E. BAIR,
State Superintendent Scientific Temperance Instruction.

The Dearborn County W. C. T. U. held an all-day meeting in the M. E. church at Guilford, March 10th, with our county president, Mrs. Maggie Gibson in the chair. A business meeting was held in the forenoon. In the afternoon, Mrs. George W. Augustine of Madison gave her report of the National convention in a very interesting manner and was much enjoyed by all present—Jennie Ward, County Recording Secretary.

New Albany—Mrs. J. H. Jones, county president, writes: Mrs. M. A. McCurdy, state organizer among colored people, is surely the right woman in the right place. She makes no mistakes.

Poor Old Wayne gets hit from all sides. Richmond deserves it. Some of the business men who voted "wet" for the sake of the almighty dollar, now see their mistake. They are losing their country trade. Serves them right! The question had more sides than they knew. They held the dollar so close to their eyes they could see only one side and that the wrong one. We will work hard to redeem our county in two years. I hope Marion will do better.

Greencastle—A Willard meeting was held at the Prayer Meeting hour in Locust Street M. E. church. The pastor, Rev. J. W. Walker, spoke beautifully on "An Inspiring Life." Miss Tessa Evans representing the Alpha Chi sorority gave an interesting biographical sketch. Miss Beth Vandament read an extract from Sen. Beveridge's Tribute to Miss Willard. Several Loyal Temperance Legioners gave quotations from Miss Willard's writings: "How Beautiful to Be With God," was sung very sweetly by Miss Lydia Williams.

Huntington County W. C. T. U. joined hands with other good women in valiant service in the late successful county option election, and in the opinion of Mayor Anderson, reduced the "wet" majority of the city from 300 to 16.

Huntington Local Union held a very successful meeting on Saturday afternoon, February 20th with the Mothers of the Allen Street school. Over one hundred written invitations being sent out. An excellent program was rendered in charge of local superintendent.

A great mass meeting was held on Sunday afternoon, the 28th. Mrs. Vayhinger made a splendid address and sixty new members were received.

The Prize Essay Contest planned for by the Huntington Union occurred on Saturday afternoon, February 27th in the assembly room of our new court house and was a great success. One hundred and sixty-three essays were received and general interest manifested. The room being crowded. The Fahl Sisters quartet sang beautifully. The first two prizes only were read, the first $10.00 in gold won by Mildred Walknets of city and the second $5.00 in gold by Minnie Wilson of Roanoke. There were eight more fine prizes given by business men of our city and the number writing merit essays of 92 per cent. and over was large. Mrs. Vayhinger gave a masterful address of forty minutes, which reached the hearts of all. To County Superintendent Potts we owe our thanks for success.

The Gosport Woman's Christian Temperance Union held a public mothers' meeting at the M. E. church Wednesday afternoon, March 3rd. A great number of mothers responded to the invitation to attend and a meeting of much interest was given. After a number of papers, readings and vocal solos, a quiz was conducted in which many profitable talks were given. At the close of the meeting we gained a few strong members that will be a great strength to us in our fight for purity and temperance. We are doing what we can, and are praying that we may see and grasp every opportunity for crushing vice in any form.—Lula S. Wampler.

Laporte union had the pleasure of hearing Hon. M. J. Fanning on March 10. His lecture was helpful and interesting. The weather was unfavorable, so the audience was small. The offering was about fifteen dollars being good for so few present. We are going to have a local option election. Old Laporte is on the move and the saloon keepers are scared.—Mrs. Seth Pease.

Moore's Hill union has been quite active during the past half year. We hold a special meeting for young mothers each quarter under the direction of the Superintendent, Mrs. Valentine. We will now take up contest work again, under the leadership of Mrs. Flora Kennen and Mrs. Florence Steele. We are hoping for a county local option election soon and believe our county will vote dry, but we realize that the battle is not yet won and we mean to increase our efforts until we see the destruction of the liquor traffic not only in our own county, but in the whole wide world.

Laporte union held a Willard Memorial service on February 8th, a short interesting program was rendered. The attendance was good. Plans were also made and discussed for the spring institute. A collection for the memorial fund was taken.—Mrs. Seth Pease.

Whitley County W. C. T. U. secured Hon. M. J. Fanning for one week in the county, beginning his series of lectures at Columbia City, February 11th. He gave four lectures in Churubusco, February 13, 14. The inclemency of the weather did not prevent the people from attending these lectures. We believe that no other speaker ever attracted such audiences in Churubusco, or made so favorable an impression on the people. Twenty-three new members were added to our union, and the offerings and pledges amounted to $67.95. Hon. Fanning also gave splendid lectures at Collins, Land, Coesse and South Whitley. We know that much has been accomplished in Whitley county by this great orator. Churubusco W. C. T. U. held a Frances E. Willard memorial at the home of Mrs. Sarah Smith, Wednesday, February 17. The attendance was very good, and a splendid program was rendered. Four new members were secured at this meeting, making twenty-seven new members this week. We had Mrs. E. Stanley with us last September and secured eight new members at that time. We have gained thirty-five new members since the state convention, more than doubling our membership.

The Little Ridge and Aaron Worth Unions held a joint Frances Willard meeting at Little Ridge church, February 16, there were a goodly number from each union present. The meeting was opened by singing, "Blest Be the Tie." After devotional service by Mrs. Millicent Haisley, there was a duet by Virgil and Cecil Smith, "Cold Water Is the Drink For Me." Owing to the inclemency of the weather, Mrs. Vayhinger could not be present, but we were favored by having President Vayhinger with us. He gave a very instructive talk on the life of Frances Willard in the forenoon. At the noon hour dinner was served and a social time enjoyed by all. The afternoon session was opened by singing, followed with prayer by Mrs. Sadie Harvey. For a short time the children entertained with temperance songs and recitations. We would like to make particular mention of every number on the program, but we can only speak of all in terms of highest praise. President Vayhinger gave the afternoon address which was very impressive and enthusiastic. We hope that much good may be achieved by his appeal in our coming election. His force, power and strong temperance arguments surely went to the hearts of his listeners.—Mrs. D. E. Whitley.

Stinesville W. C. T. U. is not asleep; just been too busy to write. Mrs. K. Hoadley entertained the union in January, each member inviting a guest; a very nice program was arranged by Mrs. F. Litten and refreshments were served. Six new members were added to the union, three of them being ministers' wives. In February a contest was held, which was well patronized and appreciated. March 7th, Mrs. R. A. Dusen, superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, held a very helpful meeting in the Baptist church at which Rev. Layton gave a splendid address. Two new members were added to our ranks. We are looking forward now to county institute which will be held in our little village April 1 and 2. Our dear Mrs. Stanley will be with us, and we expect great times.—Mrs. K. Hoadley.

Oxford Union held a memorial meeting of Frances E. Willard at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, February 14. Mrs. Mae Wann read a paper on "What the W. C. T. U. Is Doing," Mrs. Ruby Crow on "What Miss Willard Did to Unite the North and the South." These papers were so interesting that they are to be published in our county papers. The Irvin Sisters favored us with a duet. Miss Dona Roberts sweetly sang "The White Ribbon." An offering of $2.00 was sent to the memorial fund.

The Crown Point W. C. T. U. held a parlor meeting at the home of our county president, Mrs. J. P. Merrill, February 17, in commemoration of Frances E. Willard. The members responded to roll call with Frances Willard quotations. An excellent address was given by Rev. T. H. Ball on "Frances E. Willard, the Well Rounded Woman." Mrs. Julia Vilmer favored us with the beautiful solo, "Some Glad Day." Extracts from Seaborn Wright's address, "The Infamous License System," was read by Mrs. F. L. Knight. An explanation of the memorial fund was given by Mrs. Merrill and an offering received. Delicious refreshments were served by our hostess.—Mrs. F. L. Knight.

Mrs. G. E. Denny of Madison says a county convention of the temperance people was held on a recent Saturday in the court house presided over by Prof. Glen Culbertson. It was the most enthusiastic crowd for temperance ever known in Madison. Rev. J. W. Hanger was chairman of committee on arrangements and much credit is due him for excellent plans. He is a member of the W. C. T. U. The L. T. L. parlors were open all day on that Saturday so that any one coming into town could go there and wait. In the afternoon the W. C. T. U. held a short prayer service in these rooms and marched from there to the court house in a body and went into the gallery where seats were reserved for them. There was great rejoicing, even tears of joy because Jefferson county men came to the front so loyally.

Seymour W. C. T. U. held a reception at the home of Mrs. M. C. Black in honor of the new members. The parlors were adorned with the picture of Miss Willard, the white bow and the starry banner she loved so well, while the dining room was tastefully decorated in white and red. More than one hundred were present and all voted the Reds as royal entertainers as they were cheerful losers. An unusually interesting program consisting of the following was given: Short talk by Rev. H. H. Allen on "Aim and Work of W. C. T. U." paper by Miss Jessie Buchanan; reading Mr. Howard Brown, piano and vocal music by Misses Fern Ritter, Elizabeth Hoffman, Edna Kasting, Mrs. Pfaffenberger, Mrs. Hadley, Miss Marretta Sawyer, Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Sawyer. Some time ago the W. C. T. U. was divided into two sections, the Reds and the Blues to recruit for new members. The Blues securing the larger number were entertained by the Reds. The result of contest was to add twenty-three new names to roll of the W. C. T. U.

Millgrove, Blackford County—Hon. M. J. Fanning, the Irish orator of Philadelphia, spoke to a large audience at the Methodist church here March 5th. We soon will have a local option election in this county and he pleaded with the voters to make the county dry. He did much good here. Dr. Fanning made an eloquent address, full of power and humor. He asked the question many times, "Who Pays the Revenue?" He made it very plain that it was the wives and children of the drinking men. The ladies of the W. C. T. U. sang the "Crusade, Glory," song. An offering of over $20 in cash and subscriptions was taken for the State W. C. T. U.—Miss Madola Bogue.

The Hartford City union held a Frances E. Willard memorial service in Grace M. E. church Sunday evening. The church was beautifully decorated with bannerettes, bunting and flowers. Rev. Earl Naftzger preached a splendid sermon in which he paid a high tribute to Frances E. Willard and the great organization which she led so many years. The Crusade Glory song was sung with a will, and besides other music, Mrs. Naftzger sang very tenderly and impressively, "All 'Round the World." A generous offering was taken and two dollars sent to the Willard memorial fund.—Mrs. S. M. Stahl.

Blackford County had the good fortune to secure Hon. M. J. Fanning for a few dates. He spoke three times in Hartford City on Sunday, February 28, with an increased attendance at each meeting. The church was too small for the crowd at the last meeting, many standing throughout the service. The people speak well of Mr. Fanning. He certainly is an educator as well as an entertainer. He spoke at four other points. We say, "God bless Mr. Fanning in his great work."—Mrs. S. M. Stahl.

The Roll Purity union gave a Frances E. Willard memorial service at the M. E. church, February 28th. The service was rendered before a large and interested audience. Mrs. Mollie Alexander read a short biography of Miss Willard, Mrs. Katie Balsey read a paper on Miss Willard's work among the young people. Mrs. Gertrude Helmet read a splendid paper on a backward and forward look. Mrs. Sarah Harrold gave a memorial reading from the Message after which she said that while it was our duty to commemorate the Heavenly Birthday of our noble sister, we must not forget to strew flowers in the pathway of our great leaders of today. Among those whom she mentioned were Mrs. Lillian M. Stevens, Mrs. Culla Z. Vayhinger, Mrs. Stahl and our own beloved local president, Mrs. Lizzie Likely. She took Mrs. Likely by the arm and presented her to the audience who responded with the Chautauqua salute. This caused no little merriment. The response showed where the status of public sentiment in this vicinity is. A memorial offering was taken.—Miss Jessie Smith.

Roll, Indiana—Mrs. Dr. Harrold and her committee gave a valentine social Wednesday evening, February 10, for the benefit of the W. C. T. U. after a fine program of music, songs and recitations. The ladies masked in pillowslips and sheets and their husbands sought in vain for a while to find their wives to take them to the beautifully decorated dining room where a two-course lunch was served. First course was two slices of apple and a toothpick; second, sandwich, salad, cheese, coffee. A freewill offering was taken of $5.75 to help pay the expenses of our representative to the National convention.—Miss Jessie Smith.

Roanoke—The meeting of the W. C. T. U. held at the auditorium of the public school Friday was greatly enjoyed by both members and pupils, interest shown by the number present. The meeting was opened with song by the Union entitled, "Some Glad Day." After devotional, roll call was responded to by members with quotations from Frances Willard. A song "Lest We Forget," rendered by high school pupils was greatly enjoyed by all present. The union presented the High School with a picture of Frances Willard. Mrs. DeLong made the presentation speech, in behalf of the school, Superintendent B. H. Smith responded. Mrs. Juliette Dinius recited a poem entitled, "Poem to Frances Willard." A brief sketch of Frances Willard was read by Lulu Rupert. Miss Willard's call to the temperance platform was discussed by Mrs. Lambert. A very interesting paper was read, "The Greatest American Heroines," by Mrs. Eva Chennour. Mrs. E. M. Wasmuth read a selection, "At the Willard School," which was greatly enjoyed by the pupils. A selection was rendered by the Ladies chorus. Katherine Sites gave a reading entitled, "Awake, Oh, Thou Church of God." Rev. Bain spoke on the subject, "What Effect Cigarettes Have on the Growing Boy." An offering was taken to go to the Frances Willard memorial fund. Meeting closed by singing "America" and the benediction.

Indianapolis North East union held a Pie social at the home of Mrs. Gremslady the evening of February 8. An interesting program of recitations and music was enjoyed. The attendance was good. On February 12th, this union held a Frances Willard Memorial meeting in the Howard Place M. E. church. Notwithstanding that there was a continued heavy downpour of rain there was a goodly number in attendance. The program consisted of appropriate temperance music and an interesting talk by Miss Bessie Eckman on the Life of Miss Willard. A good collection was taken for the memorial fund.

The Lafayette Willard union held a Willard meeting with Mrs. C. R. Hoffman, 220 Tipton street. Good program with excellent music and a fine attendance. The rivalry between the Reds and Blues for new members increases as the time draws near for the close of the membership contest. The March meeting of this union was held at the Old Ladies' Home. The youngest, a "Crusader" aged seventy-four years. The program was greatly enjoyed, especially the music and songs.

Hebron W. C. T. U. met at the home of Elizabeth Rice, March 3rd, and had a most enthusiastic meeting. There has been a membership contest for a month and the captains reported great success. On account of bad weather many could not be present, but there were nine new members on hand with their dollars ready to sign the pledge and read the constitution. Two dollars was voted for the state organization fund. The program was the history of the Hadley home and clipping from the sayings of Mrs. L. M. W. Stevens. The contest was continued a month. Refreshments were served and we adjourned to meet again the 7th of April, when we hope to double our membership.—Elizabeth Rice.

Moore's Hill union held a very interesting Willard memorial service on the evening of February 17th. Music and recitations were furnished by the public schools and an interesting address was given by Dr. W. S. Bovard, president Moore's Hill college. A beautiful framed picture of Miss Willard draped with white ribbon stood on the platform and above it the motto, "Let Something Good Be Said." At the close of the program the significance of the motto was explained to the children and picture and motto presented to the Moore's Hill public schools. A large and interested audience was present and Dr. Bovard became a member and others are interested.

Our Promoted Comrades

In the death of Hattie Smith Walser the Reiffsburg W. C. T. U. sustains a great loss.

One year ago in April Mr. Walser moved to Michigan with his family in hopes of benefiting his wife's health. She was afflicted with lung trouble.

Sister Hattie was always ready and willing to help the union in any way she could although in very poor health. Some who entered the union when it was first organized with her became discouraged and withdrew. Sister Hattie was loyal and steadfast. She was treasurer of the union from its organization eight years ago until she moved away. Sister Hattie leaves seven boys which mourn the loss of a beloved mother whose prayers were always that this curse be wiped out before they grew up. We rejoice to know that she lived to see this great temperance wave sweeping over the land.

Mooreville—On February 11th, 1909, at the age of 72 years, Martha J. Sumner, a charter member of the Mooreville W. C. T. U. passed to her reward beyond the borders of time.

Sister Sumner was beloved by all temperance workers who knew her and they were many for she was seldom, if ever, without the responsibility of some important office. Faithful unto death, she "fought a good fight, finished her course, and has gone to receive her crown."—Sarah K. Mariner.

Fowlerton—Mrs. Sarah E. Stanton, wife of the Rev. S. S. Stanton was promoted from this earth to dwell in the Holy City of God, March 4, 1909.

Death came sudden to one of such energy and power for God's kingdom is a serious loss to the community in which she lived and to the W. C. T. U. of which she was a devout member. Much might be said of the influence of Mrs. Stanton in this community, suffice it to say that hers was a beautiful Christian character which to know was to love and honor. She never touched a life that she did not make whiter and better. She leaves a husband, three sons and two daughters. "She is gone but not forgotten."—Mrs. Lenna Dickerson.

DICKIE-ROSE DEBATE.

"Milwaukee's most representative audience" packed the city's big hippodrome to hear the debate on Prohibition between President Samuel Dickie of Albion College (Mich.) and Mayor Rose of Milwaukee.

There were present about four thousand people admitted by free tickets. All available space was taken by an eager, anxious throng.

In addition to the nearly 4,000 members of the audience which although comprised largely of men, included a few hundred prominent ladies of Milwaukee, there were present nearly 100 press representatives and magazine correspondents, representing the leading daily and periodical press of the country. Thousands more were unable to gain admission, although large sums were offered for reserved seats.

For the first time in the annals of the Great Reform, nearly 4,000 business men, supposed to be largely unfriendly to the Prohibition cause, and including among them representatives of the most prominent business and commercial interests of a great city, heard the message of the Prohibitionist from the lips of a distinguished champion, strange and incongruous as it may seem every concrete argument, almost without exception, of the Prohibition advocate was received by this body of men with cheers, frequently with unrestrained enthusiasm.

The Prohibition plea, as presented by President Samuel Dickie, was but one side of the great debate which had stirred the people of Milwaukee as scarcely any other similar event in her history.

The anti-Prohibition side was championed and defended by none other than the city's chief executive, whose fame as an orator equals, if not exceeds his reputation as a politician and a lawyer. The mayor of the brewers' metropolis gave full proof of his gifts of eloquence and dramatic power of delivery.

His well-studied address, in which he exhausted the last moment of his hour and a half quota, was extraordinary for what it omitted, as well as for a long series of amazing claims regarding Prohibition which were so absurd as to admit of no possible analysis by the opponent.

Five Dollars spent for leaflets and distributed by the school children on Saturdays would be of great value to our cause.

Money for this purpose will be contributed in dimes and quarters by men and women who have never been identified with the W. C. T. U. Working men and their wives will help. Ask them.

District the town and select two children for each street and the work will be well done. The children will be pleased thus to be missionaries for temperance.

Local Option mass meetings should be held by every Union in counties that have not yet held elections.

Beside mass meetings public temperance meetings held at the suggestion and by the help of the W. C. T. U. and the Loyal Temperance Legion will be educative. Agitation now is a mighty factor.

Literature can be secured for very reasonable prices and should be freely used in every community. In "wet" territory it will help to create sentiment against the liquor business and in "dry" territory it will arouse the people to demand liquor law enforcement.

One dollar will buy hundreds of excellent leaflets. The W. C. T. U. will do lasting service to the temperance cause by scattering literature.

Where? In every church and Sunday school service held. At all public meetings. By earnest committees making house to house visits. It is not enough that we give our dimes for literature but we must give of ourselves if we will save our homes from the curse of the saloon.

House to house visiting is by far the most effective work that can be done by Christian Temperance women.

In Marion County it is estimated that a local option election will cost $12,000 for the day, and the estimated receipts of the saloons are $17,000 a day. If the election was held—saloons closed by law on election day—the estimate would leave $5,000 in the pockets of the people. Always have in mind that the pockets of the people is where all the money comes from that runs the county machinery. The people pay the bills. When the saloon keeper pays his license fee it is with money received from the people. The people would be better off to pay that into the city and county first hand than to permit the saloon keeper to receive it and give in return for it that which takes away, in varied degrees, the earning power of these same people. Then to establish at immense cost courts and institutions to care for these saloon victims.

The financial idocy of such a plan must be studied really to be comprehended.

The general interest of women of the nation in tariff legislation plainly points to the awakened consciousness of their need of organization. A few cities have sent petitions but the mass of women are powerless without a ballot and largely without party bonds. The day is not far distant when the great concerns of government for the purity and sanctity of the home, will appeal to the women of the nation far more mightily than the question of tariff.

Strongest financial argument against the saloons in any town or county are the facts. Why not get some well informed man to secure the figures and make the statement for publication in the newspapers. The W. C. T. U. can easily assume the responsibility of publication.

The license receipts in some instances make a large sum. Then the estimated expense of keeping up the courts and institutions necessary to care for the results of the saloons will astonish some people.

By Supreme Court decision Martinsville is to have a saloon upon application filed two years ago.

"Dry" Morgan county people will surely see that this one saloon keeper obeys the law or is socially ostracised.

Judge Boston G. Young of Marion, Ohio, decides that it was not illegal in Ohio for men to buy beer at the brewery for family use.

LaFayette has a saloon to about every 200 people—a ratio that does not exist elsewhere in Indiana.

President Stone and the members of the Purdue University Faculty are actively at work for Local Option success in Tippecanoe county. With 1,800 students representing nearly every county in Indiana and almost every state in the nation great interest centers in Tippecanoe county election.

The liquor men have a prominent liquor man of Danville, Ill., as leader, the same man that was manager for them at Logansport.

Mayor Rose, of Milwaukee, the liquor orator who recently debated Prohibition with Pres. Samuel Dickie at Milwaukee, is now speaking and working for the liquor men in Indiana.

Newspaper reports say that there is much gambling among women at French Lick. We quote:

Brown's gambling-room even when empty of guests is a beautiful place. When filled with some two hundred or more guests perhaps half were women. Men for the most part in evening dress, women gowned handsomely enough for an evening reception. * * * * * The plungers among the women, however, do not stop at keno, but seek the roulette tables, the "Klondyke" board of "ponies." They play a more daring game than the men, and trust more to intuition. Twenty-five dollars' worth of chips is a comparatively low average for the woman gambler to start with in a roulette game, and she usually remains until late in the evening.

....Knox county commissioners refuse to call a local option election because the county council refused to make an appropriation.

The commissioners in petitioning for an appropriation estimated the cost of an election at $2,460 and stated that an emergency existed.

Hundreds of temperance people and others were present. Objections in writing were presented by the hotel and ice men.

Able attorneys are on local option committee who say they will ask the Circuit Court to compel the commissioners to order an election.

Indianapolis had the first Sunday baseball game April 18. It is estimated that 20,000 people came to Indianapolis on Sunday over the railroad and interurban lines. Many "Sunday bars" were open, there being few saloons closed but only a few arrests for drunkenness. Few saloonkeepers were disturbed by the police.

All over the State there is intense interest in the local option elections to be held. In no other cause is there such need of individual effort. Women can all do effective work some way, some how.

House to house visiting and distributing literature is of the greatest importance. Almost any woman can arrange to work an hour or two doing this kind of work.

This is a hand to hand struggle with the liquor element. We will not be victorious until our women take a hand.

At Richmond the official board of the First M. E. church has decided that women of the congregation must remove their hats.

This is just and right. Indignant indeed would be the occupants of a pew behind a woman who would hold an open umbrella over her during the preaching service. Some of these monstrous millinery creations are little smaller than an open umbrella. Hideous and ugly bundles of straw! Suitable to be worn in the garden when the sun shines hot and not in an audience.

On April 6 two women were elected members of the School Board of Milwaukee.

Liquor Drinking on the trains will be prohibited in Arkansas and Tennessee. This should be done in all prohibition territory. Some dining cars carry a full line of intoxicating liquors and much drinking is done.

LaFayette.—A large mass meeting was held in the Grand Opera House and among other speakers was Prof. Thomas F. Moran, head of History and Economics at Purdue University. In part he said:

"While the saloons pay in taxes and license fees to the county the sum of $21,000 yearly, this being the total revenue the county pays out $42,000 a year for its penal and charitable institutions. It is conservatively estimated that half of this sum is attributable to the liquor evil. This gives us a balance between the amount paid into the treasury by the saloons and the amount they cause to be drawn out. But the largest item does not figure into this calculation. It has been found, from careful calculation, that the daily average receipts of each saloon is $25.00. There are 105 saloons. This gives us the huge sum of $800,000 which passes over the saloon bars of this city every year. For this sum paid into the saloons there is no return. Then, too, there is no account taken of the time wasted by workmen in saloons, no account of the depreciation in their earning capacity due to drink, no account of the sum paid for the support of the State penal and charitable institutions largely made necessary by drink, no account of the broken hearts and ruined homes due to alcoholism."

The suppression of the saloons, he said, would undoubtedly cause some few people financial embarrassment. A farmer of Benton county, he said, had promised him that the farmers of that county would give employment to every man thrown out of work by reason of the saloons being put out of business in Lafayette.

Counties "Dry" by Remonstrance.

The Daylight Liquor Bill passed the Nebraska legislature and great effort was made to influence Governor Shallenberger to veto the bill but without success. He signed the bill.

Former Governor Poynter was in company with the delegation of temperance people that was given a hearing by Gov. Shallenberger, and made a strong plea for the executive endorsement of the bill. Mrs. Heald, the State W. C. T. U. president was the next speaker and while she was pleading with Gov. Shallenberger to sign the bill, ex-Gov. Poynter fell to the floor and was carried across the hall where he immediately expired.

This law goes into effect July 1st and prohibits licensed saloons from doing business before 7 a. m. or after 8 p. m. Some men will get acquainted with their families during the next winter evenings. State Prohibition rather than county option is being urged by temperance leaders as the next step in Nebraska.

MID-YEAR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING.

Noblesville, Ind., April 5, 1909.

Executive Committee met in the parlor of the First Christian Church at 2 P. M. with President Vayhinger in the chair. The meeting opened by singing "White Ribbon Glory Song," after which Mrs. Shugart, of Grant county, read the Twenty-third Psalm. Her exposition of the Psalm was beautiful, sweet and uplifting and was in part as follows: "Christ is a satisfying portion. When we follow Him He leads us safely and gently over the pathway of life. The eastern shepherd goes before his sheep; they follow him. Sometimes one or more fall sick and stay behind. He returns and cares for the sick ones. Just so with our God. 'He restoreth our souls.' Mrs. Shugart drew a beautiful picture of the eastern shepherd and his care of his flock. David knew all this and used it in this Psalm for our comfort."

The Roll Call followed and was responded to by the county presidents telling of the Local Option elections which had been or were to be held in their counties.

Mrs. Vayhinger said that inasmuch as the W. C. T. U. women were taking an active part in all these elections, she thought it would be well to have a definite plan to which they could work, and asked for an expression of opinion. After discussion the following plan was recommended: 'Call a mass meeting of women, and let there be a brief address setting forth the object. Appoint a committee from each of the churches. Then let the following committees be appointed for each town:

- I. House to house visiting.
- II. Literature and Tagging.
- III. Ringing of Bells and Prayer Meetings.
- IV. Lunch.
- V. Demonstration: Parade for Women and Children.
- VI. Music.
- VII. Finance.

Use every effort to influence the press. Co-operate with the voters and work their plans.

Mrs. Vayhinger said: "If I were compelled to do away with all these committees save one, and could choose that one I would keep the fifth, because that represents the ballotless class."

At this point Mr. Roher of Berne, Ind., was introduced and spoke for a few minutes.

The committee rose to meet at 8 A. M. Tuesday, April 6.

Tuesday, April 6, 8 A. M.

Executive met in the church parlor and after prayer by Mrs. Stanley proceeded at once to the business of the day.

Miss Mary Woodard, State Corresponding Secretary, made her report for the past six months. This was very encouraging, showing much activity along all lines. Eighteen new Unions had been organized since State convention.

Miss Clara Sears, State Treasurer, read her report. A gain in membership was reported. On motion these reports were adopted.

Mrs. Vayhinger explained at length the particulars concerning the Hadley School business and at the close of her remarks invited general discussion, questions, etc. Invitation was responded to and discussion was freely participated in.

Mrs. Hann, President of the Hadley Board, gave her report. Hadley now has a good matron. The donations have been few. There seemed, however, to be much interest, as many letters had been received which made inquiries regarding school and its needs. The Board is now prepared to receive a greater number of girls and several applications are before them at this time. Several improvements have been made and more are contemplated. More furniture is needed. All boxes or parcels for the school should be addressed as follows: "Hadley Industrial School For Girls, Hadley, Indiana."

A contract for a new well had been let and the men were expected to begin work at once. This was to cost $1.25 a foot. Mrs. Hann asked that individuals and Unions take a foot or more as they were able, so that the money might be on hand when the work was completed. It was estimated that the well would be about 80 feet deep. Several of those present handed in their gifts and others promised to bring the matter before their Unions.

Mrs. Outland reported regarding the memorials for Hadley school. All that had been paid for had as near as possible been placed, and the work would be complete by the time of State convention.

Miss Laura Cammack, State Y Secretary, reported the Y work. 725 pages of literature had been sent out, besides a number of Year Books. There was a prospect of several Y's before the end of the year. The County Presidents were urged to appoint county Y Secretaries.

At this time Mr. Charles Holler of South Bend, was presented to the members of the Executive and spoke for some time to the pleasure and profit of the women.

Mrs. Ida Mix, State L. T. L. Secretary, reported the L. T. L. work. Mrs. Mix said she felt much encouraged. She had received and written more letters in the past six months than in any previous six months during her years of service. Seven new Legions have been organized since State convention. Eighteen counties were organized. Great plans were being made for the L. T. L. State convention to be held at Greencastle in July. It was much desired by the Legioners that a representative from each county be present. Every officer of the W. C. T. U. invited, all the Trustees, and as many of the county Presidents as can possibly go. Mrs. Mix urged the women to subscribe for the Crusader Monthly. It was her desire to have 2,000 subscribers by July.

Mrs. Fulton spoke regarding the Department Pennants. Miss Clara Sears moved that the care of and the plan for presenting the Pennants be left in the hands of Mrs. Fulton and Mrs. Holler. Motion prevailed.

APPEAL FROM THE STATE Y SECRETARY.

Dear Sisters of the W. C. T. U.:

I feel that too much cannot be said concerning the Y work, or the need of it in Indiana, and I would that I could say some word or words which would arouse your interest to the extent of getting out after the young women and getting them organized into Y Branches or Y Unions. Won't you take some action at your next meeting, choose some woman of tact and influence and see who can be the first to report a Y Union.

But two Y Unions in Indiana. Isn't that too bad, and won't you do your part to change this lamentable state of affairs?

The Y Year Books which I am just longing to send you are so full of interest, splendid program for each month, and tells of one hundred things a Y can do, our National Y Secretary's report for last year, etc.

Then to the members of the Y's let me say a word. There has been made just recently a new Y button which is very popular and inexpensive, 5 cents each, or twenty-five or more three cents each. Also the very pretty Y postcards, "Our Plan," and "Wanted—A Girl." These can be used to good advantage, 2 for 5 cents. These and the buttons can be ordered from Miss A. E. Thomas, 1902 Wallace street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Some states are selling these cards to raise money for the Japanese work, or Kara Smart fund as it is called.

May is Missionary Month and the Y's are urged to do something for the Missionary fund in that month, so I trust you will bear this in mind. And lastly, dear Y's, please remember the noontide prayer when we ask for the blessing of our leaders, and for new workers.

Yours in loving service,

LAURA G. CAMMACK,
Converse, Ind. State Y Sec.

INSTITUTES.

Dear Sisters:—

Our Institute season is rapidly passing and we have held and are still holding over the State some of the best Institutes Indiana has ever had. To those counties still on the schedule let me say: Will you not in your Institute make a special effort to gain new members and to increase the subscriptions to the Union League and Crusader Monthly? Remember that our watchword is: "10,000 members by October, 1909." In the last six months we have made a gain in the State, but much remains to be done. The Institutes give us a great opportunity. Let us use it. I want to thank you every one for your loyalty to the Institute Plan and to your Superintendent. It has been so much help in the work.

Lovingly yours,

ROSE PEARCE, State Supt, Institutes,
April, 1909.

Marion—The April meeting of the Shugart W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. Louise Shulaw of No. 1308 Spencer avenue proved decidedly interesting Wednesday afternoon. There were thirty ladies present. The Leader reporter who attended the meeting was heartily welcomed by Mrs. Shugart and shown every courtesy. Although a late caller he was invited into the house, seated and shown every consideration. Notwithstanding the attentions of the hostess and her desire to aid the press representative in the discharge of his duties Mrs. Nathan Johnson, one of the leading officers of the Shugart W. C. T. U. interposed an objection when she stated she was under orders from the county press superintendent, Mrs. Sarah E. Thomas, not to give any report to the Leader. "We desire to give all our news to our organ, the Chronicle," said Mrs. Johnson, "and when the Leader reporters come to the house and ask for the news there is nothing left for the Chronicle and they have to clip the story."

Mrs. Shulaw, the hostess, interposed an objection and insisted the Leader be given the news as she takes the paper and desired to see the story in print, but her objections were overruled by Mrs. Johnson, and the interview denied. Mrs. Shulaw was ably assisted in entertaining by Mrs. O. A. Blake and the regular program was carried out. There were three new members added to the union and four visitors were present. The devotionals were led by Mrs. Blake and a number of ladies gave prayer.

The members of the union answered to roll call with quotations from the Crusader Monthly, and Mrs. Shulaw the hostess, gave an interesting program on the life and work of Frances E. Willard the famous temperance leader. Miss Margaret Ream gave a fine vocal solo, which was greatly enjoyed by all the ladies. Mrs. Shulaw then favored her guests with a reading entitled "Is the W. C. T. U. Worthy of Citizenship?" Miss Ruth Roberts rendered a solo, followed by a reading by Mrs. Ella Seal, entitled "Jack, the Fisherman." Mrs. Seal needs no introduction to the people of Marion and her ability as a reader is known throughout every W. C. T. U. union in the county. Mrs. Seal's reading was taken from the works of Elizabeth Phelps, and was particularly appropriate for this meeting.

Mrs. Esther Barney read a splendid paper on "Scientific Temperance." Mrs. Barney dwelt at length on the proper method of carrying on the great reform wave, and insisted that only in organization and steadfastness of purpose can worthy ends be attained. Co-operation on the part of all women of the county and perseverance are the two great principles to be observed. Mrs. Barney favored eliminating all medicines which contain strong drugs so that the drink habit will be completely discouraged.

"Petition and Legislation" was the subject of a fine paper by Mrs. S. A. Rhodehammel of West Marion. Mrs. Rhodehammel took up the question of legislation favored by the W. C. T. U., and in the course of her remarks urged state wide prohibition. "Its the only means of salvation and we must take this step," said Mrs. Rhodehammel. The paper was presented in an excellent manner and the reader was liberally applauded for her work.

Delightful refreshments were served.

The Flower Mission social of the Shugart W. C. T. U. was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Maggie Parson, and the meeting proved to be a success in every way. During the evening the ladies of the union received $7.00 in cash to be used by them in purchasing flowers for their sick friends. The Flower Mission work of the organization is proving a great feature and hundreds of desolate rooms are made pleasant and the sick are greatly encouraged. The opening prayer was made by Mrs. J. E. Shannon, followed by a piano duet by the Misses Erwin and Shannon. An excellent program of readings and special music was greatly enjoyed.

DAILY HEALTH HINT.

Teaching Hygiene.

A place should be made in the curriculum of every school and college for courses in public hygiene. It is as important for the state to see to it that the people are educated along these lines as that they shall know how to read and write. And especially is it essential that the teachers of the land be equipped with the knowledge to enable them to instruct their pupils in the primary principles of personal and public hygiene. It is in our schools that the children of today should be taught about the dangerous communicable diseases and how to prevent them; also how to protect themselves from those that are known to be preventable, and, in turn, to impart this valuable information to others.—Chicago Tribune.

On account of the well failing at our Hadley Industrial School, a new one has to be put down, which will cost $1.25 per foot. Several pledges were taken at the Mid-Year meeting, and we will ask either Unions, or individuals to dig a foot, by sending $1.25 to the State Treasurer, as soon as possible, and help with the expense.

CLARA M. SEARS, Treas.

P. S.—The well is finished; is 83 feet deep. Plenty of water. The pipe is nine feet in the rock. The water stands within twelve feet of top.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

April 20, 1909.

Dear Sisters:—

(When you read the minutes of the Mid-Year Executive meeting you will read of the new well which is to be provided for the use of the Hadley School. It is earnestly desired that when this well is completed the money may be in the hands of the State Treasurer to meet the bill. The plan brought before the Executive is such an easy one. Are there not 100 White Ribboners in Indiana who will send $1.25 to the State Treasurer as their share? This will meet all the expense and maybe a little over. Are there not some Unions who can send in this small sum and who will be glad to do so? You are earnestly requested to send in these gifts at once. Our School is on a better foundation than ever before, our opportunities are greater, but our needs are also greater. Now is the time for every loyal member to come to the help of your board. Confidently expecting that you will respond quickly and gladly, and thanking you each one, I am lovingly yours,

ROSE PEARCE, State Rec. Sec.

LITERATURE.

Send for samples and catalogue of supplies to the National Temperance Society, No. 3 East Fourteenth street, New York City.

Many excellent leaflets published, "Hard Times" is especially good. Very inexpensive leaflets.

Send to the Permanent Committee on Temperance of the Presbyterian church, No. 72 Cone-stoga Bldg., Pittsburg, Pa.

Systematic and Proportionate Giving.

Dear Sisters:

Your Supt. of this department is receiving a number of letters on this line of work which indicates the interest taken in the subject, and I have written, and forwarded literature to all the County Superintendents of this department whose names appear in State minutes, beside other interested persons. I have instructed the County Superintendents to make a specialty this year of public meetings with a well arranged program, and the distribution of literature, and keep a strict account of the work done to report later in the year. I may not receive all the letters directed to me, as my address is given in the State minutes Richmond, and should be Fountain City. Please take note. Yours in the work,

L. ELLA HARTLEY, State Supt.

YOUNG WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION—IMPORTANT.

Please have the following letter read at the next meeting of your Union.

Dear Sisters:

We all rejoice at the Victory Notes which are coming to us from all sides, but the battle is only just begun and there will probably be a need of the W. C. T. U. in the field of reform for many years to come. Many of our Unions are today facing a serious question, viz.—who will take up and carry on this work. There has been in some Unions a growing indifference to the need of the Y Branch or a discouragement over the possibility of reaching and training young women for this field of work. I come to you today dear sisters with the plea that you will not be content to labor on in this field yourselves but that you will reach out for the young women around you and never rest until they too are enlisted in this holy warfare.

Choose your most girl-loving woman as a Y Secretary—if you can't organize a regular Y Union have a Y Branch. The work of the Y is really very beautiful when once you are thoroughly interested. This year our Y's are endeavoring to put Miss Willard's picture in public Institutions, raise $600.00 for our Japanese Missionary Fund, organize in schools and colleges and we have other beautiful plans.

The Y gives to a young woman a training which she receives in no other organization. She needs this training for her own self protection and to enhance her value to society. Dear sisters you need the young women. While they naturally have not the wealth of experience nor soundness of judgment which comes with the years they bring to any cause they espouse a great social influence and an energy and optimism which is refreshing to those who have labored long in a strenuous reform.

Now will your Union help me to gain the twenty thousand new members we are trying to secure in our Y Branch this year?

If you are interested in doing something write me about it no matter how unpromising the field seems to be. I'll help you if possible. If you will send five cents to Miss A. E. Thomas, 1902

Wallace Street, Philadelphia, she will send you our Y Year Book which contains full information about Y Work, programs for a year and a list of "One hundred Things a Y Con Do."

Please do not throw this letter into the waste basket but take some action upon it and God will bless you as you reach out to pin the White Ribbon on the dear girls and bring them in.

Yours in loving bonds,

RHENA E. G. MOSHER,

Westfield, New York. National Y Secretary.

I trust that the above letter from our National Secretary will be read in every Union in the State and that it will arouse an interest in the young woman's work, and that a Y Secretary will be chosen in each Union to get the dear girls into this great work for humanity.

I am so anxious that we have several, yes many, Y Unions or Y Branches organized during the next few months, and that I may be able to go up to our State Convention with a good full report. Dear sisters will you help?

I have some excellent leaflets, and also some of the Y Year Books which I will gladly send you, if you will only ask for them. The Year Books are 5c each, but are full of good things from cover to cover. I have sent out a few copies of the above letter to the President of local Unions and shall expect and pray for good results.

Let us unite our efforts in winning the young people for our work. Yours for service,

(MISS) LAURA G. CAMMACK,

State Secretary.

PEACE DEPARTMENT.

Call For Hague Day Celebration.

The state, county and local Superintendent of our Department of Peace and International Arbitration did such faithful and good work last year that we feel sanguine of good reports of effort on our beautiful lines of work this year.

Many schools were induced to prepare and carry out programs commemorating the anniversary of the opening of the first Congress of Nations which was held at the Hague in Holland in 1899, beginning on the 18th of May. We hope that still more public schools will commemorate the tenth anniversary this year on May 18th, or a day near that date, by carrying out original and appropriate programs or by the use of those that we have published and can furnish at cost (one cent each), at our office in Winthrop Center, Me.

The Hague Conference of 1899 meant much to the world. It was a forerunner of other conferences of nations and of the great International Court of Arbitration since organized to settle justly and fairly any differences that may arise between nations without their resorting to the cruel and often unjust arbitrament of modern warfare.

Superintendents and Unions will please take note of the approaching Hague Day anniversary and do all they can to promote an interest in its celebration, especially by schools, in order that the principles of the gospel of peace may be promulgated and our children may learn the better and more reasonable way of settling difficulties than by military force.

HANNAH J. BAILEY,

Supt. Peace Dept.

Winthrop Center, Me., March 27, 1909.

LOYAL TEMPEANCE LEGION.

The National L. T. L. Year Book has been received. I want every W. C. T. U. officer, Superintendent of the State, every President, L. T. L. Secretary of the Counties, and every local L. T. L. Secretary, Leader and President in the different Legions to have one. If you have not received it just drop me a postal card and you may have one free. I do want to emphasize the value of the Christian Citizenship program by Mrs. Etta Freeman Lane, Plain City, Ohio. Price 25 cents. They will be a help to arouse the Christian voters in your community.

Five Dollars in gold has been offered to the State having the greatest number of Legions maintaining a Temperance column in the local papers. The L. T. L. Press Bureau is now in working order and the copy it turns out is just what you need to supply that Temperance column with live, up-to-date matter. Write Mr. Joe Towell, Mendon, Mass., the gifted young New England author, who will furnish copy all in readiness for the printer, at 50 cents per month.

Read page 58 of the New L. T. L. Year Book, and help to swell the Anna A. Gordon Missionary Fund.

Now listen to the Crusader Monthly count taken March 15th. Indiana lost 27 subscribers, leaving our list 950. How about our plan of 2,000 by Sept. 15, 1909?

We hope to have our program for State convention, planned soon. Miss Blanche Thorne is chairman of program committee, and soon she will have the work in hands. Be ready to do anything you are called upon to make this convention a success. A misprint in Message last month which read "We want 200 delegates" should have been Two Thousand. Our Legions at Greencastle are asking largely; let us not disappoint them. Commence at once to raise money to send a big delegation from your Legion. We are to have a Thanksgiving service. Two minute speech from every county, of the work done in your county along the line of Temperance. Where there are no Legions in the county, we want the W. C. T. U. County Executive to send us a young man or young woman to give us the report; and if a county has no Legion or county organization, but a Union, we want that Union to send a representative. The entertainment will be free. You pay the car fare or traveling expenses. We believe this will be a paying investment to you, in the inspiration they will get by coming in touch with our workers from over the State. Try it this time and help us that much. Some of you have never made the effort before, to help us in our State convention, and it is one way you can help this time. Try it.

Mrs. M. A. McCurdy, State Organizer of W. C. T. U. among colored people, has reported the following: A Legion at New Albany, with 84 pledged members, with Miss Nannie Richardson as Secretary. One at Columbus, with 15 pledged members, Miss P. L. Durett, Secretary. One, "The Bethel Legion," at Indianapolis, with Miss Pearl Gilliam Secretary, and one at Muncie, "The Burden Legion," with Miss Mable Burden Secretary. I am sure we gladly welcome these young people into our ranks and ask the Lord to bless them and Mrs. McCurdy in this work.

Now let's plan for delegates to our convention. Send in full reports. This quarter ends our L. T. L. year June 15th. Yours to help,

IDA M. MIX, State Secretary.

PEACE AND ARBITRATION.

Through the Message I wish to call the attention of every W. C. T. U. worker in Indiana, especially Superintendents of Peace and Arbitration to prominence given by the Indianapolis News to the subject of Rifle Drills in the Public Schools.

In the March 25, 09, issue of The News page 11, almost a column article on "Rifle Practice in Schools" was found. The writer says: "The News has from time to time, found occasion to comment adversely upon the work conducted by the National Rifle Association of America, in its efforts to encourage and promote military rifle shooting among our citizens, particularly in reference to the teaching of shooting in the public schools." The writer further says: "I have no doubt that these comments, including a cartoon intended to make the idea appear ridiculous, have been due solely to the failure of those responsible ever to consider the matter as a serious proposition."

The W. C. T. U. is unalterably opposed to war and to all that tends to educate or influence in that direction. We are pleased to recognize every influence against militarism and a tendency toward making this a military nation.

I earnestly request that each Union throughout the State, send a letter of appreciation to the Indianapolis News for its influence in the article mentioned against "Rifle Drills in the Public Schools."

This should be done at an early date, the result of these brief letters can not be estimated. Let us unite our prayers for Peace. We trust that the time is not far distant when the Angel of Peace can raise her drooping head and rejoice that the Americans have been loyal to the teachings of our dear Saviour.

Yours for a successful year,

MRS. LULU LAMB, State Supt.

Amboy, Miami Co., Ind.

LAW AND STATISTICS.

County Presidents and Superintendents of Law and Statistics, you will receive a duplicate of the card inserted here:

Dear Sister:

Have you a Superintendent of Law and Statistics?

If not, will you answer the following questions by the 15th of September, 1909?

Has your county voted on Local Option?.....

If so, what majority for Wet?.... Or Dry?...

How many saloons put out of business in your county?.....

How many breweries?.....

How many arrests for drunk in county, 1909.....

How many police have you in county?.....

What is the total amount of their salaries?..

(For information, ask the Chief of Police and County Auditor.)

MRS. ROWENA E. RANDLE.

State Superintendent of Law and Statistics.

Indiana W. C. T. U.

Will you use it for your Bible mark and then see that it is properly filled out and sent to me by the 15th of Sept, 1909. This will be a great year for statistics, and we want to show the people of the State what we are doing and how near we Temperance advocates control the State.

Yours,

MRS. ROWENA E. RANDLE,

State Supt. L. T. L.

FIELD NEWS

The Montpelier W. C. T. U. held a Frances Willard memorial meeting in their room at the library. Good papers were read on the girlhood and the life of Frances E. Willard. The Union furnished clothing for a new baby whose mother was a very worthy woman, whose husband had just died. The babe is named Frances Willard. Our Blackford county sisters had a hard local option fight and lost at the election by 132 votes. The W. C. T. U. women and anti-saloon people worked hard. We had the school children to give a demonstration carrying large banners upon which were the words, "Vote for me" and "vote for the home." We gave the demonstration on Saturday before the election on Tuesday. We placed a banner in every home and every business house where they would permit. The Anti-Saloon League placed large cartoons in some of the windows and on bill-boards and in the M. E. church where the most of our lectures were given. The cartoon represented a small boy and girl, under which were these words: "The Saloon, or Save the Boys and Girls." In polling the town we had quite a majority for the "drys" and was sure of winning. We were simply crushed when we heard that we were defeated. The W. C. T. U. held an all-day prayer meeting at the church commencing at six in the morning and closing at six in the evening. All the church bells rang every half hour all day and the factory whistles blew every hour. Some of the ladies were stationed at each precinct and served hot coffee and sandwiches free to the voters. It is more than a mystery how any man could listen to the good lectures that were given and then vote "wet," as the M. E. church was packed every night to hear the speaking and several hundred had to be turned away for the want of standing room. Today there are two saloon-keepers applying for a license at Hartford City, and are men are over fighting it as our town is "dry" with a remonstrance. The last saloon closed last Wednesday. It remains to be seen what the outcome will be. We will not give up and hope and pray that our next election will be for State wide prohibition, believing God will rule in the end.—Mrs. Manervia Bartmon.

The Allen County Institute was held in Monroeville M. E. church March 16 and 17, and although the weather was not the best, our Institute was one of the best ever held in the county. Mrs. Josephine Walmer leader, Mrs. Martha Ridenour our county President, Mrs. West our loyal local President, assisting. Everything from start to finish was full of interest. Some questions from our question box are still confronting us, and we hope interest in them will not abate until the problems are solved. Especially these two: "Why do we so often see young men and boys under the influence of liquor in dry territory?" "Why not have an L. T. L. in Monroeville?" "A Review of the Work" by our county President told us of much good work being done. She also impressed us with the need of the great work in Allen county that we would be willing to do anything or everything to put Allen county in the "dry" column. Rev. A. K. Hartman of Fort Wayne Grace Reformed Church, gave an address, "Present Status of the Temperance Movement in Indiana." Our first evening was given to the Gold Medal contest in charge of County Superintendent Mrs. Barnhart. This was attended by a crowd. The large auditorium being filled, many standing. The class consisted of five young ladies and one young gentleman. The medal was awarded to Miss Vickie Meyers and presented by Mrs. Walmer. Recitations were given while the judges were out, by Mrs. Bertha Youse, Miss Ethel Barnhart and Miss Bertha Heckler. Special music for the evening by the choir including Messrs. C. W. Peckham, C. W. Barnhart, M. A. Smith, and Mesdames M. A. Smith, Ida Youse, J. A. West and Bertha Youse. The music added much to the evening's pleasure. The second day's program was full of interest. Excellent papers were read by Mesdames R. A. Hunter Bloom and Burns of Fort Wayne, Mesdames Eagy, Youse and Vogel of Monroeville. Subscribers for Crusader Monthly taken 10, Union Signal 6. Our Institute closed Wednesday evening with an address by Mrs. Josephine Walmer, that was pronounced one of the best ever made in our city. It was delivered in her own matchless style. The large audience was deeply moved and definite results for good must follow the strong appeal for better living and a nobler, saner citizenship. Many things of great interest that entered into the Institute must be omitted from this brief report.—Florence Barnhart, Press Supt.

Michael J. Fanning addressed a large audience in Indianapolis at the East Tenth Street M. E. Church March 26, under the auspices of the Brightwood, Northeast and Vayhnger W. C. T. U.'s. The Clarion Quartette furnished the music, which, with the speaker was much appreciated. A goodly offering was taken for the State's work, which, the speaker announced as being the largest in the county during his lectures here.—Mrs. E. F. Brown.

Benton County W. C. T. U. Normal Institute was held in the M. E. church in Otterbein March 18 and 19, 1909, with Mrs. Amanda Smith, the county President presiding. The local unions were well represented and brought good reports. Mrs. Luella McWhirter pleased every one and gave one of the very best institutes ever held in the county.

Benton County Dry by a Majority of 885.—The local option election in Benton county March 23rd is over and the victors are rejoicing. Oak Grove township, where the Oxford W. C. T. U. has been doing active work, gave the largest dry majority of any township in the county. The W. C. T. U. assisted by the ladies of the churches served free lunch to the voters. The Local Option League reorganized last week as the Law and Order League with the same officers to try and see that the laws are enforced.

The Oxford W. C. T. U. met March 26th, at the home of Mrs. Gwin with a good attendance. Mrs. Belle Benedict gave a full and interesting account of the Normal Institute at Otterbein. Mrs. Mary Crosson as leader brought out the dangers of alcohol in medicines and the indiscriminate use of headache tablets. One Parlor Press meeting was held March 12, with Mrs. Alma Tharp and several new subscribers secured for the Union Signal and Crusader Monthly. As a result of the meeting April 2nd on Sabbath observance the Sunday laws are to be printed in the local paper.—Mrs. L. B. Evans, Local Press Supt.

The DeKalb County Institute at Waterloo.—The County Institute of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held in the Evangelical church at Waterloo, March 18 and 19, and was very well attended. The meetings were full of interest, from the opening to the closing session. Thursday's session being largely given to business proceedings. In the afternoon Rev. Sterling of Garrett, gave an excellent address upon "The Tobacco Habit." Mrs. Josephine Walmer, of Bluffton, a W. C. T. U. state worker, was present, and very ably conducted the Institute. She also gave the address on Welcome night, and a ladies' quartet from Auburn furnished special music. Friday morning session opened with music and devotional. Mrs. Hasselman of Butler sang a solo, followed with a paper by Miss Jennie Shutt of Auburn on "The White Slave Trade of Today," which created much interest, and called forth a discussion of the enormity and growth of this evil. Dr. Stewart of Auburn, next read an interesting and helpful paper upon, "The Latest Findings of Science as Regards the Effects of Alcohol on the Human System," which was followed by discussion led by Mrs. Walmer. The afternoon session opened with praise service, conducted by Mrs. Kagey of Auburn, and special music, a piano trio, by Mrs. Beidler, Mrs. Rufner, and Miss Goodwin, of Waterloo. Dr. Lida Leasure of Auburn, gave an excellent address on "The Advantages of Municipal Suffrage for Women," followed by a reading by Mrs. A. M. Oswalt, of Auburn. Supt. Mowdy of Waterloo, next gave an address upon the subject, "The Need of a Law, for the Protection of Prohibition Territory," which was very helpful and instructive. The Silver Medal contest, consisting of nine contestants from Garrett, Auburn, Waterloo and St. Joe, furnished a splendid program for the evening, interspersed with music by Waterloo talent. Miss Thelma Grover of Auburn, was awarded the medal. A large number of Garrett and Auburn people were in attendance at this closing session of the institute, and received an inspiration for more vigorous efforts, along all lines of temperance and reform work.

The Delaware County W. C. T. U. Institute met at the Normal City, M. E. church. The opening session was held on Thursday evening, April 15, 1909. After the devotional a class of children enthused the audience by singing, "Please Won't You Vote It Out?" Mrs. Elizabeth T. Stanley, State Vice President, gave the address of the evening to a large and appreciative audience. She dealt principally with conditions in our local option fight, and we believe that much good will be accomplished. Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, State President, presided on Friday, April 16, 1909. The forenoon session was largely taken up with the subject of the "White Slave Traffic," which was ably discussed by Mrs. Odessa Rayle, of Muncie, State Supt. of Purity. Dr. Owens of Muncie, gave an interesting discussion of "The Effects of Alcohol on the Human System." The first address of the afternoon was by the Rev. O. M. Eaton, of Muncie, on "The Power of the Pulpit Used Aggressively Against the Liquor Traffic." Mrs. McCurdy, State Organizer among the colored people, was present and encouraged us by her report of the good work done among the colored people. She has recently organized a Union of Colored women in Muncie. A number of girls from the upper grades of the Normal City schools were present and Mrs. Vayhinger gave them some excellent advice. Mrs. Marguerite Snell, a member of our local Union, read an original poem. During the Institute session 16 active and 2 honorary members were added to the different Unions of the county.

The Sardinia W. C. T. U. celebrated its first anniversary at the home of Mrs. George Claypole, the evening of April 14th. The members with their families and invited guests were entertained with a "Guessing Contest" of noted characters, after which Mrs. Susie Graves gave the annual report of the Union. A musical program was given by the following persons: Master Emmons Agnew, Misses Maviina Claypole, Joy Vanblaricum, Cecil Shaw, Bessie Arbuckle, E. Rose Meredith, Mrs. Zula Kennedy, Mr. Lowell Hubbard and Professor Roy Kennedy. The pledge cards were then passed by Masters John Gaston and Joseph Graves, and the Union gained four new honorary members. Dainty refreshments were served by the ladies.—E. Rose Meredith.

Columbia City, Whitley Co. W. C. T. U. has recently had National and State workers. Much good has been accomplished. Hon. M. J. Fanning, the Irish orator, gave two lectures on February 11th to large audiences. He spent a week in the county, speaking at various places. He is one of the best lecturers that has come to us through the W. C. T. U. Following this, beginning on the 15th, Dr. and Mrs. N. W. Tracy of Indianapolis, gave a series of illustrated lectures, continuing twelve night. Their work can not be over-estimated. Twenty-four new members were secured for the union. Mrs. Perkins of Fort Wayne, spent three days with us, talking to women, children and various clubs and lodges. Through the local option committee we were enabled to have a number of other speakers, among them being Mr. Fred Rohrer of Berne, Attorney Dahl of Goshen, Mr. Hicks of South Bend, Rev. Chimers of Noblesville and Attorney Jackman of Huntington. Much credit is due to our local ministers for their aggressive work in this campaign and also to Mr. W. W. Williamson, editor of the Commercial Mail. The campaign closed on March 5th with a wonderful victory. The election returns showed a dry majority of 1149, in a county having 13 saloons and one brewery. Each township in the county gave a dry majority, the wets gaining small majorities in only three precincts in the entire county. Even Columbia township with eleven saloons and one brewery, gave a dry majority of 23. The temperance women of Columbia City had daily prayer services during election week and on the morning of election at 6 o'clock a prayer service was held, also at three in the afternoon. Church bells were rung hourly beginning at 6 a. m. The county institute will be held at this place, April 29 and 30.

Williamsport—Mrs. Eva Lightly writes: We held a union temperance meeting on the evening of the 14th with addresses from the Presbyterian and the Methodist pastors. I think the service will prove quite a stimulus to our work and a collection taken at the close helped to swell our treasury. Our W. C. T. U. officers are: President, Mrs. E. B. Anderson; recording secretary, Mrs. F. Messersmith; corresponding secretary, S. C. Hansen; treasurer, Mrs. Florence Gregory. I fear our report was not sent in, as I am continually receiving letters addressed to me as president. With many prayers that the right will win.

A Frances Willard Memorial service was given at the Friends church on the afternoon of February 14th, although there was a steady downpour of rain a good audience greeted the W. C. T. U. The program was in the form of a drama, which represented Mr. and Mrs. Leslie at home with their four daughters and one son during the evening. Aunt Ida, Uncle Frank and Cousin Edith came to the Leslie home. Uncle Frank told of Miss Willard's beautiful character; Aunt Ida of her love for the good and true; Cousin Edith of her beautiful face. Morton recited the "Two Flags," at the request of his father; Miss Elizabeth read a portion of her mother's paper, "An Historic Home," Mr. Abbott, a gentleman friend of Miss Elizabeth sang a solo. Dr. Howe speaks of their acquaintance when young. With grandmother and little Lucile the family and their friends made a beautiful picture of home life. At the close a lady in the audience said it represented an ideal way in which a family and their friends might pass their evenings.—Etta Briles.

Muncie—The Normal City union observed Frances Willard memorial in a very fitting manner on February 19 at the M. E. church. Temperance hymns and anthems were sung by the choir. Mrs. Nuzum read a beautiful sketch of Miss Willard's girlhood. Mrs. Hill read a very interesting paper on "What Miss Willard Did for Woman." Equally as interesting a paper on "Mother, Home and Heaven," was read by Mrs. Morrow. A large and beautiful picture of Miss Willard was presented to the new Whittier school. An original poem was given by Mrs. Hathaway of Indianapolis which was much appreciated. An orchestra furnished the music which added greatly to the interest of the evening.—Mrs. Gay Calvert.

The Howard County Executive and Quarterly Superintendents' meeting was held at New London, February 11, at the residence of Mrs. Lucy Kenworthy. At the executive session the necessary business was transacted and the program planned for the spring institute. At the afternoon session the work of the Mercy, Flower mission, Fair and Open Air meetings, Evangelistic, Jail and Prison work and the department of work among colored people was presented. An interesting discussion followed the presentation of each subject. Five of the unions of the county were represented. The severity of the weather preventing others coming. Two dozen women separated at the close of the day's work, feeling that an interesting and profitable as well as an enjoyable day had been spent. We trust the cause we love and work for was forwarded by our meeting together.—E. M. Watson.

The Kent Woman's Christian Temperance Union organized July 15, 1908, with only ten members, has reached a total of 55; fifteen of which are honorary members. A few weeks ago our Union only numbered twenty-five, at which time we entered into a contest for new members, twelve on each side—it being impossible for one of our number to aid us. Mrs. A. W. Benham was leading contestant on one side, and Mrs. George M. Black on the other. The former gained the victory with a majority of eight. Whole number gained in contest, twenty-eight. Mrs. Black's side accepted their defeat cheerfully and delightfully entertained their opponents, with ice cream and cake, at the newly erected Red Men's Hall in Kent. Our Union is evidently growing in interest as well as members.—Amy S. Kistler.

Guilford—A Loyal Temperance Legion of 23 members was organized at West Fork M. P. Church, April 11th, by Mrs. Jennie Ward, county L. T. L. Secretary, with Mrs. Clara Chamberlin Superintendent, Miss Blanch Taylor President, Miss Mary Ewbank Vice President, Lester Taylor Cor. Sec., Miss Dora Miller Rec. Sec., Irving Ewbank Treasurer.

The Frances Willard Union of Connersville, Ind., gave a reception in honor of their new members at the home of Mrs. Mary Enos on Lee street. The twelve new members were the result of an interesting contest between the "Reds" and "Blues," the Reds having to furnish the program and the Blues the refreshments. Almost all the members were present with visitors from the neighboring Unions. The large rooms were beautifully decorated with growing plants and white ribbon, significant in its purity and simplicity. An excellent program was rendered. Mrs. Clara Enos in charge of the music. After the installation of the new members by our local president Mrs. Emma Enos, assisted by Vice President Mrs. Lizzie Creamer, our County President, Mrs. G. L. Huxtable spoke encouragingly concerning the outlook for our Union. A social hour during which the refreshments were served, was much enjoyed.—Mrs. Tillie Henry, Press Supt.

Blackford County Institute was held at the Christian Church in Hartford City on March 24 and 25. The Unions were greatly favored and much delighted to have as their leader the State President, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger. On the evening of the twenty-fourth a gold medal contest was held. Mrs. Myrtle Schull of Montpelier won the medal. On the following day many excellent talks were given on very important subjects by members of the local Unions of the county. Ministers of the city, the county president, Mrs. S. M. Stahl. In the evening a mass meeting was held and one of the best addresses ever delivered on temperance in Hartford City was given by Mrs. Vayhinger. The church was crowded. There were fully 800 persons present. A good musical program was rendered. Part of the music being furnished by a quartette from Taylor University of Upland, of which Mrs. Vayhinger's husband is president. Blackford county is just in the midst of a great campaign for county local option, election to be held on April 6th. The Institute was a great means of arousing enthusiasm and creating an interest in the campaign. It was considered the best institute Blackford county has ever heard.—Forest Andrews, Co. Press Supt. Later—The valiant temperance people were defeated in the election—Blackford voted "wet."

Elkhart County—"The best institute ever held in Elkhart County," was the declaration made both the old and new members of the Elkhart County W. C. T. U. who attended the meeting held in St. Mark's M. E. Church, Goshen, March 29 and 30, under the leadership of Mrs. Retta Jones. Mrs. Milton Wertz, the enthusiastic county President was at her post and conducted the entire program. Each Union was well represented and all came rejoicing over the victory won in Elkhart county. The delegates were warmly welcomed by Mrs. Mary Bechtel of Goshen. The predominating feature of the institute was the information given and received in department work. Each county superintendent presented her special department and this was followed by a drill and quiz which was very instructive. Mrs. B. C. Rawley, Director of the National L. T. L. Correspondence Training School, was present, and answered questions along all Loyal Temperance Legion lines. Mrs. Rawley was also the leader of a spirited parliamentary drill. Tuesday afternoon was marked with a fine address by Rev. Reuch and a most impressive consecration service led by Mrs. Harry Zeigler. The evening meetings were addressed by Mrs. Jones. Mrs. Wertz presented the county organization with a handsome banner. She also presented the institute with pennants all in different colors and beautifully made, bearing the names of the several departments of work. These pennants are to be awarded the local superintendent doing the best work in their department. This was, indeed, an institute that combined the inspiration of a mass meeting with the technical drill of a school.—Iva W. Parker.

The W. C. T. U. of Everton, Fayette County, is a "new one," but has gone to work in earnest and at the age of but one month, held a Silver Medal contest that was fully up to the standard of some that have been held elsewhere. Our President, Mrs. Clara Lake, won the medal, but the other contestants were close in the race. A quartette of young ladies added much to the entertainment. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity. When women get to work there is something done; and when they all get to work there will be more done. God speed the W. C. T. U. Yours hopefully, Mrs. Annie Trusler Brumfiel, R. 5, Box 49, Connersville, Ind.

Bedford—Lawrence County Institute convened at First M. E. Church Monday morning, April 12. After short devotional services by Mrs. William Denniston, work of the Institute was taken up. Mrs. Ella Kroft of Bloomington leader. The members of Bedford Union had taken dinner to the church, and the noon hour was enjoyed by all present. The Oolitic Union, less than a year old, being organized by Bedford Union last July, had nine members present. Mitchell had four representatives. The program, mapped out by State Committee was followed and was made very interesting throughout. Special mention should be made of Dr. Heckman's paper, "The Latest Findings of Science as Regards the Effects of Alcohol On the Human System." The Institute voted thanks to the Doctor for this able paper. Mr. Fred Rowe gave an earnest talk on the Loyal Temperance Legion. On Monday evening there was a Silver Medal contest. The medal going to Miss Fairy Ross, daughter of our local treasurer, Mrs. G. B. Ross. There was also a debate by students of the Bedford Business University. The decision of the judges and the audience was in favor of the negative. The subject being, "Resolved, That Women Should Not Vote." There was music both vocal and instrumental by the best talent in the city. On Tuesday morning the county was organized by the election of the following officers: President, Mrs. Armilda F. Mathes, Bedford; Cor. Secy., Mrs. Dora Johnson, Bedford; Rec. Secy., Mrs. P. N. Blackburn, Oolitic; L. T. L. Secy., Miss May Kern, Oolitic; Y Secy., Mrs. Albert Hackney, Mitchell; Treasurer, Mrs. Chas. Coleman, Mitchell. An interesting program was rendered during the day. All were delighted with the singing by the members of the Oolitic Union. The Institute closed with an address by Mrs. Kroft, that made a good impression upon an audience that filled the large auditorium of the M. E. church. We also enjoyed very much the solo by Mrs. Kroft just before her address. An exercise by 49 young ladies, consisting of solos and choruses, in which each young lady represented a state, closed a very instructive and profitable institute. We had Mrs. Kroft for the first time in Institute and commend her most highly for her work among us. Our dear local president of Bedford Union is away with her daughter in an infirmary at present. A telegram was sent her from our newly organized County Union. Mrs. Hariman local vice president, deserves the thanks of the local as well as the county union for her untiring efforts in behalf of the work. Space forbids the mention of all. We appreciate the help from the ministers who so kindly helped make the program a success.

Bright Union—The dinner given by the W. C. T. U. in the Woodman Hall on Wednesday the seventeenth of March, was a social and business combination. The table spread with everything good reached nearly the entire length of the hall and seated about forty people. The table and hall were decorated in white, relieved by the color of Spring flowers. In afternoon a business meeting was called to order by the local president Mrs. Tillie Heiskell, and plans for Temperance Sunday were discussed. It was decided that a delegation go to Harrison on Sunday evening to hear a noted temperance lecture by the renowned lecturer Col. Geo. W. Bain. The hall was crowded to its capacity and each and every one were captivated by the splendid lecture which was especially directed to the young. The three churches of Bright celebrated Temperance Sunday by the pastors giving special temperance sermons. Bro. Hester, pastor of the Methodist church, gave an illustrated sermon which was interesting as well as instructive.—Sarah Bonham, Press Supt.

Fowlerton Union held a Sabbath Observance meeting at the United Brethren church on April 4. Recitations by Oren Kirkwood, Mabel Niebarger, Adda Barkdull, Clarence Niebarger. Song by the children. Solo by Mamie Crawford. Rev. Rector and Rev. Stanton gave excellent talks on Sabbath Observance. Meeting was conducted by Mrs. Voda Malone, Supt. of the Dept. of Sabbath Observance. Three new members were added to our Union. A crowded house and the best of attention was the results of our efforts.—Mrs. Lena Dickerson, Press Supt.

Laporte Union held an all-day institute on March 24th, serving dinner and supper in their rooms. Retta Jones was the leader. There was also an evening session. But the weather being very unpleasant the attendance was small at each session. This Union also served a chicken supper on April 10th.—Mrs. Seth Pease, Press Supt.

The Summitville W. C. T. U. is not asleep nor "dead in sin" as we used to be when we had our 8 saloons. We have over 40 members in our Union. We gave an Option Program at the M. E. Church March 26th, and secured several new members. Representative Wm. H. Coahran, who so nobly stood by us, by voting to retain the County Option Law on the statute books, at our last legislature, was present and made a splendid address. I notice in the papers that some of the "citizens" in Anderson are trying to have the county option election put off until 1910. They want a "little more sleep, a little more slumber," a little more time to make drunkards out of their boys. They are almost crying for fear some of their rooms will be vacant if the county goes "dry," or they can not get any more factories to come if they put out the saloons. I would like to ask them what they have to offer the women and children of these factory men, will they reproduce the Blake tragedy in all its horrors for them? When a son made crazy by drink beat out the brains of his mother with a hammer, in order to obtain a few dollars to buy more whisky with. Better have a few vacant rooms than vacant chairs. If I were one of the citizens of Anderson I would not favor inviting another factory nor hold up my head until the last saloon was wiped out of the city. Never, never, never.—Mrs. Augusta McClerney, Press Supt.

Marshall County—A new Union organized in Marshall county April 4, with the following officers: President, Mrs. Alma Overmeyer; Vice Pres., Miss Lois E. Shaw; Cor. Secy., Miss Effie Low; Rec. Secy., Miss Nona Cox; Treasurer, Gladis Hittle. This organization was effected at the Santa Anno school house southwest of Argos.

On March 25 and 26 the Kendallville W. C. T. U. held a two days' Institute in the M. E. church, under the direction of Mrs. Walmer. A good program had been prepared. On Thursday evening Mrs. Walmer addressed an interested audience. On Friday evening a Medal Contest was held. Mrs. F. B. Perkins was also in attendance. There is no county union in Noble county at present, but we hope before another institute to have one.—Mrs. Luella Mayber, Cor. Secy.

The Marion County W. C. T. U. held a Normal Institute April 7 and 8 in the Howard Place M. E. church, Indianapolis. Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, State President, leader. The Wednesday a. m. session was opened with devotions conducted by Mrs. Mary Manifold. The county President, Mrs. Mary Kinzer, gave "Plans for Pushing the Work." The one thing emphasized by Mrs. Kinzer was the necessity at this time for work with the children and young people. Their help will be needed in this county and Indianapolis especially when the local option fight is on. Mrs. Kinzer believes small unions do more effective work than larger ones in proportion to the membership, as there is a greater individual responsibility in the former case. The cause of the Union Signal Crusader Monthly, etc., was convincingly presented by Miss Bessie Eckman. "How far reaching is the Membership Dollar, and What influence has the wearing of the white ribbon on the public," called forth testimonies of a personal nature, on the good influence of the white ribbon when worn by a consistent W. C. T. U. woman. Rev. (?) Bell gave an earnest talk on "Co-operation with Missionary Societies. How Rum Opium and the Cigarette Impede Missionary Effort." An instructive "Parliamentary Drill" was given by Mrs. Martha L. Gipe, State Supt. of this Dept. Women's part in the County Local Option Work was considered. Much interest was manifested in this and some ladies present who did not take part in the Crusade of '73 were anxious for this contest to take place in Marion county. At the evening session Mrs. Vayhinger delivered an excellent address and special music was rendered by the silver-toned L. T. L. quartet. The following topics show the wide scope of subjects considered at the second day's session: "The White Slave Trade of Today," Mrs. M. L. Bressette; "Medical Temperance," Mrs. Bray; "Importance of Scientific Temperance Instruction in the Public Schools," Mrs. W. A. Fox; "The Two-fold Mission of the W. C. T. U., (a) Training for Efficiency in Methods of Work; (b) Reaching and Arousing the Masses, Mrs. Vayhinger, Organized Christian Work for Temperance, (a) The Work of the Church Temperance Committee; (b) What Can Be Done for Temperance by Young Peoples Societies, Rev. Harry G. Hill. "The Importance of the Sunday School," Quarterly Temperance Lesson," Mrs. Frances Boyer. "The Power of the Pulpit Used Aggressively Against the Liquor Traffic, What It Means," Rev. Willmore. "The Christian Press Against the Breweries and the Distillers," Mr. Edward Clark. "The Advantages of Municipal Suffrage for Women," Mrs. Luella McWhirter. "History and Results of Local Option, the Principle Involved; Why Constitutional Prohibition?" Mr. Sumner Haynes. Unusual interest was manifested in the work of the Institute, and the Marion County W. C. T. U. should be greatly revived.—Ella D. Oakes, Press Supt.

Boswell Union served dinner on local option election day and cleared more than $60.00. Twenty of our members attended the Spring Institute at Otterbein and reported a good meeting. Mrs. Elsie Fournier, Supt. of Sabbath Observance, conducted an interesting meeting April 7. Serious and prayerful thought should be given this important subject, as we are surely drifting away from the Sabbath of our fathers. We have a column each week in our local paper devoted to the advancement of the W. C. T. U. work. Yours for State-wide prohibition.—Mrs. Luella C. VanHorn, Press Supt.

Vincennes.—Greetings from the home of "Alice of Old Vincennes." We want the dear white ribboners of Indiana to know that the W. C. T. U. of "Old Vincennes" is very much alive. We are having a steady growth of membership, having almost doubled our number since the State convention. One thing which has helped to arouse interest in this work, is the oratorical contests tests, and we will continue for we want to win the Diamond Medal next October at the State convention. Our institute was held with Mrs. Stanley as leader. As usual she did a great work. Owing to the conditions of our city and county, I very much doubt if anywhere she has been, there was as many good results from her work as here. I believe if we could have her with us for a few weeks, not only would our membership be greatly benefited, but historic Vincennes would throw off her scarlet robes of sin and a "new Alice" clothed in the snowy white robe of truth and purity would send her greetings. Lovingly—Mrs. S. M. Fields.

Morgan County W. C. T. U. held a very profitable Institute at Martinsville, Ind., March 30 and 31st in the M. — church, under the leadership of Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, who was filled with enthusiasm and inspiration. Mrs. Bettie Adams of Morgantown, County President, presided, and read a paper on plans for pushing the work. Papers were read by Mesdames Cooper, Coonfield, Wemer, Thompson, Stahling, on the topic, "The March of the Temperance Reform Across the Continent." Mrs. Dora Collett, Co. Supt. of S. T. I., read a splendid paper on the latest findings of Science as regards the Effects of Alcohol on Human System." Mrs. Florence Conatsy's paper on "Advantages of Municipal Suffrage for Women," was excellent. On Tuesday night a silver medal contest was held with a class of 8 young ladies participating. Miss Ada Yount won the medal. Her subject being "The Tables Turned." On Wednesday the "All Day" meeting was especially enjoyed as arrangements were made to serve dinner during the sessions in the church, which afforded opportunity to get better acquainted. The presence of a young woman to care for the children in primary room gave the mothers the freedom to enjoy the program. Eight little girls and one little boy, all under five, were dedicated to the cause, and eight new members were added.

Arba.—Ours is just a little country place, but we have 35 paid members, 27 active and 8 honorary. Ten others have given their names and we expect them to pay dues in June quarter. We have had five public meetings. We had Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Mrs. Hannah Stanley. At one meeting our honorary members had charge. We expect to have Mrs. Fulton with us soon. We use the State program.—(Miss) Dollie Jordan.

The Orinoco W. C. T. U. of Columbus, Ind., observed Union Signal day on March the 2nd. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Emma Anthony. Members responded to roll call by selections from the writings of Mrs. Stevens and the program given in Union Signal was carried out. Copies of the Signal were distributed and an effort made to secure new subscribers. The Union also took part in the recent local option fight. A meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Elzea Markland where plans were made and committees appointed along the lines we thought best to work. Meetings were appointed for the children for each Sunday afternoon until the election. The children were drilled in temperance songs and given temperance lessons and instructed to urge fathers and brothers to vote "dry." Knowing we could not reach the mass of the children in this way three committees of two ladies each were appointed to visit three of the public schools and requested the teachers to instruct the children along this line. The week previous to the election was appointed as a Week of Prayer. On election day a sun-rise prayer meeting was held and the week closed with a great prayer meeting on election night. The singing and praying was stopped long enough to hear the returns as they came in over the telephone. The ringing of the telephone bell and the report that one township after another had gone "dry" was cause for increased rejoicing. We gave God all the glory and unitedly the people praised Him. The children enjoyed their part on election day as a wagon load was taken to each voting place by their pastor, Rev. Harlow and Mr. Ves Linson. No one could doubt but they made a wonderful impression and stout-hearted men were seen weeping as the children sang their temperance songs, gave their yells and urged them to vote Yes. Church bells were rung every hour during the day. It was an experience never to be forgotten. Our first experience helping in an election, we could do anything but vote, but the last saloon will close its door in old Bartholomew Sept. 6.—Mrs. Ora Harlow.

Howard County Spring Institute and convention was held at Kokomo, Harrison Street Christian Church, April 15, 16, '09. The convention was presided over by the county president Miss Amanda Turner, and the institute by Mrs. Ida Mix. The excellent program was carried out to the satisfaction of all present. It was encouraging to see all present who were on the institute program ready to serve in whatever way possible. The absence of Rev. C. W. Shoemaker was regretted,—on account of ill health he has retired from the ministry and moved to Wells county. As a token of appreciation for his past interest and service, a letter of sympathy, with flowers, was sent to him with the expressed hope for his speedy recovery. The subject, "What Can Be Done for Temperance by Young People's Societies," was ably handled by Mr. Walter Clemens. "The Importance of the Sunday School Quarterly Lesson" was presented by Mr. Jasper Davenport, Supt. of the Markland Avenue M. E. Sunday School. Mr. Davenport urged the need of there being special fitness for the teaching of these temperance lessons. "The Power of the Pulpit Used Aggressively Against the Liquor Traffic; What It Means," was handled in a masterly way by Rev. Geo. Moore of Union Street Friend Church. He emphasized the importance of a minister practicing what he preaches. He illustrated the point by relating how he and another minister had, at one time gone out in the country to visit a young man who had withdrawn his name from a remonstrance against a saloon and since the young man was a member of the other brother's church it was agreed that he should do the talking and at the proper time Bro. Moore was to say amen. The young man listened patiently to Brother Blank's denunciation of the saloon and when he was through remarked that "If he believed as Brother Blank did he would vote the Prohibition ticket," and here brother Moore said amen! Bro. Blank's power was gone because he failed to practice his own preaching. The Rev. C. R. Choate, of the Courtland Avenue Friends church read a most interesting and instructive paper on "A Temperance Revival Conducted by the Churches; How begin; What methods use." Hon. A. B. Kirkpatrick read for his subject "The Need of a National Commission to investigate the economic and moral effect of the Liquor Traffic." Mr. K. made it very plain to us that such a commission under the present administration would be a detriment rather than a help to the cause of temperance. A medal contest was held at the church on the evening of the first day and all of the contestants acquitted themselves with great credit. Miss Anna Boyer of Greentown was awarded the prize. If the young men of Howard county could be induced to engage in these medal contests, the temperance and prohibition cause would receive a great impetus and Sabbath desecration would wane and there would be no need to legalize Sunday baseball. Everybody was well pleased and pronounced this the best institute ever held in Howard county.—Mrs. Maggie F. Robbins, Press Reporter.

Monroe County Rally.—A very complete and interesting two-days session of the W. C. T. U. of this county was held in Stinesville April 1 and 2. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, the leader, won her way into the hearts of everyone and made by her forceful, logical arguments many warm friends for the temperance work in this county. There were present members from the Gosport, Summitville and Bloomington Unions as well as interested women from Ellettsville where a union will soon be organized. The State Institute program was used: Leader, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley; Welcome address, Mrs. Lou Holtzman; "Cigarettes," Mrs. Deckard; Recitation, Bonnie Easton; Memorial Service, Mrs. O. W. Siebenthal; Recitation, Maude Hoadley. At the close of the first day's program there was held a "meeting for the school children." The second days program was as follows: "Tricks of the Trade," Mrs. Maude Gratzler; "Effects of Alcohol on the Human System," Dr. W. Rice Holtzman; "Reaching and Arousing the Masses," Mrs. Stanley; Recitation, Cecil Bodkins; Sunday School Quarterly Temperance Lesson, Mrs. Johnson; "Pulpit Against the Liquor Traffic," Rev. Layton; "How the Liquor License Helps the Farmer and Business Man," Mrs. L. M. Beck; "Abraham Lincoln As a Prohibitionist," Mrs. H. T. Kitson; Parliamentary Drill, Mrs. Stanley; Recitation, Mrs. Pickles; "Why I Am a White Ribboner," Mrs. Belle Pugh; "Resolved, That the Election Franchise Shall be Extended to Women," affirmative, Mesdames Judah, Litz, Beck; negative, Mesdames Stanley, Siebenthal, Kitson; Recitation, Mrs. Kathryn Hoadley. An able lecture was delivered on the first evening by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley. A Gold Medal contest in charge of Mrs. Susan Russell, Supt., was held on the second evening.

Fountain City W. C. T. U. held a Sunday school temperance rally on temperance Sunday, which all the schools of the township, six in number, took part. The exercises consisted of Bible reading, prayer, talks, recitations, and songs. The prohibition map was displayed and the song "We'll make the Map all White," was sung by a quartette. The large audience present was enthusiastic in commendation of the rally which was considered a great success. Other meetings of a similar nature will be held in different places by this union during the summer.

Liberty Center.—Mrs. Maria Prible, member of Liberty Center W. C. T. U. was called to her heavenly home April 15, 1909, aged 71 years and 17 days. She had been a devoted Christian from her early girlhood days. Although an invalid for many years and unable to attend the meetings of the Union, she was interested in the great cause and gave freely to its support. Her life is worthy of emulation and although gone to rest her work will follow her. The Union gave in loving memory a spray of white carnations.—Mrs. Anna Lowdermilk.

Frances Willard, W. C. T. U. met April 13, at N. Illinois street. Mrs. Dougherty gave a report of the Institute. Arrangements were made to observe Flower Mission day at the Methodist Hospital and Old Ladies' Home. The Press reporter read a protest against saloons that the "News" had published for her. Mrs. Scott spoke of her continued efforts for years in behalf of "Work-house Criminals." A beautiful letter entitled "What Produces Drunkards?" was read by one of the ladies. It was written by the mother of Mrs. L. W. Gray, the president, who died in 1893. It was virtually a voice from the dead. Mrs. Hathaway recited a beautiful original poem. Mrs. McKain, from Brideport Union, was present and spoke encouragingly on Sunday School work. A temperance meeting was arranged for to be held within the month, at Edwin Ray church on Woodlawn avenue. The word "Truth" was chosen to figure in our texts, at the next meeting.—Mrs. McDermid, Press Reporter.

On April first, the St. Joseph Co. W. C. T. U. held a morning and afternoon conference in the Trinity Presbyterian Church of South Bend. The attendance was not very large, but the women seemed quite enthusiastic over the subjects presented. In the afternoon Mrs. Katie Wert Holler, (our State Supt. of Sabbath Observance), gave a most helpful and interesting talk on Sabbath Observance. With the aid of her charts, she impressed upon us the importance of obeying God's law in regard to the Sabbath Day. At the close of the service the Pastor of the church asked her to repeat her talk the following Sunday night. This she did to a good sized audience. Quoting from one of our daily papers we read: "Mrs. Holler is a very pleasing and forceful speaker and delightfully entertained and instructed her hearers as she analyzed her subject and presented not only the benefits, but showed the necessity for obeying the Divine, the physical and the civil law relative to the holy Sabbath Day.—Ina Burton.

Tippecanoe County.—The opening day of the institute at the Moore Memorial Chapel was very successful. A conference of officers was held after which County President, Mrs. H. H. Buge made an address. State organizer, Mrs. Rose Pearce, of Cayuga, was present and took part in the program. A discussion of the work of the L. T. L. was also held. A Silver Medal contest was held in the evening at the same place. There was a large attendance and much interest. Mrs. Pearce spoke briefly on the value of medal work. The conservatory of music orchestra gave several selections and there were songs by the L. T. L. and an instrumental number by Ora Stoter. The contestants were Fay Prough, Gladys and Charles Mitchell, Kenneth Hall and Edna Beemer. The judges were Mrs. Rose Pearce, Ora Stoter and Mr. Hilt, and the medal was awarded Fay Prough. The second day's session was held at the Soldiers' Home. There were many different phases of the temperance and reform movement presented some very interesting talks and papers were given followed by interesting discussions. Especially deserving of mention was the able talk given by Dr. Kern on "The Latest Finding of Science As Regards the Effects of Alcohol On the Human System." Able talks were given by Dr. Bassett and Rev. Rippetoe, followed by a stirring appeal on Rescue Work in our own city, by Mrs. Roach Matron of the Martha Home. Mrs. Rose Pearce, State Organizer and Institute leader, gave an able temperance address.—Mrs. Lillian Hall, County Press Supt.

Marion County.—One of the delightful features of the Marion county Institute was a duet rendered by Rev. Chas. Fillmore and Mrs. Stout of Indianapolis, "Down With the Licensed Saloon." This is new and was written by Brother Fillmore and is of especial worth in the present local option campaigns. It is touching and will prove effective. It can be had of Rev. Chas. Fillmore, Indianapolis, Ind., for 25 cents. Send for it.—Culla J. Vayhinger.

Our Promoted Comrades

Oolitic, Indiana.—Our beloved treasurer and co-worker, Mrs. Clara Farmer has been called to higher service. On Monday morning, March 8, the weary spirit found a joyful release from the almost intolerable anguish she had suffered for several months. But it was withal a time of triumph for Christian faith, and her last message to her family was one of hope and encouragement. The Oolitic Union was organized last July Mrs. Farmer being a charter member and the first treasurer. It was only for a short time, however, that her health permitted her to perform the duties of her office; but during her long illness she was ever with us in prayers and sentiment, her interest in the great cause never lagging. On Wednesday afternoon her comrades of the W. C. T. U. gathered at the stricken home, tied the white ribbon around the casket and commended to God's care and keeping, the sweet spirit they had known and loved so well, and all with bowed heads and aching hearts followed the remains to their last resting place.

Sardinia.—Mrs. Kitty Waddell died March 24, 1909, at Burlington Ind. She was a member of the Sardinia W. C. T. U.

THE MESSAGE.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

(Written for the W. C. T. U. by Ella F. Brown.)

Ho! my sisters, see the signal
Waving to the sky!
Prohibition's fast approaching,
Victory is nigh!

CHORUS.

Hold the fort for prohibition!
Is the signal cry.
Shout aloud, O praise Jehovah!
Arkansas's going dry.

See the hosts of sin advancing,
Liquor leading on;
Sons and brothers round us falling,
Manhood almost gone.

See the pure white ribbon waving,
Hear the bugle blow;
Total Abstinence shall triumph
Over this deadly foe.

Fierce and long has been the conflict,
But the end is near;
In the name of God we conquer,
Cheer, my sisters, cheer!

NATIONAL SCIENTIFIC CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON ARRAIGNS DRINK.

"The Future of the Alcoholic Problem" cannot fail to interest every student of the Great Reform.

Dr. Crothers affirmed that at present there are positive indications of the early solution of this problem by means and measures that cannot be mistaken. He continues:

"Experience and laboratory research have shown alcohol to be a narcotic and its effects on the system produces a distinct disease both curable and preventable.

"This question is one of public health and sanitary science. The saloon for the promotion of the sale of spirits is a center for the promulgation of this disease, and is doomed to extinction from a larger and more exact knowledge.

"Science shows that alcohol as an anesthetic has a value in medicine, but its real power is that of a fuel, light and force producer.

"That cheap alcohols can be made from a great variety of sources that will be active competitors to electricity, gasoline and steam.

"What is needed is the invention of boilers, lamps and means to utilize and make practical this great power of alcohol.

"Every distillery and brewery in the country will be required for the manufacture and distribution of cheap alcohols when the inventor supplies the missing links.

"Alcohol will become one of the great rivals of electricity to do the world's work, because it can be made from the waste and by-products in every section of the country.

"Beer, spirits and all other forms of alcohol as beverages will disappear when the inventor shows us how to harness and utilize this new latent power of civilization.

"The future of the alcoholic problem will be followed by a great revolution in commercial industry and will be a question of sanitary science and inventor's skill."

EXTRACTS FROM PRES DICKIES' ARGUMENT.

The liquor business from the commencement of the process of manufacture, through all the subsequent details, down to the point of final consumption, is entirely destitute of wealth producing power. The farmer brings wealth out of the soil; the miner brings wealth out of the bowels of the earth; the artisan takes the raw material and by the application of labor, adds to its value and to its utility. The liquor traffic produces a valueless product. I believe the strongest defender of the liquor traffic here tonight will freely admit that, viewed as property, intoxicating drinks occupy a peculiar class to themselves.

Destroy at this moment all the food products of America, and does anybody venture to tell me that such a destruction would not be a great national calamity? Wipe out at this hour, while I stand before you, all the fabrics in America; destroy all the furniture in America, and every thoughtful man would say that such destruction would be a great widespread calamity.

But even here in Milwaukee, I dare stand before you and say that if every drop of intoxicating liquor now on the whole earth were absolutely poured out on the ground this moment, there would be no less value in the world after its destruction than before.

To be sure the men who had their capital tied up in it would be the losers, but the drinking men would keep their money in their pockets and be the gainers.

Some New Direct Testimony On Crime and Drink.

From letters and telegrams read by Pres. Dickie:

Mr. Henry Towne, warden of the Wisconsin State prison, over his own signature, says: "About fifty per cent owe their downfall to liquor."

O. L. Kiplinger, the chaplain of the Indiana penitentiary, says: "Eighty-three per cent of the convicts in this institution owe their downfall wholly, or in part to liquor." Concerning parole he also says: "Of those returned for violation of parole, the State Agent thinks fully 75 per cent do so through liquor."

The chaplain of the penitentiary at Auburn, New York, says: "Eighty-four per cent of the inmates of this prison have used beer or liquor intemperately. I believe seven-tenths more or less under the influence of liquor at the time the crime was committed. We have a parole system and of those returned 80 per cent are returned because they violated their promise to abstain from intoxicating liquors."

David Judson Starr, chaplain of the Columbus penitentiary in Ohio: "Eighty per cent owe their incarceration to the use of liquor."

A. J. Steelman, chaplain of the penitentiary at Joliet, Illinois, says that the warden tells him, I read: "That 90 per cent of the men coming to this penitentiary come directly or indirectly from the influence of the saloon. I wish to add to that my own opinion that 90 per cent more of crime never receives any punishment on account of the protection afforded by the saloons."

VIOLATIONS OF PROHIBITION LAW.

(Excerpt from Pres. Dickies' argument.)
Another reason I present why Prohibition is right is that the most efficient means of restraint. No man advocating Prohibition believes that it will stamp out the evil altogether. I supposed you prohibit murder in Milwaukee and Wisconsin, yet one of your citizens told me that 125 people were murdered in the state of Wisconsin last year. You prohibit theft, but your penitentiaries are crowded with thieves. You may prohibit many offenses, but yet right here in the State of Wisconsin you nice people pick each others' pockets and crack each other's safes and steal each other's horses and run away with each other's wives, and do a great many things that nice people never ought to think of doing, but nobody goes up to Madison to say what all these laws are failures because they are sometimes violated. Nobody says because Wisconsin has altogether too many thieves, therefore laws prohibiting thieving should not be passed. They do not say that thieving should be judiciously taxed, or licensed, or rather laws should be passed regulating thieving, so that it is conducted decently and in order. No stealing on Sunday and no thieving after twelve o'clock at night or before seven o'clock in the morning; and no stealing on election days. Why, that is quite absurd, so I simply am stating in my urgent haste that Prohibition, while it does not wipe it all out, is the most efficient means of restraint known in any part of our country.

S. S. McClure, head of the Publishing Co., of New York, is quoted as saying in an interview in Los Angeles:

"The movement against liquor is not temporary. It is gathering force and will continue. I find in traveling over the country that the liquor question is one of the two conspicuous issues now in existence. The other is municipal government."

First World's Prohibition Conference to Storm London on "Prohibition Sunday," July 25th, With Rallies in London Parks, Churches and Public Halls.

In a call signed by forty-eight Prohibition leaders, representing thirteen nations, in which the battle against the liquor curse is now being aggressively waged, full particulars are given of the coming World's Prohibition Conference, to be held at London, July 18th to 24th inclusive.

The Conference, which it is expected will establish a permanent World's Prohibition Confederation, will be held in the Imperial Institute, South Kensington, London, during the week of July 18th to 24th, 1909, which coincides with the meetings of the Twelfth International Congress on Alcoholism, when it is expected that representative Temperance leaders from almost all parts of the world will assemble at the Imperial Institute and other convenient public buildings.

PROHIBITION IN INDIANA.

Fifty-four counties have voted at the saloons at elections and thirteen counties are "dry" by remonstrance. Six counties have voted "wet." When the thirteen counties which have elections pending have voted only eleven "wet" counties will remain for a battleground.

These eleven counties are Marion, St. Joseph, Lake, Vigo, Knox, Vanderburg, Allen, Dearborn, Warrick and Dubois—all brewery and saloon strongholds, and containing the largest cities in the state. In the eight "dry" counties—Brown, DeKalb, Johnson, Scott, Steuben, Union, Warren, and Wells, which have not yet ordered elections—the sentiment is still strongly "dry."

HOLDING A CROWD.

In the course of a spirited Temperance address by Hon. C. W. Trickett, assistant State attorney of Kansas, he described a no-license campaign, and spoke as follows regarding the assistance given by Christian Endeavorers:

"The Christian Endeavorers then took up the fight. One night we had five meetings. Some girls come in and asked for a meeting in a church out on the edge of the town. We said we already had five meetings, and it would be midnight before we could get there. They said, 'We will be there.'"

"I told them we would come, and we did; but it was 1 o'clock in the morning when Dr. Gray and myself turned our steps toward that little church. We expected to find it dark, but we found it packed with people when we got there."

"I met one of the girls at the door and asked, 'How in the world have you held this crowd until this hour?' And she smiled and said, 'Why we just went down in the basement and made coffee and sandwiches, and we have been feeding them all night.'"

"In my judgment, the Christian Endeavorers of the United States can drive out every saloon from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the Lakes to the Gulf."—Christian Endeavor World.

Prohibition for Iceland.—Good Templar work of twenty-five years secured for Iceland a Prohibitory law. Breweries and distilleries have been prohibited since 1900.

It was in compliance with the request of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars that a prohibition bill was introduced into the Althing. The measure was submitted to a vote of the people and Prohibition won by a decisive majority.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Dear Sisters:

I have just received a number of letters telling of membership contests, and new members who have been gained through our Indiana Crusade Pledge. These things are a source of great joy to me, for while we are working in our various counties to abolish the saloon, we realize that this is not the ultimate work of the W. C. T. U. After all of the saloons are out of Indiana, there is still a broad field of labor for the organization. I have been almost constantly in the field either in institute or local option campaign work this Spring. I have done what I could in Grant, Miami, Blackford, Delaware, Jefferson and Pulaski counties to help our women in the battle. All have worked valiantly and I have been proud of our great organization. There is much yet to be done. I feel very anxious that our June quarter's report will show us with a gain of at least 1,500 in our membership. I trust each county president will urge immediate action along these lines.

I wish I might say something to make you feel the necessity of extending the organization work by multiplying the unions in the counties. The fine organization of Grant county was felt in the campaign. Twenty-eight unions, with members even in the remotest country districts, helped to bring victory out of expected defeat, by carrying literature and planning meetings in these remote districts.

I trust you will have a county executive meeting at once and that every local president will be there and help to lay plans for this organization work. I fear often the local presidents do not feel the responsibility for the county work which they should feel. When a county executive meeting is called, it is the duty of every local president to be present, and not leave the work of the county to the county president and a few others who may come. Expecting a great ingathering of members for the third quarter, I am yours,

CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

GREAT DAY FOR SWAYZEE.

Tuesday, April 13th was a red letter day in the history of the Swayzee W. C. T. U. About two months before the Union had decided to form a contest for new members. Two captains, Mrs. Anna Fry and Mrs. Anna M. Curless were chosen to lead the work. Each had eight helpers. On Tuesday afternoon the time for the regular April meeting the contest closed, with fifty-five (55) new members to be added to the roll. The number showed Mrs. Curless 30 and Mrs. Fry 25. According to previous arrangements the side that won will give a program and the side that lost will serve refreshments at a meeting held later in honor of the new members. The meeting was held in the basement of the M. E. church where a room has been tastefully furnished for such occasions. With but a few exceptions, every old member was present and responded at roll call. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Margaret Newkirk, who introduced our County President, Mrs. Julie Shugart, Mrs. Shugart conducted devotional exercise and occupied the main place on the program. Her remarks were very impressive and were warmly received by every one present. She was more than gratified at the magnificent report on new members. This was one of the record breaking reports of the county (Grant), and perhaps of the State as well. The Union now has 81 members. Two small children in their mothers' arms were dedicated to the Temperance cause. Mrs. Shugart tied the snowy white ribbon around their arms and breathed a beautiful prayer for their safety from the liquor fiend. Little Ruth Kemmer also stepped to the front and received the union's blessing. The colors, yellow and white, were displayed and an excellent likeness of Frances E. Willard adorned the wall. This picture was later presented to the Public Schools of Swayzee at a reception tendered the teachers by the local W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. Anna Ammon on Friday evening, April 16. Ninety guests were present. The Swayzee W. C. T. U. which was organized July 19, 1901, soon begins a new year under the most flattering prospects of its entire history. The present officers are:

President—Mrs. Margaret Newkirk.

Vice President—Mrs. Jennie Hawkins.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Anna Ammon.

Cor. Secretary—Mrs. Anna M. Curless.

Treasurer—Mrs. Malinda Shively.

WHAT TO DO ON ANTI-CIGARETTE DAY—JUNE 27.

Announce the day through our department circular entitled, Anti-Cigarette Sunday. Send it to pastors, superintendents, teachers, an especially to the superintendents of Temperance Department in the Sunday schools. Price 25 cents per 100, postpaid.

Furnish the Sunday schools with the Quarterly Budget (price 15 cents, 50 cents a year)—which contains samples of everything needed to make the Sunday school hour attractive and helpful.

Meet with the official board of the Sunday school and enlist them in the work of appropriately observing Anti-Cigarette Day in accordance with the recommendation of the International Sunday School Association. Invite the co-operation of pastors who might respond to the request for a temperance sermon with special reference to unholy habits. Let the public know that June 27 is Anti-Cigarette Sunday by well written articles in the daily papers.

Arrange a Prize Essay Contest in the Sunday schools. Topic: "Why sign the pledge against tobacco." This work may be done within a department or the contest may be between several Sunday schools. The prize essays will form an interesting part of the program of the Sunday school hour or at a mass meeting.

Inaugurate the "Lecture Bureau" plan so successfully carried out by our state superintendent of Nebraska, Mrs. Hartley. Briefly stated the plan is as follows: Enroll the names of all gifted people who would agree to respond to a call for a short address before a Sunday school. The list might include physicians, scientists, specialists and regular lecturers. It should also include elocutionists, chalk talkers, young people who have won medals for oratory or prizes for essays and children who are trained for this special work. Offer your assistance to Sunday schools and they will be glad of the speakers whom you might send. By changing around the same speakers can do service for several temperance Sundays.

Hold an Anti-Cigarette Sunday school rally uniting the schools for a Sunday p. m. meeting. The program may be a contest program or rather a program contest, each school reproducing the program given in the morning Sunday school hour and a prize awarded by competent judges to the school giving the best program. It may be desirable to use our new Anti-cigarette Program, "Old Glory in Peril," which has a touch of Patriotism and includes an exercise with flags which is sufficiently spectacular to please all old and young. It is simple, however, and will require but little drilling. Price 2 cents, 50 cents per 100.

Urge pledge signing and the use of the anti-cigarette pledge with the regular temperance pledge. Put up our placards in school and classrooms. They read as follows: "Every member a Total Abstainer and a Temperance Worker." Today is the time to Decide against Strong Drink, Declare your Principles and Do something for Temperance. Price 10 cents each, $1 per dozen.

Keep the prohibition map before the Sunday school and our small ones in the hands of teachers and drill the school on the names of prohibition states. Let them whiten the black part wherever prohibition has won since last Temperance Sunday. On June 27, the states can be named which have prohibitory anti-cigarette laws. A flag raising may be planned in the Sunday school. Each class that is totally pledged may be given a flag and at suitable time and with appropriate introductory remarks the flags can be lifted. They will form bannerettes for each Temperance Sunday and will greatly enhance the work of the hour.

Distribute literature. We have leaflets suited to all ages and at very little cost every child and every member of the Sunday schools can have some precious seed thoughts for himself and for others.

Our Anti-Cigarette leaflets are especially attractive envelope leaflets 15 cents per 100, $1.25 per 1,000. Gum leaflets for children 10 cents per 100, 85 cents per 1,000.

Do not neglect the Sunday schools of foreign speaking people. Our Department literature includes German, Norwegian, Swedish, Bohemian, Italian, Polish and Hungarian envelope leaflets. Spanish, Japanese and Chinese leaflets are soon ready. Above all pray for the Sunday school workers and help to answer your prayers by doing systematic and practical temperance work in the Sunday school. Yours in the service, STELLA B. IRVINE, Nat'l Supt.

Vote Yes" to Guard the Home Against the Return of the Saloon.

POINTS AGAINST THE SALOON.

1. Nobody would let the saloon live but for the money made out of it. Its sole mission is to promote the financial profit of saloonists and brewers.
 2. Railroads, manufacturing companies and employers of labor of all sorts do not want the workman who patronizes the saloon if they can get any one else.
 3. Putting saloons out of towns makes business better, as figures show. We challenge a single successful contradiction.
 4. Saloons increase the consumption of liquor more than a hundred fold over the worst blind tigers, speak-easies, boot-leggers and the like, known in this state. The wettest dry town uses far less whiskey and beer than the driest wet town.
 5. The saloon does not produce money. It only gets hold of what is already there. It takes away from legitimate trade and sends a great part of it out of the town to distant brewers and distillers. It is a constant drain upon the financial resources of a community.
 6. To keep saloons out of communities makes labor much more reliable. Manufacturers don't want saloons in the neighborhood of their plants. In many places they petition against the location of saloons in their neighborhood.
 7. Saloons diminish the value of real estate in their vicinity, often seriously. Nobody wants a saloon for his next neighbor.
- "If as much liquor is sold in dry districts as in wet, why do brewers and distillers and saloonists spend money with a lavish hand to prevent dry legislation and to make elections go wet? They make common cause and fight as if the very life of their business depended on defeating the dries." NOW WHY?

PARLIAMENTARY LAW.

The fourth study by Mrs. A. S. Benjamin is now ready. Subject, "Constitution." Those who have the first three studies will surely want this fourth study. Price ten cents; address,

RAILROAD DEPARTMENT.

Dear County Superintendents:

I have mailed to each county superintendent of the Railroad Department report blanks for the local departments in each county so that as you visit the different unions in your county you can supply your local workers with the blanks and impress the importance of them filling them out and returning them to you in time for your report at the close of the year. Also sent some leaflets that can be used at your parlor meetings held in the interest of your department. Lovingly,

MRS. R. P. COLE,

State Supt, Railroad Department.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS.

Dear Co-workers:

You remember the state convention unanimously indorsed the resolutions last Fall asking the coming legislature for the enactment of a law for medical inspection of the schools—as New York, Chicago and other cities, as well as states, testify to the benefits of such school protection, it seems an inexplicable paradox that the representatives from over the state thought that the capitol city should be thus favored only; but as we are law abiding, it behooves us to do the next best thing—the superintendents of Mothers' Meetings could well afford to co-operate with Household Economic Workers in securing talks from the doctors and educators favoring the enterprise, ren, and some not able to walk rode. Another thereby increasing sentiment and impressing upon county and city officials the advisability of making small appropriations that would commence the work which would become so educational that no candidate for the coming legislature would dare to refuse to work and vote for medical inspection of all schools. In the meantime, inspect all bakeries and groceries and other unsanitary places that we may merit the often repeated saying that "she who rocks the cradle, rules the world."

ANTI-NARCOTICS.

Sunday, June 27, 1909, will be a great day in the history of the Anti-Narcotic department, if we, the women of the locals care to make it such a day.

A wonderful opportunity is open to us and upon us rest a great responsibility. Sisters let us rally to the front and do our best.

The International Sunday School Association, through its Temperance Committee, has designated the Second Temperance Sunday of each year as Anti-Cigarette Day and has recommended its observance.

This is a time when the Sunday school and the Anti-Narcotic departments work hand in hand.

It is through the W. C. T. U. Sunday School superintendent, then the Anti-Narcotic superintendent works.

Some unions do not have a Sunday school superintendent, the Anti-Narcotic superintendent works through the temperance secretaries of the various churches.

If a church does not have a temperance secretary, then the Anti-Narcotic superintendent works direct with the pastor and Sunday school superintendent.

In case unions do not have women at the head of these departments, let the president or some member push this special work for June 27, 1909.

Please outline an Anti-cigarette program at once and present to the Sunday school superintendent for his consideration. Begin now, so that you may have time to arrange for exercises that will be worth hearing.

The Anti-Cigarette program could include a responsive reading on "The Cigarette Evil" to precede the study of the quarterly temperance lesson; an address by the superintendent or pastor; anti-cigarette recitations; a chorus of boys could sing spiritedly, "The Cigarette Must Go." A striking blackboard exercise or an illustrated talk would add significance to the hour; circulate the anti-cigarette pledge with the regular Sunday school temperance pledge; let each member of the school be given an anti-cigarette or anti-tobacco leaflet. Have printed copies of the state anti-cigarette law for use in adult classes where it is well to have a discussion of the same, answering the question: What are the requirements of the law? Its weak points? How strengthen it? How enforce it?

Anti-cigarette talks for primary and junior workers will be most helpful, having a blackboard illustration and pointed memory lines. Sunday schools may unite in an afternoon or evening anti-cigarette rally and representatives from the various schools should have part on the program.

"The Anti-Cigarette Warfare," "The Doom of Prince Nicotine" and "Old Glory in Peril" are rally programs which are highly commended.

Send 15 cents to Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, 115 Walnut St., Riverside, Cal., for the "Anti-Cigarette Budget" of samples.

Send 10 cents to Miss Ruby I. Gilbert, 131 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., for "The Anti-Cigarette Speaker."

I can supply you with the Anti-Cigarette coupon pledges, at 30 cents per 100.

Ask the pastors to preach a sermon on "Cigarettes," Sunday, June 27.

Dear sisters, let us make this year our best for God and home and every land.

MRS. IVA WOOD PARKER, State Supt.
Elkhart, Ind.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPARTMENT.

Dear Sunday School Workers:

The communication which you should have seen in the May Message was delayed because of pressure of work and lack of the usual clerical help by the National Superintendent of the Department so that her plan for Anti-Cigarette Day did not reach me in time for that issue. I hope you are all planning to make this the best year in the Sunday School work and that we may be able to carry off some of the prizes at the National convention. I have sent you catalogues of the old leaflets but want to mention some new ones which I hope you will send for at once so as to get them in time for Anti-Cigarette Sunday, June 27.

Our June Temperance Sunday is so near the Fourth that it would be well to add to its observance a touch of patriotism. "Old Glory," a temperance exercise, is especially fine for this. About twelve of these leaflets will be sufficient.

"Temperance Talks for Primary and Junior Workers" and the song "The Cigarette Must Go," each 50 cents per 100. A responsive reading, "The Cigarette Evil, The parable of Tobacco," "The Price of a License" each 50 cents per 100. "The Quarterly Temperance Lesson for June 27, No Tobacco; why?" On May 2nd, 1909, we received a check for $50.00 signed "A Well Wisher," the money to be used for the Hadley Industrial School. We want to thank the generous donor for the helpful gift, and will use it in advancing our work at the Home.

FROM MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE-BOOK.

Since my last I spent two days in old Vincennes. Got several new members for the W. C. T. U. and held two mass meetings in the churches. The good people there have to wipe out the saloons to protect themselves from the riff-raff that is coming onto them from other fields. I spent two days at New Augusta; they have a fine union there and are already organized to turn Marion county dry.

I shall never forget the campaign in Delaware county. They had the very best organization there I have yet found—most of the committee were old veterans—Prohibition campaigners, and they went in to win at the beginning. The business men there took off their gloves and went into the fight in earnest. Their wives were at the front and children, too, did their part. They can win in Marion county with such co-operation I am sure.

I did my best for Tippecanoe, but the bum element prevailed. I can not say enough for President Stone and his loyal teachers and students of Purdue. They deserve better things at the hands of the city, but LaFayette business men have a surprise coming to them;—the women who do the trading have decided that they won't buy drygoods where their boys can get wet goods, and there are splendid dry towns near them whose business men will profit by LaFayette's calamity.

I spent Saturday and Sabbath at Hebron. Had a great rally there. Porter county is sure to go dry. I go to Madison county the 6th, and to Versailles the 10th; College Corner 12th, South Bend 15-16. These are strenuous days and every sunrise brings us nearer the Prohibition goal. God speed the victory.

Collection of Dues is of much importance. Every union is known by the size of its paid membership. Urge the payment of dues in all the unions in June. Presidents can do much by appointing persons to speak to those in their neighborhood.

Treasurers take with you to the first June meeting of your union the complete list of those whose membership fees are due. Speak about this matter in the business hour and secure help in collecting.

Ohio has 25,000 W. C. T. U. Women who have paid dues last year. These Ohio women are a mighty factor in all temperance work. Little old Indiana should have more than half as many members as Ohio. Why is it that our unions do not secure the members?

How many members have you brought into the union this year? You cannot get a new member? Why? Have you been definitely going in search of W. C. T. U. members? If you are too busy to help, remember that the things that count for the uplifting of the community and county against the liquor business are things of importance. They affect human lives.

Please help. Give two afternoons during the first two weeks of June to visiting people seeking W. C. T. U. members.

How to Secure Members! Any woman may be a member of the W. C. T. U. by signing the total abstinence pledge and paying one dollar membership fee.

Press Superintendents have The W. C. T. U. Declaration of Principles published in all your papers early as possible in June.

Local Presidents, please have The W. C. T. U. Declaration of Principles read by a good reader at your first local and first public meeting.

There is a little ugly wave motion throughout the state charging the W. C. T. U. with being partisan. In order to refute this statement we must give out information. Keep our Declaration of Principles before the people.

Many W. C. T. U. members greatly desire to help increase temperance sentiment in their own communities.

This can be done by any member. How? By getting a few dimes' worth of some good leaflet and placing it in the hands of reading men and women.

Where? By permission, in the adult Bible classes in the Sunday schools, on the counter of a friendly merchant; by getting a school boy to hand them out to passers-by on a much traveled street.

WHAT LOCAL SUPERINTENDENTS CAN DO.

Department Superintendents would do well to secure good leaflets in the interest of their departments and through the co-operation of their pastors have one kind of a leaflet laid upon the pew seats early on a Sunday morning as often as once a month for six months or a year. Thus the Sunday morning church-goers would get information concerning that one department.

Remember always, that a person's interest in a subject is according to his knowledge of the subject.

State Department Superintendents will summarize the reports for the year sent them from the counties. The local unions do much work of which there should be kept a record and a report made. Active State Superintendents in Indiana have much work to do. There are forty-two organized counties in Indiana. Besides these there are some unions in unorganized counties. Thus the work of each state superintendent extends to about fifty counties.

We consider this of great importance when we know that each state superintendent should be in touch with every county organization and write every union in an unorganized county.

Our department work is of vital importance. In counties and towns where our cause has influence it is where there is effective department work done.

Our Indiana state superintendents have a great field, to carry on a campaign in forty-two organized counties and in separate unions in six or more unorganized counties means great work. It means persistent effort and great devotion to bring success.

The Indiana State Board of Health has issued a "Health Circular on Social Hygiene."

This is an educational pamphlet. Its teachings may save the life of a young man or a young woman.

Copies are sent free upon application. Every W. C. T. U. in Indiana should have at least twenty-five copies, one should be put into the hands of every member of a school board, every school trustee, school teacher, minister, Sunday school superintendent and editor in our whole state.

Everywhere Presbyterian churches can have, just for the asking, excellent temperance speakers. Great indeed is the work of the temperance committee of the Presbyterian church. Speaker is sent upon request of the pastor to any Presbyterian church.

These speakers are paid a salary so they serve constantly without price. Collections are taken at their meetings and sent to the Assembly's Temperance Committee.

Besides the speakers being kept in the field the Presbyterian church's Temperance Committee publishes much temperance literature which is furnished free to Presbyterian churches which contribute to the Assembly's Temperance Committee and supplied to other organizations or individuals at cost. Much literature is published. Some of which is very helpful, such as Quarterly Temperance Sunday School programs. These are large, containing outline programs then giving information etc. For such use a large four page leaflet contains many excellent selections in verse for recitations and temperance rally songs to familiar tunes. These large leaflets, more than half the size of The Message sell for 50 cents per hundred.

The Most Effective literature in a town or county includes facts concerning that town or county. Surely some reliable man can be secured by a local union to get facts from the books and courts. The newspapers will publish a reliable business-like statement of facts and figures.

The income from licensed saloons and the expense accruing from the direct result of the saloon business would be interesting reading.

Such a statement signed by a town or county officer who would see the figures taken from the books or by other well known reliable men would if published, have influence. After it was published in the newspaper the printer could run off 500 or 1000 copies at very little expense. Probably $1.50 or $1.75 per thousand.

DEPARTMENT W. C. T. U. LITERATURE

Next to writing up-to-date literature, its circulation ranks in importance. The more than forty specialists, who serve our cause as National Superintendents, furnish desirable leaflets which ought to be in the hands of every local union. It is asking too much of these National Superintendents to provide the leaflets and then to follow up their wide circulation. Admirable as our plan seems to be; to work from National to State, State to County and then to local superintendent, it is a fact that the plan is far from being practicable, and needs supplement.

All national departments are not duplicated in every state. Not every National Superintendent is as active as she might be in keeping constantly in touch with every state superintendent of her department and the state superintendents just as frequently fail to keep in touch with all the county unions.

It, therefore, happens that local conditions, or special adaptation, brings out a local superintendent who fails to be reached; and for lack of more immediate facility, does not secure literature which she sorely needs and would use to great advantage. She knows about our National Headquarters. This address is widely known. Would it not simplify the requirement, if the needed leaflets could be had direct from the National? It would relieve the National Superintendent in such cases and she could devote her talents to the needs of her department, instead of the details of printing and mailing and clerical work. We regret that few local women know the names or addresses of National Superintendents. The necessary delay in finding the way leads to loss of enthusiasm, sale and distribution of millions of pages of our choicest writings.

Moreover, the economy of a central publication bureau would save many dollars to the work. The printing, distribution, and clerical work could be done for much less than the present cost, with greater uniformity and greater dispatch.

It seems to "The Message" that it is worth while for the next National Convention to weigh this plan, and make appropriations with a Central Publication Bureau in mind. Hundreds of women throughout the nation would get in touch with our national departments by such change, and the specialists who make up our list of national superintendents would be relieved of the burden of clerical and detail distribution work. They could then devote more of their energy and ability to the study and development along national lines.

NEW LEAFLETS.

White Slave Trade, 35 cents per 100; Moral Education of a Child, 25 cents per hundred; Alcoholism a Contagious Disease (indictment of alcohol), 20 cents per hundred; A New York Physician on Alcohol, 15 cents per 100; What Doctors Say About Beer, 25 cents per hundred; Plain Facts About Beer, 25 cents per 100; Why Not Drink Alcoholic Liquors, 25 cents per 100; Alcoholism in Wine Drinking Countries, 25 cents per hundred; Tuberculosis and Alcoholism, 20 cents per 100. Order from Ohio Temperance Publishing House, 136 E. Gay St., Columbus, Ohio.

The Union County Institute was held in the M. E. church, May 12, under the enthusiastic and inspirational leadership of Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley. After the organization of the institute, much interest was manifested in the program. Mrs. Coughlin of Liberty read a paper on "The White Slave Trade," which was followed by discussion; "The Power of the Pulpit," presented by the Rev. Lorimer; "The Importance of the Sabbath School Quarterly Temperance Lesson by Dr. R. S. Paxton, "How the Cigarette Impedes Missionary Effort" by Rev. Mengler. Temperance revival conducted by the churches by Rev. B. D. Beck of the M. E. church, all of which were followed by open discussion. During the day, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley sang, "A Letter From Home." The white ribbon was tied on the arms of two babes, Merton Miller and Albert Brown, after which a prayer for blessings on them was offered by Mrs. Stanley. The local union served dinner and supper in the church. A social time was enjoyed. In the evening a silver medal contest was held. There were six contestants. Miss Floy Foreman won the medal.—Mrs. Stacks.

DEPARTMENT OF PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

Dear County Workers—Half of our year is gone and I am wondering whether we have each one done all that we ought.

Quite often as the year's work begins we make great plans, begin with great enthusiasm, and expect to continue doing this all year, but too often we get busy with our own work, or on account of sickness or other unavoidable hindrances our interest begins to wane and we find ourselves doing practically nothing in the very department of work in which we had hoped to do so much and in which we really are deeply interested.

Let us pause and take a look over the past six months and see if everything is satisfactory. Perhaps some of the county superintendents have been looking for the report blanks so I will tell you that on account of each union having the monthly report blank which I sent, I decided that everything would be carefully kept account of and then the year's report could be sent in all at one time, thus saving much postage.

Many of you are not sending for laws as you should. I trust you will yet do so, and also I sincerely hope you are scattering abundant supplies of literature.

Several have written in regard to the impure and obscene post-cards. I think it is time to awaken to this subject, so many of these are constantly going through the mails that pure minded people ought to call a halt. Do not be afraid to speak to any dealer who has on sale such articles. If he does not know the law of our state forbids it, then kindly inform him, and if he does know and intentionally pays no attention, you certainly have a right to see the law enforced. Be careful in speaking of these things as we wish to win to our cause and not drive away, but do not be afraid; know well your grounds and be firm. But I'm afraid I have already written a more lengthy letter than our editor will wish to publish, so I must close. Write me often. I enjoy every letter.

Again I must say don't fail to keep account of your work. If any have lost, misplaced, or not received the plan of work, send at once for a copy I will gladly send it on request.

Yours very sincerely

ELNORA G. McNAUGHTON.

Ray, Steuben Co., P. O. Box 94.

LOCAL OPTION

Deputy—During the local option campaign our State President, Mrs. Vayhinger, gave one of her best speeches to a full house. We were glad to have her with us; also Mrs. Augustine, our County President, gave two addresses, one of which was at an entertainment and banquet of the Rebeccas, who kindly arranged for her on their program. As all our funds were sent to aid in distributing literature during the recent campaign our members donated time, edibles and labor to provide dinner for the election board of this precinct, thus reimbursing their W. C. T. U. purse. The next regular meeting is at the home of Mrs. V. Hughes, June 4, where we expect a good meeting and some new members.

Greensburg—White ribboners and other good people rejoiced to see the fixtures of several saloons being hauled away and the saloons closed, but some can carry on their life and soul destroying business until next Fall. Prohis. Voters' League and others, carried petitions, and the work was quickly done; ministers were earnest and active—public meetings were held on the Sabbaths. Much space was given in county papers to temperance articles. A number of speakers from Indianapolis were called to help. The election day was beautiful, and passed quietly—Prohis were at the polling booths, white ribbon women and some of the teachers led bands of children in their marches from place to place. One little mother with baby in cab kept up with the children, and some not able to walk rode. A mother of lovely children who has suffered on account of the traffic, said: "It was hard on the women who marched, but the children will never forget it," and although they were nearly worn out at night, they were happy, and said "Mamma, we won." The little daughter of a W. C. T. U. member was surprised to see her mother getting ready for a meeting, and said: "Why, mamma, will you have a meeting? I thought the saloons were put out."—Laura Thompson.

Kosciusko County has one W. C. T. U. and that is at Syracuse. Our local option election is over and a hard fight gave us a great victory. It far surpassed the most sanguine expectation. Our county has a Civic League, Mr. J. P. Dolan, of Syracuse is president, and by his persistent efforts each township had an organization with as many helpers as could be enlisted, and each one to interest as many as possible quietly without arousing the "wet" workers. The last week our ministers were thoroughly aroused and they were sent to the country and everywhere they could get a hearing. There were only two from outside territory and they were very good. Curtis Sullenger of Garrett, Ind., an ex-saloon keeper and gambler, but now a converted man in the German Baptist (Dunkard) church; and the other one Rev. Madison Swadener. The representative of Kosciusko county, Hon. Jesse Eshbach, Rev. Wm. Smith, editor of the Warsaw Union, Rev. J. A. Beaton of Warsaw, Rev. J. C. McColly of Leesburg, Wm. Deeter and Rev. Groves of Milford, Rev. N. L. Weaver, H. R. Herendeen, DeLong of Syracuse. The ministers gave excellent help in many ways. A few days before the election postal cards with instructions how to vote and a plea for every voter to be at the polls on that day were sent out. These proved to be very helpful. And every step put forth by the "wets" was met by the "drys." If they put up a poster the temperance people put up a bill "Vote dry to protect the home," and that soon stopped their work along that line. I do hope and pray that we may continue to keep up the same ratio of dry counties in the future that we have in the past. We appreciate the Message very much and at any time we can assist by giving you more of the detail work of our county work would only be glad to do so.—Alice B. Dolan.

Jefferson County.—Mrs. George E. Denny of Madison, writes: We have just closed a successful campaign in Jefferson county. We won the election by a majority of 106 votes. The fight was a hard one here, but God was on our side and if God be for us who can be against us? We feel that no one deserves more praise for the success of the campaign than the editor of the Daily Democrat, A. S. Chapman. He has in times past given the W. C. T. U. a column in his paper. When he came out for the "drys" the W. C. T. U. began trying to increase his subscription list. We succeeded, too, sending out over 1500 sample copies. We sent out literature by the wholesale and retail. We had some of the best speakers our country affords among them Seborn Wright, Father Barns, Evangelist Robinson, Mrs. M. A. McCurdy and our own dear Mrs. Vayhinger. There were many others, but I can not mention them all. Our own little county president went out over the county making local option speeches while some of the rest of us stayed at home to look after the heavy work of the city. It all had to be very carefully planned, for Madison is a peculiar place. Right here was our hardest fight. Our men fought the good fight so bravely and I am sure that it will not be long until even the saloon-keepers will be glad it was done. We are praying God will help them get into some better business. The women held all day prayer meetings on election day. The devil was surely turned down in Madison that day and we would have lost the battle had it not been for the work of some detectives. I must close, but I have not told half.

Howard County "Option Campaign."

County Chairman Mr. Will Morton, said it was a continuous fight from start to finish. The literature used was mostly from the Anti-Saloon League and from Kansas City and Montgomery, Alabama. We had a publicity committee whose business it was to write up meetings and to write items answering articles brought out by the saloon element. The W. C. T. U. and other temperance women did house to house visiting, held prayer meetings, rang church bells and in many of the precincts furnished dinner for the election board. We had both local and outside talent. From Kokomo Rev. Swadener. Rev. Choate, Rev. M. M. Parr, Rev. Moore, O. A. Summers and Judge Elliott, and others. From outside, Judge S. R. Artman, Judge Waugh and A. G. Burkhart, Tipton; C. A. Robins, Greenfield; M. A. Waterman, Kansas. ISADORE BALL.

..For the Campaign the L. T. L. of Madison worked up a successful parade for the night before election with the help of the junior Supts. and Sunday school teachers. Mrs. M. A. McCurdy did good work among the colored people. She organized an L. T. L. a W. C. T. Union and made many "dry votes."

Salem W. C. T. U. under the wise leadership of its efficient and hustling president, Mrs. Lucretia Prow, is in a very flourishing condition. Last quarter we gained five new members, enthusiastic and active, and hope to add more to those already gained in this quarter. The readers of "The Message" have doubtless all heard ere this, of Washington county's glorious prohibition victory at our option election on April 30th, every precinct in the county went "dry." With a view toward arousing sentiment in favor of this victory, on April 23rd our Union gave a public entertainment consisting of recitations from Medal Contest selections, interspersed with music and temperance songs, etc. Among the speakers were four winners of oratorical prizes. An editor who was present, reported the event in his paper as follows: "The W. C. T. U. had a large and appreciative audience at their entertainment last Friday night. Some most excellent numbers were given, Mrs. Gilbert Batt, fully sustaining her reputation gained in the diamond medal contest at Bedford, as a most finished speaker. The large number of young men taking part in the 'Boys' Chorus,' the high school boys' double quartette, the 'Saloon Must Go' drill by fifteen little girls, closing with the song 'Vote for the little boys and girls, and the song 'Cold Water,' by a six-year-old girl, were very pleasing features to many, and the large number of other good things kept every one interested to the end of the program." A number of our members went to the public school buildings the day before election, taking a quantity of "vote for me" badges, which they pinned on the children as they were dismissed from school, requesting them to wear them home and back to school the next day, which most of them did, and we are reliably informed that more than one father was thereby influenced to change his vote from "wet" to "dry." The children marched down to the public square with their badges on, and standing on the court house steps sang with vim "Vote for the little boys and girls," and by seven o'clock next morning they were marching around the square again singing their song at the top of their voices. It is reported that from drinking men and from men supposed to be "wet" several expressions similar to the following were heard, viz: "I saw the children with their badges 'vote for me' and I voted for them and am glad of it. What could I have voted for that would have been better?"—Mary N. Overman, local Supt. Press.

Bartholomew County Women Scrub Sidewalks.

March 30th will be long remembered by the Bartholomew county women. That was the day the "county went dry." On that day the W. C. T. U. by previous arrangement had the church bells run every hour from 5 a. m. until the polls closed at 6 p. m. The schools, headed by the teachers marched around public square carrying flags and banners, each one wearing a badge, with "vote yes for me," and singing temperance songs. After the children came the women of the W. C. T. U. and many others all wearing badges. Surrounding the polls the children sang their temperance songs. During the previous night the liquor element had written with chalk at intervals all around the square on the sidewalk such things as they thought best suited to encourage their followers to vote No, so, early in the morning we together with some of our temperance women scrubbed the sidewalk around the public square. We never did like to scrub but we certainly enjoyed scrubbing that time. Prayer meeting was held from 7 to 8 a. m., from 9 to 10 a. m. and from 2 to 3 p. m. How earnestly we prayed and how anxious we were and then how we did
